PREFACE.

In giving to the public a work like the one I now offer, imperfect as publications of this kind generally must be, and depending upon all kinds of evidence, for proof of early days, such as town, court, probate and church records, often badly written two hundred years since, connected with an orthography, frequently difficult to decipher, and old books, with many obliterated margins, with family records in ancient tattered Bibles, and tombstones with many of the words and figures obliterated by time, journals to which I have referred, with dates culled from odd numbers and broken volumes, may be some excuse for the compiler for such errors as necessarily will occur in works of this kind. I have only to say to such fault-finders, serve yourselves better by collecting the genealogy and history of your own ancestors in this country. I have frequently been amused when meeting men of intelligence, who were unable to give me the name of their great-grandfather, and many could not even inform me who was their grandfather, where he resided or where he died, or the maiden name of their grandmother. Indeed I found in one case, a gentleman of a liberal education, who was unable to inform me the month in which he was married, or the birth of any of his six children. Too much dependence has been placed upon family tradition, which is generally worse than no evidence. Ask most men what they know of their first ancestors in this country, and seven persons out of eight will honestly answer—"three brothers came over to this country together," and often give their names, when in fact there are not found in the whole colony of Connecticut but four cases, where three brothers came into the colony in the early settlement, except they were children who accompanied their parents. The errors which I committed in the five numbers, I before published, were owing more to my reliance upon family tradition than all other causes. I have devoted the five past years entirely to this subject, and now feel as though I had only commenced a task of twenty years. I have examined some of the records of Long Island, of New Jersey, of Massachusetts, and very many in Connecticut, at an expense of money and time. Several of the first records in the state of New York are in the Dutch language, and in one town in New Jersey, the records have uniformly been kept in Dutch, until since A. D. 1800—from the latter I glean nothing. I propose to publish once in two months, a number of 100 or more pages, until six numbers have been given to the public, at fifty cents a number, which will contain nearly three thousand of the early settlers of the Colony, and most of them the first of the name who came to Connecticut, with some genealogy and character of each, where I have been enabled to procure them. The names will be arranged and printed in alphabetical order, so as to be referred to in the volume with perfect ease. Where so many facts are collected, it will be impossible to give the authority for each, as the printed references would occupy too much space in the book.

INTRODUCTION AND HISTORICAL FACTS.

It is calculated that about one-half of the present population (exclusive of foreigners who have come to New England, since 1800,) are the descendants of the Puritan settlers of the four first Colonies in New England. A large portion of the present population, within the old bounds of the Colony of Connecticut, have some curiosity to learn, who their first ancestors were in this country; where and when they landed; what was their condition to live in the wilderness, surrounded by savage men, more dangerous to their future welfare than the beasts of the forest.

The object of the compiler, is to issue six numbers, revising the five numbers before published, depending as little as possible, upon tradition, but upon the Town, Church, Probate, Colony and Court Records, in different towns in the Colony, and giving to the public the names of the first settlers who located in the Connecticut Colony; the ships they came in, where landed, their standing and condition in life, as far as discovered.

Most of the settlers of New England, previous to 1700, came first into the Plymouth or Massachusetts colonies, and those who afterwards settled in Connecticut, removed from those two colonies. Many of the first settlers of Connecticut remained several years at Watertown, Newtown and Dorchester, in Massachusetts, before they removed to Connecticut. And it is yet quite difficult, from all the records discovered, to settle the point satisfactorily, what town was first settled by the white people in this colony. I am inclined to believe there is little question, that the first Dutch people were at Hartford, before any English settlers were at either Windsor or Wethersfield. Both the English and Dutch claimed to have been the first discoverers of Connecticut River, and both purchased lands on the river. Mr. Winslow probably had information of the river before the Dutch, yet it appears from history that the Dutch had erected a fort at Dutch Point, in Hartford, probably with the intention of holding the lands on the river, and as a trading-house. The best evidence is, that this was as early as 1633. Gov. Winslow and Mr. Bradford visited Gov. Winthrop to induce him to join with the Plymouth Colony in a trade with the Indians in Connecticut, in 1633, and erect a house for this purpose. Gov. Winthrop declined the offer of uniting, and gave his reasons for so doing. The Plymouth people, Dr. Trumbull says, "determined to undertake the enterprise at their own risk." In 1633, "John Oldham and three others with him," travelled through the woods to Connecticut, to view the country and trade with the Indians. It appears by Dr. Trumbull's account of it, that the Dutch were located at Hartford, when Capt. William Holmes of Plymouth, with his vessel and company, with a frame and materials for a house, went up the river. The Dutchmen stood by their cannon and ordered Holmes to strike his colors, or they would fire upon him: Holmes assured the Dutch he had a commission from the governor of Plymouth to go up the river, and he must (and did) obey his orders. And the house was erected in Windsor, in October, 1633, and fortified against the Dutch and Indians by palisadoes.

These facts show that the first white men, located settlers on the Connecticut, were the Dutch at Dutch Point, in Hartford, as early as October, 1633, and were there when Capt. Holmes went up the river with his company, to erect a trading-house at Windsor. Windsor appears to have been the first town settled by the English, and Wethersfield was probably the next, but it is by no means certain that the English were not in Hartford, nearly at the same time they were at Windsor and Wethersfield. We find Nicholas Clark the joiner, sent to Hartford by John Talcot, Sen., to build him a framed house in Hartford, in 1635, a year previous to Mr. Hooker and his company removing to Hartford. (See Note A in Appendix.) Nicholas Clark is found at Hartford one of the first settlers, and a son of John Talcot, Sen., wrote these facts in his manuscript copy of the first history of Hartford, which is now, and ever since has been, in possession of his descendants. Nicholas Clark in the summer of 1635, built the kitchen part of the house, and in 1636, the upright part adjoining the kitchen, &c. This he could not, or at any rate, would not have attempted to do alone or with a few men, if surrounded by savages and wild beasts. I am inclined to believe that these three towns had many inhabitants in each of them, as early as 1635.* The first Court Record now preserved, was held at Newtown, (Hartford,) April 26, 1636: this was about two months before Mr. Hooker and his company of Hartford settlers started upon their journey for Hartford. Yet we find the five Judges were chosen from the three new towns, Dorchester, Newtown, and Watertown, and appointed a constable for each of the three towns: not only so, if there had been no white English population before 1636 in Hartford, Mr. Hooker would not have brought his delicate wife on a litter, upon men's shoulders, from Massachusetts to Connecticut, when he had no house provided for her, on their arrival.

In 1621, and for many years after, all the settlers for New England landed in the colony of New Plymouth, or Massachusetts, and emigrated from thence to Connecticut. For several years after 1635, there were no settlements by the English in Connecticut, except in the towns of Windsor, Hartford and Wethersfield, and a few at Saybrook. In 1634, some of the Watertown settlers came and erected a few houses in what is now Wethersfield. (Mr. Weeks in his manuscript claims Wethersfield to be the oldest town on the river.) In 1635 the congregation of Mr. Wareham, at ~~Cambridge~~, settled upon moving to Connecticut, and some few had come to Windsor, and made preparations to move their families. The people of Watertown also many of them moved to Wethersfield, and the people of Newtown were preparing to move to Hartford in the spring of 1636—though some had come in 1635. John Winthrop, a son of Gov. Winthrop, of Massachusetts, arrived at Boston in 1635, as agent for Sir Richard Saltonstall and others, for the purpose of erecting a fort at the mouth of Connecticut River, and was appointed by the Company, (whose agent he was,) Governor of the River Connecticut, for one year after his arrival. He soon built the fort and erected houses—which was the commencement of the building and settling Saybrook. Many of the Dorchester people who had settled in Windsor, occupied land near the Plymouth trading-house—this greatly disturbed Gov. Bradford, as the Plymouth people had purchased the land of the Indians, and taken possession of it by building their trading-house upon the land. About October, 1635, the Dorchester people commenced moving to Windsor; about 60 men, women and children started through the wilderness with their horses, cattle, swine, &c., without roads, bridges, or even huts to cover them, sleeping in the open air—but they arrived safely, though the journey was long and tedious. Much of their provisions and household furniture had been sent round by water for Dorchester, (Windsor,) and were cast away and lost. The sufferings in the Colony in the winter of 1635 were most severe;—their provisions failed, and bedding lost, so that many to save life returned to Boston for the winter. But those who remained in the Colony through the winter came near perishing by famine, notwithstanding all they could procure of the Indians and get by hunting. Much of the winter they subsisted on acorns, roots and grains. Many of their cattle died.

* Dr. Trumbull, under date 1636, remarks, "as soon as the spring advanced, and the travelling would admit, the hardy men began to return from Massachusetts, to their habitations on the river." Vol. I. page 64. It may be inferred from this remark that many settlers in the three towns on Connecticut River, had been the year previous, and built houses, and had returned to their families in the autumn of 1635, and returned to Connecticut in the spring of 1636. The first Court held in Hartford, was upon the 26th of April, 1636, and Mr. Hooker and his company did not start for Hartford, until June, 1636. Trumbull's record, and Winthrop.

In the spring of 1636 the emigration began again in companies from Massachusetts to Connecticut, and sent their provisions by water. In June, 1636, the Rev. Thomas Hooker, Mr. Samuel Stone and about one hundred others, of all ages and sexes, started through the wilderness, guided only by a compass, to Hartford—with no cover but the heavens, and no lodging but the ground, and subsisted on the milk of the cows which they drove with their other cattle, numbering one hundred and sixty in all. They carried their packs upon their backs, and their arms for protection in their hands. Mrs. Hooker was so feeble in health that she was carried the whole journey upon a litter, and they reached Newtown (Hartford) in about two weeks. In September, 1636, as many of Mr. Warham's people had moved to Windsor, he started for Windsor to take charge of his church, but left his family at Dorchester, until he could prepare to receive them; so that at this time the three towns upon the river were permanently settled by many inhabitants, with Mr.

Warham in charge of the church at Windsor, Mr. Hooker and Mr. Stone at Hartford.

Rev. Mr. Philips who had been the minister for the emigrants to Wethersfield, at Watertown, Mass., did not remove to Watertown, Conn., with his people. Mr. Mather and Mr. Warham had amicably agreed with the church at Dorchester, that Mr. Mather should remain with the church at Dorchester, Mass., and Mr. Warham should remove with such of his church as preferred to remove with him to Dorchester, Conn. All emigrants to Connecticut firstly came to some one of the three old towns on the Connecticut River: indeed after the first settlement at New Haven, some of their emigrants, passed from Massachusetts by land, on the track made by the Connecticut settlers from Boston to Hartford.

It will be recollected by the reader, that Mr. Warham and Mr. Hooker had been ordained, one at Dorchester, and the other in Newtown, in Mass., before they and their churches moved to Dorchester and Newtown, in Connecticut. They gave the towns where each resided in this Colony the same names of the towns from which they had removed; Hartford was called Newtown—and Windsor, Dorchester—and Wethersfield, Watertown. But at the General Court of the Colony, in February, 1637, (as time is now reckoned,) they gave the several towns their present names.

It will be discovered then, that here were three towns located in the wilderness, with a large number of inhabitants, (as many must have come into the colony, before either of the churches moved as a colony) without any law to govern them, either civil, military, or criminal; and the principles and much less the practice and forms of an independent government, in a great measure unknown to men who had been educated under the crown of England and had learned only to obey. The first year (1635) no courts were organized, not even a town organization formed, and much less any thing like a General Court formed to enact laws and punish offences. The officers of the several churches governed their own members according to the rules and discipline of the church; and as no other law existed in the Colony, all offenders, if any were tried before 1636, must have been tried by the Mosaic law, by the churches. But as the law of Moses made no provision to punish a white man for selling a gun to an Indian, it therefore became necessary that some civil body of men should be so organized as to enact such laws as would prevent or punish offences not provided for in the Bible. The placing of fire-arms in the possession of the Indians was considered one of the most culpable offences in the Colony, which endangered not only the property but the safety and lives of the English settlers. At this time it was discovered that Henry Stiles had traded a gun with the Indians for corn. Therefore on the 26th day of April, 1636, a court was organized by five of the best men in the Colony—whether they constituted themselves a court or were elected by the people, the record gives no account. The Court consisted of Roger Ludlow, as chairman, and Mr. Westwood, John Steel, Andrew Ward, and William Phelps, as his associates. The first act of the Court was to try Stiles for the offence. He was found guilty, and ordered by the Court to regain the gun from the Indians in a fair and legal way, or the Court should take the case into further consideration. The Court then enacted a law, that from henceforth no one within the jurisdiction of the Court should trade with the Indians any piece or pistol, gun or shot, or powder, under such penalty as the Court should see meet to inflict. This was the first court, the first trial, and the first law ever enacted or had in Connecticut.

As the members of the court resided in the three towns before mentioned, they assumed the power (as no law had been enacted by them, and the Mo-asic law had not provided for it,) to appoint and swear constables for Dorchester, Newtown and Watertown, for the then ensuing year, or until new ones should be chosen. This it appears was considered by the Court as an organization or incorporation of the three towns. For many years after, and long after the Confederation of Hartford, Windsor and Wethersfield, all that was done by the General Court to incorporate a plantation or town, was to appoint and swear a constable, and the remainder was left to the inhabitants of the plantation to finish its organization or incorporation. Even as late as 1662-3-4, in many of the towns upon Long Island, also at Westchester, where they were claimed by the Colony, or placed themselves under the government of Connecticut, a constable was appointed or approved by the General Court, and the towns at once became liable to be taxed by the Colony, and had the privilege of being represented at the General Court. The Court thus formed for the trial of Henry Stiles was continued from session to session and from year to year, and was called "The Corte, a Corte, in May, 1637, it is recorded 'Generall Corte,' April 11th, 1639, called 'General meeting of the Freemen,'" (The Court of Election.) The day the Charter (which bears date April 23d, 1662,) was publicly read before the people of Connecticut, to wit, October 9, 1662, it is recorded the "General Assembly," (under the Charter.) Here the reader will see that the origin of the present General Assembly of the State of Connecticut was the formation of a Court of five men, in 1636, to try Henry Stiles criminally, (without law,) for selling a gun to an Indian.

The General Court soon discovered the propriety of adding a House of Representatives to the first Court formed in 1636, particularly upon great occasions. Therefore in May, 1637, the several towns were represented at the General Court, by the name of Committee, by three from each town—and took their seats with the magistrates who had previously constituted the Court. The object at this time of enlarging the number of the General Court, was an event which has never been surpassed in importance to the Colony or State since. It was whether they should declare war against the most warlike and powerful tribe of Indians in New England. The future safety of property and life in the Colony depended upon the result. The Pequots had stolen not only the property of the English, and murdered some of the inhabitants, but had abducted from Wethersfield two young ladies, and carried them among the Indians by force. But not to add to this interesting narrative further. The General Court, feeble as the inhabitants were in numbers, and deficient in means, trusted in God for the result, and boldly declared war against the Pequots. Ninety men were ordered to be raised—munitions of war were at once prepared,—Rev. Samuel Stone was selected as Chaplain for the little but valorous army. They went down Connecticut River in three small vessels, with Captain Mason as commander, (and to be brief,) they met the enemy at the Mystic Fort; and though the colonists lost two, with sixteen wounded, they fought like men who were fighting for the future welfare of the Colony—for the lives of their wives, children, and their own lives and property. When all was closed nearly six hundred Indians lay dead upon the battle ground—about sixty or seventy wigwams burned to the ground, and the Fort in ashes. So valorous and complete was the victory that the Pequots became extinct as a nation. Sassicus fled with a few of his warriors to the Mohawks; others united with other tribes, particularly with the Mohegans.

It will therefore be seen that what is now styled the Senate, originated, as has been stated; and the formation of the House of Representatives originated in the necessity of having more councillors in the declaration of war against the Pequot Indians. After which meeting of the Committee, in 1637, the Committee met in the General Court as the House of Representatives, and the two houses were styled the Commissioners and Committee until after the union of Windsor, Hartford and Wethersfield, in 1639, when the government was formed by adding a Governor and Deputy Governor. The Upper House was styled the House of Magistrates, and during 1639 the Lower House retained the name of Committee; but in April, 1640, the Lower House, or popular branch, was styled the House of Deputies.

From the organization of the General Court in the Colony, in 1636, to the confederation of the three towns upon Connecticut River, in 1639, being three years—there was no other court in the Colony, except the Particular Court of 1637, which did little business.^K The General Court took cognizance of divisions in churches—of all criminal offences—of all civil matters—the appointment and confirmation of all officers in the jurisdiction—declared war—regulated commerce—formed and governed the militia;—indeed every thing in the Colony came under their supervision. They ordered that no young unmarried man unless a public officer, or he kept a servant, should keep house alone, except by licence of the town, under a penalty of twenty shillings per week; and that no head of a family should entertain such young man under a like penalty, without liberty from the town. The object of this law probably was, to compel early marriages, to aid in settling the colony, and to prevent their keeping bad company.

As early as 1640, the General Court intended that the inhabitants should "measure their apparel by the length of their purses—the court being the judges. The constable in each town was ordered to take notice of all persons, and if he judged any person exceeded their rank and condition in life, in their attire, to warn them to appear before the Particular Court to answer for the offence. All excess in the price of labor, in 1640-41, was expressly forbidden by law. All artificers and other laborers were priced, as well as the labor of horses and oxen. Most of the penalties attached to the criminal laws, were accompanied with flogging and pillory; so much so that a law was enacted in 1643, which made it imperative upon all the towns on Connecticut River, to appoint a whipper to do execution upon offenders.

As Massachusetts and Plymouth were settled a few years earlier than Connecticut, and had become somewhat organized as a government, many of their laws were copied into the code of laws enacted by Connecticut. Labor and dress were regulated by law in those colonies before it was in this. Their laws upon these subjects were much more severe than in this jurisdiction. They had a law that ladies' dresses should be made so long as to cover their shoe buckles. They prohibited short sleeves, and ordered the sleeves to be lengthened to cover the arms to the wrists. They forbid by law, immoderate great breeches, knots of ribbon, broad shoulder bands, silk roses, double ruffs and cuffs. Even as late as 1653, John Fairbanks was solemnly tried for wearing great boots. He was acquitted on trial. The colonies were poor, and it appears the object of the law was to prevent all kinds of extravagance, and to compel the inhabitants to govern their living, strictly by their means.

As there were no printing presses in the colony or country in the early settlement of Connecticut, the laws enacted at each session of the General Court, were promulgated to the inhabitants of each town, by copies of the laws being made out by the Secretary of the Colony, and sent to the constables of each town, and read by them at public meetings to the people. This inconvenient practice was continued in the Colony nearly forty years, until 1672. This year all the laws in force were prepared and sent to Cambridge to be printed, and bound with blank paper interspersed in the book, to enter laws which should be afterwards enacted. It was a small folio. The book is now a curiosity of ancient days. Its introduction to the public is vastly better fitted for Watts' Psalms, than a code of laws. After the book was printed, the General Assembly ordered that every family in the Colony should have a law book. The blank pages in the book were not filled until nearly thirty years after. The New Haven Colony at a much earlier period, procured a code of laws to be printed for that Colony, of about one hundred pages, entitled "New Haven's Settling in New England, and some Laws for Government; published for the use of that Colony." This early and first volume of laws was printed in London, for the New Haven Colony. I know of only two copies extant of the edition of five hundred that were printed.—RECORDS OF CONN., WINTHROP'S JOUR., DR. TRUMBULL.

GEORGE ABBET, of Windsor, and John Moses, settled with the Indians of Massacoe,* (Simsbury,) for injury done to John Griffin of Windsor, by burning his tar and pitch, June 28, 1648; by the Indians conveying their land at Massacoe, except two acres reserved by them for their own use. John Griffin, Dec. 23, 1661, assigned his Indian deed to the Committee, who had been appointed to dispose of the lands at Massacoe, for the use of the town of Windsor. GEORGE ABBITT, Sen., and JOHN and JONATHAN ABBITT were all land holders in Norwalk, Conn., in 1687, George, Sen., was settled there as early as 1655. In 1672, he had seven children at Norwalk, and the town of Norwalk gave him ten acres of land for his service as a soldier. The Abbots formerly of Wallingford and Ridgefield, were son and grandsons of JOSEPH ABBOT, of New Haven, as early as 1681.

ABBOTT, PHILLIP, of Windham, m. Abigail Bigford, Oct. 8, 1723, and had issue born at Windham, viz: John, b. July 12, 1724; Abial, b. March 3, 1726; Stephen, b. April 21, 1728; Hannah, b. March 16, 1730; Mary, b. July 6, 1732; Zebediah, b., d. Dec. 2, 1731.

ABBOTT, JOHN, of Colchester, had a son John, baptized there Dec. 25, 1748: Sarah, baptized May 27, 1750.

†ABBOTT, JONATHAN, of Norwalk, m. Sarah, daughter of Lieut. John Olmsted, June 5, 1696, and had children born there, viz: Jonathan, Jr., b. April 6, 1697; Sarah, b. June, 1699; Eunis, b. Jan. 23, 1702; Mary, b. July 8, 1704; Deborah, b. Dec. 3, 1707; Keziah, b. April 17, 1711; Lemuel b. March 21, 1713-14;

* Simsbury, (Indian name Massacoe,) began early to settle by the white people from Windsor. Several families were there about 1648, and the first settlers fled, during a part of Philip's War, though it was incorporated as early as May, 1670.

Farmer mentions ARTHUR, of Marblehead, an early inhabitant. DANIEL, freeman, 18th May, 1631, of Cambridge, in 1634, fined 5s. for neglecting his watch in 1630. GEORGE, of Bowley, died 1647. WALTER, a vintner of New Hampshire, in 1640. Robert, of Watertown, Mass., freeman, in 1634, and several others, (see Farmer.) The name is spelt upon some of the records in Connecticut, "Abbit, Abbitt."

† Norwalk originally included most of the present towns of Wilton, Westport, and New Canaan. The General Court of Connecticut Colony, gave Nathaniel Eli, and others, an order of settlement, in 1650, and in Sept., 1651, incorporated the town. Though some of its settlers were there in 1650. Some of the early records call the town Norrwake, and some early records call Norwich, Norridge.

Jane, b. Oct. 5, 1716, and Mindwell, b. Dec. 21, 1718. This name and blood yet continue in Fairfield County and other parts of Connecticut. Thirty persons by the name of Abbot, and two by the name of Abbott, graduated at Harvard College, before 1849; and two by the name of Abbot, and three by the name of Abbott, at Yale College, before 1851.

ABBOTT, EDWARD, and Henry Andrews of Taunton, Mass., were enrolled in 1643, as able to bear arms, between the ages of 16 and 60 years.

ABBOTT, JOHN, and MARIA ABBOTT, aged 16 years, embarked in the Hopewell, for New England.

ABBET, ROBERT, had three lots of land early recorded at Wattertown, Mass.

The Coats of Arms of the name by Burk, are—Abbot (Lord Mayor of London, 1638,) has one. Abbot, (Baron Colchester, of Colchester, Essex,) one. Abbot, (Baron Tenterton, of Colchester, Essex,) one. Abbot, (Shropshire,) one. Abbot, (Lincolnshire,) one. And three other Coats of Arms for the name.

ABBOT, PAUL, of Andover, Mass., purchased lands in Windsor, of Richard Abbe of Windham, and James Richardson, in 1721, also of Nathaniel Hovey, in 1721.

Robert Abbot, who is found in Connecticut, and is mentioned by Farmer, as admitted a freeman in Massachusetts, in 1634, was probably the same man found a Juror at Hartford, July 2, 1640.

ABELL, (Abel,) CALEB, was appointed to keep a tavern at Norwich, Conn., in 1694, for the year. In 1716, Caleb Abel received a deed of land in Windham, of Benajah Bushnell, merchant of Norwich.

ABELL, JOSHUA, and Hugh Amos, were early settlers at Norwich, as soon as 1670, probably father of Caleb Abell. GEORGE ABELL was the first in Connecticut, as early as 1647.

ABELL, ROBERT, desired to be made free at Boston, in 1630, and took the oath, May, 1631.

ABELL, ROBERT, freeman at Weymouth, 1631: his son Abraham was buried Nov., 1639. ELIJAH and JAMES ABELL graduated at Yale College, before 1851. This is an old name in Weymouth. Coats of Arms for the name.—The name Abell, (Essex,) has one. Abell or Abel (Kent and London,) the same as Abell of Essex. Abell, (Stapenhill, Co. Derby, visit, 1611,) and two other coats of arms.

ABERNATHA, CALEB, son of William and Mary, m. Lois Gaylord, of Wallingford, (by Capt. Yale,) Sept. 26, 1733. Issue, William, b. July 1, 1734; Mary, b. Nov. 13, 1736, d. Nov. 29, 1736; John, b. July 2, 1738; 2d Mary, b. Dec. 9, 1739; Jared, b. Oct. 31, 1741.

About 1743, the above Caleb and Lois removed to Farmington, (in that part of the town now Bristol,) where the following children are recorded, viz: Giles, b. Dec. 3, 1744; Waite, b. Dec. 16, 1745; Caleb, Jr., b. April 8, 1748, d. 1751; Lois, b. April 10, 1750, m. William —; Ann, b. March 15, 1754; Mary, b. —, m. Daniel Bacon, Oct. 24, 1765; Caleb, d. 1759. His son John was executor of his will. The foregoing are the ancestors of those of the name, at Harwinton, Torringsford, Washington, Woodbury, Bridgeport, and other towns in Connecticut. As imperfect as the foregoing list is, it may aid them in perfecting a full roll of their ancestors. Four of the name had graduated at Yale College, before 1851.

ABERNETH has one coat of arms. ABERNETHY has three coats of arms.

This name is often found upon the records, spelled Ebernathe, Ebernatha, and Ebernetha, &c.

ABORN, (Abborn,) SAMUEL, yeoman of Tolland, will dated Nov. 1st, 1743—wife, Martha—sons, John and Samuel, and daughters, Elizabeth Woodward and Abigail Aborn. Abigail to have of his estate £160, (old tenor,) when married or 21 years of age. Samuel also under the age of 21—the sons had all of his real estate, and paid legacies to the daughters. Inventory over £500. He was probably at Tolland soon after the town was settled in 1713, and while it was a part of Hartford County, and perhaps when it was called Skungamug, by the Indians.

ASHBORN, JOSEPH, had lands in Milford, Conn., before 1700—perhaps the same name.

ACCQRLY, (Acerly,) HENRY, (perhaps Ackley)—was an early settler at Stamford, he went to Stamford about the same time, and perhaps in company with Capt. Underhill and Slauson, as early as 1641 or '2. The first twenty families were from Wethersfield, to Stamford, and were first purchasers and settlers there. Accorly was in the 3d company of settlers. The first now found upon the first record at Stamford—are Rev. Richard Dentan, Thurston Rainer, Jonas Wood, Jonas Wood, Jr., John Jessup, John Northend, Thomas Weekes, Mathew Mitchell, Robert Coe, Samuel Sherman, Jeremiah Jagger, Vincent Simking, Edmond Wood, Henry Smith, Andrew Ward, Richard Gildersleve, John Seaman, Daniel Finch, Samuel Clark, Jeremiah Wood. These all came according to their agreement. With the above, or soon after, the following persons removed and settled at Stamford, viz: Richard Law, Ferris, Robert Bates, John Whitman, John Reynolds, Thomas Morehouse, Francis Bell, Richard Crabb, and Robert Fisher: these last settled there in 1641, some of them from Wethersfield, some from Hartford, and two of them from Milford. The descendants of many of them now reside in Stamford.

Henry Accorly, died at Stamford, June 17, 1650. The Inventory of his estate, dated Jan. 4th, 1658. He was by trade a "house-car-penter and farmer."

Ackerly, Robert, was one of the petitioners in 1659, at Setauket, on L. I., to be united to the Colony of Connecticut, upon the same terms with South and East Hampton, L. I. He was made free by Connecticut, in 1664.

ACKLEY, NICHOLAS, was located on lot No. 42 Trumbull street, in Hartford, in 1665, and was chimney viewer in Hartford in 1662—he for a time lived at 30 Mile Island, at the lower end of the Cove, and had a 6 acre lot toward Saybrook. Hannah Ackley, widow of THOMAS, son of Nicholas, in 1704, presented the inventory of Thomas Ackley's estate, and took administration on her husband's said estate. In 1705, Benjamin Trowbridge married the widow, and in right of his wife Hannah, accounted to the court for her administration on her first husband's estate. Thomas Ackley's children were Thomas, Job, Hannah and Ann. John and Nathaniel Ackley were appointed guardians for the children. He had lived east of the river and died Jan. 16, 1703-4.

The children of Nicholas, Sen., of Haddam, were Nicholas, Jr., John, Samuel, Benjamin, James, Nathaniel and Thomas, and daughters, Hannah, Mary, Elizabeth, Sarah and Lydia—the sons of Nicholas, Sen., settled east of the Connecticut river. JOB, son of Thomas Ackley, and JAMES, son of James, settled at Colchester. JOB and JOHN each had a child baptized at Colchester in 1740.

ACKLEY, NICHOLAS, and Jerusha his wife, of Colchester, had Jeremiah, b. Sept. 26, 1742; Jerusha, b. Dec. 30, 1744; and Sarah, b. Nov. 5, 1749.

ACKLEY, JAMES, and Sarah his wife, of Colchester, had a daughter Sarah, b. Sept. 19, 1743.

ACKLEY, NATHANIEL, and Sarah his wife, of Colchester, had Sarah, born there Sept. 4, 1743.

ACKLEY, JOB, and Elizabeth, of Colchester, had Phebe, b. Aug. 15, 1742; Ezra, b. May 13, 1744; Job, b. July 1748; Edward, b. July 22, 1753—all descendants of Nicholas Ackley, first of Hartford and afterwards of Haddam.

This name is found in many towns in Connecticut; it was an early name in Kent. Benjamin Ackley was a deputy to the legislature in 1781 and 1782—also Chester, of Washington, in 1829 and 1840.

ADAMS, JEREMY, was at Cambridge, Mass., in 1632. He probably came to Hartford with Rev. Mr. Hooker's company in 1636. In 1638 he was one of a committee with Capt. John Mason, appointed by the General Court of Connecticut, to trade with the Indians for corn. In 1644, he was ordered to appear at the next Particular Court, and receive from the court, such censure as he deserved for his resistance of an officer—his passionate speeches—loud language and unmannerly conduct in the face of the court. He had 30 acres of land, in the land division at Hartford in 1639. In 1640 he had a house lot in Hartford, south of Little River, bounded west by Joseph Easton, east by James Ensign, and north and south by roads. In 1661–2 the General Court granted said Adams 300 acres of upland and 40 of meadow, where he had kept his cattle the previous winter, (going to Monhegin.) In 1661–2 he kept an ordinary at Hartford. In 1663, Mr. Adams was established custome master for Hartford; and the power given Jonathan Gilbert by the particular court repealed, respecting his customing his own wines, liquors, &c. (Col. Rec.) Mr. Adams was constable in Hartford in 1639. In 1660, he was the only person in Hartford allowed to sell wine in a less quantity than a quarter cask, or other liquors less than an ancor. Mr. Adams was juror, representative to the General Court, and held other places of trust and honor in the town and colony. He married Rebekah, the widow of Samuel Greenhill, and possessed the Greenhill estate. He had children, viz: John, d. 1669; Ann; Samuel, baptized Nov. 23, 1645; Willet; Rebeckah, b. 1658; Abigail, b. 1660. Jeremy Adams made free in Massachusetts, May 6, 1635. Mr. Adams d. Aug. 11. 1683, Nathaniel Willet, executor: he gave his property to his grandchildren, Zechariah Sanford and others—estate £243, 5s. 6d. Tho house of his executor was burned and in it, all the books and papers of the deceased.

ADAMS, EDWARD, resided at Fairfield in 1653; he purchased land of Daniel Frost, at Old Field, in Fairfield, Dec. 1653, and of Andrew Ward the same year, and other lots afterwards. Daniel Finch sold him land on Barlow Plain in May, 1665.

ADAMS, EDWARD, of Hartford, in 1660 married Elizabeth Buckland, of Windsor, May 25, 1660; whether he was son of Edward, of Fairfield, is not known: he had a daughter Mary b. at Windsor, 1671, and son Edward, aged 12 years in 1683, and a small estate; he died Aug. 15, 1683; he left an only child Mary, and his widow.

ALGIERS, ELIJAH, m. Martha Kenedy, of Ellington, Jan. 11, 1807, a late settler in Connecticut.

ALLYN, Hon. MATHEW, was an early and important settler at Hartford, as early as 1638 : he drew 110 acres of land in the Hartford land division in 1639. In 1639, he was sued for "seventy-four rods of corn," (for defect of his fence.) Plaintiff in an action of slander against John Coggin, Sept. 2, 1641. In 1644, Mr. Allyn presented to the General Court, several petitions against the church in Hartford, for relief in his censure of excommunication, in which he claimed he had been wronged by the church. The Court adjudged, that said Allyn by his petitions and his expressions in Court, had accused the church of Hartford, and that he should produce in Court, the particulars of his charges, that they might be answered. In Oct. [25,] 1644, the Court decided that he had not proved his charges against the church, and that he should answer their rejoinder in the matter in Court, Nov. 27th, and answer for his former contempt. In the General Court, Sept. 12, 1650, Mathew and Thomas Allyn, brothers, had several law suits, in one of which, the record says, the Court did "further conclude that Mathew Allyn should pay unto his brother Thomas, the full sum of £5," &c. Mathew Allyn was freed from training, April, 1654, for a time. August 18, 1658, Mr. Mathew Allyn was appointed by the General Court, to stand as a Committeë, with Mr. Henry Clary Clark, of Windsor, to act in disposing of lands at Massacoe. May 17, 1660, the worshipful Governor and Deputy Governor, (Winthrop and Maj. Mason,) were chosen Commissioners, for the year then ensuing, and Mr. Allyn chosen as a reserve. Mr. Mathew Allyn was also appointed moderator to supply the place of the governor and deputy, in case of their occasional absence from the General Court. August 28, 1661, the General Court granted to Hon. Mathew Allyn, 400 acres of upland, and 100 acres of meadow, where he could find it in Connecticut, on the same terms as were given to Jonathan Gilbert.

In May, 1663, the General Court of Connecticut, appointed Wm. Wadsworth, James Avery and Lieut. Smith, a Committee to view the lands at "Hamonoscitt," (Hamonasset,) and see whether it was fit for a plantation, and if not prejudicial to Saybrook, to lay it out to Mr. Mathew Allyn, Capt. Talcott, John Allyn and Mr. Wyllys, according to the grant of the Court. But if found to be prejudicial to Saybrook, then to lay out what they should judge right to the town of Saybrook, and the remainder to Mr. Mathew Allyn, Capt. Talcott, John Allyn, Mr. Wyllys, Mr. Joseph Haynes, or Mr. Daniel Clark, as the Court should determine, as far as it should go, according to their grants. Mr. Allyn is entered on the Town Record at Killingworth, as a large land holder there, and first settler, but there is no other evidence that he ever resided there, and he probably never did. He owned land in Windsor, in 1640. The exact time he removed from Hartford to Windsor, is not known.

After several years' residence at Hartford, he removed to Windsor. In 1640, he owned at least three lots of land in Hartford. He was a member of the General and Particular Court, three sessions, in 1648, and Juror two sessions: Deputy two sessions in 1649, four sessions in 1650. He or his son John, three sessions in 1650, and four in 1651; three sessions in 1654; two in 1655; two in 1656; one in May 1664, and one session in 1665; four in 1657; two in 1658, as magistrate, also five sessions in 1659; three in 1660, and three in 1661, and two as moderator, in 1661; as moderator in May, in 1662, and three sessions as magistrate; one as moderator in 1662: also attended in 1663 and '64, and afterwards. Mr. Allyn was frequently appointed upon important Committees by the General Court. In 1658, he, with Hon. Henry Clark of Windsor, was appointed to dispose of lands at Massacoe, according to a previous order of Court.

Mr. Allyn was probably married before he came to this country. He was a proprietor in the undivided lands in Hartford, and received 110 acres in the division of lands in Hartford, in 1639, the fourth largest lot distributed. Mr. Allyn was a member of Mr. Hooker's Church: he was a man of superior talents, energetic, willful and obstinate in all his projects. After a few years at Hartford, he became involved in a difficulty in the church at Hartford, but his brethren knew his power and influence with the settlers, and rather than to have an open quarrel with him, they induced him to remove to Windsor, where he remained until his death. Few men in the Colony, had more influence, or received more honors from the people, than Mr. Allyn. He had been a member of both branches of the General Court; a Magistrate and Judge, a member of the United Congress, of New England; one of the signers of the petition to Charles II., for the Charter of Connecticut, and held many town offices. He died at Windsor, in 1670. His will was dated Jan. 30, 1670. His wife, Margaret, sole Executrix. He gave his wife the use of all his estate, for her life, of which he was then possessed, and desired his sons, John, (the Secretary,) Thomas, and his son-in-law, Benjamin Newbury, to improve the property for her comfort. After her decease, he gave his son John, all his lands and estate in the bounds of the Town of Kennilworth, the farm and stock upon it: also confirmed to him all his lands in Hartford, which he gave him as his marriage portion. Also a large estate to his son Thomas: to his daughter, Mary Newbery, wife of Benjamin: to his granddaughter Mary Maudsley, he provided liberally after the death of his wife. Inventory made Feb 14, 1670, £466, 17s 12d. The land and house in Windsor, not included, which he had deeded before, to his son Thomas, at the time of his marriage, to be possessed by him after the death of his father and mother.

Hon. Mathew and Margaret Allyn had children.

Hon. John, m. Hannah, daughter of Henry Smith, of Springfield, and grand-daughter of Mr. Pinchon.

Thomas, m. ———.

Mary, m. Benjamin Newbury, of Windsor.

Another daughter m. Maudsley, and had a daughter, Mary Maudsley, noticed by Hon. Mathew, as his granddaughter, in his will.

(The name of Maudsley, has nearly disappeared in Connecticut, and changed to Mosely, particularly in Glastenbury.)

ALLYN, SECRETARY JOHN, the eldest son of Hon. Mathew, of Windsor, was one of the most efficient men in Connecticut. He was, when young, elected a member of the General Court, as Deputy, one session in 1661; two in 1662, and as Magistrate in the Particular and General Court, twice, in 1662, and three sessions as Magistrate and Secretary in 1663; twice in 1664, and once in 1665: and at various other sessions. He was again elected Secretary of Connecticut, in 1667, which he held until 1695 inclusive. The ancient records of the Colony and Town of Hartford, are ample evidence of his intelligence and industry. Col. Allyn and Mr. Clark, in 1657, were desired to present a list of names of such persons as desired to be members of the first Troop in the Colony, to be approved by the General Court. He was confirmed as Cornet in said Troop, in 1657-8. In 1658, he, with Edward Stebbing, Nathaniel Ward, and Jonathan Barnard, were appointed to attend to the charges of the last Council, as to the withdrawers from the Church in Hartford. In 1659, he was one of the Committee to divide the Podunk lands, formerly possessed by the Indians, and treat with them for other lands there. In 1661, he was nominated "to be put up" for election for Magistrate. In 1661-2, John Talcott and Lieut. John Allyn, had granted to them 600 acres of upland, and 100 acres of meadow, equally.

In 1662, Mr. Allyn, Mr. H. Wolcott, and Wm. Wadsworth, were authorized, if those who were indebted to the Country did not pay their Taxes in season, for the Committee to procure other provisions, and make the delinquents pay the bills for such corn purchased.

* EPITAPH.—Here lyes interred the body of the Honourable VT Colonel John Allyn, who served His Generation in the Capacity of a Magistrate, Secretary of the Colony of Connecticut 34 years, who dyed Nov. 6, in the year 1696.

October 9, 1662, Lieut. John Allyn, Mr. Wyllis, and John Talcott, were chosen by the freemen of the Colony, after the Charter had been read to the people, for the first time, to take it into their custody, for safe keeping, and were sworn to discharge the trust.

His father gave him as his marriage portion, all his lands in Hartford. Col. John Allen m. a daughter of Henry Smith, of Springfield, grand-daughter of Wm. Pynchon, in early life, and by her he had no sons, but had six daughters, viz :

Anna, b. Aug. 18, 1654.

Mary, b. April 3, 1657.

Margaret, b. July 29, 1660, m. Wm. Southmayd, of Middletown.

Rebecca, b. March 2, 1664.

Martha, b. July 27, 1667, m. Aaron Cook.

Elizabeth, b. Dec. 1, 1669, m. Alexander Allen, of Windsor. Two of his daughters married Whittings.

Col. Allyn d. at Hartford, Nov. 16, 1696. His wife survived him and received as dower, £479, 2s. 7d. sterling, and a silver tankard. Each daughter had about £315 sterling, besides their mother's dower. Aaron Cook, Capt. Joseph Whiting, Wm. Whiting and Wm. Southmayd, married four of the daughters. Elizabeth was unmarried at the time of the distribution of his estate. Hon. Joseph Whiting m. one of the daughters for his second wife.

CAPT. THOMAS ALLYN, son of the Hon. Mathew, of Windsor, m. Abigail Wareham, 1658, and had children, viz: John, b. Aug. 17, 1659; Col. Mathew, b. Jan. 5, 1660; Thomas, Jr., b. ALLYN, COL. MATHEW, son of Capt. Thomas, and grandson of Hon. Mathew, m. Elizabeth Wolcott, a grand-daughter of Hon. Henry, Sen. An estate had fallen to his wife Elizabeth, from her grandfather Wolcott, which was situated in the Parishes of Tolland and Ledyard Laurant, in the county of Somerset, and at Willington, called Long Forth, in England. In June, 1740, he made a will solely to dispose of this property, without including any of his property in this country. At this time he disposed of his rents in these lands, held by him in right of his wife. His children were, Thomas, (who died before this time and had left a son Thomas,) Henry, (who had but one son, Henry,) Josiah, Pelatiah and Matthew. (His wife Elizabeth, was deceased.) He gave his rents in England to Henry, Jr., grandson of Col. Mathew, to Josiah, son of Josiah, deceased, and to some of his own sons. The death of some of his sons caused him to make a codicil to his will, which somewhat altered the disposal of the property. Estate, £1806. Col. Mathew d. Feb. 17, 1758, aged 97 years. His wife Elizabeth, d. June 4, 1734, aged 69 years.

Col. Allyn was a very important man in the Colony for many years, even to his extreme old age, being a gentleman of education and talents, and connected with the families of Allyn, Wolcott, and Newberry. He was a Judge of the Superior Court of Connecticut, for several years, and held many other places of trust in the Colony. Issue, Mathew, b. Aug. 9, 1687; Peletiah, b. May 3, 1689; Josiah, b. March 9, 1692-3; Henry, b. Dec. 16, 1699; Theophilus, b. Aug. 26, 1702; Elizabeth, Eunice, and Azuba. Thomas d. before his father, and left four sons, viz: Thomas, Theophilus, John and Joseph. His lands at Willington and Torrington, he gave to his three living sons, and one-fourth to the four sons of Thomas, deceased. He gave £4 to the old church in Windsor. He had three grandsons—the sons of Josiah, viz: Josiah, John and Matthew.

ALLYN, HENRY, son of Col. Mathew, m. Elizabeth —, had an only son Henry, Jr., and daughter Ann. Maj. Henry, Sen., d. before his father, (Col. Mathew,) June 23, 1753. The Col. added a codicil to his will and provided for Henry, Jr., and Ann, and some others of his grandchildren.

ALLYN, THOMAS, son of Col. Mathew, d. before his father, and left sons—Thomas, Theophilus, John, and Joseph.

ALLYN, MATHEW, son of Col. Mathew, had children: Mathew, Jonathan, Elijah, Moses, Aaron, Dorcas, and Esther. Their father having deceased, their grandfather, Col. Allyn, provided for them in his codicil. (Distributed in 1761.)

ALLYN, JOSIAH, son of Col. Mathew, d. before his father, and left children: Josiah, John and Mathew. Col. Allyn gave his son Josiah's portion to these three grandsons. Sarah, his widow, d. May 31, 1763, aged 65.

ALLYN, LIEUT. JOSIAH, son of Josiah, and grandson of Col. Mathew, m. Ann. He and his wife died so near to each other, that both estates were distributed at the same time, as one estate. The Legatees were Roxana, wife of Dr. Joseph Kingsbury, of Ellington; Ann, wife of Dr. Daniel Porter, of East Windsor; Rhoda Allyn; Chloe, wife of Dr. Elisha Sill: children of Josiah and Ann, 1797.

Estate, £8035, 1s. 7d. Lieut. Josiah d. Jan. 17, 1794, aged 67. His wife Ann d. March 18, 1795.

HENRY, son of Maj. Henry, and grandson of Col. Mathew, had the homestead, a part of Moor Meadow, which had been given to his grandfather, Mathew, and land at Torrington and Willington, which had been given to his grandfather Wolcott. He had a sister Ann. Peletiah, son of Col. Mathew, and Henry, his grandson, were Executors of his will. Maj. Henry, d. June 23, 1753, aged 54 years. ARNOLD, JOHN, was located in Hartford, south of Little River, in 1640; lot bounded north on the road leading from George Steele's to south meadow, east and south by William Hide, and west by Richard Lyman's lot. He was in the land division in 1639, sixteen acres. His wife, Susannah. Will, dated August 22, 1664. Inventory taken Dec. 26, 1664. Estate over £100. He had children, Josiah, Joseph, Daniel, a daughter m. Buck, and perhaps others, a grand-daughter Mary Buck. He gave his son Joseph a portion of his estate, if he returned to live in Hartford again within two years. Joseph was an original proprietor in Hartford as early as 1639, and his son Joseph was old enough to have been an original proprietor at Haddam, in 1668. Joseph Arnold owned as many as twelve parcels of land at Thirty Miles Island.

ARNOLL, JOHN, freeman in Massachusetts, May, 1635. John signed to remove to Hadley, in 1659, but did not go.

ARNOLD, JOSEPH, was a defendant in court at Hartford, May, 1647. Josias Arnold was made free at Hartford, May, 1657-8.

ARNOLD, DANIEL, of Hartford, d. and his will proved in court at Hartford, in 1692, and John Mason, aged 48, appointed administrator. Estate £52, 11s. Mason d. and in 1698, Nathaniel, son of Daniel, was appointed administrator.

ARNOLD, JOSEPH, was an original settler at Hartford. He d. Oct. 22, 1691. Estate, £151, 10s. His will was offered in court by his widow and sons, Joseph and Josiah, in 1692. The estate was divided by his children in 1693, at which time his widow had married her second husband. Children, viz., John, aged 29; Joseph, 26; Samuel, 23; Josias, 21; Jonathan, 12; and a daughter, Susannah, 16; and Elizabeth, 9. Samuel had his portion at E. Haddam, by a deed from his father, at "Matchit Moodus." Joseph Arnold was an original proprietor of the town of Haddam, but whether he removed to Haddam in the first settlement is doubtful; his son Joseph probably settled at Haddam, and Samuel.

ARNOLD, JONATHAN, of Haddam, son of Joseph, m. Hannah Robinson, Oct. 5, 1709; had Jonathan, b. July 11, 1710; his wife

d. Sept. 18, 1714, aged 35, and he m. Sarah Jones, in 1715, and had Anna, b. April 18, 1717. He d. May 19, 1719, aged 39.

ARNOLD, JOHN, m. Elizabeth Cross, of Windham, April 8, 1702.

ARNOLD, REV. JONATHAN, graduated at Yale College, 1723, was the second minister in W. Haven, 1725; he declared for Episcopacy after about ten years, (as Dr. Johnson had done before him;) he finally settled on Staten Island, New York.

ARNOLD, JOSEPH, was the son of Joseph Arnold. Jonathan, the son of Joseph, was the father of Samuel, who was lost in the woods, at the age of three years, west of Turkey Hill; son of Jonathan, Jr., a minister who settled in New Jersey; also of a second Samuel. This second Samuel had sons, Jonathan, Samuel and James. Col. Arnold, of Durham, was the son of Ebenezer, Joseph, the father of Jonathan, the father of Samuel, the father of Samuel, who had sons, Jonathan, d., John, Joseph, Samuel, Elijah and Charles, fifth generation. Joseph, son of Samuel, had sons, Jonathan, Joseph, George, Samuel, William, Isaac and Charles, (the sixth generation from Joseph, Sen. Joseph Arnold probably came from Newtown, Mass., to Hartford, in Mr. Hooker's Company, in 1636. Whether he was a relative of Benedict Arnold, early at Cambridge, cannot be settled by the Connecticut records.

ARNOLD, BENEDICT, resided at Cambridge, and was an interpreter there in the early settlement of the town, as appears by the record of deeds in East Cambridge. He was probably the same Benedict Arnold who was afterwards President of Rhode Island, in 1663.

From Records of the town of Norwich, Vol. I.

Sheldon had a double portion, £758 ; Benjamin Sheldon, £379 ; Amy, wife of James Warriner, £379 ; Mary, wife of Ebenezer Hitchcock, £379 ; Rachel, wife of Jedediah Bliss, £379 ; (these were the five Sheldon children,) and John Ashley, son of Mr. John Ashley, £379 ; all having the same mother. This John Ashley, who afterwards settled at Sheffield, was a great-grandson of the first Robert Ashley ; he was also the great-grandson of Col. John Pyncheon, of Springfield, and of William Whiting, one of the first settlers of Hartford.

ASHLEY, JOHN, of Westfield, was one of a Committee for making a purchase of the Indians, granting lots, dividing the tract of land now Sheffield, admitting settlers, and to reserve lands for the first ministers, for the support of schools and the gospel. The committee met in 1723, and received fifty-five settlers, or rather proprietors. In 1724, a deed signed by Kon-ke-pot and twenty other Indians, of this large tract of land, was acknowledged by them, before John Ashley, Esq., as magistrate or justice of the peace, which tract embraced several of the towns north of Sheffield, as now incorporated. In 1725, Capt. John Ashley and Capt. Pomeroy divided the lower township. In June, 1733, John Ashley, E. Pomeroy and S. Ingersoll were appointed a committee by the legislature, to advance the settlement in the lower and upper settlement. Capt. John Ashley's son, John, became one of the first settlers of the town of Sheffield, with Austin, Noble, Kellogg, Pell, and others, from Westfield ; the same year Sheffield was incorporated, (1733,) and the first town meeting held at the log house of O. Noble.

*ASHLEY, JOHN, Esq., of Sheffield, son of John, Esq., of Westfield, who was born at Westfield, Dec. 2, 1709, emigrated in early life to Sheffield, and located himself there as a lawyer, after he had been admitted to the bar, in 1732. He held large quantities of land in the valley of the Housatonic and at Kunkapott, three miles east of the river. He soon rose in the militia to the rank of colonel, and was most of his life a magistrate of the county of Berkshire ; he was also a judge of the county court, from 1765 until the court was dismissed during the war of the Revolution, in 1781. He graduated at Yale College, in 1730, and died at Sheffield, Sept., 1802, aged 93 years.

* In January, 1723, John Ashley, Esq., and others, a committee, met at Springfield, where they received the names of fifty-six settlers or proprietors for the settlement of the lower township, (Sheffield.) In 1725, Capt. John Ashley, of Westfield, and Capt. Ebenezer Pomeroy, made a division of the lower township, (Sheffield,) upon the river. The first settlers of Sheffield were from Hampshire county. Judge Ashley, son of the above named Capt. John Ashley, settled at Sheffield, in 1732 or '3.

Hannah, his wife, died June 19, 1790, aged 78 years. He became a gentleman of great wealth, and left to his son and two daughters, then living, and grandchildren, about 1000 acres of finely cultivated lands and other estate; most of his lands he had held from his first settlement there, until his death. Colonel or Judge John married in early life, Hannah Hugaboom, of Claverac, in the State of New York. Judge Ashley had one son and three daughters, viz., Major General John, Jane, Mary and Hannah.

wife, he had Laurretta and Pliny. Mr. Ashley removed from Amherst to Hudson, N. Y., where he died in 1847.

ASHLEY, HON. CHESTER, son of William Ashley, of Hudson, N. Y., deceased, graduated at Williams College, in 1813. He read law in the office of Judges Reeve and Gould, at Litchfield, about one year; he then returned to Hudson, New York, and finished his legal studies in the office of the Hon. Elisha Williams, at Hudson. He was born at Amherst, Mass. He emigrated with his father to Hudson, when young. After his admission to the bar, he went to the west to seek his fortune in life, and for a short time opened a law office in Illinois; from thence he removed to Little Rock, in Arkansas, where he located and remained in a profitable practice of his profession until he was elected a Senator of the United States. Gen. Ashley was on his sixth year's service as Senator of the United States, and his State had re-elected him to that honorable and responsible office for six additional years, from and after the 4th of March, 1849. In the fore part of April, 1848, he was taken severely ill at Washington, when attending upon his senatorial duty; he lingered a few days, unattended by any one of his family. He died at Washington, D. C., April 29, 1848, greatly lamented by his family, his associates in council, and his country. Mr. Ashley was an important member of that learned body of statesmen. He was a gentleman of fine, commanding appearance; no man in the Senate surpassed him in this respect; though his hair was white, his ruddy cheeks gave him the appearance at least of middle life, and his voice so often heard in that learned body, improved his youthful appearance, while it showed his talents equal to his task and position. He married in early life an accomplished lady, after his location at Little Rock, and had a son William, born there, who was educated at Hartford, Conn., and is now a planter near the former residence of his worthy father. He also left an amiable daughter, who figured conspicuously in the highest circles at Washington, during a part of her father's residence there, and an amiable widow, who now resides in Arkansas.

ASHLEY, JOSEPH, and Elizabeth, his wife, had a son, Thomas, b. at Rochester, Mass., Feb. 21, 1704-5.

NOTE.—Mrs. Kate Ashley, was Queen Elizabeth's Governess, and “exercised the most remarkable influence over the mind of her royal pupil, from her earliest years. She was Aunt to Sir Humphrey Gilbert, to whom Sir Walter Raleigh was uterine brother, and was married to a relative of Anne Boleyn, the Queen's unfortunate mother. Queen Elizabeth placed her chief favor and confidence in her maternal kindred, to the end of her life, and Mrs. Ashley's powerful influence was of great advantage to her nephews.” (See Gen. Reg. No. XV, p. 226)

In the valuable late extracts from the original record in the Custody of the Master of the Rolls in London, by Mr. Somerby, I find Samuel Ashley, aged 19, and Mary Ashley, aged 24 years, in 1635, were embarked in the Merchant Bonaventure, James Ricrofte, Master, to be transported to Virginia. (Perhaps Ashley River took its name from this Samuel Ashley.)

ASPINALL has two coats of arms, and ASPINWALL, one.

ASPINWALL, Mr. WILLIAM, desired to be made free at Boston, Oct. 19, 1630: took the oath April 3, 1632. This is an old and highly respectable name in Boston, Mass.

ASPINWALL, PETER, of Roxbury, Mass., in 1683: signed a contract with others, to settle the town of Woodstock, Conn.

ASPINWALL, WILLIAM and ELIZABETH, of Boston, had children: Edward, b. at Boston, 26th of the 7th month, 1630, and d. the 10th of the 8th month, 1630; Hannah, Elizabeth, Samuel, Ethlan and Dorcas, b. the 14th of the 12th month, 1639. This is the first found in Mass. PETER, freeman in Massachusetts, 1645. Mr. Aspinwall, (supposed) Recorder for the County of Suffolk, (Gen. Reg. No. 11, p. 207.) WILLIAM ASPINWALL, was Recorder in 1647. This has been a celebrated name in Massachusetts, early, and at a later period in the City of New York, by some of their descendants from Massachusetts. The name of Aspenwell is at Mansfield, and George W. Aspinwell, representative of the town, in 1952.

ASTWOOD, JAMES, Farmer says, was a freeman at Dorches-

NOTE.—Hon. Heman Allen, (a brother of Col. Ethan Allen, the hero of Bennington,—who was many years a leading Member of Congress, from the Burlington District in Vermont, and American Minister to the Chilean Republic, (appointed by President J. Q. Adams,) died of Apoplexy, at Highgate, in Vermont, April, 1853. (See JOSEPH ALLEN, p. 45.)

ter, 1639, and probably one of the founders of the 2d Church in Boston: sons, John and Joseph b. in 1640 and 1644. John, Massachusetts, freeman in 1636, removed to New Haven Colony, and settled at Milford, as early as 1639, where he was a magistrate. Nov. 20, 1639, he was appointed at Milford, one of the Judges "in all civil affairs," to try all causes between man and man, as a court to punish any offences and sin against the commandments therein, till a body of laws should be established, and to observe and apply themselves to the rule of the written word of God." He was one of the first church of Milford, gathered at New Haven. He returned to England and d. there in July, 1654. He was one of the principal men at Milford, for the few years he remained there. He, with Mr. Tapp, and Wm. Fowler, of Milford, were requested by the General Court of Connecticut, in Sept., 1641, to settle the bounds "between Paquanuck and Uncoway." (Indian name of Milford,* was Wepowaug.)

ATCHITT, or ADJETT, JOHN and SAMUEL, sons of John. Samuel d. 1712, at Hartford. John d. 1712, at Block Island, and left an estate of £94, which his father, then living, inherited as next of kin. John left no children.

ATKINS has four coats of arms. ATKYNS has six. (See ADKINS.

ATKINSON. This name was early at Boston, about 1634, where he owned the pasture near Fort Hill, about seven acres. Atkinson street was called after his name. He was from Bury, Lancaster County, in England. THEODORE, his grandson, settled at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and m. a daughter of Gov. Wentworth, where he became a man of note, under Gov. Shute, where he d. in 1719. His son, Theodore, of New Castle, became a man of more celebrity than his father: he d. 1779, aged 82 years. His only son, Theodore, was Secretary of the Province, m. a daughter of Wm. Wentworth, of Boston. He d. in 1769, while young. His widow, two weeks after his decease, m. Gov. Wentworth, of Portsmouth, N. H. (See Farmer, Lancaster.)

* Milford, (or rather Wepowaug,) was one of the original towns in the New Haven Colony and settled in 1639.

"At a general meeting of Wepowage," (Milford,) concerning the ordering of civil affairs, March 9th, 1639, held on money matters.

At a meeting held Nov. 20, 1639, by the first freemen of Milford, Wm. Fowler, Edmond Tapp, Zachariah Whitman, John Astwood and Richard Miles, were chosen "Judges in all civil affairs, and to try all causes between man and man, as a court to punish any offence, and sin, against the commandments therein, till a body of Laws" should be established, "they to observe and apply themselves to the rule of the written word of God."

ATKINSON, MILES and THOMAS, were to be transported to Virginia, in July, 1635, and embarked in the Alice, Richard Orchard, master. They took the oath of allegiance and "supremicie."

ATCHINSON, NATHANIEL, was chosen deacon of the church in West Springfield, 1759, and d. in 1801, aged 92. Achieson, has two coats of arms in England, and Aitkinson, one, (Scotland.) Atkinson has thirteen coats of arms in England. ATCHISON, (Scotland,) has one coat of arms, and ATCHESON, one.

ATKINSON, LUKE, a planter in the N. Haven Colony, in 1643, with a family of four persons. Few of the name are now in Conn.

*ATWATER, JOSHUA, a merchant at Suffield, d. in 1776. Thomas Lee, then late of Boston, with David Todd, of Suffield, gave the administration bond with Thaddeus Leavit. Children not found: probably a descendant of Joshua Atwater, an early settler at New Haven. This name is found on Milford record, later than at New Haven. Twenty-one persons by this name graduated at Yale College, before 1851.

The name of Atwater from the early settlement of New Haven, has been highly respectable in that Colony. Joshua Atwater was a Magistrate in the New Haven Colony, in 1658. This name has five coats of arms.

* Copy of the original agreement entered into by the first settlers of New Haven, of which Joshua Atwater was one of the signers, viz:

"Whereas there was a foundamintall agreem^t made in a generall meeting of all the free Planters of this towne, on the 4th of the fowrth moneth called June, namely, that church members onely, shall be free burgesses, and they only shall chuse among themselves, magistrates and officers, to have the power of transacting all publique, civill affayres of this plantation, of making and repealing lawes, dividing inheritances, deciding of differences that may arise, and doing all things and businesses, of like nature. It was therefore ordered by all the said free Planters, that all those that hereafter, should be received as planters into this plantation, should also submit to the said foundamintall agreem^t, and testifie the same by subscribing their names vnder the names of the afores^d

AUSTIN, JOSEPH, son of Capt. Richard, m. Abigail Allen, of Suffield, May 8, 1740, and had Caroline, b. April 25, 1742; Abigail, b. Nov. 15, 1747; Ruth, b. Nov. 15, 1749; Joseph, b. March 16, 1750-1, d. 1753; 2d Joseph, b. Nov. 3, 1753; Benjamin, b. June 19, 1756; Tryphene, b. March 25, 1759; Luraina, b. June 15, 1761; Olive, b. March 12, 1764; Lucy, b. March 15, 1747.

AUSTIN, ANTHONY, JR., of Suffield, m. Elizabeth King, July 22, 1725, and had Zephenias, b. April 16, 1727; Ann, b. Dec. 30, 1728; Elizabeth, b. at the Lower Township of "Housatonick," (Sheffield,) Jan. 23, 1730-1; Anthony, b. at Sheffield, Oct. 2, 1733. Anthony settled at Sheffield, and has descendants there now.

AUSTIN, JOHN, of Suffield, son of John, m. Mary Hovey of Mansfield, Jan. 14, 1729-30, and had Mary, b. Feb. 24, 1730-1; John, b. Oct. 22, 1732.

AUSTIN, DEA. URIAH, m. Abigail Case, of Suffield, March 3, 1742-3, and had Abigail, b. April 29, 1745; Benajah, b. Sept. 3, 1747; Rhoda, b. July 26, 1751; Uriah, b. Oct. 23, 1757. Dea. Austin d. Dec. 28, 1799.

AUSTIN, NATHANIEL, of Sheffield, m. Agnes Adams, of Suffield, May 16, 1732.

AUSTIN, HON. AARON, of New Hartford, was b. at Suffield, in 1745, son of Aaron, and grandson of Nathaniel Austin, of Suffield; but his father, soon after Aaron's birth, removed his family to Torrington, Ct., where his son Aaron remained, and was m. at the age of 22 years, to Miss Kellogg. About the time of his marriage, he removed to New Hartford. In the struggle of the Revolution, he happened at Boston when the first alarm was given. He was in two campaigns at the North, as a subaltern officer. He was at the defeat of Burgoyne,—also at the burning of Danbury. He was a brave and valiant soldier and officer. In private life, he was a most worthy, pious and useful citizen. For about 25 years, he was an Assistant, or one of the Governor's Council of Connecticut. Many years, he was either Chief Judge or Associate Judge of the County Court at Litchfield. In 1803, he was appointed a Fellow of the Corporation of Yale College, which he held many years, (15,) as he did the high office of Assistant. In 1805, received an honorary degree at Yale College. Even in his old age, when his age had become a disqualification for some of the higher offices, he was elected by his town, a Representative to the General Assembly. He was a Deacon of the church in New Hartford, about 30 years. He was a Trustee of the Missionary Society of Connecticut, for many years. He was a gentleman of the old school, plain in his attire, of great good common sense, and as strict as were the Puritans, in all his family devotions, and other religious services. He died in 1829. His children were, Montgomery, who m. a sister of Dr. Griffin, of Williamstown, Mass. After his death, she m. Rev. Mr. Wilder for her second husband. Ralsaman C., graduated at Yale College in 1801, and read law at Litchfield, settled at Peekskill, N. Y., and d. at Washington, D. C., Sept. 19, 1840; Esther; Sarah, never m. She removed to Ohio; Clarinda, and one or two others, d. in early life. His daughter Esther m. Hon. Uriel Holmes, of Litchfield, who became a well-read lawyer, frequently a member of the Legislature, and a member of Congress. Mr. Holmes had a daughter, who d. aged 3 years; Uriel, Jun., d. aged 22 years. He graduated at Yale College, 1816. Dr. Henry Holmes, who now resides at Hartford, pursuing his profession, is the only survivor of the Hon. Uriel Holmes, who d. at Litchfield, in May, 1827, aged 62 years. His wife d. in 1802.

The Austins, of Sheffield, Mass., are of the family of Anthony, Sen., of Suffield, as was SAMUEL, of Norfolk, who was a son of SAMUEL, of Colebrook. ISAAC, of Colebrook, was also of the same family. He had children: Samuel, Levi, Dan, Caleb, Enos, Joseph, Benjamin, Ann and Eunice, some of whom are now living. JACOB, of Suffield, d.; property distributed to his children in 1777, viz., to Jacob, Hannah, wife of Dan Phelps, Experience, Thankfull, Elijah, Elias and Phineas Austin. CAPT. RICHARD, of Suffield, d. in 1764, and left children: Richard, Joseph, Jacob, Ebenezer, Moses, Elias, Hannah Gates, Rebecca Waters and Dorothy Austin; widow Elizabeth. REUBEN, of New Hartford, of the same family, d. in 1768, and left children: Robert, Phebe, Prudence, Hannah, Esther and Mary Austin. NATHANIEL, the son of Aaron Austin, Sen., of Suffield, resided several years at Torrington and New Hartford, and then removed with his family to Ohio. Anthony was for many years of the first settlement of Suffield, Town Clerk and Selectman, &c., and during his life was a leading man in the town, as several of his descendants have since been. THOMAS AUSTIN was seated in the meeting-house at Norwalk, Dec. 29, 1710, (not known to be of this family.) JONATHAN, of Taunton, Mass., purchased land of Joseph Cary, in Windham, April 2, 1716. Elizabeth, widow of Anthony, of Suffield, d. Oct. 2, 1682. There was early a family by the name of Austin, at Durham, Conn. MOSES AUSTIN, of Durham, and Moses Bates, left the town as adventurers, in 1798, and went to the lead mines in Virginia, then down the Ohio river, to St. Genevieve, to New Spain. Bates purchased of the Spanish Government 1000 acres of new lands, for $10. Austin purchased in the lead region, about 60 miles south of St. Louis, a league square of land. He laid out the city of Potosi, now the capital of Washington county. In 1819, Mr. Austin's affairs turned out unfortunate at Potosi, and he became poor. He then went to Texas, and obtained a large tract of land of the Mexican Government, and returned to Missouri after his family, and was taken sick and d. in May, 1822. His son, Stephen F. Austin, took possession of his father's lands in Texas, and took a colony of men to the river Brazos, and laid out the town of Austin, which afterwards became the seat of government of Texas. He was encouraged by Iturbide, in 1822, in his colonization. But young Austin's ambition prompted him, in 1832, to petition the Congress of Mexico, to become a separate government, and not waiting for the action of the Mexican Congress, wrote to his constituents to form a government of their own; for which he was imprisoned in Mexico, and did not reach home again until about 2 years. When he returned, he was appointed commander-in-chief of the army, and the head of his government. He d. in 1835. His sister, Emily M., the wife of James F. Perry, resides near Brazoria, the heir of her brother's large amount of lands. It is unquestionably, in a great measure, owing to the energy, enterprise and talent of Moses Austin, and his son, Major Gen. Stephen F., that Texas was separated from Mexico, and has since become one of the United States.* I have no record evidence that the Austin family, at New Haven, were of the family at Suffield or Hartford. Thirteen persons of this name have graduated at Yale College, and fifteen at Harvard College. JOHN AUSTIN, of Wallingford, who m. Prudence Roy, in 1703, had children: John, Samuel, Joshua, Robert, Thankful, Noah and Prudence, appears to have been of a different family from John, of Hartford, or Anthony

* Rev. W. C. Fowler's Letters.

Austin, of Suffield. Farmer says Anthony Austin was of Rowley, Mass., and had a son Anthony, b. in 1667, (who was probably the same Anthony Austin that settled at Suffield, with his sons, named above.) JONAS AUSTIN, of Hingham, in 1635, removed to Taunton, (Ltn. His. Hingham.) Perhaps the same Jonas at Cambridge, in 1634. AUSTEN has ten coats of arms; AUSTIN has two; AUSTON, two; AUSTYN, five. JOSEPH AUSTIN was a tax payer at Dover, N. H., in 1648.

AVERILL, (Averil,) WILLIAM, was the first of that name in Connecticut. He first came to Pomfret, and was probably a grandson of William Averill, of Ipswich, who paid 3s. tax towards the salary of Maior Denison, the leader of Ipswich, in 1648. His wife was Ruth, by whom he had children, recorded at Windham, Ct., viz., James, b. Oct. 2, 1722, d. Dec. after; Ephraim, b. July 3, 172-, d. Aug. 8, 1743; Mary, b. May 24; Elizabeth, b. Feb. 17, 1725; Stephen, b. Aug. 24, 1729, d. Nov. 6, 1729; 2d Stephen, b. Oct. 18, 1730; Ruth, b. July 2, 1733; 2d James, b. Feb. 23, 1734-5. The last James removed and settled in the town of Preston, Ct., in that part of the town which is now Griswold, where some of his descendants yet remain. Col. Perry Averill, one of this family, with some others, removed to Judea Society, in what is now Washington, Ct., (from the town of Preston,) which was constituted a Society in Oct., 1741. In Oct., 1753, Raumaug was constituted into another Society, called New Preston; which last Society probably received its name from those settlers who had removed there from Preston. The town of Washington was incorporated in Jan., 1779. Col. Averill was probably an early settler at New Preston, where he d. when very old. There was a JOHN AVERILL, an early settler at Stafford, when Stafford belonged to Hartford county. The town began to settle about 1720. This John was perhaps a branch of the family of William, of Ipswich. This name was not as early as many others in Connecticut.

AVERILL, WILLIAM, of Ipswich, Mass., paid 3s. towards the salary of Maior Denison, the leader of that town in 1648, "in the way of gratuitye." (L. Wait.) LUKE AVERILL, of Topsfield, m. Sarah Peabody, March 10, 1706. Isaac Averill, of Topsfield, m. Priscilla Peabody, daughter of Joseph, Dec. 22, 1761. Her father, in his will, bequeathed her and her sisters, Elizabeth and Peggy, "a very valuable wardrobe and rich jewels of his wife's." EZEKIEL AVERILL, of Wiscasset, Me., was a pensioner of the Revolution, for his services during the war, d. aged 95 years. BENJAMIN

AVERILL m. Hannah Peabody, June 2, 1808, Mass. Two of this name graduated at Yale College before 1850. Col. Averill, who settled at Washington, Ct., in the Society of New Preston, was blessed with a large and respectable family of children. One son, Samuel, resides at New Preston; Perry at Southbury; one at Albany; one in New York; one son, Eliphalet, d. at Hartford, where he had two sons and one daughter. The daughter m. Elisha Peck, Esq., of New York, and has since d. CHESTER AVERILL, a native of Salisbury, d. in 1836, while Professor of Chemistry in Union College. The name is yet found in Salisbury, a branch of the same family. Another branch of the Averill family was an early settler at Ashford, Conn. One of this family graduated at Yale College, in 1814, and is now an eminent lawyer at New Orleans, La. The Averills were from Milford Haven, in Wales. Two of the name have graduated at Yale College.

NOTE.—New Preston is a Society in Washington, Conn. The town was incorporated in 1779. The Society of Judea, in Washington, was constituted such in Oct., 1741; and the New Preston Society constituted a Society in Oct., 1753, (before called Raumaug.) The Society of New Preston is a small, hilly and rough tract of country,—yet more eminent men have been produced from this Society, than from any other of an equal population in the State. Rev. Jeremiah Day, their pastor, was from Sharon. Rev. Jeremiah Day, S. T. D., LL. D., D. D., graduated at Yale College in 1795; Tutor in Yale College from 1798 to 1801; Professor of Natural Philosophy, &c., from 1803 to 1817; President of Yale College from 1817 to 1846. He is yet living in New Haven. Hon. Thomas Day, LL. D., his brother, (and sons of Rev. Mr. Day, late of New Preston, deceased,) graduated at Yale College, 1797; was about twenty-five years Secretary of State in Connecticut, previous to 1835; many years Law Reporter; President of the Connecticut Historical Society since its organization, (which he now holds.) Hon. Elisha Whittlesey of Ohio, (the honest politician,) was also born in New Preston, about two years previous to his father's removal to Salisbury with his family. He is a sound lawyer, and early had a large practice in his profession. In 1823, he was elected to Congress from Ohio, where he was continued by re-elections for 18 years, and was acknowledged by his brother members to have been one of the most efficient and upright delegates in Congress. He started in his profession first at New Milford, Conn., where he opened a law office, and remained a few months, before he removed to Ohio. While in Congress, he many years held the responsible office of Chairman of the Committee on Claims. In this position, his never-tiring industry had full scope. He usually made but few remarks in the House, but when he did address the House, he gave his ideas upon the subject in question, with such clearness, precision and perspicuity, that he generally convinced his hearers. He was appointed Auditor of the U. S. Treasury for the Post Office, under Gen. Harrison. This caused him to decline a re-election to Congress, and he entered upon the duties of his new and responsible office in the spring of 1841, and remained there under President Tyler, until near the close of his administration, as all the Presidents, of whatever political party, appeared willing to continue so efficient and honest a man in office. In 1845, Mr. Whittlesey was appointed Agent and Director of the "Washington National Monument Society," which place he yet holds, and has probably done more for the success of the project than any other individual in the country. In 1849, he was appointed First Comptroller of the U. States Treasury. In whatever position he has been placed, his sound judgment and unbending integrity have given universal satisfaction to his country. Hon. Frederick Whittlesey, late deceased, AVERY, (AVERIE,) JAMES, Esq., a respectable, useful and early settler at New London. He was appointed by the Legislature upon many important committees. In June, 1659, he, with Deacon Caulkin and James Morgan, were appointed to lay out the Governor's lands. In Oct., 1662, he was appointed the country's agent, with James Rogers and Lnt. Samuel Smith, at N. L., to receive the corn collected by the Constables of each town in the Colony, to pay the expenses of obtaining the Charter, to store it in the warehouse at New London, and deliver it to such ships as the Governor should direct. In 1663, Ensign James Avery was appointed a Commissioner, to join with Mr. Bruen, at New London, in holding a court, to be composed of Major Mason, Hon. John Allyn, Mr. Bruen and himself. In May, 1664, Ensign Avery, Mr. Bruen and Mr. Palmes, were Commissioners for New London. In 1665, he, with Ensign Thomas Tracy, John Gallop and Thomas Minor, were to lay out lands for Robin, an Indian, and his company, to plant, near the head of Mistick river. James Avery, New London, was ordered, in case of a war with the Dutch, in 1673, to act as Captain, Thomas Tracy, Lieutenant, and John Denison, Ensign, for the county of New London, over such forces as should be called out. He was Deputy to the General Court, in 1659, 1660, 1661, two sessions in 1664, and one in 1665, &c.

AVERY, CAPT. JAMES, of Devonshire, Eng., came with Winthrop's company, in 1630. Groton Record says he came to Groton in 1640, (quere.) He m. Sarah, daughter of Thomas Minor, of Stonington. Children: Hannah, b. Oct. 11, 1644; James, Jun., b. Dec. 15, 1646; Mary, b. Feb. 19, 1648; Thomas, b. May 6, 1651; former member of Congress from Rochester, N. Y., graduated at Yale College in 1818; admitted to the bar at Utica, N. Y., 1821; Bank Attorney at Rochester, 1824 or 1825; Clerk of the Court of Equity in the 8th Circuit of New York, 1826; one of the Trustees of Rochester, and Clerk of the Board; Treasurer of the County of Monroe, in 1829; elected to Congress in 1830, and again in 1832; Vice Chancellor of the 8th Judicial Circuit, in 1839 or 1840, which he held 8 years; Judge of the old Supreme Court until July, 1848. In 1830, he was honored with the appointment of Law Professor in Genesee College, and held many other places of trust and honor in his adopted State. Rev. Nathaniel S. Wheaton, D. D., graduated at Yale College in 1814; President of Washington, now Trinity College, from 1831 to 1837. In 1823-4, he went to England, as agent for the institution, and was one of the incorporators of the College. Rev. Horace Bushnell, D. D., S. T. D., b. in 1802, graduated at Yale College in 1827; Tutor in Yale College from 1829 to 1831; settled in the ministry at Hartford, and is now the Martin Luther of the age. His brother, Rev. George Bushnell, graduated at Yale College in 1842, is settled in the ministry at Worcester, Mass., and is a young man of great promise. The before named gentlemen were all born in the Society of New Preston, except Dr. Bushnell, who was born at Litchfield, about two years before his father removed with his family to New Preston.

John, b. Feb. 10, 1653 ; Rebecka, b. Oct. 5, 1656 ; Jonathan, b. Jan. 5, 1658 ; Christopher, b. April 3, 1661 ; Samuel, b. Aug. 14, 1664.

AVERY, JAMES, JUN., m. Deborah Sterling, Feb. 20, 1669. He resided on the Groton side of the river; and d. there in 1728, aged 82 years. They had issue: Deborah, b. Aug. 10, 1670 ; James, b. April 20, 1673 ; Margaret, b. Feb. 7, 1674 ; Edward, b. March 20, 1676 ; Ebenezer, b. May 1, 1678 ; Christopher, b. Jan. 25, 1680 ; Hannah, b. March 24, 1685 ; and Sarah, b. May 10, 1688.

AVERY, CHRISTOPHER, son of James, Jun., had three or four wives. He first m. Abigail Payson. His children were: Abigail, John, Christopher, Jun., Nathan, Isaac, Priscilla, Hannah, Jacob, and Temperance, b. Sept. 14, 1725. She m. William Morgan, and d. Oct. 7, 1801, aged 76 years. (N. H. Morgan and Col. Record.) Christopher was located in that part of Groton, now Ledyard. He d. in 1753, aged 73 years.

AVERY, JAMES, SEN., probably came to New London with Rev. Mr. Blinman, in 1647 or '8. He early became one of the active and important men of the town. Many of his descendants are now found in Connecticut.

AVERY, JOHN, of Colchester, had a daughter, Lydia, baptized, July, 1738.

AVERY, NATHANIEL, had an ear mark at Lyme, 1738. Fourteen persons of this name had graduated at Yale College before 1851, and eight at Harvard College. There was a CHRISTOPHER AVERY mentioned by Farmer, a Selectman of Gloucester, in 1646. (Felt.) Also, THOMAS, a blacksmith, of Salem, in 1659. (Felt.) REV. JOHN AVERY, his wife and eight children, perished in a storm, Aug. 15, 1635, going from Newbury or Ipswich to Marblehead. (Mather's Magnalia.) JOHN, of Boston, d. July 31, 1654. WILLIAM had a grant of land at Ipswich, Mass., in 1638. WILLIAM AVERY, member of the ar. co. in 1654, and represented Springfield in 1669. (Farmer.)

AVERY has 3 coats of arms for the name.

AVERY, THOMAS, freeman in Massachusetts, 1642-3.

Rev. EPHRAIM, graduated at Harvard College, 1781, and settled in the 2d Society of Pomfret, Sept. 4, 1735, and continued their minister until Oct. 20, 1754, when he d. (I know of no person of the name, now of Connecticut, who is not a descendant of James, Sen.) Fourteen persons by this name had graduated at Yale College in 1844, and eight at Harvard College in 1819.

AYRAULT, (Arolt,) Dr. SAMUEL, came from Rochelle, to Rhode Island, about 1687, in company with other French Protestants, after the revolution of the Edict of Nantz, where he remained and died. Dr. Nicholas Ayrault, came to and settled at Wethersfield, Conn. He was probably a brother or son of Dr. Samuel, of R. I., as Nicholas was from the same country, same profession, and married his wife in Providence, where he frequently visited Dr. Samuel Ayrault, after he was located at Wethersfield.

AYRAULT, NICHOLAS, of Wethersfield, d. 1706. He was a physician by profession, a French gentleman. At his decease he left a widow (Marian) and several children. To his son Peter, he gave his gold buttons. The rest and residue of his property in France and elsewhere, he gave to his widow, Marian. He provided for his children, after either the marriage, or death of his widow. He m. Marian Breton or Bretoon, of Providence, R. I. The house which he built, stood on the next lot south and adjoining the residence of Capt. Jesse Goodrich, deceased, in Wethersfield. He was a gentleman of wealth and reputation, and was connected by marriage to the Dodd family. Marian Dodd, of Hartford, now has a beautiful French box of splendid workmanship, which has descended from Marian Ayrault.

AYRAULT, NICHOLAS, JR., of Wethersfield, son of Dr. Nicholas, m. Jane Stocking, daughter of Daniel, of Middletown, April 17, 1730. Had issue: James, b. Sept. 17, 1730; Mary Ann, b. May 6, 1733, d. 1735, or '8; Daniel, b. Dec. 8, 1735, d. March 20, 1750; Marianna, b. Feb. 25, 1737, and d. 1749; Nicholas, b. May 1, 1740, and d. the same day; Jane b. March 6, 1742; 2d Nicholas, b. Oct. 18, 1744, d. March 29, 1750; Marianna 2d, b. Nov. 5, 1746, d. Feb. 26, 1748.

AYRAULT, PETER, of Wethersfield, son of Dr. Nicholas, m. Mary Francis, Nov. 12, 1744, and had issue: Stephen, b. Aug. 8, 1743, d. 1745; Mary Ann, b. Sept. 26, 1745; Stephen d. —; 2d Stephen, b. Sept. 22, 1747.

AYRAULT, DANIEL, son of Nicholas, m. Lucy Williams, July 26, 1759: issue, Lucy, b. May 12, 1760, all of Wethersfield.

Few of the name are left at Wethersfield. Ayrault, late a state senator, in the state of New York, is of this family.

AYER, JOHN, of Salisbury, Mass., 1640, Ipswich, 1648, d. at Haverhill, in 1657. ROBERT and THOMAS AYER, of Haverhill, admitted freemen in 1668. (Farmer.)

AYRES, WILLIAM, resided in North Main street, in Hartford, Conn., on lot No. 61, in 1651. AYER, JOHN, of Stonington, purchased land in Windham, of Jno. Knowles, of Windham, June 29, 1719, (old style.)*

JOHN AYRES, MR. JOHN ALDEN, SEN. and JR., JO. ALDEN, of "Duxborrow," in the Colony of New Plymouth, are in the list of those, who were able to bear arms in said town, in 1643.

Four of the name of Ayres graduated at Yale College, before 1851. Obadiah graduated at Harvard College, in 1710, and d. 1768.

AYER, REBECCA, m. John Aslett, of Newbury, Mass., in 1648. (Farmer.)

AYER, ROBERT, PETER and THOMAS, freemen at Haverhill, May, 1666.

AYRES, SAMUEL, of Haverhill, free 1683.

AIR, JAMES, was received an inhabitant at Dover, N. H., in 1658.

AIRES, MR. JOHN, of Massachusetts, free 1689-90.

AYRES, HEIRS, WILLIAM, owned five acres of land in Hartford, which he sold to Christopher Crowe, embraced in a large tract given to said Heirs, Andrew Sanford, and Wm. Clark, by the town of Hartford, before 1659.

AYRES, TRAVIS, of Saybrook, was a Deacon at Pautapaug, in 1788, and d. April 7, 1812, aged 89 years.

AYRES, SYMON, aged 48, "Chyrurgeon," (Surgeon,) with Dorothy, his wife, aged 38, and children, Marie, 15 years old, Thomas, 13; Symon, 11; Rebecca, 9; Christian 7; Anna 5; Benjamin, 3; and Sarah Ayers, 3 months old, embarked in the ship Increase, for New England, April 15, before 1640. This name yet is found in several towns in Connecticut.

Ayer has two coats of arms. Ayer or Ayre, one. Ayre, five, and Ares, one coat of arms.

It will be noticed by the reader, that dates are used here, in all cases, as they are found upon the records.

* OLD AND NEW STYLE.—The year in New England, as well as Old England, formerly began on the 25th day of March. April the 2d month, and February the 12th month; which continued to be so counted until 1752. Parliament passed an act, that the year which commenced with the 25th of March, should commence Jan. 1, 1752, with the addition of 11 days, so that Sept. 3d, would be Sept. 14. Previous to this time, dates are old style, and dates after 1752, are known as new style. So to make old style, into new style, add 11 days, numbering from Jan. 1. Many of the early records, for the dates between Jan. and the 25th of March, end partaking of both years, as in 1720-1. And after the 25th of March, ends 1721; and so continued, until 1752.

BABCOCK, JAMES, was born in Essex, England, in 1580. In 1620, he moved to Leyden, in Holland, and remained there nearly three years, and being a strict Puritan in his faith, he removed from Holland to Plymouth, in 1623, and arrived in July of that year. He came to this country in the ship Ann. He had four children b. in England who came with him, viz., James, John, Job and Mary. He lost his wife by death, and m. a second wife in 1650. He soon had a son, he named Joseph. The above is the tradition of the family. (See BADCOCK.)

BABCOCK, JOHN, of Quincy, Mass., m. Rachel Adams, cousin of the second President of the United States, and a relative of Hannah Adams, the Historian. John Babcock removed to Hartford, Conn., soon after the Revolution, and resided there until his death, Jan. 1, 1796, aged 65. His sons were: Samuel, Elisha, John and Andrew. The daughters were: Lucretia, Mary, Abigail, Sarah, Rachel and Reuhama. Elisha, the eldest son, m. Dorothy Welles, of Hartford, a descendant of Gov. Welles; Samuel m. a Miss Cone, of Bolton, near Hartford; he d. in New Haven, and was buried in the Old Cemetery, in the rear of the Centre Church; John, the third son, m. Sydney Rogers, of Philadelphia. She was a native of Rostrevor, in Ireland. Her father was at an early age, a Lieutenant in the British Army. Both of her parents were Protestants, and of the Church of England, and both ardent friends of Ireland. Andrew d. in Hartford, unmarried, quite young.

LUCRETIA, the eldest daughter, m. Gaius Brewer, of Wilbraham, Mass., and had a number of children. MARY, the 2d, m. Zenus Bliss, and had six children. ABIGAIL m. Mr. Gardner, of Boston, and had children. SARAH m. Ephraim Grant, of Tolland, Conn., and d. without issue. RACHEL m. Dr. Nathaniel Hooker, of West Hartford, d. young without issue. REUHAMA d. unmarried.

JOHN, who m. Sydney Rogers, had by her, seven children, five of whom are living. JANE, the eldest daughter, is unmarried, and resides in New Haven. SYDNEY, Esq., the oldest son, lives in New Haven, and m. Susan Thompson, of Stratford, Conn., by whom he has six children. Frances, the eldest child m. Dr. Eli W. Blake, of Boston, and resides there. MAJ. ELISHA, son of John, of Quincy, was by trade a printer. In early life, he settled at Springfield, where he published the Hampshire Gazette, for several years. He left Springfield on the solicitation of Hon. Joel Barlow,* to establish a paper, called the American Mercury, at Hartford, immediately after the war in 1784, in which Mr. Barlow was interested for several years after the paper was started. They were also partners in the first paper mill in Connecticut, of any considerable importance. After Mr. Barlow left the

* The American Mercury, was established in Hartford, Conn., in 1784, by Hon. Joel Barlow, and Elisha Babcock, Esq., Mr. Babcock having removed his establishment from Springfield to Hartford, at that time. This was the first Democratic paper in Connecticut.

The Connecticut Courant was first printed at Hartford, by Thomas Green, in 1764, and continued by Ebenezer Watson, until his death, during the war of the Revolution. After his death, his widow, Mrs. Watson, was the publisher for a time, when George Goodwin, Esq., published it with her; after which, Hudson and Goodwin became the Publishers, and Mr. Goodwin continued the publisher until a few years before his death, when he sold to J. L. Boswell, Esq.

* BACON, ANDREW, was one of the early and leading settlers of Hartford. He received 28 acres of land, in the first land division in 1639. His house lot in Hartford, in 1640, was south of Little River, and near to it, bounded west on the road, also north on the road along the river bank, and east on Nathaniel Ward's lot. (See NATHANIEL BACON, SEN., of Middletown.) He was a juror at Hartford, twice in 1641, once in 1643, once in 1644, once in 1645, once in '46, &c. He was first Deputy to the General Court, in April, 1642, and about thirty sessions afterwards, before 1659. He signed the contract, with Gov. Webster and others, to remove from Hartford to Hadley, which he performed in 1659, with many others, where he died, Oct. 4, 1669. He was one of the General Court of Connecticut, as early as Nov. 14, 1637, as magistrate, (where he is called Goodman Bacon.) He and his wife, Elizabeth, had children :

* It will be recollected, that the town of Hadley, in Massachusetts, was settled from the Connecticut Colony, and entered into an agreement, signed by each emigrant, in 1659, as follows, viz.

"At a meeting at Goodman Ward's house, in Hartford, April 18, 1659. The Company here met engaged themselves under their own hands, or by their deputies, (whom they had chosen,) to remove themselves and their families out of the jurisdiction of Connecticut, into the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts, as may appear in a paper dated the day and year above said. Elder William Goodwin returned in his old age, and died at Farmington. Elizabeth, the relict of Andrew Bacon, returned to Connecticut, and died here.

Abigail, who m. Samuel Cowles ; Lois, m. Thomas Porter, of Farmington ; his son Isaac, d. before his mother. He gave, in his will, small legacies to Mr. Russell and Peter Tilton, of Hadley, which his widow, Elizabeth, in her will, directed to be paid to them. In 1640, he returned to Court at Hartford, an inventory of the estate of Thomas Johnson, deceased, the cobbler. In 1642, he, with Capt. John Mason and Clark, was appointed by the General Court, to prepare carriages for the pieces (guns) that came from Piscataqua. In 1643, he, with Mr. Talcott, was appointed to take a record of the debts of the country. Also with Mr. Talcott, in 1654, he was appointed by the General Court, to go to Saybrook, and attend to the petition of Hartford. He was also a committee, with Mr. Webster, for Hartford, to join the magistrates, in pressing men in each town for service, in 1654. He was exempted from training, watching and warding, by the Court, in 1656. In 1658, a complaint was preferred against him and Gov. Webster, and others, who were about to withdraw from the church, and from Hartford. He was a committee, with Mr. Steele and Boosy, to provide, at Hartford, for the comely meeting of the Commissioners of the United Colonies ; and was frequently honored with offices of the town of Hartford, and was Selectman in 1640. Mr. Bacon, in his will, gave land in Hartford, to Nathaniel Bacon, of Middletown, which Nathaniel Bacon sold to Warren, Whiting, Richard Barnard and Henry Hayward ; also, land at Hockanum, which Elizabeth Bacon, widow of Andrew, quit-claimed to her kinsman, Nathaniel Bacon, Esq., of Middletown, Feb. 6, 1670. His will is dated July 14, 1669. He d. at Hadley, Oct. 4, 1669. Widow Elizabeth Bacon, in her will, mentions Nathaniel Bacon, of Middletown, as a nephew of her deceased husband. After the decease of Mr. Bacon, his widow, Elizabeth, returned to Hartford, to live with her children. She had been the wife of Timothy Stanley. She gave, by her will, dated Oct., 1671, to Caleb Stanley, all her housing and lands at Hadley, which her husband had left to her there, for Mr. Standley's care for her in her old age. She also gave him the use of a share of her son Isaac's estate, which had fallen to her. (Isaac d. before his mother.) Widow Elizabeth d. at Hartford, Feb. 23, 1678-9, aged 76 years. Mr. Bacon was a valuable and highly respected member of the Connecticut Colony, while he remained in it. Andrew Bacon was qualified as a freeman in Massachusetts, March 26, 1661, after his removal from Connecticut. The name of Bacon has 20 coats of arms. Andrew Bacon, of Hadley, by will, gave his nephew, Nathaniel Bacon, of Middletown, ten pieces of land, recorded in Hartford, which was acquitted to said Nathaniel, of Middletown, by Elizabeth Bacon, of Hadley, (whom she calls my kinsman,) contract signed by said Elizabeth, Jan. 27, 1670. Mrs. Elizabeth Bacon, widow of Andrew, of Hadley, repeatedly names, in her will, Caleb Standley as her son ; also, his brother Isaac ; gave Caleb Standley all her "housing and lands in Hadley," which had been "my dear husband, Andrew Bacon's, late of Hadley, and fell to me by his last will, or by the death of my dear sonn Isack," &c. She also calls "Abigail Cowles, the wife of Samuel Cowles," "Lois, the wife of Thomas Porter, both of Farmington," Elizabeth Sension, wife of Mark Sension, her daughters. All are noticed in her will, dated Oct. 30, 1671. She d. at Farmington, Feb. 23, 1678. Inventory, £269, 5s. At a Probate Court, holden at Hartford, March, 1678-9, Nathaniel Bacon, of Middletown, appeared and declared that he "quit his clayme" "to any of the housing and lands of his unczell Andrew Bacon, late of Hadley, unto Caleb Standley, his heirs," &c.

BACON, NATHANIEL, Esq., was a nephew of Mr. Andrew Bacon, a magistrate at Hartford, in 1637. He (Nathaniel) was for a time at Hartford, and became an early and important settler at Middletown. He acted as a magistrate, at New Haven, in 1661, as appears from the Records of the New Haven Colony, p. 297, where the affidavits of John Fletcher and some others, of Milford, were taken, Oct. 17, 1661, before Nathaniel Bacon, Esq., at New Haven, (though he was an inhabitant of Middletown,) in which the deponents stated their knowledge of Henry and William Bacon, of Stretton, of Rutland County, in England: that Henry removed to Clip-sam, in Rutland County ; that he had but one son, Thomas, who was reported to have died at Barbadoes, W. I. ; also stated that Nathaniel Bacon, Esq., then present, was the eldest son of William Bacon, who must have been a brother of Andrew Bacon, Esq., of Hartford, in 1637, which renders it probable that Andrew and Nathaniel Bacon were from the same county in England. Nathaniel Bacon's will was presented to the Court at Hartford, in 1705, by his sons, Andrew and John Bacon, Executors. His will dated 1697-8. He owned land at Hartford, which he gave to his sons, John and Andrew. His children, named in his will, were, Thomas, John, Andrew, Nathaniel, Jun., Beriah, Hannah, Mary, Abigail and Lydia. His children, by Ann, his wife, recorded, are: Hannah, b. April 14, 1655, m. John Boarn, Oct., 1677 ; Andrew, b. Feb. 4, 1656-7,

d. ; Nathaniel, Jr., b. July 20 or 25, 1659 ; (Nathaniel's name was changed to Thomas, and so recorded ;) John, b. March 14, 1661-2, m. Sarah Wetmore, Nov. 26, 1685 ; Mary, b. April 7, 1664, m. Samuel Wetmore, Dec. 13, 1687 ; 2d Andrew, b. June 4, 1666, m. Mehitabel Wetmore, Feb. 12, 1692 ; Abigail, b. July 13, 1670 ; Lydia, b. Feb. 18, 1672, m. Joseph Wetmore, June 6, 1706. March 6, 1684, Thomas owned two parcels of land in Hartford, given him by his father Nathaniel, Bacon, Esq., of Middletown. NATHANIEL, drew thirty-seven acres of land in a division of the public lands of Hartford, in 1672. THOMAS, JR., of Roxbury, Mass., was an original signer of a contract, for the settlement of Woodstock, Conn., Nov. 7, 1683. He and his wife Rebecca, had a daughter Rebecca b. there, Aug. 7, 1689. Experience, b. Feb. 2, 1691-2. THOMAS had a grant of land in Simsbury. Deed dated Dec. 31, 1685. THOMAS MASKELL, was of Simsbury, in 1683, whose daughter probably m. a Bacon, of Simsbury, who had a son Maskell Bacon. The Bacons of Middletown, have been generally wealthy.

Thomas Bacon was one of the first settlers from Roxbury, Mass., to Woodstock, in April, 1686.

Joseph Bacon, of the church in Hampton, Jan., 1743, removed to Canterbury.

BADCOCK, JAMES, the first of the name known in New England, was an Episcopal clergyman in England, and settled in the rectory of Wivenhoe; he afterwards changed his faith and became a Puritan minister; he went to Leyden, in Holland, for the purpose of embarking for America, and persuading others to unite with him, and actually became one of the Pilgrim Fathers. He embarked, (as is said,) in 1620, but by stress of weather, the vessel put back, so that he did not come to this country until 1623, when they arrived at Plymouth. He was of Saxon origin. The early family were seated in Essex county, England, at the time of the Norman conquest. Sir William Seager, in his visit to the county of Essex, in 1612, states that Sir Richard Badcock was the nineteenth in descent from the first holder of the family mansion there, (which is said by the relatives to have been standing in 1850.) James, the first emigrant to New England, of the name, was deprived of the rectory at Wivenhoe, before he went to Holland. It is not known that James preached after he came to the Plymouth colony.

BADCOCK, JAMES, or BABCOCK, the progenitor and founder of the family in New England, was born in Wivenhoe, in Essex, England, in 1580. He was a younger brother of RICHARD, who occupied the family mansion at Wivenhoe. James came to New England, in the Ann, and landed at Plymouth, in July, 1623, and afterwards removed to Dorchester, (Milton,) where he resided the remainder of his life. He married at Wivenhoe about 1615, and had children, James, Jr., b. at Wivenhoe, about 1616; John, b. at same place, about 1618; Job, b. at Leyden, in Holland, 1620; Mary, b. at same place, in 1621. His wife d. in Dorchester, (Milton,) about 1640. He afterwards m. and had a son Joseph, b. about 1650.

BABCOCK, JAMES, Jr., who came with his parents to Plymouth, removed to Westerly, Rhode Island, about 1665, where he died in 1690. He m. at Dorchester, Jeane —, about 1637, and had children: Robert, b. in Dorchester, about 1638,

George, b.	"	"	1640,
James, b.	"	"	1642,

Nathaniel, b.	"	"	1660,
William, b.	"	"	1662.

His widow, Jeane, d. at Westerly, R. I., in January, 1719. She made her will, (see W. Record, Probate, Vol. 1. p. 273,) will dated April 30th, 1718. She left property to her daughters, Sarah Lewis, Jeane Lewis, (who had a daughter Jeane,) Elizabeth Sears, (had a son Elisha,) Mary Brown, Hannah Larkin and her two grandchildren, William and Peter Babcock, the children of her son James, who had three sons. (Communicated by Welles.)

The names of Babcock and Badcock have been extensively known in Rhode Island, from an early period. The name is now generally known in that state as Babcock. The coats of arms are all under this name, and the name of Babcock is not found in Burk's Heraldry.

Coats of arms of Badcock. BADCOCK, (borne by Lieut. Colonel Lovell Benjamin Badcock, now Lovell, of Lincolnshire and Bucks,) Barry nebuly of six, or, and gu. Crest—a talbot pass, arg. Motto—Tempus omnia monstrat.

BADCOCK, (St. Winow, Co. Cornwall.) Sa. a fesse, betw. three cocks ar.

There was also a coat of arms in Essex and Kensington, Co. Middlesex; also one in Devonshire; also one other for this name.

BADCOCK, JAMES and CALEB, came to Windham, Conn., about A.D. 1700. For many years, the name is spelt upon the Windham Record, Badcock. After some years, Badcocks and Babcocks were found in the same family. And at this time, only one family at Windham, retains the original name of Badcock. James Badcock, of Windham, had a daughter Zerdiah, b. June 18, 1705.

It is probable the Badcocks and Babcocks are all the descendants of Rev. James Badcock of Plymouth, and Newton.

BADCOCK, Caleb, of Windham, m. Abigail More, Jan. 21, 1713 ; issue: Sarah, b. Nov. 19, 1713, d. Nov. 19; Mary, b. April 22, 1716; Jonathan, b. June 10, 1718. Mary Badcock, the wife of Jonathan, d. aged 63, on the 28th day of March, 1719. Abigail, the wife of Caleb, d. April 21, 1719, aged 31. Caleb m. for his second wife, Susannah Glover, May 18, 1721. (See BABCOCK.)

In Nov., 1642, the Court at New Haven, ordered Jervis Boykin, to pay GEORGE BADCOCKE, 20s., for taking his barrow without leave. Who was this George Badcock, as early as 1642? If he had not resided at New Haven, he probably would not have owned a wheel-barrow there.

BADGER, DANIEL, moved from Hartford, to North Coventry. He had sons, Daniel and Moses. The first settler there was John Bissell, Jr., from Lebanon, (originally of Windsor,)—his deed was dated July, 1716, and his deed of land in South Coventry, is dated Oct., 1715. Ancestor of Hon. Samuel Badger, of Philadelphia. Badger, U. S. Senator, is a descendant. Farmer says Giles, Nathaniel and Richard Badger, were of Newbury, Mass., in 1647. Giles d. there, in 1648. John, of Newbury, Mass., free 1673-4.

BAGER, (Badger;) this name has two coats of arms.

*BAILY, JOHN, 1648, viewer of chimneys and ladders, at Hartford. He was a constable in Hartford, March, 1656-7; made free

* The different orthography of spelling names, often leads relatives to deny and disown their own blood relations, descended from the same common ancestor, not only in England, but this country; and for the purpose of showing the little reliance that should be placed upon the manner of spelling names, I annex the name of Bailey, spelt in all the forms found. I also, among all the manners of spelling the name of Talcott on the records, notice more than fifty ways, Talkott, Taylcoat, &c., and yet it is perfectly evident, but one, of the name of Talcott, came to this Colony. The name of Hicox, by most of the descendants of Samuel, of Waterbury, is now spelt either Hicock, or Hickock or Hickeock, though one of the family at Danbury, spells the name Hicox. Names are often spelt two or three different ways in the same will. The name of Boreman at Wethersfield, is now generally spelt Boardman, and by this change, lost their coat of arms, and take the coat of arms of Boardman. Burnap has changed to Burnet. And Lankton to Langdon.

* Our ancestors in England, knew very little of America, previous to its settlement, in Virginia and Plymouth, and even as late as 1640, a town in this colony was bounded west on the wilderness, and the Mohawk. As Virginia was settled some years earlier than any other colony, every part of this country was probably called Virginia in England, and hence the reason why so many of the first vessels are certified as embarking for Virginia, when the same vessels appear to have landed their passengers in the Plymouth and Massachusetts colonies, some of whom were soon after found in Hartford, Wethersfield, and Windsor.

Ebenezer, b. Aug. 30, 1766 ; Timothy, b. Oct. 26, 1768 ; William, b. May 17, 1778. His second wife d. May 23, 1793 ; all b. in Wethersfield.

BALCH, REV. WILLIAM, H. C., 1724, of Bradford, Mass., d. Jan. 12, 1792, aged 87. John Balch from Bridgewater, in Somersetshire, Eng., was of Cape Ann, as early as 1625, settled at Salem, in 1626, where he d. in 1648. His wives were Margaret and Agnes. (Felt.) This name is yet found in Connecticut, at Hartford, Berlin and other towns, probably descended from the family at Wethersfield, in 1750. It was not an early name in the Colony.

BALDWIN, (Baldin, Balden,) RICHARD, NATHANIEL, TIMOTHY and JOSEPH, were early settlers at Milford, in the New Haven Colony, and were free planters there, Nov. 29, 1639, with power to act, in the election of their officers in the plantation. JOHN is also recorded at Milford, immediately after, in the list of those who were not in church fellowship, and therefore deprived of voting for their public officers, (membership being a requisite qualification for a free planter.) JOHN, SEN., d. at Milford, in 1681. RICHARD d. in 1665, and the inventory of his estate was presented at Court in Hartford, by Robert Treat, Sept. 28, 1665 ; and his eldest son, Richard, was then 19 years old ; Sarah, 17 ; Temperance, about 15 ; Mary, 12 ; a daughter, 8 ; Zechariah, 5 ; and Barnabas, 3 years old ; Martha, b. April 1, 1663. Perhaps he was the RICHARD, of Braintree, in 1637. NATHANIEL, of Milford, d. in 1692. There was a NATHANIEL in Fairfield, as early as 1641 and '9, perhaps the same who was at Milford in 1639. TIMOTHY, of Milford, d. in 1664. He left children : Mary, who m. Benjamin Smith ; Sarah, who m. Buckingham ; Hannah ; Timothy, Jr., b. June 12, 1658 ; perhaps others. NATHANIEL, a brother of OBADIAH and RICHARD, of Milford, removed to "Cohansee," about 1702. (Milf. Rec., Vol. I., p. 140.) Three of the Baldwins, of Milford, viz., JOSEPH, JOHN and BENJAMIN, went to and settled at Newark, N. J., where their names are now found recorded as early settlers. BENJAMIN was quite young, and a son of JOSEPH. He was baptized at Milford, in 1644. Their descendants are numerous now, at Newark, Orange, and other parts of New Jersey. There was a MICHAEL at New Haven, who came there from Branford, at a later period. His daughter, Ruth, m. Hon. Joel Barlow. Clarissa, her sister, accompanied Mr. Barlow and his lady to France. The latter m. Col. Bomford, of the U. S. Army. There was a JOHN BALDWIN, from Milford, who settled at New London, on the Groton side of the river ; freeman there, 1669 ; at New London or Groton, 1672. There was also a JOHN at Milford, and another JOHN at Norwich, freeman in 1666, townsman in 1669. John, of New London, (or Groton,) m. Rebecca Cheesbrough, (widow,) July 24, 1672. He d. Aug. 19, 1683, and left issue. Rebecca, his wife, was the daughter of Walter Palmer, of Stonington. She m. first, Elisha Cheesbrough, (son of William,) April 20, 1665. Elisha d. Sept., 1670. (Trumbull and Record.) John is found noted as a proprietor, at Stonington, but probably never resided there. JOHN, who settled at Norwich, Conn., about 1662, m. Hannah Burchard, or Burchett, of Guilford, in 1653. Where he came from to Guilford, I find no evidence. He left Guilford, soon after the birth of his second child, and nothing more is known of him, until he is found at Norwich, in 1662. That he was the son of Richard, or either of the Baldwins of Milford, no record at Milford proves. John, who settled at Groton, was from Milford, as was JOHN, who m. Marie Bruen, of New London. The family tradition, as to JOHN, SEN., of Norwich, is relied upon, and is probably as correct as any record yet found, to show who he was, and where from, viz., "That John, the father of the Norwich family, had no brother ; that he came to New England when quite young, and afterwards returned to England, where he learned the trade of a cabinet maker, and then returned and settled at Norwich, about 1662." This may account, in some measure, for his whereabouts from 1656 to 1662, when he is found in Norwich. There were many persons in Massachusetts and Connecticut and New Haven Colonies, by the name of John Baldwin. John, Sen., of Milford, who the record says m. Marie Bruen, of Pequot, daughter of John, (no date,) but their first child, Mary, was b. Sept. 7, 1654 ; John, b. April 13, 1657 ; Abigail, b. Nov. 15, 1658 ; Obadiah, b. Oct. 29, 1660 ; Sarah b. — 20, 1663 ; a son, b. 2d week in June, 1665. (Milf. Record.) (Query. Did he marry a daughter of John Bruen, or was it a daughter of Obadiah Bruen, of New London ? He calls one of his sons Obadiah, and no John Bruen is found at New London, as early as 1654, except John, the son of Obadiah, who at that time could not have had daughters as old as this Marie must have been, when she married. Not only so, the Milford record says, JOHN, the son of JOHN, SEN., m. Hannah, daughter of Obadiah Bruen, of New London, Oct. 30, 1663. This JOHN removed to Newark, N. J., with his wife's father, Bruen, (perhaps m. 2 daughters of Obadiah.) There was also JOHN, son of Nathaniel, of Milford, m. Hannah, a daughter of Richard Osborn, Nov. 19, 1663, and others of the name at Milford. JOHN, SEN., of Norwich, who m. at Guilford, had a son, John, b. 1654, and Hannah, b. 1656. He, soon after this birth, disappeared at Guilford. No positive evidence is found, that JOHN, SEN., of Norwich, was the son of Richard, of Milford, or Richard, of Saybrook. If he was, Richard, of Saybrook, must have been aged. Miss Calkins remarks, that "John must have been of transatlantic birth, as John, Jr., was of man's age, previous to 1678." "JOHN, the proprietor of Norwich, had two sons: 1st, John, d. in 1700, and left no sons; 2d, Thomas, who m., in 1684, Sarah, daughter of John Calkins, she d.," by whom he had no sons. He m. Abigail Lay, for his 2d wife, and had sons: Thomas, b. 1701; John, b. 1704, and Ebenezer, b. 1710. Hon. Simeon Baldwin, late deceased, of New Haven, was of this family. He was b. at Norwich, in 1761, and son of Ebenezer, who was son of Thomas, by his 2d wife, who was son of John, SEN., of Norwich. CHRISTOPHER C., of Worcester, Mass., was born at Norwich, and a descendant of JOHN, SEN., of Norwich.

JOHN BALDWIN, and Joann, of Dedham, had a son, JOHN, b. in 1635. There were a JOHN and Mary who came to New England in the Speedwell, of London, Robert Lock, master, in 1656. JOHN, of Billerica, Mass., made free, 1690, and another JOHN, made free there in 1670. There was a JOHN, one of the first settlers of Stafford, Conn. Widow Baldwin, of New Haven Colony, in 1643, with an estate of £800. HENRY, of Woburn, Mass., free, 1652. JOSEPH, of Hadley, free, 1666. JOHN, of Billerica, free, 1670. JOSEPH, SEN., and JR., of Hatfield, took the oath of allegiance in Massachusetts, 1678. NATHANIEL, a brother of Obadiah and Richard, of Milford, removed to Cohamsee, about 1702. (See Milf. Rec., Vol. I., p. 140.) The BALDWINs, of Durham, Conn., were from Milford, and the Baldwin, of Durham, N. Y., originated at Durham, Conn., as did the Hulls, Tibbals's and Fields. REV. DWIGHT BALDWIN, the missionary, was also of this family, as was REV. ELIHU, D. D., former President of Wabash College, in Indiana. GEORGE, of Boston, had a son, JOHN, b. 1639, d. 1643; perhaps the George, who was at Huntington, L. I., in 1672. HENRY, of Woburn, free, 1652, supposed from Devonshire, Eng. He m. Phebe Richardson, in 1649, and had sons: Henry, John and Daniel. (Far.) EZRA, of Durham, Conn., was Deacon there, and d. March 26, 1782, aged 76. Mehitabel, daughter of Joseph, of Hadley, Mass., d. there, July 11, 1670. Mary, daughter of Joseph and Mary, d. there, Dec. 17, 1674. Martha m. John Hawks, of Hadley, Dec. 26, 1667. JO. BALDIN, aged 13, and WILLIAM BALDIN, aged 9, came to New England, embarked in the Pidcowe, per certificate from the minister of his "conformitie," and from "Sir Edward Spencer, resident neere Branford."

REV. ASHBEL BALDWIN, formerly of Litchfield, was rector at Litchfield and Stratford. He was ordained in 1785; d. at Rochester, N. Y., 1846, aged 89 years.

GEN. AUGUSTUS BALDWIN was b. in Goshen, Conn., removed to Ohio, settled at Franklin, was appointed President of a Bank. He d. in 1838, aged about 50. JEHIEL, d. June, 1831, aged 101 years. ELI was an early settler in Ohio, from New Milford, Conn, where he became a popular political partisan, and was nominated for Governor. HON. ABRAHAM, of Georgia, was a native of Connecticut.

BALDWIN, REV. EBENEZER, son of Ebenezer, of Norwich, and brother of Hon. Simeon, late deceased, of New Haven, graduated at Yale College, in 1763; was Tutor at Yale College, from 1766 to 1770. He was ordained at Danbury, Sept. 19, 1770, and d. Oct. 1, 1776, aged 31 years. He was a man of splendid talents. He gave his Society £300, for the support of the gospel in said Society. Thomas, D. D., was a Baptist minister at Boston, b. at Norwich, Conn., Dec. 23, 1753. He was for a time in New Hampshire, and was living in 1807. He proved himself in no way inferior to his brothers, in talents and usefulness.

NOTE.—By the record at Newark, N. J., it appears that Deacon Lawrence Ward, of Newark, died in 1676, and left no children; that Elizabeth, wife of Joseph Baldwin, of Hadley, Mass., was a sister of said Ward; that said Elizabeth (Ward) Baldwin authorized her son, John Catlin, and John Ward, ("turners,") of Newark, to act for her in relation to the estate of their uncle, Lawrence Ward. (S. H. Conger, Esq.) Robert Lyman was a relative of John Catlin, as the Newark record shows.

Who was this Elizabeth Baldwin, wife of Joseph Baldwin, of Hadley, and where from, to have been the mother of John Catlin, of Newark, and sister of Deacon Ward, at Newark? Deacon L. Ward was probably an old man, and his sister, Elizabeth Baldwin, of Hadley, perhaps not many years younger. The Wards, who were the first settlers at Newark, went from Wethersfield to Branford, and thence to Newark. John, Jr., one of the first, was a cousin of Catlin's, and probably a son of a brother of the Deacon. If John Catlin was a son of Elizabeth Baldwin, of Hadley, and nephew of Deacon Ward, of Newark, her first husband must have been a Catlin. The Record of Newark, and Conger, both say that Catlin and his wife, Mary, were at Newark until about 1682, when Catlin sold out to Henry Lyon, and there being no record of his death, it is supposed that he and his wife, Mary, left Newark. (See THOMAS CATLIN.) Joseph Baldwin, of Hadley, is not found on the Newark record. John, Sen., John, Jr., and Benjamin Baldwin, were the only persons of the name, early at Newark. These three took the oath of allegiance to the Dutch, in 1673, with the other inhabitants of Newark. Of all the John Baldwins, early in Connecticut and Massachusetts, which went to Norwich? Let relatives determine who John of Norwich was. Lawrence went from New Haven to New Jersey.

BALDWIN, MICHAEL, was from Branford, to New Haven. He d. at New Haven, in 1787, and left his son, Hon. Abraham, by first wife, and perhaps daughters, and left six younger children by his second wife, with a small estate. Hon. Abraham, his son, was b. in 1754; graduated at Yale College, in 1772; Tutor at Yale College, from 1775 to 1779. He removed to Georgia, and became one of the founders of the University at Athens, Ga., and afterwards President. He was a member of the Legislature, and elected to Congress in 1785, from Georgia, where he was continued until 1799, and was elected Senator of the U. States, and d. at Washington, D. C., March 4, 1807, aged 53, while Senator. He never married. Hon. Henry, a half-brother of Hon. Abraham, was educated by his brother Abraham, and graduated at Yale College, in 1797, read law, and settled at Pittsburg, Penn., where he became eminent in his profession, was elected to Congress from Pennsylvania, and a Judge of the S. Court in Pennsylvania. Michael, his brother, graduated at Yale College, in 1795, read law, and removed to Ohio.

BALLANTINE, WILLIAM and HANNAH, his wife, of Boston, as early as 1653. He was probably from Scotland:* the exact time he came to Boston is not known to the writer. The town records show the births of some children, viz., John and Hannah, b. Sept. 29, 1653; William, b. Sept. 22, 1655; David, b. Aug. 24, 1656; the two last died; second William, b. Dec. 20, 1657; second

* The following letter from John Ballantine, in Scotland, to Col. John Ballantine, of Boston, Mass., shows that Mr. William Ballantine, of Boston, the ancestor of those of the name in this country, was from Scotland, viz.

"Ayr, Scotland, Feb. 11, 1707.

"Capt. Samuel Heath, by whom this is conveyed, having given me and my family so satisfying an account of your welfare, and that you are so happily married to a gentlewoman of a very honorable family, I cordially congratulate you happiness, and shall be glad to hear of your prosperity,—seeming there is a happy union concluded between us, (Scotland and England)—I hope as long as it will tend to mutual advantage. The circumstances of trade in this place are at present very low, but now I hope it will revive. Be pleased by the first good hand to advise me, what goods of our product may turn to the best account, and what may be returned to profit, from your place, that thereby some here may make a trip to Boston. My sons are yet too young to travel, the eldest being fourteen years, and at school. But if it please God to spare you and them, they may be so happy as to see you in Boston. This with my cordial respects to yourself and lady, to your aunts, sisters and their husbands, (if married.) May the blessings of the upper and nether springs be upon you and yours. I remain, Sir, your affectionate grand-uncle and humble servant,

JOHN BALLANTINE.

"P. S. My spouse, my four (or five sons,) and my four daughters, do present their humble service to you and your lady, and to all their relatives with you. J. B."

David, b. Feb. 5, 1659; Elizabeth, b. March 8, 1660; Benjamin, b. July 22, 1661; second Hannah, b. Nov. 15, 1662; Sarah, b. Sept. 18, 1664; third William, b. Nov. 26, 1665; Susanna, b. Feb. 2, 1668; Jonathan, b. Sept. 19, 1669. His will, dated Dec. 6, 1669; his inventory taken same month and year. David, Hannah, last William, Susanna and Jonathan, were provided for in his will. The journal of Rev. John Ballentine, deceased, of Westfield, says, that his great-grandfather had issue: John, a daughter who m. Benjamin Webb, of Braintree, and third Sarah, who m. John Barnard. Webb had several children, viz., Rev. Benjamin Webb, of Eastham, and Rev. Nathan Webb, of Uxbridge, and others. Mr. Barnard had two children, viz., Matthew, m. Deborah Vail, house-wright, and Jonathan, who married and settled in England, and had several children.

BALLANTINE, CAPT. JOHN, the son of William, Sen., b. 1653, member of the ar. co. in 1682, and captain of it in 1703, d. April 27, 1734. He m. for his first wife, Lydia Barret, of Boston, and had issue: John, Jr., b. 1674 or '5; Sarah; Lydia, b. June 2, 1676; William, b. 1679; second Lydia, b. Oct. 24, 1682; left a large estate. Mary, widow of Capt. John, her will dated Sept. 5, 1738. She notices her daughter-in-law Mary, relict of Col. John Ballantine, and their children John, William and Mary; she gave to her daughter-in-law, Sarah Wharton, and her grand-daughter, Mary Kneeland, and kinswoman, Mary Harvey, of Taunton, but the larger part of her estate she gave to her daughter-in-law, Lydia, unmarried. (Perhaps the estate of John, Sen.) Col. John, Jr., only son of John, Sen., and grandson of William, Sen., of Boston, graduated at Harvard College, 1694, a member of the ar. co., 1694, Col. of militia, many years Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, and General Sessions of the Peace, a Representative of Boston, at the General Court. He married Mary Winthrop, daughter of Adam Winthrop, Sen., Esq., of Boston, and sister of Adam, formerly one of the Council and Chief Justice of an inferior court. Col. John and Mary had children: John, b. Oct. 1705, d.; Lydia, b. March 31, 1715; second John, b. Oct. 30, 1716; two Marys; William, b. Aug. 3, 1724; perhaps others. Col. John, or John Ballantine, Esq., made his will in 1734, and made his wife Mary and her brother, Hon. Adam Winthrop, executors. He names children, John, Mary and William, and his sisters Sarah Wharton and Lydia Ballantine. He d. Jan. 2, 1735, (O. S.) His widow Mary d. Oct. 18, 1739, aged 56 years.

BALLANTINE, REV. JOHN, son of Col. John, of Boston, whose mother was Mary Winthrop, daughter of Adam, was b. Oct. 30, 1716; graduated at Harvard College, 1735, and settled at Westfield, Mass., in the ministry, 1741: he had previously preached at Providence, at Marlborough, Stoughton, &c. He preached at Westfield thirty-five years, where he died Feb. 12, 1776, aged 59 years. He married Mary Gay, daughter of Lusher Gay, of Dedham, Mass., a sister of Ebenezer Gay, D. D., of Suffield, Conn., and of Richard Gay, of Granby, Conn., Sept. 20, 1743, and had children, viz., Mary, b. Dec. 10, 1744; Lydia, b. April 20, 1747, d. Aug. 27, 1749; John, b. * Hon. Joel Barlow, LL. D., was born in Reading, in Fairfield County, Conn., in 1755. Educated in part at Dartmouth College, in 1774 or '5, and graduated at Yale College, in 1778, in the class with Hon. Zephaniah Swift, Uriah Tracy, Noah Webster, Oliver and Alexander Wolcott, and other eminent men. He was early found by Trumbull and Dr. Dwight, to possess poetic talents of the highest order. In 1778, he delivered his poem "On the Prospect of Peace." After he graduated he read law and divinity for a short time, and received the office of chaplain in the army. In 1783, he resumed the study and profession of law, and located himself as a Lawyer at Hartford, and soon after entered into company with Elisha Babcock, Esq., then of Springfield, and Mr. Babcock removed his press to Hartford, where they printed "The American Mercury." In 1785, by request of the clergy of the "General Association" of Connecticut, he revised the Psalms of Dr. Watts. His "Vision of Columbus," was published in 1787. He relinquished his interest in the "American Mercury," about 1788, and embarked for England, as Agent for the "Sciota Land Company," and went to France, on the same business, where he became interested in the politics of the country, and joined the "Girondists," and gave up his agency. He returned to England about 1791. His writings, while in England, had given some offence, and he returned to France in 1792. His three cantos on "Hasty Pudding," shewed his poetic talent as happily as any effort he had ever made. In 1795, he had the appointment of Consul to Algiers, where he made a treaty, by which he set free the Americans held in slavery by the Dey. He also made a like treaty at Tripoli, and there redeemed the American prisoners, and returned to Paris, in 1797. In 1805, he returned to the United States. In 1811, he was appointed Minister Plenipotentiary to France. In 1812, on his way to Wilna, to confer with the Emperor Napoleon, he took a violent cold: his lungs became inflamed while at a small village in Poland, (Zarwanica.) Oct. 2, 1812, where he died.

Mr. Barlow married a daughter of Michael Baldwin, of New Haven, a sister of Hon. Henry destroyed, it is now impossible to ascertain the time any of their first settlers were there. A sister of Mrs. Barlow, accompanied him and his lady to France; this sister married an officer in the United States Army.

(This name is spelt Bernard, and Barnard.) John was probably in Hartford, as early as 1637, and owned land in 1639; he was a Juror at Hartford, March 2, 1642-3; Nov., 1643; Aug., '44, and '46; twice in 1649; townsman in 1644 and '46; deputy in 1642-3. He was a man of active business habits, and held many offices at Hartford. He, with Andrew Bacon, in 1640, returned into Court an Inventory of the Estate of Thomas Johnson, the cobbler, deceased, being £11, 5s. 10d. He was fined two shillings for not appearing in court, as Juror, in 1648. John Barnard and Andrew Bacon, were exempted from training, watching and warding, in 1656, by the General Court. He, with Nathaniel Ward, &c., were appointed by the General Court, in 1658, to take an account of the charge of the Elders of the last council, and the maimed man, and distribute, by way of rate, upon both parties, viz., the church at Hartford, and the withdrawers. He, with Nathaniel Ward, Richard Lord and Nathaniel Richards, were elected townsmen for Hartford, Feb. 3, 1644. John had twenty-four acres in the land division, at Hartford, in 1639, and seventy-two acres on his right, in East Hartford, June 12, 1666. His death is found on the Hadley record, May 23, 1664. He was m. but left no children. In 1659, he signed the contract to remove to Hadley, Mass., which he performed.

BARNARD, FRANCIS, was an early settler at Hartford, viewer of chimneys and ladders in 1646. He was not known in the land division at Hartford, in 1639. He m. There have been many families by the name of Barnard at Hartford, and yet no evidence is found, that any affinity by blood existed between the heads of each or any of the different branches. John and Francis Barnard, were at Hartford, first settlers: they both removed to Hadley, about 1659. John had no children. It is supposed the Barnards of Windsor, were the descendants of Francis Barnard. Bartholomew Barnard appeared in Hartford, about 1646 or '7, and m. and had children, grand-children and great grand-children: now none of his descendants, by the name of Barnard, are left in Hartford. The next Barnard at Hartford, was Samuel, about 1713, the ancestor of Hon. Daniel D. Barnard, of Albany. The next Barnard at Hartford, was probably Thomas, who was b. in Bristol, England, d. at Hartford, Nov., 1724, aged 42 years, and left no family. The next was John, the blacksmith, so called on the record to distinguish him from John Barnard, the son of Bartholomew, Barnard. All the Barnards now left in Hartford, are descendants of John, the blacksmith. It is not known where the last John was from, when he came to Hartford.

BARNES, THOMAS, resided quite in the north-west part of the village, in Hartford, in 1640, on land bounded north-east by the road to the cow pasture, easterly on the road to Hon. BARNES, WILLIAM, of Haddam, (Mary, his relict.) She died Feb., 1715-16; estate £229, 2s. 7d. Barnes, Mary, early at Pequot.

BARNES, MARY, of Pequot, had a warrant issued against her to be brought before the particular court in 1649. Thomas Barnes, of Farmington, was confirmed a sergeant of the company at Farmington, in 1631; Daniel, of New Haven, in 1644.

Farmer mentions Mathew, of Braintree, in 1640, Boston, 1653; Thomas, of Hingham, 1637, freeman, 1645; William, freeman, 1641, was one of the proprietors of Salisbury, Mass., in 1640. Dodd mentions Thomas, brother of Daniel, of New Haven; had sons, Thomas, b. 1653, Daniel and Maybee. Twelve of this name had graduated at Yale College before 1850; and seven by the name of Barnes, and one by the name of Barns, at Harvard College, before 1840.

BARNES, RICHARD, Jo. Butler, Hundgate Baker, Lawrence Barker, Jo. Bowes, Elizabeth Bateman, Thomas Burd, Henry Butler, Jo. Budd, Richard Ball, James Brooks and wife Alice, Elizabeth Baker, and others, were embarked in Assurance de Lo: Isaac Bromwell and George Pewsie, masters, for Virginia; they were examined by the minister of the town of Gravesend, of their "conformitie in o' religion," and took the oath of allegiance and supremacy. (H. G. Somerby.)

BARNES, JOHN, William Baker, Mr. Bradford, John Bradford, Robert Bartlett, of Plymouth, are in the list of those able to bear arms in 1643, in the colony of New Plymouth.

BARNES, THOMAS was a passenger on board the Speedwell, of London, bound for New England, registered at Gravesend, searcher's office, May 30, 1656.

BARNES, MATTHEW, at Braintree, in 1641. William Barnes, freeman, Mass., 1641.

BARNES, WILLIAM, of Salisbury, Mass., an original settler about 1650.

BARNES, NATHANIEL, of Boston, made free 1677.

BARNES, THOMAS, of Marl., freeman, 1673. James Barnes, of Boston, freeman, 1681.

BARNES, RICHARD, and John of Marlborough, Mass., free 1690.

Barnes has seventeen coats of arms.

There was a John Barnes at Hartford, 1639. There was a Gideon Barnes, and Mehitable, his wife, at Hampton, and a daughter Deborah, baptized there June 10, 1739; Joanna, baptized May 10, 1741, and Elizabeth baptized there March 13, 1743, and joined the church ; Joanna also joined the church at Hampton, when she was baptized ; also Deborah. Gideon and Mehitable Barnes admitted to the church in Hampton, Jan. 15, 1740.

BARNET, JAMES, in 1683, was a signer with other inhabitants of Roxbury, Mass., to settle the town of Woodstock. About 1700 there were several other families moved into Woodstock, viz., Rice, Carpenter, Joseph Bacon, Philip Eastman, Ebenezer Truesdell, and Rachel, his wife, and had a son Thomas, b. there Nov. 1, 1711 ; Benjamin Griggs, Robert Mason, Ebenezer Eastman, who m. Sarah Peasley, of Haverhill, Mass., June 3, 1713, and settled at Woodstock. Philip Eastman, Sen., d. there Oct. 20, 1714, Millers ; Edmond Ainsworth d. there March 5, 1740-1, aged about 89 years. BARNUM,* (Barnam,) THOMAS, of Fairfield, purchased land at Norwalk,† as early as 1662. He received an appointment at Norwalk, as late as 1676. His children born at Norwalk, were Thomas, b. July 9, 1663 ; John, b. Feb. 24, 1676-7 ; Hannah, b. Oct. 4, 1680 ; Ebbinezer, b. May 29, 1682. Mr. Barnam removed to Danbury in the early settlement of the town, and perhaps had other children after his removal. He was the ancestor of those of the name now at Danbury, at Bridgeport, New York, Baltimore, &c., and of P. T. Barnum, of Bridgeport, a man as extraordinary in his way, as was Napoleon in his, or Julius Cæsar in his. He had only learned when young, that the world loved humbugs more than realities, and he has feasted them upon fictions until he has satiated their appetites, and filled his own coffers, in which he has shown his tact over his fellow-men in procuring a fortune ; he may be well noted as an extra of the age, possessing talents, in his way, that few men have.

BARNUM, THOMAS, in 1681, was appointed by the town to keep decorum during the exercise on the Sabbath, and at other public meetings, and to keep a small stick to moderately correct the disorderly. In 1671, he was put down in the list of estates at £40 of commonage.

Barnham has three coats of arms.

* In the early records, the name is usually spelled Barnam, though it has changed to Barnum. It is supposed by many that it was originally the same as Burnham, Burnam, or Burnum, as the name is spelt on the different records in Connecticut. I am inclined to believe the name is Barnham. If the family have their coat of arms, they may settle the question.

† Master Roger Ludlowe, of Fairfield, purchased of the Norwalke Indians (deed) lands east of Norwalk river, Feb. 26, 1640, viz., "all the lands, meadows, pasturings, trees, whatsoever their

James Bates, of Haddam, d. March 13, 1718. Inventory £596, 5s. 10d. He was one of the twenty-eight proprietors of the town of Haddam, and purchaser.

John and James Bates, of Middletown, in 1677.

BATE, MR. JAMES, had several parcels of land at Thirty Mile Island, recorded June 18, 1668.

BATES, JAMES and Dorothy, of Colchester, had Zachariah, b. June 27, 1742; Ephraim, b. May 13, 1744; Dorothy, b. Aug. 10, 1746; Oliver, b. July 17, 1748; Sarah, b. July 8, 1750; Rachel, b. June 30, 1754.

John Bates, his son John, Jacob Bates, Nathaniel and David Bates, emigrated from Durham, Conn., to Granville, Mass., as did David, Ebenezer and Aaron Curtiss, with Samuel, Enoch and Aaron Coe. These Bates's are descendants of the family at Saybrook, East Had-dam and Durham.

BATES, ELIJAH, Esq., son of Nathaniel, of Granville, late deceased, 1850; graduated at Yale College, 1794; settled at Westfield as Attorney and Counsellor at Law; m. Miss Mary Ashley, daughter of Mr. Ashley, of Westfield. Hon. Wm. G. Bates, son of Elijah Bates, Esq., graduated at Yale College, 1825; m. Jane P. Ashley, only child of Maj. Wm. Ashley, late deceased, of Sheffield, Mass.

Hon. Isaac C. Bates, son of Col. Jacob Bates, graduated at Yale College, 1802; an eminent lawyer; he d. while a member of the United States Senate, in 1845. Charles F. Bates, Esq., of Granville, son of Nathaniel. These men have been, and some of them now are, distinguished men in Massachusetts. Col. Jacob Bates was a Lieutenant in the war of the revolution, and was at the attack on Princeton, N. J. Eight persons of the name of Bates have graduated at Yale College. This branch of the Bates family has produced several eminent men. (See AUSTIN.)

BATES, CLEMENT, freeman in Massachusetts, 1636. Edward, at Boston, about 1636, freeman 1638, deputy of Weymouth, from 1638 to '41, and 1660. George, Boston, freeman, 1636. (Farmer.)

This name is often spelt Bate, on the Connecticut Records. One by the name of Bate, and eleven by the name of Bates, had graduated at Harvard College, before 1848, and eight at Yale College, before 1849.

BATES, CLEMENT, of Middletown, m. Mary Horton, daughter of Benoni and Mary, and had a son Joseph, b. April 9, 1732. His wife d. Aug. 11, 1732.

BATE, JAMES, Elder of Dorchester, made his will Nov. 22, 1655; noticed his "sonne Richard Bate, of Lid. Towne, in Kent, in Old England," by giving him all his lands, moveable goods and debts, that he then had, or should have in Old or New England, as his own, unless altered by the Testator, and made Richard sole Executor. On the 28th of Nov., 1655, his codicil provided that his son James should be joined as Executor with Richard, only for the purpose of receiving such debts as were owed him in New England, and to sell such lands and goods, excepting such as he had directed to be given to his grandchild, James ffoster, provided he made a true inventory, and conveyed the estate to his son Richard. (See his will signed and codicil signed, James Bate, Elder, in No. 3, His. and Gen. Register, July, 1851, p. 297.)

After the decease of Elder Bate, Gabrell Meade and Mr. Robt Howard, Not^y Publ^{ica} witnessed his will, and Robt deposed to the will Jan. 14, 1655. Roger Clap of Dorchester, aged about 46 years, testified that he visited Mr. James Bate, in his sickness, and he entreated him to take a witness with him, that it was his will that his daughter Gibson should have £10 for her own use and disposal, and not her husband. Roger Clap informed Mr. Bate, that if he had a written will, it should be added to his will, he replied with earnestness, that he would have done." These facts were proved before Gov. Jo. Endecott, by Roger, Edw^d and Nich^s Clap, Jan. 22, 1655: also by James Bate the son, in part. In Elder Bate's later directions, he notices his former will, and gave to the three children of his son James, viz., Samuel, Allice and Mary, £100 each, when 21 years old, and his son James to have the use of the £300 for, and towards bringing up said children, provided he should go with his family to live in England, and give security to pay the £300. His house, orchard, and three acres of planting land, adjoining with the meadow, back of the dwelling house in Dorchester, N. E., he gave his grandson, James ffoster, provided his wife Allice Bate had her support out of the house, &c. He also gave Rev. Mr. Mather, of Dorchester, £20, and the then wife of Gabriel Mead, £20, &c. Signed by James Bate, the Elder. (See same No., and page 298, Gen. Reg.)

BATES, RICHARD, Wm. Barnes, Wm. Brown, Humphrey Buckley, Wm. Burton, Mathew Bateman, Lucie Bucklie, Wm. Barloe, Nicholas Bate, Wm. Bate, Margaret Baylie, Debora Barrie, Francis Bullock: the above were transported to Virginia, and embarked in the Globe of London, Jeremy Blackman, Master; were examined by the Minister of Gravesend, of their conformity, and took the oaths of allegiance and supremacy, Aug., 1635. (See H. G. Somerby.) (See N. E. His. G. R., No. 15, pp. 261, 262.)

BATE, EDWARD and Elizabeth, his wife, of Weymouth, had children recorded there, viz., Susanna, b. Feb. 6, 1679; Edward, Jr., b. 1682; John, b. 1685; Mary, b. 1697, perhaps others.

BATE, INCREASE, and Mary, of Weymouth, had a son Edward, b. Jan., 1681; Ebenezer, b. 1686; Anna, b. 1695, freeman in 1691, perhaps others.

BATE, JOHN, and Susan, his wife, of Weymouth, Mass., in 1655, son Edward. Clement Bates, freeman, Mass., March, 1635-6. Geo. Bate, freeman, Mass., May, 1636. James Bate, freeman, Mass., 1636. Edward Bates, freeman, Mass., March 9, 1636-7.

BATE, JOSEPH, Samuel and Benjamin, of Marl., freeman, 1672. Clement Bate and James of Hingham, free 1673. Jno. Bates, of Chelmsford, freeman, 1682.

BATES, ROBERT, children b. at Lynn, John, b. March 5, 1673; Rebecca and Sarah.

BATES, JOHN, of Chelmsford, freeman, 1689-90.

The name of Bate has six coats of arms, and the name of Bates has eight coats of arms. The name now uniformly called Bates, in the early settlement of Connecticut, was generally recorded Bate.

Clement Bates, a tailor, aged 40, and Ann Bates, embarked in the Planter, April 6, 1635, for New England. James Bates, aged 14, Clement, aged 12, Rachel, 8, Joseph, 5, and Benjamin Bates, embarked in the Elizabeth, Wm. Stagg, Master, bound for New England, with certificates from the Justices and Minister of the Parish, about 1635.

James Bate, a farmer, aged — years; Alice, his wife, aged 52: Lyddia, aged 20, Marie 17, Margaret 12, and James Bate, embarked from England, in the Elizabeth, Wm. Stagg, Master, for New England, April 17, (about 1635.)

BATTELL, BATTLE, BATTEL. This name came into the Connecticut Colony, from Milford to Torrington, in the early settlement of the town. Joseph Battle, Esq., a son of the emigrant to Torrington, settled at Norfolk, Conn., m. Miss Robbins, a daughter of Rev. Mr. Robbins, of Norfolk, where he became a gentleman of large estate, and sustained an estimable character, and had a large and highly respectable family. His widow survived him, and is yet living at Norfolk, sister of Dr. Robins, of Hartford.

THOMAS, of Mass., in 1654. Battell has two coats of arms.

BATTERSON, GEORGE, and WILLIAM, brothers, are the first of the name found in Connecticut, at Fairfield: tradition says they were from England, probably Scotch. George m. Mary Oysterbanks, of Welch extraction, a weaver by trade. George was there some time before he married: his children were Stephen, Powell, George, Sellick and Betsey.

BATTERSON, STEPHEN, son of George, m. Sarah Wardwell, at Norwalk, Oct. 20, 1784, and had children b. there: Abigail, William, Isaac and Stephen, Jr.

Sumner, b. June 15, 1841, d. Oct. 4, 1842; Henry Adams, b. Sept. 1, 1843; Hiram Roberts, b. March 20, 1846.

BATTERSON, JAMES GOODWIN, m. Eunice Elizabeth Goodwin, of Hartford, June 2, 1851; no issue.

*GEORGE, SEN., was about seven years in the service of his country, in the Army and Navy of Connecticut, during the war of the Revolution: he was probably at Fairfield, as early as 1750.

BATTERSON, WILLIAM, a brother of George, Sen., removed with his family to Warren, Conn., where he remained a few years, and then removed with his family to Ohio. He had two sons, William and Lewis.

The Battersons who settled at Fairfield, are the only persons of the name known to have come to this country.

BATTER, EDMOND, freeman in Massachusetts, March, 1635-6, and Nicholas, in 1638-9. Mr. Edmond Batter d. at Salem, Mass., 1756, aged 84. The Batters were connected by marriage with the Gookins, of Massachusetts, (perhaps Batterson.)

BASCOM, (Bascomb, Boscum,) THOMAS, of Windsor, an early settler, had issue: Abigail, b. 1639, baptized June 7, 1640; Thomas, Jr., baptized Feb. 20, 1641; Hepzibah, baptized April 14, 1644: Thomas, Juror in 1644, at Hartford.

BASCUM, WILLIAM, of Wethersfield, in 1636, probably in Guilford, in 1665.

Farmer says there was a Thomas Bascom, of Northampton, in 1658. This name yet continues in Connecticut. Two of the name have graduated at Harvard College, and two at Yale College.

BASCOMB, THOMAS, SEN. and JR., took the oath of allegiance at Northampton, Mass., 1678; also Thomas, freeman, 1670.

Thomas Bascomb is in the list of first settlers at Windsor, in 1640, as are Thomas Barber, Thomas Buckland, and others. He probably removed to Massachusetts.

BASCOMB, THOMAS, of Northampton, m. Mary Newell, daughter of Thomas, of Farmington, March 20, 1667. This name is yet at Enfield, and other places in Connecticut.

* The wife of George, Sen., was a weaver, and had just taken a piece of cloth out of the loom, when the British set fire to Fairfield. George Jr., then young, under 20 years old, declared the British should not have the cloth: he took and secreted it in the hollow of a large poplar tree. After the enemy had retired, George Jr., took the cloth from its hiding place, and his mother made for him a suit of clothes, and he immediately after enlisted in the army, where he continued nearly seven years, in the army and navy, and was in several naval actions, and aided in taking many English vessels.

BASEY, JOHN, a weaver by trade, was a respectable and early settler at Hartford; he had fourteen acres in the land division at Hartford, in 1639. In 1640, he resided in Hartford, south of Little River; his lot was bounded westerly on Richard Butler, south by the road from George Steel's to south meadow, and easterly by Joseph Easton; he had a daughter Elizabeth, baptized at Hartford, Aug. 23, 1645; Mary, m. Samuel Burr; Lydia, m. John Baker; Elizabeth, his third daughter, m. Paul Peck; his wife was Elizabeth ——. He had a grandson, Paul Peck; another, Joseph Baker, a brother-in-law, John Baker, and a son-in-law, John Baker; he left no sons. He d. 1671; his wife, Elizabeth, d. 1672. John Basey drew 36 acres in the land division in 1672. He made his will Aug. 14, 1671. He gave his grandson, Paul Peck, a piece of land; also, his grandson, Joseph Baker, wood land; also, to his grandson, John Baker, a piece of land; to his son-in-law, John Baker, he gave his loom, "with all the tackling," after his decease. His wife, Elizabeth, executrix; inventory appraised Aug. 29, 1671; £383, 2s. 6d. He mentions no sons in his will. He gave Joseph, son of John Baker, seventeen acres of land.

BASEY, ELIZABETH, widow of John, in her will, gave her daughter, Elizabeth Peck, two coats, one that was her husband's cloak, and her cow, for her care for her in her sickness; the remainder she gave her three daughters, Mary Burr, Lydia Baker, and Elizabeth Peck. Inventory dated Dec. 13, 1673; £60, 14s.; no sons.

BAYSAS, STEPHEN, will offered in court at Hartford, Sept., 1692.

BASSAKER, PETER, was by trade a blacksmith, and was an early settler at Hartford. He had a trial to make nails, with less loss, and at as cheap a rate as Thomas Hurlbut, in 1643. Defendant in court at Hartford, Sept. 12, 1644; also in Dec., 1644. March 5, 1644-5, he was recognized in £20 to appear at the court in Hartford, on the first Thursday of the next June. He was fined 20s. for resisting the watch, Sept. 2, 1647. Oct. 17, 1648, the court adjudged Peter Bussaker, for his filthy and profane expressions, (viz., "that hee hopd to meete some of the members of the church in hell, ere long, and hee did not question but hee should,") "to be committed to prison, and there safely kept during the sermon, and then to stand in the pillory the time thereof, and after sermon to be severely whipped." Richard Skinner was plaintiff in court against Peter Bussaker, March, 1648. He was again a defendant in court at Hartford, April, 1649. (Col. Court Rec.)

BASS, JOHN, of Windham, and his wife, Elizabeth, had Hannah, b. May 27, 1711; Priscilla, b. April 13, 1713, d. 1714; second Priscilla, b. June 9, 1715; Zebulon, b. May 22, 1718, d. 1719; John, son of John, d. 1712; second John, b. Jan. 2, 1720, d. same day. The father, John, d. Oct. 10, 1753, aged about eighty years.

BASS, THOMAS, of Windham, m. Dorothy Parish, Nov. 9, 1726; issue, John, b. Sept. 14, 1727; Mary, b. June 20, 1729; Elizabeth, b. March 1, 1731; Dorothy, b. Oct. 29, 1736; Lydia, b. April 15, 1738; Joab, b. Dec. 9, 1739. Thomas Bass, of Windham, d. Jan. 8, 1787, aged eighty-six years. There have been several of this name at Windham and Hampton, and the name is yet found at Windham and in Litchfield county.

BASS, JOHN, of Braintree, Mass., m. Ruth, daughter of John Alden, of Plymouth, April 12, 1657, and had issue: John, b. Nov. 26, 1658; Samuel, b. March 25, 1660; Ruth, Joseph, Sarah; perhaps others.

BASS, JOSEPH, of Braintree, 1648.

SAMUEL, of Braintree, freeman, 1634; the first deacon of the church there, held it over fifty years; representative 1641, twelve years; d. Dec. 3, 1694, aged ninety-four. Ann, his wife, d. Sept. 5, 1693.

BASS, WILLIAM, of Mass., freeman, 1638. (Farmer.)

Seven of this name have graduated at Harvard College.

BASS, REV. JOHN, graduated at Harvard, 1637, and settled at Ashford, Conn., Sept. 7, 1743, and remained until 1751.

BASSETT, THOMAS, of Windsor, was made free April 9, 1640. He was a defendant in court about 1644. He removed to Fairfield, where, in 1659, he was exempted from watching, warding and training.

In May, 1651, the General Court requested the Governor, Mr. Cullick, and Mr. Clark, to hold a court at Stratford, for the trial of Goody Bassett,* for her life, (perhaps for witchcraft,) and in case the Governor could not go, Mr. Welles was appointed in his place.

* There is, perhaps, no positive record evidence that Goodwife Bassett was executed at Stratford, for witchcraft, though such has been the tradition; noticed by Dr. Trumbull, "as an obscure tradition that one or two persons were executed at Stratford," for witchcraft, and such has been the tradition at Stratford since. The Governor, Mr. Cullick, and Mr. Clarke, were desired by the General Court "to go down to Stratford to keepe courts, vpon the tryall of Goody Bassett, for her life," and if the Governor could not go, then Mr. Welles was to go in his place. (Conn. Col. Record, printed p. 220.)

A Thomas Bassett came from England to Boston, in 1634 ; perhaps this Thomas, of Windsor, was the same man.

BASSETT, THOMAS, had a home lot at Fairfield, two and a half acres, Aug. 10, 1655, and was in the colony as early as 1643.

BASSETT, NATHANIEL, of Windham, m. Joannah Borden, Dec. 10, 1695 ; issue, Joannah, b. Sept. 24, 1697 ; Ebenezer, b. May 4, 1699, d. ; second Ebenezer, b. April 2, 1701, d. 1701. (Windham Rec.)

BASSETT, GOODWIFE, of Stamford, May 17, 1656, made her will, and notices her children, viz., Robert, to him she gave her home lot at New Haven ; also John, Emery, John Webb, Sarah and Elizabeth, (perhaps Jonathan ;) notices her two daughters, Goodwife Emery and Goodwife Webb.

BASSETT, ROBERT, united with John Chapman and others, in 1653-4, in Fairfield county, to raise troops. The town of Fairfield held a meeting, without authority from the General Court, to raise troops to fight the Dutch at New Netherlands, and appointed Mr. Ludlow commander-in-chief of their troops, which office he accepted. This transaction, it is supposed, caused the departure of Mr. Ludlow to Virginia.

BASSITT, ROBERT, had a daughter, Mary, b. at New Haven, March 8, 1649.

BASSETT, PETER, 1644.

BASSIT, JOSIAH, m. Alice Camfield, of Milford, April 25, 1717, by S. Eells, Assistant ; son Josiah, b. Oct. 14, 1719.

She probably had her trial before the trial of Knapp's wife, for the same offence, at Fairfield, by a jury, as most of the first records at Fairfield have long been missing. It is probable these records at Fairfield were carried to Virginia, by Hon. Roger Ludlow, who, at least report says, abstracted the records, and that they were not afterwards recovered. Mr. Ludlow left Connecticut for Virginia, about 1654 or '5 ; the same year he was sued by Thomas Staples, for saying that Staples' wife "had caused Knapp's wife to be new searched, after she was hanged," &c. ; also, that "Mr. Ludlow said Knapp's wife told him that Goodwife Staples was a witch," &c. Implications on this trial are, that Goodwife Bassett had been tried and executed, and Goodwife Knapp also, though there is no positive proof of their execution. Mr. Joseph Hawley by way of division of land in Stratford, Feb. 28, 1680-1, had three acres and twenty rods of land lying upon the place called "Gallows Hill," &c. ; near this were "Gallows swamp" and "Gallows brooke." The brook has long since disappeared, and it began to be doubted whether it ever was ; but by throwing up the embankment for the New York and New Haven Railroad, the stone bridge once built over the brook, was uncovered, several feet from the surface ; the sides of the bridge were in perfect order ; the wood part of the bridge entirely decayed : by which the tradition of the execution of a woman in Stratford, for witchcraft, is somewhat confirmed. See trial of Roger Ludlow, at New Haven, 1654 ; also see Professor Kingsley's Historical Discourse, note L, page 101.)

BASSET, BENJAMIN, and wife, Deborah, of N. Stratford, had a son, Johnadab, b. Oct. 27, 1751; Samuel, b. Feb., 1753; John, baptized 1754; Isaac, baptized May 16, 1766, and others.

BASSETT, BENJAMIN, of Stratford, m. Deborah Edwards, of N. Stratford, (now Trumbull,) July 28, 1748.

BASSET, SAMUEL, of Stratford, m. Eunice Beach, of N. Stratford, Feb. 2, 1748-9.

This was an early name in the New Haven Colony. Farmer notices William Bassett, of Plymouth, 1623, Duxbury, 1639; representative, '1640 and '44. Also, William, of Lynn, Mass., 1659.

Eight of this name had graduated at Yale College, in 1850. Nathan Bassett, in 1719, and Francis Bassett, 1810, graduated at Harvard College.

BASSETT, WILLIAM, of Mass., was one of the purchasers of Middleborough, Mass., with John Adams, Francis Billington, William Brewster, Peter Brown, Edward Bumpus, Francis Cook, Philip Delanoy, Thomas Doty, Samuel Eddy and others. Bassett, probably the son of Basset who came over in the ship Fortune, who settled first at Plymouth, then Duxbury, and was an original proprietor in West Bridgewater, where he removed, d. in 1667. (N. E. G. R. and Eddy's note, No. 12, p. 334.)

BASSETT, WILLIAM, SEN. and JR., Jonathan Brewster, William Brewster, Loue Brewster, and Stephen Bryan, of "Duxborrow," are found in the list of males able to bear arms, from sixteen years old to sixty years, within the several townships of the colony of New Plymouth, in 1643.

BASSITE, WILLIAM, (Bassett,) came in the Fortune, to Plymouth, at an early period, in 1621.

BASSET, WILLIAM, of Lynn, son John, b. 1653.

BASSETT, WILLIAM, SEN., and William, Jr., of Lynn, free-men, 1691.

BASSETT, JONATHAN, by his wife Mary, had born at Wethersfield, Abigail, b. Sept. 6, 1739; Jonathan, b. Nov. 14, 1743; Mary, b. May 20, 1745; Hannah, b. Feb. 13, 1747; William, b. April 23, 1749; Nathan, b. Dec. 11, 1751; Elisha, b. May 6, 1753.

BASSETT, THOMAS, aged 37; Thomas Barker, aged 21; and Mildred Bredstreet, embarked for New England in the Christopher, de Lo[n]don,] John White, master.

Basset has ten coats of arms ; Bassett has twenty-five coats of arms.

BASSETT, WILLIAM, aged nine years, embarked in the Abigail, for New England, June 17, Robert Hackwell, master.

Elcy, wife of John Bassett, of Hartford, d. April 14, 1778, aged eighty.

BASSAM, (Bassum,) WILLIAM, had a claim to land in Wethersfield, which was recovered by Sergeant Seely, in 1636, under whom Seely claimed.

BAXTER, THOMAS, of Yarmouth, m. Mary, daughter of John Lattimer, of Wethersfield, Conn., May 3, 1705 : son Timothy, b. Feb. 26, 1706, and Elizabeth, b. March 23, 1708 ; both born at Wethersfield.

BAXTER, TIMOTHY, son of Thomas, m. Sarah Kilbourn, of Wethersfield, July 14, 1726, and had John, b. Dec. 28, 1726 ; Honour, b. March 2, 1729 ; Martha, b. Dec. 14, 1730 ; Elisha, b. Oct. 29, 1732 ; Sarah, b. Dec. 28, 1735 ; Mehetabel, b. May 25, 1740.

BAXTER, ELISHA, son of Timothy and Sarah, m. Honor Woolcott, Dec. 13, 1756, and had Honor, b. Sept. 8, 1757, d. ; Rhoda, b. Aug. 24, 1758 ; Elisha, Jr., b. Feb. 8, 1762 ; second Honor, b. Feb. 17, 1765 ; Lucy, b. Mar. 20, 1768 ; Leonard, b. Oct. 28, 1771 ; Prudence, b. Feb. 8, 1775 ; Anne, b. June 20, 1778 ; Polly, b. Oct. 1, 1781 ; all of Wethersfield.

BAXTER, THOMAS, New London, husband of Bridget, 1662.

BAXTER, MARY, daughter of Sally Kilby, b. Oct. 28, 1791.

BAXTER, THOMAS In 1653, a special warrant was ordered by the General Court and given to Jonathan Gilbert, to arrest Thomas Baxter, for several misdemeanors in the jurisdiction of Connecticut, with power to raise forces to execute his warrant. In 1654, Mr. Samuel Mayo complained against said Baxter for seizing his vessel, (the Desire, of Barnstable,) and his goods in it, under a pretence of his having a commission from Rhode Island. The court adjudged that the vessel belonged to Mayo, and ordered Baxter to pay Mayo £150 for his unjust seizure of the vessel and cargo ; only provided Baxter returned the vessel to said Mayo, with the sails and ropes, two swords and four guns, taken from the vessel, £18 was to be deducted from the £150. In 1654, the General Court ordered that the estate attached by the constable of Fairfield, for the forfeiture of the recognizance of Capt. Baxter, should be remitted. May 15, 1662, the General Court of Connecticut divorced Bridget Baxter from her husband, Thomas Baxter.

Baxter has been an old name at Boston and Roxbury, Mass.

BAXTER, ROBERT, Jo. Bently, Rachell Adams, and Eliza Blanch, embarked for Virginia, in 1635.

BAXTER, GREGORY, made free in Mass., in 1631-2.

BAXTER, SIMON, the second settler of Hartland, Conn., in 1755. In the war of the Revolution, he turned traitor, fled and died in Halifax.

Baxter has twelve coats of arms.

BEACHAM, ROBERT, who had resided at Norwalk, in March, 1657-8, had liberty granted him by the General Court, 1657-8, to cohabit at Bankside, (between Fairfield and Norwalk.) He was made free as a resident of Fairfield, by the General Court, Oct., 1664; appointed gate-keeper at Norwalk, in 1655.

Beacham, is sometimes on Fairfield records spelt Beachen.

BEACH, RICHARD, a New Haven planter, and unmarried in 1643. The name was early at Stratford. John and Thomas Beach were early settlers at Wallingford. The Goshen Beaches were of this family. John was son of Thomas Beach, of Milford, b. Oct. 19, 1655. The Litchfield Beaches descended from Samuel Beach, son of John, of Wallingford, and grandson of Thomas, of Milford. George Beach, Esq., of Hartford, is of this stock. Thomas Beach, of Milford, had a house lot in Milford, 1648. John, son of Thomas, b. Oct. 19, 1655; Mary, b. Dec. 27, 1657; a daughter of Thomas, b. Dec. 27, 1657; Samuel, son of Thomas, of Milford, b. June 5, 1660; Zophar, son of Thomas, b. May 27, 1662; probably others.

BEACH, BENJAMIN, of Durham, m. Dinah Birdsey; she was probably a daughter of John Birdsey, a first planter of Milford, who afterwards removed to Stratford, from the fact that John Birdsey was the only person of the name who came into either Connecticut or New Haven colonies.

BEACH, JOHN, of Colchester, had a son Ebenezer, baptized 1733.

BEACH, JOHN, was an early settler at Stratford, before 1650, and was many years town crier of Stratford.

BEACH, RICHARD, was also an early settler at Stratford.

BEACH, AZARIAH, of Killingworth, had Richard, b. Oct. 19, 1677; Thomas, b. Oct. 5, 1679; Benjamin, b. Jan. 14, 1682. The connexion of Richard Beach, of New Haven, and Thomas, of Milford, not known. Thomas Beach, the emigrant, died early, and the births of his children not all found. The Beaches of Durham, Wallingford, and Stratford, are supposed to have descended from Richard and Thomas Beach.

Fourteen of this name had graduated at Yale College, in 1850.

Beech has been an old name at Watertown, Mass.

BEACH, BENJAMIN, David, Josiah, Daniel, Jemima, wife of Benjamin, Hannah, wife of David, Patience, wife of Josiah, Esther, wife of Daniel Beach, were all members of the first church at Unity,* Nov. 18, 1730. Hannah, daughter of Benjamin Beach, admitted Aug. 8, 1731; Ephraim Beach, admitted July 20, 1735; Israel Beach, and his wife, Hannah, admitted Oct. 17, 1736; Eunice, daughter of David Beach, deceased, admitted Aug. 7, 1737; Martha, wife of John Blackman, and Martha, the daughter of Mr. Benjamin Beach, deceased, admitted Sept. 6, 1741; Patience, wife of Benjamin, admitted into the church at Unity, from the church at Stratfield, April 19, 1743. (Unity is Trumbull.)

BEACH, DAVID, and Hannah, of Unity, had a son, Elijah, baptized July 4, 1731; Edmond, b. Sept. 4, 1733, &c.

BEACH, DAVID, Jr., m. Ruth Hawley, of Stratford, Nov. 30, 1748.

BEACH, LT. JOSIAH, and Patience, of Unity, had Ann, b. July, 1731; Josiah, b. June 24, 1734; Patience, b. Aug. 17, 1737; Matthew, b. May 18, 1742. (Jethro, a negro of said Josiah, baptized Nov. 1, 1741.)

BEACH, ISRAEL, and Hannah, of Unity, had Phebe, b. Sept. 16, 1732; Nathaniel, b. July 30, 1735; Mary, b. Feb., 1738; Israel, b. 1740; Anna, b. Aug., 1747.

BEACH, DANIEL, and Esther, of Unity, had issue: Daniel, b. Feb. 2, 1736; Esther, b. May 14, 1738; perhaps others.

BEACH, EPHRAIM, of Unity, m. Comfort——, and had a son, Abel, b. at Unity, Sept. 29, 1743; and others.

BEACH, JOSEPH, and Esther, of Unity, had Richard, b. April 23, 1739; Ebenezer, b. 1742; Timothy, b. March, 1748. The last five families are descendants of John, of Stratford.

Beech has two coats of arms.

BEALE, THOMAS, 1639, land-holder in Hartford, in 1655.

BEADLE, (Beedle,) ROBERT, of Wethersfield, was an early settler. He stole gunpowder from Mr. Blackman, of Stratford; two sacks from widow Foot; from Thomas Welles, two sacks; from Richard Mills, he stole one blanket, and from Thomas Tracy, one sack, for which he was adjudged to restore double for each theft acknowledged by him, and to be severely whipped, and branded in his hand, upon the next Wednesday, Dec. 12, 1644; and for his loathsome demeanor on the 5th day of March, 1644, he was adjudged on the next lecture day to be severely scourged and kept in the house of correction two weeks longer, and then again whipped, and be then bound to appear every quarter court, and be whipped, until the court should see some reformation in his conduct. On the 17th day of May, 1649, Robert Beedle and Cary Latham, were warned to appear before the court for suffering an Indian to escape, who had been committed to their charge for safe keeping. In March, 1645, William Latham was charged, by the desire of Mr. Robins, in his inventory of debts, £1, 14s., for having delivered Robert Beedle at Fisher's Island, by order of court.

BEADLE, JOSEPH, of Taunton, Mass., as early as 1652, when he died in taking an inventory of the estate of John Barker.

BEADLE, THOMAS, a seaman, d. at Gloucester, Mass., in 1700.

BEADLE, BENJAMIN, of Colchester, had a son, Benjamin, baptized June 8, 1766; David, baptized June 14, 1767; Mary, baptized Jan. 1, 1769; Jonathan, baptized Dec. 30, 1770; Abigail, baptized, 1772.

BEATLE, (or Beattle,) WILLIAM, of Wethersfield, m. Mary Wright, Sept. 21, 1743, and had Sarah, b. July 11, 1744; William, b. Aug. 29, 1745; Elizabeth, b. Jan. 13, 1747; Mary, July 25, 1748; John, Aug. 11, 1750; James, Nov. 23, 1751; Martha, b. Feb. 22, 1753; Ann, b. Aug. 15, 1755.

BEADLE, DAVID, m. Abigail —, and had Benjamin, b. Dec. 18, 1741; Jonathan, b. June 20, 1744; Ruth, b. June 30, 1748; David, b. Sept. 12, 1750.

BEADLE, WILLIAM, m. Lydia —, and had children: Lydia, b. Nov. 1, 1774; Mary, b. Oct. 6, 1776. It is not known that the last families were relatives of the first Robert or the William who follows.

At a later period, viz., on the 11th day of Dec., 1782, a man by the name of William Beadle, resided at Wethersfield; he was an Englishman by birth, from the county of Essex, of a good family. He early became familiar with an infidel club, in London, where he acquired the rudiments of his principles. He had a mother and sister, whom he left in England, in 1755, and went to Barbadoes, with Charles Pinfold, Esq., then Governor of the Island, and remained there about six years; he then returned to England, purchased a quantity of goods, and sailed for New York, in 1762, and soon after removed to Derby, in Connecticut, and not long after located himself at Fairfield, as a merchant ; here he married a lovely woman, from Plymouth, Mass., and was prospered in his business, and had acquired about £1,200 in property, in 1772. But thinking his location was endangered, by being contiguous to the Sound, and of easy access by the British, in case of a war, he removed his family and effects to Wethersfield, about 1772, and opened a cash store, where he also was for a time successful in trade. But when the continental currency began to be used as the circulating medium, he received it for goods, and stored up his money, expecting his new money would be of par value, to replenish his store with goods. He was disappointed, for his money daily decreased in value. He became frantic, and parsimonious in all his family expenses, fearing poverty should overtake him. He fixed upon the evening succeeding the 18th of November, 1782, to execute his murderous design, and procured a fine supper of oysters, of which his family partook plentifully ; that evening he wrote as follows : " I have prepared a noble supper of oysters, that my flock and I may eat and drink together, thank God and die." After supper he sent his waiting maid to carry a frivolous letter to his friend at some distance, to dispose of her, and obtain an answer, expecting she would not return that evening, but she returned unexpectedly, which prevented his hellish purpose that night. On the 11th of December, the maid and the children all slept in the same chamber ; early in the morning of the 11th, he went carefully to their chamber, awaked the maid, and ordered her to rise gently without awaking the children ; he gave a line to her for the family physician, who resided about one-fourth of a mile distant, stating that his wife had been ill all night, and ordered her to stay until the doctor should come with her. This done, and the maid gone, he proceeded to execute his purpose ; he smote his wife and each of his children, when sleeping, upon the side of their heads, and broke the skull of each ; he then, with a carving knife, cut their throats from ear to ear. He took the three daughters and laid them side by side, on the floor, and covered them with a blanket, and their mother's face with a handkerchief. He then placed a pistol to each of his ears, and fired them at the same instant. The return to the house by the maid, with the physician, revealed the dreadful picture to that quiet neighborhood. He was buried on the bank of Connecticut river, between high and low water mark, (afterwards removed.) His body was taken out of the window, as he was found, bound upon a sled with cords, the bloody knife tied on his breast, without coffin or box, drawn by his family horse, cast like a beast into the hole there dug to receive it. Beadle was fifty-two years of age; Lydia, his wife, aged only thirty-two years. His children were Ansell, Lothrop, Elizabeth, Lydia and Mary Beadle, the eldest eleven years, and the youngest six years old. (See Rev. John Marsh's Funeral Sermon.)

There is no evidence that Robert Beadle, the first, and the last William Beadle were relatives, though they all located at Wethersfield, at distant periods of time.

One of the name of Beadle had graduated at Harvard College, in 1847, and two at Yale College, in 1844.

BEARDING, (or Berding,) NATHANIEL, of Hartford, will dated Jan. 7, 1673; exhibited in court, Nov. 11, 1674. He was a planter, He provided for Abigail, his wife: children, son-in-law, Thomas Spencer, the elder; Samuel Andrews, and his wife Elizabeth—she was the daughter of the wife of Berding. He also noticed Sarah, Hannah, Mary and Martha Spencer, daughters of Thomas Spencer, the elder, and grand-daughters of the testator. He also noticed John and Thomas Andrews, sons of his wife. He also noticed Jarrad Spencer, his grandson, who was son of Thomas Spencer Sen., and made Jarrad, sole Executor of his will. He gave Paul Peck and George Graves, 40s. each, and made them overseers of his will. Inventory made Sept. 14, 1674; £282, 15s. 10d.

ABIGAIL, widow of Nathaniel Berding, d. March 20, 1682: her will proved 1683. She gave her property to her daughter Hester Spencer, and grandson, Samuel Andrews, son of Samuel. Nathaniel Bearding was an early settler and original proprietor at Hartford, and had six acres of land in the land division in 1639. He left no sons, and the name became extinct in Connecticut.

BEARDING, NATHANIEL, with John Morris and Wm. Spencer, were appointed by the town of Hartford, Feb. 16, 1639, to say what every man's fence should be in the "Pine Woods," by consent of the owners of such lands, and be finished by the 7th of April, come twelfth month, upon a forfeiture of five shillings a rod for all unfinished, at that time.

BEARDSLEY, WILLIAM, of Stratford, was a deputy to the General Court at Hartford, Sept. 11, 1645, and eight sessions more before 1665. He was requested by the General Court, Sept. 18, 1649, to assist Mr. Ludlowe, in preparing provisions, and all necessaries for the design in the two towns. Wm. Beardsley, Andrew Ward, and George Hull, were propounded for Assistants to join the magistrates, to execute Justice in the towns by the seaside, Oct. 6, 1651. He was appointed (as Goodman Beardsley,) by the General Court, Oct. 6, 1659, with Rev. Mr. Blackman, Mr. Fairchild, and Joseph Judson, all of Stratford, as a committee to consider the condition of Arthur Bestock, and his wife, and make suitable order therein, and report thereon, at the next session of the Court.

William Beardsley was one of the first settlers in Stratford, Conn. Tradition says he was from Stratford-on Avon. He brought his wife with him. His sons were, Samuel, Joseph, Daniel, John and Thomas; d. 1660. He may have been the Wm. Beardsley, who came from Hertfordshire, with John and Joseph Beardsley, to Massachusetts, in a vessel called the Planter, (as he had sons, John and Joseph.) There was a Thomas Beardsley at Fairfield, in 1656; d. 1656; probably son of William, of Stratford.

This has been a respectable family from the first settlement at Stratford. C. H. Beardsley, Esq., former Judge of the County Court, Speaker of the House of Representatives of Connecticut, is a descendant of William; and many other important men in Connecticut and New York, are descendants of Wm. Beardsley, of Stratford. There was a Wm. Beadsley, freeman in Massachusetts, 1636, (perhaps Beardsley.) Bearly, an old name at Boston, (perhaps Beardsley.) Twelve by the name of Beardsley had graduated at Yale College, in 1845. Many of the name are now living in Fairfield and Litchfield counties.

BURSLEY, JABEZE, had children at Barnstable, Mass., the first b. 1706, and the last, 1724-5. (Perhaps Beardsley.) Beardsley has two coats of arms. Berdsey has one coat of arms. THOMAS BEARDSLEY settled at Milford, about 1647. William, a mason, aged 30, Maria, aged 26, (probably his wife,); Maria, aged 4 years, John Beardslea, aged 2 years, and Joseph aged 6 months, embarked in the Planter, for New England, in 1635. Wm. Beardsley made free in Massachusetts, in 1636. Sarah Beardsley m. Obadiah Dickinson, June 8, 1668.

BEAUCHAMP, JOHN, of Hartford. There was a man of this name who was a large merchant in London, at the time Wm. Bradford, Capt. Miles Standish, and six others, of the Plymouth Colony, were appointed or hired the trade of the colony for six years. James Shirly, John Beauchamp, Richard Andrews and Timothy

Hatherly, of London, were joined to the above, and were called the undertakers. (Guide to Plymouth, p. 142.)

As John Beauchamp,* of Hartford, came from Boston, to Hartford, and was born in 1652; he may have been a son or grandson of the undertaker, John Beauchamp. He d. at Hartford, Nov. 14, 1740, aged 88 years, where he yet has descendants, in the female branch of his family.

* John Beauchamp and wife lie buried in the old Centre burying ground, Hartford. The following inscriptions are taken from their tombstones. "Here lies the body of Mr. John Beauchamp, who died Nov., the 14, 1740, in ye 88 year of his age."

"Here lies the body of M^{rs} Margrete, the wife of Mr. John Beauchamp, who died Dec. ye 8th, 1727, aged 59 years."

† In the records of the city of Boston, we find, Aug. 28, 1713, John Lawrence, of Jersey, (father of the Treasurer of Connecticut,) was published to Marian Beauchamp, of Boston.

‡ John Lawrence was appointed by the King, Treasurer of the Colony of Connecticut, and held the office many years after it became a state; in all, for a period of more than twenty years. He was also Commissioner of Loans, and borrowed at one time, a large sum, from Holland to carry on the war with Great Britain. He faithfully performed the important duties entrusted to him, and Roger Sherman, Wm. Williams, John Hancock, Gov. Trumbull, and many other distinguished men of that period, were his sincere and attached friends.

John Lawrence, his wife, and several of their children, lie buried in the old Centre burying ground, Hartford.

Y.; their children are, John Beauchamp and Cecelia Roderika. In 1850, he m. Clarinda Chevers, of New York.

* Alice Ripley, who married William Lawrence, of Hartford, was born in Canterbury, Conn. Her maiden name was Adams, and when young she was engaged to be married to Capt. Nathan Hale, who fell a martyr in the service of his country. Her mother married Hale's father. There is still preserved in the collection of William R. Lawrence, of Hartford, a fine large powder-horn, made by Capt. Hale, during the college vacation, when he was a student at Yale. Miss Alice Adams, who was at that time a member of the family, often saw him when busily employed in the construction of this valuable relic.

Marian Lawrence, (sister of the Treasurer,) m. William Keith,†

* Mrs. Lydia Huntley Sigourney was the only child of Ezekiel Huntley, Esq., of Norwich, Conn., where she was born, Sept. 1, 1791. She received an excellent education, and when only eight years of age, began to develop those poetical talents, which have since made her so widely and favorably known. In 1819, Miss Huntley was m. to Charles Sigourney, Esq., a leading merchant of Hartford, and a gentleman of education, and literary taste. Mrs. Sigourney is one of the most popular writers of the day, and her poems, which include almost every variety of subject, are all happily made to subserve a high moral sentiment. A heart of the liveliest and tenderest susceptibilities, has thrown a charm into her verse, which has won not only admiration, but esteem and love, not only in the higher literary circles, but in every village and hamlet in the land. (See HUNTLEY.)

† Rev. Alexander Keith, (brother of William,) was an Episcopal clergyman, and resided in Charleston, S. C. There is a curious relic in the possession of William R. Lawrence, of Hartford, which formerly belonged to him. It is a snuff-box, made from a Ram's horn, of a graceful form, and beautifully polished. The lid which is part wood, and part silver, bears three inscriptions, viz., "Rev. Mr. Alexander Keith, A. D. 1770." "R. Lawrence, 1808." "Wm. R. Lawrence, 1831."

Capt. John Keith, another brother, m. the widow of Capt. John Lawrence. He accompanied Capt. James Cook, in one of his voyages of discovery, and a portion of a quadrant, formerly his, bearing this inscription, "Made by James Haley, 1720, for John Keith," is still preserved in the family.

a Scotchman, they had two children, Maryan and Susan, (after her husband's decease, she m. Rev. Jonathan Marsh, of New Hartford.)

Jane Ellery m. Henry Seymour, Esq., their children are, Mary, Gov. Thomas Henry Seymour, and William. Mrs. Seymour d. at Hartford, 1851. William Seymour m. Mary Brooks, in 1851, at Philadelphia.

Thomas Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, in 1369.

Richard, Earl of Warwick, and Regent of France, in 1438.

In the reign of King Henry IV., d. John, Lord Beauchamp, of Bletsho, leaving a son and a daughter, the son died, and Margaret, his sister, became sole heir of the family. She m. Sir Oliver St. John, (from whom are descended the Lords St John, of Bletsho, as also, the Viscounts Bolingbroke,) and for her second husband, John Beaufort, Duke of Somerset. Their only child, Margaret, m. Edward, of Hadham, Earl of Richmond, their son was King Henry VII.

Edward Beauchamp was a freeman in Mass., 1642-3. Beauchamp has twenty-three coats of arms. Beauchampe has eighteen coats of arms. Buchampe has one.

BEEBIE, JOHN, of Hartford, d. 1650; small estate; also JOHN BEEBE, of Hartford, in 1662. JOHN, of Colchester, had his daughter, Ruth, baptized Jan. 20, 1734; Ann, baptized 1735; Martin, baptized Oct. 8, 1738. JAMES, of Stratford, m. Sarah, daughter of Thomas Benedict, Sen., of Norwalk, Dec. 19, 1679, and had a daughter, Sarah, b. at Norwalk, Nov. 13, 1680; it would appear from the birth of Sarah, at Norwalk, that Mr. Beebe had resided there, before he settled at Danbury. He was originally from Stratford. He was the first justice of the peace at Danbury. He had two sons, James and Samuel, probably born at Danbury. James, Jr., remained at Danbury. Samuel Beebe's sons removed to Litchfield, and afterwards aided in the settlement of Canaan, where the name is yet found. Five of this name had graduated at Yale College, in 1829.

BEEBE, Rev. JAMES, was ordained Pastor, at North Stratford, May 6, 1747; the church gathered the same day; ordained by presbyters, viz., Rev. Zephaniah Gould, of Stratford; Jedediah Mills, of Ripton; Rev. John Graham, of Woodbury, (Southbury society;) Joseph Bellamy, of Woodbury, North Purchase, (Bethlem;) David Judson, of Newtown, and Thomas Canfield, of Roxbury, and Mr. Woodbridge, of Amity.

BEEBE, REV. JAMES, Pastor, of North Stratford, m. Ruth Curtis, July 13, 1749, and had a daughter Elizabeth, b. March 19, 1750, d. Dec. 19, 1754; James, b. Nov. 29, 1751; Mary, b. Jan. 20, 1754; second Elizabeth, b. July 19, 1756; Ruth Anne, b. Jan. 27, 1758; Sarah, b. July 28, 1759, baptized by Rev. Mr. Ingersol, of Ridgefield, "her father being then in the army," at Ticonderoga; David L., b. Jan. 16, 1763; Claret, a negro servant of Rev. James, baptized June 2, 1762.

BEEBE, EBENEZER, (the grandfather of William Beebe, Esq., now of Litchfield,) removed from Danbury to Litchfield, where he died since 1806. Dr. Abel McEwen, of New London, is a relative of this family.

BEEBE, JONATHAN, removed from New London to Haddam, after the first settlement. He had sons: Jonathan, William, Joshua, and Caleb. Jonathan, Jr., had sons; Jonathan, David, Samuel, Daniel, and Ebenezer. William, son of Jonathan, had Abner, Silas, Asa, William, and Elihu.

During the war of the Revolution, viz., in 1778, Bezaleel Beebe, (of the Litchfield branch of the Beebe's,) was appointed major of the regiment, of which Noadiah Hooker was colonel. The General Assembly of Connecticut, in 1777, directed that recruiting officers, to enlist men for the continental army, and to take and secure deserters, should be appointed in each brigade of militia, in Connecticut, and directed the Governor and Council to appoint such officers, and the place of rendezvous for said recruits, in each brigade. Major Bezaleel Beebe was appointed the recruiting officer for the sixth brigade of militia, to rendezvous at Litchfield. He was an efficient, bold and most useful officer, during that eventful struggle.

Beebee has one coat of arms, and Beeby one.

There was a family of this name early at New London; the connexion between that family and the family who were early at Stratford, Norwalk and Danbury, is not known. James Beebe, of Hadley, Mass., lost a son James, by death, at Hadley, Jan. 3, 1669. James, of Hadley, m. Mary Boltwood, Oct. 24, 1669.

John Beebe was appointed ensign by the General Court, in Capt. George Denison's company, in New London county, over the sixty-eight men raised in that county, May 11, 1676, for the standing army, and a part of the 350 men raised in the colony of Connecticut, in 1676. (See Col. Rec.) John Beebe, in 1671-2, was one of many others in New London, presented to the court "for attempts" to drive Mr. Matthew Griswold and Lieut. William Waller, "by violence off their lands, resistance to authority and assault." (Trumbull's Col. Rec., p. 558.) Samuel, Thomas and Nathaniel Beebe, were of New London, in 1670, and Thomas Beebe sworn a freeman of New London, in 1666.

BEERS, THOMAS, came to Connecticut as early as 1645, and was a constable in '47—whether he was a relative of the brave Capt. Beers, who, in Philip's war, was killed, with twenty of his men near Northfield, is not known. The name soon after '47 disappeared in Hartford. Joseph Beers resided at Stratford, in 1672. Joseph had a son Daniel, who, after a settlement had commenced at Woodbury, located himself there, and married a Miss Walker, either a daughter or grand-daughter of the Rev. Z. Walker, who had also moved to Woodbury. They had sons; Josiah, Zechariah, and Lewis, born at Woodbury. Josiah was the father of Hon. Seth P. Beers, late Commissioner of the School Fund, of Connecticut. Josiah, of Stratford, and James, of Fairfield, were jurors in 1730.

BEERS, (or Bears,) NATHAN, resided at Norwalk, as early as 1745, and had children, viz., Nathan, b. Sept. 8, 1745; Ebenezer, b. Sept. 28, 1747; Samuel; Lydia, d. 1796; Hannah; Abijah, d. 1784; Ezekiel, d. 1795; Sarah, b. March 12, 1760, d. 1781; Abigail, Mary, Anna and Esther, b. 1770.

BEERS, JAMES, resided at Fairfield, and had a daughter, Mary, m. there to John Marvin, March 22, 1704. There was an Adam Beere or Beers, a Dutchman, who died at New Haven in 1649, and in August 7, 1649, Mr. Ruderford and Philip Galpin, were appointed to appraise his estate; he died at the house of William Andrews, in New Haven. In Sept., 1649, Mr. Gibbard and Richard Miles, were also appointed appraisers of the estate of Adam Beere, a Dutchman, who died at the house of William Andrews, and ordered to bring into court the inventory of the property. He appears to have been a seafaring man.

In January, 1743-4, David Beers, of New Haven, was appointed guardian for his son, Benjamin, who d. at Milford. David Beers, of Milford, in 1743-4, chose Stephen Sanford, of Milford, for his guardian. John Beers was a settler at Stratford, about 1670, and the first of the name there. James, of Fairfield, made free Oct., 1664.

BEERS, RICHARD, was an early settler at Watertown, Mass., where he had six lots of land; his wife, Martha, had a son, Isaac, b. there July 5, 1646; Marha, (or Martha,) b. March 10, 1643: Richard and Elizabeth Beers, had Judah, b. 1646: Richard and Elizabeth Beers, of Watertown, Mass., had Jabez, b. Oct. 4, 1651: Richard and Martha, had Abigail, b. 1653; Joseph, b. 15th of the 10th mo., 1655. Anthony and Elizabeth Beers, had Samuel, b. 2d day of 3d mo., 1647; Ephraim, b. July 5, 1648; John, b. Jan. 20, 1651; Hester, b. Oct. 16, 1654; recorded at Watertown. Farmer notes Anthony Beers, of Mass., freeman, 1657; Richard, of Watertown, Mass., freeman, 1637, Deputy from 1663 to 1675, thirteen years, and captain in Philip's war; he was killed in battle, by the Indians, at Northfield, Mass., Sept. 4, 1675; name spelt Bears, Beer, Beers, and Beares, on Colony Record. Four of this name had graduated at Yale College, before 1848. John Beere, of Gloucester, Mass., m. Mary Fowler, Jan. 20, 1673; his son Joseph, b. Dec. 7, 1675. Bere has six coats of arms; Beare has six; (Beers, none.) This name, in the settlement of Connecticut Colony, for many years was spelled Bere, Beer, and Beere, on the records in different towns. There are many of the name of Beers in Fairfield county, and in New Haven and Woodbury, at this time.

John Beers was wounded and disenabled in the swamp fight, and the General Court of Connecticut ordered the public treasurer of the colony to pay him £16 as a recompence, in 1677. (See printed Col. Rec., p. 320.) Robert Beers, of Rehoboth, was shot by the Indians, when reading his Bible as a protection against them, March 28, 1676. (Rehoboth Town Rec.)

BEGUE, (or Bigul,) JEREMIAH, of Colchester, daughter, Prudence, baptized Oct. 17, 1762; Clandy, baptized April 24, 1768.

BECKLEY, SERG. RICHARD, was an early settler at Wethersfield; wife, Frances; had children: John, eldest son, d. 1696; Nathaniel, Benjamin, b. 1650, second Sarah, Mary, Hannah; son Nathaniel, sole executor; will dated May 15, 1689; he d. BECKLEY, RICHARD, a planter in New Haven colony, in 1643; perhaps the same Richard who was at Wethersfield. Richard, Sen., d. at Guilford.

Beckley has two coats of arms.

BECKWITH, MATTHEW, resided on lot 10, in Main street, in Hartford, 1645. He was fined 10s. for unseasonable and immoderate drinking at the pinnace, 1639; plaintiff in a case before the particular court, in 1642; also plaintiff in a case in 1644. In 1649, Matthew Marvin sued him in slander, and Beckwith made a penitent, public confession of his evil in slandering him, and the fine was remitted by the court, and the plaintiff. Mathew Becquet, made free, 1658. Stephen Beckwith, defendant in a case at Hartford, 1649. He was fined ten shillings for using ardens, 1630. Stephen Beckwith was of Hartford, in 1649.

BECKWITH, NATHANIEL, Haddam, died in 1717, and left Sarah, his widow, with £269 estate. His children were, Job, Nathaniel, Jerusha, Sarah, Joseph and Patience. Nathaniel, of Lyme, was appointed by the court, guardian of the children of Nathaniel Beckwith, deceased, of Haddam. It is probable the two Nathaniels above, were the sons of Matthew and Stephen, brothers, who were early settlers in Hartford, neither of whom appear to have died at Hartford. He owned a part of a vessel.

BECKWITH, BENJAMIN, had an ear-mark at Lyme, in 1734, and William, his ear-mark, in 1736. George and Allen Beckwith, in 1738.

BECKWITH, REV. GEORGE, was settled as pastor over the third society in Lyme.

There was a Stephen Beckwith, an early settler at Norwalk; he sold his farm to Richard Holmes, in March, 1663. The town voted in 1667, "that Stephen Beckwith, or some other man, should be hired to fetch the cows, out of the Neck."

Five of this name had graduated at Yale College, in 1848.

BECKWITH, ROBERT, John Harris and others, embarked from England, for Virginia, July 4, 1635. (N. E. G. Reg., No. 12, p. 389.) Beckwith has four coats of arms.

BECKWITH, STEPHEN, is in (Hall's) list of original settlers at Norwalk, in 1655. He was at Hartford, in 1649, and probably removed to Norwalk before 1655, and is found there as late as 1687.

BELCHER, MR. ANDREW, m. Sarah, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Gilbert, of Hartford, July 1, 1670. He lived on lot No. 10, in Main street, Hartford, in 1670. He erected and owned a warehouse at Saybrook, in 1675. He came from Mass., and had a son Andrew, b. at Hartford, March 12, 1671-2.

BELCHER, SAMUEL, of Windsor, d. in 1756. His will was presented to the court, by Col. Joseph Richards, of Dedham, Mass., as executor. Mabel, his widow. Supposed to have been killed at or near Crown Point. He left no children, and gave all his estate to his widow and his cousin Belcher Richards, son of Joseph, of Dedham, except small sums to his brother-in-law, Rev. Andrew Tyler, and Rebecca Welton ; estate £296.

BELCHER, COL. SAMUEL, who deceased at Hartford, in 1849. Inventory $37,000. He was the son of David Belcher, of Wrentham, Mass., and grandson of Samuel, of the same place. Children of Samuel, Sen., were, Andrew, Elizabeth, John, David, Woodbridge, all born at Wrentham.

DAVID, m. Rachel Burr, of Hingham, and removed to Bellingham, and in 1782, to Thompson, Conn., and in 1798, to Stafford, and died there in 1811. David's children were, Col. Samuel, b. at Bellingham, in 1779 ; Sarah, b. at Bellingham, in 1782 ; David, b. at Thompson, Conn., 1785 ; John, b. at Thompson, 1787, d. aged two ; Rhoda, b. at Thompson, 1789. Sarah m. John Perry, of South Brimfield, and had three sons and seven daughters ; she died at Hartford, 1846. David, (brother of Col. Samuel,) m. Miss Sawyer, of Wales, Mass., and had seven children ; he d. 1841. Rhoda, m. Sewall Shaw, of Wales, and had two children.

Col. Samuel Belcher, of Hartford, m. Pamela Pinney, daughter of Eleazer, of Ellington, April, 1805, and had two children ; both died single, before their father.

Nine of this name graduated at Harvard College, before 1840, and one at Yale College. This name is yet at New London.

BELCHER, MR. EDWARD, took the oath of freeman in Mass., 1631.

Belcher has three coats of arms.

BELCHER, ANDREW, the first innkeeper at Cambridge, about 1652, when "the townsmen granted liberty to Andrew Belcher, to sell beere and bread, for entertainment of strangers and the good of the towne."

BELCHER, JONATHAN, Governor of Mass., between 1730 and '41. Was Governor of New Jersey.

BELCHER, MR. JOSEPH, of Dedham, about 1700.

BELCHER, MR., senior counsellor, appointed Lieut. Governor of Nova Scotia, and was succeeded by Col. Wilmot, in 1763.

BELCHER, REV. MR., preacher at the Isle of Shoals, about 1690.

BELCHER, REV. SAMUEL, graduated at Harvard College, 1659 ; settled at Newbury.

BELCHER, JEREMY, aged twenty-two years, embarked in the Susan and Ellen, Edward Payne, master, for New England.

BELCHER, EDWARD, a servant, aged eight years, embarked in the Abigall, for New England.

BELDEN, RICHARD, (spelt Bayldon and Belding, for many years) He was one of the early settlers of Wethersfield. The land record of Wethersfield says, "The 2d month and 7th daie, 1641, the lands of Rich Bayldon, (those given him by the towne, and those he bought of Jonas Woods,) lying in Wethersfield, on Connecticut River." Eight pieces were thus "given and bought" and their location and description given. In Oct., 1654, he gave his son Samuel, a piece of land.

BELDEN, WILLIAM: tradition says, that two brothers by the name of Belden, were among the first settlers of the colony of Connecticut, and that they made their first location at Wethersfield, but that one of them, (William,) after a while, on the settlement of Norwalk, removed thither. As early as Feb. 7, 1641, and among the earliest grants, Richard had eight distinct tracts of land allotted to him by the town, and little or no mention is made of William, save that he had three sons, Samuel, Daniel and John, b. by his first wife, Tomisin; yet William's death is found in Wethersfield, about 1660, and Samuel and John are found at Norwalk, about 1673, (sons of William.) William's children were: Samuel, b. July 20, 1647; Daniel, b. Nov. 20, 1648; John, b. Jan. 9, 1650; Susannah, b. Nov. 5, 1651; Marie, b. Feb. 2, 1653; Nathan, b. Nov. 13, 1654.

John Belding, a soldier, had the remainder of the swamp, in 1676, after his father Hale's land should be laid out, &c. (Norwalk Rec.)

BELDEN, RICHARD, of Wethersfield, was defendant in Court, in 1643. In 1645 was bound in Court for the appearance of George Chappel, and for the good behavior of said George, till the next Court. Samuel Belden made free, 1657, and John Belden made free at the same time: the latter was an enlisted trooper under Maj. John Mason; March, 1657-8, approved by the General Court.

BELDEN, SAMUEL, JR., son of Samuel, m. Hannah, Jan. 14, 1685. They had issue: Samuel, b. July 25, 1689; Daniel, Feb. 14, 1691; Gideon, March 24, 1693; Prudence, Feb. 12, 1694; Richard, April 18, 1699; Matthew, June 13, 1701, and Hannah, Sept. 25, 1704.

MATTHEW, 5th son of Samuel, Jr., b. June 13, 1701, m. Elizabeth, daughter of Samuel Williams, April 16, 1729 ; had issue : a daughter Mercy.

JOHN, the 2d son of Richard, m. Lydia, April 24, 1657. They had issue, John, b. June 12, 1658 ; Jonathan, June 21, 1660 ; Joseph, April 23, 1663 ; Samuel, Jan. 3, 1665 ; Daniel, Oct. 12, 1670 ; Ebenezer, Jan. 8, 1672, and two daughters, Sarah and Margaret. He was much employed in the public affairs of the town. He d. in 1677, aged 46. Estate £911.

JOHN, Jr., son of John, m. Dorothy, daughter of Josiah Willard, June 15, 1682 ; had issue : Josiah, b. Feb. 14, 1683 ; John, Dec. 3, 1685 ; Benjamin, 1687 ; Stephen, May 21, 1697 ; Ezra, Nov. 27, 1699, and three daughters, Lydia, Hannah and Dorothy.

JOSIAH, eldest son of John, Jr., m. Mabel, daughter of Serg't. Samuel Wright, May 1, 1707, and had issue : Josiah, b. June 11, 1713 ; Ozias, Nov. 18, 1714 ; Return, Jan. 28, 1721 ; Solomon, May 22, 1722 ; and six daughters, Mabel Wright, Dorothy, Rebecca, Abigail, Lydia and Hannah ; d. Sept. 5, 1746.

BELDEN, SILAS, son of John, of Wethersfield, m. Abigail Robins, daughter of Capt. Joshua, Nov. 30, 1716, and had issue: Silas, Jr., b. Nov. 13, 1717; Abigail, b. Nov. 4, 1720, (m. Thomas Hurlbut, of Wethersfield;) Joshua, Charles, Lydia, Oliver, and Jonathan, b. Nov. 16, 1737. While Silas continued at Wethersfield, he was highly respected and employed in public business. He sold his estate, and expected to remove with his family to Canaan, Conn., in the spring of 1741, where he purchased a large tract of land. He also purchased lands in Dutchess county, N. Y., and Berkshire county, Mass., for the purpose of settling his children on his new lands. In the autumn of 1741, he returned to Wethersfield, to close his concerns there, and remove his family to Canaan. He was seized with a malignant dysentery, while at Wethersfield, and died. SILAS, JR., his eldest son, settled at Canaan. JOSHUA, his 2d son, graduated at Yale College, in 1743, and settled in the ministry, at Newington, Nov. 11, 1747, where he continued until Nov., 1803; m. Anne, daughter of Lieut. BELLAMY, MATHEW, was first settled at Fairfield, and upon the 17th day of August, 1682, B. Stone of Guilford, conveyed to Mathew Bellamy, of Fairfield, lands in Killingworth, (B. 1, p. 186, Kill. Town Rec.) two deeds in Fairfield, of this kind. Mr. Bellamy removed to Killingworth, and on the 25th day of Feb., 1698-9, Mathew Bellamy, of Wallingford, son of Mathew, Sen., of Killingworth, then deceased, conveyed all his father's interest in all his lands in Killingworth, to Henry Crane, of Killingworth. (Town Rec., B. 1, p. 4, in Kill.) Mathew, Jr., probably was in that part of Wallingford, then called Westbury, or New Cheshire, now Cheshire, where his son Rev. Joseph Bellamy, D. D., was born.

Mathew Bellamy, the son of Mathew, Sen., of Killingworth, himself of Wallingford, m. Mary, and had a large family of children, viz., Mathew, 3d, Samuel, Moses, Aaron, John, James, Joseph, D. D. ; daughters, Sarah, Hannah, Mary Grey : sons-in-law, Benjamin Grey and John Roys. Mathew, 2d, d. about 1752. His will (Pro- bate, N. H.) is dated Nov. 3, 1744 : his wife Mary, Executrix, and son Mathew, Executor, (the last refused to act.) He was a farmer and owned a vast estate in lands ; his personal estate was inventoried and appraised at £2660, 2s. He had four negro servants, (a negro woman appraised at £100 ; Mingo £500 ; Lewis £500, and Phillip £140 :) his son James lived at Westbury, upon one of his father's farms, at date of the will. He gave his son, Samuel, his farm in Farmington, 123½ acres, and £200. Moses and Aaron had his farm and buildings in Wallingford, where he lived, and he provided thus liberally for his other children and wife. He gave £4 to the church in Bethlem, where his son Joseph preached : witnesses to the will, were "Waite Ebernathe, Damaris Abernathe," and David Dutton.

BELLAMY, JOSEPH, D. D., was b. at Wallingford, 1719, in the Colony of New Haven. His father was a wealthy farmer, and of great good common sense ; he early discovered in his son Joseph, talents, which only required an education to make him a useful member of society. He graduated at Yale College, in 1735, and was a class mate of Aaron Burr, (the father of Col. Aaron,) Daniel Buckingham and John Trumbull. He soon prepared himself for the pulpit, for which he was most admirably fitted, not only by his piety, but by his most powerful and persuasive eloquence. His general appearance was commanding, being tall and strait in person ; his face was full of firmness and dignity, and in his old age, his aspect was commanding and venerable, particularly when he was adorned with a large white wig. He became like the first President Edwards, the very embodiment of Divinity, in Connecticut. Soon after Dr. Bellamy was prepared for the pulpit, viz., on the 2d day of November, 1738, when, what is now Bethlem, was called the North Purchase of Woodbury, he went there to preach, Nov. 2, 1738, and obtained society privileges there, in Oct., 1739. Upon the 20th day of February, 1740, the people of Bethlehem were advised by the Eastern Association of Fairfield county, to call Mr. Bellamy to settle with them as their pastor, which was done by a unanimous vote, March 12, which he accepted ; and the 27th day of March, 1740, was set apart as a day of fasting and prayer. He was ordained April 2, 1740. His salary in 1780, was £90..

In 1768, he received his Doctorate in Divinity, from the University of Aberdeen, in Scotland. His correspondence in Europe was extensive. He kept up a constant interchange of letters for many years, upon religious subjects, with the Rev. John Erskine, D. D., of Edinburgh, and many other learned Divines, in different parts of Europe. Dr. Bellamy made many important publications: his "Essay upon the Gospel;" "The Great Evil of Sin;" "The Law a School-master;" "True Religion Delineated," and many others.

He m. about 1744, Miss Frances Sherman, of New Haven, a lady of great worth: by her he had seven children, five of whom survived their parents, viz.,

On the 19th day of Nov., 1786, soon after his second marriage, he was seized with a paralytic shock, which deprived him of the use of his limbs on the left side, and much impaired his intellect ; he d. March 6, 1790, in the 72d year of his age, and the 50th year of his ministry. (Funeral Sermon preached by Rev. Noah Benedict, then of Woodbury.)

In 1674, a Scotch gentleman by the name of Mathew Bellingham, (record,) or M. Bellamy, was employed to teach school, one winter, and one summer, at Saybrook, perhaps the same man afterwards found at Fairfield, and Killingworth. This employment to teach school at Saybrook, is the first record there is upon the subject of schools at Saybrook. In 1690, Edward Lawry or Laurie, left a bequest for the use of schools, in Saybrook. Coats of arms : Bellamy, (Lord Mayor of London, 1735,) one. Bellamy, (Middlesex,) one. And others for this name. Mary Bellamy, of Wallingford, m. Elijah How, Jan. 28, 1703, by Mr. Street.

*BELL, FRANCIS, Stamford, 1642. Mr. Bell was one of the early settlers, and an important man in the colony—a firm Puritan in forms and principles. Rev. Mr. Denton, Mitchell, Ward, Law, Rayner, Bell and Hollys, were important men in Stamford, in its first settlement. Some of the descendants of Francis have a Bible which was brought to New England, in the Mayflower, in which is a record of the first male child born in Stamford. Francis Bell is favorably noticed by Cotton Mather, in company with Slauson.

Francis Bell, Richard Law, Jonathan Selleck, George Slauson, and John Holly, of Stamford, made a second purchase, of Taphanse and Powahay, and other Indians, of the town of Stamford, Jan. 7, 1667, and signed the deed for Stamford, and Taphanse and Powahay, for the Indians. When it became necessary to procure a successor to the Rev. Mr. Denton, at Stamford, Francis Bell and George Slauson were appointed to go to Boston, in search of Rev. John Bishop, to preach at Stamford. Though the danger from Indians must have been great, yet they took their provisions and went on foot to Boston, and found him in that neighborhood. He accepted their call and returned on foot with them, with his Bible under his arm, and was settled at Stamford, their second minister, where he preached about forty-nine years, and died in 1693. The Bible he brought with him is now in the possession of one of his descendants. Lt. Francis Bell, John Holly and George Slauson, (Slauson,) were the first townsmen at Stamford. Mr. Bell was an important man in the early settlement of Stamford. He was one of the committee to form a union of the two colonies, in 1664. The Bells, Hollys, Laws, Sellecks, Weeds, and many others of the first settlers of Stamford, yet have descendants there. Francis Bell left children at Stamford;

* Those who signed to settle Stamford, were thirty families, in 1640, "in May to move; Rev. Rich. Denton, Ma. Mitchell, Thur. Raynor, Rob^t Coe, And^w Ward, Rich^d Gildersleeve, Ed^m Wood, Jon. Wood, Jer. Wood, Samuel Clarke, Tho^s Weeks, John Woods, Jon. Jaggar, Jo. Knapp, Jo. Seaman, Sam. Sherman, Hen. Smith, Vincent Simking, Dan. Finch, Jo. Northend," twenty families. (Stamford.)

• In 1641, thirty men at Stamford paid in one hundred bushels of corn, which was afterwards allowed them, in May, 1641, at New Haven, viz., "Serg^t Math. Mitchell, 14.3 bushels, Mr. Denton, 04.1, Andrew Ward, 04.1, Ro. Coe, 04.1, Ri. Gildersleeve, 4.0, Ric. Law, 3.2—40, 3.1 total, Jo. Benoult, 3.2, Jo. Whitmore, 3.1, Ri. Bates, 3.1, Rich. I., where they had nine children born, viz., Thomas, John, Samuel, James, Daniel, Betty, Mary, Sarah and Rebecca. From Southold he removed to Huntington, L. I., and resided there in June, 1656. He removed to Jamaica, where his son Thomas m. Mary Messenger. On the 26th of Sept., 1664, Bailey, D'l Denton, Thos. Benedict, &c., applied to Col. Nichols to settle upon the river, (Arthur-Cull Bay,) now Elizabethtown, in New Jersey: the petition was granted. On the 8th of Feb., 1664, Gov. Nichols issued an order of election, dated at James Fort, in New York, to the magistrates of the towns upon L. I., to elect two delegates in each town, of the most sober, able and discreet persons, to meet at Hempstead, on the last day of Feb., to enact laws, &c. Daniel Denton and Thomas Benedict were elected delegates by the town of Jamaica. This was probably the first English legislature ever held in what is now the state of New York. He received a Lieutenant's commission in a foot company at Jamaica, from Gov. Nichols, dated at Fort James, in New York, April 7th, 1665. During the same year Thomas removed to Norwalk, in the colony of Connecticut, with his family. In Feb., 1666, he was elected town clerk and selectman of Norwalk. He was also chosen town clerk in 1669, also in 1672, at twenty shillings a year, which office he held many years. (See Hall's Norwalk and Southold Record.)

Thomas, Sen., in 1669, purchased of Samuel Campfield, his home lot, which had been granted him by the town of Norwalk. He was to have the meeting house swept for the year 1665, at twenty shillings. Daniel Benedict, a soldier in the swamp fight against the Indians, had twelve acres of land given him by Norwalk for his service.

Thomas Benedict, Sen. and Jun., of Norwalk, were propounded for freemen in Conn., in Oct., 1667. In May, 1670, Thomas Benedict and Walter Hoyte, were deputies to the General Court of Conn. At a session of the General Court in May, 1672, Richard Olmsted, Thomas Benedict, &c., gave "in thier names for begining a plantation neare the backside of Norwalke, and by thier deputies desired the countenance of the court therein." The petition was granted, and a committee appointed, "to make a plantation." John and Samuel Benedict, sons of Thomas, of Norwalk, were "propounded" freemen for Norwalk, with Ralph Kelor, &c., in May, 1674. This was early a highly respectable family in the colony. (Col. Rec.)

BENEDICT, REBECCA, daughter of Thomas, Sen., of Norwalk, m. Dr. Samuel Woods or Wood, an Englishman, born and educated in England. He was an early settler at Danbury, and a valuable citizen.

BENJAMIN, Benedict, son of Deacon, settled at Ridgefield, about 1720, and was Deacon and selectman there; he died at Stamford, July 3, 1773. Joseph, son of Deacon John, also removed to Ridgefield; his first wife died there Dec. 9, 1716. James, a brother of Joseph, m. Sarah, daughter of Thomas Hyatt, of Norwalk, in 1709; he also settled at Ridgefield, and was one of the original purchasers of the Indians. He held many town offices, and represented Ridgefield in the Legislature; a Justice of Peace, Captain, &c.; he died there Nov. 25, 1762, aged 76; his widow died 1767, aged 80.

BENEDICT, (Benedick,) THOMAS, upon the petition from Huntington, L. I., to the General Court of Connecticut, in 1662, confirmed Jonas Wood and Thomas Benedict, with liberty to act in point of government, according to the liberties granted that town by the General Court of Connecticut, (1662.) In 1664, Thomas Benedict and Mr. Robert Coe, were appointed Commissioners for Jamaica, L. I., by the General Court of Connecticut.

BENEDICT, Rev. NOAH, the third minister of Woodbury, settled Oct. 23, 1760, who was born at Waterbury, was of this family. The Benedicts of Sheffield are also descendants of Thomas Sen. Thomas Benedict was the only early settler found in the Colony of Connecticut, by the name of Benedict.

Thomas Benedict, Mr. Walker, Henry Witny, Mr. Smith, Joseph Smith, Dan Pentou, John Bayless, Sulk Davis, were accepted freemen by the General Court of Connecticut, May, 1664, for Jamaica, L. I., (if they accepted.)

Mr. Thomas Benedict and Walter Hoyt, were Deputies to the General Court at Hartford from Norwalk, May, 1670, and Benedict in 1675.

BENEDICT, Rev. JOEL, D. D., b. at Salem, New York, 1745, son of Peter Benedict, and brother of Rev. Abner, of Middlefield Society in Middletown.

NOTE.—The descendants of Thomas Benedict are numerous and scattered in all directions in Norwalk, New Canaan, Danbury, Ridgefield, New Milford, Canaan, New Haven, Waterbury, New York, &c., but all are descendants of Thomas.

NOTE.—Most of these facts are from Rev. E. Hall, and the L. I. Court Record.

REV. ABNER was b. at N. Salem, N. Y.; graduated at Yale College, 1769; settled Nov. 20, 1771.

REV. JOEL graduated at Princeton College, in 1765; he settled first in the ministry at Lisbon, Conn., Newent Society, where he remained about eleven years; ordained there Feb. 21, 1771.

Dr. Benedict, who was a scholar and gentleman, and one of the most distinguished divines of his time, having been dismissed at Newent, was installed over the church and society at Plainfield, Conn., Dec. 23, 1784. He d. at Plainfield, Feb. 13, 1816, aged 71 years, having been in the ministry forty-five years. Dr. Benedict m. soon after his first settlement, Miss Sarah Mackown of the state of Maine; she d. at Newburgh, New York, about 1830. Dr. Benedict had a large and interesting family, especially daughters, who were respectably connected in life, most of whom are deceased. The children were viz.,

SARAH, b. about 1776; she m. Rev. Eliphalet Nott, D. D., LL. D., President of Union College; she d. early and left three children, Maria, the deceased wife of Bishop Potter of Penn.; Joel and Benjamin yet living.

ROBERT, son of Dr. Benedict, b. about 1778, m. Miss Dow of Sterling, and removed to the State of New York; a daughter of his is now the wife of Bishop Potter.

MARY, daughter of Dr. Benedict, b. about 1780, m. Benjamin Allen, LL. D. of Hyde Park, New York, May 6, 1799; she died some years since and left four sons and one daughter. Dr. Allen is deceased.

RICHARD HUDSON, son of Dr. Benedict, was b. about 1782; a Baptist minister; he has been twice married and had several children, names not known.

ANNA, daughter of Dr. Benedict, b. about 1784, d. unmarried June 30, 1806, aged 22 years.

SUSAN, daughter of Dr. Benedict, baptized April 9, 1786, m. Rev. Samuel Phinney, an Episcopal minister, they reside in Newburgh, New York, and have three children.

WILLIAM MACKOWN and ELIZABETH, twins, baptized June 1788, children of Dr. Benedict. William M. was a physician, and was twice married; and d. in 1847, at Millbury, Mass., and left three children.

ELIZABETH m. Robert Hudson, Esq., Aug. 21, 1809; a lawyer of Schenectady, New York; she died early and left a son John, now a lawyer in Buffalo.

MARGARET, daughter of Dr. Benedict, b. about 1792, m. James Hunter of Philadelphia. He d. without issue; his widow is yet living.

LOUISA KIRTLAND, daughter of Dr. Benedict, baptized Feb. 14, 1796; m. James Brown, merchant in Baltimore, now of the wealthy firm of Brown and Sons, New York. She d. in Paris (France) about 1830, and left six children. Her oldest soon after his marriage, was killed about three years since, by an accidental shot on the fourth of July.

BENEDICT, REV. NOAH, graduated at Yale College in 1760; ordained in the first society of Woodbury, Oct. 22, 1760, where he preached until his death.

BENEDICT, AARON, Esq., of Waterbury, long since deceased, (the father of Aaron Benedict, Esq., now of Waterbury,) was a brother of Rev. Noah, of Woodbury deceased. Hon. Noah B. Benedict, of Woodbury, and Gen. Thomas Benedict, (who was conspicuous in the war of 1812,) were brothers, and descendants of Thomas Sen., of Norwalk, Conn., and sons of Rev Noah.

BENFIELD, WILLIAM, of Wethersfield, petitioned the Court of Magistrates, to be divorced from his wife Elizabeth, which was granted, Dec. 6, 1662.

BENFIELD, MARY, of Fairfield, in 1667 had a child, which the Magistrates ordered a sum paid by Deliverance Blackman, for bringing up the child. Mrs. Jane Blackman, his mother, petitioned the General Court, in 1667, to ease her son of the payment of said sum, which was referred to the County Court at Fairfield. In 1668, the Court appointed Mr. Gold and the commissioners of Fairfield and Stratford, to settle the controversy between Goode Blenfield, and D. Blackman. Benfield one coat of arms.

BENHAM, JOSEPH, of New Haven, daughter Mary, b. 7° 18, 1657; Joseph, Jr., b. May 25, 1659; a daughter b. 1660; Joanne, b. July 25, 1662; Elizabeth, b. September 13, 1664, d. Aug. 1, 1669; John, b. Dec. 28, 1666, d. Nov., 1670. Sarah, d. 1668.

BENHAM, or BEECHAM, JOHN, of New Haven, m. widow Sarah Wilson, Feb. 8, 1654; son John, b. Nov. 4, 1665, d. Nov. 12, 1665; Sarah, b. 7° 17, 1656; Mary, b. April 10, 1660; Hannah, b. Jan. 8, 1661; John born Sept. 15, 1664, (perhaps Benham,) Sarah his wife d. May 30, 1667. The name of Benham was in the New Haven Colony, several years before it is found in the colony of Connecticut.

BENHAM, RICHARDS, daughter Hannah, b. July, 1683; Rebecca, b. 1685. Samuel Benham of Farmington d. about 1753; wife, Azuba; children, Azuba and Luce; he owned a farm in Southington. John Benham admitted freeman in Mass., in 1631. (Farmer.) Benham has one coat of arms.

BENJAMIN, JOHN, in Suffolk County, Mass., probably of Watertown, made his will, and notices his son John for a double portion of his estate; he mentions seven other children, yet does not give their names, (see will, Hist. & Gen. Reg., No. 10, p. 177;) will proved 1645. Mary Benjamin, of Watertown, made her will, May 16, 1646; notices her aunt Wines, sister Abigail Stubbs, her brother, and her cousin Anne Wykes.

Farmer says the above John Benjamin of Watertown, Mass., was freeman there in 1632, and one of the proprietors of Cambridge; that he died, June, 1645, and that his oldest son was John; also notices Richard Benjamin, at Watertown in 1640.

BENJAMIN, RICHARD, who was at Southold, L. I., and applied to the General Court of Conn., with Jeffery Jones and others to be made a freeman under Conn., in May, 1664, and to whom the freeman's oath was administered by Capt. John Young, of Southold, L. I., was probably the same Richard Benjamin, who is mentioned by Farmer as having been at Watertown, Mass., in 1640, and a son of John who died at Watertown, in 1645; if so, tradition says with Farmer that John (who came to Conn.) was a son of John of Watertown, who was made free there in 1632, and a brother of Richard, of L. I.

BENJAMIN, JOHN, who came to Conn., was probably the son of John of Watertown; died at Hartford in 1653, and left a widow Hannah, and children—John (gave £50;) Caleb, (a house and four acres of land east of the river,) and a son Samuel, (£50.) His son David died before his father, (and left two children;) Gideon also son of John and Hannah was executor of his will, and had the residue of his father's property; Gideon's son Gideon, was the grandfather of Edwin Benjamin late deceased of Hartford, who was 25 years a Clerk in the Comptroller's Office at Hartford; Jonathan, son of Gideon, m. Miss. Woodbridge, and had a family; John, son of John and Hannah Benjamin, m. Hannah of Hartford, and had children viz: Samuel, b. May 30, 1708; Caleb, b. July 15, 1710; John, birth not found.

SAMUEL, son of John and Hannah Benjamin, resided at Hockanum in Hartford, or Windsor. He d. in 1669, and left sons Samuel and John, and daughters Mary and Abigail, and left his estate with his wife Mary. He made his brother Caleb, overseer of his family and estate. Thomas Atwood then threescore years old, and Thomas Edwards, then aged about forty-seven years, testified "they heard him make his will." Inventory of his estate offered by Nathaniel Rusco and Stephen Hopkins, Nov. 9, 1670. The widow engaged to pay the daughters Mary and Abigail, £10 each when eighteen years old.

BENJAMIN, JOHN, son of John, and wife Hannah of Hartford, had issue, Samuel, b. May 30, 1708; Caleb b. July 15, 1710.

BENJAMIN, JOHN, of Wethersfield, m. Ann Latimer July 26, 1699, and had a son John, b. May 12, 1700, and Ann, b. Jan. 1, 1704; born at Wethersfield.

BENJAMIN, JOSEPH, and HANNAH, of Hampton, Conn., had children; William, b. June 18, 1748; Samuel, b. Dec. 1749; Peleg b. March 5, 1752; Judah a son, b. July 8, 1755. Samuel, Peleg, Judith and Mary, baptized at Hampton, Sept. 3, 1758.

BENJAMIN, CALEB, of Wethersfield, son of John who died in 1653, and a brother of Samuel; wife Mary. Caleb d. May 8, 1684. His children were Mary, aged 13 years; Sarah 8; Samuel 5; Abigail 11; John 6, and Martha 3 years old. Caleb petitioned the General Court to form a Town in the Webaquasset Country in 1682.

SAMUEL, son of Samuel Benjamin of Hockanum, had a son Samuel, and two daughters.

JOHN, son of Caleb Benjamin, m. Mary Smith, daughter of Philip, of East Hartford, and removed to Stratford. John and his wife Mary in a deed of land in Hartford given by them, of Stratford, to her brother David Smith of Hartford, March 3, 1735-6. John and Mary also of Stratford, for £20 paid "by our brother David Smith, of Hartford," deeded him other lands in Hartford east of the river, being the "tenth part of eighty-nine acres which accrued to us from the estate of our honored father, Mr. Phillip Smith of said Hartford, late deceased, 1736." John and his wife Mary in 1740, for the consideration of £173 money, sold land in Hartford, to David Smith of Hartford. The deed was acknowledged in Wethersfield, April 7, 1740. John and Mary Benjamin of Stratford, also sold land in Hartford, to David Smith of Hartford, for £20 in July, 1734. It was by this John Benjamin, that the name of Benjamin was introduced into Fairfield County.

BENJAMEN, has one coat of arms.

The Benjamins of Mass., Conn., and Long Island, were probably all descendants of John, Sen., of Watertown, Mass., whose will was proved in 1645.

BENJAMIN, RICHARD, of Long Island, Barnabus Wines, Jr., Caleb Horton, Benjamin Horton, Thomas Hutchinson, Thomas Moore, and Jeffrey Jones, were accepted as freemen of Conn., and Capt. Young to give them the oath, 1664.

BENNET, BENNITT, BENET, JOHN, of Windsor, was an original or first settler there, and the first of the name in the Colony, probably not a relative of the Bennets from Ipswich, to Windham or Hampton in Conn. He and Mary Holt, were sentenced to be whipped and sent out of the Jurisdiction of Conn., in 1639, but he is again found in the Colony in 1648, when he was recognized in a bond of £20 to "keep good behavior to the next Court." He promised to confess his fault publicly at Windsor. John Drake of Windsor complained against him in 1648, for saying he had gained the affections of Drake's daughter. In 1649, he was a defendant in court at Hartford. In 1652, John Benit was allowed by Windsor "to be Enter-tayned by Will Hayden in his family." John, supposed of Fairfield, was propounded for a freeman at Hartford, 1672.

BENNET, JAMES, from Concord, Mass.' moved to Fairfield, Conn., in 1644; he had a son Thomas b. Nov. 16, 1642, before he left Concord, and had others born at Fairfield. He had a house lot of two and a half acres at Fairfield about 1649, and several other lots of land there. He had a son James, Jr. Thomas, Sen., was made free in Oct., 1664. The name has been and now is, numerous and respectable in Fairfield County.

BENNET, HENRY, at Lyme, m. Sarah Champion of Lyme,

NOTE.—Banks, Bankes, Bancks, John; there appear to have been three persons of this name about the same time in Conn. The first John Banks was an early settler at Windsor, and one of the leaders of the town for several years. He was a clerk for Windsor, to size weights and measures for the town, Apr., 1643; and represented the town at the General Court, in 1651. In May, his fine, with others from Fairfield, of 20s each, was remitted, (imposed on them July 8, 1650.) I find Mr. John Banks, Deputy to the General Court at Hartford, from Fairfield, Oct., 1665; also May, 1666; and Commissioner for Fairfield, 1666; also Deputy Oct., 1666; also Deputy May, and Oct., 1673; also in 1674, '5, '6 and '7. Mr. John Banks and Peter Disbroe, Deputies to General Court, at Hartford, from Rye, May, 1670; Mr. John Banks, Deputy from Rye, May, 1671, and May and Oct., 1672. Mr. John Banks of Greenwich, Deputy Oct., 1673. Mr. John Banks and Capt Roberts, Deputies Oct. 1676, and John of Fairfield the same session. Mr. John Banks, of Fairfield, Mr. John Banks, of Greenwich, and Mr. John Banks, of Rye, were all Representatives to the General Court, in Oct., 1677. (See Banks, also see Colony Record) (Perhaps one man represented three towns, not probable.)

Sept. 9, 1673, and had issue, John, b. 1680; Sarah, b. 1683; Love, b. 1685; Dorete, b. 1688; Henry, Jun., b. July 29, 1691, perhaps others. This was also a respectable family, though I have few facts concerning them.

BENNET, WILLIAM, and his wife Sarah from Ipswich, Mass., joined the church at Hampton, Conn., July 7, 1738. Lucy Bennet admitted to same church Nov. 15, 1741. Eleanor Bennet admitted to the church in Hampton, Mar. 7, 1742. Deacon Isaac Bennet and Sarah his wife, entered on church record at Hampton, Dec. 9, 1764. Hannah Bennet joined the same church, Oct. 20, 1772. Isaac was deacon from 1779 to 1815. His second wife d. Mar. 6, 1815.

BENNET, WILLIAM, and wife Sarah from Ipswich, Mass., were admitted to full communion by Mr. Mosely in the church at Hampton, Conn. July 7, 1738. Lucy Bennet admitted 1741. Eleanor Bennet admitted March, 1742; also Isaac Deacon and Sarah Bennet his wife, admitted 1764; Deacon Isaac d. July 17, 1817. Peggy his second wife was from Pomfret. John Bennet and Sarah his wife; daughter Mary, b. at Hampton, Apr. 22, 1753; Lois, b. May 23, 1755.

BENNET, WILLIAM, and Sarah, above, had a daughter Hannah baptized Jan. 20, 1740; Eunice baptized Nov. 1, 1741; Elizabeth baptized June 17, 1744; second Hannah baptized 1746.

BENNET, DEACON ISAAC, of Hampton, m. Sarah Cady, Nov. 2, 1763, and had issue; William, b. Apr. 18, 1766; Jared, b. Aug. 23, 1768; Sarah, b. Aug. 5, 1770; Lydia, b. Dec. 5, 1772; Hannah, b. Jan. 5, 1775, m. Samuel Holt; Lucy, b. Oct. 29, 1776; Clarence or Charity, b. June 24, 1780, d. July 4, 1780; Isaac, Jun., b. Jan. 5, 1782; Sarah, wife of Deacon Isaac, d. July 17, 1782, and the Deacon m. Margaret Pain, Sept. 9, 1784. He d. July 17, 1817, aged about 76. This family of Bennets, from Deacon Isaac to the present time, has proved one of the best families in Hampton, kind, pious and useful citizens. His son William, Esq., is yet living on his old farm, two miles south of the village of Hampton, and the oldest man in the town. He and his father before him, have both been members of the church. Esq., William, was a member of the Legislature 1841, and was elected in 1842, but declined the honor. No gentleman in Hampton is more highly respected, or is more deserving of it.

BENNET, WILLIAM, Esq., and Anna Fuller, had issue, Isaac, baptized at Hampton, July 9, 1805; William 3rd, Samuel, Fidelia and Lyman. Anna, wife of Esq. William, d. June 18, 1846, aged 73. Esq. William, son of Deacon Isaac, was b. Aug. 14, 1764, and his wife Anna, b. Sept. 1, 1772. A man by the name of Henry Bennite (perhaps the same name) was Secretary to King Charles II., and signed the Commission or letter for Col. Richard Nicolls, Sir Robert Carr, George Cartright, &c., in 1664, to the Governor of Connecticut, in behalf of the King. William Bennett of Willington, Conn., deceased 1768; widow—children, William, Elizabeth Webster, George, Prudence, Nathan.

BENNET, JAMES, of Concord, Mass., had a daughter Hannah, b. in 1640; James, b. in 1642; EDWARD, freeman in Mass., 1636; JAMES, freeman in Mass., 1638-9; RICHARD, of the First Church in Boston, freeman in 1673; RICHARD received his pay for military service in Philip's war, from Dedham, Mass., 1676. Joseph of Wethersfield, Conn., in 1648. Farmer mentions Edmond of Weymouth, Mass., freeman, 1636; George of Boston, drowned in 1653; James of Concord, freeman 1638, removed to Fairfield, Sept., 1644, his son Thomas, b. Nov. 16, 1642; John of Salem, 1638, Marblehead, in 1643; Richard of Boston, 1645; Samuel of Lynn, 1637; William of Salem, 1637; b. 1603, d. 1683. Four by the names of Bennett and Bennet graduated at Harvard College before 1840. Two of the name of Bennet, and two of the name of Bennett, graduated at Yale College, before 1844.

BENNETT, MATTHEW, came to this country in the Paul, of London, Leonard Betts master, bound to Virginia, per certificate from the minister of Gravesend, of his conformitie to the church of England, July 6, 1635. (H. G. Somerby.)

BENNET, THOMAS, received his certificate to be transported to Virginia, in the America, William Barker, Master, June 23, 1635, also Henry Barker, also Walter Brooks, George Brookes and William Brookes.

BENNET, JANE, aged 16, embarked in the Elizabeth and Ann, R. Cooper, Master, April 29, 1635. Bennett has eight coats of arms, Bennet has twenty-one, and Bennette one coat of arms.

BENNET, JOHN, sold land in Windsor, in 1640, to John Styles, and purchased land by the river in Windsor, in 1640. He had a son Joshua. John Bennet and Josiah Clark, propounded for free-men May, 1672. He was plaintiff in two cases in Court, March, 1649, and released from his bond for good behavior, same Court. Defendant in Court June, 1649, in two cases, and execution granted to him against William Edwards.

BENNET, ARTHUR, and his wife from Plymouth, Mass., had a daughter Elizabeth, b. at Saybrook, Sept. 4, 1747.

BENNET; the General Court Oct., 1665, desired the Governor and Secretary to perfect the address, then read in Court, to present "to his Majesty, by the Hon. Secretary Bennet," to whom a letter was to be directed for that purpose by the Governor and Secretary, and the Governor requested to sign the address in the name of the Colony. (See Col. Rec.) Sir Henry Bennet, (afterwards Lord Arlington,) appointed a Secretary of State in 1663, on the removal of Sir Edward Nicholas. (See note, Prin. Col. Rec., p 27, Vol. II.)

Farmer notes David a physician, d. at Rowley, Feb. 4, 1719, aged 103 years, Edmond, Weymouth, free 1636; John, Salem, 1638; Marblehead, 1648; Richard, of Boston, 1637; Samuel, of Lynn, 1637, a carpenter, member of ar. co., 1639; William, of Salem, 1637.

BENNET, JOHN, of Mystic, 1657; sons, John, Joseph and William.

BENTON, ANDREW, is first found at Milford, in a list of the first settlers there recorded Nov. 20, 1639, as free planters, with liberty to vote for public officers, to carry on public affairs in that plantation; when they settled the power in the church to choose persons out of themselves, to divide the lands into lots, as they should have light from the word of God, and take order for the timber. It was at this meeting, with these voters, that Milford started her own little Republic. They appointed William Fowler, Edmand Tapp, Zechariah Whitman, John Astwood, (d. in England, July, 1654,) and Richard Miles, judges in all civil matters, as a court, to try and punish any offense and sin against the Commandments, until a body of laws should be established. The judges to observe and apply themselves to the rule of the written word of God. The little Republic of Milford, upon the 24th day of Nov., 1640, at a meeting of the freemen, named the town Milford, and confirmed the appointment of Fowler, Tapp, Whitman, Astwood, and John Sherman, as magistrates, with power to hold a General Court, and Particular Courts, with power to punish all misdemeanors according to the rule of God. Andrew Benton made freeman 1665. Mr. Benton m. at New Haven, and resided at Milford, until they took a dismission from the church in Milford, to the church at Hartford in 1666, and removed to Hartford the same year. Though it appears from his having been a juror and holding land in Hartford in 1664, he must have personally resided at Hartford, before he removed there in 1666. His wife Sarah, was admitted to the church, Oct. 13, 1649. He died at Hartford, July 31, 1693, aged 63, and Joseph Benton appointed administrator; his widow had £40 personal estate, and one-third of the real estate. He had issue by his first wife, Andrew, who d. 1703-4, Samuel, b. Aug. 15, 1658; Joseph, Mary, b. April 14, 1655; Dorothy, John, b. Oct. 7, 1656, died; and by his second wife, Ebenezer, aged 9, Lydia 7, and Hannah 5 years old, at the time of the father's decease. Estate £364, 1s. 4d. Andrew was juror at Hartford in 1664.

BENTON, JOSEPH, of Hartford, son of Andrew, m. Sarah Waters, 1697, and had Ruth, b. Feb. 9, 1698, d. 1712; Sarah, b. June 28, 1700, d. 1712; Isaac, b. Feb. 8, 1702; Aaron, b. March 25, 1704; Jemima, b. March 21, 1703; Jehial, b. Jan. 27, 1710. Joseph, removed to Tolland amongst the first settlers there, and was sworn first town clerk in Tolland, in 1719, (see T. Thrall,) and on the Committee to build the meeting house at Tolland.

BENTON, SAMUEL, of Hartford had children, viz., Samuel, Jr., b. Jan. 28, 1680, m. Mary Pomeroy, daughter of Medad, of Northampton, Jan. 2, 1704; Sarah, b. Sept. 28, 1685; Hannah, b. March 14, 1688, m. Samuel Kellogg, May 11, 1711; Abigail, b. Dec. 9, 1691; Caleb, b. March 1, 1695; Daniel, b. June 26, 1696; Jacob, b. Sept. 21, 1698, m. Abigail Carter, July 6, 1724; Moses, b. April 25, 1702.

SAMUEL, JR., and Mary Benton had Medad, b. Oct. 25, 1705; Ruth, b. Sept. 2, 1707, (perhaps others.)

BENTON, EDWARD, from Guilford to Wethersfield, d. Feb. 20, 1698, and Mary his widow d. Aug. 8, 1702. His children were probably all born before he removed to Wethersfield.

BENTON, SAMUEL, of Wethersfield, m. Mary Bradfield, daughter of Samuel, Feb. 1, 1705, and had issue, b. at Wethersfield, viz., Sarah, b. March 19, 1707; Hannah, b. July 1, 1710; Nathaniel, b. Seely, Plaintiff vs. the town of Watertown, Defendant, attempting to compel the people of Watertown, Mass., to remove to Conn., with their families within a given time, or have no interest in the division of the land, and "y^t the hand or the consent of the said William Bassum is herevnto," BETTS, JOHN, at Hartford, was bound to the Commonwealth in a bond of £20 for his good behavior in his course of life, in 1648. The court freed him from the bond in Dec., 1648. He was confirmed a sergeant at Wethersfield in 1657. His fine of twenty shillings was remitted in 1663. He removed to Huntington, L. I., where he died. The inventory of his estate in Conn. was appraised, by John Chester, Sen., and Nathaniel Foot, of Wethersfield, about 1693, (no date.) The Betts farm, so called, of 150 acres, eight miles below Wethersfield, they appraised at £150; eight acres in Wethersfield town, at £20, and eight acres in Wet Swamp, at £18. John, the son of John, Sen., was administrator and made oath to the inventory. John, Sen., resided at Wethersfield in 1648. John Betts had many lots of land in Wethersfield in the great meadow, at great plain in west-field, beyond great river, in west swamp, and he was an early settler there.

BETTS, MARY, owned a house lot in Hartford in 1640, north of little river. She is called widow Betts, and was a proprietor in Hartford, and as such drew four acres in the land division at Hartford in 1639. Goode Betts, (probably) Mary, kept the first ladies' school in Hartford, while Wm. Andrews kept the school for older children. She was called "Goody Bets the school dame." The children of John Betts, Sen., who died on L. I., are not found, except John, Jr., neither is it known whether the family of John, Sen., were ancestors of any of this name at Norwalk, Conn. (See John Burwell.)

BETTS, THOMAS. (There appears to be in Norwalk two distinct families by this name.) This Thomas Betts and his wife Mary and family removed from Guilford, Conn., to Norwalk in 1664; their children were Thomas, b. June 3, 1650; Hannah b.

Nov. 22, 1652; *John b. 1655, and Stephen, b. Oct. 4, 1657. Thomas settled at Norwalk not as early as some others; he purchased the home lot of Nathaniel Eli, and sold half of it to Christopher Comstock. He also purchased the house and home lot of Ralph Keeler, four acres, recorded about 1660. Betts Thomas, of Norwalk in Oct., 1664, was accepted by the General Court to be made free the next May, and Mr. Campfield to administer the oath. Betts, Thomas, and James Hubbard were justices for the county of Kings, L. I., in July, 1671. Betts, Mr. Richard, and Capt. John Coe, were appointed commissioners for Newtown, L. I., in 1664, by the General Court of Conn. Richard and Thomas at Newtown, L. I., 1655. Betts, widow Thomas, of Colchester, d. 1769, aged 66. BIGELOW, JOHN, son of John and Clarissa, b. 1805, m. Jane Ashley Hinman, Oct. 18, 1838; children, viz; Jane Frances, b.

Oct. 11, 1839 ; John H. b. Aug. 8, 1841, d. Sept. 22, 1844, at Hartford, aged 3 years ; William Henry, b. at Hartford, Aug. 19, 1845, and d. at Boston, June 9, 1846 ; George Ashley, b. Feb. 12, 1848 ; baptized by W. S. Potts, D.D. at St. Louis, Missouri.

The line of this family is, first, John Bigelow of Watertown, Mass., d. 1703 ag'd 86 ; second, Jonathan, b. 1646, d. Jan. 10, 1710 ; third, Jonathan, son of Jonathan, b. 1672, d. July 10, 1749 ; fourth, Timothy, son of Jonathan, b. June 20, 1702, d. 1747 ; fifth, John, son of Timothy, b. Nov. 21, 1739, d. June 26, 1780 ; sixth, John, son of John, b. Dec. 6, 1775, d. Nov. 7, 1809 ; seventh, Richard, b. Aug. 22, 1797, now living in New York. David and Edith Bigelow, of Colchester, had a son Azariah, b. March 28, 1740 ; John and Sarah Bigelow of Colchester, had a daughter Lydia, b. Sept. 11, 1743. This name has been, and now is, spelled in various ways, upon the records and by different families of the same stock, viz ; John Bigolough, Samuel and John Barnard, and John Bush &c., took the oath of fidelity in Mass., in 1652 ; Bigillo Samuel of Watertown, Mass., free, 1690 ; Bigalo Samuel, free 1690, &c. This family has produced its full share of respectable men, and the name is now dispersed in all quarters of the Country, and are probably descended from John of Watertown. Three of this name have graduated at Yale College, and eighteen by the name of Bigelo , and six of the name of Biglow, have graduated at Harvard College ; probably all descendants of John, Sen.

BIGGS, WILLIAM, from Mass., settled at Wethersfield, Conn., as early as 1640, where he remained until about 1667, he removed to Middletown. March 23, 1667, he purchased a farm at Middletown, (for his son William, Jr.,) of John Wilcox. He was located near the Wethersfield town line, at Dividend Brook, so called, and adjoining the Connecticut River ; also other tracts of land, at Pistol Point, (the nooks) in Middletown opposite Churchill's landing. July 6, 1668, he mortgaged this land to David Sage, in which he and his wife made their marks, to the deed. In 1671, William Biggs sold half of his land, thirty-two acres, at Pistol Point, to Arthur Scovill, of Boston, (probably a friend of Biggs, and who settled near him.) Farmer names John Biggs of Boston, freeman 1634 ; Ipswich, 1635 ; member of the ar. co. 1641. John Biggs was a member of the first Boston church, in 1630 ; also William Biggs in Boston, 1642, and Walter Biggs of Taunton, Mass., 1656. The strong probability in this case, is, that the above named William, of Boston, had a son William, who came to Wethersfield, and for whom he purchased the land at Middletown, in 1667, for it appears that William, the son of William and Mary, was b. in 1666, for whom his father would not have purchased a farm, not only so, but he would not have mortgaged the land or sold it to Scovill in 1671, when only five years old. The General Court, Oct. 12, 1676, "William Biggs by reason of his age, is dismissed from paying rates for his person." The last William above must have been the aged father, of William Biggs the active farmer of Middletown, whose children are below; as four of the children were born after 1671, and he was married about 1665. The William who was released from taxes on account of his age, was probably the William of Boston, in 1642, and the father of William who first settled at Wethersfield, who came to Wethersfield to reside with his son, and purchased for him lands in Middletown.

William Biggs, gave his son William, Jr., four acres at Pistol Point, Jan. 16, 1671.

William Biggs and his wife Mary, had children, viz:

1. William, b. 1666.
2. Mary, b. 1667.
3. Thomas, b. 1672.
4. Elizabeth, b. 1673.
5. Sarah, b. 1675.
6. John, b. 1677.

William Biggs d. Aug. 19, 1681. Estate, £139, 1s. 6d. Inventory offered by his widow Mary, Sep. 1, 1681, (probably William, Jr.) The property distributed in 1684; one third to his widow; £34 to his son William, and the other children £17 each, to the sons at twenty-one, and the daughters eighteen.

BIGGS, WILLIAM, JR., above son of William (2d,) settled in Middletown, on the homestead before 1700. Thomas Biggs settled at Wethersfield before 1700, and John Biggs at Dividend Brook 1726, on a part of his father's estate. John Biggs Jr., m. Mary Baker, of Wethersfield, May 8, 1735. It is probable William Biggs of Boston, d. at Middletown in his old age, in the family of his son, though his death is not recorded. This name is occasionally spelled Briggs on the Connecticut record.

BIGG, RACHEL, aged 6 years, embarked for New England in the ship Elizabeth, William Stagg, Master, April 17 — Thomas Biggs, aged 13; Jo Briggs, aged 20, embarked for New England, in the Blessing, John Lester, Master. There was a John Bingham at Norwich, 1736, where he had three rattlesnakes' tails to obtain his reward. Four persons of this name had graduated at Yale College in 1850. Coats of arms—Bingham, (Earl of Lucan,) had one. Bingham, (Lord Clanmorris,) one; Bingham, (Hertfordshire,) one. Bingham, (Kent,) one, and five others. Bingham, Rev. Silas, b. in Hebron, Conn., June 27, 1765, graduated at Yale College 1790; settled in Addison County, V. T., June 22, 1804, and remained there about 4 years. Samuel Bingham of Windham received a deed of land from Thomas Bingham of Windham in 1716. Joseph of Windham, deeded to his brother Samuel of Windham 1717. Thomas Bingham of Norwich charged the town Dec. 30, 1718, £1, 0s, 8d, for bounty on snakes' tails and for drumming.

This family has been connected by marriage with several of the best families of Conn., and have produced several excellent men. Four have graduated at Williams College; four at Yale.

BIRCHARD, BIRCHWOOD, BIRCHER, THOMAS, was an original settler and proprietor in Hartford, in 1639, and had twenty-six acres of land, in the land division in Hartford, in 1639; (by the name of Birchwood.) Porter says, his lot was in what is now called Trumbull street; he remained a few years at Hartford, and removed to Saybrook, which town he represented at the General Court, in 1650 and 1651. He was Juror at Hartford, in 1639. He was probably the same Thomas Bircher, made a freeman in Mass., in 1637. His daughter Sarah, m. Bartholomew Barnard, of Hartford, in 1647. In 1651, when Mr. Birchard and John Clark were representatives at the General Court, there was a debate upon the neglect of the town of Saybrook, to pay their proportion of taxes assessed against them. Birchard, Thomas, and John Clark, of "Seabrooke," in May, 1651, were appointed by the General Court, to go to Pequett, and view the 500 acres there, given to five of Capt. Mason's "souldgers" at the Pequett war, which had been taken up by Pequett, which they desired might be recompensed (by land) at Niantecutt; and lay out so much land to said "souldgers," as should be fully equivalent to the 500 acres at Pequett. The Court granted and fixed bounds of Pequett, to go to Bride Brooke, provided it should not come within the bounds of Seabrooke, &c. Thomas Birchard elected Deputy to the General Court, May 16, 1650, but was absent. Birchard, (spelt Birchwood,) was located at Hartford, in the west part of the village in 1640, on a lot bounded east on the road from Seth Grant's to Centinel Hill, south on John Clark, and north on Ozias Goodwin. John, who afterwards settled at Norwich, and became a proprietor and clerk, selectman, constable and commissioner there—perhaps was the same to whom the General Court sent a warrant to enforce payment of the Charter tax against Mystic. His sons, as stated by Miss Caulkins, were Samuel, b. 1663; James, b. 1665; Thomas, b. 1669; John, b. 1671; Joseph, b. 1673; and Daniel, b. 1680.

BIRCHARD, SAMUEL, had a daughter Abigail, b. at Hartford, July 24, 1704.

BIRCHARD, MR. JOHN, of Norwich, as late as 1676, was appointed Commissioner, by the name of "Mr. John Birchwood." (Col. Rec.)

BIRCHARD, or BIRCHWOOD, JOHN, was the first school master at Norwich. He was probably a town clerk at Norwich, as Miss Caulkins says, (p. 65.) that "some of the earlier records are in the hand writing of John Birchard, and Capt. James Fitch." He was one of the two first Commissioners of the peace in Norwich, perhaps a son of Birchard, a Juror at Hartford, in 1639.

The first Thomas Birchwood was probably the same Thomas Birchwood, who was an original proprietor at Hartford, in 1639, and for the same year. He went to Saybrook, soon after which, the name of Thomas Birchard appears there.

BARTCHERD, THOMAS, (perhaps Birchard,) embarked for Virginia, in the ship Merchant's Hope, Hugh Weston, master, after the usual examination at Gravesend by the minister.

BIRCHARD, SAMUEL, was gaoler at Hartford; his daughter Abigail b. at Hartford, July 24, 1704. Birchwood had a daughter Sarah who m. Bartholomew Barnard, Oct., 1647, at Hartford.

BIRCHER, EDWARD, is mentioned in the will of the first Dr. Samuel Fuller of Plymouth, and gives his son Samuel "land at Strawberry-hill, given Dr. Fuller, by Edward Bircher if Mr. Roger Williams refuse to accept it as he has formerly done." Perhaps Thomas Birchwood, first at Hartford, was the same Thomas Bircher made free in Mass., in May, 1637. One Birchard and one Birchett graduated at Harvard College; two at Yale College before 1851.

BIRCHARD, JOSEPH; the town of Norwalk, in 1709, voted to give to said Birchard and others, liberty to dam a creek in Norwalk, and the stream that runs into the creek, if Birchard &c., should erect a grist-mill at the dam within one year, and finish said mill within three years, &c. Burchall one, and Burchard one coat of arms.

THOMAS BURCHARD, aged 40, laborer; MARY BURCHARD, aged 38; ELIZABETH, 13; MARIE, 12; SARA, 9, SUSAN, 8; JO, 7, and ANN BURCHARD, 18 months old, embarked for New England in the Truelove, Jo Gibbs, master:

BIRCH, BURCH, DANIEL, and his wife Anna, of N. Stratford, had a son David, b. May, 1767; Ruth, b. March, 1771; Silas, b. March 12, 1775, lived at Quaker Hill. An Englishman of this name now resides in Hartford.

Byrch, three coats of arms, Byrche, has three coats of arms. Birch, has six coats of arms. Burche, has two coats of arms.

This name yet continues in Fairfield County. Two by this name have graduated at Yale College.

Hartford records say the ex'rs paid " To Hannah Scott £2" and to " good-wife North £14 13s. 4d."—so it appears there were two daughters.

* Rev. Samuel Bird was b. at Dorchester, Mass., he entered Cambridge University, aged about 16 years—m. Mabel daughter of Hon. — Jenner of Charlestown, for 2d wife, 2d daughter of John Prout, Esq. of New Haven, Conn., and had 12 children ; he was settled as pastor of the church at Dunstable, Mass., in 1747, and installed at N. Haven, Conn., about 1751, and dismissed Jan., 1768.

Bird of White Haven, was Samuel Bird of Dorchester, installed at New Haven.

at Litchfield in 1805, aged 72 years. His son John, graduated at Yale College, 1783. He became an eminent lawyer; he firstly opened his law office in his native town, (Litchfield,) but removed to Troy, N. Y., about 1794; his brilliant talents soon recommended him to his new acquaintances in his adopted State, and he was elected a member of the Legislature, and afterwards a member of Congress, in both of which positions, he distinguished himself by his superior powers of mind. He d. at the age of 38, in 1806. He married Eunice daughter of Joshua Porter, Esq.; 2d, Sally Buel of Litchfield, an elegant and accomplished woman, who too often smarted under his reproofs. He has one son by his first wife.

Gen. David Bird, g'd son of John resided at Bethlem, Conn., was a leading man in the town, and d. there when about 80 years of age, in 1849.

John and Joseph Bird, from Farmington, removed to Litchfield, in the first settlement of the town, in 1721. Joseph Bird and Ebenezer Marsh, were the first Representatives from Litchfield to the Legislature, in May, 1740. He was also Deputy, in Oct., 1743; May and Oct., 1744; May and Oct., 1745; and May and Oct., 1746; and May, 1749. He was Justice of the Quorum, at Litchfield, in 1753, to 1754. John Bird represented Litchfield in the Legislature, in Oct., 1740, and three other sessions before 1750. John Bird was Town Clerk at Litchfield, from 1733 to 1738; and were both among the best early settlers. Joseph Bird removed to Salisbury, where he became one of the first Deacons of the church. He was the great grand-father of Rev. Isaac Bird; who was son of Isaac Bird, and grand-son of James, of Salisbury. Joseph's great grand-son Rev. Isaac Bird, now of Hartford, Conn., was b. at Salisbury, June 19, 1793; graduated, Yale College, in 1816, read Theology at Andover, in 1817; afterwards attended two courses of medical lectures at Boston and New Haven. He m. Ann, daughter of Capt. William Parker, of Dunbarton, New Hampshire, Nov. 18, 1822, and went to Syria the same year, as a missionary. His missionary service was chiefly at Beyroot fourteen years, during which time he visited Mt. Lebanon, Jerusalem, Malta, and Smyrna, Tripoli and Tunis, in which places he continued about fourteen years. While there he became acquainted with the Italian, Arabic, Syriac, and French languages, particularly with the two first. He returned to America in 1836, and became agent for the American Board, for about two years. He was instructor of Theology at the Gilmanton Seminary, and was instructor in Sacred Literature, and chosen professor of this department, July 9, 1844. Mr. Bird is now teaching a BIRD, THOMAS, of Dorchester, and James, free 1690.

In the year 1715, Hartford and Windsor appointed a committee to explore the "Western lands." The object was to explore Bantam, and purchase the Indian rights. John Marsh of Hartford, was one of this committee, and risked his life through the wilderness, from Farmington to Litchfield, for which he charged the town of Hartford £2. The Indian deed of Bantam, executed at Woodbury, is dated, March 2, 1715, O. S.; which for the sum of £15, paid in money, they granted Bantam to Col. William Whiting, Mr. John Marsh, and Mr. Thomas Seymour, the committee for Hartford, to Mr. John Eliot, Mr. Daniel Griswold, and Mr. Samuel Rockwell, a committee for Windsor, in behalf of the two towns, with a particular description of this large tract of country. Two of this name have graduated at Brown University, two at Harvard, and seven at Yale College.

* Hon. Alonzo White Birge, whose name is found in the list of this family, was born at Hebron, in 1801; and whose likeness accompanies this number, is strictly entitled to all his merit, being self-made, by a constant life of industry. He has been honored by his fellow-citizens, with several highly responsible places of trust. He was a member of the lower house of the Legislature, from Coventry, in 1833—State Senator 1837—Elector of President and Vice-President of the U. S., in 1840—Judge of Probate at Hebron, in 1842 and '3, &c.—Treasurer of the State of Conn., in 1847; and though yet a young man, is able to retire upon his own resources, (and not by a niggardly parsimony;) his heart and hands are ever open to aid the needy.

The Gen'l Court, Oct. 12, 1671, gave the heirs of Peter Blachford 50 acres of land for pay as a Pequot soldier.

Coats of arms. Blachford (London and Dorsetshire, granted 1629) one. Blachford (Lord Mayor of London 1750) one. Blatchford has also one coat of arms. One of this name grad'd at Yale College 1796, and one at Wm's College.

BLACHLEY, BLATCHLY, THOMAS, was in the Conn't Col. in 1641; he embarked in the Hopewell, Tho's Babb Master, for Mass. A man by this name was at E. Hartford in 1651. This name in the persons of Thomas and Aaron Blatchley was at * Branford, and there signed the rules formed by a company to govern their town on the Passaick River in the Province of New Jersey, Oct. 30, 1665, and probably most of them removed to (now) Newark as soon as 1666. Aaron Blatchly m. Mary, daughter of Dan'l and Mary Dod of Newark, N. J.; she was born in 1647. Thomas Blatchly was at Newark with Edward Riggs, &c., in 1666. (New Jersey Rec.) Joseph Blatchley. m. Mehitable Keeler, daughter of John of Norwalk, Oct. 14, 1703; he died Oct. 14, 1704; his daughter Mary, b. Nov. 9, 1704. His widow m. *The names of Blakely and Blachly are in some cases difficult to discriminate which name is intended by the recorder.

* Ministers of Branford Congregational Church. In Neal's History of N. E. we find that a Mr. Bruce who was "in orders in the church of England" came to N. England for the free exercise of his ministry and preached in Brainford, for a time before Mr. Pierson was settled there, how long is not known. After him, Rev'd Ab'm Pierson who had been settled at Southampton, Long Island, removed to, and was settled at Brainford. The years he came and left, is not shewn; at Branford, as he left no church records. His daughter Grace was born at Brainford July 13, 1650, and recorded. Mr. Pierson was at Newark, N. J., as soon as 1667. No minister was settled at Branford after Mr. Pierson, until March 7, 1688, when Rev. Samuel Russell was settled and the church reorganized. He was a son of Rev. Mr. Russell first of Wethersfield, and afterwards of Hadley, Mass. Rev. Samuel had been previously settled for a short time in Mass; he died at Branford June 25, 1731, aged 74 years. Rev. Philemon Robbins was ordained at Branford Feb. 7, 1732-3, and died Aug. 13, 1781, in the 73d year of his age, and 49th of his ministry. (The grand-father of Rev. Thomas Robbins of Hartford, D. D., yet living.

Rev. Jason Atwater was ordained at Branford March, 1784, and died June 10, 1795, aged 35, and in the 11th year of his ministry. Rev. Lynde Huntington was ordained at Branford Oct. 28, 1795, and died Sept. 20, 1804, aged 38 years.

Rev. Timothy P. Gillett, the present worthy Pastor, was ordained at Branford June 15, 1808*

jah and David ; she d. March 21, 1755. Tho's and Moses Blachly were early at Branford. Thomas Blachly is in the list of freemen there in 1669. SAMUEL BLATCHLY was at Guilford as early as 1650, and perhaps a first planter there. THO'S BLACHLEY was Deputy to the Gen'l Court of Conn., after the union of the Colonies in May, 1667 ; elected Oct. 1668, but absent ; Oct. 1669, absent ; May, 1670 ; May and Oct. 1671, and May and Oct. 1672, &c.

The inhabitants of New Haven and Branford for the purpose of establishing the bounds between the towns, Oct. 5, 1669. New Haven for this purpose selected Hon. James Bishop, Lt. Thomas Munson, Wm. Andrews, John Moss, and John Cooper, Sen., for N. H. Branford appointed Mr. John Wilford, Thomas Blachly, Michael Taintor, Thomas Harrison and Samuel Ward for Branford. Mr. Wm. Tuttle was substituted for John Cooper, Sen., by N. Haven. MIRIAM BLACHLY of Branford, m. Sam'l Pond of Branford Jan. 4, 1669, (an ancestor of Lieu't Gov. C. H. Pond of Milford.) •

Tho's Blachly or Blackly was a Deputy to the Gen'l Court May, 1667. The Gen'l Court granted Tho's Blachley sixty acres of land where he could find it, upon the usual terms in May, 1670. Deputy for Branford May, 1671, and Capt. Wm. Curtis and L't Rich'd Olmsted were appointed a committee Oct. 9, 1673, to lay out his land before granted. He was a man of influence in the Colony. Moses Blachly of Guilford proposed for a freeman May, 1673.

BLATCHLEY, SAMUEL, of Stamford d. there Oct. 15, 1756, aged 86 years. AARON BLATCHLY of Branford, was allowed two acres of land west of Dirty Swamp in Branford in 1686.

One of this name (Joel S.) grad'd at Yale College, 1850.

BLACKLEACH, JOHN, Farmer says was of Salem, admitted freeman (in Mass.) 1635, representative in 1636, had a family of 9 persons—that his son John of Boston, had a son John b. in 1660—that the name is written Blachleeche on the Salem records. He is found on the Conn't records Blackleeche, Blackleach, Blackledge. JOHN, of Boston, appears to have removed to Hartford about 1660. John Blackleage, Jr., was admitted an inhabitant of Hartford by the town, 1659-60. Porter locates him at the corner of Main and Arch streets in Hartford, in 1660. He was a constable with Thomas Catlin at Hartford, in March, 1663. John purchased land in Wethersfield, of John Hubbard of Hadley for £70, March 21, 1661, and his wife Eliz'th held it Sept. 11, 1672. He was a noted merchant at Hartford. His son John was largely engaged in commerce. John Blackleach, Sen., d. at Wethersfield Aug. 23, 1683, and his wife's death is recorded at Wethersfield, July 20, 1683. The inventory was offered in court, and Samuel Butler appointed administrator, Sept., 1683; at the same court, John, Jr., appeared and stated that his father's book shewed that his father had disbursed upon his father, the sum of £225, 9s. 1d.; £69, 6s. 3d. of which, the General Court May 13, 1675, ordered paid out of his estate in lands, &c., after his decease. The court ordered L't Steel and Serg't Deming to appraise so much of the land, and housing as would pay s'd sum, and deliver it to Mrs. Blackleach, and after payments of debts, to distribute the remainder to his children, who were then living, (at his decease,) according to his deed of gift on record, viz., to Mr. John Blackleach, Jr., Exercise Hodges, Mary Jeffries. Benoni it was thought by the court might then be living, an absent son, therefore the court ordered Steel and Deming to divide the land in four parts equally, and if Benoni should prove to be deceased, to divide his share to the other three children. Mrs. Exercise Hodges presented the inventory of her father's estate, dated at Wethersfield, Sept. 8, 1683.

BLACKLEACH, CAPT. JOHN, JR., wife Elizabeth. He was an extensive merchant in Hartford and Wethersfield, and largely concerned in commerce, and a man of wealth. Mr. John, Jr., of Wethersfield, in 1698, went to sea; during his absence his wife died, and the Court appointed Cyprian Nichols, John Olcott, and Mr. Samuel Hooker, to take charge of his property until his return, and Mrs. Eliz'th Blackleach requested the Court, held Sept. 1, 1698, to appoint Mr. John Olcott guardian to the child (John,) son of Mr. John Blackleach, Jr., decea'd, about 2½ years old. Mr. John Blackleach of Farmington (record says) decea'd; the Court appointed Mr. John Olcott administrator, Jan. 17, 1698-9, and Olcott offered the inventory, April 8, 1700, dated at Wethersfield. John Blackleach, Jr., daughter Mary, m. John Olcott and the inventory of John's estate was presented by John Olcott and Mary his wife, in March, 1708-9. Mary the daughter of s'd Blackleach, m. first Tho's Welles a grandson of Gov. Welles's, and while his widow, she m. John Olcott, son of Tho's, Sen. John Olcott d. 1712; after his decease, Mary his widow m. for her 3d husband, Capt. Joseph Wadsworth of Hartford, of charter memory. Capt. John Blackleach, Jr., d. Sept. 7, 1703, aged 77 years; his widow d. June 12, 1708, aged 74; had 480 acres of land in Middletown, he also owned lands at Stratford, Hartford and Wethersfield; the inventory of his estate, besides his property at Antigua, was £1576, 19s. His son John was at Farmington. His daughter Eliz'h Harris, m. in Boston, and had received £500, her full portion before the death of her parents, and her mother gave all her estate and that left by her husband to her daughter Mary Olcott. He had other children, Mrs. Jesse. Thomas Wickham aged 57, testified Aug. 2, 1708, that in June, 1708, Mrs. Eliz'h Blackleach sent to him to bring to her, her will, that he read it before her and her daughter, that the daughter wished to examine it, and he left it in her daughter's hands. Sarah Benjamin at the same Court testified that Mrs. Blackleach gave her will to her daughter Mary, to keep and do as she pleased with, and remarked that her daughter in Boston had received her portion about £500, and that her daughter Mary had not received hers. John Blackleach of Farmington, m. Susannah Hooker widow of Wm. Hooker deceased, &c. There were so many Johns in this family without dates, it is difficult following the different records. There was a Mr. Richard Blackleach in Stratford, who contracted with the people of Milford in 1712, to ferry people over Stratford river, if the people of Milford erected a ferry house on the east side of the river. Jonathan Frisbie of Branford, sold land to Richard Blackleach of Stratford, lands he purchased of Moses Crafts in 1694, of Branford. Mr. John Blackleach was chosen Commissioner for Stratford May, 1669. John Blackleach of Farmington, m. Susannah, the widow of Wm. Hooker deceased, of Farmington; she was his wife at his, John's decease; she had a daughter Susan by Wm. Hooker, and a son John by Mr Blackleach who d. young.

NOTE.—Mr. John Blackleach Sen., was allowed by the General Court in 1667, to retail wine and liquors to his honest neighbors, sober house-holders and those only, till the last of Nov. John Blackleach was made a freeman as of Stratford, May, 1669. The same Court he applied for liberty to use his endeavours to make known to the Indians something of the knowledge of God, &c. In Oct., 1674, the General Court granted John Blackleach Jr., 200 acres of land, provided he took it not injuring any former grant. At a meeting of the Council (of the Colony.) Oct. 11, 1675 they found it necessary to be more vigorous in making preparations for securing of the towns, especially for the head quarters in Hartford, when the Council should sit, and ordered Flankers placed in or near the outside houses of the town, so that they could command from Flanker to Flanker around the town, and to be prosecuted until accomplished; and that a committee be appointed to order and dispose of the same, and direct what men should carry on the work and attend each Flanker in case of alarm. This important and trustworthy Committee, were Maj. John Talcott, Mr. Gardner, Mr. Gilbert, Ensign Stanley, Mr. Blackleach, Tho's Bunce, James Steele, L't Webster, C. John Gilbert, and Geo. Grave, impowered to appoint and require all inhabitants and team to pursue the work until finished. Mr. John Blacklich is in the list of freemen at Hartford, Oct., 1669. John Blackledge, Jr., admitted an inhabitant of Hartford in 1661. Mr. Richard Blackleach gentleman, a merchant of Stratford, was plaintiff against Mr. Wm. Hoadly a merchant of Branford, had a protracted law suit for years concerning some negro slaves, Blackleach sold Hoadly, which was continued from 1698 to 1702. Mr. Richard Blackleach of Stratford, was attorney for Dugal Makensey, in Court May 10, 1707.

BLACKMAN, BLAKEMAN, Rev. ADAM, was b. in Staffordshire, England—educated at Oxford University. His name is spelled Blakeman, at the time he graduated at College, and is occasionally so spelt on the Conn't records. He was Episcopally ordained in England, and preached at Leicester, and in Derbyshire in England; he came early to N. England, and preached for a time at Scituate, in Mass., and removed from thence to Stratford, Conn., where he was installed the first minister in Stratford, in 1640. He was a man of eminent piety, and held an exalted rank with the ministers of his day in Conn't. He was appointed a committee with Mr. Ludlow, and Gov. Hopkins, to settle the line at Uncoway, in Fairfield County, by the General Court, and was otherwise favorably noticed by the General Court. His wife was Jane; he was married before he came to N. England; his children were Samuel, James, John, Deliverance, Benj'n, and Tho's, d. young, and one or more daughters. Sam'l and James m. daughters of Moses Wheeler of Stratford. Tradition says his son Deliverance was the first child he had born in this country, and that his name was given him, for the happy deliverance of the family from British persecution. Dr. Trumbull says "he was followed by a number of the faithful into this country, to whom he was so dear, that they said to him in the language of Ruth," "Entreat us not to leave thee, for whither thou goest, we will go; thy people shall be our people, and thy God our God." He d. at Stratford in 1665, and his wife Jane survived him. Rev. Israel Chauncey succeeded Mr. Blackman at Stratford, in 1665, and died there March 14, 1722. Upon the settlement of Mr. Chauncey, a part of the town seceded and formed a 2d society, and settled * Rev. Zachariah Walker; soon after, such were the troubles in the societies that Mr. Walker removed with many of his flock and settled the town of Woodbury. His sons Jacob and Joseph Walker remained at Stratford, where some of their descendants yet reside. A manuscript volume of sermons preached in Stratford on lecture days, by Rev. Mr. Walker, is now in possession of one of his descendants. Hon. Samuel C. Blackman of Newtown, Hon. Alfred Blackman of New Haven, Dr. Wm. Blakeman of N. Y. City, are descendants of Rev.

* The following persons signed an instrument placed upon the records at Stratford, (recorded 1677,) shewing they were members of Rev. Z. Walker's Society, in Stratford, but they did not all remove to Woodbury with him, viz., Jeremiah Judson, John Hurd, Sen., Richard Beach, John Thompson, Edward Hinman, Samuel Galpin, Rich'd Butler, John Minor, Robert Clarke, Samuel Sherman, Jr., John Wheeler, Matthew Sherman, Ephraim Stiles, Samuel Sherman, Sen., Edmond Sherman, Caleb Nichols, Samuel Stiles, Daniel Titherton, Hugh Griffin, and Joseph Judson.

Adam, as are Col. Reuben Blackman, and others of the name in Fairfield and Litchfield counties.

BLACKMAN, JOHN, was appointed Bayliff at Dorchester, Mass., in 1662; he probably was not of the family of Rev. Adam. Four of the name of Blackman had graduated at Y. College in 1846, and one at Harvard College. BENJAMIN, who graduated at Harvard College in 1663, and preached at Malden 1675, is not known as a kinsman of Rev. Adam.

JOHN, and Jane Blackman his wife, lost a son Samuel at Dorchester, Mass., aged 21 years Dec. 9, 1722; the name is yet found in Dorchester.

BLACKMAN, JOHN, of Dorchester, Mass., freeman 1665, and John in 1690.

BLACKMAN, (London and East Indies,) has one coat of arms. Adam Blakeman was admitted at Oxford College, England, May 23, 1617, at the age of 19 years, where his name was spelled Blakeman, which was probably his true name, though after he was settled at Stratford, Conn't, his name was spelt Blackman, generally on the Connecticut records. Few facts can be gathered concerning him from any church records at Stratford. Blackman, Samuel, from Dorchester, Mass., resided at Hampton, Ct., Sept. 2, 1739, and had daughters Sarah and Mary, baptized 1739. Elisha Blackman who was at Wyoming in the Tory British and Indian battle, was from Coventry, Conn't, and was of the Dorchester family. Rev. Adam Blackman of Stratford, Oct. 6, 1659, was one of a committee appointed by the General Court to consider the difference on the petition of Arthur Bostick and his wife. Mr. Benjamin Blackman of Stratford, was propounded for a freeman in May, 1670. Mrs. Jane Blackman survived her husband, Rev. Adam, and in 1667, had trouble with her son Deliverance, as to the support of Mary Benfield's child, which was afterwards on the petition of Mrs. Jane, referred to Mr. Nath'n Gold, and the Comm'rs of Fairfield and Stratford, &c. In 1672, Mrs. Jane is again before the Gen'l Court with her son Mr. Benj'n Blackman, and Jacob Walker of Stratford, concerning books and rents of land, of s'd Mr. Benjamin Blackman. In 1673, the Gen'l Court recommended Mr. Jacob Walker to forbear troubling the widow of Mr. Blackman about the use of the lands he claimed, during her natural life, which would grieve the widow, and be displeasing to the Court. Rev. Benjamin, who grad'd at H. College in 1663, preacher in Malden, 1675, m. Sarah Scotton, April 1, 1675; he left Malden about 1678. John, of Dorchester, admitted to the church 1658, free 1669, his sons Jonathan and Joseph. (Farmer.) In May, 1649, the Gen'l Court desired Mr. Ludlow to take care that a sum be levied for the maintainance of Mr. Blackman, for what was behind and the future, as provided by order of the country. Humfry Blackman, James Barnes, Francis Barker, Rich'd Allen, James Atkinson, Jo Bell, Tho. Browne, Jo Bag, Jo Browne, James Allin, Joan Allin, Marie Booth, Jo Butler, Rich'd Brooks, Jo Billings, &c., embarked in the Safety for Virginia, Aug., 1635.

BLACKMORE, SAMUEL, united in full communion with the church at Hampton, Conn., Sept. 10, 1739; his daughters, Sarah and Mary baptized Sept. 2., 1739, and son Samuel baptized June 15, 1740, (perhaps Blackman.) Has eight coats of arms.

BLAGUE, JOSEPH, appears not to have been one of the first settlers at Saybrook. He m. Martha Kirtland, Feb. 10, 1685, and had issue, Elizabeth, b. May 26, 1687; Joseph, Jr., b. Nov. 17, 1689, d. 1691; Mary, b. Aug. 27, 1692; 2d Joseph b. Oct. 7, 1694. He was a constable of Saybrook in 1690. In Feb., 1703, liberty was given to Joseph Blague to erect a wharf in the water, and build a ware-house there, provided he did not damage the channel of the river at Saybrook.

BLAGUE, JOSEPH, a son of Joseph, m. Mary Hamlin, April 18, 1717; issue, Mary b. June 30, 1720; Joseph, b. April 30, 1722; Hamlin, b. Dec. 15, 1725; Giles, b. March 2, 1728; Elijah, b. April 26, 1730; Love, b. March 25, 1732.

Some of the descendants now reside at Saybrook. Two of the name had graduated at Yale College in 1750. JEREMIAH BLAGUE, of North Lyme, m. Thankful Roach of Milford, July 31, 1739. Joseph Blague, Esq., Deacon at Saybrook, where he d. in 1742, son of Joseph.

BLAGE, HENRY, of Braintree as early as 1642.

BLAGE has three coats of arms. Blagge one coat of arms.

BLAGUE, (Hollinger Co., Suffolk, originally of Kent.) Col. BLAKE, RICHARD, of Middletown, m., died and left children to whom his property was distributed, viz., John, Joseph, Hannah, Abigail and Eliz'th, minor children of Richard. Frelove Blake was supposed deceased in 1748.

BLAKE, WILLIAM, was a rater (or assessor,) at Dorchester, Mass., and selectman in 1645, 1647, and 1651. In 1656, Wm. Blake, Sen., was elected Recorder of the town of Dorchester, Clerk of y^e Writs for y^e County of Suffolk, at 20s. a year and rate free. He was an important settler at Dorchester, Mass., where he d. in 1663.

BLAKE, WILLIAM, in 1675 received payment for his military services, of Dedham, Mass.

The name of Blake was at Gloucester, Dorchester and Springfield, before it was in Conn. It yet continues at Hartford, Middletown, and New Haven. It has been a respectable family from the first settler at Middletown. Five of this name had graduated at Y. College in 1848, and eleven at Cambridge in 1835.

BLAKE, STEPHEN, (son of John and Sarah, Sen.,) m. Hannah Cole, July 2, 1711; no children found. Mrs Hannah, wife of Stephen, d. Nov. 1, 1732.

BLAKE, WILLIAM, of Dorchester, Mass., free 1638. Drake says, his children were Wm. b. in England, 1620, d. in Dorchester, 1703; James, b. in England, 1623, d. in Dorchester, 1700; John, b. in England, d. in Boston, 1688; Edward, b. in England, d. in Milton, 1692, and Anna, m. Jacob Lagare of Boston. (Perhaps John, son of Wm., d. at Middletown.)

* BLINMAN, (Blynman,) REV. RICHARD, came from England to this country in 1641. Mr. Richard Blindman made a freeman in Mass., Oct. 7, 1641. (Gen. Reg. vol. 9, p. 189.) He first preached at Marshfield, for a short time; he is next found at Gloucester as founder of the church. About 1648 or 50, he became the first minister at New London. Several persons had been to Pequot before Mr. Blinman, and left there, and he probably was accompanied by other settlers. In 1649-50, about 40 families had located at N. L., some of whom proved the most valuable men in the Colony, viz., Gov. Winthrop, Tho's Miner, Avery, J. Morgan, Allyn, Samuel Lathrop, O. Bruen, &c. Minot, (Miner,) and Samuel Lothrop were formed into a court, for the trial of small cases at Tawawag, in 1649. In May, 1651, John Dyer testified that Mr. Blinman and another person from Pequet, were at Saybrook, and he ferried them over the river in a canoe, towards Pequett. In Feb., 1656, the Gen'l Court of Conn't, appointed Mr. Blinman, Mr. Warham, Mr. Stone, and Russell, to meet the "first fifth day of June, (then) next at Boston, to confer and debate the questions formerly sent to the Bay Court, or our own," with other divines from other Colonies, &c. In May, 1657, the Gen'l Court ordered the inhabitants of Mistick and Paugatuck, to pay Mr. Blinman his dues for the last year's service. (Col. Rec.) In May, 1667, Capt. Denison confessed he had wronged Mr. Blinman, and had spoken corruptly, by saying Mr. Blinman did preach for Paugatuck and Mistick being a town before he sold his land at Mistick. Mr. Blinman remained at New London about eight years; he then went to New Haven, where he is found in 1658, where the record says he was in want of corn, &c.; from New Haven he went to Newfoundland, and returned to England. Mather says he

* The first ministers of N. London. The Rev. Richard Blynman, was the first minister at Pequet, (N. L.) he came there in 1648 or 50, and had the Pastoral care of the church until 1658, when he removed to N. Haven. (See Blynman.) ?

Rev. Gershom Bulkley preached there for a time, and removed 1666.

Rev. Simeon Bradstreet ordained there in 1666 or 7, returned to Boston; he d. in October, 1683; Trum'l says 1670.

Rev. Gurdon Saltonstall, ordained there Nov. 25, 1691, he was elected Gov. of Conn't, in Dec., 1707, and d. 1724, aged 59, (removed Jan., 1707.)

Rev. Eliphalet Adams, ordained Feb. 9, 1709, d. 1753, aged 77.

Rev. Mather Byles, ordained Nov. 18, 1757, dismissed 1768.

Rev. Eph'm Woodbridge ordained Oct. 11, 1769, d. 1776, aged 31.

Rev. Henry Channing, May 17; 1787, d.

Rev. James Hillhouse, 2d church, installed Oct. 3, 1722.

Rev. David Jewett, 2d church, ordained Oct. 3, 1739. Dr. Trumbull says there seems to have been no church formed in N. London, until the ordination of Mr. Bradstreet, and probably neither Mr. Blynman or Mr. Bulkley were installed or ordained in the New London church.

"concluded his life at the city of Bristol, where one of the last things he did, was to defend in print, the cause of infant baptism." Miss Caulkins in her most excellent late History of New London, gives many new facts as to Mr. Blinman; she supposes he was a native of Gloucestershire, where he had preached—that Cape Ann was probably named Gloucester in compliment to him—that he remained at Gloucester or Cape Ann about eight years—that he probably m. in this country, and that the registry of births at Gloucester, shows his wife was Mary—and the births of three children, viz., Jeremiah, b. 20th of July, 1642; Ezekiel, 10th Nov., 1643; Azarikam, b. 2nd Jan., 1646, (Azrikam.). He is first found at Pequet, (N. L.) at a (155 town meeting, Nov., 1750; others came with him—he remained at N. L., until 1658, and the same year describes himself of New Haven. When he returned to his native country, he went to Bristol, in Gloucester County—his son Jeremiah was found in this country many years after his father's return to England. (Miss Caulkins.)

BLISS, THOMAS, SEN., though not an original proprietor in Hartford, had a house lot of 58 acres, and his son Tho's, Jr., had one of 59 acres of land, and they were of the number of Hartford settlers, who had certain rights of pasture for cows and swine, &c., by the courtesy of the town, not being original proprietors. Tho's, Jr. came to Hartford with his father's family, though he appears to have been a man over 21 years of age at the time. Bliss Tho's, Sen., was located south of Little river, in the south-west part of the village of Hartford, his lot bounded north on Tho's Selden, east on Paul Peck, and west on the road to John Barnard's. Tho's Bliss, Jr., had a house lot south of his father's, bounded north on the lot of Tho's Bliss, Sen., east on Henry Wakeley, and west on the road to John Barnard's, in 1640. Tho's Sen's. wife was Margaret, and his children born before he came to Hartford; he and his son Thomas, Jr., were both original settlers, and probably removed to Hartford with Mr. Hooker's company or soon after in 1636, from Cambridge, Mass., after which his widow and most of her children removed to Springfield. Their children were Mary Bliss, who m. Robert Chapman of Saybrook, April 29, 1642, was probably a daughter of Tho's, Sen., yet it is not certain; Thomas, Jr.; Nathaniel, d. Nov. 8, 1654; Lawrence, d. 1676; Samuel, d. March 23, 1720; John, d. Sept. 10, 1702; Mary, m. Joseph Parsons of Springfield, Nov. 26, 1646; Sarah, m. John Scott, July 20, 1659; Eliz'h, m. Serg't Morgan, Feb. 15, 1669; Hannah, d. Jan. 25, 1661: all were probably by their ages born in England, and came with their parents to N. England.

BLISS, THOMAS, JR., known on the Hartford record as Thos. Bliss, Jr., son of Tho's, Sen., removed after the death of his father to Saybrook, where he m. Eliz'th, in Oct., 1644; from thence he removed to Norwich, about 1660, where his children are recorded, viz., Elizabeth b. Nov. 20, 1645, b. at Saybrook; Sarah, b. Aug. 26, 1647, b. at Saybrook; Mary, b. Feb., 1649, b. at Saybrook; Thomas, b. March 3, 1651-2, b. at Saybrook, d. 1681, probably unmarried; Deliverance, b. Aug., 1655, b. at Saybrook; Samuel, b. Dec. 9, 1657, d. 1731, b. at Saybrook; Anne, b. Sept., 1660, the 2d white child b. in Norwich; Rebeckah, b. March, 1663, all except the two last were probably b. in Saybrook, before he removed. Thomas Bliss was fined in 1646, two shillings for neglecting to train at Hartford. In 1663, he was made free at Norwich with Tho's Adgatt, Simon Huntington, John Post, &c., from Norwich, and accepted by the Gen'l Court of Connecticut.

BLISS, NATHANIEL, son of Thomas, Sen., removed from Hartford to Springfield, in 1645, (about a year before his mother Margaret removed there;) he m. BLISS, EBENEZER, of E. Windsor, m. Ann Gaylord, both of Windsor, 1744; he d. 1776. John and Ann Bliss Executors; relict Ann. He gave his negro girl Patience, and one-third of all his personal estate forever to his wife Ann, also one-third of his real estate to her for life. To his daughter Ann Watson he gave all his lands in Colebrook, viz., to the heirs of her body begotten, and to their heirs forever. The remainder of all his estate he gave to his son John, by John's paying to his sister Ann Watson, £20; will dated March 28, 1768. Estate, £2139, 3s. 2d.

BLISS, THOMAS, (Rehoboth;) will dated 4 8^o, 1649; exhibited in Court June 8, 1649. Issue, Jonathan, the wife of Tho's Williams; Mary, wife of Nat'l Harman, son-in-law, Nicholas Ide; son Nath'l. Inventory taken by Stephen Paine and Rich'd Bowin, 1647; amount £117, 16s. 4d. (His. Gen. Reg. No. 15, 1282.) Bliss, Geo., removed from Lynn to Sandwich, 1637; John, Northampton, 1658; Moses and Jonathan lawyers in Springfield, 1774. Bliss has three coats of arms in England, (Burk.) This family have produced several eminent men.

BLISS, HESTER. In the old account book of Col. John Pynchon of Springfield, it is noted that Mr. Pynchon made a contract with Hester Bliss at Boston, to serve him a year for £4, and began her service with him Nov. 1, 1658. He paid for her at Boston, 2s. to the "Pinnacle Master," probably she had then arrived and owed the Pinnacle master a balance of 2s. for her passage. She was not of the Hartford family. She m. Edw'd Foster a servant in the family of Mr. Pynchon, Dec. 26, 1661.

BLISS, THOMAS, fined 2*s.* for neglecting to train March 4, 1646. Plaintiff in Court May, 1647, and Juror 1649.

BLISS, THOMAS, Wm. Baccas, and John Birchard of Norwich, were accepted to be made free Gen'l Court Oct., 1663.

BLISS, Goodman, is noticed on the Hartford town record Dec. 6, 1642, to have three acres of land of John Sables in Hart'd. Tho's, Sen., was ordered two acres of land near Hoccanum pound, as the committee should appoint, and Tho's, Jr., two acres near said pound by the town. Eight of this name have graduated at Harvard College, twenty-one at Yale College, two at Brown University and three at Williams College.

BLODGET, BLOGGET, BLOGHEAD, BLOGGOT, BLODGET. This name in the person of Thomas, of Cambridge, freeman 1636. Daniel Blodgett of Chelmsford, freeman 1652. Farmer notices that the name was anciently written Bloghead. This was not an early name in Conn. Thomas Blogget or Bloghead, was in Cambridge, Mass., 1641, where he made his will. His children were Daniel, Samuel and Susanna. Tho's and Susan his wife had a daughter Susan, b. at Boston 1637; Tho's d. 1639, probably son of Tho's, Sen. Samuel Bloget of Woburn free in 1690. Thomas Blogget, (glover,) aged 30, wife Susan aged 37, and sons Daniel aged 4, and Samuel one and a half years old, embarked in the Increase from London for New England, April 18, about 1635.

BLODGET, DANIEL and JOSIAH, from Woburn, Mass., were first settlers at Stafford, Conn., about 1718, as were Samuel, Paul, Joshua and Benzin Blodget first settlers at Stafford, and most of them original proprietors of the Town. Two of the name have graduated at Yale, and one at Cambridge College. Henry, of Suffield, m. Dorcas, and had Lois, b. April 6, 1731; Archippus, b. Aug. 16, 1733; Elijah, b. Nov. 1, 1736; Dorcas, his wife, d. Feb. 25, 175-; Roswell Bloget of E. Windsor, d. before 1782; Ebenezer Blodget d. and his widow Jerusha had dower set out to her before 1778, of East Windsor. Estate about £56. Elijah Blodget administrator gave bond with Josiah Blodget of Windsor, April 1759. Elijah Blodget of (East) Windsor, d. 1762; widow Hannah administratrix, April 1, 1762; Inventory exhibited in 1764, £113, 7*s.* 7*d.* Josiah of (East) Windsor, d. 1768; Abigail his widow administratrix; inventory, £152, 12*s.* 1*d.*

BLOGGET, DR. WILLIAM, of Plainfield, Conn., was probably at Plainfield as early as 1715, as he had practiced in his profession some years before 1721. He was highly approved of, as a Physician in Plainfield and Canterbury, and in 1721 he applied to the Gen'l Court for license to practice medicine, with full proof of his good moral character, and the satisfaction of the people of the town aforesaid of his skill and success, but his petition was negatived on the ground that he was illiterate and should not be reckoned with the members of any learned profession. (See Dr. Sumner's address before the Conn. Medical Society, 1851, p. 36.)

BLOOMER, and J. Scott of Long Island in 1663 had a controversy, and the Gen'l Court of Ct. appointed Mr. Wyllys and Matthew Allyn, to go to Long Island and settle the government on the west end of the Island as agreed at Hempsted in Feb., 1663, and settle the issue between J. Scott and Bloomer, and take in the Commissioners of those towns to regulate any disturbances there. Robert Bloomer in Conn., in 1664. Blomer two coats of arms. Blomer, or Bloomer, one.

BLOER, BLOWER, MR. PYAM, admitted freeman in Mass., March, 1689-90. Mr. Gilbert was permitted by the Gen'l Court, May, 1676, to transport thirty bushels of Wheat for Mr. Bloer to Boston, and 100 bushels for himself. The Council of Conn., Nov. 4, 1675, granted Mr. Stevens of Salem and his company liberty to transport 100 bushels of corn for their families' supply; and twenty bushels for Mr. Pyam Bloers. Mr. Bloers was probably in Conn., but was a citizen of Boston or Salem. Has one coat of arms.

BLOSS, JAMES, was voted not to be an inhabitant of Hartford, but he was allowed by the town to continue there until the spring of 1660.

BLOIS or BLOSS, EDMOND, had three lots at Watertown, Mass., in 1639; at Cambridge in 1641. The name is spelled on the Cambridge and Conn. records, Bloss, as it now stands recorded. Edmond removed to Conn., not as early as many other settlers. This name is now found in Litch'd County, Conn. Farmer notices EDMOND at Watertown, admitted freeman in 1639, and Francis freeman Camb'ge, 1641. Spelled at Watertown, Bloise, and Blois.

BLOICE, RICHARD, Anthany Beers, Sam'l Benjamin, Sam'l Barnard, John Barnard, Jno. Bush, John Bigolough, took the oath of fidelity in Mass., in 1652. Samuel Bloss graduated at Brown University, R. I. 1807. This name is now spelled Bloss in Conn.

BLOIS, has one coat of arms. Bloss (Ipswich,) one, (Co. Suffolk;) and BLOSS (Ireland,) two. BLOYS, has three.

BOYSE, MATHEW, made free in Mass., May 22, 1639.

BLOYS, RICHARD, aged 18 years, son of Richard Bloys, deceased of Killingly, on the 1st of Aug., 1746, at New Hartford elected Joseph Mackentire of New Hartford for his guardian.

BLOYCE, FRANCES, free 1641; also Joseph Boyse in 1642.

BLUET, JOHN, of Enfield, d. in 1763; Nathaniel Prior adm'r. Three coats of arms.

BLUMFIELD, WILLIAM, was freeman in Mass., 1635, and was an early settler in Conn. He was in the battle against the Pequot Indians in 1637—was in the land division at Hartford in 1639. He resided in Hartford south of Little river, east of Ralph Keeler's in 1640. He had land at south meadow in Hartford 1642. He had a son John baptized at Hartford, Aug. 23, 1645, and Samuel b. July 12, 1647, at Hartford, and other children. He was freed from training by the Gen'l Court in 1657-8. In June 1663 he took an appeal in Court held at Hartford to the Gen'l Assembly. He sold a house lot in Hartford to John Hale before 1640.

BLUMFIELD, RICHARD, had a son John baptized at Hartford Dec. 30, 1649. This is probably the name now known in Conn. and N. Jersey, as Bloomfield. Tho's Blumfield is noticed by Coffin and Farmer as of Newbury, Mass., in 1638, who removed to Woodbridge, N. Jersey, before 1668. His children were Mary, Sarah, b. 1643; John, b. March 15, 1646; Tho's, b. Dec. 12, 1648, Nath'l, b. 1651; Ezekiel, b. 1653; Ruth, b. 1659, and Timothy, b. 1664. These children were probably all born before Thomas removed to N. J. (Perhaps a brother of Wm. Blumfield who settled in Conn.)

BLOOMFIELD, DANIEL, was of Newtown, L. I., in 1655-6.

BLOMEFIELD has two coats of arms. BLOOMFIELD or BLOMFIELD, 2. BLOOMFIELD, 2. BLOUMFIELD, (Essex, 1.

Wm. Blumfield had four acres of ground where "the pound standeth East of the River," March 24, 1640. (This must intend west of the river, as there was probably no pound east of the river as early as 1640.)

BLUNT, HANNAH, a member of the church at Hampton, Ct., May, 31, 1730. One of this name graduated at Harvard College in 1727. Rev. John Blunt of New Castle, was a relative of the Frosts, Pepperells, Wentworths, &c. Joseph and Nath'l Blunt, and Edward and George, of N. Y., are his descendants. Rev. John Blunt m. Sarah Frost as early as 1713. Mary Blunt of Andover, m. Henry Gray, May 3, 1699. Wm. Blunt was a freeman in Andover, Mass., in 1691. Has one coat of arms.

BLUSH, BENJAMIN, of Colchester, m. Mary, and had a son Jeremiah b. March, 1746. JOHN BLUSH, of Colchester, m. Abigail, and had Susannah, b. March 2, 1755. Abraham Blush, was one of the grantees of "Brattle's Close," in Boston, in 1698, where Brattle Church was located, in Brattle Square. Abraham Blush, in the list of those able to bear arms in Barnstable, New Plymouth, 1643.

BOARDMAN, CAPT. ISRAEL, of the Brig Derby, went from England to Pensacola, Florida, where he owned a plantation. His 1st wife died there. He then moved to Stamford, Conn., where it is supposed his son William was born. His second wife, Miss Isabella Warriner, he married in Wethersfield, and returned to Pensacola, where he died; his widow returned to Wethersfield. His children were :

1. Betsey, died young at Pensacola.
2. Charles, was in New Orleans about the year 1800.
3. Sally, married Thomas Hall.
4. William, married Jennett Catlin, daughter of Mr. Ebenezer Catlin of Hartford.
5. Polly, married Cummings, and writes from Chelsea, England.

The following was copied from a New Haven paper, at the Historical rooms. "Just imported from Dublin, in the Brig Darby, a parcel of Irish servants, both men and women, to be sold cheap by *Israel Boardman at Stamford, 5th January, 1764."

BOARDMAN, WILLIAM, 4th child of Capt. Israel of Stamford, b. March 2, 1763, m. Jennett Catlin, b. Aug. 25, 1765, m. March 27, 1785. They had issue, Lewis Catlin, b. Feb. 17, 1786, m. Sophia Woodruff Dec. 1, 1814, d. Dec. 11, 1831, aged 53; Laura, b. July 23, 1788, m. Eli Wadsworth Sept. 24, 1809, d. 1844; Fanny, b. March 23, 1791, m. Wm. Webster, d. May 29, 1826; Catherine, b. Aug. 27, 1794, m. Leonard Winship, d. Jan. 22, 1816; Jane, b. March 20, 1801, m. Flavel Goldthwait Aug. 2, 1831, d. Nov. 9, 1845; Wm. L., b. May 29, 1806; Flavel, d. March 3, 1836; Charles H. Boardman, b. Aug. 26, 1810, m. Nancy Maria Holmes Nov. 2, 1835; Mr. Wm., the father d. May 29, 1821; Mrs. Jennett his widow d. Dec. 14, 1849. The Boardmans of Fairfield County are descendants of this Capt. Israel Boardman. This family are not known as relatives either of William Boreman of Guilford, in 1650, or of Samuel Boreman of Wethersfield, in 1640.

Boardman or Bordman has but one coat of arms, viz., Ar. a chev.

vert, bordured gu. Crest, A lion sejant, collared and lined or. Borman has three. Boardman has one. Bowman has six.

BORDMAN, ANDREW, Esq., deceased of Cambridge. Eliz'th Boardman daughter of W. H. Boardman of Boston, m. H. G. Otis. Ruth Bordman of Mass., m. John Higginson Dec., 1719. Thomas Boreman of Ipswich, 1648, about 1643, of Barnstable. Tho's Boreman and John Bowman were taxed in the Plymouth Colony as early as 1633. Tho's Boreman freeman at Boston as early as 1634. Tho's Boreman freeman at Ipswich, 1682. Thomas Boreman of Salem, free 1682. Jacob Boreman of Ipswich, m. the widow of John Rogers in 1699. The name of Boorham is found in New Jersey, and the name of Boorman in the city of New York.

BOREMAN, WILLIAM, was a plaintiff in Court in Hartford, Dec. 4, 1645, against John Stadder of Wethersfield. He appears to have been in the Conn. Colony for a time, though there is no evidence that he was a relative of Mr. Samuel Boreman of Wethersfield. William's name was not entered in the list of planters of Guilford, until 1650, and not on any list of freemen there; he was unmarried, or had no wife in Conn. Colony, or in Guilford. He died about 1659. "At a Particular Court held at Guilford, the 6th of Febuary Anno 1661," (1662, present style.) "An inventory of the estate of Wm. Boreman was presented by Henry Dowde and Wm. Seward, with whom the said Boreman sojourned, and left the chief part of his estate in custody, when he went away and perished in his journey." "The foresaid was proved in Court," and the just value thereof. "Mr. [Brayan] Rossiter requested on behalf of Thomas Dunk of Saybrook, and Daniel Butcher of Hawkhurst in Kent, Old England, brother-in-law to the said Boreman deceased, and so next of kin for aught that appears, that no alienation may be made of the estate so far as may occasion imparity of payment unto them or any that have just debts to claim from the estate after due trial." Daniel Butcher appears by the record to have been a brother-in-law of said Boreman; he was then in England; also by a letter found in his chest after his decease, this fact was confirmed. No evidence is found that he was in any way a relative to the Boreman family of Wethersfield. Wm. Boreman is noted in June, 1654, on the record at Stratford, "that he and Samuel Barrett had been ordered to wear a halter." (Under rates of Stratford.)

BORMAN, BOREMAN, BORDMAN, BOARDMAN, SAMUEL, Esq., was an Englishman; he probably came to Ipswich, Mass., as early as 1637, and either married his wife Julian in England or

Ipswich; a letter now found in possession of one of his descendants of Wethersfield, dated 1641, (see letter,) from Samuel's mother to her son Samuel, was directed to him at Ipswich; the exact time Mr. Borman removed from Ipswich to Wethersfield is not certain, his first child Isaac, was born at Wethersfield, Conn., Feb. 3, 1642; he probably was at Wethersfield, as early as 1641, with his wife Julian. It appears by the letter referred to above, that when Samuel left England, his father was living, as his mother writes her son "your Father hath been dead almost this two years"—that Mr. Samuel was married before he came to Wethersfield, his mother says at the close of her letter, "praying to God to bless you and your wife, unto whom we all kindly remember our loves, your ever loving mother Julian Borman." It also appears by the letter that when Mr. Samuel left England, his father's family consisted of his father, his mother Julian, his brother Christopher, and five sisters. Few of the numerous descendants of the first settlers of New England, have preserved as much evidence of their family in England, as is contained in this letter of the Borman family, in this well written (old red) letter of Julian Borman, the mother of the Bormans in Conn. Few of the first settlers of Conn. came here with a better reputation, or sustained it more uniformly through life, than Mr. Borman. As early as Oct., 1646, he was a Juror, also in 1647, and in March, 1648, &c. In 1649, he was appointed by the Gen'l Court, to the office of Sealer of all measures and weights in the town of Wethersfield; Mr. Borman was Deputy from Wethersfield to the Gen'l Court of the Colony, Oct., 1657, May and Oct., 1658, May, '59, May, '60, May, Aug. and Oct., 1661, May, '62, March, 1662-3, and many years afterwards; few if any gentleman in the Colony, represented his town at the Gen'l Assembly as many sessions as Mr. Borman. He was a member of the grand jury of the Colony in May, 1660, and was nominated for an assistant in May, 1670. Distributor of the estate of Mr. Williams in 1662. In 1662, the Gen'l Court appointed Mr. Samuel Borman and Serg't Nott to notify those in Wethersfield, indebted to the country in behalf of Mr. Cullick, to prepare payment, to enable the country to discharge such sums as should be charged by Gov. Winthrop, for procuring the charter for the Colony. Mr. Borman and James Steel, were appointed Oct., 1663, by the Gen'l Court, to lay out the bounds of Middletown, at the expense of the town. Mr. Borman, Mr. Chester, and Samuel Welles of Wethersfield were appointed Oct., 1664, to dispose of the estate of Nath'l Williams' wife, and pay the debts. Mr. Borman, Mr. Samuel Wyllys, Mr. James Richards, and Lieut. Samuel Welles, were desired by the Gen'l Court May, 1665, to settle the difficulty between the Indians, who dwelled about Middletown, and fix the bounds of the lands the Indians should have, in an equitable way. (See Col. Rec.) In Oct., 1660, a petition was pending before the Gen'l Court to settle a plantation at Thirty Mile Island, upon which the Court appointed a committee to view the place and dispose of it, as should be most suitable to attain the object; Mr. Wyllys and Wm. Wadsworth, were of the committee for Hartford, Mr. Allyn and Edward Griswold, Mr. Treat and Samuel Borman for Wethersfield, and John Hart for Farmington, with power to purchase such rights as the Indians owned there. (See Col. Rec. p. 354.) Borman of Wethersfield, and Nathaniel White of Middletown, (son of John White,) were desired by the Gen'l Court in 1665, to view the land Goodman Higby petitioned for, and report to the Court in Oct., 1665. The before stated fully proves the standing which Mr. Borman held and sustained in the Colony until his death. Mr. Borman's name was uniformly spelt upon the Wethersfield records "Borman" and Boreman until 1712, when the letter D was added to the name (Bordman;) many years after, the letter A was added to the name, as now spelt by the family, (Boardman,) and by so doing have lost the coat of arms of their original name and family. That the name was Borman, is proved by the record, by the pronunciation of the name down to this day in Wethersfield. But the signature of Julian Borman, in her letter to her son Samuel, in 1641, is strong, if not conclusive evidence that the original English name of the father and mother of Mr. Samuel, was Borman. (See her letter in note.) Coat of arms, Borman, (Devonshire and Somersetshire) has one, and two other coats of arms for the same name in England. Bordman has but one coat of arms, viz. Ar. a chev. vert, bordered, gu. Crest, A lion sejant collared and lined, ar. Samuel Borman d. about April or May, 1673. The inventory of his estate was appraised by the selectmen of Wethersfield, May 2, 1673, at £742, 15s. His son Isaac is not named in the settlement of his estate, perhaps he had previously received his patrimony.

BORDMAN, BENJAMIN, the 11th child, son of Daniel, Sen., had one son named Thaddeus, who lived on the west border of Mudge pond in Sharon. In 1786, the elder and younger Boardmans, of Sharon, sold their real estate to Frederick Lord, of Hartford, and went to the west. (Sedg.)

BORMAN, DANIEL, 7th child of Hon. Samuel, Sen., of Wethersfield, was b. Aug. 4, 1658. He married Hannah Wright June 8, 1683; Daniel the father d. 1724, aged 67 years; Hannah his widow, d. Feb. 25, 1746, aged 83 years; Daniel and Hannah had issue:

1. Richard, b. Sept. 1, 1684.
2. Daniel, b. July 12, 1687, first minister of New Milford, d. Aug. 1744.
3. Mabel, b. May 30, 1689, m. Josiah Nichols.

*The following is a copy of an original letter in 1641, by Julian Borman, to her son Samuel Borman, which was found carefully preserved by Wm. Bordman of Wethersfield, one of her 7th generation. The place where dated cannot be deciphered, but it is evidently written in England.

Good Sonne—I have receaved your letter; whereby I understand, that you are in good health, for which I give God thanks, as we are all—Praised be God for the same. Whereas you desire, to see your brother Christopher with you, he is not ready for so great a journey, nor doe I think he dare take uppon him so dangerous a voige. Your five sisters are all alive, and in good health and remember their love to you. Your Father hath been dead almost this two years, and thus troubling you no farthur at this time, I rest, praying to God to bless you and your wife, unto whome we all kindly remember our loves.

Your ever loving mother,

Julian Borman.

* BOARDMAN, TIMOTHY, of Wethersfield, 9th child of Dan-

* Joshua and Timothy Boardman, brothers, sons of Daniel, were active men. Joshua removed to Springfield, and Timothy settled at Wethersfield. They were large landholders in Maine, the west side of Broad Bay, and Gen. Knox's land thirty miles square, lay east of the Bay, opposite their lands. His title was from Waldo, who brought with him several German families from Germany, and located them on Boardman's lands, and left them, saying to them, that one Boardman was the owner, and that the heirs of the owner had given up all expectation of holding it. They held by no title except Waldo's putting in possession. Boardman's title was first purchased of the Indians by John Brown, twenty-five miles from Pamaquid, and eight miles wide. Another deed to Nath'l Stillman and Timothy Boardman, from Wm. Huxly and Mindwell, his wife (before marriage, Mindwell Pearse), of all the lands owned by them from their great-grandfather, John Brown, and their grandfather, Richard Pearse, at New Harbor, Misconogus, and Damascotte, &c., in the province of Maine, by warrantee Deed, Dated, Dec. 12, 1732, for the consideration of £400. Also all the lands of Nath'l Hamblin, and Mary. (Pearse,) his wife, to Nathaniel Stillman and Gersham Nott, of all their lands from their great grandfather John Brown, and grandfather Richard Pearse, at the places aforesaid, and all their other land east of the County of York. Also a deed from Eleasan Stockwell, and Sarah his wife, (Pearse,) for £400, to Timothy and Joshua Boardman of the lands aforesaid, deed dated Oct. 17, 1733, which they owned from their great-grandfather Brown, and grandfather Richard Pearse, and many other deeds to said Boardman; one for eight miles square. Wm. Frazier, son-in-law of Timothy Boardman, had three-quarters part of one eighth of a tract of land thirty by twenty-eight miles in breadth. The remainder was the property of said Boardmans, the deeds of which are now on record at York, Maine. This valuable tract of Country, was finally lost by the two actual and rightful owners, by suffering Waldo's and other trespassers, to hold it by possession; which lands are now worth several millions of dollars.

He was called the great gun of the gospel at Hartford.

* Rev. Benjamin Borman, of Hartford, will dated Dec. 14, 1801. He died Feb. 8, 1802, aged 71. He gave his wife Anna the use of all his estate, real and personal, during her natural life and widowhood. After her decease, he gave the remainder to his nephew, Benjamin J. Boardman, who lived with him, and to his heirs forever. His two servants, Sterling and Tom, he manumitted and made free, after the decease of himself and his wife. He ordered his Ex'rs to pay Sterling for his fidelity in his service $33, and to Tom $5.00. He appointed Tho's Y. Seymour, Esq., and Benjamin J. Boardman, his ex'rs. By a Codicil to his will, dated Jan. 9, 1802, he gave his wife $500 dollars in cash forever. He also provided that his servant, Sterling, who was aged and infirm, should remain in his dwelling-house during his life, as a reward for his fidelity. Inventory, dated March 12, 1802, being $8,130.

* Rev. B. Boardman had no children. When Benjamin his nephew was a boy ten or twelve years of age, Mr. Boardman gave him ten dollars in money. About two years after he enquired of the boy what he had done with the money he gave him. He replied, he had purchased sheep, and the sheep were then worth $25. He replied to the boy, you will do to have property, and I will give you all mine if you will call your name Benjamin, and come and live with me. The result is in his will.

3. Levi, b. July 28, 1795, lives in Sheffield, Mass. } Both have children.

Since 1740, or about that time, the name of Boardman came into the town of Preston, Conn., (tradition says from Wales.) He appears to have m. and had a son whose wife was Mary, by whom he had four children, viz., John, Jonas, Elijah, and Mary, and the father died and left Mary his widow. Benj'n Coit, who m. Abigail Billings in 1753, she having d. Jan. 27, 1760, Mr. Coit m. this widow, Mary Boardman, for his second wife May 28, 1760, and had four sons and three daughters by the 2d marriage. John Boardman above b. at Preston, removed from Preston, Conn., to Troy, N. Y., when that flourishing city was in its infancy, 1793, and became one of its founders; he d. there in June 4, 1813; he m. Clarinda Starbuck, a native of Nantucket, in 1800, and had children, viz., Wm. Coit Boardman, (Troy, N. Y.) m. Rosina L. Cox, of Washington, D. C.; Caroline Francis, d. early; Christopher Columbus, (now dead,) m. Clara Francis Guillod of London. He removed from Troy to N. York City, and d. in 1838, and left Clara Frances an only child, who yet survives. Henry Augustus, a clergyman in the city of Philadelphia, pastor of the 10th Congregational Church; he m. Eliza Beach Jones, of Charleston, S. C., and has five children now living; Mary Ann, resides in Troy, New York; Clarinda the mother d. March 2, 1846, in her old age.

BOARDMAN, JONAS, a brother of John and Elijah, I have no account of, only that he m. and had children, and moved to Norwich, Vt. Jonas deceased many years since, and left a large family.

BOARDMAN, ELIJAH, was b. at Preston, Sept. 25, 1753; m. first Miss Coit, and had children, viz.,

1. Fanny, who m. Mr. Abel, and had several children.
2. Mary, who m. Mr. Page. His wife d. and he m. for his 2d wife Sabrina Crocker, of Andover, Sept. 29, 1788, and had issue; 3. Elijah Henry, b. July 12, 1789; 4. John, b. March 12, 1791; 5. Eliza Crocker, b. Aug. 22, 1792, at Bennington, Vt.; 6. Wm. Coit, b. Oct. 22, 1794, d. Feb. 7, 1817; 7. Clarinda, b. and d. young; Elijah removed either from Preston, or Andover, Conn., to Bennington, Vermont, and from thence to Whitesborough, New York.

BOARDMAN, ELIZA, C., b. 1793, daughter of Elijah, m. Mr. L. Clerc, A. M., a French gentleman who returned with Mr. T. H. Gallaudet from France, and with him became one of the founders and teachers of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, at Hartford, Ct., where he has spent his life in that most useful employment, learning the dumb to talk, and the deaf to hear; being a mute himself, and his intelligent and amiable wife also. They have children, viz.,

1. Elizabeth, m. George W. Beers, son of Hon. S. P. Beers, of Litchfield; had two children.
2. Helen, d. young.
3. Francis, m. Jerusha S. Perry, Clergyman at St. Louis, Mo.
4. Charles, unmarried.
5. John, died young.
6. Sarah, m. Hon. Henry C. Deming, Counselor at Law, Hartford; has two children.

BOARDMAN, WILLIAM C., a brother of Rev. Henry Augustus Boardman, of Philadelphia, now lives in Troy, New York. He m. Miss Rosina Lausdale Cox, of Meridian Hill, in the District of Columbia, and has a son Henry Lausdale.

BOARDMAN, JOHN, son of Col. Elijah, of Whitesborough, removed to Huntsville, Ala., and d. in Miss., about 1844, aged 44 years.

BOARDMAN, ELIJAH H., son of Col. Elijah, also removed to Huntsville, and d. in Miss., 7 years since. About 1845, he m. Lucretia Miller, of Utica, N. Y., and had a daughter Caroline, who now lives with her mother in New York.

BOARDMAN, MARY, daughter of Col. Elijah, m. Rev. Mr. Pomeroy, of Northington, Mass., and d. without issue.

BOARDMAN, JOHN, — brother of Col. Elijah, removed first from Preston, Conn., to Lansingburgh, N. Y., about 1789 or '90, and from thence to Troy, in 1793, and was of the firm of Boardman and Hillhouse, and Boardman and Morgan, and became one of the leading and influential citizens, and one of the largest and most fortunate and successful merchants in Troy. It will be noticed that the first of this name at Preston, d. there as early as 1760, and that Mary his widow, m. Benjamin Coit for her 2d husband, and Mr. Coit's 2d wife, May 28, 1760, so that her four children by her first marriage, viz., Jonas, John, Elijah and Mary, were all b. before 1760, and her first son Henry Coit, by her 2d marriage was born in 1761. The Preston family have proved a fortunate and respectable family. There appear to have been in Conn., four distinct families. Mr. Samuel Borman, of Wethersfield, who was the first; William Boreman, of Guilford; Capt. Israel Boardman, of Stamford; and the one who came to Preston, who wrote his name Bordman. I find no record evidence that these four first families were relatives. I give this imperfect sketch of this branch of the Conn't Boardmans, for want of time to explain farther. One family of descendants of this stock, now reside in the town of Griswold.

BOWEN, JOSIAH, of Wethersfield, m. Susannah, daughter of Wm. Clark, Nov. 9, 1694. He was lost at sea in a storm, in the autumn of 1703.

BOURN, HENRY, of Barnstable, Mass., 1640.

BOON or BOEN, DANIEL, d. at Wethersfield, 1693. He appears to have been interested in the vessel "Sea Flower," of Southold, L. I., £139, 6s. 8d.; also an interest in the "Sloop Adventure," and gave his estate to Terza Hubbard, of Southold, L. I. It is supposed these are all of the same name, but differ in the spelling upon records.

BOARN, JOHN, of Middletown, m. Hannah Bacon, Oct. 1677; children, Ann, b. Feb. 3, 1680; John, b. Jan. 1, 1681-2, d. 1704; Tho's, b. Jan. 23, 1685; Joseph, b. Feb. 17, 1687; Franoes, daughter, b. Feb. 16, 1692; Nathan, b. Feb. 1, 1689.

Sarah Bowin, of Wethersfield, m. Zachariah Bunce, or Bunge, June 13, 1753, and had a daughter Sarah, b. March 8, 1755; W'm, b. 1757, James in 1760; Richard, 1766, and Simeon, 1768.

Joseph, son of John Boarn, m. Eliz'th, daughter of John and Elizabeth Martin, Dec. 2, 1710, and had issue, John, b. Sept. 16, 1711; Eliz'th, b. April 7, 1713; Joseph, the father, d. March 3, 1713-14.

John Boarn the first, was first at Wethersfield, but is found at Middletown a few years after its first settlement.

BOURNE, NEHEMIAH, freeman in Mass., 1641.

BOWEN, GRIFFIN, freeman Mass., 1639.

Bowen has six coats of arms.

BOURN, EBENEZER, of Marshfield, Mass., son of Thomas, d. there, Sept. 20, 1723. Several of this name have lived and d. at Marshfield.

BOWEN, HENRY, Roxbury, Mass., free 1689.

Bowen has been a good name in Rhode Island.

BOWEN, HENRY and JOHN, of Roxbury, Mass., were original signers for settling the town of Woodstock, Ct., in 1683.

Henry Bowen, Jonathan Smithers, John Frissel, Mathew Davis, Nathaniel Gary, Tho's Bacon, John Marcy, Peter Aspenwall, Benjamin Griggs, Geo. Griggs, John Lord and Ebenezer Morriass, were the thirteen first settlers of Woodstock, from Roxbury, Mass., in April, 1686. John and Henry Bowen both signed the agreement to move and settle Woodstock, in 1683. Henry Bowen d. at Woodstock, in the 90th year of his age, March 13, 1723-4. Bourn Geo., of Windham, 1740; his wife Elizabeth d. there, Feb. 6, 1742, and his son Benjamin d., Jan. 14, 1742.

Farmer mentions Garrett Bourne, Boston, about 1640, and had a son John b. there, 1643. Henry Scituate, 1637, removed to Barnstable; John, Salem, 1637; Nehemiah, Boston, freeman 1641; member of the ar. co., 1638—a shipwright; Richard, of Lynn, 1637. He notices Bowen Griffith, Boston, freeman 1639. Bowinge Thomas, Marblehead, 1648—perhaps three distinct families and names.

BOCKER, WILLIAM, at Hartford, 1640.

BODGE, EDWARD, letters of Administration granted on his Estate to Geo. Smith, and W. Adams, Aug., 1784, Hartford. Wm. Bodge, of Portsmouth, b. 1787.

BODINGTON, WALTER, (Budington,) of Groton, Ct., d. there in 1689. There was also his nephew Walter, Jr., administrator of his estate. This name now is, and for many years has been in New Haven County, and is now called Budington.

Capt. Samuel Buddington, of Stratford, Ct., at a late period. Rev. William I. Budington, Charlestown, Mass.

BOLGWAY, FRANCHWAY, a French boy, in whom Edward Turner had an interest, which interest the Gen'l Court allowed Turner in 1667, to transfer for twelve years to any person in the Conn. Colony, if approved by two assistants.

BOWLES, JOHN, is the first of the name found in this country; the exact time he came is not found; he with his wife Dorothy, were admitted to the church in Roxbury, in 1640, probably soon after they went to Roxbury. He had much to do with the free school at Roxbury, and one of its founders. The family refer back in England, to the 14th century, to find their ancestors, to Swineshead and Hough, in Lincolnshire, and to Oldfield Bowles, of North Aston, who m. Gertrude, daughter of Sir Richard Bamfylde, in 1768, for his 1st wife, and a daughter of Sir Ab'm Elton, Bart. of Cleardon Court Somerset, for his 2d wife, &c. This may be so, and John Bowles, of Roxbury, a descendant of the same family. He proved one of the best early settlers in Mass., as have many of his descendants since. He appears to have had no children by his wife Dorothy, she d. in 1649, and he soon after m. Eliz'th Heath, and had issue, Elizabeth, b. June 2, 1651; Isaac, b. 1652; John, b. June, 1653; and Mary, 1655; his 2d wife d. in 1665. John Bowles of the 5th generation, from John, Sen., of Roxbury, son of Joshua and Mary, removed to Hartford, Conn., where he was a baker; he d. and left a family at Hartford.

BOWLES, SAMUEL, son of Joshua, and brother of John, who was the great-grandson of John and Dorothy Bowles, the first of the name at Roxbury, Mass., was b. Aug. 4, 1762; Samuel learned his trade of Pewterer, in Boston, where he m. Sarah Harris. About 1785, he removed to Providence, R. I., and about 1790, removed with his wife and two children, to Hartford, Conn., and continued his trade for a few years, and then kept a store in Burr Street, where he resided; he died on the east side of Burr Street, March 31, 1813. Samuel and Sarah's children, were Samuel, b. 1786, d. young; Ralph H., b. 1787, d. at Hartford, July 2, 1828; 2d Samuel, b. 1788, d. young; John, b. June, 1789, moved to Mass.; Sarah H., b. March 27, 1792, d. at 18 years; 3d Samuel, b. 1793, also d. an infant; Josiah H., b. 1796; 4th Samuel, b. June 8, 1797, and Adelia, b. Dec. 13, 1800, where she now resides; Samuel, the 8th son, and 4th Samuel of Samuel, was a gentleman of talents, and for several years edited a political paper at Hartford, but a few years since he removed his family to Springfield, Mass., where he again became an editor of his own political newspaper successfully, and died at Springfield, in 1851, highly respected by his acquaintance. John Bowles, the son of Joshua, b. at Boston or Roxbury, in 1759, settled at Hartford before his brother Samuel, and died at Hartford, Sept. 24, 1808. He left children; his daughter Diedama, m. 1st Bolles, 2d Philemon Canfield, Esq., and resides in Hartford, also Joseph A. Bowles, of Newark, N. J., and others. Rev. Ralph Bowles, nephew of Samuel deceased, of Spring'd, is yet of Hartford. The Bowleses of Hartford, are descendants of John Bowles, Sen., of Roxbury, Mass., in all cases where the name is spelt with w, and where the name is spelled Bolles, are descended from Thomas, of New London. .

BOWLES, RICHARD, (or Vowles, or Fowles, Richard,) was made free of the corporation and sworn to the office of constable, for and within the plantation of Greenwich, for the year, or until a new one should be chosen, by order of the Gen'l Court of Conn., Oct. 9, 1662, and at a session of the Gen'l Court, (Oct.) 8, 1663, he was appointed constable for the town of Hastings, and Commissioner Bud ordered to give him his oath. Oct. 12, 1665, he is found a deputy to the Gen'l Court, also in May, 1669; he was an important and efficient man in the Colony. This name has been decyphered from the original record, Bowles, Vowles, and Fowles, the last was probably his name, as the last name is yet found in the vicinity of Rye, and neither Bowles, or Vowles, have been found there since.

BOLLES, THOMAS, came to New London, and was there as early as 1671. The precise time he came to N. L. is not known; one of his brothers d. at Boston without issue. Tho's settled at N. L., at the solicitation of Mr. Winthrop, who was then Gov. of Conn., (after 1656.) He offered ten young apple trees to each man who would settle there. Mr. Bolles had his ten trees, and set them near what is now the north-east part of the city; some of the trees were in bearing within the manhood of a grandson of Tho's Bolles, Sen., who lived to be over 90 years of age. Tho's purchased a place called Bolles Hill, where he died May 26, 1727, aged 84 years; he m. Miss Wheeler, of Stonington, July 1, 1669, and had issue, Joseph, Mary and John. He then dwelt about one mile north of the village of N. L., in a log house adjoining a large rock, which rock yet remains to mark to his posterity, the fatal spot of their ancestor's dwelling-house, and where his wife and two of his children were murdered. His son John, was born in August, or Sept., 1676, and when nine months old was the only one of the three children who survived; the murder of his mother, brother and sister had taken place, and John then an infant was found weltering in his mother's blood. Mr. Tho's Bolles left his family to go to N. L.; during his short absence a boy by the name of Stoddard, about 16 years old, whose father lived about one mile north of Bolles' house, at a place yet called Stoddard's Neck, on the Thames, came to the house of Mr. Bolles, and requested the loan of some article, which Mrs. Bolles refused him, and she expostulated with him for his dishonesty, in pilfering small articles; he became enraged and went to the wood-pile, procured the ax and returned to the house where she was sitting with her infant (John) in her lap, combing her hair. Stoddard gave her a fatal blow upon her head with the edge of the ax; he then killed the two older children, Joseph and Mary, who were playing upon the rock near the house, and spared only the infant. Mr. Bolles soon returned and found his family in this horrid condition. He was first examined and acquitted. An Indian was then arrested, taken to Hartford, and tried once and again, but finally acquitted. More than a year after, Stoddard was left at home by his parents to take charge of his little brother, while his father and mother went to an Indian powow, at Groton, to sell cakes; Stoddard to rid himself of the care of his brother, killed the child, (or supposed he had,) and immediately set off for the town to tell the magistrates to give the alarm, that the Indians had killed his brother: on the way he met two men; one returned with him to the house, and the other to the town to give the alarm. It resulted in charging Stoddard with the murder of his brother, which he confessed. He was then charged with the murder of Mrs. Bolles and her children, which he also confessed, for which he was tried and executed at Hartford. The affliction was so severe, that Mr. Bolles never m. a 2d time. He was a gentleman of respectability, and a Justice of Peace, he d. May 26, 1727, reputed to be aged 84 years. His son John was put with his aunt Bennet to nurse, afterwards of Norwich. July 3, 1699, John Bolles, the only living son of Tho's, m. Sarah Edgcomb, and had eight sons and two daughters, viz., Joseph, John, Tho's, Samuel, Ebenezer, Patience, Ziphorah, Isaiah, Enoch and Joshua. His children were John, d. young; Jeremiah, d. single; Edward, (a man of large estate, now of Hartford;) Lydia, m. Rev. Lucius Bolles, of Ashford, a cousin; Lucy, m. Lemuel Swift, of Hartford, both died; Doctor Geo. Bolles graduated at Yale College, and settled in Vermont, where he now lives unmarried.

BOLLES, NATHAN, settled in Hartford as a merchant, and m. at Hartford, and remained about fifteen years; he then removed to Agawam, W. Springfield, where he d.; he had issue, Peter, Nathan and two daughters.

RICHARD, son of Enoch, settled a few years at Hartford, and m. Miss Spencer, at Hartford, and soon after removed to Hudson, New York, where he had a shoe store for many years, and where he had a son and two daughters, perhaps others, and died there.

DAVID, son of Enoch, settled in Ashford, m. Miss More, of New London, and had issue, David, Jr., Matthew, Augustus, Lucius and Matilda; David, Jr., was a Judge of the C. Court; Matthew resided in Ashford; Matthew was the father of James G. Bolles, Esq., of Hart'd; John Augustus, late Secretary of State in Mass., and others.

JOHN AUGUSTUS, Esq., son of Matthew, graduated at Brown University, in 1829, settled as a lawyer at Boston, and was afterwards appointed Secretary of State, in Mass.

BOLLES, SAMUEL, of N. L., purchased of Sam'l Jennings, Sen., of Fairfield, for the sum of £50, land situated in New Fairfield, 1728-9; said Bolles also purchased of David Chittenton, of N. Fairfield, for the sum of £40, lands situated in New Fairfield, a part of the J. Hough farm, dated May 7, 1731; said Bolles also purchased of Benj'n Hough, of New Fairfield, another tract of land situated in said N. F., a part of the original purchase of his father Jonathan Hough, dated 1732.

BOLLES, EBENEZER, a trader at N. L., d. 1762, he left one child (a daughter,) about 17 years old, and an estate of £5000, L. M. He by accident was poisoned, but being a Rogerene, and the rules of that sect forbidding the use of medicine in sickness, he refused to take medicine or have a physician, until a short time before he expired, when those of the sect forbid it, lest he should deny the faith. (Ct. Gazette.)

BOULES, JOSEPH, of Welles, 1653.

BOWELIS, JOHN, freeman Mass., 1640.

BOWLES, RICHARD, was taxed at Cochecho, N. H., (Dover,) in 1666 and '7.

BOULES, JOSEPH, came from England, in the Speedwell of London, Robert Lock, master, bound for N. England, 1656, registered at Gravesend.

Bowles has twelve coats of arms in England.

Bolle alias Bolles, (originally of Bolle Hall, and subsequently of Hough, Co. Lincoln: from this family derived the Bolles of Scampton, extinct Baronets, and the Bolles of Thorpe Hall, whose co-heirs were Elizabeth Bolle, wife of Rev. Thomas Bosville, Rector of Ufford, and Sarah, m. to Henry Eyre, of Bramly Hall.) "Az. out of three cups or. as many boars' heads coupéd ar. Crest—A demi boar wounded in the breast with a broken spear." There is also a different coat of arms. (Worthington co. Suffolk; granted in 1528.) (John Burk's Heraldry.)

Bowles or Boles, one coat of arms. There is also one for Booles, Bolles or Bowles. (Suffolk and Staffordshire.)

John and Nathan Bolles, of Hartford, purchased of Thomas Sanford, land in Hartford for £123, lawful money, both of Hartford, Sept. 11, 1782.

The Bolles's of Hartford, Ashford and N. Fairfield, were from New London, descendants of Tho's Bolles, of N. London. No person of the name died at Hartford previous to 1700. Farmer says "John Bowles, Roxbury, (Mass.), freeman 1640; member of the ar. co., 1645. The name appears to be Bowelis in the Col. Records (of Mass.) John, perhaps son of John, graduated at H. C., 1671—Representative, 1689—Speaker of the H. Rep., 1690, and d. 1691."

Mary Bolles, daughter of Joseph, of Welles, m. Maj. Charles Frost of Kittery, and was the mother of Hon. John Frost, of New Castle, N. Hampshire, who d. 1732—3, aged 51.

Tho's Bowles, (so spelt) of N. London, was complained of to the C. Court in Hartford, March 12, 1671-2, by Matthew Griswold, and Lieut. Wm. Waller, for attempts by violence to drive them off their lands, resistance of authority, &c. Tho's Stafford, Geo. Chappell, Sam'l Tubbs, and many others of N. L., were in the same complaint. The descendants of John of Roxbury, spell the name Bowles, and the descendants of Thomas, of N. L., uniformly spell the name Bolles.

BOLES, RICHARD, was taxed at Cochecho, in 1658.

BOULES, JOSEPH, freeman of Wells, July 4, 1653.

Mary Bolles, daughter of Joseph, of Wells, m. Maj. Charles Frost, when he was 44 years old. (N. E. G. Reg.)

Daniel Warner, of Hatfield, son of Andrew, April 1, 1674; d. Sept. 22, 1710; Mary, b. ——— m. James Beebe, of Hadley, Mass., Oct. 24, 1667; d. Aug. 19, 1676.

BOLTWOOD, SERGT. SAMUEL, only son of Sergt. Robert, m. Sarah Lewis of Farmington, daughter of Capt. W'm Lewis, and Mary his wife; daughter Sarah, b. at Hadley, Oct. 1, 1672. Sergt. Samuel was slain by the Indians at Deerfield, Feb. 29, 1704. His wife Sarah survived him, and d. at Hadley, Aug. 10, 1722, aged 70 years, as her monument shews in the old burial ground in that place; they had ten children b. at Hadley between 1672 and 1696.

Sergt. Robert was the ancestor of Mr. L. M. Boltwood, of Amherst, Mass. Lydia Boltwood m. John Warner, April 2, 1674.

Dec. 7, 1648, the Court at Hartford adjudged Jarvis Mudge to pay to James Northam and Robert Boltwood, for his part of the damage they paid to Tantom Heage, if he had eight head of cattle trespassers, 37s. 6d., in good, dry, well conditioned Indian corn. (Col: Rec. p. 183.)

BOUGHTWHORD, ROBERT, (probably intended for Boltwood,) was made a freeman at Hartford, in May, 1658. In 1659, he signed the contract to remove to Hadley, Mass., to form a settlement there, which he performed.

BOLTWOOD, ROBERT, was one of the list of freemen "at the New Towne at 'Norwotuck,' March 26, 1661," and qualified as a freeman.

In 1668, the Gen'l Court granted Mr. Willys, 100 acres of land adjoining the pond he purchased of Robert Boltwood, about six miles from Tho's Edward's in the way to New London, (probably in Glastenbury.)

BOLT, FRANCIS, and his son Philip were of Milford, Dec. 28, 1646, when the home lots there were equally laid out. He was a free planter there in 1639. He d. in 1649.

BOLT, JOHN, (probably from Milford,) to Norwalk, m. Eliz'th Clemmons, daughter of Wm., of Stamford, Nov. 20, 1694; issue, Richard, b. April 30, 1696; Charles, Sarah, Abigail, John, Jr.; William and Benjamin, b. Sept. 26, 1718.

Bolt or Boulton has one coat of arms. Bolter has two coats of arms.

One of the Bolt family settled at Southbury, Conn., probably from Milford.

BOND, MR. ROBERT, of Southampton, Long Island, was a Magistrate in the Gen'l Court of Conn., with Mr. Thomas Baker, Ogden, Capt. Tappin, &c., from Long Island, May 19, 1659. Mr. Bond, Capt. Tapping, Mr. Ogden and Thomas Baker, were magistrates, (senators,) in the upper House of the Gen'l Court of Conn., May, 1660. Robert Bond, Baker and Mr. Rainer, were magistrates from L. Island, May 1661, &c.

Mr. Bond was appointed a Commissioner on Long Island, by the Gen'l Court of Conn., May, 1663, with "magistratical power on the Island." Mr. Bond and Mr. Mulford, of E. Hampton, L. I., were put "To ye election, May 12, 1664," but Topping and Mr. John Howell were elected magistrates, and Capt. John Younge. Mr. Mulford and Bond were appointed magistrates for E. Hampton, L.

I., and Mr. John Howell authorized to administer the oath to them, by the Gen'l Court of Conn., May session, 1664. These facts fully prove the exalted standing held by Mr. Robert Bond in the early settlement of Long Island, while under the government of Conn. The same name is afterwards found with Ogden, in New Jersey. Mr. Robert Bond and Mr. Moore of Southampton, L. I., were appointed, Oct. 25, 1644, by the Gen'l Court of Conn., to demand of each family of Southampton, the amount they would give for the maintenance of scholars at Cambridge College. He was several years a magistrate under Conn. on L. Island, and as such attended the Gen'l Court at Hartford, particularly in May 1659, '60, '61, &c. Mr. Bond of Southampton, and Mr. Wm. Mulford, of E. Hampton, L. I., were appointed Magistrates by Conn., in May, 1664. He was also made a freeman by Connecticut.

BOND, JOHN, and his wife Rachel, from Hebron, Conn., were admitted into the church at Hampton, Feb. 15, 1736; and Nathaniel Bond was admitted into the same church, Sept. 5, 1742. Rachel, wife of John Bond, d. at Windham, Nov. 27, 1758, aged 68. John Bond removed to Canterbury from Hampton.

BOND, BAILEY, of Wethersfield, d. 1757. Elizabeth his widow administratrix. Inventory, £140, 1s.

BOND, STEPHEN, from Conn. settled at Newark, N. J. He signed at Branford the regulations got up and entered into for the government of Newark, in 1666 or '7, by a company from Branford. Mr. Bond, Ward and Tho's Johnson in 1675, were appointed to hold a monthly court for the trial of small matters at Newark, N. J., and were "chosen by papers," (votes.) Robert Bond was of a Committee to settle the line between Newark and Elizabethtown, N. J., in 1668. John Brown, Jr., was sealer of weights and measures at Newark, in 1686-7, and the half bushel of Benjamin Baldwin, or Seth Davis, was ordered to be the standard for measures. He was appointed to make the rate for Newark, in 1675-6. (Cong.) NATHANIEL BOND of Watertown, Mass., 1690, made free—also GRIMSTONE BOND, free 1690. BOND, LIEUT. WILLIAM, made free in Mass., March, 1689-90. BOND, NICHOLAS, free in Mass., 1652. BOND, WILLIAM, of Mass., free 1682. Eight of the name of Bond have graduated at Cambridge, and one at Yale College; one at Trinity.

BOND, NATHANIEL, late of Watertown, 1707, purchased 200 acres of land in Canterbury, of Ob Johnson, and Samuel Adams. He m. Elizabeth Backus, in 1714, and had issue, b. in Canterbury, viz., Nath'l, b. 1716; Elizabeth, b. 1717; Stephen, b. 1719; Jonas, b. 1720 ; Rebecka, b. 1726 ; Bethuel, 1728 ; Jonas, Bethuel, and perhaps some of the others had families. They were formerly numerous in Canterbury—Few of them are left in the town. Jonas was Deacon in Westminster. (Learned.)

She died in 1831, aged 70. Rev. Publius Virgil Booge, son of Rev. Ebenezer, graduated at Y. College in 1787; he died in 1836, in the State of New York, aged 73 years. (Nothing is known of his family.)

Bogue has one coat of arms. Bouge has one.

BEON or BOON, G., on oath testified that "hee heard it expressed, by those that heard it expressed, by those that spake in behalf of Fairfield at a Gen'l Court, that they did not desire the land above the Necke," May 1657.

BOOSY, BOOSEY, MR. JAMES, was an early and a leading settler at Wethersfield, as early as 1639, when he was clerk of the train band. He was a gentleman of large estate; the inventory of his estate presented in Court, Aug. 4, 1649, was £983, 8s. He was a Deputy to the Gen'l Court of Conn., in April and Sept., 1639—April, 1640—June, 1640—vijth, 1640—April, 1641—April, 1642—1643—Feb., 1643—April, 1644; also two sessions in '44; four sessions in '45; three sessions in '46; one in '47; two in 48; and in May in 1649. He was also a juror in Court at Hartford, Dec., 1641, and afterwards. Mr. Boosey with Hon. Edward Hopkins, Hon. John Haynes, Gen. John Mason and John Steel, were appointed a committee on the part of Conn., in the articles of agreement with Hon. Geo. Fenwick "of Sea Brooke Forte," Dec. 5, 1644—for the purchase of the Fort and appurtenances enumerated in said article; also all the land upon Conn. River, (of his,) and of such lands as were then undisposed of, should be given out by a committee of five persons, of which Mr. Fenwick was to be uniformly one. (See printed Col. Rec. Vol. 1. p. 26, '7, '8, &c.) In Sept. 1645, he was appointed by the Gen'l Court, to bring into Court a just account of all particulars of the charges of the (then late wars, and for the support of Uncas. The office of juror was a high and responsible one, which he often filled in Court. He, with the Governor, Dept. Governor, Capt. Mason, &c., were appointed by the Gen'l Court in Oct., 1644, a Committee to consult with Mr. Fenwick, concerning the fortifications at the River's mouth, &c. These facts fully show the respectable standing of Mr. Boosy in the Colony. His wife's name was Alice; at his decease he had a family of daughters. One supposed m. Foot, 1649, Mary, b. Sept. 10, 1635, m. Sam'l Steel of Farmington; Hannah, b. 1641, m. John Pratt; Sarah, b.

Nov. 12, 1643, m. Nath'l Stanly; his only son, James, b., 1645, d. young. Mr. Boosy therefore left no sons to perpetuate his name in this country; tho' his blood yet flows in the veins of the Pratts, Steels, and Stanleys. Mr. Boosy probably d. in 1649, and his widow Alice Boosy, m. James Wakely for her 2d husband. The Colony record, Feb. 23, 1652, says, "This Courte Judges the Deputyes actyon in marring James Wakely and the Widdo Boosy, to be le-gall." This proved a most unfortunate union for them both, and Mr. Wakely made ample provision for her future support, left her, and removed himself to Rhode Island, where he probably died. Mr. Boosy at an early period, 1641, had six lots of land recorded at Wethersfield. (B. 1. p. 142.)

BOOTH, SILAS, son of James Booth, Jr., d. 1818, and left issue, Isaac P., Eliza, Mariah, Nancy, Susan and Silas C. Booth; the last is now a merchant at Bridgeport, Conn.

BOOTH, DAVID, son of Joseph, Sen., settled at Unity. His wife Ann, was of the Communion at Unity, in 1731, and David her husband was at the Communion there March 19, 1732. Sarah the widow of Mr. Eph'm Booth, deceased, was admitted to the church in Unity, in 1740. Those of the name in Trumbull, are generally descendants of David Booth. Isaac P., son of Silas Booth, now resides in Stratford, where his father had lived.

BOOTH, DAVID, and Ann his wife, of Unity, (N. Stratford,) descendants of Richard, of Stratford, had issue b. at Unity, viz., Ann, b. March, 1731; David, Jr., b. Oct. 10, 1733; Peter, b. May 25, 1736; Reuben, b. June 22, 1739.

Ephraim Booth, and Sarah his wife, were at Unity in 1731. Zachariah Booth, and wife Eliz'th, had a son b. at Unity, in June, 1749. The Booths formerly of Farmington, Roxbury, Southbury, Trumbull, Bridgeport, &c., are descendants of Richard, of Stratford. David, Jr., (son of David, and Ann his wife,) m. Prudence, and had a daughter Joanna, b. May 6, 1754, and others at Unity. Eph'm Booth, Sen., m. Mary Osborn, at New Haven June 9, 1675.

BOOTH, EPHRAIM, and Sarah his wife, had a daughter Charity, b. at Unity, June 21, 1731; Rachel, b. May 19, 1741; Ann, b. March 17, 1750; (Sarah, b. March 24, 1754, by his wife Phebe,) perhaps others. Sarah the widow of Mr. Ephraim Booth deceased, was admitted to the church in Unity, in 1740; she was probably the mother of the above Eph'm, and he a grandson of Richard.

BOOTH, EPHRAIM, SEN., of Stratford, propounded for a freeman Oct., 1671.

BOOTH, ANDREW, and Sarah, of Unity, had Joseph, b. July 21, 1738; Eunice, b. April 12, 1740; Phebe, b. July 21, 1742, (baptized by Rev. R. Minor, at Unity;) Sarah, b. Sept. 17, 1749; Mehitabel, b. July 15, 1752.

BOOTH, EPHRAIM, and Ann, wife of David Booth, were of the first church in Unity, (N. Stratford,) Nov. 18, 1730. Eph'm, son of Eph'm Booth, admitted Aug. 26, 1733. Sarah Booth, widow of Mr. Eph'm Booth then deceased, was admitted to said church in 1740. Sarah, wife of Andrew Booth, admitted at Unity, June 19, 1743.

BOOTH, THOMAS, from New Haven to Milford, had a lot of one acre granted him in Milford, (by the Gen'l Court held at Milford Sept. 25, 1654,) to build upon. Milford gave him five acres in 1659.

Farmer mentions Robert Booth, Exeter, 1645, representative of Saco, 1659, b. a 1604.

BOOTH has twenty-one coats of arms. One of them viz., Ar. three boar's heads erect and erased sa, langued gu. Crest—A lion pass. ar. Motto—Quod ero spero. Bothe has three, and Boothby has one coat of arms.

BOOTH, JOHN, of Shelter Island.

ROBERT SEELY,
DANIEL LANE,
GILES SYLVESTER."

Record in Southold, Town Records, the 23th Jan'y, 1661, by me.

WM. WELLS, Recorder.

I certify the above to be a true copy from the record, with the exception of two or three words which were mutilated. This certificate is subscribed by the son of Thomas Booth, of the town of Hamptonburgh, (formerly Wallkill,) County of Orange, and State of New York, who was the son of Benjamin Booth of the same place, who was the son of Charles of the same place, (formerly of Southold, L. I.,) who was the son of Charles of the last place, and who was the son of Ensign John Booth, of Shelter Island (L. Island,) who left four sons, viz., John, Wm., Thomas and Charles. Dated Goshen, Or. Co. N. York, June 1, 1849. Jno. B. Booth.

rah Booth, early m. into the Pease family. Robert Booth, of Saco, sworn a freeman in Mass., 1653. Lyman Booth, freeman at Malden, 1680. Booth was an early New England name from the west of England.

BOSTWICK, ARTHUR, (Bostock, Bostick,) was from Cheshire in England, and settled at Stratford, Conn., with his wife and sons John and Zachariah, as early as 1650, where the name is spelled Bostock, Bostick, &c., on the record. In 1659, his wife petitioned the Gen'l Court regarding her husband's lands; said Arthur agreed that the Court should appoint Mr. Blackman, Goodman Beardsley, Mr. Fairchild and Joseph Judson, of Stratford, to be a committee to settle the question, and in May, 1660, the Gen'l Court confirmed "ye act of the Committee at Stratford, about Arthur Bostock's estate." Mr. Bostock had a large landed estate in Stratford. Soon after 1660, Arthur gave most of his estate by contract to his son John, in which John stipulated to support his father, and "find him a horse when he wished to ride forth," &c. His son John of Stratford, was nominated for a freeman, Oct., 1668. Arthur and John were both in the list of freemen at Stratford, in 1669.

ZECHARIAH, probably the 2d son of Arthur, was not made a freeman, though land is found conveyed to him about 1678. From the different deeds I am inclined to believe that Arthur, Sen., had sons John, Zechariah and Arthur, yet have no positive evidence to prove it so, except in the case of the first, John.

JOHN, son of Arthur, Sen., removed to New Milford, in 1707, the 2d settler in the town. He had seven sons b. at Stratford, viz., 2d John, b. 1686; Robert, Ebenezer, Joseph, Nath'l, b. 1699, Lemuel, b. 1704, and Daniel.

BOSTWICK, MAJ. JOHN, son of John, Sen., b. 1686, resided at New Milford; he m. Mercy Bushnell, of Danbury, daughter of Francis, Jan. 3, 1712, and had issue, Bushnell, b. Nov. 16, 1712, d. BOSTWICK, BUSHNELL, son of John, m. Mariam Skeeles, of Woodbury, Jan. 26, 1737, lived (on Second Hill,) in New Milford, and was an important man in the town and Colony. He was Justice of the Quorum in Litchfield County from 1762, to 1776—he was thirty sessions a member of the Gen'l Assembly from N. Milford; the different members of the family had represented the town of N. Milford in the Gen'l Assembly of the Colony and State seventy-six sessions before A. D. 1800, except Col. Elisha, was last elected in 1815. The children of Bushnell and Mariam, were Jonathan, b. March 27, 1738, d. March 16, 1812; Shadrack, b. Sept. 25, 1742, d. June 30, 1825; Mabel, b. Sept. 4, 1744, d. April 29, 1818; Israel, b. Aug. 7, 1749, d. July 11, 1826, and Mercy, b. Aug. 7, 1749, (twins,) d. 1820.

ERASTUS, the 5th child of the first Jonathan Bostwick, m. Sally T., daughter of Rev. Whitman Welch, of Williamstown, Mass., Feb. 10, 1793, and settled in Hinesburgh, Vt., where he was the first Post Master, Justice of Peace, Representative two years in the Gen'l Assembly, and Town Clerk and Treasurer forty years.

SHADRACH, the 2d child of Bushnell Bostwick, never married.

MABEL, the 3d child of Bushnell, m. Dr. Jonathan Downs, of N. Milford, and had an only child who lived to marry.

MERCY, the 4th child of Bushnell, m. Elizur Bostwick, and had children.

ISRAEL, the 5th child of Bushnell Bostwick, m. Eliz'th Mallory of Bethlem, July 12, 1767, and had issue, Eliz'th, b. — d. 1812; Lois, b. 1770, d. March 22, 1846; Caleb Noble, b. April 28, 1772, d. July 29, 1849; Alanson, b. Feb. 17, 1774; Jared, b. 1778; Polly, 1779.

BOSTWICK, JOHN, the 2d son of the 2d John, lived in the north part of N. Milford. He was many years a deacon in the church. He m. Jemima Canfield, of N. Milford; issue, Jesse, Edward, Matthew, Gilbert, John and Nathan.

BOSTWICK, BENAJAH, the 3d son of the 2d John, m. Hannah Fiske, Feb. 2, 1742; issue, David and John.

BOSTWICK, REV. DAVID, the 4th son of 2d John, b. 1720, m. Mary Hinman, of Southbury, July 30, 1739, and had issue, Andrew, David, Wm., James, Mercy, Polly, Hannah, Amelia, Lucretia, and Nancy. Rev. David Bostwick was a minister of the old Wall street Presbyterian Church in the city of N. York. He was first settled at Jamaica, L. I., and transferred to the Wall Street Church in N. Y., 1756. He d. in charge of the latter church Nov. 12, 1763; he was a man of piety, and exalted reputation in his profession.

BOSTWICK, SAMUEL, 5th child of 2d John, m. Anna Fiske, March 28, 1748; issue, Col. Elisha, b. Dec. 17, 1748, d. Dec. 11, 1834; Jared, b. Aug. 9, 1751, d. April 3, 1778; Samuel, b. Jan. 19, 1775, d. April 3, 1799. Col. Elisha, son of Sam'l, resided in New Milford, where he was universally respected. He was Lieut. of the first company mustered at N. Milford, to meet the British troops at Boston—he was afterward a Col. of militia—he was Town Clerk of N. M., over fifty years—he was fifteen sessions a member of the Gen'l Assembly of Conn., and a Justice of Peace most of his life—he m. Betty Ferris, May 14, 1786, and had three children, Jared, b. May 24, 1787, now living; Betsey Ann, b. July 11, 1792, (m. Hon. Wm. M. Burrall for his 2d wife, she has since deceased without issue;) Samuel R., d. aged two years.

Milford, to Manchester, Vt., in 1792, and thence to Jericho, Vt. Nath'l, 2d son of Arthur, the first child of Nath'l, removed to Jericho, Vt., 1788. The New Haven Bostwicks, are of this family from New Milford. It will be noticed by the few cases extracted above, that many of the Bostwicks of New Milford, removed to Vermont, N. York and Ohio, and few of the original Puritan families of Stratford and New Milford, have succeeded better than that of Arthur Bostwicks. (Most of these facts are extracts from a genealogy collected by Erastus Bostwick, and Stratford record.) Bostock has three coats of arms. Five of the name have graduated at Y. College, and two by the name of Bostick, at Harvard College.

BOSTOCK, LAUGHTON, shipped for Virginia, in 1635, "imbarqued in y^e merch't Bonaventure, James Riecrofte, mr. bound thither;" took the oath of allegiance.

Jo Bowes, Jo Bowton, &c., embarked for Virginia in the Assurance de London, Isaac Bromwell and George Peauise Master, 1635.

Bows has two coats of arms.

BOWERS, MORGAN, and Wm. Hyde, both testified before Gen'l John Mason in May, 1673, that they remembered Obid the Indian ; that he was four years a servant to Mr. Fenwick at Saybrook ; and that Mr. Fenwick engaged to give him a parcel of land not less than four acres ; and that Obid's father possessed the land before his time was out. Obid's rock, so called in Saybrook, received its name from Obid's offering a deer on this rock to the great spirit. The Dept. Governor in May, 1666, was requested to give the freeman's oath to Morgan Bowers, "of Norridge."

BOWERS, MORGAN, Norwich, 1660. He is said by Miss Caulkins, to have been illiterate and thriftless, and was the first case of penury in Norwich ; and in 1700 was one of the few surviving proprietors of Norwich.

BOWERS, RUTH, m. John Frisbie, of Branford, Dec. 2, 1674.

BOWERS, JOHN, of Branford was proposed for a freeman, 1669.

BOWER, AZEL, and Susannah his wife, of East Windsor, deeded land to Moses Mills, of New Hartford, situated in West Hartford, April 9, 1777.

BOWERS, REV. JOHN, from Cambridge, Mass., (if found at Guilford, Ct., owning a house and lot there ;) from thence he went to N. Haven, and was afterwards ordained at Derby, before 1680 ; he had occasionally preached at Guilford after the removal of Mr. Higginson—He was the first settled minister at Derby, where he remained a few years. Rev. Joseph Moss succeeded him, and was ordained there about 1706. Mr. Bowers left Derby and went to Rye, about 1688. A John Bowers was a land holder at Greenwich, in 1672.

BOWERS, REV. BENJAMIN, b. at Roxbury, Mass., graduated at Harvard College in 1733, and settled in the ministry at Middle Haddam, Conn., Sept 14, or 24, 1740, and d. May, 1761, aged 45. His descendants are now in that part of Conn.

BOWERS, REV. NATHANIEL, succeeded Mr. Wakeman, about 1716, previous to Rev. Mr. Whittlesey at Newark, N. Jersey. In Aug., 1716, it was voted by the town of Newark, to choose a committee, "to see out some way to procure a minister for the Town, to supply the place of Mr. Nath'l Bowers, deceased." (Cong.)

Bowre has one coat of arms. Bower has ten. Bowers has three coats of arms.

BOWERS, EBENEZER, aged 19 years, of Windsor, 1726, chose Mathew Grant for his guardian. The name is yet at Wind'r.

BOWMAN, NATHANIEL, (Inn-holder at Wethersfield in 1706-7.) He died unmarried without issue, in 1707, and gave his small estate to Samuel Buck, of Wethersfield.

This name was Bowman, and not Boreman or Boardman ; he was a single man and lived in the family of Samuel Buck. John Bowman was taxed in the Plymouth Colony as early as 1633. Solomon Bowman was a Lieut. in Capt. Lock's Company, Col. Gardner's Regiment of Cambridge, in July 1775. Nath'l Bowman, freeman in Mass., 1630. Wm. Boman, an Indian of Naticke, in Mass., 1656. Francis Bowman took the oath of fidelity in Mass., 1652. Only one of this name ever resided in Wethersfield.

BOWTON, BOUTON, BOUGHTON, JOHN, appears in the list of early settlers at Norwalk, in Conn., as early as 1655, where he is found in the Table "of Estates of lands and accommodations;" he probably came from Mass. to Conn. Rev. Mr. Hall states in his Genealogical Register of Norwalk, that Mr. Bowton was a French Protestant, and that the name is yet in France and Germany; it is also in England. The name of Boughton has eleven coats of arms. Bowden has five, and Bowton has one, in Burk's Heraldry, and some of them are quite ancient. He was at Norwalk several years previous to the Edict of Nantz, and the time of the general escape of the Huguenots to this country to avoid the persecution of the French Government. Mr. Bowton proved a highly respectable settler, and represented Norwalk in the Gen'l Court of Conn., Oct., 1671—Oct., 1673—May, 1674—May, 1675. John Bowden and Mark Sension, Oct., 1676. John Boughton, May and Oct. 1677, &c.

BOWTON, JOHN, had his certificate and was examined by the minister of Gravesend, in England, of his "conformitie in o' Religion," and took his oath of allegiance to be transported to Virginia in the ship Assurance, in 1635.

BOWTON, JO, embarked for Virginia in the Alice, Richard Orchard master, July, 1635. One of these men was probably the John Bowton found at Norwalk, Conn, in 1655.

Ma. BOWTON, probably was twice married. His daughter Bridgett, m. Daniel Kellogg, of Norwalk, in 1665, who must have been born before her father came to Norwalk. John Bowton married Abigail Marvin, daughter of Mathew, Sen., (for his 2d wife,) January 1, 1656, and had issue, John, b. Sept. 30, 1659; Mathew, b. Dec. 24, 1661; Rachel, b. Dec. 6, 1664; Abigail, b 1670; Mary, b. May 26, 1671.

BOWTON, DEACON JOHN, son of John, married and had two sons, Jakin and Joseph.

BOWTON, JAKIN, grandson of John, Sen., m. _____ and had by his first wife, viz., Joseph and Sarah; and by his 2d wife, Esaias and Moses, and several daughters.

BOWTON, JOSEPH, son of Jakin, m. Susannah, daughter of Joshua Raymond, Aug. 25, 1748, and had sons William, Joshua, Joseph, Jr., Seth, Ira and Aaron; and daughters Rebecca, Betty, Nancy, Susannah and Deborah. Joseph was an officer against the French Provinces, in 1758-9.

BOWTON, WILLIAM, son of Joseph, m. Sarah Benedict, in 1769, and had issue; Isaac, d. in infancy; 2d Isaac, Wm., Jr., Betty, Esther, Sally, Clara, Seth, Joseph, Susannah, John, Mary, Ann and Nathaniel.

Joseph, son of Joseph, was killed at Red Hook, N. Y., during the war of the Revolution. Seth was killed by falling from a tree. Joshua went into the army as drummer; was taken prisoner and placed on board a ship of war, and so continued until peace was declared, and afterwards became a Sea Captain. (See Hall's Record of Norwalk.) This family have been connected by marriage with several of the best early families in Connecticut.

BOYD, JOHN, of Kenilworth, m. Judith Bartlet, March 28, 1676, and the name is yet found in that part of Conn. Francis Boyed deceased of Woodbury, was b. in Killingworth, and d. quite aged at Woodbury, several years since. This name has been an old and respectable family at Winsted. Dorothy Boyd, of Killingworth, m. Richard Carr, Feb. 10, 1684. Peter Boyd of Hartford, d. 1780. The name is found in Rhode Island and Maine. The name of Boyd has ten coats of arms, and Boyde has one.

BOYES, SAMUEL, of Saybrook, m. Lidia Bemond, daughter of Wm. Beament, Feb. 3, 1667, and had issue; Joseph b. in Barbadoes, and d. at Saybrook, March 22, 1682-3; Michael, b. May 26, 1683; d. same year: Samuel the father, d. Oct. 4, 1683, aged 48 years. Mr. Samuel Boyes was an Inn-keeper at Saybrook, in 1682.

BOYSON, THOMAS, had one lot of land, in Watertown, Mass., at an early period.

Boyce or Boyse has one coat of arms. Boyes has six. Boys has twenty-two coats, and Boyze two—and Bois has three coats of arms.

BOYSE, MATHEW, freeman in Mass, in 1639. Joseph Boyse free in Mass., 1642.

BOYKEN, NATHANIEL, of N. Haven, presented for a freeman in May, 1669.

BRACKET, Mr. JOHN, of Wallingford, Deputy, Oct., 1671—Deputy, May, 1672—Commissioner for Wallingford, May, 1672—Deputy, Oct., 1673—Deputy, Oct., 1674—Deputy, May, 1675.

William Bracket was sent by John Mason, Esq., of N. H., to New Hampshire, as a laborer.

Though the name is written Bracket, it may have been John Brocket, who was in the New Haven Colony, and yet has several descendants in Conn.

Rich'd Bracket, free, Mass., May, 1636. Peter Bracket had a son John, b. at Boston, 1641; Joseph, b. 1642. Richard Bracket had a daughter Mary, b. in Boston, 1641. Anthony Bracket, Mass., 1694. Peter, free, 1643.

John, of Boston, free 1666. John, of Billerica, free 1670. James, free, of Boston or Charlestown, Mass., 1673. James, free, of Beverly, 1675. Peter, of Billerica, free, 1680. Eliz'th Brackett m. Samuel Bass, 1772; her mother was Ann Rawson.

BRACY, JOHN, m. Mary, daughter of Jonathian Webster, Feb. 22, 1705-6; he died at Wethersfield, Jan. 19, 1709, an aged man.

BRACY, HENRY, and his wife Ann Collier, m. Jan. 30, 1706, of Hartford; had issue born in Hartford, viz., Ann, b. Dec. 28, 1707; Phebe, b. Jan. 6, 1707-8, d. Feb., 1708; 2d Phebe, b. Dec. 23, 1710; Henry, Jr., b. March 15, 1713.

BRACY, STEPHEN, m. Hannah Lane, or Law, March 30, 1701; issue, Nath'l, b. Oct. 30, 1711; Sarah, July 1, 1713; Samuel, b. Sept. 4, 1716; Abigail, b. June 19, 1718; Benj'n, b. Feb. 5, 1719, and Ruth, b. Sept. 19, 1722.

Thomas Bracy was taxed at Hadley, Mass., in 1682. Bracy has four coats of arms, and Brasy one.

It was voted at Hartford, in 1683, that Stephen Bracy, Ensign Stanly, Mr. Cyprian Nichols, Joseph Bull and David Ensign, should have all the land in rear of their lots, in the way to Rocky Hill, down to the river, &c. The name of Brace and Bracy, are often found on the same deed. Eliz'th Bracy gave a deed to her son Henry, and Elisshabe Bliss her daughter, of land in Hartford, in 1810, and signed her name Elizabeth Brace, perhaps the same name.

BRACKET, JOHN, was appointed by the Gen'l Court of Conn., to lay out to John Stone the land granted Stone, Oct. 12, 1671.

BRACKET, BENJAMIN, presented for nomination for freeman from New Haven, 1669. (Perhaps Brocket.)

BRATFIELD, LESLEY, in Wethersfield, in 1641, was a plaintiff in Court at Hartford, against Thomas Coleman, in 1643. By the will of Edward Vier, of Wethersfield, he gave Lysly "Bradfield" three pounds," July 19, 1645. Bradfield belonged to Totokette, as noted in Vier's inventory, as debtor to the estate £4. Bradfield drew lands in Branford, in 1646, also Robert Abbot, also Bratfield, &c., in 1646. Samuel Bradfield had liberty of the town of Branford to take up two acres of land at Stoney Creek, in Branford, also six acres of land laid out, which had been granted to Capt. Topping, 1686. Eliz'th Bradfield died at Branford July 26, 1655, and her daughter d. the same year. Samuel Bradfield, Wm. Bartholomew, and John Butler, of Branford, were surveyors of highways in 1684. Wm. Bartholomew the first of the name in the N. Haven Colony, was allowed by Branford twelve acres of land, for the time and money he had expended to procure a minister for the town in 1683. Bradfield was in the fence division, with Robert Abbott, &c., in Branford, in 1645. This name is spelt Bratfield and Bradfield, probably the same name.

BRACE, STEPHEN, came from London in England, and settled in Hartford, about 1660; he was by trade a hatter, the exact time he came to Hartford is not known; Porter locates him on lot 13, in Charter street, 1673; he lived near Little river in Hartford, where he d. in 1692, and left a widow and children, viz., Eliz'th, Phebe, Ann, Stephen, John and Henry. By his will he directed his son Henry to be put to a trade—he was of good standing and estate—he owned land at Rocky Hill, Great meadow and other places, including his Padaquanck lands—his estate was £400.

BRACE, JOHN, son of Stephen, Sen., was b. at Hartford, in 1677;

*Hon. Jonathan Brace was b. at Harwinton, Ct., Nov. 12, 1754—graduated at Y. C., 1779—read law with Chief Justice O. Ellsworth, then of Hartford—admitted to the Bar in Bennington, Vt., Nov., 1779—first opened his office for practice in Pawlet, Vt., and remained there about three years, and in 1782, in April, removed to Manchester; while here, he extended his practice into the counties of Rutland and Bennington, and had the appointment of State's Attorney, for Bennington County. He was also appointed one of the Council of Censors, to revise the constitution of Vt. In January, 1786, he returned to his native State, and opened his office at Glastenbury, where he remained eight years; in 1794, he removed to Hartford, where in 1807, he was appointed Attorney for the State in the county of Hartford. In 1809, he received the appointment of Judge of Probate, and of the County Court, and resigned the office of States Attorney, and relinquished the practice of law. He resigned the office of County Court Judge in 1821, and in 1824, declined the appointment of Probate Judge. Sept., 1815, he was elected Mayor of the City of Hartford, and ex officio Judge of the city court, which office he was continued in until he became disqualified by law in 1824, to hold it longer. He was elected a member of Congress from Conn., in 1798, which he held until 1801. Mr. Brace was among the first lawyers in Vermont, and was 2d of the profession in Rutland County, and there before the county was incorporated; he was clerk of the first court of the county after its organization, and acted as attorney against Hon. N. Chipman, in the eleven cases which composed the first docket of the county. C. L. W.

In 1633, Mr. Bradford united with Gov. Winslow in conferring with Gov. Winthrop about building a trading-house on the Conn. River, at Windsor to deal with the Indians, carry on commerce, and

* Governors of the Plymouth Colony, from the first settlement until the union of the Colony with Mass. in 1692.

John Carver from Nov. 11, 1620, four months 24 days.

Wm. Bradford from 1621 to 1632, also 35-37-39 to 1643; 1645 to '56; thirty-one years.

Edward Winslow, 1633, 1636, 1644.

Thomas Prince, 1634, 1638, 1657 to 1672.

Josiah Winslow from 1673 to 1680.

Thomas Hinkley, 1681 to 1692. This closed the Plymouth Colony. The two Colonies when united should have taken the name of the oldest Colony, even though it was much the smallest, it was founded upon the Rock of Plymouth, the first known in New England—and there commenced the first sufferings of the Puritans, and the first civil government of N. E.

Lieut. Govs. Thomas Hinkley 1680, James Cudworth 1681. Major Wm. Bradford, 1682 to '86, and from 1689 to 1691. The first Secretary of the Colony, was Nathaniel Souther or Bowther in 1636. The 2d Nathaniel Morton from 1645 to 1685; 3d Nathan'l Thomas 1686; 4th Samuel Sprague, continued until the union in 1692, except the period interrupted by Sir Edmand Andros. (See Russell's Guide to Plymouth, p. 171.)

to prevent the Dutch from taking possession of the River and the lands adjoining. Gov. Winthrop declined. Mr. Bradford was Govr. of the Plymouth Colony in 1635, and wrote to the men who left Dorchester, a reprimand for settling at Wi. Conn., as it injured the Plymouth Colony, after they had purchased land, built a house and taken possession there. He m. for his 2d wife Alice Southworth, his will offered in Court held at Plymouth, June 3d, 1657. (See his will, His. Gen. Reg. No. xx. p. 385, Vol. V.) His children, John, William and Joseph are only mentioned in said will as his children; and his 2d wife Allice. His 3d child Mercy b. about 1626 or '7, m. Benj. Vermayes of Boston, Dec. 21, 1648.

BRADFORD, JOHN, son of Gov. W. Bradford of Plymouth, by Dorothy his first wife, was b. in England, but is not in the list of passengers of the May Flower in 1620, so that he was probably left by his parents in his native country or Holland. John is not found in any of the arrivals of the first settlement. He is found at Duxbury, where Farmer says he represented the Town at the Gen. Court at Plymouth, as he afterwards did Marshfield. He is found at Norwich as Mr. John Bradford, as early as 1660 as a first settler. He m. Martha daughter of Thos. Bourne, and lived at Norwich about 18 years, and d. 1678; his widow m. Thomas Tracy in 1679. John left no issue, found. His nephew Thomas Bradford son of Maj. Wm. Bradford of Plymouth, was of Norwich as early as 1678 and shared in the estate of his uncle John Bradford deceased, and had most of his land by heirship and deeds, and remained an inhabitant of Norwich until 1691, when he sold his property, and probably removed into the bounds of Canterbury, and d. in 1708. (See Calkins and Record at N. and Canterbury, also Learned.) These are the early descendants, sons and grandsons, of Gov. Wm. Bradford, who first came to Conn., and the following are a small part of the numerous descendants, of this highly respectable ancestor, of the Conn. branch of the family of Gov. Bradford.

Gov. Bradford's son Maj. Wm. by his 2d wife Allice was b. at Plymouth Mass.; he m. Allice Richards, and had two other wives by whom he had 15 children. Coats of arms of Bradford's.

Bradford, (Earl of Bradford) see Bridgeman coat of arms Bradford (Cheshire and Devonshire) Sa. a cross engr. ar. Bradford (Yorkshire,) one. Bradford (as borne by Gen. Sir Thomas Bradford G. C. B.) one—Bradford, (Yorkshire,) one—Bradford (Wiltshire,) one. And six others most of them differ. Brandford, (London late of Barbadoes) one.

So many of the different branches of the family of Gov. Bradford has been before published it would be useless to republish them. And the history of the life of Gov. Wm. Bradford is as familiar to antiquarians, as household words, and would be only a recapitulation of his adventurous and useful life, as one of the early and principal founders of the religious freedom of this country.

Nineteen of this name have graduated at Harvard College, four at Yale College, four at Brown U. and one at Williams.

BRADLEY, PETER, died 1662. Estate £59, 1s. 0d. (Hen. Rec.) Francis Bradley was made a freeman from Fairfield, in Oct., 1664. BRADSTREET, DUDLEY, of Boston, freeman 1674.

This has been an old and highly respectable name in Mass. and Conn.

The name Bradstreet (Ireland) has one coat of arms.

BRADSTREET, SIMON, was at Emmanuel College, entered 1617, also at the same 1620 and '24. Mather appears to suppose Simon Bradstreet did not continue at the University to receive its honors, and Farmer finds him one year at Emmanuel College.

BRAINERD, BRAINARD, DANIEL, was one of the twenty-eight purchasers of Haddam, in 1662. He was born at Braintree, Essex County, in England, and was brought to Hartford by the Wyllys family when a child, where he continued until he was of the age of 21 years: his name was probably Brainwood. After he removed to Haddam he became a Deacon, and a Justice of the Peace. He was m. and had sons, Daniel, Jr., who was a Deacon at East Haddam; Deacon James; Joshua, of East Haddam; W'm, of Haddam Neck, Caleb, Elijah and Hon. Hezekiah, the Assistant, and daughter Hannah, who m. Tho's Gates: all survived their father. ("Our honoured mother Hannah.")

DANIEL, JR., son of Daniel, Sen., had sons Daniel, Dr. Noadiah, Stephen and Bezaliel. DANIEL had a son Daniel. NOADIAH had two sons, Noadiah and Jared. BAZALIEL had sons, Daniel, Bezaliel, and Enoch. DEACON JAMES had sons, James, Gideon, Abijah, Daniel, Zechariah, Jephthah, Othniel and Heber.

HEZEKIAH was the father of Col. Hezekiah—of Rev. Nehemiah—of David and John, the noted Missionaries, and Israel. Daughters, Dorothy Smith, Jerusha Spencer, Martha Brainard, and Elizabeth. He left a large estate for his family, distributed to his children in 1729. This has been a family of Ministers and Deacons, in olden and later times.

BRAINARD, REV. CHILIAB, son of W'm, graduated at Yale College in 1731, and was settled at Eastbury, in the 2d society of Glastenbury, in Jan. 1736, and d. June 1, 1739. REV. Haddam.

Col. Hezekiah, Daniel and Gen'l John Brainard, of Haddam, were noted as military officers. Hon. Hezekiah, son of the first Daniel Brainard, was an important public officer—Justice of the Peace—Justice of the Quorum for Hartford County, in 1722—Clerk of the Gen'l Assembly in 1721—Speaker of the House of Representatives, three sessions; and in 1723 was elected a member of the Governor's Council, (Senate of Conn.,) which he held until his death, May 24, 1727, aged only 45 years. His son Rev. David was celebrated as a missionary among the Indians, and preached to them at Schodac, N. Y., in 1743. This tribe soon after removed to Stockbridge, Mass., and Mr. Brainard visited the Indians at the Forks of the Delaware, for which purpose he was ordained at Newark, N. J., in June, 1744; he preached to them near Freehold, N. Jersey. His health failed him, and he returned to N. England, and d. at Northampton, Mass., Oct. 10, 1747, aged about 30 years. Hon. Hezekiah, (Col. Hezekiah,) Daniel, Gen'l John, Jabez, Nehemiah, Hezekiah who d. in 1805, aged 62, Ezra, Col. Daniel, and Gen'l John Brainard, have held the office of Commissioner, or Justice of the Peace. Dr. Hezekiah was a Justice of the Quorum, in 1797. Hon. Jeremiah G. Brainard, so many years one of the Judges of the Superior Court of Conn., was of the family of Daniel, of Haddam. His son John G. C. Brainard, the celebrated Poet, was b. at N. London, Oct. 21, 1796; a brother of Wm. F. Brainard, Esq., of N. L. This family have been noted for their talents, wit and piety. Brainwood has one coat of arms.

BRANKER, BRANGER, MR. JOHN, was at Windsor about 1640, and was freed from watching and warding in Windsor, Nov., 1643; and from watching, training and warding in Sept., 1649, at Hartford. He was made free in Mass., in 1632. He was a gentleman of a good estate and reputation. Abigail Branker, his wife, witnessed the will of John Porter, of Windsor, April 20, 1648. He d. May 29, 1662. Inventory of his estate was £502, 10s; all of which he gave his widow Abigail with her wearing apparel, riding apparel for horse, &c. Rev. John Warham made a jointure of marriage with Mrs. Abigail Branker, dated Sept. 12, 1662, (the widow of Mr. John Branker deceased,) which was recorded April 8, 1664. John Branker—Inventory dated June 17, 1662.

BRATFIELD, LISLEY or LESLY, of Wethersfield, plaintiff in Court at Hartford, April 6, 1643. In July 1645, Ed: Vier of Wethersfield by his will, dated July 19, 1645, gave "Lysly Bradfield three pownds."

Bradfield has four coats of arms and Bratfield has one.

This name was early at Branford from Wethersfield.

BRATTLE, THOMAS, owned land in Wethersfield, in 1668, which bounded on James Boosy land, (then deceased.)

BRATTLE, WILLIAM, m. Mary Wright, of Wethersfield, Sept. 21, 1743, and had Sarah, b. 1744; William, b. 1745; Elizabeth, b. Jan., 1747; Mary, b. July 25, 1748; John, b. Aug., 1750; James, b. 1751; Martha, b. Feb. 22, 1753; and Ann, b. Aug. 15, 1755.

This has been an important and valuable name in Mass., from an early period of the settlement. Thomas Brattle, b. at Boston, 1657—graduated at Harvard in 1676—became one of the founders of Brattle Street Church in Boston. He died May 18, 1713. His brother William, graduated at Harvard College, in 1680. He became a tutor and fellow of the Institution afterwards, and a fellow of the Royal Society. He was a gentleman of great literary acquirements; he gave a handsome legacy to Harvard College in his will. His son W'm was more celebrated than his father. He was a statesman, divine, physician, and versed in military tactics as Maj'r General.

Brattle has one coat of arms, viz., or. a boar pass. gu.

BRAY, THOMAS, wife Mary of Gloucester, Mass., had issue, Tho's, Jr., b. 1659; Hannah, b. 1662; Esther, b. 1664; perhaps others.

This name came into Conn. at a late period; it is now found in Litchfield County, and other parts of the State.

BRAY or BRAYE, (Northamptonshire, Bedfordshire, Gloucestershire, Surrey, &c., &c., descended from William DeBray, a witness in 1088, to the Charter of Battle Abbey, &c.,) one. Bray, (Northumberland, on Lincoln's Inn, 1787,) one. Bray, (Oxfordshire,) one; and fourteen others. Braye has four coats of arms.

BREAD, Breed, ALLEN, this name has been many years at Norwich, Conn., though not one of the first settlers. Gershom Bread is mentioned by Miss Caulkins, as contractor to build the first bridge over the cove at Norwich, in 1767: also John N. Breed, Esq., a lawyer of note, at a later period, elected Mayor of Norwich City, April 18, 1796; Miss Caulkins says descended from Allen Breed who emigrated from England, 1630. Gershom Bread first of the name at Norwich, as early as 1750, a merchant, had three sons, viz., Hon. John McLarran, Shubael and Simeon, all deceased. John M. d. in June, 1799. Allen Bread of Lynn, came there from England, in 1630; he was one of the first purchasers of Southampton, L. I., of the Indians; deed dated Dec. 13, 1640. He is not in Thompson's list of settlers at Southampton, during the first twelve months. If he ever removed to Southampton, L. I., he probably returned to Lynn; he d. (says Dr. Allen,) March 17, 1692, aged 91 years. Edmand Farrington, another purchaser of Southampton, returned to Lynn, and d. in 1680, aged 88 years. Capt. Daniel How, another purchaser and settler, sold his possessions there in 1645, to Hon. John Cosmore, and removed to East Hampton, L. I., a first settler; he was a freeman at Lynn, Mass., in 1634—Deputy to Gen'l Court in Mass., 1636—Lieut. in 1638. (Thompson says he removed to New Haven in 1638, from thence to Southampton, L. I.) ALLEN BREAD is noted by Farmer, as born in 1601, a grantee mentioned in the Indian deed of South Hampton, L. I., in 1640; d. at Lynn, Mass., March 17, 1691; his children, Allen, Timothy, Joseph and John. John of Lynn, 1640, d. 1678. (Lewis.) This has uniformly been a respectable name in Conn. Five of this name had graduated at Y. College, in 1844.

BREAD, ALLEN, 3drd of Lynn, free May 7, 1684. John Bread of Lynn, Mass., free; also Timothy and Joseph Bread, 1691. (His. Reg.) "Bread or Beade, Allen, Sen., m. BREWSTER, ELDER WILLIAM, was b. in England, in 1559 or '60, and d. April 16, 1644, at Duxbury. He was one of the 101 signers of the contract forming themselves into a civil body politic, at Cape Cod, Nov. 11, 1620: all passengers in the May Flower.

Gov. Bradford stated upon the church record of Plymouth, "that Elder Brewster was the chief of those that were taken at Boston in Lincolushire, and suffered the greatest loss; and one of the seven who was kept longest in prison, and after bound over to the assizes." (Gui. Ply. note, p. 14.) To say that Elder Brewster was one of the oldest and principal Puritan passengers in the May Flower, and landed on Plymouth Rock, Dec. 21, 1620, is giving no historical information, for he was as far, and as familiarly known, as the vessel in which he came, or the event of which he was a principal actor. He had been fortunately educated and graduated at Cambridge, in England, when young—was married and had a family of children; and his character established before he left England. The May Flower was chartered by the merchant adventurers of London, to transport a part of the Leyden church to this country; and she sailed from Southampton for the eventful voyage on the 5th day of Aug., 1620, and anchored at Cape Cod, Nov. 11, 1620, after a voyage of ninety-eight days. They left Cape Cod and anchored on the 16th of Dec., in Plymouth Harbor; and became with Carver, Bradford, Winslow, Alden, Allerton and others of the May Flower, the founders of the religious and civil Gov't in this country, and especially in

New England; and the first founders of the first real Republic on earth. His wife was a passenger with the Elder; also his son Love, son Wrestling, Lucretia wife of Jonathan, and William, son of Jonathan.

Patience and Fear, daughters of Elder W'm, were left at Leyden by their parents, and did not arrive in this country until 1624, when they came in the ship Ann. (Jonathan his eldest son came in the Fortune, in 1621.) Children of Elder W'm were:

1. Jonathan, m. Lucretia before he came to Plymouth, and had a son W'm, b. in England, and had Mary, Jonathan and Benjamin, born in this Country. Jonathan was for a time at Duxbury, and removed to New London about 1648, and was a townsman at New London in 1649.
2. Love, m. Sarah, daughter of Hon. W'm Collier, of that Colony.
3. Wrestling.
4. Patience, m. Gov. Thomas Prince, Aug. 5, 1624, and d. 1634.
5. Fear, m. Isaac Allerton as soon as 1627, and d. 1633.

In 1627 his wife was deceased, and Elder William had other children, viz., 6 Lucretia, 7 Mary and 8 William; being eight children by both wives. (See Thatcher's His. Ply., p. 268.) Elder William d. April 16, 1644, aged 83.

BREWSTER, LOVE, son of Elder W'm, m. Sarah Collier, May 15, 1634, and d. in 1650; he had children:

1. Sarah, m. Benjamin Bartlett, 1656.
2. Nathaniel, d. 1676.
3. W'm, m. Lydia Partridge, and d. Nov. 3. 1723: She d. Feb. 2, 1742.
4. Wrestling, m. Mary, and had a family, and d. 1696. (Guide to Plymouth, p. 241.

BREWSTER, JONATHAN, son of Elder W'm, is found in Court, in Conn., in 1648, with Elias Parkman his partner, and was made a freeman in Conn., in May, 1650. He probably came to Conn., between 1648 and '49; first to New London. He had been an efficient and active man at Duxbury for some years before he went to New London.

Mrs. Whiting of Hartford, plaintiff against Jonathan Brewster in 1648. The latter was called in court, or Elias Parkman his partner. Neither appeared and forfeited their recognizance. (Elias Parkman of Windsor, in 1636.) He set up a trading-house at Mohegan, which the Gen'l Court considered disorderly, but suffered him to go on in May, 1650. Mr. Jonathan Brewster made free, 1650—was deputy to the Gen'l Court in Conn, Sept., 1650—May, 1656. Mr. Brewster was Deputy, May, 1655, (but absent.) Deputy, Aug., 1657, and Oct. 1, 1657—and chosen an assistant for Pequett in May, 1657—Deputy, May, 1657 and '8.—He was appointed by the Gen'l Court May, 1658, with Esq. Winthrop, Maior Mason and Mr. Allyn, to hold a court at Pequett, "to settle affayrs of y^e place," and Mr. Winthrop to designate the time. The Gov'r, Mr. Willys, Mr. Allyn, Mr. Treat and Mr. Brewster, were ordered to assist each other in holding Court at New London, the 1st day of June, 1659. Mr. Benjamin Brewster was Deputy to the Gen'l Court at Hartford, May, 1668. (As the Christian name is not always recorded, perhaps Benjamin might have been the Deputy in some instances before 1668.)

Mr. Benjamin Brewster had 200 acres of land granted to him by the Gen'l Court, by Pocotanock Brook. Perhaps at Wisquades. "The sayd land joynes to Norwich bownds;" laid out 1669—granted 1668. Mr. Benjamin confirmed Lieut. of the New London troops, 1673. Mr. Benjamin Brewster in the list of freemen at Norwich, 1669. Elder Sam'l Fuller remembered Mr. W'm Brewster in his will dated July 30, 1633, by giving him "my best hat and band w^{ch} I never wore." The inventory on the estate of Thomas Evans, deceased, made by Mr. John Howland and Jona. Brewster, Feb. 18, 1634. The Inventory of the estate of W'm Kemp of Duxbury, Sept. 23, 1641, was made by Jona. Brewster and others. Jona. and Love, sons of Elder Brewster, took letters of administration on the estate of Elder Brewster, (Duxbury,) their father, June 5, 1644. Jonathan Brewster is found in the list of those at "Duxborrow," able to bear arms from sixteen years old to sixty years old. In 1643 also W'm and Love.

BREWSTER, MR. BENJAMIN, son of Jonathan, and grandson of Elder William Brewster, came to New London with his father. He m. Anna Dart of New London, in 1659, and is found soon after at Norwich, (where Miss Caulkins says,) the birth of his daughter Annie is recorded, Sept. 1662, and notes his sons Jonathan, b. 1664; Daniel, b. 1667; William, b. 1669; and Benjamin, b. 1673. In 1693, he was a Commissioner at Norwich. In the list of freemen there, Oct. 9, 1669, where he proved one of the leaders of the town, and enjoyed many of its offices and honors, as have his numerous generations after him.

BREWSTER, NATHANIEL, D. D., a grandson of Elder W'm, settled at Brookhaven, L. Island, where he d. in 1690: His sons were John, Timothy and Daniel.

BREWSTER, SEABURY, a son of Wrestling, was born in the Plymouth Colony, Oct. 21, 1754; supposed at Kingston, (P.) He went to Norwich from Mass., soon after the war of the Revolution, and m. Sally Bradford of Montville, in 1785, and settled at Norwich, and had by her a son W'm, (who settled in Ohio.) After the death of his wife Sally, he m. for his 2d wife Lucy Leffingwell, and had two sons; and his 2d wife died in 1797, and he m. for his 3d wife Fanny Starr, of Norwich, in 1798; she died in 1833. BREWEN, BRUEN, OBADIAH, Esq., was one of the early and most active and useful settlers at Pequet, (N. London;) as early as 1653, he was the town Recorder. In April 11, 1660, he was appointed Commissioner until the Court of Election, in May, then next, also James Rogers, Lt. Smith, John Smith, as Commissioners, who with the aid of Maior (Major) Mason to hold a Court of an inferior nature at Pequett, to try the business respecting Waterhouse, &c. In May, 1660, Mr. Bruen, J. Rogers and John Smith, were appointed Commissioners, and Mr. John Tinker, assistant, for N. London. In May, 1662, Mr. O. Bruin was empowered by the Gen'l Court to administer oaths and grant warrants at N. L., as occasions should require. To prove his exalted standing in the Conn. Colony, I need only to mention the fact, that Obadiah Bruen was one of the important men in the Colony, who petitioned King Charles II., for the Charter of Ct., and one of the grantees to that instrument. In May, 1663, the Gen'l Court appointed him with Mr. Chapman and John Smith, of N. London, a committee to hear and determine the differences, between the Indians at Niantick, and the English, for burning fences, or any other complaints against the Niantick Indians. An assistant in 1662. In 1664, he with Mr. Palmes and Ensign Avery, were Commissioners for N. London, invested with the power of Magistrates in N. L. Commissioner with John Smith in 1663, and he was ordered by the Gen'l Court to give the freeman's oath to S. Rogers, Miles More, Rice, &c., the same Court. Mr. Brewen the Mayor, [Mason,] and Hon. John Allyn, Oct., 1663, were appointed by the Gen'l Court to hold a Court at N. London, and the Judges to fix on the time for holding it. James Avery was appointed a Commissioner to join Mr. Bruen at N. L., Oct., 1663. He was a Commissioner for N. L., May, 1665. In July, 1665, Mr. Bruen and others were ordered to hold a Court at N. L., on the 2d Wednesday of Nov., 1665. He was directed in March, 1662-3, to administer the oath to such persons as should be elected Constables for the year. He was Commissioner for N. London in 1666. Mr. Bruen was chosen a representative from N. L., to the Gen'l Court, in Oct., 1665, but was absent; also in Oct., 1666. Notwithstanding the foregoing and many other honors, which had been conferred upon Mr. Bruen by Conn., he became dissatisfied with his location, and with many others of the Colony from N. L., Branford, N. Haven, Milford &c., entered into a written contract, to remove from the Conn. Colony to Newark, New Jersey. Whitehead, in his History of N. Jersey, says "Newark, (N. J.,) was first settled in 1666, and on the 11th day of July, 1667, Obadiah Bruen, Michael Tompkins, Samuel Ketchell, John Browne and Robert Denison, from N. London, purchased of the Indians a tract of land in N. Jersey, bounded with the Bay eastward, and the Great River Pesayak northward, the Great Creek or river in the meadow, to the head of the cove, then bearing a west line for the south bounds, &c.; on the west line back into the country to the foot of the great mountain." Mr. Bruen probably about this time removed with his family to the new settlement, (at first called Milford,) afterwards named "Newark," in N. J. Who or when Hon. Obadiah Bruen married, I cannot say, and know of but two of his children, John and Hannah.

The Milford record says that John Baldwin, Sen., of Milford, m. Marie, daughter of John Bruen of Pequet, (N. L.;) also says that John, son of John Baldwin, Sen., m. Hannah Bruen, daughter of Obadiah, Oct. 30, 1663, of N. London. As there was no John Bruen of N. London, except John the young son of Obadiah, it is probable that Marie Bruen, who m. John Baldwin, Sen., was a sister of Obadiah. John, son of Obadiah, went with his father to Newark, and he, John, m. Esther Smith and settled in Newark. Esther widow of John Bruen, planter, "received a grant of land from the Lords Proprietors" of New Jersey, in 1696. Cong.

As Mr. Bruen was in authority in Conn., Mathew Camfield one of the Gen'l Court, and Robert Treat, afterwards Gov. of Conn., it has often been a matter of conjecture why these men should have left New England for the banks of the Passaic, without a government, except the contract signed at Branford, yet such was the fact, and united with the first company of Mr. Treat, &c. Conger says "Bruen, Kitchell, Tompkins and Co., having purchased of Wekaprokikan, Wamesane, Mamistonne, and Co., for themselves and associates, we find Mr. Bruen, when Ab. Pierson, Jr., was called 'to be helpful to his father,' with Sam'l Kitchell, appointed to assist the Deacons in making the rate for their maintenance. On Jan. 1, 1669-70, 'John Bruen had granted to him upon his father's motion, the five acres of upland next Mr. Bruen's lot, that was formerly laid out as a part of Mr. Leet's lot, and the other was promised to him. He is to take it up with his father Bruen's next division of upland.' John Bruen married Hannah, a daughter of Deacon Richard Lawrence, (born at Branford in 1657,) and the name of her brother, Eleazer, was borne by three generations of the Bruens. Eleazer, who early in this century manufactured cut nail, on the home-lot of his English ancestor, opposite the N. J. R. R. depot, and demonstrated the truth of the ancient saying, that talent belonged to the Bruens, is remembered by many.

BRUEN, ELEAZER, Joseph and John, were grandsons of Obadiah. One of the daughters of John, by a familiar process became a Durand, another a Hayes, two of them Balls, and another a Headly.

John Baldwin's, Sen's second wife was Ruth, daughter of Henry Botsford, of Milford, and was the mother of Samuel, Daniel, Joseph, Timothy, Elnathan, Nathaniel, Jonathan and Ruth, the second wife of Eleazer Bruen. This Ruth died about 1717, and in her will, names Eleazer, her husband's son by his first wife, and her own sons Timothy and Obadiah, who seem to have been twins, as Obadiah died in 1774, at 64, and Timothy in 1778, aged 68. Obadiah, married Dorcas, a daughter of Daniel Brown, a son of John Brown, Sen., who is also named in the deed from the Indians. She died in 1741, aged 31. On the N. corner of Hill and Broad, on the original home-lot of John Browne, her descendants still retain their inheritance, and drink from the old well."

* Mr. Obadiah Bruen continued his usefulness at Newark, until his death, where he yet has several descendants now living.

* In "Clark's Marrow of Ecclesiastical History," (London, 1650.) (says Conger,) we have together with notices of Constantine, Justinian, Edward VI., and Queen Elizabeth, a biography of John Bruen, Esq., the representative of the family in the 16th century, who, says one, was "one of the few individuals whose private virtues alone, in the rank of a country gentleman, have obtained a place in the annals of biography. His tenets were those of the Calvinistic Puritans, but his goodness of heart would have reflected honor on any rank and any religion.

He was born in 1560. His earlier years were passed in private education, after which he was sent to Oxford. Having married in 1580, he returned to his father's seat at Bruen Staple-ford, and entered into all the amusements to which his youth and fortune prompted him. This career of pleasure, which, notwithstanding the animadversions of his biographer, appears to have been a very moderate one, terminated with the life of his father in 1587, who "together with his lands, left him charged with the portions of twelve children." To relieve himself from these incumbrances, the park of Bruen Stapleford, "well furnished with deer," was immediately dis-parked; the hawks, and hounds, and every unnecessary expense were cut off, and the whole mind of the new proprietor turned to the forming within his family a pattern of religious economy, which was certainly eccentric, but appears to have originated solely in the unaffected piety of its master. The benevolence and piety of Mr. Bruen had rendered him such an object of respect in the country, that many of the most distinguished families were among the constant inmates of his house, and begged that their children might be brought up under his directions. He closed his career of active goodness by a death, in every respect conformable to it, in 1625." The particulars of his marriages, connexions, and pedigree, may be found in "Ormerod's Cheshire." No 6807, Hart, MSS., is entitled, "A godly profitable collection of divers sentences out of Holy Scripture, and variety of matter out of several divine authors." By John Bruen, "commonly called his cards, being 52 in number."

For the edification of his descendants we quote from "Clark's Marrow" as follows: While at Oxford "being familiar with one John Breerwood, his Countyman, This Breerwood observing in him some Popish practices and opinions, set upon him by Scripture arguments to convince and reform him, whereupon this young Gentleman (through God's mercy,) was so wrought upon, that as himself wrote it down in his Book; I was, saith he, then inflamed with zeal against the prophane beast of Rome, and all Popery, both persons and things, with all their Monuments, Rites and Ceremonies, &c. After a while his father sent for him home, that he might dispose of him in marriage, and provided for him the daughter of one Mr. Hardware, (a worthy and wise Gentleman,) to whom he was married with consent of Parents, and in the fear of God, and lived very comfortably with her for 17 years, seeing his sons and daughters as Olive plants round about his Table. Then, being in the prime of his youth, he spent too much time in hunting, hawking, and such carnal delights."

"Anno, 1590. Having provided for his Parish a worthy preacher, the people, though they admired his gifts, yet they would not so much as thank him for his pains, which was a great discouragement to the Minister. Hereupon, Master Bruen withdrew his Preacher into his own Chapel, to make the people more to prize the Word by the want of it. Then resorted many to him, some to the Chapel to feed their souls, and many into the Hall to feed their bellies, to his no small cost, and yet great comfort, because Religion increased thereby. But after a while, at the Importunity of Christian friends he restored him to the publick Congregation, maintaining him and other Preachers after him, till by the death of the Incumbent, God established a faithful Pastor amongst them. And whereas the people at Tarvin had a bad custom of keeping Wakes upon the Sabbath Day, at which time there was much profaneness practised, to the dishonor of God, by banqueting, drinking, dancing, &c. This godly Gentleman, studying to remedy this great evil, against that time, every year, provided three of the best affected Ministers in the Country, who spent most part of three days in preaching and praying in the Church, so that the Pipers, Fiddlers, Bearwards, Players and Gamesters, had no time left them for their vanities, but went away with great fretting. And for the preventing of these mischiefs, and to exercise the heads and hearts of his Family, and of such as came occasionally to his house, he bought two goodly fair Bibles, and set them upon two Desks, one in his Hall, the other in his Parlour," and "Being on a time at the Sheriff's Table, there was a health begun to the Prince, and there were great Lords present, but when it came to Master Bruen, he said, You may drinke his Health, and I will pray for his health, but drinke for mine own health, and so wish you may do for yours, and so he passed it over, not yielding to any of the solemn Cerimonies in that act."

BRIDGES, EDMOND, of Ipswich as early as 1648.

BRIDGES, EDMOND, of Colchester, Ct., d. 1759, aged 71. Widow Bridges, d. 1769, aged 81, at Colchester. Farmer, mentions Robert Bridges of Lynn, freeman 1641. Representative 1644, Speaker of the House in 1646. Assistant from 1647 to '56, when he died. Few of the name are now in Conn.

His biographer states that the fleeces of his flock were consumed in clothing the poor of his parish, who were all maintained at his expense, to which purpose all the profits of his two mills were appropriated. His house was a common inn. "Many that passed betwixt Ireland and England, and came to Chester would take up his house for their lodging place, that they might rejoice their hearts in seeing his face, hearing his voice, and conferring and advising with him. His ordinary table was bountiful, and for the furtherance of it, he had a great flight of pigeons, a warren of conies, delicate fish ponds, beside other ordinary provision about his house: his cellar was open and free to all within the bounds of moderation, and in the dear years he made provision for multitudes out of his own and other parishes, almost every day in the week, and would sometimes serve them himself, to see their necessities." It is recorded, that on a complaint made against this excellent man, from some injury done by the water course to his mill, the judge in open court, begged the proceeding might be stayed, adding, "I cannot but think you wrong Mr. Bruen. I will undertake for him, make him but sensible of any wrong that he hath done, and he shall willingly acknowledge it, and make double amends for it."

Bruen, Hon. Obadiah, of Pequet, (New London,) 2d son of John Bruen, of Bruen Stapleford, (Conger) says in the Newark D. Advertiser, (speaking of the Girdle of Verity, Robert Pasfield was one of the old servants of John Bruen of Bruen Stapleford. To assist him in reciting to his master, the long sermons in which he so peculiarly delighted, this Robert, a man utterly unlearned, for the help of his memory invented and framed a girdle of leather long and large, which went twice about him; this he divided into several parts, allotting every book of the Bible in order to one of these divisions; then for the chapters he affixed points or thongs of leather to the several divisions, and made knots by fives or tens to distinguish the chapters of that book, and by other points divided the chapters into their particular contents or verses as occasion required. This he used instead of pen and ink in hearing sermons; and coming home he was able by it to repeat the sermon, quote the texts, &c., which girdle master Bruen kept after his death hung it up in his study, and would merrily call it the girdle of verity."

"Unfortunately," says Ormrode's Cheshire, "Mr. Bruen's well meant zeal was not confined to his own walls. For finding in the church of Tarvin and his own ancient chapel, many superstitious images in the windows, which by their painted coats darkened the light of the church, and obscured the brightness of the gospel, he caused all those painted puppets to be pulled down, and at his own cost glazed the windows again. Such was the ill fated prejudice of zeal against a species of decoration which peculiarly displayed the taste and munificence of our ancestors, and which by its glorious mixture of splendor and obscurity, threw a still and solemn air over their religious fabrics, which particularly adapted the mind to the feelings of devotion." In the following extracts, Mr. B. speaks himself. "Anno 1601. My servant going with his Cart laden, fell down, and the wheels being iron bound, went over his leg, yet hurt him not at all: Laus Deo, Praised be God. Anno 1602. My son Johu going into the field, took up a Sith to see how he could mow; the Sith entred into his stocking to the shin bone, shaving the haire, and came out at the back side of his leg, and touched no flesh nor skin: Laus Deo, Praised be God. Anno 1603. One that dwelt in my Farm in Wimble Stafford, seeing two godly persons going in the way, said to one with him, I will dance, and swagger, and swear, to anger yonder two Puritans, and so he did to their great grief: But presently the revenging hand of God was upon him, so that immediately he fell sick, was carried home in a Cart, and within three dayes died most fearfully: All glory to God."

That Obadiah Bruen, the second son, of John of Bruen Stapleford, was the ancestor of all of the name in this country, may be doubted. The ancient records of Milford testify, that John Baldwin, Senior, married Marie, daughter of John Bruen of Pequot, (New London,) and that John, son of John Baldwin, Senior, was married Oct. 30, 1663, by Mr. Robert Treat, to Hannah Brewen, daughter of Ob. Brewen of New London. Obadiah, son of John Baldwin, Sen'r, was born Oct. 29, 1660. The ambiguity of the record admits the conjecture that Marie and Obadiah were brother and sister, thus removing the difficulty—both children of the noted Puritan, and residing at New London.

BRINSMAID, BRINSMEAD, BRINSMADE, BRINSMEADE, JOHN, came early to Stratford, Ct., from Mass., yet he was not a pioneer at Stratford. He had sons John, Daniel and Paul, perhaps other children, John, b. in Mass. He was a Deacon at Stratford. John Brinsmead was freeman at Dorchester, Mass., 1638; Charlestown, 1640, his son John, b. 1640, (Farm.) At the ordination of Rev'd Israel Chauncey at Stratford in 1665, Deacon John Brinsmade of Stratford, "imposed hands" at the ordination of Rev'd Israel Chauncey at Stratford in 1665. He being called upon rather suddenly, to "impose hands," the Elder neglected to remove his mitten from his hand, in consequence of which, it has ever since been called the "leather mitten ordination." Rev'd Daniel, graduated at Yale College, in 1745, grandson of Elder John of Stratford; he settled in the ministry at Judea, (now Washington, Ct.,) in 1748; he d. there 1793, and became the father of Hon. Daniel N. Brinsmade, who graduated at Y. College 1772, and was many years one of the Judges of the County Court, in Litchfield County, and often represented Washington at the Gen'l Assembly. He was twice m. had but one child, viz., Gen'l Daniel B. Brinsmade, who is now living at Washington, about 70 years old, a highly respectable citizen, and has often represented the town at the General Assembly of Conn.

BRINSMADE, DANIEL, was a member of the first church formed at Unity, (Trumbull,) Nov'r 18th, 1730, and Hannah his wife from the church at N. Haven was admitted at Unity, June 4th, 1732, and Daniel aged about 15 years admitted Jan. 6, 1734; Mary, daughter of Daniel and Hannah, was admitted June 1st, 1735, under 21 years old; Hannah, daughter of Lieut. Daniel, admitted July 26, 1741, (Ch. Rec. of Unity.)

BRINSMADE, ABRAHAM, and his wife Mary Wheeler, m. 1747-8, of North Stratford, (Trumbull,) had children born there, viz., Abigail, b. Nov. 13, 1748; Hannah, b. July 22, 1750; Daniel, b. Sept'r 22, 1752, perhaps others. Seven of this name had graduated at Y. College before 1846.

This name is yet found in Fairfield and Litchfield Counties.

BRINSMADE, JOHN, SEN. freeman at Stratford, 1669; Abigail, daughter of John and Abigail, m. David Gipson of Milford, Aug. 20, 1724, and had a daughter Abigail, b. Sept. 1, 1726; David, b. Feb. 26, 1728-9, and others, removed to Judea.

BRINSMADE, JOHN, had children b. in Milford, viz., John, Octo. 4, 1705; Abigail, b. Mar. 7, 1706-7; Eliz'th, b. Mar. 12, 1709-10; Mary, b. July 26, 1714; Ann, daughter of John and Abigail, b. Feb. 24, 1722-3. Abraham was Deacon in North Stratford 1765.

John, probably the elder, was Comm'r for Stratford, May, 1669; Dep. Octo., 1671 and May, 1672, Octo'r, 1672.

BRINSMEADE, JOHN, and Mary his wife of Charlestown, Mass., daughter Mary, b. 1640; son John, b. 2^d, (1st) 1643.

BRINSMEADE, JOHN, freeman in Mass., May 2, 1638. Wm. Brinsmeade, of Roxbury, Mass., d. 1648, left children, Wm., Alexander, Ebbet and Mary. (See his will, His. Gen. Reg. No. II. p. 266.)

BRINSMEAD, Mr. Wm., of Woburn, freeman 1671.

John, son of Elder John, was born before his father settled at Stratford.

The early Church record at Stratford is very deficient, and nothing of the first is found. The early town records up to 1650, were destroyed by fire, with the house in which they had been kept, so that the direct evidence from the record, as to who the first settlers were; renders it difficult in all cases, to collect them; after the fire some matters were recorded again, as grants of land, some births, &c., but none or few dates to the grants. By the births and deeds, a tolerably accurate account, without much tradition, even before 1651, may be obtained: some by the deficiency of dates may not have been at Stratford as early as others named, and some may have located there and left the town before 1650, for shifting from place to place was very common in those unsettled days—yet children born at Stratford before 1651, are not found on any record before that time.

BRISCO, NATHAN'L, was of Wallingford in 1690, and Nathaniel was a free planter at Milford, and d. there in 1683, perhaps father of the first named. Briscoe, was at Boston and Watertown, Mass.; the name was later in the Conn. Colony.

BRISTOL, HENRY, this was strictly a N. Haven Colony name, and an early settler there; daughter Rebecca, b. at N. Haven, Feb. 4, 1649, (after this spelt Bristow;) Sam'l, b. Dec. 3, 1651; Mary, b. Nov. 17, 1653; Lidia, b. Jan. 3d, 1657; John, b. Sep. 4, 1659; Mary, b. Sept., 1661; Hannah, b. Dec. 10, 1663; Abigail, b. Ap'l 19, 1666; Sarah, b. 1667.

BRITTAL, CLAUDIUS, and wife Alethea of Windham, had a son Claudius, b. Sep. 15, 1771.

BROADSTREET, JOHN, of Windham, by Rebecca his wife had issue, Andrew, b. 1722; Mary, 1723-4; Susannah, 1724-5; Mercy, 1726-7.

Bradstreet (Ireland) has one coat of arms.

BROCKET, JOHN, was early at New Haven. (One of his daughters m. W'm Pennington, supposed the ancestor of Gov. Pennington of New Jersey, where W'm settled.) Son Samuel, b. at New Haven, Jan. 14, 1650; Jabez, b. Feb. 24, 1654; John, son of John Brocket, d. Nov. 29, 1676; Benj'n Brocket d. May 22, 1679; Benj'n, son of John Brocket d. June 28, 1700; John, son of John, d. Nov. 17, 1709; a New Haven Colony name.

BRACKET, BENJAMIN, of New Haven presented for freeman, May, 1669. (Perhaps Brockett.)

BRODWELL, EDWARD, was in the large division and apportionment of fence in Branford, in 1646, and in a land division in 1648.

* BROCKWAY, WOLSTON, was a respectable and early settler at Lyme. He deeded lands in Lyme to John Robins in 1679, signed by himself and his wife Hannah. He deeded a piece of land in Lyme to his father William Bridges; the deed entered for record, 1680. In 1682 he sold land to Mr. Christopher Christophers, of New London. His wife was the daughter of W'm Bridges; he was probably m. before he settled at Lyme. His children recorded at Lyme were Hannah, b. Sept. 24, 1664; W'm, b. July 25, 1666; Wolston, Jr., b. Feb. 1667; Mary, b. Jan. 16, 1669; Briget b. Jan. 9, 1671; Richard, b. Sept. 30, 1673; Elizabeth, b. May 24, 1676; Sarah, b. Sept. 23, 1679; Debrah, b. May 1, 1682; goodwife Brockway d. Feb. 6, 1687.

* Woolston Brockway on the 12th day of March, 1671-2, was one of the Saybrook and Lyme men, against whom John Prentice of New London, complained for "riotous practices" and assaults on New London people, &c. The Saybrook people had also complained to the County Court in Hartford, March 12, 1671-2, against the people of New London, for notorious practices, assaults, &c. The controversy between the towns, was, a strip of land lying between Bride Brook, and Niantic River, including Black Point in Lyme. Both towns claimed the lands by previous grants; and both had reserved a portion of meadow at Black Point, for the use of the ministry. (See the affray, printed Rec., appendix. p. 558.) The Court fined the Town of New London £9, and Lyme £5. (C. C. Rec. vol. 3, p. 122.) The fines afterwards remitted by the Court. (Printed Rec., p. 229)

BROCKWAY, EBENEZER, m. Sarah Buckingham, Feb. 11, 1734-5; issue, born at Saybrook, Ebenezer, b. Jan. 16, 1735-6; Lebbeus, b. Dec. 29, 1738; Elijah, b. Nov. 29, 1744.

BROCKWAY, WILLIAM, son of Wolston, Sen., m. Elizabeth, March, 8, 1692-3, and had five children, (erased from the record by time.) The first b. 1693, and the last b. Oct. 29, 1704. His will dated 1728. His son WILLIAM, JR., m. Prudence Pratt, Oct. 3, 1716, and had Hannah, b. Nov. 30, 1718; W'm, b. Feb. 22, 1728; perhaps others. W'm, 3d, had his ear mark in Lyme, in 1738. The direct line to Col. Brockway of Lyme, late senator from Lyme, is, 1st, Wolston, Sen., 2d, W'm, 3d, John, 4th, Eben'r, who was the grandfather of Senator Brockway. Rev. Diodate Brockway who graduated at Yale College in 1797, was the son of Rev. Thomas Brockway from Lyme, who graduated at Yale College, 1768, and settled in the ministry at Columbia; he m. Eunice Lathrop of Norwich, Dec. 8, 1772. His son Rev. Diodate was b. Dec. 29, 1776; he was settled in the ministry at Ellington, where he preached about thirty-five years; he d. July 5, 1807, aged 62 years; had issue, Hon. John H., and others.

BROCKWAY, GIDEON, had an ear mark at Lyme for his cattle, Oct. 7, 1738.

BROCKWAY, WOLSTON, 3d, removed from Lyme to Branford; and about 1752 removed to Sharon, where he died in 1813, aged 90, and left a son Asa, then living. (Sedgw.) W'm Brockway by his will dated 1728, gave two of his sons, Richard and John, land at the ferry, part of the plains, Island, &c. John in 1756, purchased the other half of the Island. Three of this family had graduated at Yale College in 1820, viz., Rev. Thomas, Rev. Diodate and Hon. John H., grandfather, father and son.

BRONSON, BROWNSON, BRUNSON, JOHN; this name is more generally spelled upon the Hartford records, BRUNSON. John and Richard Brunson were both at Hartf'd, at an early period of the settlement, yet neither of them were in the land division of 1639, but are found in that list of settlers at Hartford, who were allowed by the "courtesie" of the town, the privilege of wood, water, and keeping cows and swine on the common, &c., as was Wm. Cornwell, Nicholas Disbroe, Hosea Goodwin, (Ozias,) Geo. Hubbard and many others, who were not original proprietors, perhaps they had been in Hartford before 1639, for we find Samuel Whitehead had owned a lot and removed to N. Haven as soon as 1639. Ab'm Pratt, John Friend and others of Hartford, had sold their land before 1640, and removed from the town, as did John Gibbs of Wethersf'd, and became a first settler at N. Haven in 1638. As John Bronson was in the bloody Pequot battle, 1637, he probably came to Hartford with Mr. Hooker's company in 1636, and was a member of his church. In 1640, John Brunson resided in the north part of the village of Hartf'd on a lot bounded N. W. by Richard Church, N. E. by the neck road, S. E. by Wm. Hayden or Heaton and west-erly by Nicholas Disbroe and Daniel Garrad, (Porter puts him No. 53.) I am inclined to believe John's father Richard was with him at Hartf'd, at that time an aged man, and owned no land there.

After the purchase of Tunxis by Wm. Goodwin, &c., John Brunson removed to Tunxis about 1641, and represented the town, (Farmington,) at the Gen'l Court in May, Sept'r, Octo. and Dec'r, 1651, also in Octo. 1655, 1656, &c. In the first division of land in Farmington, of the 84 proprietors, was John, Sen. and Jun'r, Richard, Jacob, Ab'm and Isaac Brunson. Some of John's children were born at Hartford. The Bronsons of Conn., are most of them, if not all, descendants of John and Richard Bronson of Farmington.

JOHN BRONSON was one of the 7 pillars at the organization of the church at Farmington. He died there Nov'r 28, 1680. John a member of the original church there. His wife not found. Although I have much more of this family, it is too numerous to afford to publish it in this work, where only a bird's-eye view is taken of each family. This family has produced its share of important men in the country. There are few if any of the name in Conn., who are not descendants of either Richard or John, of Farmington in 1643. Hon. Alvin Bronson, of Oswego, N. York, Dr. Isaac, deceased formerly of Greenfield Hill, in Fairfield; Hon. Green C. Bronson was b. at Simsbury, Conn. His father removed to the State of N. Y. more than 40 years since, when his son was quite young; Hon. Green C. became a lawyer of distinction in Onida County, and had the appointment of Attorney Gen'l in that state, the duties of which he discharged with satisfaction to the State. He afterwards became an associate Judge and finally chief justice of the Supreme Court of his adopted State. There have also been several Divines and Physicians of this family; as a family, it has been noted for good judgment and great common sense. Many of the descendants are found at Hartford, Farmington, Windsor, Waterbury, Woodbury, Berlin, N. Haven and other towns in Conn., in the city of N. Y., and in different parts of the State of New York, the descendants are numerous.

MOSES BRONSON removed from Berlin, Conn., to Hillsdale in Columbia County, N. Y., about 1755, with his sons Abel and Eph'm, and a daughter Susan, and left a son Silas and two daughters at Berlin; one of the daughters m. Gladding of Berlin, the other m. Timothy Humiston of Waterbury, Ct.; after the death of the wife of Moses, he returned to Conn., and continued with his son-in-law T. Humiston at Waterbury. Mr. Gladding had a son John, and perhaps others; Humiston had a son Zenas, perhaps others; Abel, son of Moses d. at Hillsdale; Eph'm, son of Moses was about 10 years old when his father removed to Hillsdale; Eph'm m. Bethia Virgil, of Hillsdale; Eph'm removed to Kinderhook, afterwards returned to Hinsdale, and then removed to Delhi, Del. Co.; they had 14 child'n born in the 3 last towns, after which they removed to Groton, N. Y., where Eph'm died. His first child d. an infant; Irene the 2d child m. Tho's Swift of Hillsdale, he removed to Cooperstown where she d. and left issue; Parmela, 3d daughter of Eph'm, d. in Kinderhook aged 11; Ira V. 4th child of Eph'm, b. Octo. 18, 1778, went to Simsbury, Con., when young, where he read medicine with Dr. Everest. In 1804, he removed to Washington, Ct., and settled there as a Physician, and is now living aged 75 years. Dr. Ira V., m. Sarah Ann Moseley of s'd Washington, and had issue; Elenor, 5th child of Eph'm, m. Barber Carpenter of Delhi, and removed to Groton, N. Y.—after the death of her father, they removed to Potter Co., Penn., and took her mother with them, who in 1847, was living aged 91 years. Sophia, 6th child of Eph'm, m. and lived at one time at Semphronius, N. Y., and had a large family; Dorcas, 7th child of Eph'm, m.; Aurelia, 8th child d. at Hinsdale, aged 5 years; Artimesia, 9th child, m. Parker; Almy, 10th child, m. Dexter Barnes, and removed to Potter County, Penn.; Jacob, 11th child, m. and d. about 50 years old, at Cayuga; Amanda, 12th child, m. Mr. Maltery, he d. and she m. a 2d husband, and removed to Erie County, Penn.; Calista, 13th child, m. Joseph Harris for her 2d husband and lived for a time in the town of Elba, Genesee Co., N. Y.; Edwin, 14th child, graduated at Union College, Schenectady, studied divinity, and about one year since, was preaching at Rome in Bradford, Co., Penn., he m. and has children Mary and Edwin. There was a Mary Brunson at Hartford, afterwards the wife of Nicholas Disbroe, who was punished by the Court in Hartford, 1639, for improper conduct; no evidence appears to prove she was a relative of John or Richard.

BRONSON, RICHARD, an original settler at Farmington, joined the church there 1654, and his wife joined in 1653; probably a brother of John Brunson, another original settler at Hartford and Farmington. Richard's wife was Eliz'th. He d. an old man in 1684, and his will proved 1687; only two sons are named in his will, Sam'l and John. Had he not a son Richard who d. at Southbury, and his relict Marcy d. there June 8, 1786, aged 92? Eliz'th, relict of Rich'd, had been several times married, before she married Rich'd. BROWNE, JOHN, and John, Jun., who signed the contract in 1665, at Branford, up to 1667, to settle the town of Milford, afterward called Newark, in the Province of New Jersey, were from Milford, Conn., with many others from Stratford, New Haven, Branford, Guilford, &c. These two John Browns were men of distinction at their new settlement. There were others of this name in Connecticut and upon Long Island, not here named.

Thirty-four by the name of Brown, and two by the name of Browne, have graduated at Yale College; and thirty-nine by the name of Brown and seven by the name of Browne, at Harvard College, and fourteen at Brown University.

BROWNING, HENRY, in 1639, of Hartford, was indebted to the estate of John Oldman, £11. Henry Browning was in the N. Haven Colony, with a family of eight, in 1643, and an estate of £340.

Farmer mentions Thomas Browning, Salem, freeman, 1637; b. 1587, d. 1671—(Felt,) and Malach, who d. at Boston, Nov. 27, 1658. Browning has five coats of arms; Brownell has two coats of arms.

BROWNINGE, MR., was a signer to the first fundamental agreement of the free planters of the N. Haven col'y, stipulating with each other, that church-members only should be free burgesses, and they only should elect among themselves, magistrates and officers to have the power of transacting all "publique civill affayres of this plantation," &c., with Mathew Camfield, Robert Pigg and many others. (See note, p. 76, ante.) Henry Browning, with eight persons in his family, at N. Haven, and £340, resided there in 1643.

BRUMFIELD, (Bramfield,) WM., of Wethersfield, in 1645, was fined 50s. for striking the watch and for drunkenness; and John Westall was fined ten shillings for entertaining Wm. Brumfield in 1645.

Bromfield has eight coats of arms; Brumfield has two coats of arms; Brimfield, 1.

There was a William Blumfield, who was an early settler in Hartford, on Bliss Street; was a freeman in Mass. in 1635. See Blumfield.

BRUNDIGE, JOHN, Dep. for the town of Rye, May, 1677.

Abner Brundage, (perhaps same name,) grad. at Y. C. 1826.

BRUNDISH, JOHN, of Wethersfield; Nov. 7, 1639, his widow was appointed administratrix on his estate. April 2, 1640, Rachel Brundish, adm'x, presented an inventory of his estate of £90, 5s. 4d., and the house and land at £130. She was allowed for her own use £90, 5s. 4d., and the house and land to go to the children, viz., £30 to the son and £25 to each of his four daughters. The widow, by another order, had fourteen acres, and her house lot, three acres, and upland, &c. One by the name of Brundage, graduated at Y. C. in 1826.

BRUSH, THOMAS, of Southold,* Long Island, in October, 1662. made free by Conn't; also, Thomas Brush, of Huntington, L. I., accepted to be made a freeman with others of Huntington, by Conn't, and sworn by the Commissioners of that town in May, 1664.† This has been an old name in Greenwich, Conn., of the Long Island family. David Brush, Esq., an Attorney and Counsellor at Law in the city of N. York, was of the Greenwich family. This name perhaps, the Norman name De Brus or De Brewes. GEORGE, of Woburn, Mass., freeman, 1690.

BRYAN, BRIAN or BRYANT, MR. ALEXANDER, was from Armah, in Ireland; he was one of the first, important and wealthy settlers in Milford, Conn., and a free planter there Nov. 29, 1639. He appears to have been a lawyer, from the fact that he was counsel for Lieut. Gov. Ludlow, where he defended him in an action of slander, for charging Goody Staples, of Fairfield, of being a witch. He died at Milford in 1679. Alexander and Richard Bryan, in 1660, purchased nearly all the Neck, in Milford, for £25. On the 12th day of Dec., 1661, Alexander purchased of the Indians the last twenty acres of land they owned upon the Neck, for six coats, three blankets and three pair of breeches, which he sold to Thos. Welch, at auction, for the sum of £21, 6s. in cash. Alexander was nominated by the Gen. Court of Conn. for an assistant, in 1665. He held several lots of land in Fairfield, and in 1654 purchased a house and lot of Hon. Nathan Gold, in Fairfield, which had been the house and lot of Mr. Newton.

His son, MR. ALEXANDER, JR. had a daughter Ann, b. Sept. 8, 1674; Alexander, b. June 15, 1677; John, b. July 12, 1680; second Alexander, b. Nov. 24, 1682; Ebenezer, b. Feb. 17, 1690; Augustin, b. April 25, 1694, d. Aug., 1705 or 1701.

BRYAN, RICHARD, son of Mr. Alexander, Sen., of Milford, a merchant, had issue, Hannah, b. Aug. 31, 1654; Sarah, b. April 24, 1657—m. Mr. Samuel Fitch, Oct. 23, 1678; Samuel, b. His wife d., and he m. for his second wife, Mary Wilmot, July 15, 1679, and had Joseph, b. July 15, 1682. His daughter Hannah, m. Mr. John Herriman, of New Haven, Nov. 20, 1672. Richard, Jun., or 3d, m. Mehitabel Clark, Oct. 20, 1720.

MR. ALEXANDER, son of Mr. Richard Bryan, of Milford, as administrator on his father's estate, deeded to his sister Mary Howell, of Southampton, L. I., as a part of her portion, £38, 15s. from the estate of said Richard, dec'd, it being land he purchased of Thos. Hurlbut, of Woodbury, on Grassy Hill, in 1698.

BRYAN, MR. ALEXANDER, JUN., had Ann, b. Sept. 8, 1674; Alexander, b. June 15, 1677; John, b. July 12, 1680; second Alexander, b. Nov. 24, 1682; Ebenezer, b. Feb. 17, 1690; Augustin, b. April 25, 1694. He d. Aug. 19, 1701. His son Augustin, d. 1705.

BRYAN, MR. SAMUEL, son of Mr. Richard, m. Martha, daughter of Mr. John Whiting, of Hartford, Dec. 25, 1683. Mary Bryan, daughter of Mr. Richard, m. John Maltbe, Feb. 28, 1666.

Richard, b. 1666, son of Richard, had a daughter, Francis, b.

Sept. 22, 1704; Augustin, b. Jan. 28, 1706-7; Alexander, b. Oct. 13, 1709; Hannah, b. Jan. 21, 1711-12; Nathan, b. Dec. 11, 1714.

BRYAN, ALEXANDER, in a deed of land he gave to George Allen, of Milford, is thus described in said deed, dated 1706: "I, Alexander Bryan, of the Mannor of Eaton, in the Province of New York, eldest son of Alexander Bryan, late of Milford, in the Colony of Connecticut, deceased." Deed is witnessed by William Roberd and Hugh Gray—acknowledged before Samuel Eells, Esq., Justice of Peace, June 4, 1706.

BRYANT, EBENEZER, found at Hartford, m. Mehetibel —, and had children b. at Hartford, viz., Sarah, b. May 11, 1739; Eliz'h, b. Aug. 26, 1741; Ebenezer, b. Aug. 19, 1744; Samuel, b. April 25, 1747; Timothy, b. Aug. 15, 1750; Jonathan, b. Feb. 6, 1753; Daniel D., b. Nov. 24, 1755. This Ebenezer is probably son of Alexander, Jr., of Milford. Four of this name had graduated at Harvard Col. in 1848, and five at Yale.

BRIAN, ROBERT, Jo. Brown, Margerie Baker, Jo. Bowton, Hundgate Baker, Jo. Baker, Richard Barnes, Jo. Buttler, Richard Bruster, Jo. Billings, Lawrence Barker, Jo. Bowes, Eliz'h Bateman, Rodger Burley, Thos. Burd, Henry Butler, John Budd, Rich'd Ball, James Brooks and wife Alice, Eliz'h Baker, and others, were transported to Virginia, and embarked July, 1635, in the Alice, Richard Orchard, master, after they had taken the oath of allegiance and supremacy.

BRYAN, RICHARD, the merchant, was a man of wealth; he owned lands in Milford, Stratford and Fairfield, and loaned money in many of the towns in Fairfield County. Most of the name had the title of Mr. attached to their names on the Milford records, and were connected by marriage to several of the best families in the two Colonies.

Hon. John Alexander Bryan, of Ohio, late Second Assistant Postmaster of Washington, D. C., and Charge D'Affaires at South America, is a descendant of this family. He was born in Mass.; his father removed there when young.

BRYANT, JOHN, (supposed of Plymouth,) d. at Cohannack, April 28, 1683; gave all his goods and chattels to his son John, except a platter and a bottle he gave R. Paul. (See Will, His. Gen. Reg., No. 13, p. 36.)

BRYANT, ALEX'R, of Redding, freeman 1673.

There was a Robert Brian embarked from England in the Assurance de Lo.; Isaac Bromwell and Geo. Pewsie, masters, in 1635, to be transported to Virginia.

BRYAN has nineteen coats of arms; BRYANT, 1.

BRYAN, RICHARD, was a merchant at Milford, and a gentleman of wealth, and purchased large lots of land beyond the bounds of Milford; he purchased Eaton's Neck, east of Oyster Bay, in Huntington, L. I., Nov. 13, 1684, and his sons Alexander, Ebenezer and John, removed and settled on L. I., where the name is yet found. Alexander Bryan owned a large tract of land in Southington. (See Southington Records.) He owned a large estate in England, undisposed of, as did several others of the Milford settlers. Alexander was a man of education, and much employed in public business.

MR. ALEXANDER, SEN., was well known in both Colonies; nominated for an Assistant May, 1666; Commissioner in 1666; Deputy to Gen. Court May, 1667, and Commissioner; Assistant in 1668, and in May and Oct. 1669; also in May, 1670 and '71; in May, 1672, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, &c.

Mr. Alexander, of Milford, was ordered by the Gov. and Gen. Court to be read for nomination at the election for an Assistant, Ap'l, 1665. Mr. Alexander and Mr. Richard Bryant, were in the list of freemen at Milford, in 1669.

Jo. Bryan, 25; Wm. Buroh, 19; Thos. Bolton, 18; and others, embarked for Virginia in the Merchant bona venture, James Ricroft, master, in 1635. (Somerby.)

One by the name of Bryan, and four of Bryant, have graduated at Harvard College; and eight by the name of Bryant graduated at Yale College.

BUD, BUDD, JOHN, embarked for Virginia from England in the ship Alice, Richard Orchard, master, July, 1635. Also, is found John Bud, in the list of passengers embarked in the Assurance de Lo., Isaac Bromwell, master; examined by the minister of the town of Gravesend, of their conformetie in o religion, for Virginia, July, 1635. The name of JOHN BUD is next found in Mass. JOHN BUD is next found, one of the first settlers at New Haven, and one of the signers of the "foundamental" agreement made there in 1639, where he appears to have remained a few years. Lieut. BUD was the holder of land at New London in 1651; his house-lot was forfeited to Amos Richardson for his post-lot. He could not have been long at N. London; his name is also found at Saybrook, though he did not reside there. John Budd is next found at Southold, L. I., in 1662, where he probably went from New Haven. He with thirty-one other inhabitants of Southold, Oct. 4, 1662, by the desire of Mr. Wyllys, of Hartford, by letter stating to the people of Southold, that the people of Long Island were included in the Patent, (Charter,) and desired them to send Deputies from the towns on L. I. to attend the Gen. Court at Hartford. John Bud and thirty-one others of Southold, signed a letter of the above date, showing they had appointed Capt. John Youngs, as Deputy for Southold, to attend the Gen. Court in Conn. John Bud, with many others of Southold, were offered to be made freemen in Conn., Oct., 1662.

He is found in 1660-1 and 2, in company with Peter Disbrow, ——— Studwell and John Coe, purchasing the town of Rye of the Indians, which was conveyed by Bud, &c., to Richard Lowe and Samuel Allen, &c. In Bolton's History of Westchester Co., it is said, the town of Hastings was settled in 1660 or 61, by planters from Middleborough, L. I., &c. In May, 1665, the Gen. Court of Conn. ordered the villages of Rye and Hastings to be united in one plantation, and be called Rye, which continued a part of Conn. until 1683, when the state line was established, including the town of Rye in the N. Y. Colony. Lieut. Bud was an important and active man wherever he went. In October, 1663, Connecticut appointed him a Commissioner for the town of Hastings, with the power of a magistrate. He was Deputy to the General Court in Connecticut, in Oct. 1664, and the same session the Gen. Court ordered Lieut. Budd to continue Commissioner for Hastings and Rye, until the Court should otherwise order, &c. In Oct., 1663, the Gen. Court appointed Richard Fowles a Constable for Hastings, and ordered Mr. Bud to administer the oath of office to him. Mr. Bud was a Deputy to the Gen. Court of Conn. in 1665, in May, 1667, and in Oct., 1668. He appropriated a place called the Neck, for himself and his children to settle upon, which afterward caused much controversy between Lieut. Bud and other settlers of Rye. John Bud, of New Haven, with Mr. Lamberton and Wm. Preston, were ordered by the Court at New Haven, Dec. 7, 1642, to make satisfaction to John Owen for neglecting to make his fence in season, damages eight day's work and two pecks of corn, &c.

There was also a Jonathan Bud at New Haven, with a family of six persons, in 1643, and an estate of £450. (This was probably John Bud.)

The name of Budd has three coats of arms; Budd, (Ireland,) 1; and Budds, 1. Few, if any, of the name are now found in Conn. Joseph H. Budd graduated at Brown Univ., 1844.

BUCK. There was an Enoch Buck in Court at Hartford in 1648, and made free there in 1657; he might have been the father or brother of Emanuel, Henry and Thomas Buck, who were all at Wethersfield about the same time—and not the first settlers. Emanuel's eldest child was b. there in 1650. Thomas m. in 1665, and Henry m. in 1660. Ezekiel Buck, son of Emanuel, had a son Enoch, b. April 5, 1683. There is no other Enoch Buck found, except Enoch, found in Court in 1648, whose death or marriage is not found at Wethersfield. The four Bucks might have been brothers, yet the record gives no proof of it.

BUCK, ENOCH, was fined 10*s.* for irregular speeches in Court against Rob't Rose, when under oath in March, 1648, and appears to have been the first of the name in Wethersfield. WM. BUCK, aged 50, ROGER BUCK, 18, embarked in the ship Increase, Robert Lea, master, April 15, 1635, for New England. CHRISTIAN BUCK, aged 26, embarked in the Blessing, John Lester, master, for N. England. EMANUEL BUCK was a freeman, and Constable at Wethersfield in 1669, and frequently a Selectman. He was probably born in 1623, as he testified in Court in 1684, he was then aged 61 years. The name Buck has thirteen coats of arms.

Roger and Wm. Buck, with Thos. Kilbourn and his family, Matthew Marvin and family, embarked in the Increase, Robert Lea, master, from England, in 1635. Five by this name have graduated at Yale Col., and two at Brown Univ.

BUCK, JOHN, son of Samuel, Jun., m. Sarah Hurlbut, Feb. 10, 1757. TITUS, son of Samuel, Jun., b. 1736, m. Caroline Seward, Oct. 1, 1760, and had Sarah, b. Aug. 2, 1761. Titus, the father, d. Aug. 13, 1776, and his widow Caroline d. Oct. 5, 1778.

BUCK, THOMAS, a settler at Wethersfield, m. Deborah Hewes, (supposed of Guilford,) Oct. 10, 1665, and had a son Thomas, who m. Sarah Judd, May 12, 1709, and had issue, Sarah, b. Jan. 19, 1740 ; Thomas, b. Sept. 6, 1712 ; Mary, b. Nov. 5, 1715 ; Ebenezer, b. Nov. 11, 1717 ; John, b. March 24, 1722, d. 1722.

I find no family of the first Enoch Buck, and few facts concerning him.

BUCK, JOHN, was an early settler at Stafford, about 1720. WM. BUCK, who came from England to Mass. in 1635, aged 50, was by trade a "plowrite." The Bucks of Wethersfield, in early times, were respectable farmers. The name was early at Farmington, Woodbury and Litchfield, from Wethersfield, and at Cambridge, Ms. Samuel, of Woburn, lost a son James, by death, in 1723. Farmer names Isaac, of Scituate, second town clerk there ; James, of Hingham, 1638 ; Roger, of Cambridge, 1643, and three sons, &c.

The name of Buck was early at Killingly from Mass., and at Ashford from Killingly ; in both of which places the name is yet found ; not of the Bucks of Wethersfield.

Book, (Buck,) Emanuell, in the list of freemen at Wethersfield, (in 1669,) was a Constable with Thomas Wright, who signed the list.

Buck, has thirteen coats of arms ; Bucke, three.

BUECHAMP, ISAAC, late of Boston, (Nov., 1750,) was of Middletown, Conn. His daughter Eliz'th, about 17 years old, chose her father Isaac for guardian, and the Court at Hartford appointed him guardian for his daughter, Mary Buchamp, Jan. 20, 1750. (See BEAUCHAMP, same name.)

BUEL, BEWELL, BUELL, WILLIAM, (Welchman,) was an early and respectable settler at Windsor. He was probably a joiner by trade, as is seen by the following extract of record :

" March 29, 1652.

" Accounts made with William Buell, for work don in the meeting howse, &c., the Elders Pew—Deakons Pew—Magistrats Pew and their Wives Pew, formerly paid, and for the fower rowes of seats in the howse when the dores are up. We find that his worke comes to £28, 19s. 00d. And for the new worke about altering the Magistrats wifes Pew and others in that rang comes to £4, 3s. 8d.—the holle sune is £33, 2s. 8d."

William, Sen'r, of Windsor, d. Nov. 16, 1681. His will, dated July 26, 1681. Inventory offered by his wife Mary, dated July 26, 1681, £147, 2s. 7d. Mary, his relict, made oath March 6, Anno, 1681-2, that she had made a true presentment of his estate. Widow Mary Buell d. at Windsor, Sept. 1, 1684. In his will he gave his daughter Mary £5 more than he gave any of his daughters. Mr. Buell's mother probably came with him to Windsor, as the Windsor record says, " Goode Buell d. at Windsor, Dec. 3, 1639." WM. and MARY BUELL'S children, were Samuel, b. Sept. 2, 1641, m. Deborah Griswold, Nov. 13, 1662 ; Mary, b. Sept. 3, 1642 ; Peter, b. Aug. 19, 1644 ; Hannah, b. Jan. or March 8, 1646 ; Hepzibah, b. Dec. 11, 1649 ; Sarah, b. March 21, 1650 ; Abigail, b. Feb. 12, 1655.

As Goode Buell d. in 1639, and Wm., Sen'r, m. Mary, Nov. 18, 1640, Goode Buel might have been the first wife of Wm., Sen'r.

BUELL, SAMUEL, son of Wm., m. Deborah Griswold, of Wi., Nov. 13, 1662, and removed to Killingworth in the early settlement of the town. His children were Samuel, b. July 20, 1663, at Wi.; Deborah, b. Oct. 18, 1665, m. Nath'l Porter, of Windsor; Hannah, b. Sept. 6, 1667, d. in infancy; Mary, b. Nov. 28, 1669, m. Hez'h Porter, of Wi.; John, b. Feb. 17, 1671, m. Mary Loomis, of Windsor, and moved to Lebanon, from whence he removed to Litchfield, and became a first settler there; Hannah, b. May 4, 1674, m. Joseph Porter, of Wi.; Wm., b. Oct. 18, 1676; David, b. Feb. 15, 1678; Josiah, b. March 16, 1680; Mehitabel, b. Aug. 22, 1682, d. young; Peter, b. Dec. 3, 1684, and Benj'n, b. 1686, at Killingworth. Samuel Buell, Justice of Peace at Killingworth, 1716.

BUELL, JOHN, son of Samuel Buell, of Wi. and Killingworth, removed from Killingworth to Lebanon and Litchfield, m. Mary Loomis, Nov., 1695, and had children, Mary, b. Dec. 11, 1696, m. at Lebanon; John, b. Feb. 1, 1698; Isaac, b. March 27, 1701; Abigail, b. March 26, 1702; Hannah, b. Dec. 1, 1703; Lois, b. March 12, 1706; Deborah, b. Jan. 24, 1708; Peter, b. May 22, 1710; Ebenezer, b. March 16, 1713; Solomon, b. Aug. 30, 1715; Jonathan, b. Dec. 13, 1717; Eliz'th, b. April 27, 1720; Rachel, b. May 22, 1723. These children were probably most of them born at Lebanon.*

† PETER BUELL, m. Avis Collins, sister of Rev. Samuel Collins, the first minister of Litchfield, and removed to Litchfield with Mr. Collins, Peter's father, about 1720. They had children, Archelaus, b. April 14, 1737; Peter, b. Oct. 12, 1739; m. Abigail Seymour, daughter of Zachery, Dec. 24, 1766; Lucretia, b. April 7, 1742; Avis, b. Jan. 26, 1744.

PETER BUELL, m. Abigail, of Litchfield, and had children, viz., Dr. Wm., b. Nov. 24, 1767; he was a Physician of eminence, and located many years at Sheffield, Mass., and in his advanced life removed to Litchfield, where he lately died. He m. Abigail Bacon, at Sheffield, May 6, 1796; his wife was born Feb. 8, 1775.

Abigail, b. May, 1770.

Rachel, b. May 17, 1773; Jonathan, b. May 8, 1776.

Charles, b. Oct. 1, 1778, and Dr. Samuel, b. Sept. 27, 1782. The last is now a physician at Litchfield.

PETER BUEL, the second son of Wm. Buel, Sen., of Windsor, m. and settled in Simsbury. His sons Ephraim and Samuel, gave a bond for Peter, their father, Oct. 1, 1718. Samuel, his fourth son, was b. May 10, 1686—and other children. His son Ephraim m. widow Marcy Barber, both of Simsbury, Oct. 16, 1713. Peter, the father, d. Jan. 8, 1728–9, aged 84 years. His widow d. Aug. 19, 1734.

BUELL, WM., SEN., was in the first land division in Windsor. In his will he gave all his tools to his two sons, Samuel and Peter, and gave his daughter, Mary Mills, £5 more than any of his other daughters. He made his mark to his will. His son Samuel removed from Windsor to Killingworth, where his son John remained until he arrived to manhood; he then removed to Lebanon, where some of his children were born, and thence removed to Litchfield with his family, about 1720 or 21, and became a pioneer and proprietor of the new settlement at Bantam, as his father had been at Killingworth, and his grandfather at Windsor. Wm., Sen., gave his son Peter the land given him by Windsor and half his tools, and the other half to Samuel. His daughter Sarah d. before her mother. The mother in her will notices her daughter Hannah Palmer, daughter Hepzibah Welles, and her granddaughters Mary and Sarah Palmer. Hepziba m. Thomas Wells of Hadley, Mass., in 1672.

Capt. Jonathan Buell, son of Deacon John, of Litchfield, settled in Goshen, where he kept a tavern in 1745. This Deacon John d. April 9, 1746, aged 75.

Deacon John Buell, of Lebanon, purchased two rights of land at Litchfield, and removed there in 1721. He was one of the petitioners to settle a town west of Farmington, called Bantam; and the Gen. Assembly gave liberty to 57 to settle Bantam. Patent granted May 19, 1724.

Peter Buell, in May, 1688, drew lot No. 2, in the land division in the North-east corner of Simsbury, (probably at Turkey Hills.) Tho's Barber had No. 4; Mr. Edward Thompson, lot No. 19; John BUCKINGHAM, REV. THOMAS, was the first of the name in the Colony of Conn. He was a son of Thomas Buckingham, (a Welchman,) who came first to New Haven, and removed to Milford in 1639, and d. in Boston while there on business, in the year 1657. His son, Rev. Thomas above, was born in Milford, Nov., 1646. Where he was educated is not found. He was at Wethersfield and Hartford, as early as 1664, and continued some time at Hartford, where he married Esther Hosmer, a daughter of Thomas, Sept. 20, 1666. He afterward received a call at Saybrook, where he was ordained in 1670, and continued to preach until his death, Ap'l 1, 1709, aged nearly sixty-three years. He was a fellow of Yale College from 1700 until his death, and a strong supporter of the College while at Saybrook, and after it was removed to New Haven. He held a high rank with the clergy of his time, and the strict Puritans of the Colony, and was one of their leaders in all their principles and forms. He was one of the Moderators of that noted Synod which formed the celebrated Saybrook Platform in 1708. He succeeded, at Saybrook, Rev. Thomas Fitch, who removed to Norwich in 1660. He had children recorded at Saybrook, viz., Hester, b. Jan. 10, 1668; Thos., b. Sept. 29, 1670; Daniel, b. Oct. 2, 1672; Stephen, b. 2. *Joseph, b. Aug. 7, 1703.

3. Ann, b. April 12, 1706, d. young.

* After the decease of Rev. Thomas, of Hartford, his widow Ann (Foster) m. Mr. Burnham for her second husband, whom she survived, and lived several years a widow.

Joseph Buckingham, Esq., son of Rev. Thomas and Ann, was a gentleman of a refined education, and held several important offices, at Hartford. He left no children, and probably was never married. He died in 1761, and his property was appraised June 23, 1761. He had two lots of land of 100 acres each, and an undivided right of land in Winchester, appraised at £225. The inventory, exclusive of the above,

This has uniformly been a respectable family and name in Hartford, where to perpetuate the name in the city, after the decease of amounted to £1,018, 10s. 4d., dated June 24, 1761. His verbal will as to his personal estate, was proved in Court before Daniel Edwards, Judge, May 8, 1761. Administration on the real estate was granted to Rev. Mr. Daniel Buckingham, of Fairfield, May 19, 1761. Rev. Daniel B. then took an appeal from the decision of said Court, on the 8th of May, approving of the nuncupative will of said Joseph, to the Superior Court at Hartford, to be held on the 1st Tuesday of Sept., then next, on the ground of being an heir to said estate. At a Court of Probate holden at Hartford, June 24, 1761, Daniel Edwards, Judge, the Court ordered and appointed Messrs. Ozias Goodwin, Daniel Skinner, and Richard Edwards, of Hartford, or any two of them, to distribute the real estate of said Joseph, deceased, to Rev. Mr. Daniel Buckingham, of Fairfield; John and Josiah Buckingham; Jane Treat, wife of Robert Treat, Esq.; Clemence, wife of Joseph Treat; Alice, wife of Edmond Treat, of Milford, heirs to said estate, equally.

The widow Ann Burnham, (mother of said Joseph, deceased,) on the 25th day of June, 1761, appealed from the judgment of the Court in appointing Rev. Daniel administrator on the real estate; also appealed from the judgment rendered on the 24th of June, which was allowed. To the Superior Court to be held Sept., 1761—administration granted to Ann Burnham, mother of Joseph Buckingham, Esq., deceased, June 9, 1764.

Inventory of personal estate dated July, 1764, is £541, 12s. 9d. The Court granted administration to Joseph Church, Esq., on the estate of Joseph Buckingham, deceased, 1768, probably in consequence of the death of Mrs. Burnham.

Anne Burnham died in her old age; her will dated Aug. 28, 1764. She gave to the North or First Church in Hartford, her large silver tankard, for the use and benefit of said church forever.—(Where is it?—sold or not.) She gave her kinsman, Joseph Church, of Hartford, a large share of her personal estate; manumitted all her servants after her decease, Cato, Paul, Prime, Ziporah and Nunny. She gave Cato a lot in the commons, of nine or ten acres, for his life, and the remainder to Prime in fee. She gave to Paul, her lot east of the Great River, (at five mile,) of eight or nine acres, and to Ziporah and Nunny, she gave £10 each. All her other estate she gave, 1st, to her kinswomen, Anne Gooss and Elizabeth Sleet, who lived near Boston, two shares thereof; to her kinswoman Elizabeth Lemon, one share; to the children of her kinswoman, Sarah Jackson, deceased, she gave one share—lived in or near Boston; to her kinswoman, Abigail Church, of Hartford, one share; to her kinsman, Joseph Church, one share; to Mary Caldwell, one share forever. Joseph Church, Esq., Executor. Her will proved July 25, 1765.

Anne Burnham, (the former wife of Rev. Thomas Buckingham, of Hartford,) as the widow of her second husband—to carry out the intentions of her only son, Joseph Buckingham, Esq., of said Hartford, then deceased—on the 7th day of July, 1762, gave by deed to the South Congregational Church or Society in Hartford, the house and homestead where she then dwelt in Hartford, containing about four acres and a half, more or less; bounded east and north on the highway, west on land of Aaron Bull, and south on Daniel Sheldon's land. The said Joseph Buckingham, while making his last will to the above purpose, and before he had fully finished the same, was suddenly removed by death, and said estate fell to his mother Burnham as next of kin to said Joseph; she desiring that her son's intentions and purposes should be carried out, and for the consideration of her love and regard, which she had for said church and society, deeded said property to the South Church or Society, and to their successors forever, as a good, sure and absolute estate in fee simple, without condition; signed and acknowledged by her, July 7, A. D. 1762. (See Hartford Town Record, Book 11, p. 233;) recorded Sept. 17, 1764.

every branch of the family of Rev. Thomas Buckingham, Hartford, has named one of its public streets, Buckingham Street.

Five of this name have graduated at Harvard, nine at Yale Coll., and one at Brown University.

* Rev. GERSHOM, son of Rev. Peter Bulkeley, by Grace, his second wife, graduated at Harvard College, in Mass., in 1655. He

* Dr. Gershom Bulkeley, after his dismissal at Wethersfield, removed east of Connecticut River, into Glastenbury, for the purpose of practicing medicine, where he remained during his life; at which place his will is dated in 1712, and the codicil dated there Nov. 24, 1713, a few days before his death; his will presented and proved in court at Hartford, Dec., 1713. He noticed in his will his son Charles' daughter Hannah Goodrich, then married; also his daughters-in-law, Hannah Avery and Rachell Wolcott, and gave each of them "a golden ducat, or 10s. piece, if he left a couple. He gave his son Edward's wife Dorothy, a "gold guinea," if he left one. He gave to his brother Peter's children, (viz., Gershom, Peter, Grace, Margaret and Dorothy,) each 10 shillings. His son Edward he gave the clock in his house, his seal ring, great gilt spoon, the least of the two silver porringers, law books, &c. His son, Rev. John, of Colchester, he gave most of his books, silver watch, manuscripts written by his grandfather, and father, &c. He notices his grandson, Richard Treat, son of Thomas, and his daughter, Dorothy Treat. Also notices his granddaughter, Catherine Treat, daughter of his daughter Catherine Treat, by giving her his lesser silver tankard, silver salt-cellar, a small silver dram cup; and gave his daughter Dorothy liberty to redeem any or all of them, at a fair valuation, and to have them at the age of eighteen, or on her marriage day. His negro maid Hannah he gave to Dorothy. All his children noticed in his will, who were living at his death, were John, Edward and Dorothy. He appointed in his will, Thomas Treat, his son-in-law, sole executor of his will, but he died before Dr. Gershom, and in a short codicil to his will, made at Glastenbury, he appointed his daughter Dorothy Treat, widow of Thomas, sole executrix of his will.

This Dr. Gershom Bulkeley, was the Bulkly spoken of by Dr. Trumbull, in his History of Connecticut, who united with Gov. Dudley, Lord Cornbury, Hallam, Palmes and others, in their opposition to the chartered rights of Conn., and charged this colony of mal-administration, of piracy, and by direct impeachment of the Colony by charges of high misdemeanors. Cornbury and Dudley were powerful men; the first a relative of Queen Anne, and connected with many noble families in England, who could influence the throne. While Gov. Dudley was a shrewd and intriguing manager, and had managers at Court—not only so, but Connecticut had her influential opposers in the Colony, viz., Nicholas Hallam, Major Palmes, and others who grossly misrepresented facts essentially injuring the interest and prosperity of the Colony. Dudley and Cornbury drew up articles of complaint against the Colony, and preached for a time at New London ; (though Dr. Trumbull says, "there seems to have been no church formed in New London, until the ordination of Mr. Bradstreet, and that neither Mr. Blynman or Mr. Bulkley were installed or ordained there.")

Mr. Bulkley left New London in 1666, and was either ordained or installed at Wethersfield the same year, where he preached about eleven years, when he was dismissed at his own request, (for ill health.) He then relinquished the ministry for a more active life. He had prepared himself for the practice of surgery and medicine, (as most of the clergy did at that day.) He commenced the practice of physic in Glastenbury and Wethersfield, and soon acquired a high reputation in his new profession. He was appointed surgeon, and Rev. James Fitch, chaplain, in the standing army in 1676. He d., aged 77 years and 11 months, Dec. 2, 1713. His wife Sarah, died June 3, 1699. His monument speaks of him as possessed of "rare abilities, extraordinary industry, excellent in learning, master of many languages, exquisite in his skill in divinity, physic and law," &c. Rev. Gershom m. Sarah, daughter of Charles Chauncey, President of Harvard College, Mass., and had issue, daughters, Catherine Treat, d. before her father, and left a daughter Catherine ; Dorothy Treat, wife of Thomas Treat ; Charles, first son, (died at New London, line extinct ;) second, Peter, (lost at sea ;) Edward, third son, lived at Wethersfield,) and Rev. John, fourth son of Gershom. The last graduated at Harvard College in 1699, and settled in the ministry at Colchester, Dec. 20, 1703. (Dr. Trumbull says) "Dec., 1703, and died June, 1731." Peter Bulkley, a son of Rev. Gershom, of Wethersfield, was a mariner, and lost at sea about 1701, aged 37. He had married Rachel Talcott, March 21, 1700, but left

Dr. Trumbull says, (Vol. 1, p. 411,) that "Dudley employed one Bulkley to write against the government." Bulkley drew up a large folio volume, a copy of which has been procured in England, and is now in manuscript, elegantly bound, in the Historical room in Hartford. Its title page is as follows: "Will and Doom, or the Miseries of Connecticut by and under an Usurped and Arbitrary Power, being a Narrative of the first creation and exercise, but especially of the late Changes and Administration of Government in their Magesties Colony of Connecticut in New England in America. Wherein the manner of the late Revolution made therein May 1689, is discovered, and the Warrantableness in som measure discussed, the most material Transactions from that time to this Instant Dec. 1692, are truly declared, and thereby the Innocency of their Ma^{ties} Good subjects dissenting from those Notions is Cleared."

By these misrepresentations of Bulkley, supported and confirmed by Cornbury, Dudley, Hallam, Palmes, Daniel Clark, Mason, &c., put the Colony in great distress, and to immense expense, in thwarting the plans of the opposers of the Colony. (See Doct. Trumbull, Vol. 1, pp. 410-11, &c.; also the letters of Sir Henry Ashurst, published in Hinman's Antiquities of Connecticut.)

no issue. His widow was bound to secure to the heirs of Mr. Cha's Bulkeley, of N. London, then deceased, her share in Peter's estate.

BULL, CAPT. THOMAS, must have been in Connecticut as early as 1636, as he was usefully connected with the bloody battle against the Pequot Indians, in May, 1637.

Thomas Bull embarked for New England in the Hopewell, Tho's Babb, master, Sept. 11, 1635, with John Kirbie, Daniel Pryer, John Prier, and others.

Capt. Bull was one of the early settlers at Hartford, and became familiar with the Indian language. In 1639, Capt. Bull informed the Court that a gun had been found at Pequannacke, supposed to have been John Woods, who had been murdered by the Indians, with the initials of his name, (J. W.) marked upon it. In 1640, he was located south of Little River, in the South-westerly part of the village of Hartford, on a house-lot, bounded N. on the road from G. Steele's house to South Meadow; W. on P. Davis, or Ward's lot; E. on Richard Lyman, and S. on Stephen Post's lot. He was peculiarly useful to the early settlers, being somewhat acquainted with the habits and language of the natives. Juror at Hartford in 1648 and 9. In May, 1650, a grant of land was made to him and others, and in Sept. after, the Gen. "Courte desires Mr. Governor, Mr. Deputy, and Mr. Webster, to consider of the Grant of land to Thomas Bull and others, and to settle something vppon them." In 1651, the record says, "The Courte hath also spoken with Lieftennant Bull, about the land at Nihantecutt, laid out to him and others with him, who hath promised to confer with Vncas and indeuor to give him reasonable content," &c. In March, 1651-2, the Court granted to Thomas Bull, and the rest of the five soldiers of Capt. Mason, 200 acres of upland, which lay northward and adjoining to the remainder of land before laid out to them, which they accepted, for 100 acres they resigned, near Saybrook, for Indian cultivation. In 1653, the Commissioners of the United Colonies ordered to be raised in the four Colonies, 500 men, of which number, Connecticut was to raise 65, to fight the Dutch. The Gen. Court of Connecticut ordered the 65 men raised by impressment at a day's warning, with provisions, &c., with Lieut. Cook, commander, and Lieut. Bull to be their L't, and Lieut. Tho's Wheeler, of Fairfield, for Ensign, &c.

In May, 1662, Tho's Bull was appointed one of the twelve Grand-jurors appointed by the Gen. Court for the Colony.

At the time it was discovered that Major Andross was about to make a hostile invasion of Conn., and demand the military posts for the Duke of York, Capt. Thomas Bull, of Hartford, commanded the forces at Saybrook. Upon the arrival of Major Andross, with an armed force in the Sound, making for the fort, Capt. Bull, having had no instructions from the Governor how to act on the occasion, proved himself a man of sound discretion, and a soldier. Andross, with his armed sloops, drawn up before the fort, hoisted the king's flag on board, and demanded the surrender of the fort and town. In return, Bull hoisted also the king's flag in the fort. Andross, unwilling to fire upon the king's colors, desisted from firing upon the troops; yet he continued his position a part of two days. The Legislature sent by express, a protest against Major Andross, to Capt. Bull, at Saybrook, which amounted to instructions to Capt. Bull how to proceed, and to inform Major Andross of the determination of the Colony to maintain their own government under the charter, with their own officers. Andross wished to be permitted to land and have an interview with the ministers and chief officers, and was permitted to land with his suite only. Capt. Bull met them at the landing, and informed the Major he had that instant received by express instructions to tender him a treaty, and refer the whole controversy to Commissioners. Andross refused, and commanded, in his majesty's name, that the duke's patent and his commission, received from his Royal Highness, should be read. Capt. Bull boldly, in his majesty's name, told him to forbear reading. (See Bull's Letter.) Still the clerk of Andross attempted to read. Bull repeated his command, and in such a manner and voice, as satisfied Andross his safe course was to desist. Capt. Bull then informed him of his address from the Gen. Assembly to him, and read the protest. Dr. Trumbull says, "Gov. Andross, pleased with his bold and soldier-like appearance, said, 'What is your name?' He replied, 'My name is Bull, Sir.' 'Bull!' said the Governor, 'It is a pity that your horns are not tipped with silver.'"

Finding he could make no impression upon the officers or people, he gave up his design, and was waited upon by the militia of the town, and guarded to his boat, and he left with his sloops for Long Island. (See Dr. Trumbull's Hist. Conn., vol. 1, pp. 328-30.) This transaction greatly endeared Capt. Bull to the people of the Colony, as a discreet and an intrepid officer.

He was a brave soldier, and served his new and adopted country with great bravery in the early Indian wars against the first settlers of Connecticut. Bull, Esther Margaret, (m. Thomas Chester, Esq.,) and Wm. Gidney Bull; the last being 16 years old in 1797, whose his brother James I. Bull, for his guardian. Col. Joseph owned land in Hartford; also 300 acres in Windsor, Vt.; 1,000 acres in Middletown, Vt.; 750 acres in St. Johnsbury, Vt.; one-quarter of one ninety-sixth part of the Conn. Gore lands, and 6,666 acres in Georgia, &c., as inventoried. One of the grand-daughters m. J. M. Bunce, of Hartford, Ct.

BULL, MAJOR EPAPHRAS, of Hartford, son of Capt. Aaron, d. about 1788. Mr. Bull held a high rank with the whigs of Conn. during the War of the Revolution. In 1775, there was convincing proof that a design had been formed by the British ministry, to make an invasion from Quebec, upon the Northern Colonies; some steps had been taken to carry their designs into execution. Some of the citizens in the vicinity of Ticonderoga, who were immediately exposed to incursions, for their own preservation had taken possession of that post and of Crown Point, where were then lodged cannon and military stores, exposed to be taken by the enemy, with the few officers and soldiers stationed there. But as Connecticut had no command of those posts exclusively, and as those posts were in possession of the people of different colonies, it was considered impracticable for the officers and soldiers of Connecticut to return to Ticonderoga or Crown Point at that time; and it became necessary that such officers and soldiers and their families, prisoners of war for the time being, should be provided for by the Colony. The General Assembly therefore resolved, and did appoint the following important Committee, or any three of them, at the expense of the Colony, to take care of and provide for the officers and soldiers and their families, &c., viz., Col. Erastus Wolcott, Capt. Samuel Wadsworth, Capt. Ezekiel Williams, Epaphras Bull, Henry Allyn, Col. Fisher Gay, Col. Matthew Talcott, Col. James Wadsworth, Capt. Jonathan Welles, Ebenezer White, and Col. Jonathan Humphrey. In Oct. of the same year, the Legislature appointed the same Committee who had been appointed to provide for a number of officers and soldiers and their families, who were then prisoners of war at Hartford. And as the Assembly had made no provision for their confinement and support, it was now resolved that said Committee be authorized to take care of and provide for said officers and soldiers, at the public expense, as before directed. At a session of the Legislature of Connecticut, in Nov., 1776, Epaphras Bull, of Hartford, was appointed Commissary of prisoners of war in Connecticut, to take care of all prisoners of war then in Connecticut, and such as should be sent into the State, and make his monthly returns to the board of war appointed by Congress, of the condition of the prisoners. It had been found necessary by Congress, that a Commissary of prisoners of war should be appointed in each State; therefore the Legislature, in May, 1777, appointed Ezekiel Williams, Esq., a Commissary of prisoners in Connecticut, in place of Epaphras Bull, who was then serving as a captain in the Continental army. During the war, (family tradition says,) he was transferred to a Virginia regiment, who refused to serve under a Yankee; Major Bull challenged some one of the regiment, and was shot in a duel. He died about 1788. He had children, 1. John Coleman; 2. Deborah; 3. Epaphras Wadsworth. John C. and Deborah, chose their grandfather, Capt. Aaron Bull, for guardian, and the Court appointed Capt. Aaron Bull guardian for Epaphras W. Bull, in 1790. Epaphras W. became a lawyer of eminence, and located himself at Danbury, where he died in middle life, and left a young family.

BULL, MOSES, died at Bolton about 1745. His son Jonathan, aged 16, chose Major Jabez Hamlin, of Middletown, for his guardian, in 1750. In 1746, his widow, Mabel, was guardian for her son Jonathan. Moses, son of Moses Bull, of Bolton, chose Joseph Talcott, of Hartford, for his guardian, in 1753; perhaps others.

CAPT. THOMAS BULL.

[When I find a Puritan who deserves the gratitude of all New England, as well as Albany and Schenectady, as much as Capt. Bull, I cannot refrain from giving him a passing notice. Capt. Bull was born in London, near the south part of the city, parish of Southwark, in 1610. He sailed for New England from London, Sept. 11, 1635, when about 25 years old. Perhaps was educated a soldier in England, as he is found a Lieutenant in the bloody battle against the Pequot Indians in 1637, under Capt. John Mason, where more bravery was displayed, and greater good achieved to New England, than by any battle which has since been fought, not excepting the battle of Bunker Hill. The Pequots were the most warlike and blood-thirsty Indian nation in New England. By this action they were defeated and ruined as a nation, as their fort was destroyed, seventy wigwams burned, about 600 Indians killed in the action by fire and sword, with only about seventy active white men in the field; by which Connecticut was saved. The war spirit which inspired the ancestor to vanquish the Pequots, induced his descendants, viz., Epaphras, Thomas, Jonathan, William, James and Moses Bull, to be active whigs during the War of the Revolution.]

SAMUEL, freeman in Mass., 1641. SAMUEL and his wife Mary, of Dedham, had a daughter Mary, b. there in 1642. This name was early in New Jersey, and of good standing.

BULLEN has five coats of arms; Buller, five. One, by this name, graduated at Yale in 1772.

BULLIER, JULLIAN, of Saybrook, m. Eliz'th Brooks, Jan. 15, 1665. He d. Jan. 14, 1677, and left no issue found. His widow Eliz'th m. James Fitzgerald, April 28, 1678.

BUMP, SAMUEL, resided in Bolton. His will dated April 15, 1730, and offered in Court in 1747. He had a son Matthew by his first marriage, and a son Samuel by his second wife. Both were minors at the death of their father. He appointed Edward Rose, of Bolton, guardian for Matthew, until he became of age, and Abel Gaylor, of Bolton, guardian for Samuel. Inventory, £600.

BUNCE, THOMAS, was not an original proprietor of Hartford, yet he came early to Hartford, from Mass. He had lot No. 13, but was one of those settlers who had lots only 'at the courtesie of the town, with liberty to keep swine or cows on the common, and fetch wood, &c. He resided in Hartford, south of Little River, S. W. of John Wilcock, in 1640. His corn was pilfered by the Welchman, Lewis, for which Lewis was fined 40s. in 1645. Thomas Bunce, Thomas Bull and James Steel, appointed a Committee to consider the grievance of widow Lord, as to her common fence, Oct., 1662. Juror, Dec. 6, 1649. Thomas Bunce and James Olmsted drew 264 acres of land in the land division in E. Hartford, June 12, 1666. He was a soldier in the battle against the Pequot Indians in 1637. He d. in 1683. His wife Sarah, d. in January, 1693-4. He had children, John, Thomas, Jun., and Elizabeth White. Inventory of his estate, taken Aug. 3, 1683, amounting to £767, in Hartford, and £257 in Wethersfield, which was a large estate at that time. He gave his son John his house, barn and home-lot in Hartford, which he purchased of Thomas Gridley, and 40 acres near Wethersfield line; also his right in a saw-mill built by Mr. Gardner, Stephen Hosmer and himself; also, 16 acres in the south meadow; also, a lot near Mr. Webster's. To Elizabeth he gave £20. He left a legacy to each of his grandchildren; also, to his cousin, Elizabeth White, £5; to his sister, Katherine Clark, £10; he also provided liberally for his wife, Sarah. To his son, Thomas, Jun., he gave, after the death of his wife, all his housing and lands, not disposed of before, and made his son Thomas, executor of his will.

BUNCE, SARAH, widow of Thomas, Sen., made her will in 1689, in which she notices her grandchildren, Sarah, Thomas and Mehitabel Meekins, and the two oldest children of her son John Bunce, and gave the remainder of her property to her sons John and Thomas Bunce, executors of her will.

BUNCE, THOMAS, son of Thomas of Hartford, (supposed Deacon,) will dated April 25, 1709, an aged man, (Will) He was a man of large estate in lands; had many lots south of Little River, on Rocky Hill, in Wethersfield, east of Great River, his house and home-lot in Hartford, where he lived, a right in five-mile purchase, interest in mills, &c., &c. He had children,

1. Thomas, to whom he gave most of the above property.
2. Joseph he also provided for, by giving him the home-lot and house in Hartford that had been his father's, and on which Joseph then dwelt, with all the housing, out-housing thereon, &c., and land east of Great River, &c. Joseph m. Ann Sanford, April, 1708; son Abijah, b. Feb. 11, 1709-10; Ann, d. Oct. 18, 1710.
3. Jonathan, he gave his housing, out-houses, home-lot, and all his upland in Wethersfield, (except a lot by Joseph Skinner's, he gave Thomas,) with all his right of commonage there, &c.
4. Susannah, b. Oct. 22, 1710; he gave 20s. besides what he had given her before.
5. Sarah, he gave £9, besides what he had before given her.
6. Abigail, he gave £10, in country pay, and made his son Thomas sole executor. Notices the legacies given his children by his father.

BUNCE, THOMAS, son of Thomas, m. Elizabeth Easton, June 2, 1709, sister of Jonathan Easton. Elizabeth, his widow, offered the inventory of his estate in Court, 1712, £1,185, 10s. 3d. Jonathan Bunce, brother of the deceased, and Elizabeth, if she desired to be, administrators. The court appointed Jonathan sole administrator, Feb. 7, 1711-12. Richard Edwards, attorney for Elizabeth, petitioned to have Elizabeth appointed sole administratrix.

ELIZABETH, widow of Thomas Bunce, had married Caleb Bull, of Hartford, and at a Court of Probate, at Hartford, April 4, 1727, said Bull, in right of his wife Elizabeth, as administratrix on Thomas Bunce's estate, rendered her administration account; and the property ordered distributed—£122, 18s. 9d. out of the movable estate, and one-third of the real estate of her deceased husband, Thomas Bunce, for life to said Elizabeth, and the remainder to Susanna, the only child of said Thomas, deceased. Susanna, then about 16 years old, made choice of James Easton for her guardian. Susan was b. Oct. 22, 1710.

BUNCE, JOSEPH, 2d son of Thomas, m. Ann Sanford, April, 1708, and had a son Abijah, b. Feb. 11, 1709-10—perhaps others.

At a Probate Court held in Hartford, April 1, 1718, the Court appointed said Joseph guardian for his son Abijah, to take care of his estate descended from Abijah's grandfather, Lieut. Zachariah Sandford to him. Ann Bunce died Oct. 18, 1710—(supposed wife of Joseph.)

BUNCE, JONATHAN, son of Thomas Bunce, of Hartford, dec'd, administration granted to Sarah, his relict, and Robert Sandford, Dec. 11, 1717. Children, Zachariah, (then) about 15 years old; chose his mother, Sarah Bunce, for his guardian, Jan. 25, 1717-18, and the mother Sarah was appointed guardian for Jonathan's other children, viz., Susannah, about 12 years old; Sarah, about 11; Abigail, about 9, and Jonathan, Jun., about 8 years. BUOR, MAJOR PETER, from the Island of St. Christophers, purchased the Bentworth farm of the heirs of Edw'd Palmes, in 1723, (Caulkins' N. L., p. 239,) for £24, which became the model farm. In 1737, he leased his farm for sixteen years, at an annual rent of £107, 16s., to Benj'n Ellard, including "ferry, boat, oars, rope and other utensils," &c. The lease was relinquished in 1739, and Buor sold the farm and ferry to Henry Paget, styled of Newport, but "late of Dublin." He was probably one of the first churchmen in Conn., and as early as June 6, 1725, subscribed the sum of £50, to pay to Rev. Mr. James McSparran, or to his substitute, towards building a church for the service of Almighty God, according to the Liturgie of the Church of England. (See Miss Caulkins' Hist. N. L.) It is probable Mr. McSparran had preached at N. London several times in private English families, before they took any measures to raise funds to build an Episcopal church at N. London. As they raised £216, by the subscription in 1725, they probably soon after erected the first Episcopal Church in Connecticut. (See Caulk., pp. 440-3.,

BURNE, JOHN, held land in Hartford in 1652.

*BURNHAM, THOMAS, Sen., and his wife Ann, had children, viz.,

* Burnham, Thomas, came to Hartford about 1647 or 8, perhaps from Ipswich, Ms., (others of the name went from Ipswich to Windham.) He was a large land speculator and holder in the colony. He was bondsman for his man Rushmore, in court, in the sum of £10, that Rushmore should appear at the next P. Court, &c. Particular Court held in Hartford, Sept. 6. 1649. (This was Burnham's first appearance on Colonial or Court Rec.) In Dec., 1649, he was a plaintiff in court; made a freeman at the General Court in May, 1657. In 1659 he was required by the Gen. Court to appear at ye court in Octob^r to answer for his former carriage, complained of to the court, &c. At the General Court of Connecticut, April, 1660, it appears that T. Burnham had made a contract with Tantonomo for lands at Podunk, upon which a committee had been appointed, and made a return to the court; upon which the court concluded as to the contract of Burnham with Tantonomo, Sachem of the Podunk Indians; that a part of the lands laid out to Burnham and his co-partners, belonged to Foxen's successors, by a gift from Foxen to his allies. Therefore the court ordered that the Podunk Indians should enjoy and possess their lands according to a former order; and that those Englishmen who contracted with Tantonomo, should enjoy and possess only the property of Tantonomo that the Indians should consent to or that Tantonomo could prove to be his property. And the court appointed Mr. John Allyn and Jonathan Gilbert, "to bound out ye said Tanto: part to Tho's Burnam and his partn^r," &c. Thomas Burnham was re-admitted to his freedom by the Gen. Court at Hartford, May 11, 1666. A long controversy followed as to these lands, between Wm. Pitkin and B. Barnard against Burnham, for a division of these lands, by their purchase of Jacob Migat, who purchased the land in company with Migat of the Sachem, and Migat sold his share to Pitkin and Barnard, in May, 1666. (See Col. Rec. and Court Files.)

The court in May, 1668, made a final close of the controversy between Pitkin and Barnard vs. Burnam. Tho's Burnam was in the list of freemen of Windsor, Oct. 11, 1669. At a meeting of the General Court at Hartford, Feb. 21, 1675, the enemy drawing down into these parts to do mischief, the Council ordered that what corn and provisions there were on the east side of the river, on the farms there, not in garrisons, should be immediately transported to the plantations and secured from the enemy, and the constables in the several plantations ordered to assist the people, by impressing men, boats and teams, to transport them. The people were also ordered to draw themselves into garrisons for safety; to bring their cattle and hay to be under the command of their garrisons, that they might be preserved—except they should bring them over to the towns—not to go forth upon their business without arms and in companies, so as to defend themselves. Also ordered that garrisons should be kept at Nath'l Bissell's, Thomas Burnam's, (at Podunk,) Mr. John Crow's, and at Nahuck, (in Glastenbury,) and at Mr. Willys's farm, and that each garrison should be manned by at least six men, and the garrisons be well fortified, and no other places to be inhabited upon the east side of the river—(Connecticut River)—and the constables ordered to give notice forthwith to the people in their limits, and require their attendance to the orders, &c. The Council further ordered, that for the next expedition, there should go from Hartford, 23 men; Windsor, 22; Wethersfield, 16; Farmington, 10; Middleton, 8; Haddam, 1; each to have a horse and a bushel of oats, &c.

* BURNHAM, SAMUEL, SEN., son of Thomas, Sen., resided in Hartford. Wife Mary. Children named,

* In May, 1766, during the session of the General Assembly of Connecticut, the news of the repeal of the Stamp Act reached Hartford. The joy expressed by the people was overwhelming. The General Assembly appointed the Friday after as a day of jubilee and rejoicing. Friday came, the bells rang, the colors of the vessels in the river were displayed; 21 cannon procured and discharged at 12 o'clock. All was hilarity, and in preparation for a great illumination. The Legislature had granted a quantity of powder for the festivities of the occasion, which was deposited in a large brick school-house in Hartford. Many of the young men of the place had assembled in the school-house, to prepare the fireworks for the evening. Two companies of the militia were in attendance; each soldier received a pound of powder, which was delivered at the school-house; by the delivery of which the powder was scattered, and a trail formed from the powder casks out of the doors. The boys, alive on the occasion, seeing the powder upon the ground, without design of injury, set fire to the wasted powder, which at once reached the powder in the building, and instantly destroyed the house, and with it the following young men of Hartford, as published in the Hartford Courant of that day. The blowing up of the school-house is often mentioned by the old men of Hartford. The grave-stones of some of these unfortunate young men, notice the cause of their decease, viz.

" Mr. Levi Jones, John Knowles, (an apprentice to Mr. Thomas Sloan, blacksmith,) and Richard Lord, (second son to Mr. John H. Lord,) died of their wounds, soon after they were taken from under the ruins of the building. Mr. William Gardiner, merchant, had both his thighs broken.

Mr. Samuel Talcott, Jun., very much burnt in his face and arms.

Mr. James Tiley, goldsmith, had one of his shoulders dislocated, and some bruises in the other parts of his body.

Mr. John Cook, Jun., had his back and neck hurt much.

Ephraim Perry, slightly wounded.

Thomas Forbes, wounded in his head.

Daniel Butler, (the tavern-keeper's son,) had one of his ancles put out of joint.

Richard Burnam, son to Mr. Elisha Burnham, had his thigh, leg and ancle broke.

Eli Wadsworth, (Capt. Samuel's son,) is much wounded and burnt, in his face, hands, and other parts of his body.

John Bunce, Jun., (an apprentice to Mr. Church, Hatter,) wounded in the head.

Normand Morrison, (a lad that lives with Capt. Tiley,) a good deal burnt and bruised.

Roderick Lawrence, (Capt. Lawrence's son,) slightly wounded.

William Skinner, (Capt. Daniel's son,) had both his thighs broke.

Timothy Phelps, (son to Mr. Timothy Phelps, shop-joiner,) had the calf tore off from one of his legs.

Valentine Vaughn, (son of Mr. Vaughn, baker,) had his skull terribly broken.

Horace Seymour, (son of Mr. Jonathan Seymour, Jun.,) two sons of Mr. John Goodwin, a son of Mr. John Watson, and a son of Mr. Kellogg, hatter, were slightly wounded.

Two mulatto and two negro boys were also wounded.

We learn from the subsequent numbers, that Doct. Nathaniel Ledyard, Mr. Wm. Gardiner, and Richard Burnham, aged 19, died of their wounds, making six in the whole. Doct. N. Ledyard was the son of John Ledyard, Esq., who that spring represented the town of Hartford in the General Assembly."

Mary Church and Rebecca Burnham ; sons Samuel and Joseph, executors. Will dated Nov. 20, 1727. Inventory about £600.

BURNHAM, WILLIAM, son of Thomas, Sen., of Podunk, settled in Wethersfield. Married Eliz'th —, and had children,

1. Wm. Jun., graduated at Harvard College, 1702, d. Sept. 23, 1750, a'd 65.
2. Nathaniel, graduated at Yale College, 1709, m. Mehetabel, daughter of Major John Chester, May 5, 1714.
3. Jonathan, b. March 21, 1692, m. Mary, daughter of Major John Chester, Jan. 1, 1718.
4. Mary, b. Sept. 2, 1694, d. April 17, 1715.
5. Abigail, b. Dec. 16, 1696.
6. David, b. Oct. 12, 1698.

Elizabeth, the mother, d. Nov. 19, 1717, and Wm., Sen., m. for second wife, widow Martha Gaylor, of Windror.

This was one of the most respectable families of Wethersfield.

BURNHAM, RICHARD, son of Thomas, Sen., of Podunk, was a blacksmith by trade, and made himself trouble by mending guns for the Indians. He m. Sarah Humphryes, June 11, 1680, and had issue,

1. Sarah, b. July 11, 1683.
2. Rebecca, b. Sept. 20, 1685.
3. Mercy, b. April 14, 1688.
4. Mary.
5. Richard, b. July 6, 1692.
6. Martha Esther, b. March 22, 1697.
7. Charles, b. July 23, 1699.

9. Michael, b. May 30, 1705.

Richard Burnham, of East Hartford, d. Feb., 1754, aged 61. His wife Hannah d. March 28, 1784, aged 89 years.

BURNHAM, REV. WM., son of William, of Wethersfield, graduated at Harvard College in 1702, and settled in the ministry at Kensington, Dec. 10, 1712, and d. in 1750. He appears to have had two wives. His first wife died some time before he did. His son, Capt. William, was m. and resided near his father. He also had sons Josiah and Appleton. He gave his house and homestead to his youngest son. His large tracts of land, divided or undivided, in Farmington, he gave equally to his three sons, as well as lands in other towns. He left four daughters, viz., Hannah, wife of Jeremiah Curtiss, of Southington; Lucy, the wife of Jacob Root, of Hebron; Abigail, the wife of Lieut. Robert Welles, of Newington; and Mary, the wife of John Judd, of Farmington. To his daughters he gave his servants, furniture, money, plate, books, cattle, swine, horses, indeed all his personal property, except his tools for husbandry. His Spanish Indian woman, (Maria,) he gave liberty to live with any of his children, and made them responsible for her support. His mulatto boy, James, he desired Abigail to take at appraisal; in case she refused, he then required William to take him upon the same terms, and if he refused, then to have him disposed of in one of the families of his deceased wife's children, or her sister's children. Rev. William was a gentleman of great wealth. His son, William, was his executor.

BURNHAM, CAPT. WILLIAM, son of Rev. William, great-grandson of Thomas, Sen., resided at Kensington, (then Farmington.) He died in 1749. Wife, Ruth. Elisha was his only son, to whom he gave half of his estate; the other half he gave to his two daughters, Sarah and Ruth. He left an estate of £8,246, 10s. 11d. Distribution on file, 1756, and perhaps he left a daughter Mehitabel. Sarah m. Elisha Pratt, 1726.

BURNHAM, JONATHAN, son of Wm., Sen., of Wethersfield, b. 1692, m. Mary, daughter of Major John Chester, Jan. 1, 1718, and had issue,

2. Elizer, b. March 21, 1722, d. in infancy.
3. Abigail, b. Aug. 17, 1727.
4. Prudence, b. Dec. 1, 1729, d. 1730.
5. Second Elizer, b. June 24, 1733.
6. Mary, b. Aug. 9, 1735, d. same month.

The father d. Jan. 24, 1752; the mother d. April 19, 1766.

BURNHAM, JOHN, son of John, had issue,

1. Silas, b. Nov. 27, 1721.
2. Mary, b. Dec. 30, 1722.
3. Stephen, b. Nov. 25, 1724.
4. Sarah, b. July 19, 1727.
5. Daniel, b. Nov. 4, 1730.
6. Mabel, b. May 7, 1734.

BURNHAM, THOMAS, 3d, m. a daughter of John Strong, of Windsor, who was executor of his will, dated Feb. 11, 1725-6. Inventory dated May 20, 1726. He left three children, viz.,

1. Thomas.
2. Elizabeth.
3. Esther.

THOMAS, Sen., made free at Hartford, 1657.

JOHN, of Ipswich, Mass., in 1648.

THOMAS, of Ipswich, before 1648.

Thomas, Sen., readmitted to his freedom in May, 1665. Bernam, Robert, tax payer at Dover, N. H. in 1657.

Four of the name of Burnham, have graduated at Harvard Coll. One Burnham at Yale College, and Burnham at Brown Univ.*

BURNHAM, BURNAM, BURNUM, EBENEZER, and his wife Dorathy, with Mary Howard, all from Ipswich, Mass., joined the church at Hampton, Conn., in full communion, Oct. 20, 1734, where the name was generally spelled "Burnam," as it often is on other Connecticut records.

BURNHAM, ISAAC, and Eunice, his wife, joined the church at Hampton, Nov. 16, 1766.

BURNAM, JOSEPH, m. Lucy Bennet, of Hampton, Dec. 11, 1746.

Perhaps Ebenezer, Joshua and Isaac Burnham, were the sons of Ebenezer and Dorothy, who had no children born in Hampton. The Burnhams, from Ipswich to Hampton, are not descendants of Tho's, of Hartford and Podunk; though there was a Thomas Burnam at Ipswich as early as 1647, and he may have been identical with the Thomas, of Hartford. This is all the evidence found of those at Windham and Hartford being relatives.

BURNHAM, EBENEZER, of Hampton, m. Martha Hebard, Jan. 1, 1746, and had issue, born at Hampton, viz., Hannah, b. Nov. 27, 1746; Ebenezer, Jun., b. Feb. 17, 1748; John, b. Dec. 20, 1749; Josiah and Daniel, b. March 21, 1753; Mary, b. Sept. 14, 1755; Eliza, b. Aug. 2, 1757; James, b. Aug. 21, 1759; Jedediah, b. Dec. 12, 1761; Eliphaz, b. March 17, 1764.

BURNHAM, ISAAC, of Hampton, m. Eunice Holt, March 22, 1747, and had issue, Jacob, b. April 19, 1748, d. 1749; Sarah, b. 1750; Joseph, b. April, 1752; Eunice, b. 1754; Cliranna, b. 1760; Roswell, b. Nov. 15, 1761; Isaac, Jun., b. March 8, 1765; Tryphoena, b. August 21, 1767.

BURNHAM, JOSHUA, of Hampton, m. Abigail Mainard, April 19, 1740, and had issue, Sarah, b. Sept. 2, 1742; Joshua, b. March 8, 1746; Abigail, b. Jan. 18, 1748; Dorothy, b. Nov. 9, 1749, and Lucy, b. Sept. 10, 1751.

Four of this name have graduated at Harvard College, two at Yale, and one at Brown.

BURNHAM, ISAAC, and John Welder, of Hartland, members of a convention, in 1788 to ratify the constitution of the U. States.

This name is yet frequently found in Windham County and other parts of Connecticut.

Burnam has three coats of arms; Burnham, (Suff.) one; and three others. Also, Burnham-Abbey, (Buckinghamshire,) one.

BURNET, (See BURNAP.)

* BURRALL, WM., was an Englishman by birth and education.

* BURRALL, WILLIAM, of Simsbury.—Mr. Belcher, who was a large proprietor in the copper mine at Simsbury, Conn., about 1713, went to England for the purpose of procuring a refiner, and twelve miners, to dig and raise the copper ore, and have it refined. On his return from England, he brought with him his twelve miners and Mr. Wm. Burrall as a refiner. The furnace was erected at Boston, by direction of the company. Mr. Burrall soon after learned that his wife had deceased at Redworth, and he m. Miss Westover, of Simsbury, who resided with her brother, Capt Jonathan Westover, an unmarried man of middle age. She was then the widow of Tho's Welton, deceased, of Waterbury. Welton died soon after his marriage, and left no children by Miss Westover, though he had several by his previous wife. She was the daughter of Jonah Westover, who at the age of eleven years, was brought from Taunton Dean, in Somersetshire, in England, at the time the army of Charles I. gained ground of the Parliament's army under Gen. Fairfax. At this time the Westover family were on the parliament side, and would all have come to New England when Jonah was sent over, but could not procure a passage; and before a passage could be procured, the fortune of war turned in favor of the parliament army, and the family finally remained in England. After Jonah became of age, he m. a daughter of Geo. Griswold, who also came from England to avoid the same disasters in their native country, and settled at Windsor. Jonah's children were Jonah, Nathaniel and Jonathan. Nathaniel d. about 21 years of age, and left no issue; Jonah m. Abigail Case, and had sons Nath'l, Jonah, John, and daughter Abigail, all born in Simsbury, where their father and grandfather died. Mr. Burrall, after his marriage with Mrs. Welton, (alias Westover,) removed to Boston, where he kept house, and where his three children were born, (says tradition.) His daughter Susan probably was born in Boston, as her birth is not recorded at Simsbury. His son Charles is recorded as born at Simsbury, Feb. 21, 1720, and Jonathan b. March 21, 1722. After the mine at Simsbury became unprofitable to the company, it was abandoned; and his son Charles in his manuscript says, "Father had a call from an English gentleman to go to Jamaica, in the West Indies, to make trial of a mine there; he therefore engaged to go, and accordingly went and engaged for three years, at £300 per year, leaving my mother in Boston, with her children,"—a part of which is incorrect. He also states that his father died in Jamaica. He is recorded as having died at Simsbury, and Capt. Jonathan Westover, (their uncle,) was appointed guardian by the Probate Court in Hartford, in 1728, for Charles, seven years old, and Jonan, five years old. The widow being left with small means to support her family, placed Charles with his uncle Jonathan Westover, until he was old enough to go to a trade. His uncle took a particular fancy to Charles, and as his uncle was about 50 years old, and a bachelor, with a good estate, Charles expected to become heir to his estate. But his uncle m. a young girl, and had children of his own. The mother had removed to Stamford, where she was visited with sickness and lameness, but being a lady of education, kept a school there of high repute. She took her son Charles to Stamford, and the following spring placed him under the care of John White, of Stamford, who was a saddler and tanner. Soon after his mother placed Charles with Mr. Saxton, who resided at Huntington, L. I., to learn the clothier's trade, where he remained

He was a refiner of Metals and a chemist. He came to New England about 1715, and left his wife in England, who died soon after his departure, and he m. for his second wife, Miss Westover, of Simsbury, Conn., a sister of Capt. Jonathan Westover, of said Sims-about two years. When he supposed he was master of his trade, he went to Norwalk, Conn., and found his mother in his absence had m. Samuel Prindle, who resided in the parish of Canaan; (this was about 1737.) Charles left Norwalk in 1737, and returned to Simsbury, and lived with John Forbes. He afterward went to Sheffield, Ma., and lived there with John Westover, where he was taken sick with a fever. After his recovery, (it then being winter,) the snow being deep, and no other road to reach Simsbury, except through Canaan and Litchfield, and this only a track in the snow, when on his way from Sheffield, in the town of Canaan (Litchfield Co.) he met his father-in-law Prindle, who had for him two woollen shirts, a pair of stockings, and cloth for a great coat, and some money, sent by his mother, supplied from her earnings in school teaching and her own industry. He then returned to Westover's, in Sheffield, and had his cloth made into a great coat. The spring after he went to his uncle Jonathan Westover's, in Simsbury. Soon after this a cancer appeared on his lip, and Daniel Adams, a friend of his, carried him to Hartford, West Division, to the care of Doct. Daniel Hooker, who cut out the cancer, and burnt the flesh with a hot iron to destroy the roots. (Doctor's bill £3, and board at old Capt. Steel's.) He returned to Simsbury, and from thence again went to Sheffield, where he labored with Nath'l Smith on wages, and during the summer was taken with fever and ague, but got in his wheat in Canaan, being three acres allowed him by his father Prindle as his share. His father Prindle moved his family to Canaan about this time, and settled near the mountain. Ch's worked for Richard Seymour, who went to Canaan from Hartford to build iron-works, near where the old Forbes iron works have since stood. He was a blacksmith by trade, and had a shop and tools in Canaan. Mr. Seymour and his wife went to Hartford in the winter, and left Charles Burrall and Samuel Stevens in full possession of his house, with pork and bread and plenty of water to live on, being their own house-keepers. His father Prindle had several tracts of land there, and finally a large farm. Charles purchased a farm in Salisbury, but finally settled in Canaan, near his father Prindle. He m. Joanna Seger, a sister of his uncle J. Westover's wife, who was a lady of great beauty. She died in child bed, about one year after her marriage at Canaan, on the 25th of Dec. He sent his daughter to the care of her aunt at Simsbury. About the next year he m. Abigail Kellogg, 18 years old, on the 25th of Dec., one year after the death of his first wife. Abigail's first child, Abigail, was born the 5th day of the next Dec. She had four sons and five daughters; her daughter Mary d. aged four years. His second wife d. Jan. 28, 1789. Col. Cha's Burrall was one of the first settlers of Canaan, (now) in Litchfield Co. Soon after his second marriage, he was chosen Constable, and Clerk of the first train-band in Canaan. He was Selectman many years, and went rapidly from an Ensign to Captain, Major and Colonel, Justice of Peace, and often a Representative to the General Assembly. He was one of the delegates in 1788, to ratify the Constitution of the United States. At the commencement of the War of the Revolution, Col. Burrall had the command of a regiment of militia. In 1776, Congress sent him a commission to raise a battalion of 800 men, consisting of eight companies, and march them to Canada, to relieve the troops there and reduce that Province. Col. Burrall raised the regiment for one year, and marched them to Canada, but proved unsuccessful, and left Canada on the retreat to Mount Independence, which they fortified. Col. Burrall was afflicted with the camp distemper and bilious fever, which reduced him to a very enfeebled state of health, and in Sept. his son Wm. went to Mount Independence, and carried his father over Lake George in a boat, and from thence in a covered wagon, on a bed, to Canaan, Ct. His afflictions, contracted in the service of his country, followed him to his death, in 1803.

Charles Burrall was appointed in May, 1774, Col. of the 14th regiment, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the decease of Col. John Williams. A call from Gen. Washington on Connecticut, March 6, 1777, for one more exertion of the public spirit of Conn. to supply 2,000 troops of the bury, for her second husband. She was then the widow of Thomas Welton, deceased, of Waterbury, and had no children by her first marriage. Mr. Burrall had children by this marriage, viz.,

1. Susan, b. supposed in Boston, as her birth is not recorded in Simsbury.
2. Charles, b. at Simsbury Feb. 21, 1720, and so recorded there.
3. Jonathan, b. at Simsbury, Conn., March 21, 1722.

BURRALL, COL. CHARLES, b. March 4, 1720, son of William, the Englishman, m. first, Joanna Segar, b. 1722, she d. 1745, and had a child b. in Canaan, Conn., viz.,

1. Joanna, b. Dec. 20, 1745.

Abigail Kellogg, second wife, b. 1728, d. 1789.

2. Abigail, b. Sept., 1747, d. 1838.
3. William, b. July 18, 1749.
4. Charles, b. Feb. 18, 1751.
5. Susannah, b. Feb. 18, 1753, d. 1802; no issue.
6. Mary, b. June 28, 1755, d. June 22, 1759.

militia, to march to Peekskill forthwith for a short service, was complied with by the state, and 144 men were detached from (the 14th) Col. Burrall's regiment, and the remainder of the 2,000 men, from nine other regiments. Col. Burrall was ordered by the Governor and Council, October 1777, to direct such a guard as he should deem necessary for the security of the furnace and arms at Salisbury.

The poverty of Col. Burrall in his boyhood, was occasioned by the decease of his father, but like Gen. Jackson, he never had his spirits dampened, but misfortune only sharpened his ambition to press forward. He died at Canaan in his old age, in 1803, a gentleman of wealth and high standing in Litchfield County, and left to his posterity in his life and character, a sample worthy of imitation.

* List of the Members of the Convention of Connecticut, Jan. 3, 1788, for the ratification of the Constitution of the United States, and their votes indicated, by those who voted against the approval being in italics.—(Collected by W. S. P.)

"Convention met January 3, 1788.

Gov. Matthew Griswold, President; Jedediah Strong, Secretary.

After organization at the State House, the Convention adjourned to the North (Centre) Meeting House. The debate was opened by Judge Oliver Ellsworth, in favor of adoption. The next day, Dr. Wm. Samuel Johnson followed on the same side. On Monday, the 7th, Gen. James Wadsworth led forth in opposition. He maintained that it gave the power of the purse to the general Legislature; another paragraph gave the power of the sword; and that authority which has the power of the sword and purse is despotic. He objected against imports and excises, because their operation would be partial, and in favor of the Southern States. Mr. Ellsworth replied. The vote was taken on the 9th, after brief speeches by Gov. Samuel Huntington, Gov. Oliver Wolcott, Hon. Richard Law, and others."

BURROUGHS, BURROWES, BURROWS, BURRUS, BURRAS, BURROES, ROBERT, was the first of the name found in Conn. He settled first at Wethersfield, where he owned land in 1641, and was a defendant in court at Hartford, Dec., 1645. In 1645, Samuel Ireland d. at Wethersfield, and the inventory of his estate was presented in court at Hartford, by Jo. Edwards, and Mary, his relict, then the wife of Robert Burrows, to administer and have her thirds, and the other two-thirds set out to her two daughters, Martha and Mary, being £30 each. Robert m. the widow of Ireland, before the estate of the latter was settled in 1645-6. He had been an early settler at Wethersfield, and after his marriage, removed to N. London, about 1650, and soon settled at Poquanuck. He is in the list of those enumerated by Miss Caulkins, who worked at the mill dam in N. London, in July, 1651, and was one of the earliest settlers on the west side of Mystic, and he had a grant of "a parcel of land between the west side of the river, and a high mountain of rocks." Dated April 3, 1651. Goodman Burrose was chosen ferryman for Mystic River, to ferry a horse and a man for a groat. He was rated for his minister tax at N. Lond. on £246, in the year 1666. He sold his house-lot in 1653, which the town gave him, to Edward Culver, from Dedham, Mass. Robert was trustee for the two daughters of his wife, by her first husband, which was delivered to their father-in-law, (Burrows,) by John Lattimer, of Wethersfield, Oct. 20, 1651, and pledged his house, land, &c., at Pequannock, as security for Martha and Mary Ireland. Mary, wife of Robert, d. in Dec., 1672.

Robert had two sons, Samuel and John, and perhaps others. The two sons were made freemen in the Colony, in October, as early as 1669. (Caulkins and Col. Rec.) JOHN, son of Robert, m. Hannah, daughter of Edward Culver, and had children. There was a John Burrows settled at Enfield, in 1680, and d. in 1691, aged 42, and had one son who settled at Enfield, who had sons b. in Enfield, viz., John, b. 1711; Simon, b. 1719; David, b. 1724; Abner, b. 1728, and a daughter Mary, who m. Nehemiah Chandler, Sen., and d. 1807, aged 95 years. Miss Caulkins also says, that John Burrows married Lydia, daughter of Hugh Hubbard, b. Feb. 7, 1675-6, of N. London. It appears that John, son of Robert, remained at N. London as late as Oct., 1704, as his name is in the list of patentees, sanctioned at that time by the Governor and Company of the Colony of Connecticut, while Samuel's name is omitted. Robert d. in 1682, and his wife Mary d. in 1672. This name was at Stamford before 1700, and was also found at Farmington many years since. MARY d. at Middletown, July 12, 1851, aged 83. NATHAN, son of Joseph Burr, and grandson of Moses, settled at Auburn, N. Y., and has become a man of large estate. He m. a daughter of Charles L. Porter, of E. Hartford, Conn., and has children.

BURR, JEHU, was in Mass. as early as 1630; freeman, 1631; a member of the church at Roxbury, Mass., while he resided there before 1636. He was a carpenter by trade, and was one of the first eight persons who came from Roxbury, Mass., to Agawam, (Springfield,) with Wm. Pynchon, in 1636, and one of the principal pioneers in this great enterprise. The agreement made by these eight men who settled Agawam, was dated May 13, 1636. It appears that Mr. Wm. Pynchon and his company, intended when they first came to Springfield for a few years, to unite with the Conn. Colony, as we find Mr. Pynchon a member of the Gen. Court at Hartford, Nov. 1, 1636 and 37, and some sessions afterward; and Jehu Burr, by the Gen. Court of Conn. in 1637, was appointed collector of rates for Agawam, and a committee or member of the lower house of the Gen. Court in April, 1638, and in 1641. Mr. Burr remained an active and useful member of society at Springfield about eight years. He then removed to Fairfield, about 1644, where he held a high standing in his new society, as a man of worth, as he represented the town of Fairfield at the Gen. Court in Hartford, in 1645, and in April, 1646, and six other sessions before the union of the two colonies. In Oct., 1644, the Gen. Court appointed Jehu Burr and Eph'm Wheeler, of Fairfield, collectors for Uncowa, to raise funds to aid scholars at Cambridge College, in Mass. In 1660, he was a grand-juror for Fairfield, with twelve other important men in the Colony, and as such was ordered by the Gen. Court to "inquire and consider of ye misdemeanors and breaches of the orders of this Colony," and present to the Particular Court the next Oct., all offences.

In May, 1664, he was appointed Commissioner for the town of Fayrefeild, and ordered to repair to a magistrate and take the oath.

John and Nathaniel, his sons, of Fairfield, made freemen in 1664. Little is found of Jehu Burr before he came to Roxbury. The honor of being the ancestor of Reverend Aaron Burr, of Newark, New Jersey, and afterward President of the New Jersey College, and of Hon. Aaron Burr, son of Rev. Aaron, and late Vice President of the U. S.; of Gen. Thaddeus Burr, of Fairfield, one of the Governor's Council of Safety in 1777, and one of the most efficient officers in Conn. during the War of the Revolution, with his valorous wife. Also, Samuel and Hon. Peter Burr,—has been meeded to Rev. Jonathan Burr, of Dorchester, Massachusetts, through his son John Burr. It is now fully settled, that Jehu and not Rev. Jonathan, of Dorchester, was the ancestor of these important personages from Fairfield. The cause of this error arose from the fact that the name of Jehu, on the Fairfield records, has been taken for John.

BURR, JEHU, had sons Jehu, John, Nath'l and Daniel.

BURR, JEHU, JUN., son of Jehu, the carpenter, had sons Daniel, Hon. Peter, Samuel, and daughters.

BURR, HON. PETER, son of Jehu, Jun., graduated at Harvard College in 1690, (see Catalogue,) and became one of the distinguished men of New England.

BURR, DANIEL, son of Jehu, Jun., had six sons and four daughters, Stephen, Peter, David, Moses, and Rev. Aaron.

BURR, REV. AARON, son of Daniel Burr, was b. at Fairfield, Jan. 4, 1716. (See his tombstone at Princeton, N. J.) He graduated at Yale College, 1735. He settled first in the ministry at Newark, N. J., and preached there until he was appointed President of Princeton College. Rev. Aaron m. Esther Edwards, daughter of Rev. Jonathan, and had issue, Sarah, who m. Hon. Tapping Reeve, of Litchfield, who had an only child, Aaron Burr Reeve, Esq., who d. at Troy, N. Y., and left no issue now living. Rev. Aaron Burr left an only son, Col. Aaron Burr, late deceased, of New York, former Vice President of the United States. Col. Aaron had an only daughter, who m. Mr. Alston, of South Carolina. She was either murdered or lost at sea, when on her way from Charleston, S. C., to New York, to meet her father, on his return from Europe. Rev. Aaron d. Sept. 24, 1757, aged 42 years. (See Fairfield Probate Record, Town and Ch.; also, Inscription on Tombstone, Col. Rec., His. Gen. Reg., No. 29, p. 472.)

BURR, JOHN, of Fairfield, m. Sarah Fitch, and had children, John, Jun., Samuel, Jonathan, David, Mary, Debrow and Sarah. He gave his son John a part of his home meadow, which had been his father's, and entailed his lands to John, Samuel, Jonathan, David ; Mary had £100, Debrow, £100. Sarah m. Charles Chauncey, who was sole executor of his wife's mother Sarah's will. John Burr appointed his son John sole executor of his will, and desired his brother Nathaniel Burr, and his cousin Peter Burr, to be overseers of his will, dated March 19, 1693-4. He m. Sarah Fitch. Her husband made provision for his wife's portion of her father Fitch's estate. Codicil dated Oct. 22, 1694. "The Hon. Major Burr's" will, proved Nov. 6, 1694. His widow Sarah made her will June 8, 1696, in which she noticed her son Samuel's daughter Sarah Chauncey, the wife of Charles ; her daughters Mary and Debrow. Her son Cha's Chauncey, executor of her will, and Hon. Nathan Gold and Hannah Bastard, witnesses.

BURR, PETER, Clerk of Court in Fairfield, 1698 and 1702.

BURR JOHN and NATH'L, of Fairfield, made freemen October 1664. REV. JONATHAN BURR, of Dorchester, Mass., arrived in this country in 1639 ; graduated at Bennet College in 1627, d. at Dorchester, Aug. 9, 1641 ; minister at Dorchester, 1639 ; b. at Redgrave, in Suffolk, Eng., 1604. His wife, Frances, and three sons, Jonathan, John and Simon. After the death of Rev. Jonathan, in 1641, his widow m. Hon. Richard Dummer, of Newbury, and d. Nov. 19, 1682, aged 70. (Farmer.)

BURR, MATTHEW, aged 27, embarked in the Primrose, Capt. Douglass, master, per certificate under the minister's hand of Gravesend, July 27, 1635, and took the oath of allegiance and supremacy. (Somerby.)

Rev. Jonathan Burr, an assistant to Rev. Richard Mather, at Dorchester, Ms., d. Aug. 9, 1641.

Mr. Jehu Burr, Nath'l, John and Daniel Burr, were all in the list of freemen at Fairfield, Oct. 10, 1669, and Nath'l, son of Jehu, was one of the constables who made said list.

Jehu Burr, the carpenter, of Fairfield, Rev. Jonathan, of Dorchester, Rev. Aaron, of New Jersey, Hon. Aaron Burr, his son, of New York, Peter, and Samuel, and Gen. Thaddeus, of the Revolution, and his valorous wife, Eunice Burr, (see Appendix, p. 618, of Hinman's War of the Revolution,) have given a character to the name of Burr, that will ever be recorded on the pages of the history of Conn.

Burr, Thaddeus, and Jonathan Sturgis, of Fairfield, were members of the Convention of Conn., to ratify the Constitution of the U. S. in 1788 : both voted to ratify it.

Four of this name have graduated at Harvard College, thirteen at Yale College, and two at Brown University.

BURR, JOHN, of Gloucester, Mass., m. Mary Fowler, Jan. 20, 1673, and had a son Joseph, b. Dec. 7, 1675. (Gen. Reg. p. 361.)

BURR, SYMON, of Hingham, made free 1684. The name was early at Dorchester, and Hingham, Mass. Farmer notices John Burr, of Ipswich, Symon, Jonathan and others, early in Mass. There is no evidence found which proves any family relation between Jehu Burr, the carpenter, of Agawam and Fairfield, and Benjamin Burr, the first of the name in Connecticut, who settled and d. in Hartford, who was the ancestor of all the Hartford Burrs.

Burr has three coats of arms; Burrs, 1; Burre, 1; Burie, 1.

Jeremy Burr, aged 20, embarked in the Speedwell, of London, Jo. Chappell, master, for Virginia, May 28, 1635.

WILLIAM, was the ancestor of Elihu Burritt, the learned blacksmith; also of those at Southbury, Roxbury, Poughkeepsie, &c.

BURRITT, W^M, and Mary, his wife, of North Stratford, had a son Eben, b. April, 1762, and this Eben settled at Roxbury, and d. in old age.

BURRIT, ISRAEL, of Killingworth, was elected deacon in 1741, and d. Oct. 30, 1774, aged 88, at Stratford.

Burrit or Burt, has one coat of arms; Burt has three; Buret has one.

BURRIT, STEVEN, son of William, of Stratford. The Council at Hartford, Sept. 18, 1675, ordered that "the dragoones from Fayrefield County, being com up (to Hartford,) and Major Robert Treat sending to us to hasten them up to their head quarters at or neer Suckquackheeg, it was ordered that accordingly the dragoones of Fayrefield should forthwith march away up to Norwottog, and so to or army, under the conduct of Ensign Steven Burritt." Lieut. Munson had the same command of the New Haven troops, and they were both ordered in their commissions to march their men to Norwotock, and so on up the river to our army, and join them in defense of the Plantations up the river; and to kill and destroy all such Indian enemies as should assault them or the said plantations, (as would not submit to the mercy of the English, and continued in hostility against them,) &c., under the command of Major Robert Treat.

Steven Burrett, at a meeting of the Council of the Colony, Nov. 23, 1675, was appointed Commissary of the army, and empowered to grant tickets for the quartering of men and horses, and by his warrant impress other conveniences necessary for the soldiers, by the appointment of the Major or other commanders.

The Council met Jan. 17, 1675, and appointed Mr. Jonathan Sillick, Captain of Fairfield Company, and Steven Burrett, his Lieut. (See Rec. of Council.)

Steven Buret was in the list of freemen, at Stratford, 8th m. 7th day, 1669, and was confirmed an Ensign in the Train-band at Stratford, in 1672.

This name was early at Westfield.

Burt has three coats of arms; Burtt, or Birt, one; Byrt or Byritt, one.

One of this name graduated at Harvard Coll.; one at Yale Coll., and four at Brown Univ.

BURWELL, JOHN. This name is first found in Mass., at an early period. John Burwell is also found early at Milford, and a free planter there in 1639. He was from Hertfordshire, in England. He m. Alice before he came to N. England, and d. at Milford in 1649, many years before John Burwell, of the Parish of Bovingdon, of Hertfordshire, England, came over and died at Greenwich. John, of Milford, may have been the uncle of John Burewell, who m. Miss Lockwood, and d. at Greenwich; and his first visit at Milford in 1685, perhaps was to visit the family of John Burwell, then deceased, of Milford, as they were both from the same County in England. The children of John, of Milford, were probably some of them born in England. His children were, viz.,

1. John, who appears to have remained in England.
2. Zechariah, settled at Newark, N. J., under Rev. Ab'm Pierson. He m. Elizabeth Baldwin, Nov. 18, 1663. (See Deed, Milford Rec. Lib. 4, p. 258.)
3. Samuel, bap. Oct. 11, 1640; m. Deborah, and had a family of children.
4. Ephraim, bap. May 19, 1644, and had children, Ephraim, Sarah, and Samuel. Those who settled at Newtown, were of this Samuel.
5. Nathan, bap. Feb. 2, 1646, settled in Norwalk.
6. Elizabeth, d. unmarried.

This family have descendants at Waterbury, Albany, N. Y., N. Jersey, and in the West Indies. Ephraim and Zechariah, both removed from Milford, and settled at Newark, N. J., and signed the articles of government as early as 1667. (Milford Rec.)

There was a John Burwell, at Roxbury, Mass., where his daughter Sarah was b. in 1634; perhaps this was the same John, who settled at Milford, Conn., in 1639, and d. in 1649.

Burwell has four coats of arms, and Berwell has one.

BURWELL, SAMUEL, with Josiah and Samuel Baldwin, were Commissioners at Milford, in May, 1669. Ensign Samuel Burwell d. at N. Haven, Dec. 30, 1719; his daughter Ann d. 1685.

There was also another JOHN BURWELL, from the Parish of Bovingdon, near Hemel Hempstead, in Hertfordshire, in England, who came to this country about 1685, and stopped for a time at Milford, Conn. He was the son of John Burwell, of Hertfordshire, in England, who died there previous to May, 1670. His son John, when he came to America, left a large and valuable landed estate in England, in the possession of his sister, Maria Burwell, at Bovingdon, near Hemel Hempstead, in Hertfordshire. He is first found at Milford, Conn., in this country, and in Feb., 1687-8, he is next found purchasing a house-lot at Greenwich, where he about this time married Hannah "Lockward," (now spelt Lockwood,) a d'r of Gershom Lockwood, of Norwalk. In 1689, he returned to England, to see to his estate at Hemel Hempstead, and other property there, and returned to Greenwich in the spring of 1690, and immediately after, while on a visit of business to N. York, he took the small pox, and returned to Greenwich and d. May 1, 1690. His wife survived him, and afterward married a Mr. Hanford. Mr. Burwell left an only child, Hannah, as sole heir to his estate in this country, and his large estate in England. The death of Mr. Burwell, while his daughter was an infant, left no person to look after his estate in England, and therefore it has never been recovered from the wrongful possessors, by the legal heirs of John Burwell. His daughter, Hannah, m. John Betts, Esq., of Norwalk, April 15, 1708. John Betts, Esq., d. in 1745, and their children, by the name of Betts, will be found in the note below.*

BUSH, THOMAS, of Southold, L. I., made free with many others of Southold, by the Gen. Court of Conn., in 1662. This is an old name at Greenwich, Conn., and was probably from L. Island to Greenwich. Ralph, of N. York, and Mrs. Col. Wm. Mosely, of N. Haven, are of the Bush family of Greenwich. DAVID, of Greenwich, early.

Jo. Bush, 17, embarked in the Transport, of London, Edward Walker, master, July 4, 1635, by certificate from Gravesend for Virginia. In the same ship came Alexander Burlie, aged 18, Ann Bristo, 22; Robert Bateman, 20; Henry Burket, &c.

BUSH, RANDOLPH, in 1642, and JOHN, at Cambridge, in 1654.

Four of the name had graduated at Yale College, in 1844. John, of Welles, in 1753.

Four by this name have graduated at Yale College.

Busche, a German name, is the same as the American name Bush.

BUSHMORE, THOMAS; (this name was Rushmore, though on the Conn. Records the R is formed more like a B, than an R, and has been so printed.) He was in Connecticut in 1649, and in 1663 he became a troublesome settler at Hempstead, L. I., by opposing the government of Connecticut there. Being a man of energy and talents, the magistrates of Connecticut advised the inhabitants of Hempstead, that in case Rushmore continued to oppose them, to elect an able and judicious man in Hempstead to the office of Constable, firstly displacing Rushmore, and directed Mr. Hicks to administer the oath of office to the person so elected Constable. Also advised that the inhabitants of the English towns on L. Island, should submit to the officers elected by the towns.

Thomas Rushmore, of Hempstead, L. I., for disorderly conduct on the Sabbath, in the meeting-house, was committed to prison until the Court should see fit to free him, Sept., 1649. The name of Rushmore yet continues on Long Island and in the city of N. York, all of whom, as far as known, originated in Hempstead, and several of them possess the energy and business tact of Thomas, Sen. (See RUSHMORE. Colony and Hempstead Rec.)

BUSHNELL. This name is mentioned by Farmer, at an early period in Mass. Widow Bushnell, of Boston, in 1637. Goodman Bushnell. JOHN, of Boston, in 1665. Several persons of this name are early found at Guilford and Saybrook. FRANCIS is the first of the name in the New Haven Colony, and was one of the signers of the contract to settle Guilford, June 1, 1689. He may have been the Francis Bushnell, aged 26, a carpenter, who with Maria Bushnell, aged 26, and Martha, one year old, embarked in the Planter, for New England, in 1635. JOHN, mentioned by Farmer, at Boston, in 1665, perhaps and probably was the John Bushnell the glazier, aged 21, who embarked in the Hopewell, for N. England, in 1635, Burdock, master. Francis, who settled at Guilford, lived but a few years, as his will was proved in the Gen. Court, Oct. 13, 1646, to which Rev. H. Whitefield and Gov. Leete were witnesses? The husband of Rebecca, (daughter of Elder Francis,) of Guilford, presented in Court the inventory of the estate, Feb. 11, 1646, of all such fencing and lands as were remaining in her hands, &c., at her decease. FRANCIS, JUN., as he is called, could not have been the son of Francis, aged 26 years, when he embarked for N. England, if the age of Francis, Jun. was 82, at his decease in 1681. In May, (22,) 1648, he was consulted about taking the Guilford Mill, and the same year he removed to Saybrook, where he built a mill on Oyster River, and the town of Saybrook gave him a tract of land, on condition that he should keep up the mill, for the benefit of the proprietors of the town. He was chosen a deacon at Saybrook, about 1648 or 9, and held the office until his death, Dec. 4, 1691, aged 82 years, so that he must have been b. in England, in 1599.

Francis, who d. in 1681, m. a sister of Robert Chapman, of Saybrook, and had children, viz.,

1. Elizabeth, m. Wm. Johnson, of Guilford.
2. Samuel, m. Ruth Sanford, and had children, Nath'l, Daniel or David, and Samuel, who d. Oct. 11, 1771.
3. John, m. Sarah Scranton, of Guilford, May 15, 1665, and had issue, John, b. March 5, 1665-6; Sarah, b. 1668; Hannah, b. 1670; Mary, b. 1672, and Eliz'th, b. 1674.

BUSHNELL, RICHARD, who was at Saybrook about 1644, was probably a brother of Francis, of Guilford. On the 4th of October, 1648, he m. Mary, daughter of Matthew Marvin, then of Hartford. She was born in England, and came to Hartford with her parents, and arrived in Mass. in 1635, when she was about six years of age, and her father continued in Hartford until the settlement of Norwalk, about 1651, when Matthew and his family removed and settled there. (See MARVIN.)

Richard and Mary Bushnell had issue, Richard, b. 1653, and Joseph, b. 1651; Mary b. 1654; ~~second Mary~~ b. 1657. Richard, the father, owned land in Norwalk in 1655, but probably never located his family there. Richard had a £200 lot granted to him at Norwalk, which lot Robert Stewart (ancestor of I. W. Stuart, Esq.) purchased Jan. 22, 1674. Richard, Sen., probably d. at Saybrook, about 1658, before the settlement of Norwich, and his widow Mary m. for her second husband, Deacon Thomas Adgate, then of Norwich, (and before of Wethersfield and Saybrook.) He had two d's by his first marriage, b. in 1651 and 3, and his second wife had two sons and two daughters, by her first marriage. The second marriage produced three daughters and one son, Thomas, b. 1669; he became a deacon, and died when over 91 years old, and had sons Thomas and Matthew Adgate.

Joseph and Richard, sons of Richard and Mary (Marvin,) went to Norwich when young, and though under age, were proprietors in Norwich, and lived with their aunt, the wife of John Holmsted, (Olmsted.)

RICHARD, son of Richard, deceased, of Saybrook, m. Elizabeth Adgate, (a daughter by Mr. Adgate's first wife,) in 1672. His sons were, Caleb, b. 1679, and Benajah, b. in 1681. Mr. Bushnell was a standing justice of the peace in Norwich, for many years, and one of the principal inhabitants there. His brother Joseph appeared before him, and complained of himself for killing a buck, June 3, 1708. Richard, Esq., d. in Norwich in 1727, aged 74 years. CAPT. CALIB BUSHNELL, son of Esq. Richard, was also an important man at Norwich, as appears by his tombstone, viz., "Here lyeth what was mortal, of that worthy gentleman, Capt. Caleb Bushnell, son to Capt. Richard Bushnell, Esq., who died Feb. 18, 1724, aged 46 years, 8 months and 23 days."

BUSHNELL, JOSEPH, a brother of Richard, Esq., of Norwich, m. Mary Leffingwell, daughter of Thomas, in 1673. His sons were Joseph, b. 1677; Jonathan, b. 1679; Nathan, b. 1686. His wife

d. March 31, 1748, aged 91 years. Joseph, the father, d. Dec. 23, 1748, aged 97 years. The Bushnells of Norwich, have been valuable citizens there since the first settlement of the town. (Record, and Miss Caulkins' History of Norwich.)

BUSHNELL, WM., was at Saybrook probably as early as 1644, as his first child was born or recorded there in 1644. Who his wife was is not found. Deputy to Gen. Court, May, 1670. Wm., Sen., d. Aug. 31, 1684. His children were,

1. Joshua, b. May 6, 1644, m. Mary Seymour, May 16, 1654.
2. Samuel, b. middle of Sept., 1645, d. 1727.
3. Rebaka, b. Oct. 5, 1646.
4. Wm., Jun., b. Feb. 15, 1648; ancestor of Dr. Bushnell.
5. Francois, b. Jan. 6, 1649, m. Ruth Sanford, 1684, and settled at Norwalk.
6. Stephen and Thomas, b. Jan. 4, 1653.
7. Judith, b. Jan., 1655, m. Dr. Joseph Seward, of Durham, 1681.
8. Abigail, b. middle of Feb., 1659, m. John Seward, of Guilford, 1679.

In recording the death of the above Wm., Sen., at Saybrook, he is recorded the son of John, Sen., of Boston.

Thomas, b. in 1661; Lydia m. Caleb Seward, of Durham, in 1686.

BUSHNELL, LIEUT. WM., son of Wm.; his wife Rebeckah d. May 14, 1703, and was the mother of his children, viz.,

1. Sarah, b. March 1, 1673-4.
2. Eph'm, b. Feb. 14, 1675.
3. William, b. April 3, 1680.
4. Esther, b. Nov. 2, 1683.

After the death of his wife Rebeckah, May 14, 1703, he m. widow Sarah Sanford, or Bull, June 7, 1705.

BUSHNELL, WM., son of the last Lieut. Wm., b. 1680, mar'd Catherine J., April 16, 1701, and had issue, viz.,

1. Nehemiah, b. April 22, 1701.
2. Wm., b. Oct. 26, 1703.
3. Stephen, b. April 29, 1708.
4. Lydia, b. July 6, 1712.

BUSHNELL, WM., son of the above, b. 1703; wife Mehitabel. Issue, b. at Hartford,

1. Mehitabel, b. Feb. 28, 1726-7.
 2. Sarah, b. Jan. 31, 1728-9.
 3. Mary, b. Oct. 27, 1730.
 4. Elizabeth, b. Feb. 24, 1732-3.
 - 5 and 6. Susannah and Abigail, b. May 12, 1735.
- (No sons found.)

BUSHNELL, FRANCIS, b. 1649, son of Wm., Sen., of Saybrook, removed and settled at Norwalk, where he m. Hannah, d'r of Tho's Seamer, of Norwalk, Oct. 12, 1675, and had a daughter Hannah, b. Aug. 22, 1676; Mary, b. Dec. 21, 1679. Soon after the birth of Mary, he removed with his family to Danbury, in the early settlement of the town, and where he had five other daughters born. (Records burnt during the war of 1775.) He left no sons. Mary, who was born at Norwalk, had four sisters, who lived to a great age. Mary or Mercy Bushnell, m. Major John Bostwick, of N. Milford, Jan. 3, 1712, (see BOSTWICK,) and among other children, she was the mother of Rev. David Bostwick, who was b. 1721, who was pastor of a church on L. Island, and afterwards in the city of N. York. After the death of Maj. Bostwick, she m. for her second husband, Col. James Lockwood, of Norwalk. She d. Nov. 5, 1767, aged 80, and was the youngest of the five old sisters, who were all living in Danbury and Norwalk in 1764. The eldest in 1764, was 87 years old; the second in her 86th year; the third in her 84th year, the 4th in her 81st year, and the 5th, Mrs. Lockwood, in the 77th year of her age. The eldest of these sisters m. Rev. Seth Shove or Shrove, the first minister of Danbury. (Taylor's Saybrook and Norwalk Rec.)

* The Bushnells of Conn., have been noted for their mechanical ingenuity and talents, and particularly David Bushnell, of Saybrook, (of that part now called Westbrook.) He graduated at Yale College in 1775. He was a great proficient in mathematics while a member of college. He became the inventor of the "American Turtle," a machine to annoy the British vessels which often came near our shores, during the war of the Revolution, which aided to keep them in check. As early as 1776, the Gov. and Council of Conn. requested Mr. Bushnell to appear before them and explain his machine for blowing up ships, which he did. After he retired, they voted that they were under bonds of secrecy, and directed the Dep. Gov. to reward Mr. Bushnell for his attendance, and inform him that the Gov. and Council fully approved of his plan, and desired him to proceed and make all necessary preparation and experiments about it, with the expectation of proper public notice and reward. (Col. Rec.) In 1777, David Bushnell, with Col. Huntington, appeared before the Gov. and Council again, upon this subject, and exhibited a new invention for annoying ships, &c. They gave him an order on officers, agents and commissaries, to afford Mr. Bushnell assistance of men, boats, powder, lead, &c., as he should wish, and to be delivered to him without stint. April 3, 1778, the Gov. was desired by the Council to write to the Conn. Delegates in Congress, relative to this machine, and request them to lay the same before Congress, &c. This gave Mr. Bushnell a high reputation. He was appointed a Captain of a company of sappers and miners, and served until the close of the war. Mr. Bushnell was probably never married, as J. Hill says of him, (Hill's War Rec., Appendix, p. 585,) "He died at an advanced age in the state of Georgia, a few years since, after acquiring a handsome property, which was brought on by his friend, and delivered to the children of his deceased brother Ezra, together with some curious machinery, partly built," &c.

The title of Deacon has been appended to many of this name, viz., Francis, of Saybrook, about 1648; Joseph, Dec., 1742, d. aged 88; Samuel, 1771; Benjamin, 1786, of Pautapaug, d. aged 77; Deacon Jonathan, of Westbrook, 1796, and several others. The Bushnells of Norwich, have been prominent, leading men there since the early settlement of the town. (See Note p. 88.)

BUSHNELL, SAMUEL, son of Wm., Sen., of Saybrook, m. Patience Rudd, Oct. 7, 1675, and had issue, Abigail, b. July 27, 1677; Judith, b. Sept. 14, 1679; Samuel, b. Aug. 21, 1682; Jonathan, b. April 10, 1685; Daniel, b. Feb. 20, 1687; Nathaniel, b. Feb. 18, 1690; Hepzibah, b. Aug. 19, 1701, and Ebenezer, a twin, 1701; Priscilla, b. Dec. 19, 1703, and Josiah, b. June 9, 1706. (Perhaps the four last were children of Samuel, Jun., and Priscilla Pratt, his wife.)

BUSHNELL, STEPHEN, son of William and Catherine, of Saybrook, and brother of Nehemiah, born in 1708, d. at Farmington in 1750, and his brother Nehemiah gave bonds for Temperance, relict of Stephen, to administer on the estate. Stephen, at the time of his death, had £12 in real estate at Saybrook. He left children, Stephen, b. Sept. 18, 1743; Abraham, b. Dec. 27, 1744; Temperance, three years, and Catherine, about one year old. His two sons were b. at Saybrook. His real estate valued at about £300.

BUSHNELL, STEPHEN, son of Stephen, of Farmington, and brother of Ab'm, settled at Whitestown, N. Y., where he raised a family and became wealthy.

BUSHNELL, AB'M, (above,) son of Stephen, was the grandfather of Dr. Horace Bushnell, of Hartford. He resided at Canaan Falls, Conn., and m. Miss Ensign, of Salisbury, and had twelve children, who all lived to mature age, viz., Polly, Samuel, Ensign, Esq., (the father of Dr. H. Bushnell,) John, Lois, Electa, Sedgwick, James, Myron, Alvira and Harleyet, &c.

BUSHNELL, ENSIGN, Esq., the second son of Ab'm, removed to Starksborough, Vt., when about 21 years of age. He afterward returned to Litchfield, Conn., where his son, Dr. Horace Bushnell, of Hartford, was born. About two years after, he removed with his family to New Preston, in Washington, where he remained several years, and then removed to the state of New York. The children of Ensign Bushnell were Horace, D. D., Rev. George, &c.

BUSHNELL, HORACE, son of Ensign, graduated at Yale College in 1827, with a high reputation as a scholar, and was appointed a tutor at Yale in 1829, where he continued about two years. He afterward, for a time edited a paper in the city of N. York. After he was thoroughly prepared for the pulpit, he was ordained over the North Congregational Church at Hartford, May 22, 1833; where in all the agitation which has been raised against him, out of the pale of his own Church and Society, his parishioners have sustained him through good and evil report, which is the most powerful evidence of their attachment to him, his principles and demeanor as a clergyman. His reasoning powers, aided by a finished education, in general literature, and particularly in theology, have placed him at the head of his profession, not only in the state, but the country. Dr. Bushnell, in early life, m. Miss Mary Apthorp, of N. Haven, and has had five children, three of whom are living. The line of descent to Dr. Bushnell, from the first settler, has been, John, of Boston; William, of Saybrook; Wm. 2d, of Saybrook; Stephen, of Farmington; Abraham, of Canaan Falls; Ensign, of New Preston, and Horace Bushnell, D. D., of Hartford.

Francis Bushnell, a carpenter, aged 26, and Marie Bushnell, (probably his wife,) aged 26, and Martha, an infant, aged one year, embarked for New England in the Planter, April 6, 1635. (Mass. His Col., vol. 8.) Francis was certified by the Minister of St. Albans, Hertfordshire, England. Lord Bacon had a Secretary by the name of Bushnell, at St. Albans.

BUSHNELL, JOSHUA, son of William, son of John, of Boston, m. Mary Seymour, in May, 1682. (Ch. Rec.) Children, Thankful, b. Jan. 3, 1686; Joshua, Jun., b. Nov. 18, 1690; Hannah, b. 1693. His son JOSHUA, b. 1690, m. Margaret Chapman, Jan. 21, 1713; she d. 1716, and he m. Elizabeth Hawley, Feb. 23, 1717, and had issue, b. at Saybrook, Mary, b. Aug. 27, 1714, by his first wife, and Phineas, b. April 23, 1718, by his second wife, and perhaps others. Joshua Bushnell gave a deed dated 1778, of eighty acres of land on the west side of a swamp to Samuel Chipman, "now late of Salisbury."

BUSHNELL, JOHN, son of Francis, of Saybrook, m. Sarah Scranton, and had issue, John, b. March 5, 1665; Sarah, b. Sept. 17, 1668; Hannah, b. Nov. 10, 1670; Mary, b. Feb. 20, 1672, and Eliz'h, b. Dec. 23, 1674. John was selectman at Saybrook in 1686.

BUSHNELL, JOHN, of Saybrook, m. Rebecca Coalle, (Cole,) May 10, 1692, and had children, John, b. Nov. 2, 1695; Francis, b. Nov. 17, 1697; Samuel, b. March 12, 1700; Amos, b. Jan. 18, 1702; Rebecca, b. Sept. 18, 1704; Sarah, b. Dec. 19, 1706; Benjamin and Lemuel.

BUSHNELL, JOHN, of Saybrook, m. Catherine Kelsey, June 18, 1724, and had issue, John, b. March 4, 1725, d. 1731; Ira,* b. Oct. 19, 1727, (perhaps 13.)

NOTE.—"This was rit by Ira Bushnell, in the year 1791, in the sixty-fourth year of his age. Let the same be continued for a memorandum to my children and children's children. Note that"

"About the year 1662, old Deacon Francis Bushnell builded the mill that I now own. It hath BUSHNELL, EPH'M, son of Wm. and Rebecca, m. Mary Lay, Nov. 19, 1697, and had issue, b. at Saybrook, viz., Mary, b. Aug.

been in the possession of several of his posterity ever since. In the year 1636, Wm. Finnek, Lord Say and Seale, and Robert Lord Brook, laid the foundation settlement of Saybrook. The account of the family of Bushnell, from what part of England they came, I could never learn. Some of the oldest men of the family of the Bushnells, was of the mind that their fathers came from the north; others said they came from the west of England. As for their family or pedigree, I know nothing, as their parentage is lost and to me unknown. Whether there be any of the name of Bushnell now in England, I cannot tell or find out by any enquiry that I have made. As for the name of the Bushnells, it might probably arise from some occupation or office; some learned men think the word Bushnell derived from a man that preserved or pruned the young wood, in copies or forlists, for the change of an B for an L, was common in the old English words, as cudgel, hovel, cothrel, &c. The old English language is now much altered from what it was 300 years ago. The older account I can get is, that about the year 1638, when the Independents in England were persecuted so violently, on account of their religion, by some hot-headed Bishops that were truly more Papists than Protestants, they persecuted all but their own sect. Then on account of enjoying their religion, and civil liberties, there came from England six brothers of the family of Bushnells. After they had made some stay at the Massachusetts Bay, where they first landed, four of them come that remained. They first stopped at Long Island, but not liking Long Island for settlement, they come over to Guilford about the year 1648. Mr. Robert Chapman prevailed with three of them to remove to Saybrook, their trade being much wanted in Saybrook at that time, they being carpenters, and Wm. Bushnell had m. Robert Chapman's sister. Three of them, viz., Francis, and William and Richard. There was an Isaac; he was unfortunate, as it was said, in getting a bad wife. He left her and returned home to England with his effects, he being a merchant and owned a considerable estate.

My great grandfather's father Francis, lived in Saybrook about 33 years, and was deacon of the church in Saybrook, being what was called Independents. Deacon Francis Bushnell died Dec. 4, 1681, about 82 years of age. His brother Richard removed to Norwich soon after that town was settled. Deacon Francis Bushnell was father to John Bushnell, and one Samuel Bushnell. He had 5 daughters; one of them was m. to a Johnson, of Guilford, and was mother to a good credible family of the Johnsons. Mr. Johnson, the church minister of Stratford, was her grandchild. Another of his daughters m. to one Hosmore or Osmore, at Windsor or Hartford. One of her children was minister at East Haddam. Another m. a Jones, and another m. one Joseph Ingham, and one m. a Smith, at Glastenbury. My great-grandfather had but one son, named John. My great-grandfather d. in the year 1686, about 54 years of age. His brother Samuel d. Dec. 16, 1689; he left no children. My grandfather, John Bushnell, m. Rebecca Cole. She was born in Hartford. My grandfather had seven sons and two daughters; my father was the oldest of his sons that lived to grow up. My father's name John, next Francis, the third Samuel, the fourth Amos, the fifth Benjamin, the sixth Lemuel. My grandfather had a son before my father; he d. before he was two years. His daughter's names, Rebecca and Sarah; they left no children. My grandfather d. March 10, 1724, aged 63 years wanting two days. My father, John Bushnell, was m. to Catherine Kelsey, of Killingworth, June 18, 1724, in the 28th year of his age. My father had a son John, born March 4, 1725, and lived till six years and 8 months and 16 days old. He d. Nov. the 20, 1731. This 2d son was born Oct. 13 1727. My father d. Jan. 16, 1738, in the 42d year of his age.

My uncle Francis had two sons, Francis and John, both d. young. He had five daughters who lived to have families, and two that d. young. My uncle, Samuel Bushnell, had three sons who lived to grow up, and several that d. young, and one daughter. He d. in Oct., 1772, in the 72d year of his age. My uncle, Amos Bushnell, d. in the year 1733. He never m. and d. in the 28th or 29th year of his age. My uncle, Benjamin Bushnell, had three sons and one dau'r, but only his son Francis lived to marry and have children. He d. in the year 1786, in the 78th

8, 1698; David or Daniel, b. Nov. 8, 1699; Martha, b. May 16, 1701; Eph'm, b. Sept. 27, 1702; Sarah, b. April 21, 1704; Jedediah, b. March 5, 1705, d. His wife d. and he m. Anne Hail or year of his age. July, 1790, my uncle Francis d. in the 92d year of his age. My uncle, Lemuel Bushnell, is now alive, and is now in the 80th year of his age. He hath had four sons and four daughters, but two of his sons d. young; only Daniel and Lemuel lived to grow up, and have children. My mother d. April 10, 1761, in the 74th year of her age; she was the daughter of Daniel Kelsey, of Killingworth; her mother was Jane Chalker, daughter of Alexander Chalker, of Saybrook. [See CHALKER.] Ira Bushnell, (the writer,) b. Oct. 19, 1727-8, was m. to Patience Bushnell, d'r of Capt. Samuel Bushnell, Oct. 28, 1750. My wife Patience lived with me till June 28, 1764, (and d. in her 39th year.) My first d'r Catherine, was b. Aug. 11, old stile, 1751. My d'r Patience was born Nov. 4, 1754. BUSHROD, HANNAH, d. at Suffield, Sept. 8, 1731.

BUSBRAW, PETER, had a home-lot at N. London, about 1650, but did not long remain there.

BUTCHER, JOHN, was a surveyor, and acted as such for the New Roxbury Company. He was one of the thirty-eight original company to settle Woodstock, and though he was not an inhabitant of Roxbury, Mass., he was admitted into the company, and approved of by the selectmen of Roxbury, Mass. He drew a home-lot, No. 15, of sixteen acres, with sixteen acre rights. His first division of meadow was four acres, and his second division one and a half acres, and an addition afterward, and was allowed sixteen acres for surveying and aiding in the division of the meadows. His lot, No. 15, was located the west side of the eastward vale in Woodstock. He drew No. 8, in the division of the good meadow, about 1690. His home-lot was increased to twenty acres, May 26, 1690. At a meeting of the inhabitants of Woodstock, Nov. 27, 1690, at the house of Wm. Bartholomew, to divide the meadows of South Woodstock, &c., John Butcher was selected to survey it, and aid in the division, and have five shillings per day for his pains, &c. April 11, 1694, he was again appointed to survey and make another distribution.

John Butcher was one who signed the contract with others from Roxbury, Mass., Nov. 7, 1683, to settle the town of Woodstock.

Butcher has one coat of arms, and Butchers has two; Bucher, two.

The first discovery of Woodstock for a settlement. "Oct., Anno Dom. 1684. The town of Roxbury, (Mass.) in prosecution of the grant, improved Lt. Samuel Ruggles, John Ruggles, Sen., John Curtice, and Isaac Morris, to view the wilderness and finde a convenient place where they might take up the above said grant, who after due time spent in searching, found a convenient place in the Wapaquassen Country, westward of Myanekesse River."

BUTLER, WILLIAM, a brother of Richard Butler, both probably came to Hartford in company, and with Mr. Thomas Hooker and his company from Newtown, in Mass., (Cambridge,) to Newtown in Conn., (Hartford,) in June, 1636. Wm. Butler was a proprietor and in the first division of land in Hartford in 1639, and had 28 acres; his house-lot was bounded east by the road to Wethersfield, and west by John Talcott, north of Little River in H., (Map.) He possessed an estate larger than the majority of the settlers at Hartford. He lived so few years after he came to Hartford, that less is known of him than of his brother Richard; both were highly respectable settlers. Wm. Butler died at Hartford in 1647 or 8, and left no children, and divided his estate by will. He left three-score pounds to the church in Hartford; to the children of his sister West, then in England, £5 each; to his sister Winter's children, also in England, £5 each; Rev. Samuel Stone and Rev. Thomas Hooker, of Hartford, and John Steel and Mr. Wm. Goodwin, each £10; to Wm. Gibbons and Mr. John Cullick, £3 each, and the remainder of his property to his brother Richard Butler, being in all about £429.

BUTLER, DEACON RICHARD, was one of the company of first settlers at Cambridge, as early as 1632, and one of the church. He probably came from Braintree, in Essex County, in England, where others at Cambridge were from, and he and his brother Wm. Butler, must have come in company to Hartford, with Mr. Hooker, as they are soon after found at Hartford, with many others from Cambridge. He m. Eliz'th Bigelow, before he came to Hartford.

He had sixteen acres in the first land division at Hartford, in 1639.

At a Gen. Court held at Boston on the 7th of Nov. 1683. In answer to the petition of Wm. Parke, John Boulds, Joseph Grigs, John Ruggles and Edw'd Morris, Selectmen of Roxbury and in their behalf, dated Oct. 10 and 17, 1683, for a tract of land for a village to be layed out about Quialtesen, to the quantity of seven miles square. The court granted the petition, provided the grant to Major Thompson, Mr. Stoughton, Mr. Dudley and Company, should have the first choice, and make their choice before the 10th next June. And provided 30 families should settle on the plantation within three years from that time and maintain "among" y^m an able and Orthodox Godly Minister.

These facts are collected from the record of the Proprietor's records of the south half of Woodstock, the earliest settlement in the town. The north half was settled a few years later, and had a separate proprietor's book, which is lost. The Childs' were among the first settlers in N. Woodstock, from Roxbury.

There were a May and a Lyon family who were early settled in the north part of the town, and with the eight brothers by the name of Childs, were the principal men in the town, and the original farms of these families have few of them changed names since the first settlement or of which a deed has been given. Caleb Childs now lives on the same ground the oldest of the eight brothers settled, and honors his name; and the same is true as to the descendants of the other brothers. Capt. Wm. Lyon is similarly situated. To Caleb Childs, no other than the first Indian title has been given him since, except by descent.

He soon held a respectable standing in the town as a Christian, and a man of strict integrity. He was a Juror in 1643, 4, 7 and 8, and Townsman in 1644; a Grand-juror in 1660 and 62; one of the Deacons of the church, and repeatedly a Representative to the Gen. Court of the Colony, and held many other places of trust bestowed upon him by the church, town and colony, during his life. His children were some or all of them born before he came to Hartford, as his son Thomas was made free at Hartford in 1656, and John in 1657. He was appointed with Wm. Wadsworth to judge of "that y^e Varleet doth pay to redeeme y^e still," &c., in 1661. He dec'd in 1684; wife Elizth; made his will in 1677. Children named,

1. Thomas, had the upper lot in long meadow, &c.
2. Samuel, had all his land of meadow, in Wethersfield meadows.
3. Nathaniel, his meadow lot, near long meadow gate.
4. Joseph, his lands in south meadow.
5. Daniel, he gave his house, buildings, and land about it.
6. Mary Wright, he gave twenty shillings.
7. Elizabeth Olmsted, twenty shillings.
8. Hannah Green, twenty shillings.

Estate, £564, 15s.

BUTLER, SAMUEL, was accepted a freeman by the Gen. Court and took the oath Oct. 12, 1665, and was Deputy to the Gen. Court in May, 1668.

SAMUEL, DEACON, was in the list of freemen at Wethersfield in Oct. 1669, where he had settled. His wife Elizth d. before him, Oct. 12, 1681.

BUTLER, SAMUEL, son of Richard, Sen., of Hartford; will offered in Court March, 1692-3. He d. at Wethersfield, Dec. 30, 1792; will dated the same day and year. Inventory, £629, 7s. His son Samuel, executor. His children noticed in his will were,

1. Samuel, had his house, home-lot, &c.
2. James, had land in the little west field, &c.
3. Jonathan, had the fifty acre lot, &c.
4. George, had ten acre lot in little west field, &c.
5. Mary Hopkins, £5, to be paid by his son Samuel, &c.
6. Dorothy, £10, to be paid by his son Samuel, &c.
7. Elizabeth Emons, had the Indian purchase, east of Great River.
8. Sarah Bucke, a pewter platter, &c.

His son GEORGE d. unmarried, and Benjamin Churchill exhibited his inventory in Court in 1698, and his property divided by his brothers and sisters, and approved by the Court.

BUTLER, SAMUEL, son of Samuel, m. Mary Gilman, March 2, 1703-4.

BUTLER, NATH'L, son of Deacon Richard, of Hartford, b. 1641, d. at Wethersfield, Feb. 9, 1697, aged about 56. Inventory offered in Court May 11, 1698. His children were, Samuel, Wm., Hannah Case, Ann Riley, Abigail Walker, and Ruth Butler. His son Samuel, of Southampton, L. I., was adm'r on his estate, and d. before he closed the settlement of his father's estate; and Sarah, widow of said Samuel, dec'd, of Southampton, petitioned the Court at Hartford for letters of administration on said Nathl's estate, which the Court granted June 7, 1708.

BUTLER, THO'S, of Hartford, son of Richard Butler. Distribution to his children in 1697, viz., to Thomas, Samuel, Joseph, John; d'rs, wife of Edw'd Cadwell, wife of John Day, wife of Tho's Cadwell, wife of John Porter, Margaret Butler, Hope Butler, Susanna, and wife of Cornelius Holybut. He left a widow. Son Tho's, administrator.

BUTLER, THO'S, JUN., son of Tho's and grandson of Deacon Richard, m. Abigail Shepard, Aug. 6, 1691. Children,

1. Abigail, b. 1691.
2. Isaac, b. 1693; graduated at College, 1722, m. Sarah Marshfield, 1722.
3. Deborah, b. 1695.
4. Anny, b. 1698.
5. Daniel, b. 1700.
6. Elisha and Elizabeth.
7. Thomas.

BUTLER, DANIEL, son of Deacon Richard, of Hartford, m. Mabel, who survived him. Daniel d. March 28, 1692. Inventory, £391, 1s. Daniel m. Mabel, and had children, Sarah, b. Sept. 28, 1680; Mabel, b. Aug. 12, 1684; Eliz'th, b. Nov. 22, 1686; Mary, b. Nov. 7, 1689; Hannah, b. Nov. 17, 1691; no sons found.

The family of Butlers m. into the families of Hills, Kilbourn, Edwards, Williams, Goodrich, Churchill, Standish, Riley, and other old and reputable families of Connecticut.

BUTLER, JOSEPH, son of Richard, d. March 20, 1712. He had a son Charles who m. Susanna Williams, d'r of Amos, May 17, 1704, and had children, Mary, b. Feb. 25, 1706; Bathsheba, b. Sept. 21, 1709; Charles, b. March 11, 1712, d. 1713. He d. Sept. 25, 1711, in the Queen's service, at Milford, on his return home.

BUTLER, JO., aged 21, Jo. Billings, 26, &c., embarked in the Safety, for Virginia, in August, 1635.

BUTLER, HENRY, 14, passenger for Virginia, in the Assurance de Lo., J. Bromwell, master, in 1635.

BUTLER, NICHOLAS, of Eastwell, yeoman, his wife Joice, with three children, and five servants, took passage from Sandwich to New England, certified under the seal of office of Mayoralty, June 9, 1637. (Savage.)

BUTLER, GYLES, of Marlborough, England, also came to N. England.

BUTLER, RICHARD, of Stratford, was one of the first settlers there in 1639 or 40, (Plant), and a leading man in the town and colony; was several sessions a member of the General Assembly from Stratford. He was appointed Collector of Customs at Stratford by the Gen. Court, in 1658-9, and received many other marks of distinction from the town and colony. He was probably married before he went to Stratford, and had a family of daughters, but left no sons to perpetuate his name. His d'r Mary m. Mr. Hicks, of Long Island, and d'r Phebe m. Mr. Peck; perhaps other d'rs. He owned a favorite servant, who settled, after the death of Mr. Butler, at a place then called Escek, and his neighbors drove him out of Escek. In 1651, the Deputies of Stratford to the Gen. Court, informed the Court in behalf of Richard Butler, that Nimrod, an Indian, had wilfully killed some swine of Mr. Butler's, and the Court consented that Mr. Ludlow should prosecute Nimrod according to an order made by the commissioners.

BUTLER, THO'S and DANIEL, were both from Mass. to Windham, Ct., at an early period of the settlement of Hampton.

BUTLER, THO'S, of Windham, and Abigail Crafts, were married March 9, 1732, and had issue, Thomas, b. June 23, 1734; Eleazer, b. Sept. 24, 1736; Benjamin, b. April 21, 1739; Abigail, b. Jan. 10, 1744. His wife Abigail d. Jan. 11, 1744. And he m. for his second wife, Deborah Meacham, Feb. 7, 1744. She d. March 3, 1749, and he m. Thankful Luce, of Windham, June 19, 1749, and had issue, Mary, b. Sept. 20, 1750; Deborah, b. March 22, 1752; Wm., b. Jan. 27, 1754; Hannah, b. Feb. 2, 1756; Sarah, b. Mar. 14, 1760. This family came from Mass. to Windham, not known to have been connected with Richard or Wm. Butler, of Hartford.

BUTLER, DANIEL, and Hannah Parker married Dec. 5, 1744. Had two Daniels and Wm., and seven dau'rs b. at Hampton, Conn. Daniel was also from Mass.; neither is it known that the Butlers of Windham and Hampton were connected with Richard Butler, an early settler at Stratford, Ct. Daniel's children were all baptized at Hampton, the eldest May 11, 1746, and the youngest Oct. 13, 1765.

The Butlers, of Branford, who were there before 1700, perhaps were from Wethersfield or Hartford, as many people from Wethersfield settled in Branford. JOHN, of Branford, perhaps from New Haven.

BUTLER, JOHN, of Branford. The bounds between William Barker, of Branford, for himself and the land of John Todd, of New Haven, in right of his wife Hannah, heir to the estate of her brother John Butler, dec'd, of Branford, near Stoney Creek, in Branford, were settled in 1710.

BUTLER, RICHARD, had swamp land in Branford, granted him by the town in 1685. JOHN BUTLER and Cha's Tyler, chosen collectors of Branford town rate, 1685.

BUTLER, JOHN, Wm. Bartholomew and Samuel Bradfield, were surveyors of highways at Branford, in 1684. John had his division of plow land March 13, 1682, in Branford.

BUTLER, SAMUEL, Deputy, May, 1668, to the Gen. Court.

There were two families of this name in Branford, (one John was there before 1682,) who were not relatives.

The Butlers of Durham, are supposed to have been descendants of Jonathan Butler, of Saybrook.

Deacon Richard Butler, and his sons Thomas, Joseph, Nathaniel and John, were all in the list of freemen at Hartford, who lived there October 13, 1669. His son Samuel had removed to Wethersfield, and was in the list of freemen at Wethersfield. Richard Butler in the list of freemen at Stratford, 8th mo. 7th day, '69, with Arthur and John Bostick, John Birdseie, Sen., townsman, and his son John, Jr.

Butler, (Marquess of Ormonde,) has one coat of arms; Butler, (Earl of Carrick and Viscount Ikerrin,) 1; Butler, (Earl of Lanesborough,) 1; Butler, (Earl of Kilkenny,) 1; Butler, (Earl of Galloway,) 1; Butler, (Lord Dunboyne,) 1; and about 50 others.

Seven of this name have graduated at Harvard College, eleven at Yale, and two at Brown Univ.

BUTLER, JOHN and THOMAS, were not first settlers at New London. Miss Caulkins locates them there after 1650, and says that Tho's d. Dec. 20, 1701, aged 59, and John Butler d. March 26, 1733, aged 80. Katherine, wife of John, d. Jan. 24, 1728-9, aged 67, a daughter of Richard Haughton. Her daughter, Abigail Butler, April 8, 1725, m. Allan Mullins, surgeon, (surgeon,) and son of Doctor Alexander Mullins, of Galway, Ireland. WALTER BUTLER was in the east division of lands in Greenwich, Ct., in 1672. Miss Caulkins says, Walter Butler, of N. London, was probably a son of Thomas, of N. London, and m. Mary, only child of Thomas Harris, and an heiress, and that Lieut. Butler m. in 1727, Deborah, relict of Ebenezer Dennis, and had a son John bap. April 28, 1728. That the name of Walter Butler is associated with the annals of Tryon County, N. Y., as well as with N. London; that he received a military appointment in the Mohawk country in 1728, and removed his family there fourteen years after, where he was several years Capt. of the Fort. That Capt. Butler was ancestor of Col. John and Walter, who were associated with the Johnsons as royalists in the beginning of the war of the Revolution—and few of this family or descendants are now found at N. London.

Walter Butler was probably an Episcopalian, as he subscribed £10, about 1725, to build the first Episcopal Church in N. London, for their service, according to the Liturgy of the Church of England. This branch of the Butler family has produced its share of prominent men.

Butlers, or Butler, John, had an ear mark at Lyme, in 1737.

BUTLER, JOHN, m. Eliz'th Morrill, Jan., 1665, and had a d'r b. at New Haven, Sept. 9, 1667—perhaps of the Branford family.

BUTLER, JONATHAN, an Irish gentleman, came to New London, Ct., about 1724, and settled at Saybrook, where he m. Temperance Buckingham, of Saybrook, Dec. 8, 1726; he d. March 30, 1760. His grandson says they had ten children born there; but the following is the record found there of his marriage and children; yet I am inclined to believe the grandson is correct in the number of children.

Butler, Jonathan, (an Irishman,) m. Temperance Buckingham, of Saybrook, Dec. 8, 1726. "He d. March 30, 1760. (Issue recorded at Saybrook, viz.,) Elnathan, b. April 18, 1728; Jonathan, b. Mar. 28, 1730; Stephen, b. Feb. 26, 1732; Ezekiel, b. April 12, 1734; Temperance, b. March 24, 1737." He also must have had sons John and Charles.

Three of his sons, viz., Ezekiel, John and Charles Butler, settled at Branford. Ezekiel m. and had a family of children. His son Ezekiel settled near Hudson, N. Y., and had a family. Ezekiel, Jun., had a son Medad, who also m. and had sons Benj'n F., Cha's, Esq., and other children. This Benj'n F. Butler is the Hon. B. F. Butler, of N. York, who has been far famed as a politician, statesman and lawyer. As well known at Washington as Attorney Gen. of the U. S. for the Southern District of New York, as in his own city. Charles, Esq., his brother, holds a high rank in his profession as a lawyer in the state of N. York. John, son of Jonathan, Sen., m. and had a family born in Durham, Ct. He removed west of the Hudson River, in the state of New York. Charles Butler, Esq., youngest son of Jonathan, Sen., d. in Branford, Ct., Dec. 17, 1811, aged 64 years. He m. Hannah Atwater; she d. Dec. 16, 1805, aged 54. Their children were two by the name of Anna, who died young. Benedict A. d. in Brazil in 1810. Wyllis, Esq. has a family, and now resides in Branford, aged about 72 years. David d. in New Haven. Wm. d. at Trinidad, W. Indies. Nathaniel d. in North Carolina. Charles, Jun., resides in Mass. Two only of the family of Charles, Sen., are now living.

BUTLER, JOHN, was a voter at Norwalk in town affairs in 1694, (probably from Hartford or Wethersfield.)

BUTLER, WALTER, had land at Greenwich in 1672; (he appears to have been of none of the former families, except of New London.

There was a PETER BUTLER, at New London about 1699.

BUTLER, HENRY, b. in Kent, Eng., in 1624. Educated at Cambridge College. Came to N. England in 1650, and was in the ministry eleven or twelve years. He returned to England, and was settled at Yeovil, in Somersetshire, and d. April 24, 1696, aged 72.

BUTLER, RICHARD, Cambridge, 1632; freeman, 1634.

BUTLER, WM., Boston and Cambridge, freeman, 1635; he m. Eunice, sister of Tristram Coffin, who came to N. England in 1644. (Farmer.) The last Richard and William were probably the two brothers who came to Hartford. Wm. Butler was an original proprietor and settler in Hartford, in 1639; house-lot No. 17, between State and Village Streets. Richard was also an original settler at Hartford, as early as 1639; he also had a house-lot No. 26, between State and Village Streets. In Nov., 1674, Richard and Thomas Butler drew lot No. 2, in the west division, and Deacon Rich'd drew lot No. 11.

BUTLER, JOHN, of Middletown, (vol. 2, p. 44,) m. Sarah Foster, Dec. 3, 1728, and had children, Hannah, b. Dec. 20, 1729; Wm., b. Sept. 29, 1731; Peter, b. Aug. 10, 1733; Sarah, b. BUTLER, DEACON SAMUEL, of Wethersfield, d. Dec. 31, 1692, ye last day of ye year, ye last of ye month, ye last day of ye week, and he had said, so it proved, ye last of his life. (Wethersfield Rec., p. 19.) His wife, Eliz'th, d. Oct. 12, 1681.

BUTLER has fifty-seven coats of arms.

BUTTER has four coats of arms. Butters, one.

There appear to have been several distinct families in the two Colonies, at an early period, viz., Wm. and Richard, of Hartford; Richard, of Stratford; Thomas and Daniel, of Windham; Walter, of Greenwich; John and Thomas, of New London; Jonathan Butler, of Saybrook, and John, of Branford.

Walter, of N. London, was probably the same Walter Butler, previously found at Greenwich, a land holder.

Eleven of this name had graduated at Yale College, in 1850, and seven at Harvard Coll.

BUTTERFIELD, freeman, Mass., 1643. BUTTERFIELD, Woburn. NATH'L, of Chelmsford, freeman, 1682. WILLIAM, of Bolton, Ct., aged 16, chose Ephraim Shailor, of Bolton, for his guardian, in 1738.

BUTTERFIELD, of Saybrook, was taken by the Indians and tortured to death by them, in October, 1636; and the meadow where he was taken, was afterward called Butterfield's meadow, and is so named until this day.

BUTTERFIELD has four coats of arms.

BUTTERS, JOHN, had an ear mark at Lyme, 1737.

BUTTOLPH, Lt. JOHN, settled at Wethersfield, not as early as some others. He m. Hannah, and had Jonathan, b. Jan. 8, 1677; Joseph, b. Dec. 12, 1680, d. in 83; (John, David and George.) His wife d. Jan. 18, 1682. Estate, £1,042, 3s. 1d. He owned lands in Wethersfield, Hartford, Glastenbury, a farm at Lancaster, with buildings in Wethersfield and Hartford, a house and the land upon which it stood in Boston, in reversion, five acres; about 3 or 4,000 acres at Norwich. (Inventory, the last he had by his wife.) Capt. Mason and his son John were executors.

* NOTE.—Whether the three Butlers who early settled in Conn., were descended from a cobbler, or from Tho's Butler, Esq., of Clonghgrenan, in the County of Carlow, or the 9th Earl of Ormonde, is not known. They were all respectable families. A good story is told of one of the sons of Deacon John Butler, of Ma., that he often inquired of foreigners whom he happened to meet, if they knew any Butlers in their country. A man lately from Ireland, called at his house; he made of him the usual inquiry. The Irish wit answered that he did, saying they were of noble blood, that the Duke of Ormond was a Butler! Butler remarked, they were of high blood then, were they? Yes, answered the Irishman, I have seen some of them so high they stood upon nothing.

WM. BUTLER, of Salem, made free 1682. JOHN, free in Mass., 1649. WILLIAM, made free in Mass., May 6, 1635; and NICHOLAS in 1638-9. RICHARD, free in Mass., 1634. WALTER BUTLER was in the drafts for lands in the east division in Greenwich, Ct., in 1672.

His son John also d. at Wethersfield, Jan. 13, 1692, and left his wife Eliz' th. Estate, £687, and left a son David and other children. Geo. Buttolph, of Wethersfield, died about 1696. An inventory was presented of his estate by his widow, and John Buttolph and Henry Buck appointed to assist her in 1696. He left three children, Geo., aged 6 years, Elizabeth, 3, and Joseph, 2. Estate, £204, 3s. 6d. Buttolph, David, probably from Wethersfield to Simsbury, d. at Simsbury in 1717; left his wife Mary, his relict, who was admin'x. Children, Jonathan, Martha Adams, David, Penelope Case, Silence Mather, Mehitabel Holcomb, Mary and Hannah. In 1723, the widow was appointed guardian for Hannah, aged 11 years, and Temperance, aged 9 years.

BUTTOLPH, MR. JOHN, had license to retail wine and liquors to his honest neighbors, and to suffer no wine or liquors drank in his house on penalty of the law provided in such cases, and to sell to no others than house-keepers, such as would be likely to make good improvement thereof, for their comfort and refreshment, 1667.

BUTTOLPH, GEO., Simsbury, d. in 1696, and left a small estate, and children, John, David, and one other child. David d. in 1717, and left an estate of £176. John d. in 1692, and his son David was his executor.

BUTTOLPH, DAVID, "cordwinder," of Simsbury, sold land to John Slater, of Simsbury, dated May 11, 1716.

BUTTOLPH, MARTHA, wife of Jonathan, (Martha Holcomb,) daughter of Nath'l, d. Jan. 29, 1725-6; m. June 21, 1723.

BUTTOLPH, SERG'T JONATHAN, widower, m. widow Martha Phelps, Feb. 15, 1758.

BUTTOLPH, JONATHAN, Jun., m. Jerusha Dibol, July 3, 1746. Buttetolft, one coat of arms; Buttolf, one.

BUTTOLPH, NEERING, of Simsbury, b. March 11, 1724, d. March 15th, 1724. One of the family removed to Canaan, Conn.

BUTTOLPH, THO'S, free in Mass., 1641.

BUTTOLPH, MR. JOHN, of Boston, freeman, 1673.

Three of this name have graduated at Brown Univ.

BUTTOLPH, THOMAS, aged 32, his wife Ann aged 24, embarked in the Abigail, Richard Hackwell, master, for N. England.

BUTTALL, THO'S, a glover in Boston, a member of the church there in 1639. (Snow's Hist.)

BUTTOLPH, THOMAS, freeman, Boston, 1641, (perhaps same man.) (See Snow, 105.) Had sons Tho's, b. 1637; John, b. 1639. Thomas, the father, d. in Boston, 1690. His son John, above, b. 1639; probably was the John Buttolph, who settled at Wethersfield.

BYINGTON, DAVID, wife Mary, Farmington; he d. 1767. Had children, David, Eunice, Jerusha, Mercy, Patience, Joseph, Jacob. Sarah m. Nath'l Barnes, Dec. 1, 1763. Descendants of this family are now living in Wolcott, and the towns adjoining.

This name was at an earlier period in Fairfield County, where it yet continues.

BYLES, Rev. MATHER, who was ordained at New London, Nov. 18, 1757, was a son of Mather Byles, D. D., of Boston, whose mother was a daughter of Rev. Increase Mather. He was so popular at N. London, as a preacher, that his call for a settlement at N. London, was unanimous, and a salary of £100, and a gratuity or settlement of £240. The New London church, the day before the ordination of Mr. Byles, rejected the Saybrook Platform as a rule of discipline in that church. Mr. Byles was grievously afflicted by the Rogerenes, (the followers of John Rogers,) or Quakers or Rogerene Baptists. (See Caulkins.)

In April, 1768, Mr. Byles closed his ministry in N. London, by declaring himself a convert to the ritual of the Church of England, and at once called a church meeting and asked for a forthwith dismission from that church, to give him an opportunity to accept a call to become the pastor of an Episcopal church in Boston. By a letter from the wardens and vestry of the North Church in Boston, dated March 8, 1768, he acknowledged himself an Episcopalian, and accepted a call made by them, at a salary of £200. April 2, 1768, Mr. Byles made a formal demand for dismission. "Voted, that this society do fully comply with his request." The church record as brief. "April 12, 1768. The Rev. Mr. Mather Byles dismissed himself from the church and congregation." Mr. Byles left New London in great haste, on board of a packet for Newport, soon after his dismission. He preached at N. London, between ten and eleven years. (See Caulkins' Hist. N. L. Col. Rec.) He gave back to N. London, on his dismission, his previous settlement of £240.

He graduated at Harvard Coll., 1751, successor of Rev. E. Adams, 1757.

Byle has one coat of arms. Byles has one.

* In a Boston newspaper of April 14, 1768, is the following notice, viz. "We hear that Christ's Church, at the North End, have made choice of the Rev. Mather Byles, of New London, for their minister. That he accepted the same, and soon expected in town, to embark for orders."

This name was early at Ashford from Killingly, and held the office of Town Clerk many years in Ashford.

Two by this name, father and son, graduated at Harvard Coll.

ably descended from the Hartford family. (The name is Kelsey. See KELSEY.) Wm. Kelsey drew sixteen acres of land in the first land division in Hartford, 1639.

CAMPBELL, CHARLES, a member of the second church of N. London, (Montville,) in 1722, and under the preaching of Rev. Mr. Hillhouse, a minister from Ireland, and ancestor of the Hillhouse family of Conn.

CAMPBELL, MOSES, and Benj'n Dow, of Voluntown, were members of the Convention in Connecticut, in 1788, called to ratify the Constitution of the United States. Both voted in favor of it. This was not an early name in Conn., though an important one in the country. Charles Campbell was one of the first members of the church of Rev. James Hillhouse, in 1722, at N. London, (Montville.)

Coats of Arms. Cambell, (Woodford and Clayhall, Co. Essex,) 1, descended from Sir Thomas Campbell, Lord Mayor of London in 1609, 1; Campbell, (Duke of Argyll,) 1, and 54 other coats of arms.

Five by the name of Campbell, have graduated at Yale College, and four at Harvard College.

CAMP, NICHOLAS, came first to Wethersfield with the early settlers, but is found with a house-lot of six acres, one r. and twenty p., as early as 1646, at Milford. John Gibbs also left Wethersfield as early as 1639, and settled and d. at N. Haven. Nicholas is in the list at Milford, Nov. 20, 1639, of the free planters of Milford, to make "choyce of public officers," to carry on the affairs of the town. Admitted into the church at M., Dec. 2, 1643. He was taxed in Milford in 1686, on £199 estate.

CAMP, NICHOLAS, of Milford, m. Katteren Tomson, a widow, July 14, 1652; son Joseph, b. Aug. 11, 1653, d. at New Haven; Samuel, b. Sept. 15, 1655; second Joseph, b. Dec. 15, 1657; Mary, b. July 12, 1660; John and Sarah, b. Sept. 14, 1662; Abigail, b. March 28, 1667, perhaps others.

Sarah, wife of Mr. Camp, d. in childbed with twins, Sept. 6, 1645, the first adult who d. in Milford; (his first wife.)

Nicholas admitted into the church at Milford, Dec. 12, 1643.

CAMP, EDWARD; daughter Mary, b. at New Haven, April 21, 1652; Edward, Jun., b. July 8, 1650; Sarah, b. Nov. 25, 1655, probably others. The three above were recorded at New Haven.

CAMP, NICHOLAS, SEN., gave his son Nicholas, of Milford, in 1648, a house-lot of one acre and a half and twenty poles of land. Nicholas of Milford's son Samuel had for his portion the farm his father purchased of Tho's Wildman, in 1682. John Chatfield, of Derby, deeded land in Milford to said Camp, April 14, 1686. Nicholas, of Milford, deeded to his son-in-law, Joseph Peck, Jun., of Milford, a parcel of land, Nov. 1, 1687. Nicholas, of Milford, was a man of reputation; he was a Deputy to the Gen. Court, Oct., 1670, May and Oct., 1671, May and Oct., 1672, and had other places of trust.

CAMP, WM., of Milford, signed the rules to govern the town of Newark, N. J., in 1667, and probably removed to Newark.

CAMP, JOHN, of Hartford, Porter locates in Wethersfield Lane, in 1672; his wife Rebecca —. Had children b. in Hartford, viz., Hannah, b. Nov. 24, 1672; John, b. Feb. 13, 1675; Sarah, b. Campe (London) has one coat of arms.

CAMP, HEZEKIAH, m. Lydia —; removed from Milford to Southend, (E. Haven,) about 1704, and afterward removed to Canaan, in Litchfield County. They had children, Hezekiah, Abiel, Joel, Lydia, who m. Amos Morris, 1745, Rebecca, who m. David Leavitt, Abigail, who m. Joel Northrup, Sarah, and Samuel, an eminent minister of Ridgefield, where he d., and John. (See Dodd, His. E. H. p. 111.)

CANADA, ISAAC, was the first settler in what is now the town of Hampton, in Conn., as early as 1717 or 18. He m. Phebe Leonard, Jan. 21, 1730, and had issue, Isaac, b. Dec. 23, 1732; Samuel, b. April 10, 1739.

CANADA, HANNAH, was admitted into the church at Hampton, Feb. 7, 1725. Neither Isaac or David Canada, who were first settlers at Hampton, when it was a wilderness, before any white man ventured to locate in the forest, were members of the church organized there in June, 1723. Margaret Canada joined the church, June 30, 1723; Isaac joined Dec. 13, 1724; Elizabeth joined Jan. 3, 1725; Hannah, Feb. 7, 1725. This name has been uniformly spelled upon the Hampton records, Canada, and not Kenady or Kanady, and is now so spelled by the descendants generally.

CANADA, DAVID, a brother of Isaac, of Windham Village, m. Margaret Lambert, or Lambrut, Nov. 5, 1718, and had issue, Sarah, b. Oct. 13, 1720; Hannah, b. March 30, 1723; Eliz'th, b. June 4, 1726; David, Jun., b. March 28, 1728; Daniel, b. June 19, 1730, d. 1732; John, b. Nov. 18, 1732. David, the father, d. Nov. 18, 1732.

CANADA, DAVID, (son of David and Margaret,) m. Deborah Jennings, Jan. 10, 1750, and had issue, Sybil, b. Oct. 5, 1750; Hannah, b. Aug. 20, 1752; David, b. Jan. 20, 1755; Margaret, b. Sept. 8, 1757; John, b. Jan. 8, 1761, d. 1765; Nathan, b. June 24, 1763; second John, b. May 7, 1765; Nathaniel, b. Feb. 1, 1768; Deborah, b. Aug. 12, 1770; Hadassa, b. May 2, 1775.

CANIDA, DANIEL, at an earlier period, had an allotment of fifty acres of land to him in the town of Suffield, (in 1679.)

A family by the name of Kennady, came into East Hartford after 1700, where his descendants are now found. Maj. John Kennady, who was suddenly killed by the turning over his waggon, by a restive horse, when he was about 80 years old, &c., was of the East Hartford family. This family has uniformly spelled the name with a K, and those of Windham with a Ca. There is no evidence found either on the records of Suffield, Windham or East Hartford, which shows any relation by blood, of these three families, and no tradition is claimed that they were relatives. Kannady is now an old name in King's County, in Ireland. (See KENNEDY.)

CANADIZE, DANIEL, a minor, at New Haven: Daniel Holt appointed his guardian, 1755.

CANDEE, ZACHEUS, m. Saria Lane, of N. Haven, Nov. 19, 1702; settled at Middletown, and was perhaps of the Candee family of N. H. Issue, Zacheus, Jun., b. June 6, 1703; Isaac, b. Dec. 13, 1704; Theophilus, b. Dec. 20, 1706; Sarah, b. 1708; Hannah, b. 1711; Abigail, b. May 9, 1714; Mary, b. Aug. 20, 1716. Sarah, wife of Zacheus, d. Sept. 30, 1737. Zacheus d. there Dec. 20, 1743, aged 67.

CANDEE, SAM'L, of N. Haven, m. Abig'l Pinion, Ap'l 28, 1703.

Mr. Wm. Condy, (perhaps Candee,) of New London, was offered for a freeman from New London, Oct., 1669.

This name was early in Derby and Oxford, Ct.

SAMUEL, of Mass., in 1664.

One by the name of Cande, and four by the name of Candee, have graduated at Yale College.

CANER, REV. HENRY, of King's Chapel, joined in marriage Dimond Morton and Margaret Johnnot, of Boston, July 31, 1767. Rev. Henry Caner was the first Episcopal minister at Norwalk, in 1729. He graduated at Yale College in 1724, and was doctorated with a D. D. from Oxford College.

CANER, REV. RICHARD, graduated at Yale College in 1736. In 1738 or 9, he preached at Norwalk. (See Note.) Caner, Henry, graduated at Yale College, 1724, and Richard, 1736. CANNEY, THO'S, Pascataqua, 1631; Bloody Point, in Dover, 1644; Joseph, his son, m. 1670.*

* Keith, Rev., a convert from the community or society of Friends, accompanied by Rev. John Talbot, both of the Church of England, preached in New London as early as 1702, as missionaries. Mr. Keith addressed a letter to the "Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London, and all others, the Honorable Members of the Society," dated Nov. 29, 1702; in which he gave an account of his labors after he arrived in Boston, June 11, 1702. He mentions that Mr. John Cotton, grandson to John Cotton, Sen., of Hampton, invited him to preach, and that he did preach there twice, and Mr. Talbot once, with great auditories. Also, Mr. Cushing, of Salisbury, Mass, where they both preached on Sunday; and Mr. Gordon Saltonstall, of N. London, where they both preached on Sunday. (Ct. Rec., Vol. 1, No. 17. See N. E. Cornwall's His. Address.) They also preached at Hempstead, L. I. After this, Rev. Mr. Muir, another Episcopal missionary, visited Stratford in 1706, to visit a few Episcopal families from N. Y., where he was not as amicably received by the authority and minister as they were at N. London. He baptized

CANFIELD, CAMFIELD, CAMPFIELD, CAMPFILE, MATTHEW, was an early settler at New Haven, 1640, where three of his children are recorded, viz., Matthew, b. May 9, 1650; Hannah, b. June 21, 1651, and Rachel, b. July 29, 1652. He probably soon after this removed into the Conn. Colony, at Norwalk.

Hon. Matthew had probably passed the middle age of life, when he removed from New Haven to Norwalk, and yet some few years older, when he removed to Newark. Tradition says, he was a brother of Thomas, of Milford. Matthew had four sons, viz., Samuel, of Norwalk, Ebenezer, Matthew, Jun., and Jonathan. The last d. without children. Samuel had a home-lot in Newark, but remained on his father's lands in Norwalk. Ebenezer and Matthew, Jun., were settled at Newark, and perhaps removed there with their father, Matthew, Sen.

His son Samuel, who afterward appears in his manhood at Norwalk, was probably his eldest child, and is not recorded as b. at N. Haven. He (Matthew) is found in the list of lands at Norwalk, in 1655, for the sum of £283, 10s., and his son Samuel had a home-lot at Norwalk, in 1656. Nathaniel Campfield is in the list of those who had home-lots at Norwalk in 1652, (perhaps later.) If so, he probably was another son, though not named in the will, of Hon. Matthew, Sen. Matthew, Sen., was an important and useful inhabit-about twenty-four persons, chiefly adults, though from his letter to the society, Nov., 1705, he had been at Stratford before he wrote. Rev. Evan Evans, another Episcopal missionary, accompanied Mr. Muirson to Stratford. Mr. Muirson had a call by a few families at Stratford and Fairfield, to settle there as a missionary, and reside there; but as Mr. Muirson d. in Oct., 1708, they received no answer from him. After this, Rev. Mr. Talbot, Sharpe and Bridge, all missionaries located at N. Y. and N. Jersey, officially visited Stratford and Fairfield, and baptized several. Rev. Mr. Phillips, another Episcopal preacher, took charge of the parish at Stratford, in 1713, but soon after left the colony. Mr. Pigot, another Episcopal missionary, was sent to Stratford, by the society, to reside there, with the charge of the Episcopalians in Stratford and Fairfield, in 1723. In 1723, Doct. James Laborie, a French physician, who had been ordained "by Mr. Kinglet, antistes of the Canton of Zurich," in Switzerland, taught service under the usage of the Church of England, at his house in Fairfield, on such Sundays as Mr. Pigot preached at Stratford, &c. A parish was organized at Fairfield in 1724, and Mr. Pigot left Stratford for Providence in 1723, and was succeeded by Rev. Samuel Johnson, in 1724-5. Henry Caner, (Canner, Conner,) son of Mr. Caner, of N. Haven, read service at Fairfield, when Mr. Johnson preached at Stratford, &c. He had graduated at Yale College in 1724. He had been enrolled by Mr. Johnson in the registry book of Mr. Pigot, as a communicant at Stratford, March 28, 1725. "Henry Caner," perhaps father of the last, was enrolled in the same registry book of Mr. Pigot, Sept. 2, 1722. It also appears by said book, that in 1724, wardens and vestrymen were not only appointed for Stratford and Fairfield, but for Ripton and Newtown. The warden for Fairfield was Dougal Mackenzie, and vestrymen, James Laborie, Sen., and Benj'n Sturges; and James Laborie, Jun., as vestryman for Stratford. Mr. Caner was ordained in England, and appointed missionary to Fairfield in 1727. (See Cornwall's Discourse, in 1851. Also, see Col. Rec.) itant in the Colony, as an Assistant, Magistrate, Judge, and Legislator ; made freeman at Hartford by the Gen. Court, in 1654, and a member of the Gen. Court from Norwalk, in May, 1654, 56, 57 ; twice in 1658, 1659, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64 ; May, 1665, 66. Hon. Matthew d. in Newark, about 1673, and one of the first magistrates at Newark.

Nathaniel Camfield, Deputy, May 17, 1655, from Norwalk. (Who was he?)

Hon. Matthew was Collector of Customs at Norwalk, March, 1652-9, on all liquors landed at Norwalk, except for exportation. Commissioner for Norwalk, May, 1664. In May, 1654, he was appointed an assistant, with Geo. Hull and Alexander Knowles, of Fairfield, and Phillip Groves, of Stratford, to be assistants to such magistrates as the Gen. Court should at any time send among them, to execute justice, to marry, grant summons, bind over delinquents to courts, &c. In Oct., 1658, the Gen. Court of the Colony appointed Mr. Ward, Mr. Hill, and the Townsmen of Fairfield, to assist Mr. John Welles, (of Stratford, son of Gov. Welles,) and Assistant Campfield, in proving wills, making inventories, and distributions of estates intestate ; appoint administrators, &c., in Stratford, Fairfield and Norwalk ; chosen and sworn an Assistant in May, 1660. The Gen. Court in May, 1660, gave liberty to Fairfield, Stratford and Norwalk, to raise a small troop of horse, with two proper officers of their own election, to exercise them and the troopers to be approved by Mr. Gould, Mr. Fairchild, and Mr. Campfield, and the officers approved by the Gen. Court, (seven for Stratford, seven for Fairfield and four from Norwalk.) Hon. Matthew, of Norwalk, and Phillip Groves, of Stratford, were confirmed Assistants, (according to an order in May, in 1654,) in May, 1655. He was chosen Assistant, May, 1656, and ordered to give the oath to the other two Assistants. He was sworn Assistant for the year, May, 1657, and ordered to give the oath of freedom, and of a magistrate, to Ensyn Gold. Mr. Wyllis and Mr. Allyn were desired by the Gen. Court to hold a court at Fairfield, Oct. 20, 1659, and Mr. Camfield to assist them. Mr. Campfield, Mr. Gould, Mr. Sherman, Ens. Judson, Mr. Lawes and Lieut. Olmsted, were appointed a Committee, or any three of them, by the Gen. Court, July, 1655 ; to which committee, each plantation in the Colony should consider some way to discover the approach of the enemy, and on such approach to give notice to the Committee ; and the Committee to extend from Stratford to Rye. This Committee was appointed at the time De Ruyter, the Dutch admiral, was expected on the coast, with his forces. All the Committees from

*Southerton to Rye, when met in their respective limits, were empowered, by the Gen. Court, to order and appoint how or in what way the order for aid should be carried out and effectually attended. In Oct., 1662, the Gen. Court appointed Mr. Campfield, Mr. Gould, (Nathan) and Mr. Sherman, or either two of them, to hire vessels to transport the corn from the sea-side towns to N. London, &c. In Oct., 1662, Mr. Campfield, Mr. Gould and Mr. Sherman, were appointed by the Gen. Court to hold a Court at Fairfield, when they see cause, for the trial of such controversies as they were capable, according to the charter. At this Gen. Court, the towns of Stanford, Greenwich and Westchester, had liberty granted them to try their cases at the Court held at Fairfield-thereafter. Mr. Campfield ordered to administer the constable's oath to Robert Usher, for Stamford. The Gen. Court, March, 1662-3, voted that Mr. Campfield, Edward Griswold and Mr. Bond, should be nominated at the next Court, in May then next. May 16, 1661, the Gen. Court appointed Wm. Wadsworth, Mr. Campfield and John Moore, "to ripen ye case respecting the horses in controversy twixt Reynold Marven and Matthew Griswold, for ye determination of ye Court." (Print. Col. Rec.)

The Gen. Court, in Oct., 1661, appointed Mr. Gould, Mr. Sherman, Mr. Knowles, and Mr. Campfield, or any three of them, provided Mr. Gould was one, to try the case of Joseph Jeames and Marcy Holbridge, and inflict such punishment as they should judge proper.

As full evidence of the high reputation, of Matthew Campfield in the Conn. Colony, I mention that he was one of the nineteen petitioners to King Charles II., for the Charter of Conn., and is named in the charter as petitioner and grantee. Notwithstanding the exalted reputation he enjoyed in the Colony,† Hon. Matthew, after the union

† First settlers of Newark, New Jersey, from Connecticut.

May 11, 1665, the union of the Connecticut and New Haven Colonies was effected, to which Rev. Ab'm Pierson and others of Branford, Guilford, New Haven, and Milford, were so violently opposed, that they determined to remove, and in 1665, agents were sent from these towns to examine the country on the Passaic River, in New Jersey, and make purchases of the Indians, and other arrangements necessary for a removal. The Committee were Capt. Robert Treat, John Curtis, Jasper Crane, and John Treat. They purchased the land comprising the ancient town of Newark, N. J. The price paid was £130, New England currency, twelve Indian blankets, and twelve guns.

Preparatory to a removal, the emigrants from Guilford, Branford and Milford, met and adopted the following "PLANTATION COVENANT."

of the Conn. and New Haven Colonies, removed to Newark, N. J., with his family, where the name is now numerous, particularly in Newark and Orange. His son Samuel remained at Norwalk, as appears by a deed to him by his father Matthew, when Matthew describes himself late of Norwake, now resident of Newäärke, in the Colony of New Jersey, dated April 1, 1669. Hon. Matthew was an early magistrate in Newark.

CANFIELD, SAMUEL, son of Hon. Matthew, sold his house-lot granted by the town of Norwalk, located between Tho's Betts, Sen., and Ephraim Lockwood, in 1669. (Hall and Rec.) Samuel's name is in the list of those who had home-lots in Norwalk, but the exact time is not pointed out. He probably went to Norwalk with his father, from New Haven, between 1652 and 1654. In 1675, he sold the north part of his home-lot in Norwalk, to Joseph Smith, then late from Long Island. He had a house and four acres of land at N., Dec. 17, 1681. He had four acres, home-lot, in 1670; free, 1669. In the list of children, about 1672, in Norwalk, (he,) Samuel Canfield, had one child. Samuel Canfield (perhaps Sam'l, Jun.) m. Abigail Austin, daughter of Tho's, of Stamford, Aug. 1, 1709, and had a son Samuel, b. June 4, 1710. His wife Abigail d. June 11, 1710, and he m. Abigail Dean, May 9, 1711, and he died Sept., 1712.

CANFIELD, EBENEZER, of Branford or Norwalk, signed the contract of the company at Branford, forming rules to regulate their town on Passaic River, in New Jersey, Oct. 30, 1665. He was, as noted above, son of Matthew.

CAMPFIELD, NATHANIEL, had a home-lot at Norwalk of five acres in the first list of lots; time uncertain; perhaps 1652. He probably removed or d. without issue. He was Deputy to the Gen. Court in Hartford in 1655, from Norwalk.

CANFIELD, THOMAS, Sen., of Milford, was not one of the first settlers at Milford, Ct. He probably was there as early as 1647, from N. H. His wife was Phebe, and his son Thomas was born there Oct. 14, 1654. This family and his descendants, on the Milford, New Haven and Newark records, have usually spelled the name Canfield. He purchased of John Birdseye, in Milford, one acre, one rood and eight poles of land, and had three acres for his home-lot in 1647. He had liberty from the town of Milford, to exchange a part of his land on the Plaine, in 1659. Serg't Thomas Canfield had four acres of the town, for supporting a gate at New field. He had one and a half acres of swamp in the West field, and a meadow East. He gave his sons, Tho's, Jun., and Jeremiah, lands which were confirmed to them by their father, Tho's, Sen., in 1687. He represented the town of Milford in the General Court in October, 1674, and in October, 1676, &c. Lieut. Thomas Canfield was taxed in Milford in 1686, on £154. He was admitted into the church at M. in 1657. His will is dated Feb. 23, 1687. Inventory dated Aug. 22, 1689, £482, 1s. 2d., in which he notices his three married daughters, Sarah, Phebe, Elizabeth, and gave them £5 each, payable one year after his wife's death. He gave his dau'r Abigail, three acres of land, and gave his three unmarried dau'rs, £20 each, payable at their marriage. He mentions his son John Smith, and his two sons, Thomas and Jeremiah Canfield, who were his executors. This Thomas, Sen., is found to be the ancestor of the Milford, Derby, New Milford and Sharon families, and a part of those of the name in Newark, New Jersey, and Orange.

CANFIELD, THO'S, SEN., and Phebe, his wife, had issue, 1. Tho's, Jun., b. Oct. 14, 1654; 2. Mary, b. Jan. 1, 1656-7; 3. Jeremiah, b. ———; 4. Hannah, b. Nov. 20, 1657; 5. Elizabeth, b. Feb. 14, 1659-60; 6. Ealis? a d'r, b. Dec. 16, 1667; 7. Mehitabel, b. July 2, 1671. Also, Abigail, Sarah and Phebe. (N. Haven Probate and Milford Records.)

The children settled his estate, Oct. 2, 1689.

CANFIELD, THOMAS, JUN., (spelled Campfield,) wife not found, had issue, Rebecca, b. Jan. 28, 1682; Israel, b. March 24, 1684, went to Newark; Abiram, (and supposed a Thomas.) His son Abiram settled in Derby, where he d. in 1772. Susannah, wife of Thomas Carter, d. at Woburn in 1651, aged 51.

CARTER, SAMUEL, of Norwalk in 1705, is not of the family of this name who were early settlers at Hartford or Windsor. This Samuel was born in London, and when about twelve years old was enticed away from England by the captain of a vessel bound to New England, who brought him to Boston, and in 1690 he married Mercy Brook, who died in 1700. By her he had children, Samuel, b. 1692; Mercy, b. 1694; Ebenezer, b. 1697; Thomas, b. 1699, and Mary, b. 1700. He resided at Deerfield, Mass. In 1701 he married Hannah Weller for his second wife, and by her had a son, Joseph, b. 1702, and a daughter, Hannah, b. 1703. When Deerfield was destroyed, Feb. 29, 1704, he was absent, and his family at Deerfield; his whole family were captured. (Joseph had died before.) His son Thomas was slain by the Indians in the open fight upon the meadows. The mother, and her daughters Mary and Hannah, were slain on their escape for Canada; Samuel, Mercy, Ebenezer and Thomas, arrived safe in Canada. The three eldest married in Canada. Ebenezer was stolen by merchants who traded between Albany and Montreal, and restored to his father; the other three children died in Canada. The father, Samuel, settled at Norwalk, Conn., in 1705, and probably brought with him his son Ebenezer. Ebenezer married Hannah, daughter of Matthias St. John, of Norwalk. In 1731, Ebenezer, with his family, removed to the parish of Canaan, (New Canaan, Ct.) His father, says Mr. Hall, lived on the place now owned and occupied by Jonathan Camp, Jun. The wife of Ebenezer died Feb., 1774, aged 74; he died the next summer, aged 77 years. Ebenezer and Hannah had children: 1. Mary, m. Jonathan Husted, Dec. 3, 1744, and had no issue. 2. Hannah, m. CASE, EVEREST, (son of Jesse, Jun.,) b. 1796, m. Lucy Case, and had children, Sarah, b. Oct. 22, 1820 ; Levi ; Orestes, d. Oct. 5, 1824 ; Emeline ; 2d Orestes ; Lucy M., d. Aug. 14, 1828 ; Helen R. ; Wm. W. ; Nathan, and Lucy A., b. July 9, 1838, d. Sept. 16, 1838.

CASE, JESSE O., b. 1792, son of Jesse, Jun., m. Chloe Gleason. Issue, Gideon M., b. Jan. 30, 1821 ; Henry ; Orlando D. ; Nelson M., and Mariette, b. Feb. 1, 1833.

These are the direct descendants, in part, from John Case, Sen., of Windsor, to Newton Case, now of Hartford, of the firm of "Case, Tiffany & Co." In Nov. 10, 1697, when Rev. Dudley Woodbridge was ordained at Simsbury, Joseph, the son of John Case, Sen., was a member of his church ; and he paid a rate there in 1696, and was a member of the legislature as late as Oct., 1741, and as early as 1713.

Jonas Case, from Simsbury, settled at Goshen in Litchfield Co. in 1745.

CASE, RICHARD, of Windsor, removed to West Simsbury, (now Canton,) about 1737, first settler. His son Sylvanus, is said to have been the first white child born there ; he resided on East Hill ; had ten sons and two daughters. ABRAHAM CASE removed from Windsor to Simsbury, (to Canton,) 1741, and d. there in 1800.

LYMAN CASE, a grandson of Ab'm, d. over 80 years old. His brother AMOS, from Windsor to W. Simsbury, had five sons and four daughters, and d. aged 86.

CASE, DUDLEY, a brother of Zaccheus and Ezekiel, removed from the parish of Windsor to West Windsor, (Canton,) in 1742, when many others removed there from the old parish ; he had seven children, and d. aged, in 1792.

CASE, ZACCHEUS, Capt., brother of Daniel and Ezekiel, removed to W. Simsbury about 1748 ; he had one son and six dau's ; he afterward removed to Oneida County, N. Y. and d. in 1812.

CASE, HOSEA, from Simsbury to Canton, about 1751, had four sons and seven dau's, and d. in 1793. CAPT. RICHARD CASE, of Simsbury, July 4, 1724, was ordered to employ ten men as a scouting party, to rendezvous at Litchfield, all of Simsbury, and remained until Oct. (Phelps' Simsbury.) DANIEL CASE, m. Penelope Buttolph, of Simsbury, May 7, 1719.

Watson and Luke Case, of N. York, are descendants of John Case, Sen., of Windsor.

The foregoing families are all, with many others, descendants of John Case, Sen., of Windsor.

CASE, BARNARD, of Windham, was the son of John and Desire Case, and was born Oct. 29, 1688, at Martha's Vineyard ; he m. Abigail Rudd, May 22, 1712, and had issue, Seth, b. Jan. 26, 1712-13 ; Joseph, b. April 26, 1714, d. 1714 ; Wm., b. Feb. 7, 1715-16 ; Jonathan, b. May 16, 1718 ; Abigail, b. April 8, 1720. Abigail, his wife, d. April 10, 1722, and he m. for his second wife, Abigail Clark, Oct. 17, 1722, and had Eliz'th, b. Jan. 31, 1725-6. (This is not of the family of John Case, Sen.)

Case, Benjamin, m. Mary Manning, April 25, 1728.

Case, John, and Desire, his wife, had a son Benjamin b. at Martha's Vineyard, Dec. 4, 1703. (Recorded at Windham.)

CASE, SETH, son of Barnard, b. 1712, at Windham, m. Sarah Griggs, Nov. 11, 1736. Issue, Hester, b. Sept. 26, 1739 ; Susannah, b. April 15, 1739 ; Ichabod, b. April 10, 1741.

CASE, WILLIAM, b. 1715-16, son of Barnard Case, m. Lucy Tracy, Nov. 11, 1736. Issue, Wm., b. Nov. 26, 1737 ; Lucy, b. Nov. 22, 1739. Barnard Case, of Windham, is not found to have been a relative of either John, of Windsor, or Richard Case, of Hartford. He removed his family to Windham from Martha's Vineyard, before the birth of his son Seth, about 1711.

CASE, RICHARD, was not as early a settler at Hartford as many others ; he m. Eliz'th, dau'r of John Purcase or Purchase, (a first settler in Hartford.) He removed on the east side of Conn. River, into E. Hartford, about 1669. He had three children b. in Hartford, viz., Richard, Jun., John and Mary. He describes himself of Hartford, in his will dated Sept. 8th 1690, and d. at E. Hartford about 1693 or 1694. Inventory dated March 30, 1694, £203, 2s. 6d. His widow Eliz'th, and Tho's Olcott, his kinsman, Exec'rs. He made his mark to his will. The Court appointed Thomas Olcott and Mr. Wm. Pitkin, Jun., overseers to assist the widow by their advice, April, 1694. It has been stated by some of the family, that Richard Case, of Windsor, son of John, was the same Richard who settled at Hartford. Richard, son of John, was born at Windsor, Aug. 27, 1669, and Richard, of Hartford, was propounded for a freeman in Oct., 1671. Richard Case, Jun., of E. Hartford, son of Richard and Elizabeth, d. on Saturday, Feb. 22, 1724, as testified by his relict Sarah. He gave to his son Joseph all his lands and estate, by Joseph paying his two sisters £35 each ; his son Charles or Charter, he had before provided for, and gave him two acres of land in his will only. His children recorded as b. at Hartford, Sarah, b. Oct. 1, 1703 ; Joseph, b. Dec. 27, 1705 ; Eliz'th, b. Sept. 1, 1710, and others not recorded. These descendants of Richard are known as the East Hartford Cases. There was a Benjamin Case, who removed from Mansfield to Coventry, at an early period ; he was probably of the Windham family.

CASE, THOMAS, resided at Newton, L. I., in 1674, and was ordered by the court there in May, 1674, not to entertain the wife of Wm. Smith, without her husband's knowledge.

CASE, JOSEPH, was of Rhode Island, and had children born there, viz., Joseph, b. in 1678 ; W'm, b. 1681 ; Mary, Hannah, Margaret, John and Emanuel.

CASE, RICHARD, and Wm. Burnham, of Hartford, were propounded for freemen in Oct., 1671

Those relatives who claim that Richard Case, of East Hartford was a son of John, of Windsor, by looking at the birth of Richard, the son of John, will discover that Richard, of Hartford, was a man in active life, before Richard, son of John, was born.

Ten of this name have graduated at Yale College, and one Case and one Cass at Harvard.

Case has 5 coats of arms ; Casse, 2 ; Cass, 2 ; Cassey, 1.

Farmer says, "JOSEPH CASS, Exeter, as early as 1680, had children, from one of whom descended Major Jonathan Cass, father of Hon. Lewis Cass, late governor of Michigan, a native of New Hampshire." The lady of Hon. Lewis Cass, lately deceased, was a descendant of the Selden family, of Connecticut. Quere, were not Cass and Case originally the same name. The name of Case is occasionally spelled upon the Conn. records, Cass. Richard Case, in 1669, purchased of William Edwards, and Agnes, his wife, all their division of upland and water land, east of the Great River, about ninety acres—perhaps removed to E. Hartford about this time.

CASEL, BARNARD, of Windham, m. Abigail Rudd, May 22, 1712, son of John. Desire, his wife, was b. Oct. 29, 1688; from Martha's Vineyard. Barnard "Cease" had children by Abigail, Seth, b. 1712; Joseph, d. 1714; William, Jonathan, Abigail, b. 1720. His wife, Abigail, died April 10, 1722. Barnard m. 2d, Abigail Clark, Oct. 17, 1722. (This name changed to Case, on same record.)

CASTLE, JOHN, of Wethersfield, died before 1645, and left a widow and an estate of £59; no issue found. The name of Castle is yet found in Litchfield and New Haven counties, Conn. One by the name of Castle has graduated at Yale College. Andrew Castle graduated at Yale College, 1825, Caswell, Daniel, of Colchester; daughter, Wealthy, baptized May, 27, 1770.

Cassell or Cassel, 1 coat of arms; Casstle, 1; Castel, 1; Castell, 11; Castle, (London) 4; Caceyll, 1, Castel, Henry, aged 22, passenger for Virginia, in the Transport, of London, July 4, 1635. George Castell, aged 21, embarked for Virginia, August, 1635, in the Safety.

Castle or Castwell, noticed in Appendix of Temple's E. History, as an early family of Whately.

Cask, Henry, was drowned at Windsor, while catching flood wood in the river, at Windsor, March 14th, in the early settlement of the town, with M. Rainerd.

Cassen, Lieut. Samuel, of Milford, in 1713. (See KASSEN.)

CATTS, KATES, JOHN, aged 23, was passenger for Virginia, in the Safety, from England, John Grant, master, August, 1635.

CATES or KATES, LIEUT. JOHN, of Windham, Conn., d. in 1697, (supposed the same man.) He gave in his will 200 acres of land, by entailment, to the poor of Windham, and 200 acres for a school-house for the town. He gave his negro to Rev. Samuel Whiting, of said Windham, and other personal property. To the church of the town he gave £10 in money. He made Mary Howard, executrix, and gave her the remainder of his estate, unless his child, or any of his children then in England, should come to New England, and if so, such as should come should have all his estate. He was the first of the name in the colony. This name is spelt Kates, on record at Hartford, and by himself in his will, but he was the same Lieut. John Cates who served under Oliver Cromwell's administration of the British government. His negro Jo, whom he gave to Mr. Whiting, he procured in Virginia, where he first landed. He escaped his pursuers in Virginia, and came to Norwich, yet feeling unsafe, he went to Windham, when a wilderness, and in 1689 raised the first house, where he closed his life in safety from punishment by Charles II. He gave no silver plate to any person, in his will, as has been stated by some historians. He and his servant were the two first settlers in Windham, and erected the first house there.

Cates, Jo, aged 17, passenger in the Assurance de Lo., for Virginia, 1635.

CATLIN, CATLING, THOMAS, was not one of the first proprietors and settlers in Hartford. He is first found at Hartford, about 1645-6, by the name of Catling. The time he came from England, or the ship he came in, is not found. He was one of the viewers of chimneys, in 1646-7, and owned two lots of land in Elm street, No's 23 and 24, in 1646. Soon after he came to Hartford, he was appointed a constable of the town, which office he held many years. The office of constable at that time was one of the most honorable and trustworthy in the colony. He held other places of trust in the colony and town. He had a portion in a division of lands in 1672, and was living in 1687, when he testified in court and was 75 years old. He was probably married before he came to Hartford, and brought with him his only son John, and his wife, as his son is not found born at Hartford, by the record. He had a daughter, Mary, b. at Hartford, and baptized Nov. 29th, 1646, and died. A second daughter, Mary, baptized May 6th, 1649.

The 15th of January, 1684, the town of Hartford granted to Thomas and John Catlin, ten acres, formerly granted to John Wier. Thomas Catlin purchased the house and land of Richard Billing, in Hartford. He owned land south of Little River, purchased of F. Addams; also land purchased of Andrew Warner, about four acres; one piece purchased of James Ensign, about one acre; one piece purchased of Richard Fellowes, Oct. 28, 1653 ; three acres, and many other lots of land. John Richards mortgaged his house and all his lands to Thomas Catlin, in Hartford, and two cows, for a debt he owed Catlin, Feb. 2, 1662.

Abijah 4th has been twice married, first married Mary Simonton, of Georgia, and second, Mary Abernethy. He has one son, Abijah 5th, and a daughter, and is now living on the same land that was given to Abijah the first by his father, Samuel. Abijah, Esq., 4th, graduated at Yale College, in 1825, read law and practiced for a time in Litchfield County; after a few years he removed to the State of Georgia, where he followed his profession successfully for some few years, and then returned to his native place in Connecticut, and resumed his practice in Litchfield county, where he was elected state senator of Connecticut, in 1844, state comptroller from 1847 to 1850, and commissioner of the school fund of Connecticut, in 1851, judge of probate at Harwinton from 1838 to 1841, judge of the county court of Litchfield county from 1844 to 1846, &c., all which responsible offices he filled to the satisfaction of the public.

Catlin, John, from Hartford, and James Church were two of the early settlers at Litchfield, about 1722 or '3; Daniel and Abijah Catlin were in Harwinton, in 1740, with John Coult and others; Daniel Catlin was on the map and a first settler there; John Catlin and David Arnold were made free at Hartford, in October, 1665; John Catlin, who went to Litchfield from Hartford, was not one of the grantees of Bantam, in the first settlement of Litchfield, but became the ancestor of the Litchfield Catlins; Alexander Catlin, of Litchfield, married Abigail, daughter of Timothy Goodman, of West Hartford, Feb. 26, 1766, and his first child, Abigail, was baptized at West Hartford, Dec. 14, 1766; the Catlins of Burlington, Vermont, are descended from the Litchfield branch of the family; Alexander and his wife publicly owned and renewed their baptismal covenant, at West Hartford, Nov. 23, 1766; Benjamin Catlin, quarter-master in the army, was taken prisoner in the expedition against Quebec, in Dec., 1775; George Catlin died at Camden, New Jersey, May 1, 1852, aged 75 years; Thomas Catlin, Sen., and his son John, were freemen in Hartford, in 1669; Thomas held the honorable and responsible office of constable and selectman in Hartford, and other places of trust; he owned land in South Meadow, by a deed of Samuel Wylls, Nov. 6, 1679; on Rocky Hill, recorded May 26, 1682; land he purchased of Richard Billings, also land of Jeremy Adams, of Andrew Warner, of James Ensign, a lot and house of Richard Fellows, Dec., 1658; land in South Meadow Swamp, Dec. 20, 1660; land he and George Grave bought of Andrew Bacon, Nov. 18, 1659, and various other lots of land in Hartford, being 16 tracts. Col. Julius Catlin now owns some of the land originally owned by his first progenitor in this country. John, son of Thomas, Sen., signed the agreement to remove to Hadley, Mass., in 1659, but remained at Hartford; for some time he is said to have resided at Hockanum. The Catlins of Deerfield were probably of the family of John, of Newark, who moved there himself in 1684.

George Catlin, the celebrated painter of Indian persons and scenery, and author of travels in the west, was a descendant of the Litchfield branch. John, who went to Litchfield, was son of Samuel, who married Margaret Seymour, and was born 1703; children, John, Theodore, Alexander, William, Roswell, Eli, David, George, Uriah, Thomas, Samuel, Abel, Roger, Elizabeth, and Abigail; these were settled at Litchfield; thirteen by this name have graduated at Yale College. There were no persons of this name in Hadley, in the seventeenth century. John, from Newark, was at Deerfield as early as 1684.

Coats of arms.—Catlyn or Catlin, 1; Catlin, (Kent,) 1; Callyn or Catlyne, 1.

This name was early at Marlborough, Mass., and Catlin, Keyes, Sheldon, &c., were early settlers from the above town to New Marlborough, Mass., where the name of Catlin is yet found, and one of this family is now a merchant at Canaan, Conn., and not known to have been a relative of Thomas, of Hartford, or John, of Wethersfield.

CATLIN, JOHN, of Wethersfield, was not one of the first settlers; whose son he was, or where from is not found; (the name is spelled, recording his marriage, "Catellin, John.") He m. Mary ———, at Wethersfield, Sept. 23d, 1662, and had a son, John, b.

there July 26, 1663, after which he disappeared at Wethersfield. This John is next found at Branford, where he signed the contract to settle the town of Newark, New Jersey, Oct. 30, 1665, and to provide for the maintenance of the purity of religion professed in the Congregational church. He is next found at Newark, with other signers, from Branford, New Haven, Milford, New London and Wethersfield, with Laurence Ward, two John Wards and Josiah Ward, &c. In 1676, the townsmen of Newark agreed with Mr. John Catlin to instruct their "children and servants in as much English reading, writing and arithmetic, as he could teach." In April, 1669, the town of Newark agreed with John Catlin to hang out and fasten poles or young trees in the river adjoining the common fence, to prevent hogs swimming around the fence into the neck, and allowed him 5s. out of the treasury for his pains, &c. In 1670, he was a "committee man" to order as to fences, &c. In 1676, and until 1681, he was a townsman of Newark. In 1678, town's attorney, (not a lawyer,) an "honest brother," to take care that all town orders should be executed, and if a breach occurred, to prosecute the offender. In 1681, he was one of a committee to lay out highways to the mountain. John Catlin and his associate Wheeler, in 1673-4, purchased the Neck, a large tract of land above Newark. The title to this property was long contested; after Catlin had closed this controversy, he and his wife disappear on the Newark record about 1682, when he sold to Henry Lyon, and in 1683, Judd says, was in Hadley, Mass., for a short time, and is found at Deerfield, Mass., in 1684. Deacon Lawrence Ward from New Haven and Branford to Newark, died at Newark, without issue, in 1670. Isabel, wife of Joseph Baldwin, of Hadley, (the Joseph of Milford, and the father of Benjamin, who went to Newark,) was sister to Deacon L. Ward, and Isabel Baldwin authorized "her son, John Catlin," also John Ward (Turner,) to act for her in relation to the estate of their uncle, Lawrence Ward. John Ward, Jun., one of the early settlers, was a cousin of John Catlin; he was a relative of "Robert Liman," who was early at Newark, perhaps a brother of John Lyman, who m. Dorcas Plum, at Branford, about 1653; Robert Liman left Newark, 1677, (before Catlin;) Isabel calls John Catlin, of Newark, her son, in 1670; also John Catlin says in a law suit that he was the eldest son of Isabel Catlin and Isabel Northam; Isabel, it appears, had had two husbands before she m. Joseph Baldwin. John Catlin, of Wethersfield, Branford, Newark and Deerfield, may possibly, in the singular disposition, at that time to change naïres, I conjecture, have been the son of John Cattell, who died at Wethersfield, in 1644, (See CATTELL,) and the name changed to Catlin. It is certain that John Catlin, of Wethersfield, was not identical with John Catlin, of Hartford, son of Thomas, Sen. I give some more light as to Joseph Baldwin, and his wife Isabel, of Hadley, by a letter from my friend, the irrefragable. I find after more research, that Joseph Baldwin who married Isabel Northam for his second wife, was the same Joseph Baldwin who was early at Milford, where his first wife died; he went to Hadley and m. Isabel Northam, the mother of John Catlin, of Newark. Joseph, son of Joseph Baldwin, went to Hadley, and died before his father. Joseph's sons, Jonathan and David, remained at Milford, and his son Benjamin, when young, removed and settled at Newark, where his name is recorded. (Newark Record, Judd. Conger, Branford, Wethersfield and Deerfield Records.) This appears to have been a distinct family from that of Thomas Catlin, in 1647, of Hartford, Ct.*

CATON, WIDOW ELIZA, died at Suffield, Dec. 26, 1817, aged 76; a child of John Caton, died Nov. 19, 1817, aged 5; not an early name in Connecticut.

CATTELL, CATTEILL, JOHN, of Wethersfield, was a juror at Hartford, in 1644. This fact proves his respectability and character in Wethersfield. The goods of John Catteel were appraised July 17, 1644. He had a home lot and barn, £12 and six acres in Mile Meadow, and three acres in Great Meadow, and garden, £12, 12s. in Wethersfield, all presented to the court by the relict and Wm. Gibsons, adm'rs, total £69; widow's name not given; no family or distribution found, except his relict. I conjecture he might have left an infant son, John, who was afterward the John Catlin who was m. at Wethersfield, and removed to Branford and Newark, in 1667, and changed his name to Catlin, (see JOHN CATLIN,) as the changing of names at that time was not uncommon, as Burnap changed to Burnet, Boreman to Boardman, Lankton to Langdon and Landon, &c.

* Conger says, in a letter to the compiler, "When I last visited Trenton, I examined the records in order to ascertain certain facts as to Rev. David Evans, &c. I then discovered upon close examination that Elizabeth Baldwin was really Isabel. If the correction will help us out in the John Catlin difficulty, it is better late than never." So this last summer, in the proprietors' records, at Perth Amboy, I find the manuscript reads Hannah Brown. In the names printed in the bill in chancery, about 1743, it is Bruen, and thus have we been wild and wandering after Hannah and Esther Bruen, when Esther was the only one in Newark. Hannah should have been Esther, daughter of Richard Lawrence." (See BRUEN.) (See CATTELL.)

CAULKIN, CALKIN, CAWKIN, HUGH,* was, says Miss Caulkins, in her History of New London, one of the party that came with Rev. Mr. Blinman, in 1640, from Monmouthshire, on the borders of Wales, and brought with him his wife Ann, and several children, and settled with others of his party, first at Marshfield, and afterward at Gloucester, Mass. ; at the latter place was selectman from 1643 to 1648 inclusive ; commissioner for trial of small causes in 1645, and deputy to the General Court in 1650 and 1651, (Miss Caulkins.) Mr. Caulkin probably removed to Pequot about 1650, where he was deputy to the General Court of Connecticut twelve sessions, and so well was his character known by those who came with him to New London, (Pequot,) that he was elected to the General Court in May, 1652, and the same year chosen townsman, and continued to hold office until 1662, and until he removed to Norwich. In 1660, he was one of the associated proprietors to settle Norwich, and the church was organized for this purpose at Saybrook, where many of the proprietors resided, previous to the removal to Norwich, at which meeting Mr. Calkin was elected one of the deacons of the new church for Norwich, and in 1663 and '4, was deputy to the General Court from Norwich ; he remained, the balance of his useful life, at Norwich, and died there in 1690, aged 90 years. His sons, John and David, survived him, and his son John, who was also a proprietor of Norwich, removed and settled there with his father. David, his youngest son, remained upon his father's farm and inherited it at Nahantick, and it is now owned by his descendants, (Miss Caulkins, Col. Rec. &c.) The first grant to Deacon Hugh was Oct. 19, 1650, made by the townsmen of Pequot. Early in 1651, nine lots of six acres each, were laid out on Cape Ann Lane, New London ; Mr. Calkins had the first lot by the Lyme road to Nahantick, and next to him his son-in-law, Hugh Roberts, (Miss Caulkins' Hist. N. London p. 71.) He was selectman in New London in Feb., 1660. In Mr. Bruen's list of the inhabitants of New London, dated July, 1651, of all who wrought at the mill dam, the name of Hugh Calkin is not found. In 1651, the town of Pequot or "Nameage," directed Hugh Calkin and Thomas Mynor to state to the court "that the town's name may be called London." Three places in New London were fortified in 1652, viz., the mill, the meeting-house, and the house of Hugh Caulkins, near the entrance of Cape Ann Lane, and in case of an alarm, Sergeant Minor's squadron was to repair to Hugh Caulkin's house, &c. Wampassock Neck, of 550 acres of upland, and a small neck adjoining it, were given to Hugh Caulkins, which afterward went into the hands of Mr. Winthrop by purchase, about 1651. August 28, 1654, Goodman Calkin with six others, were appointed by the town of New London, and three of Pockatucke and Mistike, to debate and conclude whether Misticke and Pockatucke should be a town, &c. May 21, 1653, Hugh Calkin was appointed by the General Court one of a committee at Pequot, to advise the constables as to pressing men for an expedition then getting up. In Sept., 1654, he was deputy, and in October he and Capt. Denison were appointed, with the constables of Pequot, to press men and necessaries, for an expedition, with one drum and one pair "cullers," from Pequot. In June, 1659, he, with James Morgan and James Avery were appointed to lay out the governor's land, (which Gov. Winthrop had before requested,) at the head of Pocatanack Cove, for a plantation at Quinibauge, and the court gave him 1,500 acres on the Fresh River, if not prejudicial to any other plantation, and to include but 150 acres of meadow. His first election to the General Court in Connecticut, was May 20, 1652, also May, 1653, May, 1654, Sept., 1654, May, 1656, Oct., 1656, Oct., 1657, May, 1658, May, 1659, May, 1660, March, 1662-3, May, 1663, August, 1663, May, 1664, May, 1665, May, 1666, Oct., 1666, May, 1669, Oct. elected and absent, Oct., 1671. Hugh and John Calkins are found in the Norwich list of freemen, Oct. 9, 1669. (Col. Rec.) Caulkin, Hugh, had sons, John and David, perhaps others, and one daughter, Deborah, who m. Jonathan, son of Robert Royce, in 1660, and settled in Norwich. David Calkin, son of Deacon Hugh, m. Mary, daughter of Thomas Bliss, of Norwich, who was the son of Thomas Bliss, of Hartford, and had issue. David, b. July 5, 1674, Ann, b. Nov. 8, 1676, Jonathan, b. Jan. 9, 1678-9, Peter, b. Oct. 9, 1681, John, Mary, Joseph, Lydia and Ann, David, the father, d. Nov. 25, 1717.

* Deacon Hugh Calkin held an exalted rank with the first settlers of Mass., while he remained there, and retained his character as a Christian and a man of integrity, after his removal to New London and Norwich, and until his death. Some of the family have made themselves conspicuous in the French war, and the war of the Revolution, but no descendants of Deacon Hugh has added as many laurels to the escutcheon of the family as Miss F.M. Caulkins by her late History of New London, which should be owned by not only every family within the old boundaries of Pequot, but by all whose ancestors had an early home at New London.

CALKIN, LIEUT. STEPHEN, of Lebanon, was a proprietor of Sharon, Conn., where he early removed. He had the following sons, viz., Stephen, Jun., Joseph, Elijah, Timothy, Amos, Justus and David. Lieut. Stephen, Sen., died in 1781. Acquilla and Desire Calkins, his wife, of Colchester, (descendants of Hugh,) had children born at Colchester, Abigail, b. Sept. 18, 1748, Desire, b. Nov. 11, 1750, Hannah, b. Aug. 25, 1754, and perhaps others. John Calkin free 1663. John Calkins of Lebanon, purchased a right of land in Litchfield, and removed there in 1721. One of this name has graduated at Yale College. Farmer says Hugh was of Lynn, and admitted freeman 1642, at Gloucester, 1643, representative, 1650 and 1651 (see Farmer.) Hughe Caukin had a grant of land made to him by the townsmen of New London, Oct. 19, 1650. Another says Hugh Cawkin was a freeman at Salem, Dec. 27, 1642. Samuel Calkin's daughter Ann, baptized at Colchester, May 6, 1733, David, also, baptized Feb. 29, 1736. John Caulkins graduated at Yale College, 1788. Calkin has one coat of arms.

CEELY, CEELEY, ROBERT, a marshal at New Haven in October, 1639. (Lambert.) He had a family of four persons there, and an estate of £179, in 1643. He was one of the first settlers at New Haven.

Ceely has 2 coats of arms; Ceily or Cely, 1; Cely, 3. (See SEELY, ROBERT, CAPT., of Wethersfield and other parts of Conn. and Long Island, an officer in the Indian wars.)

CELDEN. (See SELDEN.) This name is generally spelled Celden on the West Hartford records, and on most other records, Selden. Supposed one of this family went to Hadley about 1660.

Jeremiah Center m. Mary Wyman, in Mass., about 1718. This has been a late and respectable family in Connecticut, CESUM, JOHN, was drowned in Windsor, in 1675. Nothing more is found of this settler at Windsor.

CHADWICK, CHARLES, freeman at Watertown, Mass., in 1631; deputy to General Court, 1657 and 9; died April 10, 1682, aged 86, (Shattuck.)

Farmer says John his son, was freeman 1655, and called Sergeant Chadwick, and had five sons and three daughters and d. Feb. 5, 1711; also THOMAS, son of Charles, of Watertown, had four sons and three daughters. Charles desired to be made a freeman in Oct., 1630, and was sworn in May, 1631. He early had seven lots of land recorded at Watertown. (Wat. Rec.) BENJAMIN, of Malden, a son of James, in 1689; also Abigail, daughter of James, b. Feb. 4, 1692. James was a freeman at Malden in 1689-90. JOHN CHADWICK, of Tyrningham, m. Prudence Seymour, daughter of Elisha, of West Hartford, Conn., May 1773. This name came late into Connecticut, but for many years has been found at Lyme, where several wealthy families of this name now reside; two or more of them are sea captains. An estate in England is waiting for the lawful heirs of Andrew Chadwick, deceased, to prove their heirship. Mary Chadwick m. Dane Robinson at Andover, Mass., 1693-4. Chadock has one coat of arms, and Chadwick has five coats of arms.

Chadwick, Clark, Child, Chenery and Coolidge were names early at Cambridge, Roxbury and Watertown, Mass.

Chaduck, (perhaps Chadwick,) James, (perhaps Shattuck,) was allowed by the council at Hartford, Jan. 22, 1776, "for his paynes as Comrissary, besides sculdiers pay," five pounds. (Rec. of Governor and Council of Conn.) Thomas Chaddock, of Newbury, m. Sarah Woolcott. April 6, 1674. Chadwick, Joseph, came from London in England, and landed at Falmouth, Mass., as early as 1709; supposed to have been a brother or relative of Sir Andrew Chadwick, who died without heirs in England in the reign of Queen Anne where he left a large estate. Joseph married Martha Lumbard, of Falmouth, Sept. 23, 1709, by Stephen Skiff, justice of peace, and had children born at Falmouth, viz.

1. Martha, b. Dec. 17, 1709.
2. Joseph, b. May, 1711.
3. Benjamin, b. Aug. 18, 1713.
4. Samuel, b. Feb. 28, 1719.

CHALKER, SAMUEL, perhaps son of Alexander, of Saybrook, m. Phebe, daughter of Robert Bull, Oct. 31, 1676; (another entry is Nov. 7, 1676;) had children, Stephen, b. Sept. 11, 1677; Samuel, b. Oct. 6, 1679; Phebe, b. March 29, 1682, d. 1683; 2d Phebe, b. May 9, 1685.

Alexander was a respectable and early settler at Saybrook.

Goodm. Chalker, Lt. Prat, Rob't Chapm., Matthew Griswold and Win. Waller, were appointed by the Gen'l Court of Conn't, Oct., 1666, a committee to entertain and approve such as were received "inhabitants on ye east side ye River at Sea Brooke"—(forming the town of Lyme.)

Alexander Chalker was placed in nomination for a freeman in Saybrook, Oct. 10, 1667.

The appointment of Alexander Chalker upon this important committee with such men as Chapman, Griswold, &c., shows his standing in the colony. His descendants are yet found in Saybrook, Hartford and other towns in Connecticut.

CHALKWELL, EDWARD, was an early settler at Windsor; he made his will Oct. 17, 1648, and his estate was £13, 7s. 8d., which he gave to Nicholas Saint John, John Moses, Rev. Mr. Warham, Geo. Jeffrey and Wm. Champion, and Christopher, of Westerly, R. I., took the oath of fidelity in that colony in 1679. Four of this name had graduated at Yale College in 1850.*

* ANECDOTE FOR LYME.—The town of Lyme passed the following vote: "At a public meeting, April the 18th, 1692, it was voted, that all bachelors and boys, from eight years old and upwards, be catechised once a fortnight on the Lord's day, in the meeting-house." Also voted at the same meeting, "that all maids and girls shall be catechised on the week days, and that Mr. Noyes shall see that they meet in order."

Few families in the Connecticut Colony have been more prospered than that of Henry Champion, Sen., of Saybrook. When I speak here of his family, I intend his numerous descendants. The branch descended from Thomas, Sen., have been peculiarly fortunate in amassing wealth, particularly Col. Henry, Gen. Henry and Gen. Epaphroditus Champion. Col. Henry was appointed commissary in 1775, in the commencement of the war of the Revolution, with others, to supply all necessary stores and provisions for the troops then to be raised. He was appointed lieutenant-colonel of militia in May, 1775. The same year he was appointed a full colonel. He officiated as commissary most of that war, aided by his sons. When intelligence reached the governor of Connecticut, that a large fleet of the British, with many transports, "were pushing up Narragansett Bay, toward Newport and Providence, in 1776, Col. Champion was sent for, and ordered to provide for the troops ordered to Rhode Island. In 1777, all the salt of the state in the hands of Mr. Bull, store-keeper at Hartford, was ordered into the hands of said Champion for salting pork for the state, and he was ordered to put up one thousand barrels of pork for the state. The governor and council of safety, Jan. 15, 1778, judging that the quantity of salted and other provisions laid up for the Continental army, in this state, would prove far short of the required quantity, and as fattened cattle were difficult to be obtained, "and as Col. H. Champion was considered a gentleman of great judgment, capacity and experience in said business, especially beyond any other person in this state, and of most unexceptionable honor and integrity, and of universal acquaintance and ability to promote the fattening of cattle and skill in purchasing; the board applied to him to undertake said business." (Record, Jan. 15, 1778.) Enough is here shown to prove the exalted rank he held in Connecticut during the war. Many others of the family were equally ardent whigs. His two sons, Gen. Henry and Gen. Epaphroditus, though young, were active whigs toward the close of the war, and were, after the war, elected members of both branches of the state Legislature, and held an exalted rank in Connecticut.

CHAMPLIN, JOHN, took a lease of the Rope Ferry, at the bar on the road from New London to Lyme, of the town of New London, in 1720. A great horse race was held, five horses at forty shillings each, at Champlin's, March 30, 1725, and Major Buor held the stakes. Bly won the money. (See Caulkins, p. 407.) Two seamen, Samuel and Lodowick Champlin, were at New London in 1778 ; also, Lieut. George was killed in a desperate conflict in the West India seas, in 1778. (Caulkins, p. 402.)

Two of this name graduated at Yale College, and one at Harvard College.*

CHAUNCEY, CHANCY, GEORGE, Esq., resided in Hertfordshire, in England, a descendant of Chauncy de Chauncy, who went to England with William the Conqueror, in 1066. George, Esq., d. in 1627 ; he m. and had five sons, the youngest of whom was Charles, bap. Nov. 5, 1592 ; graduated at Trinity College, A. B., 1613 ; A. M., 1624. He m. in England, Catherine, daughter of Robert Eyre, of Wiltshire. He died in New England, Feb. 19, 1672, aged 82, and his wife d. Jan. 4, 1668. Mr. Chancy having been persecuted in England, came to New England in 1638, and preached at Plymouth three years, and settled in Scituate in 1641, until 1654, at which time he succeeded President Dunster, as President of Harvard College, where he continued until his death, Feb. 19, 1672, in his eightieth year, or as Mather says, eighty-second year. He evidenced a brilliancy of talents which few possess, which has continued in several branches of his descendants. His children :

1. Isaac, b. in England, Aug. 23, 1632 ; d. in London, Feb. 23, 1712.
2. Ichabod, b. in England, 1635 ; (wife Mary d. 1736 ;) he d. at Bristol, Eng., July 25, 1691.
3. Barnabas, died in middle life ; admitted into the church at Cambridge, Dec. 10, 1656 ; graduated at Harvard College, 1657.
4. Nathaniel, b. about 1639 ; settled at Hatfield, Mass., where he d. Nov. 4, 1686. He m. Abigail, daughter of Elder John Strong, of Northampton, and before of Windsor, Ct. His widow, Abigail, d. April 15, 1704.
5. Elnathan, became a noted physician in Boston.
6. Israel, b. in 1644, was settled as the pastor of the church at Stratford, Conn., where he died March 14, 1703. He m. 1. Mary Nichol, and 2. Sarah Hodshon, at New Haven, Nov. 11, 1684.

* Capt. Lodowick Champlin, of N. London, in 1777, was captain of the privateer American Revenue, and took a brig from Quebec and sent her into Bedford, laden with fish. The same year a sloop from New London was taken and carried into New York. April 25, 1777, news arrived at N. London that the armed brig Defense, (Capt. Smedley,) owned by Connecticut, and the sloop American Revenue, (Capt. Champlin,) of N. London, had arrived from a cruise in a safe port, and had taken four valuable prizes. Capt. Champlin, in 1777, in the American Revenue, of N. London, in company with a small privateer, took a large ship with 430 hogheads of sugar, and arrived safe in port. He also sent into a safe port a prize schooner, with 220 hogheads of rum. New London, May 8, 1778. The American Revenue, Capt. Champlin, and Revenge, Capt. Conklin, of N. London, took the ship Lovely-Lass, Wade, late master, from London, with a valuable cargo, and sent her into Boston. (Newspapers of that time.)

7. Sarah, m. Rev. Gershom Bulkley, of Wethersfield. (See BULKLEY.)

8. Hannah.

Six sons of President Chancy were educated at Harvard College. His sons Isaac and Ichabod, returned to England. ISAAC settled in Woodborough parish, in Wiltshire, and was rejected by the Bartholomew act in the reign of Charles II., and afterward studied medicine, and went to London to pursue his profession as physician; but after the death of Rev. John Owen, D.D., in 1663, he succeeded that eminent divine, and officiated in the church in Berry Street, in London, many years, and for reasons assigned by Dr. Calamy, he left preaching, and died in London, Feb. 12, 1712, aged over 79 years. He m. Jane —, in England, and had children, viz.; 1. Isaac, Jun.; 2. Uzziel, d. Aug. 31, 1696; 3. Charles, came to Boston, where he was a merchant, and d. there; 4. Elizabeth, m. John Nisbit, of London, Dec. 10, 1689, and d. 1727. (Farmer.)

The will of "Richard Sealis," dated 17th of 7th mo., 1653, was witnessed by "Charles, Isaac and Ichabod Chauncye." (Scituate Gen. Reg.)

CHANCY, CHARLES, last above, was the father of the celebrated Charles Chauncy, D.D., who was minister of the first church in Boston, from the 25th of October, 1727, to his decease in Feb., 1787, aged 82.

CHAUNCEY, ICHABOD, son of President Chancy, b. in England, 1635, graduated at Harvard College, 1651; prepared himself for the pulpit, and returned to England, and became a chaplain in Sir Edward Harley's regiment, and was at Dunkirk, in France in 1662, and afterward was of "good note," physician in the city of Bristol. Dr. Calamy says, "he was prosecuted on the thirty-fifth of Elizabeth, and upon that act suffered banishment, and in 1684, was compelled to abjure the realm, and removed with his family to Holland, but by liberty from King James, he returned to Bristol in 1686, where he d. July 25, 1691, aged 56 years. His widow Mary d. about 1736, aged 90.

He m. for his first wife, Mary Nichol, daughter of Isaac, of Stratford, and his children recorded at Stratford, are Isaac, b. Oct. —; Charles, b. 1668; Robert, b. 1678, perhaps others not recorded. It appears his wife died, as the record at New Haven says, Israel Chauncy married Sarah Hodshon, Nov. 11, 1684. His son, Rev. Isaac Chauncy, was educated and settled in the ministry at Hadley, Mass. Rev. Isaac had a son Josiah, who became grandfather of Hon. Moses, of Amherst and Schenectady, and this Hon. Moses was the father of Mr. Chauncy, of New York. From the branch of the family settled at Fairfield, Conn., is descended Commodore Chancy, who d. Jan. 27, 1840, the father of Charles W. and John S., of the U. S. Navy, and Rev. Peter Chancy, of Yorkville, N. York. Rev. Israel Chancy, of Stratford, was a fellow of Yale College from 1700 to 1703. He was a finished scholar, a good preacher, and a most useful divine. He d. March 14, 1703, aged 59.*

CHANCY, REV. NATHANIEL, son of President Charles and brother of Rev. Israel Chancy, of Stratford, Ct., was b. at Plymouth, about 1639; was educated and graduated at Harvard College in 1661, of which he was afterward fellow; bap. at Scituate. He first settled as teacher of the church of Christ at Windsor, Conn. He m. Abigail Strong, daughter of Elder John Strong, of Northampton, Nov. 12, 1673, and had children recorded at Windsor, viz.:

Mr. Chancy continued several years at Windsor. It was voted in the church at Windsor, June 21, 1668, that the children should be baptized by Mr. Chancy, if desired by the husband or wife, if they presented themselves to the elders in private, (before public) and declared to their satisfaction their knowledge in the principles (of the covenant) and owned their father's covenant, &c. After Mr. Nathaniel Chancy left Windsor, he settled at Hatfield, Mass., where he died Nov. 2 or 3, 1685, and his widow died July 2, 1686, and was buried at Roxbury. In the settlement of the estate of Rev. Nathaniel, of Hatfield, 1685, inventory, £478, 14s. 4d.—“Now whereas, the Rev. Mr. Chancy, of Stratford, hath freely offered to take care to bring up ye second son (Nath'l.) of his deceased brother, to learning, with this proviso, that he (Mr. Chancy) may have the use of the library which was his brother's, till such child came to be of age, and gave his advice that their said son might have the library as his own forever, &c.; and as to Mr. Chancy's right and the remainder of said children, which are a son, viz., the eldest, (Isaac,) and three daughters, who are all young, and to bring up,” &c. (See Northampton Prob. Rec.) Rev. Israel, of Stratford, fulfilled his obligation, and educated his nephew Nathaniel, and he probably formed his marriage connexion with Miss Judson, of Stratford, by his youthful days being spent with his uncle Israel Chancy, at Stratford. His son Isaac died without issue. His daughter Sarah m. Rev. Samuel Whittlesey, of Wallingford, Conn. Nathaniel settled at Durham.

Richard Booth, John Minor, (which is certified by John Minor, Recorder, 1676-7.) Mr. Chancy had by gift of the town, twelve acres of meadow, and also twelve or thirteen acres of upland in the neck; also, eleven acres; forty acres as woods on Long Hill, between "Woronoke and Pagueusett;" also, two acres, two-thirds of swamp, recorded March 22, 1676-7.

* It will be noticed, Mr. Chancy m. first, Mary, dau. of Isaac Nichol. Before this marriage, Mr. Nichol, in his deeds, is uniformly noticed as Isaac Nichol, the soap boiler, which after Mary married the minister, was changed to Mr. Isaac Nichol.

CHANCY, REV. ISAAC, the second minister of Hadley, Mass., m. the widow of Joseph Metcalf, (maiden name Abial Adams, dau'r of Rev. Wm. Adams, of Dedham,) soon after 1723.

CHANDLER, JOHN, Sen., husbandman, was an original proprietor and settler of Woodstock, from Roxbury, Mass., and drew home-lot No. 10, of thirty acres, with thirty acre rights at New Roxbury, in 1686, at the north end of the eastward vale. He was one of the committee of New Roxbury to contract with William Bartholomew, carpenter, of Branford, Conn., to build the first corn mill in Woodstock, 1687. He was many years town clerk, as late as 1715. The mill contract was signed by William Bartholomew on one part, and by Edward Morris, Joseph White, Nathaniel Johnson and John Chandler, and witnessed by Robert Hughs and William Whardley. John Chandler, Jun., drew lot No. 16, in the division of the good meadow in Woodstock, in 1690. John, Sen., drew lot No. 21 in the second division of lots, and John Chandler, Jun., drew lot No. 41. John, Sen., drew No. 39, in the division of the bad meadow, and John, Jun., No. 33, and John, Jun., drew lot No. 16, in the division of good meadow, in Woodstock. March 21, 1693-4, the town gave John, Jun., five acres against John Morse's, and fifteen acres at Muddy Brook, &c., for writing in the town books, and recording ear-marks. March 12, 1688, at a full meeting of the inhabitants of New Roxbury, Edward Morris, John Chandler, Sen., Benjamin Sabin, Joseph Bugbee, William Bartholomew, Samuel Rice and John Butcher, were appointed to state and settle highways, for the benefit of all proprietors, and any five of them had power, &c. They laid out seventeen highways in Woodstock, and reported on the 18th of March, 1688, and signed their report.

CHANDLER, CHARLES CHURCH, of Woodstock, and Thaddeus Burr, of Fairfield, were appointed by the General Assembly of Connecticut, in 1775, at the expense of the colony, to employ two news carriers, to perform regular stages from Fairfield to Woodstock, backward and forward, so as to arrive at Hartford every Saturday, and forward all intelligence through the country, with all convenient speed, &c. (Hin. His. Rev. p. 164.)

Gen. Chandler acted as paymaster for the commissary department, toward the close of the war of the Revolution in Connecticut.

CHANDLER, HON. JOHN, was a side judge of the county court in Fairfield county, in 1790. He was the first side judge in 1794, in Fairfield county. Col. John Chandler, of Newton, in said county, was appointed to command one of the eleven regiments ordered raised by Connecticut, in 1777. In 1776, he was appointed Lieutenant Colonel of a battalion of foot, ordered to be raised. Capt. John Mills' company was annexed to Col. Chandler's regiment, instead of Capt. Elderkins, March 14, 1777. Col. Chandler was afterward appointed general, and proved a patriotic and useful officer, during the war of the Revolution.

John Chandler and John Beach, of Newtown, and Stephen Billings, of Groton, were members of the convention in 1788, to ratify the Constitution of the United States, and voted to ratify.

CHANDLER, JOHN, a licensed taverner at New London, in 1698. This second John m. Elizabeth Douglass, daughter of Wm., of New London; his son John m. Mary Raymond, daughter of Joshua, of New London, and lived at New London until his children John, Joshua, William and Mary, were born there, (recorded,) after which the family removed to Woodstock; the third John in this line m. Hannah, daughter of John Gardner, of the Isle of Wight, about 1718, and resided a short time in New London. Hisson John, being the fourth John in succession, was born in New London, Feb. 26, 1720, (see Caulkins, p. 301.) John, Sen., was at Woodstock, one of the first settlers, and John, Jun., drew land rights in 1690. John, Sen., who first came to New Roxbury, (now Woodstock,) was one of the first settlers who came there from Roxbury, Mass., and in the first division of lands in 1687, and proved one of the best families who settled there. George Chandler, aged 29, was passenger for Virginia, in the America, with a certificate from Gravesend, June 23, 1635.

CHANDLER, HON. JOHN, of Woodstock, a subscriber to Prince's Chronology; also John, of Worcester, Mass.

CHANELL, ROBERT, and Robert Latimer, noticed by Miss Caulkins, as joint owners and commanders of the Hopewell, in 1662, (at New London.) On the 19th of May, while the barque was anchored in the harbor of New London, Capt. Chanell, who was well in the morning of the 19th of May, was dead at two o'clock P. M., of the same day. His affairs were settled; Latimer purchased Chanell's interest in the vessel; the balance of his property, after the settlement of the estate, was sent to his wife and children, in England. (See Caulkins' New London, pp. 231, 232.)

CHAPELL, WILLIAM, of New London, applied for permission to remain at New London, in 1664. He was fined in 1680, for fishing on the Sabbath. John Chapell was fined with others in Sept., 1693, for walking on Sabbath night and other offences. George Chappell and John Chapell were both of New London, in 1704. The names of Chapell and Chappell appear to be distinct names and families. William Chapell purchased land in New London, in company with Richard Waring, and in company with William Peake, he purchased land in 1667, on the west side of New London, and William Chapell settled on the Cohanzie road.

William Chapell and Christian, his wife, had children:

CHAPLIN, Mr. CLEMENT, aged 48, came from England with his wife in company with Mr. Wm. Swayne, aged 50, &c., in the ship Eliza and Ann, Cooper, Master, in 1634, to Cambridge, Mass., where he had lands. He remained there more than a year, and then went to Hartford, probably, with Mr. Hooker and his company, in 1636, and owned land in Hartford in 1639, in the first division. He did not remain many years in Hartford before he located in Wethersfield with Mr. Swayne, and others. He became a large landholder there and sustained an exalted reputation among the citizens of the town and colony, as elder, first treasurer of the colony in 1637, and first secretary. He is first found on the colony record of Conn., Dec., 1636, where "A Corte at New Towne" "ordered y^t Mr. Clement Chaplin shall diligentlie inquire after any the goodes of Mr. Oldham deceased," &c.; and the next notice of him on record is his appointment to the high office of treasurer and collector of the colony in 1637, and the appointment of his sub-collectors, viz: Wm. Wadsworth, Henry Wolcott, Sen., Andrew Warde and Jehu Bur. In May, 1637, Mr. Chaplin was one of the Committee (or House of Assembly) who boldly "ordered that there shalbe an offensiue warr ag^t the Pequitt, and that there shalbe 90 men levied out of the 3 Plantations," &c.; and Mr. Chaplyn is in the list of creditors to W. Oldham's estate in 1639, £146, 18s. 0d. Elder Chaplin in June, 1640, is found in a bitter quarrel with Mr. Michell of Wethersfield, and the latter ordered by the General Courte to make satisfaction to Mr. Chaplin, in some "publike meeting," as part of his censure by acknowledging his fault, &c., and Mr. Michell for undertaking the office of town clerk or recorder, "notwthstanding his uncapableness of such office by censure of courte, he is fyned to pay the country twenty nobles," and those persons who voted for Mr. Michell for the office, "notwithstanding the censure of Courte," were fined to the country five pounds each. Mr. Chaplin, though a deputy to the general court in 1643, was fined by the court, eleven pounds, for divulging and setting his hand to a written declaration of slander, defaming the character of Rev. Mr. Smith of Wethersfield, with Francis Norton, John Goodridge, Mr. Plum and Robert Rose, &c. Elder Chaplin was also deputy, Feb. 14, 1643. Mr. Chaplin was in court as plaintiff against Henry and Samuel Smith, 1644, and Thomas Staples plaintiff against Clement Chaplin defendant, June, 1645, and plaintiff in Court 1646. He was also plaintiff against Dickerson in June, 1646, and had other law-suits, as was the fashion of the day. (While Mr. Chaplin remained at Hartford in 1640, he was on a lot at market place, bounded north on market-place, east on meeting-house alley, south, on John Steel, and west on the road from the Palisadoes to Centinel Hill.—Porter.)

In 1639, Mr. Chaplin was one of a committee of six, viz. : Mr. Deputy, Capt. Mason, Mr. Stone, Mr. Goodwin, Geo. Hubbard and Elder Chaplin, appointed by the General Court for the better keeping in mind of those passages of God's providence, which had been remarkable, since their first undertaking in the plantations : and report the facts to the General Court, &c. (This report, if made, is not found.) The time of his death is not known, as neither stone or record is now found to give the day or year of his decease. He left by will, all his property to his wife Sarah, and from this fact, he probably left no children. His widow, Sarah, returned to England after the death of Elder Chaplin, (about 1647, or 1648, "where she executed a general power of Attorney to Wm. Parks, of Roxbury, Mass.") in which she calls herself of Edmondsbury, in the county of Suffolk, in the kingdom of England, widow and relict of Clement Chaplin, late of Thetford, in the county of Norfolk, in said kingdom, clerk, deceased." (Goodwin.) By virtue of which Mr. Parks sold to Hon. Henry Wolcot, various tracts of land and buildings in Wethersfield, which had been the property of Elder Chaplin, dated Sept. 24th, 1661, amounting to over 1300 acres of land, with buildings. It is not known that he left any relatives in this country. He had eight parcels of land recorded in Wethersfield, as early as 1641.

It was voted at Hartford, Jan. 14th, 1639, to deal with Clement Chaplin for land forfeited to the town. Mr. Wm. Swayne who came to New England in the ship with Elder Chaplin, probably came with him to Hartford and located at Wethersfield a few years, and then removed to Branford or Totoket, where he died. (See SWAIN.) Coats of arms—Chaplin, (Scotland,) 1. Chaplin or Chapelin, (London or Stoneham, co., Hants, granted 1593,) 1. Chaplin, (Lord Mayor of London 1678) 1. Three others for Chaplin.

CHAPLIN, BENJAMIN and Sarah, had a daughter Martha, bap. April, at Hampton, May 20, 1764. Benjamin, Jr., joined the church in Hampton, 1741. Chaplin, Hugh, of Rowley, Mass., will proved, 1657. Benjamin was the first of the name in Hampton, Conn. ; Nathaniel joined 1741.

CHAPLIN, ROBERT, aged 22, passenger in the Paule of London, for Virginia, July 6, 1635.

CHAPLIN, WILLIAM, embarked in the Thomas and John, Jan. 6, 1635, John Lombard, Master, for Virginia ; examined and took the oath of allegiance, (as was the custom.)

The town of Chaplin was probably named after some one of the above family, formed into a society from a part of Windham, Mansfield and Hampton, in 1806, and incorporated a town in May, 1822.

CHAPMAN, HON. ROBERT, came to Saybrook, about 1636. Tradition says he came to this country from Hull, England, in 1635. He appeared first at Saybrook, the next year. His father was a chandler in England, (then called soap-boilers.) One or more sisters either came with him or soon after, and one of his sisters married Francis Bushnell. There were but few men came into the Connecticut colony who rose higher in public estimation, or proved more useful than Robert Chapman. He was a deputy to the General Court of Connecticut, Sept. 9, 1652 ; May, 1653 ; Sept., 1653 ; Sept., 1654 ; in 1656 ; four sessions in 1657, three in 1658, two in 1659, two in 1660, one in 1661, two in 1662, four in 1663, one in 1664, two in 1665 ; in May, 1667 ; Oct., 1667 ; May, 1668 ; Oct., 1668. In May, 1669, he was elected an assistant, and deputy also ; deputy, Oct., 1669 ; deputy in May, 1670 ; Oct., 1670. In May, 1671, he was nominated for assistant ; chosen deputy, May, 1671 ; Oct., 1671. He was again nominated for assistant, May, 1672 ; also, May, 1673; deputy, May, 1674; May, 1675; Oct., 1675; Oct., 1676 and '77. Capt. Robert nominated for assistant, May, 1677, and elected deputy, 1677; Oct., 1677, &c. (See. Col. Rec.)

Mr. Chapman was chosen commissioner for Saybrook in 1666; also, commissioner for Saybrook and Lyme in 1668. Mr. Chapman and Lieut. Wm. Pratt were chosen commissioners by the plantation for Saybrook and Lyme, May, 1669; also, in May, 1671; also, May, 1672 and '73. Mr. Chapman of Saybrook, O. Bruen and John Smith of New London, were appointed by the General Court to settle difficulties with the Niantick Indians for burning fences in 1653. He was grand juror the same year; also, grand juror, 1661. In 1653 the General Court ordered 65 men raised from the several towns in the colony to be forthwith prepared with provisions, on a day's warning to march, and ordered that one man in each town should be appointed a committee for the constables to advise with about pressing the men for the expedition. Capt. Mason, Good'n Clark and Mr. Robert Chapman were appointed in Saybrook. In 1654 a like order was made, and John Clark and Robert Chapman appointed a committee to advise with the Major (Major Mason) as to the pressing of men and necessaries for the service in the Narragansett expedition.

The General Court confirmed a former grant of Twenty-Mile Island, with the meadow adjoining on the east side of the great river, (Conn.) and commonage appertaining, to Robert Chapman, of Saybrook, in 1656. In 1665, Mr. Chapman, Mr. Wyllis, Mr. Leet, and Capt. Nash, or any three of them, were appointed a committee to hear Uncas's complaints, and report to the Gen. Court. Robert

* The earliest records of the town of Hebron are the proceedings of meetings held in Saybrook and Lyme by persons styling themselves legatees of Joshua, Sachem. The following are extracts:

"In Saybrook and Lyme.

Chapman, Mr. Tinker and Mr. Campfield were chosen and sworn assistants, May, 1661. He was directed to swear the people as freemen in "Sea Brooke," who had been orderly propounded. (Col. Rec., 1665.) The same session Mr. Chapman, with the Governor, Deputy Governor and Mathew Griswold, were appointed a committee to try and determine a case presented to His Majesty in a petition of Mr. Morton, and report to the General Court in May, 1666, &c. He was grand juror for Saybrook, May, 1660. He and Matthew Griswold were appointed by the General Court to lay out Mr. Allyn's farm, Oct., 1661.

Facts sufficient are related to show the exalted rank in the Connecticut colony occupied by Hon. Robert Chapman of Saybrook, in the early settlement of Connecticut, and the organization of its government.

CHAPMAN, HON. ROBERT, of Saybrook, m. Ann Blith at "Seabrook," April 29, Anno, 1642, and had children, viz. :

John, b. July, 1644.

2. Robert, Jr., b. Sept., 1646.

3. Anna, b. Sept., 1648; d. 1649.

4. Hanna, b. Oct. 4, 1650.

"Say-brooke Febu: 19th 1707.—

"At a meeting of the Legatees of the last Will and Testament of Joshua Sachem belonging to Say-brook." "It was agreed and vouted that Cap^t John Clarke, Mr. Rob^t Chapman, Esq^r John Pratt, and Serg^t Stephen Post should prefer a petition unto the Gen^l Court to be holden at Hartford next May for the granting a Township within said land. And y^e the name of the said place may be called Hebron—And that s^d petition be by said men signed in the name and behalf, and preferred at the charge of us the Legatees." (Hebron Record, copied by Hendee, Town Clerk.)

There is a deed recorded in the Town Records of Hbron, book 3d, page 65, from "Ben Uncose Sachem of Mohegin Benjamin Uncose and Ann daughter to Ceasor and wife to said Benjamin," conveying the township of Hebron to "Capt. Hezekiah Gaylord Capt. Obadiah Hoeford, Capt. Nathaniell Phelps, John Phelps Jonathan White Moses Cass, Joseph Phelps, Charles Dewey and Rachell Jones, inhabitants" and proprietors of the town of Hebron and "Nathaniell Man and y^e rest of ye inhabitants of y^e town of Hebron." The deed was executed at Colchester, January 11th, 1737-8. (The magistrate before whom the deed was acknowledged, appended the following certificate:)

"Hartford, County ss. Colchester, Jan^y 11th, A.D., 1737⁸ Mr. John Avery interpreter, being sworn did before me y^e subscriber Roger Woolcot Assistant in y^e Colony of Connecticut interpret y^e instrument contained on y^e other side of this paper unto y^e granters therein mentioned, Ben Uncose, Benjamin Uncose, Ann Uncose y^e wife of s^d Benjamin Uncose, and declare upon oath that he had made them all fully to understand y^e same and that y^e said granters did declare that they had received full satisfaction as expressed in said instrument and y^e said Ben Uncos and Benjamin Uncas and Ann were then sober and of sound understanding and that y^e said instrument was their voluntary act and deed.

"CORAR ROGER WOOLCOT, Assistant."

5. Nathaniel, b. Feb. 16, 1653.
6. Mary, b. April 15, 1655.
7. Sarau, (Sarah,) b. Sept. 25, 1657.

His wife, Ann, d. Nov. 20, 1685, and Capt. Robert Chapman d. Oct. 13, 1687.

CHAPMAN, CAPT. JOHN, son of Hon. Robert, m. Elizabeth Hally, or Holly, of Stratford, June 7, 1670, and had children : John, Jr. b. Sept. 8, 1671 ; Joseph, b. July, 1673 ; Elizabeth, b. Dec. 19, 1686, d. soon after ; his sixth son and ninth child b. Nov. 6, (no date,) and d. Nov. 9, 1689. His wife, Sarah, d. April 7, 1692, and he m. for second wife, Mary Sheather, Oct. 29, 1694, and had Benjamin, b. Jan. 1, 1695. Mehitabel, b. May 15, 1697, d. 1697-8 ; Stephen, b. March 5, 1698-9. Robert Chapman died when a member of the Gen. Court at Hartford, and was there buried, where his monument yet says : "Here lyeth Robert Chapman, who departed this life Nov. y^e 10, 1711, aged 63." (The birth and age disagree.)

The Chapmans of Ellington are, many of them, descendants of Robert, 3d. John, son of Robert, removed to East Haddam before 1690. His second son resided at Oyster River, in Saybrook, and was a member of that noted body of Puritans who formed the Saybrook Platform, in 1708. He died suddenly at Hartford while a member of the Gen. Assembly, and was interred at Hartford in Oct., 1711. His son, Robert, the grandson of Hon. Robert, 1st, settled and d. at East Haddam, and was b. 1674. His first wife was Mary, and first child b. Dec. 16, 1698. John had thirteen children, several died young ; Joseph, Jabez and Samuel only had families. Joseph lived and d. in Saybrook ; Jabez settled and d. in East Haddam ; and Samuel, the youngest, was b. in 1692 ; he removed to Stonington ; his wife was Mary, and she d. young in Saybrook.

Samuel deeded land to his son, Samuel, in Saybrook, 1745, and Samuel, the son, deeds the same land and buildings, as of Salisbury, in 1748. Jabez has few descendants, and now only one or two families in East Haddam, but most of the Chapmans there are descendants of Robert, 3d. The Chapmans of Ellington are, many of them, descendants of Robert, 3d, by his third son, Jonathan, b. in 1702, and m. Hannah Brainard, Dec., 1730, and had sons: Jabez, b. 1731; Jonathan, b. Aug. 21, 1734; Joseph, b. Sept. 6, 1736; and John, b. Nov. 10, 1739. John and Joseph never married; lived and d. at Millington. Jabez and Jonathan married and settled in Ellington from 1760 to '65.

As Rev. F. W. Chapman, a descendant of Hon. Robert, is preparing a full genealogy of the family, I publish a small part of it. Hon. Asa Chapman, an eminent lawyer and judge of the S. Court of Conn., and his son Hon. Charles Chapman, of Hartford, late member of Congress; Geo. H., of Saybrook; Libbeus, of New York; Rev. F. W. Chapman, and very many other highly respectable men, are found descended from Hon. Robert Chapman, once of Saybrook.

CHAPMAN, JOHN, d. at Colchester in 1745, aged 60. John and Robert, of Saybrook, nominated for freemen, Oct., 1667.

Thomas Chapman, deputy to Gen. Court in Conn., May, 1652, and Oct., 1654. He testified with others in court, in May, 1651, that he knew nothing of John Dyer's carrying Indians on board the Dutch vessel, and that that was no cause of their seizing the vessel and goods.

There was a THOMAS CHAPMAN admitted to the church at Hampton, Conn., July 31, 1726; and Thomas and his wife are entered as having joined the church at Hampton, Feb. 18, 1728, (perhaps father and son.)

CHAPMAN, EDWARD, of Windsor, m. Eliz'th Fox in England and had children born at Windsor, viz., 1, Henry, b. July, 4, 1663; 2, Mary, b. Aug. 23, 1664, d.; 3, Mary, b. Oct. 22, (or 7,) 1654; 4, Eliz'th b. Jan. 18, 1667; 5, Simon, b. April 30, 1669; 6, Hanna, b. May 3, 1671; 7, Margaret, b. March 7, 1672; 8, Sarah, b. May 24, 1675. Some of his daughters appear to have been born before he came to Windsor; he d. at Windsor in 1675. Edward Chapman, Corp'l Samuel Marshall, Ebenezer Dibble, Nath'l Pond and Richard Sexton, all of Windsor, were in the Indian fight, and were wounded, and d. Dec., 1675. The inventory of said Edward is dated Feb., 1675, £184, 10s.; offered in court, March 2, 1675; distributed, £61 to his widow; his eldest son, Henry, £30; the other son, Simeon, £18; to the five daughters, £15 each. Edward was sworn freeman in 1667. Eliz'th, widow of Edward, afterward, 1673, had her children baptized, after the death of her husband.

CHAPMAN, WILLIAM, of N. London, in 1657, had the house and lot which had been Capt. Denison's, purchased of Mr. Blyman, agent of John Chynnery. (Caulk. N. L., p. 93.) He rang the first bell at N. London, "a large brass bell," as Miss Caulkins says, "to signalize the entrance of Mr. Saltonstall on his official duties. It cost £25 in current money, and for ringing it, he had 40s. added to his salary of £3, as sexton." Wm. was a freeman at N. London in 1669. There is no evidence that Robert, of Saybrook, and William, of N. London, or John, of N. Haven, were relatives.

CHAPMAN, SARAH, for sitting under an apple-tree in Goodman Chapman's orchard, on the Lord's day, with John Lewis, was presented to the court for trial.

CHAPMAN, JEREMIAH, of N. London, teacher of grammar school there, in 1738.

SAMUEL, of N. London, in 1704.

CAPT. DANIEL, of N. London, commander of one of the companies raised against Capt. Breton, in 1744-5.

DANIEL, d. 1841, aged 80.

RICHARD CHAPMAN'S wife admitted to the first church at Unity, (North Stratford,) Nov. 12, 1730, and Richard admitted in 1736, and his daughter, Mary, admitted June 25, 1738. Ruth, dau. of Richard, deceased, admitted in June, 1741. Abner, son of Mary Chapman, b. Aug. 8, 1738.

CHAPMAN, DANIEL, original proprietor and settler of Stafford, Conn.

CHAPMAN, SIMON, and Nathaniel Cook, the first inn-keepers recorded in Windsor, 1712.

ICHABOD, of Colchester, had a son, Ichabod, bap. April 15, 1733.

SAMUEL, of Colchester, removed, and was a first settler at Sharon, Conn., and had sons, Samuel, Jr., Ezekiel and Nehemiah.

OBADIAH removed from Colchester to Sharon, in 1741, and d. 1761; his son, Obadiah, Jr., d. 1763; his son, Pelatiah, d. 1759; Matthias and Robert—(Sedg.)

CHAPMAN, JOSEPH, of Colchester, d. 1765, aged 98 years.

SARAH, of do, d. 1772, aged 86.

JOHN, of do., d. 1745, aged 60. Wife of John, of do., d. 1749, aged 75. Her husband, John, d. there, Feb., 1750, aged 97. The wife of Joseph, of do., d. there, 1753, aged 75.

MR. JOSEPH, of Newport, R. I., m. Bathshua Mansfield, of N. Haven, Jan. 22, 1705.

CHAPMAN, JABEZ, and Dyer Throop, of E. Haddam, were members to ratify the Constitution of the U. S., in 1788.

CHAPMAN, SAMUEL, and J. West, of Tolland, also were members.

CHAPMAN, HENRY, aged 19, embarked from England for Virginia, July 27, 1635, in the Primrose, Douglass, master.

CHAPMAN, RICHARD, aged 18, was passenger for Virginia, Aug. 1, 1635, on board the Eliz'th de London, Christopher Brown, master. (Somerby.)

CHAPMAN, WALTER, aged 44, passenger in the Assurance de London, for Virginia, in 1635.

CHAPMAN, RALPH, aged 20, embarked in the Eliz'th de London, Wm. Stagg, master, in 1635, with certificates from the minister of St. Saviour's, Southwark, &c.

THOMAS, aged 26, passenger in the Globe of London, for Virginia, in 1635.

Mary m. Samuel Bate, of Saybrook, April 15, 1677.

SAMUEL had an earmark at Lyme, one of the first.

There was a JOHN CHAPMAN, interested £4, 14s. in the settlement of Mr. John Oldham's estate, which was the first estate settled in Conn.

CHAPMAN, JOHN, a first settler at N. Haven, signed the "foundimental" agreement there, in 1639. (See Note, p. 76.) He was at N. Haven in 1643, with two persons in his family, and an estate of £300. (Lambert.) As his marriage is not recorded there, he was probably married when he came there; neither has he children recorded there.

CAPT. JOHN, of Haddam, d. in his old age, and his children divided his property, March 28, 1712, viz.: Joseph of Saybrook; Jabez and Samuel, of Haddam, then living; and his sons-in-law, viz., Stephen Chalker, of Saybrook; Joseph Selden, of Lyme, and Samuel Richardson, of Stonington, by their marriage with his daughters, Elizabeth, Anne, Mehitabel, and Lydia Chapman, of Haddam, the last unmarried.

CHAPMAN, LYDIA of Haddam, d. 1738, and her heirs were her brothers and sisters, viz., Jabez and Samuel Chapman, Anne Selden, Mehitabel and Elizabeth Chalker, of Saybrook.

John, of Colchester, had a son, Gideon, bap. Aug. 6, 1737, and dau. Delight, bap. same day.

WM. CHAPMAN'S dau., Mary, an adult, bap. May 18, 1735 ; also, Abigail, an adult, bap. at Colchester, same day.

CHAPMAN, MR. ELIJAH, of Tolland, m. Sarah Steel, May, 28, 1747, and had children, Joanna, Reuben, Sarah, Elijah, Ashbel, Sarah, Ruth, Esther, Roxanna, Aaron, Dorcas, Daniel. The father d. Feb. 17, 1808. Sarah, wife of Dea. Elijah, d. Feb. 22, 1812.

Capt. Samuel had issue b. at Tolland, viz., Ruth, b. Oct. 13, 1733, m. Mr. Eleazer Steel, Nov. 7, 1751 ; Simon, b. Dec. 23, 1736 ; Margaret, b. May 5, 1739, (perhaps others.)

JOHN, of Colchester, aged over 70 years, bap. April 7, 1734.

SAMUEL, and his wife, adults, of do.; bap. July 18, 1736.

DANIEL, of Colchester, had sons, Barnabas and Jeremiah, bap. Sept. 16, 1733 ; Mercy, May 3, 1735, and Eunice, 1737.

Ichabod, son of Ichabod, of Colchester, bap. April 15, 1733 ; Elisha, 1736, and Lydia, 1738.

Farmer notices John, in Mass., freeman, in 1634 ; Jacob, admitted a resident or townsman, in Boston, 1642 ; Richard, Braintree, 1647, killed by Indians ; Dea. Samuel, proprietor at Westfield, in 1660. This has been a familiar name in many parts of Connecticut, from the first settlement.

Coats of arms. Chapman, (Cambridgeshire,) 1 ; Chapman, (Stratton, Co. Gloucester,) 1 ; Chapman, (Cambridgeshire,) 1 ; Chapman, (London,) 1, and 22 others.

Four by this name had graduated at Cambridge college, and eight at Yale, in 1850.

NOTE FOR TOLLAND. Matthew Allen Roger Wolcott, Timothy Thrall and John Ellsworth, of Windsor, had liberty of the Legislature to lay out the town of Tolland, in 1715. In 1719 the proprietors sold the town to 53 persons, and reserved to each of the four original proprietors 300 acres of the land. These fifty three were, and have been deemed, the first settlers, but Waldo says, roads were laid out and lots assigned in 1713, and children born there before 1715. Amy Hatch, dau. of Joseph, was b. there Oct. 1713 ; Margaret Park, dau. of Joseph Park, b. there Jan. 1715 ; Joseph, son of Joseph Hatch, was the first male child b. at Tolland' Sept. 12, 1715, but Hatch and Park had deeds with the first proprietors, yet the settlement began before 1715. Joseph Benton was Town Clerk in 1719, and he was sent the same year to procure a minister, and Rev. Stephen Steel preached there in 1720, and in 1721 was voted £75 a year, and 1723 he was settled their first minister. Noah Grimes and Daniel Cook appointed to prepare for the ordination. Mr. Steel dismissed for ill health, Dec. 25, 1758, and d. Dec. 4, 1759, aged 63 years.

CHAPPELL, GEORGE. The first found of this man in the colony is on the colony record, March 28, 1637, where the court "ordered y^t Mr, Frances Stiles shall teach Geo: Chapple, Tho: Coop^r & Tho: Barber, his servaunts in the trade of a Carpenter accordinge to his p^rmise for there s^rvise of their terme behinde 4 dayes in a weeke onelie to sawe and slitt their owne worke," &c. In June, 1645, "Chappell, the Taylar" is found in court at Hartford, against Southmead. Sept. 4, 1645, George Chappell was plaintiff against Leonard Chester—same Court, "Rich: Belding is bownd in xx/, George Chappell in 10/, that the sd. George keepe good behaiour and appeare the next Court." Dec. 4, 1645, "John Eauens" was plaintiff against George Chappell, at Hartford. Geo. Chappell was Pl^{ff} and Def^t in Court March 5, 1645. He was also in court Oct. 1, 1646, in two causes of the previous term, and Def^t in a case of Rich. Webb Pl^{ff}. At a Particular Court holden at Hartford Sept. 7th, 1648, "George Chappell contra John Goodrich." At a Particular Court at Hartford Oct. 17th, 1648, George Chappell and Mathew Williams forfeited their recognizance, and the judgment was suspended by the Court until they should be found or known to be at the house of Thos Ford or John Sadler; "and the judgment of the Courte is that if either George Chappell or Mathew Williams shall hereafter bee in either of the houses aforesaid, and the said Thomas Ford or John Sadler shall not make it knowne to some of the magistrates within 24 houres after theire or either of theire being in theire howses or either of theire houses," they shall pay the recognizance. Geo. Chappell was also a Def^t in Court at the suit of Jeames Northam at Hartford Apr. 24, 1649. Particular Court in Hartford Sept. 6, 1649, "Mrs. Chester complaines against George Chappell and Goody Coleman and Danyell Turner, for misdemeanors." George Chappell soon after this is found at New London. About 1650 or '51 he left his first settlement, where he had been about thirteen years before he went to New London—Miss Caulkins locates him on a "lot granted Feb. 20, 1651–2, afterward the Manwaring homestead, on Manwaring Hill," in N. London—and he was one who wrought at the Mill Dam in Mr. Bruen's list in July, 1651. "George Chappell hath given him 6 acres of land for a house-lot betwixt the neck fence and Jordan river, part of it buting on Jordan river." He sold his lot in N. L., to the Indian Missionary, Wm. Thompson, and removed soon after to his new lot "by Nathantick way-side." He and Clement Minor were the first settlers in Jordan district. (Caulk., p. 136.) Geo. Chappell was an inhabitant of N. L., when the Charter of Charles II. was granted to Conn., and one of the Patentees of N. London named when the Patent of N. L. was sanctioned by the Gov. and Company, in 1704. He lived several years into the 18th century, viz.. 1709—he came to N. England from London in the Christopher, arrived March 16, 1634, aged 20, John White, master, so that he must have been 22 years old when the court ordered Francis Stiles in 1637 to teach him the trade of a carpenter. The following facts are from Miss Caulkins, p. 352. He took his wife Margaret and his eldest children, probably four of them, to New London. Miss Caulkins gives his children collected from various sources, as follows. She says: At the decease of Geo. Chappell, these nine children were all living, and his aged wife, whom he committed to the special care of his son Caleb and grandson Comfort. Caleb, the ninth child of Geo. Sen., had removed to Lebanon before his father's decease, and adds those born at Wethersfield—his wife's name was Christian—Abigail, b. Sept. 1, 1644; Sarah, b. Sept. 21, 1647; Rachel, b. Oct. 10, 1649, m. Thomas Crocker. The following Miss Canlkins puts down as his children, all living at the father's death, viz.: Mary, married John Daniels; Rachel, married Thos. Crocker, had five sons and a daughter Mary; John, removed to Flushing, L. I.; Geo., born March 5th, (17) 1653-4; Elizabeth, b. August 30, 1656; Hester, b. April 15, 1662; Sarah, b. Feb. 14, 1665-6; Nathaniel, b. May 21, 1668, and Caleb, b. Oct. 7, 1671. Caleb Chapel, of Lebanon, purchased two rights of land in Litchfield, in 1721. Caleb Chappell, son of Geo., removed from New London to Lebanon; he had a son Amos who moved from Lebanon to Sharon, after 1760.

CHAPPELL, SAMUEL, of West Hartford, m. Hannah Cadwell, July 3, 1723, and had a son Nathaniel, bap. at West Hartford, May 2, 1736.

CHAPPELL, SAMUEL, of Hartford, wife Hannah, had issue b. at Hartford, viz.: Zebulon, b. Dec. 19, 1724; Lydia, b. Oct. 3, 1725; Hannah, b. March 29, 1729; perhaps others.

CHAPELL, JOHN, of Lyme, in 1677.

GEORGE, son of George, m. 1st, Alice Way, and 2d, Mary Douglass, and had sons, George and Comfort; from the latter descended the late Capt. Edward Chappell of New London. Edward died 1824, aged 80. Ezra Chappell was first president and one of the first members of the corporation of the Savings Bank at New London, in 1827. (See Caulk.)

GEORGE CHAPPELL, Henry Stiles, of Windsor, Henry Stiles, of Hartford, John Stiles, Thomas Stiles, Edward Preston, John Harris, John Dyer and Francis Stiles, came to New England, from London, in the ship Christopher, in 1634. It appears by this fact, that George came in the same ship with Francis Stiles, with whom he served his apprenticeship, George then being 20 years of age.

John Chappell, aged 38, passenger for Virginia in the Assurance de London, 1635; Thomas Chappell, 33, embarked in the America for Virginia, with a certificate from Gravesend, June 23, 1635.

Samuel Chappell, of Hartford, m. Hannah Bidwell, July 3, 1723.

CHARLES, WM., aged 21, was passenger in the Assurance de London, for Virginia, in 1635. Dorothea Charles, aged 20, was a passenger in the Transport of London, in 1635.

CHARLES, WM., of Mass., 1646; William, aged 74 in 1668: (His. Reg.) Charles, of New Haven, d. Nov., 1690.

CHARLES, JOHN, of Springfield, Mass., sold land in Branford, Conn., in 1709. John and his wife, Abigail, had a son, John Charles, b. at Stratford, Sept. 28, 1688.

* CHARLES, JOHN, and John Collins, were at Branford, Jan.

* "Jan. 20, 1667

(Charlet) d. Aug. 9, 1670. (See HAUGHTON, in this work ; also Caulk. N. L., p. 299.)

CHARLTON, JOSEPH, was at Andover, Mass ; m. Abigail Osgood, Aug. 2, 1694. A Scotchman of this name came to Conn. about the time of the war of the Revolution, and has descendants here.

CHARTER, JOHN, JR., m. Sarah Russell, 1777, and had issue : John, Daniel, Nathan, Lemuel, Sarah, Charlotte, Mary, Rebecca and Eunice, b May 15, 1797.

Charter has one coat of arms, and Chase, or Chansey, one. Not an early name in Connecticut.

CHARWELL, EDWARD, d. at Windsor in 1648. No other account of him is found.

CHATFIELD, GEORGE, was at Guilford as early as 1642, and was the first of the name in the New Haven colony, where he or his heirs were assessed in 1642, at £10, 13s. 0d., and John Bowers at £4, 10s. Geo. Chatfield was one of the early settlers at Kenelworth, (Killingworth,) and the following children recorded as his viz., George, Jr., b. Aug. 18, 1668 ; Mercy, b. 1671 ; (Esther. b. 1703 ; Cornelius, b. June 3, 1706 ; Naomi, b. 1709 ; Philip, b. Oct. 8, 1711 ; Mary, b. Jan. 14, 1715-16 ; these last five probably children of George, Jr.)

The Chatfields of Roxbury, Conn., were of the Guilford family. This name was also at Derby : all of them supposed descendants of George, of Guilford. The name is yet at Hammonasset. In May,

NOTE FOR CHATFIELD. In Oct. 1663, Mr. Samuel Wyllis, Henry Wolcott and Wm. Wadsworth were appointed a committee to form rules for the settlement of Hammonasset, (Kenelworth.) The committee decided that 30 families should settle on the East side of Hammonasset (river.) Those entered as planters in 1663, were: 1 Bryan Rossiter, 2 Wm Hayden, 3 Edward Griswold, 4 John Meigs, Sen., John Skinner (did not go,) 5 Josias Hull, Sen., Simon Mills, 6 Wm. Kelsey, John Stedman (did not go,) 7 Wm. Wellman, John Clow, Sen., John Clow, Jr., (last did not go,) Josias Ellsworth (did not go,) 8 Samuel Buell, Robert Howard (did not settle,) 9 Jonas Westover, Josiah Gilbert (did not go,) 10 Wm. Barber, 11 Mr. Mathew Allyn (did not go,) Mathew Beckwett, (Beckwith,) (did not go,) 12 Joseph Wilkinson, Richard Warkley (did not settle, or left soon after.) Also is added a farther list; 13 Thos. Smith, 14 Henry Farnam, 15 John Rossiter, 16 Jonathan Dunnin, 17 Thomas Stevens, 18 Wm. Stevens, 19 George Chatfield, 20 John Kelsey, 21 Henry Cranne, 22 Eleazer Isbell, 23 Benj. Wright, 24 Joseph Hand, 25 Robert Williams, John Nattletown, 27 John Hodge, and 28 Josiah Hull, Sen. The following names are yet found in the town, viz.: Rossester, Griswold, many Hulls, Kelsey, Williams, Buells, Farnam, Stevens, Chatfield, Crane, one Isbell, Wright, Nettleton. Hon. Mathew Allyn owned land in the town, but never resided there. Annanias Turney was admitted an inhabitant of the town, Nov. 26, 1667. Those who have the figures annexed to the names were actual settlers, in 1665, or soon after.

1665, the Gen. Court deferred administering the oath of a freeman to George Chatfield, John Meggs, Jr., John Shether, &c., until a farther opportunity. George Chatfield was one of the constables of Killingworth, who returned a list of the freemen of the town in 1669. Geo. Chatfield was one of the first settlers of Hammonasset, and recorded 19th, or 19th lot in the town.

George Chatfield was probably one of the most respectable men in Killingworth, or he would not have held the reputable office of constable of Killingworth, as the constables of the towns were generally the Governor's advisers in the towns.

CHATFIELD, JOHN, of Derby, died, and his will dated, April 12, 1737. Children: his sons, John and Samuel, had their share of his estate by previous deeds, and Ebenezer most of his share. Solomon had his house, barn and land where John then lived. His daughters were, Mary, Sarah Davis and Abigail Johnson. Widow Anna Chatfield.

Chatfield has two coats of arms.

CHATTERTON, MICHAEL, was a creditor in the estate of William Lotham, in Conn., in 1645.

CHATTERTON, WM., of N. Haven, (perhaps son of Michael,) had children b. at N. Haven: Sarah, b. July, 19, 1661; Hannah, b. Aug. 4, 1663, d. Nov. 4, 1663; Mercy, b. Nov. 22, 1664; Mary, b. Dec., 1666; John, b. Feb. 21, 1668; Samuel, b. June 10, 1671, perhaps others. This has been an old name in New Haven.

Chatterton has five coats of arms.

CHECKLEY, ABRAHAM, had a mark for his cattle, at Guilford, in 1708-9.

Four of this name graduated at Harvard College before 1757.

CHEDESTER, SAMUEL, of Wallingford, m. Mehitabel Tuller, of Simsbury, Dec. 17, 1719.

CHEDLE, BENJAMIN, and his wife, Sarah, took upon themselves the church covenant at Hampton, Conn., Aug. 28, 1723. Benjamin Chedle, of Hampton, m. Sarah Greenslit, Jan. 19, 1762, and had issue, Benj'n, b. May 17, 1762; Martha, b. March 17, 1764; Elijah, Rufus and Daniel, bap. April 16, 1769.

CHEDSEY, JOHN. At a later period the name has been, universally, Chidsey. His name is not found in the list of the signers of the fundamental agreement of first settlers of New Haven. His wife was Elizabeth; children, Mary, b. Sept. 22, 1650, d. Oct., 1650; John, b. Oct. 21, 1651; Joseph, b. Dec. 5, 1655; a daughter, b. 1653; Daniel, b. July 30, 1657, d. 1667, June 4; 2d Mary,

b. Nov. 21, 1659; Caleb, b. Nov. 20, 1661; Hannah, b. Jan. 7 or 9, 1663; Ebenezer, b. Feb. 10, 1665; Elizabeth, b. Dec. 16, 1668; Sarah, b. 1670; perhaps other children. Elizabeth, wife of John Chedsey, and Elizabeth, his daughter, d. 1688. Deacon John Chedsey, the father of the above children, d. Dec. 31, 1688. Anna, wife of Caleb, son of Dea. John, d. Jan. 15, 1691-2. John, son of Ebenezer Chedsey, d. 1689. Hannah, second wife of Caleb Chedsey, d. Dec. 25, 1703, or '13. Caleb m. Hannah Dickerman, July 6, 1693. Dea. Caleb, Jr., in the list of estates at N. Haven; £72, with six polls in his family, and drew 19½ acres of land in 1702. Ebenezer had seven polls in his family, £53 in the list of estates, and drew 19 acres. Second Mary m. Wm. Wilnot in 1692. Hannah m. Caleb Mix. Deacon John was made deacon of the first church in New Haven when young, where he remained several years, and Dodd says, removed to Stoney River in 1681. John Chedsey admitted a free inhabitant at E. Haven, Feb. 19, 1658. He was by trade a shoemaker and tanner. The deacons in this family show their exalted standing in the society and church wherever they resided.

One of this name graduated at Yale College in 1848.

CHEENY, JOHN, of Wethersfield, was an early settler; he m. Sarah, June 26, 1669, and had issue:

1. John, Jr., b. July 1, 1672
2. Henry, b. Feb. 14, 1673.

He probably died or left the town, as nothing more is found of him at Wethersfield.

CHEENEY, NATHANIEL, had sixty acres of land allotted to him at Suffield in 1680; also, in 1684-5, thirty acres, and two acres for a house-lot. This lot was conveyed by John Cheeny, successor of Nath'l Cheney, to Jacob Adams, in 1698.

NATH'L and PETER, of Newbury, in 1669. Perhaps the same Nath'l who went to Suffield.

CHEYNIE, WM., of Roxbury, Mass., had a son, John, b. there in 1640, and a daughter, Mehitabel, b. there in 1643.

PETER, of Worcester, in 1709, had children, Huldah, Jemima, Hannah, Lydia, Eldad, Ichabod, before 1690.

CHEENY, REV. THOMAS, of Brookfield, Mass.

One by the name of Cheney graduated at Yale College in 1771, and three by the same name have graduated at Harvard College.

CHENY, WILLIAM, is the first of the name found in the Conn. colony. He was not one of the first settlers of the colony.

CHEENY, CHEENEY, CHENEY, CHENY, WILLIAM,* from Little Boston near Canbury, in Oxfordshire, in England (Hand's Letter,) was made a freeman at Hartford, Ct., in May, 1657, and was early settled at Middletown, where he was one of the principal men of

* Cheeny, Mr. William, of Middletown, not having children of his own, sent to England for Benjamin Hand, his nephew, to come to Middletown, Conn., and become heir to his estate. He came to Boston, in Mass., and on the 20th of Feb., 1681, Hand wrote a letter to his "Dear loving uncle and aunt William and Ann Cheeny, of Middletown, from y^r cousin, Benjamin Hands son of your dear brother Benjamin and Katheren Hands of little boston near Canbury in Oxfordshire"—also stating the opposition he met with at home to his coming, and his strong desire to come to him—that he lived in London, &c., that he had not money to pay his passage, that he was in distress at Boston, Mass., out of money and business, and owed £6 toward his passage and desired his uncle Cheeny to redeem him for his passage and he would be his trusty and faithful servant. Also to pay £3 which a friend had paid for him in London. That he had come to a strange place among strangers, except Mr. Whitwell or Wilson, who was kind to him, imploring his uncle and aunt Cheeny to redeem him, and he should "remain y^r low and trusty searvant till death God willing," Benjamin Hands, (an elegant signature.)

On the trial as to the estate of Mr. Cheeny, Caleb Stanley testified, then aged about 60, that soon after Benjⁿ Hand come from England, Mr. Cheeny came to his house in Hartford, and told him s^d Benjⁿ was his kinsman, and he sent for him to be his heir, and he had come to his house, and said he would make him his heir of his whole estate, or the most part of it, and when he was at his house at Middletown, Mr. Cheeny called for his young kinsman, for Mr. Standly to see him, being much taken with him, and told before his wife that he had sent to Engl^d for the young man to be his heir, and he should be his heir, &c.; that she said her husband would be sorry he ever sent for him to come from Engl^d—that Cheeny's wife desired her husband to send for one of the Cheeneys, that was nearer of kin to him, which Mr. Cheeny s^d was true, but he had sent for this young man and he should be his heir.

By the will of s^d Cheeny dated March 3, 1699, he gave Anne Hand, daughter of Benjⁿ, one cow as a token of his love for her. All the rest of his estate, real and personal, &c., he gave to his loving wife Hope, the use of the real for her life, and after her death to be equally divided to his d^r Clark and her children, only reserving that his d^r Clark's part should be in his house and homestead, to be divided equally to her children after her death, &c.; wife Hope, executor.

Mr. Wm. Cheeny made a second will, dated Sept. 20, 1704, in which he gave his kinsman, Benjamin Hands, of Middletown, eighty acres of land in the second part of the first division of land in Middletown, which was the estate he willed to said Hands. The remainder he gave to Cheeny Clark, son of John Clark, deceased, his son-in-law, about 327 acres east of the river, &c. He also gave Ambrose Clark, son of said John Clark, several lots of land on both sides of the river, and gave all his personal estate to the three children of said John Clark, deceased, his son-in-law, being Cheeny, Ambrose and Eunice Clark. He also provided in case the three children named of John Clark, dec'd, should die before they should be of age, he then gave all their shares to the church of Middletown, to be improved and laid out upon sacramental utensils; and appointed his son-in-law, John Williams, and his daughter-in-law, Abigail, his wife, executor and executrix of his will, and requested worshipful John Hamlin and his friend Joseph Rockwell, to be overseers, and see his will executed. Signed Wm. Cheny.

Inventory taken Nov. 12, 1705, being £259, 3s. 6d.

This will was proved in court at Hartford, Dec. 6, 1705—upon which a long trial was had before the court. It was proved by Isaac Johnson, Sen., that in 1681-2, Ensign Wm. Cheeny was informed that he had a cousin who had come to Boston from England, which he had so often sent for to his brother Hands to send one of his sons to enjoy what God had given him in New England. Isaac Johnson and his wife testified that Ensign Cheny employed said Isaac to the town, and a member of the General Court in May and Oct., 1660, two sessions in 1663, one in 1664, one in 1665, one in 1667, one in 1670, two sessions in 1672, one in 1673, one in 1675, one in 1676, &c. He was a large landholder. His wife's name was Hope, who probably came with him from England. It appears he had one daughter, (or a daughter of one of his wives,) who married John Clark, of Middletown, and had three children, viz., Cheeny, Ambrose and Eunice Clark. Whether the wife of John Clark was the daughter of Mr. Cheeney and his wife, or her child, is not certain. For some cause Mr. Cheeney sent to England, to his brother-in-law Hands, to send his son, Benjamin Hands, to him at Middletown, Conn., and he would make him his heir. (See Note.) Mr. Cheeney died at Middletown in 1705. Inventory taken Nov. 12, 1705. Estate, £259, 3s. 6d. He gave Benjamin Hands, his kinsman, (nephew,) 80 acres of land; to Cheeney Clark, 327 acres, and to Cheeney, go to Boston, to look up his cousin if to be found there, and that Wm. Cheeney told him, that if the boy's name was Cheeney, he would not own him, but if he was his brother Hand's son then he would bring him up—(to Middletown from Boston)—that he brought him, and Ensign Cheeney and his wife received him as a cousin, the son of their brother Hands; testified Dec. 5, 1705. Thomas Rany testified he heard Ensign Cheeney say, "there was a young man come over from England, that he had sent for to make him his heir," and had divers times heard him say he would make him his heir. Anna Ward, about 40 years of age; testified she had heard Mr. Cheeney say, since he married his last wife, that he had made wills and laid them about, that they might be looked upon. John Hall, aged about 55 years, testified that some time before Mr. Cheeney married his second wife, he was informed that Mr. Cheeney had made a second will, in which he had given to Benjamin Hands little or nothing, and he talked with Mr. Cheeney about it, and that Cheeney said it was true; and he asked him how it was he had so changed his intentions, and how it came that his wife and her children saw his will. He replied, It was for your sake, but my will shall not be known till after my death. Wm. Lucas testified that about fourteen years before, he conversed with said Cheeney about several of his men who had lived with him; he spoke to him about his cousin Benjamin Hands; that Cheeney said he had sent for him to come from England to make him his heir, and that he would make him his heir—sworn Nov. 6, 1705. Worshipful John Hamlin and Noadiah Russell testified, that about fourteen years previous, they had certain knowledge that Mr. Cheeney had a will, to which they were witnesses, in which he gave the town of Middletown for the use of a school, viz., his house and home-lot in Middletown, Anna Coe, alias Everts, testified, that after Mr. Cheeney married his second wife, he then being sick, he heard Mrs. Abigail Clark say, that her father Cheeney had sent for Mr. Hamlin and Mr. Russell to make his will, and perceived Abigail and her mother had much concern about the matter. Joseph Miller testified that some time after his master was married to his second wife, he discovered his mistress was very discontented; that he overheard a discourse with his master for making such a will; that she often cried, and she told his master Cheeney that if that will should stand, he had as good turn them out doors, and said she knew he had given a great part of his estate to his cousin Benjamin Hands.

It will be noticed that Joseph Hand was at Guilford several years before Benjamin Hand came from England to Boston and Middletown, and there is no evidence found they were relatives.

Ambrose and Eunice Clark, all his personal property. John Clark had deceased before the death of Mr. Cheeney. In the will, made Sept. 17, 1704, and proved in 1705, he appointed his son-in-law, John Williams and his wife Abigail, his executors. (See Note.) In the will he made in 1699, he noticed Anne Hand, daughter of Benjamin Hand; he also noticed his wife Hope, for the use of a part of his estate during her life, and then to go to the children of John Clark. By Hand's letter it appears that Wm. Cheeney and Benjamin Hands, his nephew, were from Little Boston, near Canbury, in Oxfordshire, England. Cheeny had a second wife, and it is doubtful whether he had children by either.

CHENEVARD, MR. JOHN MICHAEL, was a native of Geneva, in Switzerland. He came to Hartford about 1723, where he established himself as a merchant, and married Margaret, daughter of Mr. John Buchamp, then of Boston, a brother of Adam Buchamp. Mr. Buchamp, after the marriage of his daughter Margaret, removed to and died at Hartford. (See BUCHAMP.) He died April 7, 1735, aged 56, and Margaret, his wid., died March 18, 1783, aged 76 years. His children were :

John M. W., born July 29, 1733; died Oct. 6, 1805, aged 72.

Catherine, m. Capt. Samuel Marsh, of Hartford.

Mary, m. Samuel Olcott, of Hartford.

Margaret, m. Hon John Lawrence, Sept. 26, 1748, and had twelve children. (See p. 169)—former Treasurer of Connecticut.)

Jane, d. unmarried, Aug. 11, 1788, aged 63.

CHENEVARD, CAPT. JOHN, son of John and Margaret, married Hepzibah Collier, (who was born July 29, 1733,) for his first wife, and had issue :

1. John, d. April 19, 1808, aged 38.

2. Michael, m. Margaret, daughter of Frederick Bull; he d. Nov. 15, 1801, aged 30; no children. His widow married a second husband.

3. Mary, d. in infancy, May 25, 1774, aged nine months and fifteen days.

Hepzibah, his wife, d. Jan. 4, 1774, aged 32, and he married for his second wife, Hannah Flag, of Hartford, and had issue;

4. William, d. young.

5. Henry, d. young.

6. Hepzibah, } These two maiden ladies reside in the old mansion of the

7. Margaret, } family at Hartford, with a competent support. The father, John, d. Oct. 6, 1805, aged 72. Second wife d. June 4, 1774, aged 33. Inventory, $30,324.82. His widow m. a second husband.

CHENEVARD, JOHN,* (third John,) son of John, and grandson

* Sept. 29, 1809, Thomas Seymour, Esq., of Hartford, was appointed guardian for John M. Chenevard, aged about 13 years: Mary Eliza, aged 10: Margaret Juliana, aged 8, and Wm. Chenevard, about 6 years old—children of John, Jun., and grandchildren of Thomas Seymour, Esq.

of John M., married Juliana Seymour, daughter of Hon. Thomas, of Hartford, and had issue :

1. John M., d. unmarried.
2. William, d. at sea, unmarried.
3. Mary E., m. Dr. John Lee Comstock, of Hartford, the celebrated author of Comstock's Philosophy, &c. (See COMSTOCK.)
4. Margaret Juliane, m. Dr. Wm. H. Morgan, of Hartford, now deceased. The children of Dr. Morgan and Margaret were, 1. Elizabeth, m. Wm B. Ely, a merchant in Hartford ; 2. Gertrude, m. William C. Peters, of Boston, Mass. ; 3. Clara, m. Geo. Sumner ; 4. Ellen ; 5. Lydia Huntley ; 6. Talcott, unmarried ; 7. Mary, m. Richard D. Hubbard, Esq., of Hartford, who is one of the most prominent young lawyers in Connecticut, and a gentleman of much legal science and an eloquent and persuasive advocate.

MARGARET, the wife of John M., Sen., gave her property to her son, Capt. John, and daughters Jane and Cathrine ; to her grandson John, and Michael Chenevard ; to the heirs of her deceased daughters, Margaret Lawrence and Mary Olcott. Her son John sole executor of her will—the will presented in court in 1801. John M. Chenevard and his descendants, have uniformly occupied a good standing at Hartford. Capt. John, Jun. was a noted merchant during the war of the Revolution, and in 1777, he and James Church were appointed to be of the Committee of Pay Table. In May, 1777, Capt. John was allowed £77, 9s. 1d. for one-half the expense of building the yard round the Hartford gaol." He supplied the army with many things during the war, and his name is often found on the records at that period.

Michael Chenevard graduated at Yale College in 1788.

CHENERY, JOHN, from Watertown, Mass., purchased the homestead of Capt. Denison, after Denison removed to Mystic about 1654. Wm. Chapman had been his agent, and probably purchased the Blinman or Denison farm for him. Denison sold, as he says, "my new dwelling-house," in the town-plot, to John Chynners, of Watertown, Mass., early in 1652 or '4.

CHEPPERFIELD, EDWARD, an original settler at New Haven, and signed the fundamental agreement of the first settlers.

CHERRY, JOHN, married Sarah —, at Wethersfield, June 26, 1669, and had a son John born there in July, 1672 : Henry b. there Feb. 14, 1673. He probably, soon after the birth of his son Henry, removed from Wethersfield. Miss Caulkins says, John Cherry, a transient person, was at New London about 1680. He drew one acre of land in the land division in Wethersfield, in 1670. Little is found concerning him. The name is found on Milford Record.

Cherry, John, with three Milford Indians, in 1670, was ordered to pay John Brunson, for cider stolen, 20s., and 10s. to Daniel Garrit, for bringing them from Milford to Hartford.

CHESTER, MRS. DOROTHY, appears to have been a lady of some distinction. It is not known whether she was a relation of Leonard, of Wethersfield, or Samuel Chester, of New London. She appears to have been at Hartford at an early period, and was in the first division of land at Hartford, in 1639. She had five lots of land recorded in Hartford, Feb., 1639, and the town voted Jan. 14, 1639, to give Mrs. Chester two years' time to build upon her house-lot in Hartford. Mrs. Chester, by the ancient map of Hartford, had a lot there in 1640, near Sentinel Hill, by which it was bounded north and west on the road from Seth Grant's to the pound, south on Richard Webb's lot, and east on the road from the palisado to Sentinel Hill, (or Main street.) The record says, p. 203, that "Mrs. Chester complains against George Chappell and Goody Coleman and Danyell Turner for misdemeanors." Danyell Turner for libeling Mrs. Chester, and other misdemeanors, was committed to prison and ordered whipped on the next Lecture day, then to be returned to the prison for a month, (from the time of the order,) then again publicly corrected, and give good security for his good behavior. (Court Record at Hartford, Sept. 6, 1649.)

This may have been Mrs. Dorothy Chester, of Hartford, but as no other fact is found of her at Hartford, as late as 1649, the libeled Mrs. Chester was probably the wife of Leonard Chester, of Wethersfield. Mrs. Dorothy Chester probably left Hartford, or deceased, before 1639.

CHESTER, CAPT. SAMUEL, was early at New London. The General Assembly of Conn., May 12, 1664, ordered that Mr. Haggborn's vessel, that Ralph Parker and Samuel Chester appraised at £100, should be delivered at that price to Lieut. Bull, (for Mr. Russell's use,) by the constable of New London, &c. (See printed Col. Rec., p. 430.) Samuel Chester, of New London, was offered for a freeman of New London in 1669. In 1671-2, Samuel Chester was one of those of New London, who were complained of to the County Court in Hartford, by Mr. Matthew Griswold and Lieut. Wm. Waller and others, of Saybrook, "for attempts" by violence to drive them off their lands, "resistance to authority and assault," &c. He first appeared at New London in 1663, from Boston, and engaged in the West India trade as owner, factor and commander, with Wm. Condy, and had a warehouse, &c., on Close Cove. (Miss Caulkins,

p. 145.) He may safely be called a sea-captain, as he commanded the Endeavour for several trips to the West Indies, as early as 1666. He also had an interest in a vessel called the New London Tryall, with Welman & Parker, which Miss Caulkins says was the first actual merchant vessel owned there. Though he was a practical seaman, yet he appears to have been a merchant. After 1689 and '90, a vessel was built for John Wheeler, a prominent maritime man at New London, for European trade; and sent out under Capt. Samuel Chester. In 1664, Capt. Samuel Chester received, says Miss Caulkins, his first grant of land in New London, in company with Wm. Condy, of Boston, called his nephew, for a warehouse. Capt. Chester died on the east side of the river, in 1710. She also says, p. 353, in her valuable History of New London, that he was much employed in land surveys, and was appointed, in 1693, by the Gen. Court, one of the agents to meet a committee from Mass., to renew and settle the boundaries of the two colonies. He had a tract of land in the North Parish, purchased of Owaneco and Josiah, Mohegansachems. The children he had baptized in New London, were John, Susannah and Samuel in 1670, Mercy in 1673, Hannah in 1694, Jonathan in 1697. His will, dated in 1708, names only Abraham, John, Jonathan, and Mercy Burrows. The Chester families at Montville, are descendants of Capt. Samuel. (Miss Caulkins and Record, an early Indian deed, 1683, to Samuel Chester, &c.)

In this place, one generation is not found only by tradition.

CHESTER, JOSEPH, JUN., son of Deacon Joseph, m. Elizabeth Lee, of Lyme, and he died April 2, 1791.

CHESTER, RACHEL, a daughter of Deacon Joseph, married Jared Comstock, and died in Feb., 1841.

CHESTER, ELIZABETH, daughter of Deacon Joseph, married Ezekiel Fox. He died, and she married Thomas Adgate, and died at Bethany, N. Y., Sept., 1830.

CHESTER, LEVI, son of Deacon Joseph—(little known of him.) He died June 2, 1812.

CHESTER, MERCY, daughter of Deacon Joseph, married Jonathan Whaley, and for her second husband married Deacon Elisha Lord, of Pomfret.

CHESTER, OTIS, son of same, married Miss Mott, and removed to Granville, Mass., and died Feb. 28, 1816.

CHESTER, DAVID, son of Deacon Joseph, married Prudence Fox, and removed to Alabama.

CHESTER, MARY, daughter of Deacon Joseph, married Asahel Otis, and died Jan. 2, 1834. Asahel Otis died Jan. 12, 1837, at the house of his son, Levi Otis, in Batavia, N. Y.

CHESTER, MABEL, another daughter, married James Sterling, of Lyme, and removed to Lima, N. Y.

CHESTER, CAROLINE, another daughter of Deacon Joseph, married John Smith. He died Feb. 26, 1830.

CHESTER, OLIVE, another daughter, married William W. Haughton.

CHESTER, LUCINDA, died at her sister Sterling's, at Lima, Feb. 19, 1801.

CHESTER, DOROTHY, another daughter, married Ephriam Fellowes, of Stonington, Oct. 26, 1806, and became the mother of Francis Fellowes, Esq., Counsellor at Law, in Hartford, &c.

CHESTER, SARAH, another daughter, married Elisha Forsyth, and perhaps Haughton.

The foregoing are a small part of the descendants of Capt. Samuel Chester, of New London.

CHESTER, LEONARD, Esq., came from England to Cambridge, Mass., in the early settlement of New England, and stopped first at Cambridge, in 1633. He was of an important and distinguished titled family, of Brady, in Leicestershire in England, and left his country and all his honors there for New England, to enjoy his liberty and religion. In 1635, he went to Wethersfield, to prepare a house for himself and family, and left his wife in delicate health at Watertown, (Cambridge,) and his son John was born at that place, where his birth is recorded—(several years afterward, his birth was recorded, b. at Wethersfield, the first white male child b. there, which was not correct.) Mr. Chester was one of the few titled gentlemen, who left England, in the early settlement of New England, and remained and died here. His title is engraved upon his tomb by his family, as "Armiger"—probably with no more family pride than those who have recorded upon the tombstone of their progenitor his office of corporal or "sargant"—(a title of dignity next in degree to a knight, an esquire, armor-bearer, an attendant on a knight.)

Mr. Chester was a juror in 1643, '44, '45, and grand-juror in Sept., 1643 and '44; plaintiff in court in 1640. Sept. 29, 1642, the Gen. Court, that the country should be the better enabled to kill yearly "some beves for supply of Leather," ordered that no calves should be killed within the plantations, except by the approbation of two men in each town, appointed by the court, upon a forfeiture of ten shillings to the country, and Leo. Chester and Rich. Trotte were appointed for the town of Wethersfield. (See Col. Rec.)

Mr. Chester died when only 38 or 39 years old, Dec. 11, 1648. He was only about 25 or 26 years old when he first came to Wethersfield. His wife, Mary, whom he probably married in England. Their children were :

1. John, b. Aug. 3, 1635, at Cambridge.
2. Dorcas, b. Nov. 1 or 5, 1637, at Wethersfield; m. Mr. Samuel Whiting, of Billerica.
3. Stephen, b. March 3, 1639; d. April 23, 1705.
4. Mary, b. Jan. 15, 1641.
5. Prudence, b. Feb. 16, 1643.
6. Eunice, b. June 15, 1645.
7. Mercy, b. Feb. 14, 1647.

CHESTER, CAPT. JOHN, son of Leonard, Esq., married Sarah, daughter of Gov. Thomas Welles, Feb., 1653, and married by Gov. Welles. Capt. John was a gentleman of much use and importance

Notes. Chester, Mr. Ed; Hampson Harnson fined £5 for divulging slanderous speeches against Mr. Chester, Dec., 1644. Leo. Chester (being in the list of jurors, June, 1645) fined 5s., probably for tardiness or absence. Mr. Chester, for resisting the constable and miscarriage in court, was fined 40s. Mr. Chester freed from training, Oct. 1646.

Leonard Chester and Richard Trott were appointed by the court to give license for killing calves in Wethersfield—(a law was made in 1642, that the country might be enabled to kill yearly, some beeves, for the supply of leather. It was ordered that no calves should be killed within the plantations, upon a penalty of ten shillings, without the approbation of two men within the town, appointed by the court.) Mr. Chester was one of a large committee, to take an account of what the several towns would disburse for building a ship, in 1642.

Inscription on the monument of Mr. Chester, at Wethersfield.—"Here lyes the body of Leonard Chester, Armiger, late of the town of Blady, and several other Lordships in Leicestershire, Deceased in Wethersfield, Anno Domini, 1648.—Ætatis 39."

in the colony. He directed in his will to have each of his children have a mourning ring ; also the same for each of his son's wives. Anthony, his slave, he gave to his wife, and entailed to his eldest son John, his buildings, home-lot, and his land adjoining, to him and his heirs male, providing he had male heirs. Their children were :

1. Mary, b. Dec. 23, 1654 ; m. John Wolcott, Feb. 14, 1676-7 ; she d. before her father, July 10, 1689.

2. John, Jr., b. June 10, 1656.

3. Sarah, b. Nov., 1657 ; m. Simon Wolcott, of Windsor, Dec. 5, 1689.

4. Stephen, b. May 26, 1660 ; d. before his father, Feb. 9, 1697-8. Jemima, (Treat) his relict, and children, Dorothy, b. Sept. 5, 1692 ; Sarah, b. 1693-4 ; Mercy, b. Oct. 26, 1696, and a son d. in infancy, b. Feb., 1697-8. Estate, £1,140.

5. Thomas, b. March 23, 1662 ; d. Dec. 4, 1712, aged 50.

6. Samuel, b. May 23, 1664 ; d. 1689.

7. Prudence, b. Dec. 10, 1666.

8. Eunice, b. May 17, 1668 ; m. Timothy Stevens ; she d. June 16, 1698.

Capt. John Chester's will presented in 1698, by Stephen Chester and Peter Bulkley. He gave John, Jun., his gold ring, which had been his father's, and his mourning ring for his mother. He gave his son Thomas half the farm given him by the Gen. Court, laid out by Doct. Bocket and Capt. Thomas Yale ; also the gold ring given him at the funeral of Mr. Whitwell. Capt. John gave his wife all his silver plate, tankard, porringer, wine-cup, silver spoons, &c. His daughters Sarah, Eunice and Prudence, he gave each £100. He noticed his daughter Mary Wolcott, dec'd, (wife of John Wolcott,) and gave her children £75 each. To his daughter Eunice he gave his division of the Indian purchase east of the river, of "30 square miles." His Japan, with a silver head, he gave Mr. Stephens. He gave his brother, Stephen Chester, £5, and made his sons Thomas and John, his executors. He gave the town of Wethersfield the land at the burying-ground he purchased of Samuel Wyllys, Esq. Will dated Feb. 21, 1697-8, and proved May 6, 1698. He died Feb. 23, 1697-8. Sarah, his relict. Estate, £1,103.

Capt. John was approved by the Gen. Court, 1657-8, as one of the first company of troopers in Conn., and was made a freeman in May, 1658. Capt. John was repeatedly a member of the Legislature—in May, 1676 ; in October 1676 ; May, 1677, and October 1677, &c. Capt. John drew 29 acres in the land division in Wethersfield in 1670. He d. Feb. 23, 1698, aged 62. Mrs. Sarah, his w., d. Dec. 12, 1698.

CHESTER, STEPHEN, son of Leonard, Esq., died about 1705, and left no children, having never married, Major John Chester his administrator on his estate. His property was distributed to his brother, Capt. John Chester, and to the children of his two sisters. His lands, warehouse, &c., were divided into three equal parts, one part to the living children of Capt. John Chester, deceased, a brother of Stephen, deceased; one part to Mr. Samuel Whiting, of Billerica in right of his wife Dorcas, a sister of said Stephen, deceased, and the other third to the children, then living, of Capt. Thomas Russell, of Charlestown, Mass., deceased, who had married a sister of said Stephen, deceased. The above distribution was altered by the court, who gave Thomas Russell, son of Thomas, a double portion of the one-third, and to Prudence Russell a single portion; one-third to the Whiting children. Inventory dated May 5, 1705. Estate, £200, 15s. 6d.

CHESTER, THOMAS, son of Capt. John, Sen., b. 1662, m. Mary, daughter of Richard Treat, Dec. 10, 1684, and had children, viz.:

1. Eunice, b. Nov. 23, 1685.
2. Samuel, b. Sept. 29, 1696, and d. 1710.
3. John, b. Dec. 17, 1699; d. Dec. 14, 1700.
4. Mary, b. Jan. 6, 1706.

Thomas Chester, the father, died Dec. 5, 1712, and his widow Mary died Jan. 1, 1748, aged 81 years.

CHESTER, JOHN, JUN., son of Capt. John, married Hannah, the daughter of Capt. Samuel Talcott, of Wethersfield, Nov. 25, 1686, and had issue; Penelope b. Oct. 21, 1687, d. in infancy; Mehetable, b. Jan. 29, 1689; Mary, b. March 8, 1691; second Penelope, b. Nov. 18, 1693; Hannah, b. May 15, 1696, and died May 29, 1749; Prudence, b. March 4, 1699; Eunice, b. May 11, 1701; John, b. June 30, 1703; Sarah, b. July 1, 1707; Thomas, b. Aug. 31, 1711, died in infancy. Major John, the father, died Dec. 14, 1711, aged fifty-five and a half years. Mrs. Hannah, his widow, died July 23, 1741, in the seventy-seventh year of her age.

CHESTER, MR. JOHN, 3d, son of John, Jun., of Wethersfield, b. June 30, 1703. He graduated at Harvard College in 1722. He married Miss Sarah Noyes, a daughter of Rev. James Noyes, of New Haven, Nov. 19, 1747. They had issue, John, b. Jan. 18, 1749; Leonard, b. Sept., 1750; Sarah, b. Aug. 12, 1752; Abigail, b. May 27, 1754; Stephen, b. Oct. 28, 1761; Thomas, b. Jan. 7, 1764. The father died instantly in the hay-field at Wethersfield, Sept. 11, 1771, in the 69th year of his age. His widow survived him.

Mr. Chester was one of the most important men in the colony. He was often a member of the Gen. Assembly, held many of the offices of the town, was a judge of the county court—in 1748, he was the only male in his line by the name of Chester, says Rev. Mr. Marsh's sermon)—an assistant, and distinguished in both branches of the Legislature for integrity and brilliancy of talents. In the obituary it says, "a strong pillar has fallen when Chester fell," "a father to the fatherless and a God to the widow, in the 69th year of his age." His widow survived him with four sons and two daughters. John d. 1809; Leonard d. 1803; Stephen d. 1835; Thomas d. 1831; Abigail m. Joseph Webb, and d. March 16, 1827, aged 73.

CHESTER, JOHN, 4th, COL., b. 1749, m. Elizabeth, daughter of Hon. Jabez Huntington, of Norwich, Nov. 25, 1773, and had issue; Elizabeth, b. Nov. 10, 1774; Mary, b. April 20, 1779; Hannah, b. Oct. 27, 1781; Sarah, b. June 17, 1783; John, 5th, D. D., b. Aug. 17, 1785; Charlotte, b. March 20, 1787; Henry, b. Oct. 3, 1790, d. in infancy; Julia, b. March 15, 1792; Henry, b. Dec. 22, 1793; William, b. Nov. 20, 1795; George, b. June 14, 1798. Col. Chester died Nov. 4, 1809. He graduated at Yale College in 1766, and in 1772 he was elected a representative to the General Assembly, in his native town. In 1775, he joined the army near Boston, at the head of a company of volunteers, and signalized himself at the battle of Bunker Hill. He was advanced to the command of a regiment for his bravery, but in 1777, he reluctantly retired from the army, by the imperious calls of his family concerns.

Col. Chester was a gentleman of dignity of character and appearance. Previous to 1788 he was repeatedly a member of the House of Representatives in Connecticut, and for several successive sessions was speaker of the House. In 1788 he was chosen one of the state council, where he was continued until 1791, when he received from President Washington the appointment of the office of supervisor of the district of Connecticut, the duties of which he faithfully performed. In 1803, he was again elected a member of the state council. He also held the offices of judge of probate, and judge of the county court. He died in 1809. Ten of this family of Chesters have graduated at Yale College, from 1721 to 1831.

CHESTER, REV. JOHN, son of Col. John, of Wethersfield, b. Aug. 17, 1785, m. Rebecca, daughter of Robert Ralston, of Philadelphia. He prepared for college with Azel Backus, D. D., then of Bethlem. He entered Yale College in 1800, and graduated in 1804. He read theology, and preached his first sermon, as he had promised

Dr. Backus, when he left him in 1800, he should do, in his pulpit. He was, strictly speaking, a popular preacher. His voice was music. He preached at Cooperstown, N. Y., where he received a call to settle, but declined, as he had done at Middletown. He was ordained at Hudson, N. Y., in 1810, where he remained until 1815, when he was installed as pastor of the second Presbyterian Church at Albany, N. Y. He received the doctorate of D. D. from Union College, in 1821. Dr. Chester became a star of the first magnitude in the pulpit. His whole soul was devoted to his profession. He died on the morning of the 12th of Jan., 1829, aged 44 years, at the city of Philadelphia, where he left an amiable widow and a family of young children.

ELIZABETH, daughter of the fourth Col. John, b. 1774, married Eleazer F. Backus, of Albany, June 8, 1807.

MARY, daughter of Col. John, b. 1779, married Capt. Ebenezer Welles, of Brattleboro, Vt., June 3, 1806. His father was an English minister.

HANNAH, her sister, b. 1781, married Hon. Charles Chauncey, of Philadelphia. She died Feb. 6, 1821, aged 39. Mr. Chauncey died in 1849.

JULIA, his sister, b. 1792, m. Matthew C. Ralston, of Philadelphia, April 2, 1816.

Second HENRY, b. 1793, a lawyer in Philadelphia, died in 1848, unmarried.

WILLIAM, son of Col. John, b. 1795, a clergyman in Philadelphia, married a daughter of Dr. White, of Hudson, N. Y. He graduated at Union College in 1815.

GEORGE, son of Col. John, 4th, b. 1798; died in infancy.

CHESTER, THOMAS, son of the first John, married Mary Treat, daughter of Richard, Dec. 10, 1684. He died Dec. 5, 1712, aged 50. His wife died 1748, aged 81. They had issue: Eunice, b. Nov. 22, 1685; Samuel, b. Sept. 29, 1696, died March 17, 1710-11, aged 14; John, b. Dec. 17, 1699, died Dec. 14, 1700; Mary, b. Jan. 6, 1706. Eunice, m. Elisha Williams. Estate distributed Dec. 6, 1714, to widow Mary, one-third of movables, £152, 0s. 7d.; daughter Eunice, £746, 11s., 6d., in real and movables; Mary Chester, £746, 11s. 6d.

CHESTER, STEPHEN, JUN., married Jemima, daughter of Lieut. James Treat, Dec. 17, 1691, and had issue Dorothy, b. Sept. 5, 1692; Sarah, b. March, 5, 1694; Mercy, b. Oct. 26, 1696; Stephen John, b. Feb. 14, 1698, died June 8, 1725. Stephen, Jun., the father, died Feb. 9, 1698, nearly 38 years old.

Capt. John Chester, in his will gave these children £75 each.

CHESTER, LEONARD, son of Col. John, 3d, was b. Sept., 1750; married Sarah Williams, of Pittsfield, Mass., Sept., 12, 1776, and had issue, Leonard Wms. Pepperell, b. Dec. 20, 1777; Sarah, b. Aug. 8, 1779; Henrietta and Sophia, twins, b. March 8, 1781; John Noyes, b. March 20, 1783; Sally Williams, b. Nov. 2, 1784; Wm. Williams Chester, b. July 13, 1786. Mr. Chester removed to and died in New York. It is supposed he had a daughter Hannah, who married Mr. Leffingwell, who is now living, a widow, in New York. Thomas, Esq., of New York, is also supposed to be a son of said Leonard.

SARAH, daughter of Col. John, 3d, b. 1752, married Thomas Coit, of Norwich, and had a family of children.

ABIGAIL, daughter of Col. John, 3d, b. 1754, married Joseph Webb, a merchant of Wethersfield, and had twelve children; two only survive, and reside in Hartford; both unmarried ladies.

STEPHEN, son of Col. John, 3d, b. 1761, married Elizabeth Mitchel, daughter of Judge Mitchel, deceased, of Wethersfield. He lived and died at Wethersfield. Issue, living, Stephen M., of New York; Walter, in Erie, Pa.; John, of Detroit, Michigan; Maria Strong, who married a son of Joel Strong, and others.

CHESTER, THOMAS, son of Col. John, 3d, b. 1764, married Esther M. Bull, of Hartford. He was many years clerk of the court at Hartford. Issue, Rev. Alfred and four daughters, three now living.

The Chester family have, from Leonard, the Armiger, to the present time, been one of the most important families of the colony and state; though few of the name are left in Connecticut, to share the honors of their departed and worthy ancestors.

John Chester graduated at Harvard College in 1722; also, John, in 1775, and Thomas, in 1784. Stephen J. Chester graduated at Yale, in 1721; John, in 1766; Leonard, 1769; Stephen, 1780; Thomas, 1780; John, 1804; Stephen M., 1813; Donald, 1814; Alfred, 1818; Orlando, 1831; Charles T., 1845; George F., 1846.

Col. John Chester and Stephen M. Mitchell, of Wethersfield, members of the convention to ratify the constitution of the United States, in 1788.

Stephen Chester, Esq., appointed sheriff of Hartford county in 1789, in place of Ezekiel Williams, resigned.

Coats of arms.—Chester, (Chicheley, co. Bucks,) 1; Chester, (Chicheley Hall, Bucks,) 1; Chester, (Lee, co. Essex,) 1; Chester, (Upley, co. Essex,) 1; Chester, (Amesbury, co. Gloucester,) 1; Chester, (Gloucestershire,) 1, and nine others. Chestor, (Gloucestershire,) 1.

CHEEVERS, CHEEVER, CHEVER, MR., was one of the signers of the fundamental agreement of the first settlers of New Haven, "on the fourth of the fowerth month called June," (1639,) that church members only should be free burgesses, &c. He, Ezekiel Cheevers, had three of his family at New Haven, in 1643, and £20 estate, and was one of the committee to examine persons for the first church in New Haven. Mary, wife of Ezekiel Cheever, died at N. H., Jan. 20, 1649. JOHN SHEDER was early at Guilford. This was perhaps John Sheather, a name afterward found at Killingworth. The title of Mr. being given on the record to Ezekiel Chevers, proves his standing at N. Haven.

Chever or Chener has one coat of arms.

Eleven by the name of Cheever, had graduated at Harvard College, before 1814.

CHESEBRO, as now spelled by the family, is found on the colony record spelt Chesebrough, Chessbrooke, Ceessbrooke, Chesborough, Cheesbrough, Cheesbruck, Cheesbrook, &c. Chesebro, Wm. This name, in the early settlement of Connecticut, was peculiarly prominent, and a history of two hundred pages could easily be collected of the history of William and Samuel Chesebro. William is first mentioned on the colony record, by the Gen. Court, Nov. 7, 1649, when the court ordered a warrant to be issued to the constable of Pequot, to go forthwith to "Cheessbrooke, of Long Island," and inform him that the government of Connecticut "doth dislike and distaste the way he is in, and trade hee doth drive amonge the Indians," and required of him immediately to desist ; also that he should repair to Capt. Mason, of "Seabrooke," or to some other magistrate on the Connecticut River, and give an account of his previous conduct. On the 19th day of March, 1650-51, the Gen. Court of Conn. are found in trouble again with "Cheessbrooke." The record says, "Whereas vppon former information given to this court that William Cheessbrooke, (a smith, sometimes an inhabitant in the Massachusetts, but more lately at Seacunc, alias Rehoboth, in the Jurisdiction of New Plimouth) had begunn to settle himself at Pacatuck, a place within the limitts of this Colony." The court therefore issued an order for him, either to depart from "the place," or appear and account for his proceedings. He chose the latter, and gave his penal bond to attend before the court. He accordingly presented himself before the court, and apologized for his conduct, by saying, he intended settling at Pequot plantation, but he found the place, in several respects, "vnsutable to his expectations," and having disposed of his former abode, that he was necessitated "for the preservation of his estate, "to make winter provision for his cattle there," to which he had been encouraged by Mr. John Winthrop, "who pretended a commission from the Generall Courte in the Massachusetts for the planting of those partes." He was informed by the court that the right of the place clearly belonged to Connecticut, and that his sitting down there without the knowledge and approbation of the government of Connecticut, was unwarrantable, and "carried (in the open face of it) the greater ground of offence in that by his calling [blacksmith] he was fitted, and by his solitary living advantaged, to carry on a mischievous trade with the Indians," and against the orders of the country, and very prejudicial to the safety of the country—which was increased by reports of his practice of that kind where he had last resided. Also that it appeared to the court, "more than vncomely for a man professing Godliness, so to withdraw from all publique ordinances and Xtian (christian) society." He answered the court by acknowledging his former transgression "(for wh^{ch} he justly suffered)" but affirmed that when he removed, he sold his tools, and rendered himself incapable of repairing any gunlocks, "or making so much as a screw-pin" for himself or others, and that he was fully resolved not to continue in that solitary condition, but had good grounds to hope "(if libberty might bee graunted)" shortly "to procure a competent company of desirable men," to plant the place. The court, on consideration, were willing to give the most favorable construction of his previous proceedings, yet expressed themselves altogether dissatisfied "in the aforementioned respects," that he should continue there "in the way he was in," and refused to give their "aprobation therevnto;" yet the court inclined, "(hee professing his full agreem^t with the approoued Churches of Christ in all things)" if his own necessities in his own opinion were such that he would "adventure vppon his owne acco^t," and would give a bond of £100, not to prosecute any unlawful trade with the Indians, the court would not compel him to remove: provided, before the General Court in the next September, he gave in the names of a considerable company of persons, such as the court should approve, and such as should engage to plant the place, and sit down there before the (then) next winter, and submit to such ways and rules as should best promote the public good, that all proper encouragement would be given "in that way"—which being made known to William Cheesbrooke, he thankfully acknowledged the court's favor, and acquiesced in their determination.

The next we find of this offender is, he is returned a Deputy to the General Court of the colony, May 18, 1653, by the name of Will. Cheesbruck. Good: Chesbroock is also deputy, Sept. 8, 1653; also, Sept. 14, 1654; absent in 1655; also, Feb. 26, 1656; 1664.

Cheesbrook, Mr., petitioned the General Court, 1664, for their favor to pass by the offenses of Mistick and Paucatuck. The court considered the petition, and declared that what irregularities and abusive practices they had been guilty in seeming to offer contempt to the authority established, "it should be forgiven and buried in perpetuall oblivion and forgetfullness, and this to extend itself to all ye members of the afoarsayd plantation, Captayn Denison only excepted," who had neglected or refused to submit himself peaceably to the order of the "Councill of the Colony." (See Col. Rec.)

Mr Chesbro became a man of notice in the colony.

In 1664, the General Court appointed Mr. Wm. Cheesbrook, Tho's Stanton and Tho's Minor, judges of cases of forty shillings, and grant summonses before them or any court in the colony, to punish criminals to the value of forty shillings, &c.

CHESBRO, SAMUEL, of Stonington,* represented the town as

* The Indian name of Stonington was Pawcatuck. The first English name was Southerntown, or Southerton. It was afterward named Mistick, in Oct., 1665, by the General Court of Conn., "in memory of that victory God was pleased to give this people of Connecticut over the Pequot Indians." (See Col. Rec.) It was named Stonington, in May, 1666. It was firstly claimed by Massachusetts, under the grant of the Earl of Warwick, and Council for British America, Dec. 10, 1643, and settled by persons who went there under John Winthrop, Jun., in Deputy to the General Assembly, (by the name of Cheesbrook,) May 21, 1657; also May 11, 1665, by the name of Samuel Chesborough; also, 1670, 1672, 1673, and commissioner, 1666. Mr. Samuel, Nathaneel, and Elisha Cheesborough, were in the list of freemen at Stonington, in 1669, Oct. 5. Samuel Cheseborough was many years a useful and highly respectable inhabitant of Stonington.

CHESBOROUGH, ELISHA and NATHANIEL, of Stonington, were entered to have the oath of freedom, in May, 1666. Mr. Elisha Cheesbrooke was deputy to the General Court at Hartford, Oct. 14, 1669. The Chesboroughs, for many years, figured largely in Stonington, with Thomas Miner, Thomas Stanton, Sen., Capt. Geo. Denison, Palmers, &c., in the early settlement of the town. Most of these signed the voluntary agreement. (See D. Trumbull.)

CHEESBOROUGH, DAVID, MR., a merchant of Newport, R. I., and subscriber to Prince's Chronology.

CHEESEHOLM, THOMAS, 1663.

CHEW, JOSEPH, of New London, b. 1720, was a son of Thomas Chew, of Virginia, and his mother a daughter of Col. James Taylor, a progenitor of two presidents of the United States, viz., James Madison and Gen. Z. Taylor. Joseph Chew is found at New London, in 1752, an assistant to Joseph Hull, Esq., the collector of customs at New London, in the violent quarrel between Col. Saltonstall, as to the charge of a Spanish vessel wrecked on Bartlett's Reef, west of New London harbor. (See Caulkins' Hist. of New London, pp. 462, 463, 477, note.) Chew was surveyor in the office. Joseph Chew married Miss Deshon, whose mother was Ruth Christophers. Joseph Chew left New London, having espoused the cause of the Loyalists, 1778. (Note, Caulkins, p. 540.) His brother, Capt. Chew, was also from Virginia, and a firm whig; was killed on the 4th of March, 1778, in a conflict in the West India seas, with a letter-of-marque of twenty guns, and the brig carried into Boston, by Lieut. Leeds, and afterward taken by the British and burnt.*

1646. It was assigned to Connecticut by commissioners of the United Colonies, July 26, 1647. This order being revoked, the town petitioned the Massachusetts to become a town, which they granted Oct. 25, 1658, and was a part of Suffolk County, in Mass., where the town continued until after Connecticut obtained the royal charter in 1662, and being included in this grant, it was annexed to Connecticut. (See Felt's Statistics of Towns, p. 24.) It then included "Wequetquoek," the society of North Stonington, which was made a society in May, 1740, and named North Stonington, in May, 1724, and incorporated a town in May, 1807, by the same name. (See State Record.)

Coats of arms. Chew, (Bedfordshire and London, granted 1703,) has one.

CHICHESTER, JAMES, of L. I., made free by Connecticut, May, 1664. Also, the following persons from Huntington, L. I., at the same session, viz.: John Teed, Edward Hornett, Samuel Titus, Thomas Jones, Wm. Williamus, Samuel Ketcham. Joseph Whitman, Thomas Brush, Caleb Curwithee, Joseph Bayley, John Rogers, ney General and Chief Justice of the State. Washington dined with him in 1774; in 1776 opposed to the whigs, and retired to private life. In 1777, refused to sign a parole, sent to prison in Virginia, and after the war in 1790, was appointed President of the High Court of Errors and Appeals, and held the office until the tribunal was abolished in 1806, and died in 1810, aged 87 years. His father, Hon. Samuel Chew, was a Quaker, judge and physician.

Joseph Chew, of New London, was a commissary in the royal service, and in 1777 was taken prisoner at Sag Harbor, L.I., by a party of whigs. Joseph Chew, a magistrate of Tryon now Montgomery county, N.Y., in 1775 signed a declaration of loyalty; in 1792 was in Canada, an officer under Sir John Johnson, and an associate of Brant. Wm. Chew, a lieutenant in a corps of loyalists, settled at New Brunswick, after the war, under half pay, and died at Fred-ericton in 1812, aged 64 years. (Sabine's American Loyalists, p. 207.)

NOTE FOR TOWNS.—Abiathar, Abiathar, Jun., and Eldad Camp, were all loyalists in Connecticut in 1783. Settled at St. John's, New Brunswick, and received grants of city lots. Abiathar, one of the fifty-five petitioners for land in Nova Scotia. He died in New Brunswick, in 1841, aged 84. He afterward, by his confession, dated Oct. 2, 1775, appears to have regretted his course. (See CAMP; also, American Loyalists, pp. 194, 195.) He was a citizen of New Haven.

Carpenter, Coles, Jacob, Isaac, James, John, Joseph, Joshua and Nehemiah, all were loyalists of Queens county, N. Y., and acknowledged allegiance, Oct. 1776. Nehemiah signed a declaration of loyalty in 1775. Thomas Carpenter was an ensign in De Lancey's third battalion, and an adjutant of the corps. He went to St. John's at the close of the war, and a grantee of the city, and had half-pay. Abraham Carrington, of Milford, Conn., with his wife, went to St. John's, New Brunswick, in 1783. Elisha Case, John Ceely went with the British army to Halifax, at the evacuation of Boston, 1776. Gardner Chandler, a trader at Hardwick, Mass., proscribed, and banished in 1778. John Chandler, of Worcester, Mass., in 1774 driven from his family and sought protection at Boston. In 1776 went with the royal army to Halifax, and in 1778 was proscribed and banished. Joshua Chandler, of New Haven, Ct., a member of the Legislature in 1775 and in August, 1782, wrote a letter to Gov. Wm. Franklin, in favor of the loyalists. He removed to Nova Scotia at the close of the war, and perished when crossing the Bay of Fundy. His son William, conducted the royal forces to New Haven in 1779.

Nathan Chandler died at Portland, New Brunswick, in 1816. Nathaniel, of Worcester, Mass., son of Col. John, graduated at H. C., 1768; was a lawyer: one of the eighteen who addressed Gage when he departed in 1775. In 1776 he went to Halifax, and was proscribed and banished in 1778. He led a corps of British volunteers. After the war he returned and died at Worcester in 1801, aged 51 years. Rufus, son of Col. John Chandler, born at Worcester, 1747, graduated at H. C., 1766; one of the lawyers who addressed Hutchinson in 1774; went to Halifax in 1776; proscribed and banished in 1778, and died in London, Oct., 1823, aged 76 years. Wm. Chandler, son of Col. John, of Worcester, Mass., graduated at H. U., 1772. He was one of the eighteen country gentlemen driven from their homes to Boston, for addressing Gage on his departure in 1775. He went to Halifax in 1776, and was proscribed and banished under the act of 1778, yet returned to Massachusetts after the close of the war (See The American Loyalists, by Lorenzo Sabine.)

Samuel Wood, Thomas Workes, Henry Whisson, Henry Ludlow, Tho's Scudder, John Samway, Tho's Powell, Jonathan Rogers and Isaac Platt; and the commissioners of Huntington ordered to give them the oath of freedom. (Col. Rec.)

A man of the name of Chichester, was in Hartford in 1649.

CHIDESTER, ANDREW, (probably Chichester,) had a son Samuel, born in Connecticut, Oct. 18, 1720. Peter Blatchford testified in court, that the latter end of the last year, (1648,) he put on board of CHICHESTER'S vessel, for Mr. Blackleach, by order of Jarvis Mudge, six bushels of wheat and three bushels of peas.

JAMES CHICHESTER, in the list of those of Taunton, able to bear arms in 1643. (His. Reg.)

ABRAHAM, of Norwalk, Conn., married Mary Arnold, May 30, 1782, and had children, Abijah, b. Aug. 6, 1783; Ab'm, Samuel, Polly, Phebe, Aaron, Hezekiah and Betsey, b. Sept. 26, 1797.

HENRY, of Norwalk, married Deborah Hoyt, June 1, 1784. Issue, Walter, b. Jan. 31, 1785; Sally, Amelia, Henry, Jun., Alfred, Ward, Eliza and Emlene.

This was an early name in Massachusetts and Long Island. Farmer names WILLIAM, of Marblehead, in 1648; JAMES, of Salem, 1651.

CHICHESTER has twelve coats of arms.

CHILD. The north part of the town of Woodstock, was settled some few years after the south part of the town, and mostly, if not all, entirely by persons from Roxbury, Mass., and from under the preaching of Rev. John Elliot. The precise time North Woodstock was settled, I am not able to state, as the original proprietor's book or record has been lost. The town was settled and claimed by Massachusetts, and by them incorporated in March, 1690; and in Felt's Statistics, p. 23, we find that "Judge Sewall" wrote in his MS. diary, March 18, 1690, that he gave New Roxbury the name of Woodstock. The town was claimed by Connecticut as within her bounds, and came under the government of this state, May, 1749. The May and Child families have been prominent, active and respectable, from the early settlement of the place. The tradition of the family is, (which is all I have since the loss of the record book,) that the first of the Child family came from England to Roxbury, or Watertown, Mass., at an early period; that he had seven or eight sons, all of whom settled at North Woodstock. I have not even the names of the seven or eight sons, by the name of Child, who first came to North Woodstock, and therefore am unable to give any of the first genealogy of the family.*

* Anecdote of seven or eight brothers by the name of Child. (Tradition.)

The seven brothers in the north half of Woodstock, owned but one cow—each of the seven used her a week in their turn—except on Thanksgiving days, when the elder brother was to keep her, until a sufficient quantity of milk should be gathered, so that the seven brothers, with their families, could all partake of a Thanksgiving supper of hasty pudding and milk, at the house of the oldest brother. On one occasion of this kind, the families had all assembled, and the milk served in the long wooden bowls, and with the pudding and milk placed upon a large fall-leaf table, each family provided with their own small wooden bowls and wooden spoons, each prepared for his delicious repast. With only the blessing wanted, and while the elder brother, with all the solemnity of a Puritan father, was imploring a blessing, the large watch-dog in passing under the table, hit the leg which held up the leaf, and down fell the table, milk and pudding. The younger brother, as he saw the table falling cried out, Stop, brother, stop, stop; the pudding is gone, and the milk is gone, and of what use is a blessing now—but kill the dog.

ANECDOTE.—As most of the first settlers of the colony who left Roxbury, Mass., to settle in the town of New Roxbury, (Woodstock,) were a part of the congregation and church of Rev. John Eliot, who preached at Roxbury, and the new settlers from Roxbury being the constant subjects of prayer by the Roxbury Church, so that the Rev. Mr. Eliot, every Sabbath, in his public prayers in the church uniformly prayed for the colony of New Roxbury. But on one occasion, when the congregation had assembled on the Sabbath for worship, the pious Eliot neglected to mention in his prayer, the colony of New Roxbury, and closed and took his seat. The neglect of the minister was noticed by the goodly fathers and mothers of the church with great pain, and they began to fear their children at New Roxbury would be devoured by the wild beasts, or destroyed by the Indians, and the iniquities of the fathers visit their children, because they had been omitted by the godly Eliot. While the good mothers were thus sitting, depressed in spirits at so great a neglect, it occurred to the minister that he had not made mention of the New Roxbury colony in his prayer, and immediately arose in his pulpit, and exclaimed, Alas! alas! I forgot to pray for our sons and daughters at New Roxbury, and therefore let us again pray. He made a most fervent prayer, especially for the colony, much to the comfort and relief of the congregation, friends and relatives of the colony.

NOTE. April 11, 1694, a public meeting of the proprietors of Woodstock assembled and voted a division of land be laid out, "from the East line on the East side of y^e Pond," to four miles "Westward, &c."—and chose a committee of three, with John Butcher, the surveyor, to do the whole work, viz., Wm. Bartholomew, Benjamin Sabin and Benjamin Grigs, committee

Mr. Farmer names EPHRAIM CHILD, of Watertown, made free in 1631; that he came to New England in 1630; that he was elected representative in 1635, 1646, 1649, 1650, and from 1652 to 1662, except '53 and '58; that he was a deacon of the church, and died Feb. 13, 1663, aged 70. This Ephraim was probably the father of the brothers of the name, who settled at North Woodstock. He also names Dr. Robert Child, who received his degree as Doctor of Medicine from Padua, came twice to New England and disturbed the government. (Winthrop's Hist. N. E. Index.) Willard, in his History of Lancaster, says, Robert Child was one of the petitioners for a grant of Lancaster in 1644. We find "Elizabeth Child," of Watertown, witnessing the will of Mary Benjamin, of Watertown, in 1646. (His. Gen. Reg., p. 178, No. 10, 1849.) Joseph Child, freeman, in Mass., 1654; also took the oath of fidelity, 1652. Also, Richard Child, (Middlesex C. C. Rec., and His. Gen. Reg.) Tho's Child, a first settler of Rochester, Mass., married Bethia Westcott, Aug. 29, 1727. Thomas Childs embarked in the Speedwell, of London, Jo. Chappell, master, May 28, 1635, for Virginia. Deacon Richard Child married Elizabeth Crocker, who died Jan. 15, 1706; resided and is entered in the list of first settlers at Barnstable, after 1660. His children are, Samuel, b. Nov. 6, 1679; also, sons Tho's, Timothy, Ebenezer, James, Joseph, and five daughters. Richard Childs, of Marshfield, married Mary Truant, Jan. 24, 1664. Elizabeth Childs, of Marshfield, married Laurence Cone, July 31, 1718. Priscilla Child, of Marshfield, married Shubael Tinkham, Dec. 17, 1718. This division was seven years after the first settlement of the town.

March 11, 1723. (See His. Reg.) Jeremiah Child, taken prisoner on the expedition against Quebec, in 1775. Mr. John Child, in Mass., aged 25 years, in 1653. Ephraim Child had eight pieces of land early recorded at Watertown. (Watertown Rec.)

It is probable the brothers by the name of Child, who settled at Woodstock, were from Watertown, Mass., instead of Roxbury, as the tradition is descended from Ephraim and not Benjamin. The tradition of the family is in one line as follows; Child, Benjamin or Ephraim, who came in 1630, the father of Ephraim, Jun., who was the father of Ephraim, the father of Asa, who was father of Rensselaer, who was the father of Asa, Esq., of Hon. Peleg C., and Hon. Linus Child. Also a WILLIAM CHILD, admitted a freeman in Massachusetts in 1634. EPHRAIM CHILD, JUN., was one of the settlers at Woodstock, while Ephraim, Sen., remained and died at Watertown. Few families have been more successful in life, or produced more influential men in the different callings which they have pursued for several generations, than this family. In the Lyon, May and Child families in Woodstock, most of the land owned by the first settler of the family, has not changed the title deeds out of the name of the family. Col. Caleb Child now resides on the same spot where the oldest of the first brothers lived, and the same is the case with several others of the Child family.

Capt. Wm. Lyon is similarly situated, and his farm has not been changed in title since it was purchased of the Indians. Before Woodstock was amicably annexed to Connecticut, in one or more instances when the town elected their representative to the General Assembly, the delegate attended the Gen. Court in Connecticut, instead of attending at Boston.

Coats of arms. Child, (Bigelly House, co. Pembroke; descended, it is presumed, from a younger son of the noble house of Castlemaine, and now represented by James Mark Child, of Bigelly House, Esq.,) has 1; Child, (Newfield Hall, co. Stafford, as borne by Smith Child, of that place, Esq., &c.,) 1; Child, (as borne by Coles Child, of Lambeth and Streatham, co. Surry, Esq.,) 1; and six others of a high order; Childe, 1.

CHILLY, JOHN, 1663.

CHILSON, DANIEL, and SYBIL, of Wethersfield, had a son Daniel, born at Wethersfield, Feb. 9, 1746. John and John Jun., of Middlefield, in 1744.

CHIPMAN, JOHN, ancestor of all of that surname in the United States and adjoining British provinces, (as far as known,) was born in or near Dorchester, in Dorchestershire, England, A. D. 1614-15.

The only son of Thomas Chipman, of whose estate part was and is in Marshwood Vale. He was a near kinsman of "Christopher Derby, Gent.," of "the Derby's of Stirthill and Askerville." Said John Chipman sailed from England in May, 1631, but probably in the Friendship, which arrived at Boston, July 14, 1638. He resided a while at Yarmouth, Mass., and afterward at Barnstable, at Great Marshes, now West Barnstable. In 1663, '4 and '5, he was deputy to the General Court of his colony, (Plymouth.) In 1666, he was "celectman," at which time the selectmen in that colony had functions since pertaining to justices of the peace. In 1669, he was a "Deputy present" and "surveyor of highways" for his town. With one other member of the church, he was, April 14, 1670. "chosen and ordained to be ruling elder, and was solemnly invested with office." The following shows how he was estimated: "Whereas some have desired and others think it meet to permit some persons to frequent the Quaker meetings to endeavor to reduce them from the error of their wayes, the Court considering the premises doe permit John Smith, of Barnstable, Isaacke Robinson, John Chapman and John Cooke, of Plymouth, or any two of them, to attend the said meetings for the ends aforesaid, att any time betwixt this Court and the next October Court." Act passed June, 1659. "The court have granted unto Mr. John Howland one hundred acres of land, in that land which Captain Willett made purchase of att Teliquott. The court also granted John Chipman and Jonathan Sparrow each fifty acres of land at the place where Mr. Howland "is to be accommodated," "next above mensioned," and meadow; answerable in proportion for their upland, (June 5, 1666 ;) also see act, (July, 1673 ;) also 100 acres between Taunton and Telicott, &c., in 1673. (Laws and Rec. of Plymouth Col., 1673.) There is no evidence Chipman received any benefit from the grants, but in the mean time he procured a homestead in Barnstable, deed dated Dec. 10, 1672, which deed still exists on parchment, drawn by Gov. Hinckley, then an assistant. Near his house, for more than a century after, stood the court and custom-houses. William Chipman, of the sixth generation, owns and occupies the same land, and it has never been transferred from the family and name of Chipman.

CHIPMAN, JOHN, married Hope, daughter of Hon. John Howland and his wife Elizabeth, a granddaughter of Gov. Carver. Thus all the Chipmans, in common with the Howlands, share the privilege of being the only known descendants of the Pilgrims' now honored chief. The ruling elder, John Chipman, died at Barnstable in 1701-2, aged 88. His wife, Elizabeth, died about twenty years before, (soon after her father,) Jan. 8, 1683. His second wife, Ruth, widow of Elder John Chipman, died at Sandwich, Mass., Oct. 4, 1711. Will dated Dec. 6, 1710; proved Oct. 8, 1713;

His children, all except the first, and perhaps the second, were b. at Barnstable, viz.:

1. Elizabeth, b. June 24, 1647; probably died in infancy.
2. Elizabeth, the second, bap. Aug. 18, 1650.
3. Hope, b. Aug. 31, 1652; bap. Sept. 5, 1652; m. John Huckins, Aug. 10, 1670; d. 1678.
4. Lydia, b. Dec. 25, 1654; m. John Sargeant, of Malden, Mass., his third wife; d. March 2, 1730.
5. John, b. March 2, 1656-7; d. May 29, 1657.
6. Hannah, b. Jan. 14, 1658-9; m. Thomas Huckens, of Barnstable, May 1, 1680; d. Nov. 4, 1696.
7. Samuel, b. April 15, 1661.
8. Ruth, b. Dec. 31, 1663; m. Eleazer Crocker, of Barnstable, April 7, 1682, and died April 8, 1698.
9. Bethiah, b. July 1, 1666.
10. Mercy, b. Feb. 6, 1667-8; m. Nathaniel Skiff, in Sandwich, of Chilmark, Mass., Dec. 13, 1699.
11. John, 2d, b. March 3, 1669-70.
12. Desire, b. Feb. 26, 1672-3.

CHIPMAN, SAMUEL, b. 1661, son of John, settled his father's estate. He was ordained deacon of the church at B., Sept. 1, 1706. He married Sarah Cob, of Barnstable, Dec. 27, 1686, and he died in 1723. His will, dated Aug. 31, 1722; proved June 17, 1723.

His widow died Jan. 8, 1742-3. Will proved May 8, 1743.

He had ten children. Thomas Chipman, Esq., his eldest son, b. Nov. 17, 1687, removed and settled in Groton, Conn., where he remained several years, and then removed and became an early settler at Salisbury, Conn., where he held a high rank in the town and county. He was at Salisbury at the organization of the county in 1751. He died at Salisbury about 1751, as he was appointed a judge in 1751, and died before he held a court. His second son, Samuel, was the father of the late Chief Justice Nathaniel Chipman, LL. D., and of the late Hon. Daniel Chipman, of Vt., and their brothers scarcely less distinguished.

II. Son of the last Samuel, was Deacon Samuel, b. Aug. 6, 1689, and kept the "Chipman tavern," which was noted until the last twenty-five years, in Cape Cod celebrity. His son, Samuel Chipman, b. Nov. 21, 1721, lived at Groton, Ct. Some of his descendants, and perhaps children, are yet in that vicinity. His son, Ebenezer Chipman, b. Sept. 9, 1726, lived in Middletown, Conn., and some of his descendants are yet in that quarter. Hisson, John Chipman, b. June 30, 1728, lived at Stratford and Middletown, Conn. He has descendants at New Haven, Waterbury, &c.

III. Rev. John Chipman, b. Feb. 16, 1690-1, graduated at Harvard College, 1711, and ordained over the second church at Beverly, Mass., Dec. 28, 1715. He married Rebecca, daughter of Dr. Robert Hale, Feb. 12, 1718, and granddaughter of Rev. John Hale, of Beverly. His son John, b. Oct. 23, 1722, graduated at Harvard Coll., 1738, barrister at law in Marblehead, Mass., had among his children, Hon. Ward Chipman, grad. Harvard Coll., 1770, judge of the Supreme Court in New Brunswick, and died president of that province, and left an only son and child, Hon. Ward Chipman, LL. D., late chief justice there. His son, Capt. Samuel Chipman, of Ipswich and Salem, Mass., was the great-grandfather of Rev. R. Manning Chipman, (and most of it is abstracted by him from his extended account of the family.) Rev. John Chipman died pastor at Beverly, March 23, 1775. The widow of his son Joseph, b. 1738, resided with Joseph's children, (neither of which children are forty years old,) in the old parsonage house.

IV. Seth Chipman, of Kingston, Mass., was the ancestor of most of the name in Maine.

V. Deacen Barnabas Chipman, of Barnstable, Mass., was the ancestor of some of the Chipmans in Vermont, Michigan and Iowa.

CHIPMAN, JOHN, b. March 3, 1669-70, lived in Sandwich and Chilmark, Mass, and in Newport, R. I. He married Mary, daughter of Capt. Skiff, of Sandwich. After her death in 1711, he m. second, Widow Elizabeth Russell, who had been the Widow Pope, and was daughter of Capt. Thomas Handley. After she died in 1725, he married, third, a Hookey, of R. I. Hon. John was judge of a court at Martha's Vineyard, while he resided at Chilmark, and after his removal to Newport, he was first assistant to the governor. He had twelve children.

1. Percy, born Sept. 28, 1702, ancestor of most of the Cape Cod, Delaware, Carolina and Mississippi families of the name.

2. Judge Handley, born Aug. 31, 1717. He resided at Chilmark and Providence, and in 1761, removed to Cornwallis, N. S., in which province two of his sons reside, where his descendants are numerous and respectable.

In the extended account of Ruling Elder J. Chipman and his descendants, which is nearly finished, in the many generations to the 6th, and many of the 7th, 8th and 9th, with the extended memoirs, &c., with topographical illustrations of English homes of the Chipman race, would have been printed by the family, had the means to do so been provided by the family.

Rev. R. M. Chipman says, that some twenty-five Chipmans are named and described from A.D., 1070, to the present time; the first one of whom was of those who made the Doomsday Survey Book. The name, Chipman, as by the armorial bearings, is Chippenham; De Chippenham it originally bore. Chippenham, Chapman's town, (or home,) designates three places in England, one of which was King Alfred's royal abode.

Thomas, who went from Groton to Salisbury, represented the town of Salisbury in the Legislature in 1757.

Chipman, (Bristol,) one coat of arms, and two others.

CHIPPERFIELD, or CHEPPERFIELD, was a first settler at New Haven, and signed the fundamental agreement there, of the first settlers in 1639.

CHITTINGDEN, THOMAS, aged 51, (lynnin weaver,) with his wife Rebecca, aged 40, and children, Isaac, aged 10, and Hen. Chittenden, six years old, brought the certificate of the minister of Wapping, and two justices. Probably embarked in the Increase de London, in April, 1635, for New England. (Mass. Collect.)

NOTE.—Samuel Chipman, son of Thomas, of Salisbury, married Hannah Austin, of Suffield. Had six sons, Nathaniel, Lemuel, Darius, Cyrus, Samuel and Daniel; the last b. Oct. 22, 1765. Hon. Nathaniel, a lawyer, died aged 90. Dr. Lemuel d. aged 76. Darius, lawyer, d. aged 76. Dr. Cyrus d. aged 77. Hon. Samuel, a lawyer, d. aged 76. Their father, Samuel, and his brothers Thomas and Jonathan, d. about 90 years old. Daniel, the youngest of Samuel and Hannah's sons, lived to be over 80 years of age.

The father of Hon. Daniel Chipman removed about 1775, to Tinmouth, in Vermont. His son Daniel graduated at Dartmouth college in 1788; admitted to practice law in Connecticut in 1790, and did an extensive business at Rutland: was member of the constitutional convention in Vermont in 1793. After a few years he opened his office in Middlebury, Vt. In 1796, he m. Elesthera, daughter of Rev. Lemuel Hodge, of Warwick, Mass., and sister of Professor Levi Hodge, of Harvard, Vt. His children were, 1. Austin; 2. George, grad. at Harvard College and read law; 3. Sarah W., m. Charles Linsley, Esq., attorney at Middlebury, Vt.; 4. Susan H., Elesthera, Mary and Eliza; the last m. Rev. Matthew F. Maury, of Danville, Kentucky. Hon. Daniel was frequently a member of the Legislature in both houses; professor of law in Middlebury College until 1816. In 1812, chosen a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; speaker of the House of the Gen. Assembly in 1813 and '14, and in 1814 elected a member of Congress. Hon. Nathaniel and Daniel have been ornaments in their profession, to the state of Vermont, and were both eminent jurists, and most worthy as well as learned men. Thomas Chipman, of Barnstable, m. Bethiah Fuller, of Colchester, Ct., 1760.

This name is spelled on the records, Chittenden, Chettinden and Chittinton, &c.* Thomas Chittenden was an early settler at Guilford, and was in the list of those assessed there in 1642, at £116, 9s. Also, Nathaniell Chittenden, at £51, 11s.—(the last was perhaps a son of Thomas.) The Thomas Chittenden who is found at Guilford, is not the same Thomas Chittenden, aged 51, and his wife 40, who shipped for this country in 1635.

Mr. Chittenden was a member at least thirteen sessions of the Colony Legislature of Connecticut, and Abraham Chittenden seven sessions. (Marks on Guilford Record.) John Chittenden, Jun., had an ear-mark at Guilford in 1708-9. Isaac Chittenden, Thomas Chittenden and Daniel Everts, agreed to take the oath of fidelity at Guilford.

CHITTENDEN, THOMAS, a brother of Ebenezer, was born at Guilford, Conn., in 1730, a descendant of Thomas Chittenden, an original settler of Guilford. He removed to Salisbury, Conn., when young, where he remained several years, and was representative to the General Assembly of Connecticut, in 1764, and twelve sessions afterward—the last in 1772. His son, HON. MARTIN, was born at Salisbury, March 12, 1766. When Martin was about twelve years old, his father removed with his family to Vermont, where he was a prosperous and respectable farmer. He had several children. His son Martin graduated at Dartmouth College in 1789. He located in Chittenden county, at Jericho, and the same year was appointed justice of the peace, and in 1790 made clerk of the county, and representative to the Legislature, and frequently afterward. He was elected one of the county judges in 1793, and three years after was made chief judge of the court, which he most faithfully and ably performed for about seven years. In 1803, he was elected a delegate to Congress, and continued there ten years, an efficient and faithful member. The year after he left Congress he was made governor of the state of Vermont, during the war of 1812, viz., in Guilford was one of the early settled towns in the New Haven Colony, (1639,) and incorporated in 1643. The Indian name of the place was Menunkatuck.

A few names are not deciphered in the above copy.

1814. His refusal to Gen. Macomb, an officer at Plattsburg, to send the Vermont militia to his assistance into a neighboring state, while Vermont was equally exposed to the depredations of the British troops, rendered him peculiarly conspicuous with the politicians, and he was not re-elected after 1816. He married Miss Anna Bently, March 12, 1796, and had two sons and two daughters. She d. Sept. 25, 1827. He d. Sept. 5, 1840, aged over 74 years. He became the most prominent public man of the Guilford family of Chittendens. Timothy Chittenden, Jun., of Salisbury, represented Salisbury at the General Assembly four sessions, first in 1803. Others of the name have been prominent, wealthy and respectable citizens in Guilford, from its early settlement. Nathaniel Chittenden, of Guilford, was nominated for a freeman in October, 1667, and Thomas, John, Nathaniel, Abraham and Abraham Chittenden, Jun., were in the list of freemen at Guilford, Sept. 24, 1669.

Thomas Chittingden, (Scituate), in his will, calls himself weaver, Oct. 7, 1668; sons Isaac and Henry. (Gen. Reg.) This must have been the Thomas Chittingden, with wife and sons Isaac and Henry, who came to N. England in 1635. Isaac assisted in taking the inventory of Samuel House's estate in Scituate, Sept. 1661; also the inventory of John Pickles, deceased of Scituate, Dec. 4, 1664, and in Sept. of the same year, witnessed the will of Timothy Hatherly, of Scituate. (See His. Gen. Reg.) This Isaac was probably the son of Thomas, the weaver, who came from England with his father and his family mentioned above.

Farmer notes Thomas Chittenden, of Scituate, 1838, where he lived and died.

CHITWOOD, SIR RICHARD, was the father of Grace, the second wife of Rev. Peter Bulkley, of Concord, Mass., and the mother of Rev. Gershom Bulkley, of N. London, Wethersfield and Glas-tenbury, and the maternal ancestor of all the Bulkleys of those places; also of Hartford, Colchester, New York, and Wilkesbarre, Penn. (See BULKLEY.)

Grace Bulkley, (Chitwood,) after the death of her husband, in 1659, went to New London, where she purchased the homestead of William Hough, and remained there with her son, Rev. Gershom, while he continued there. (Caulk., p. 132.) Whether his mother went with Rev. Gershom to Wethersfield, after he left New London, is not said.

CHOCK, PETER, at an early period, acknowledged a deed of land at Stratford, before Joseph Curtis, J. P. Petter (Peter) Chock, of Newtown, L. I., in 1689 or '90, purchased of Thomas Jeffery and Mary, his wife, of Stratford, one acre of meadow in ye Great Neck, for £7. Also a right in the common meadow that had formerly belonged to Richard Harrison, &c., signed by Tho's Jeffery and Mary, and recorded at Stratford, April, 1690.

CHRISTY, CHRISTIE, JAMES, of Flushing, L. I., was accepted a freeman of Connecticut by the Gen. Court, in May, 1664. (See JOHN BURROWS, ante.)

James Christie was warmly engaged with Capt. John Coe and others, of Middleburg, (Newtown,) L. I., in shaking from their necks the galling yoke of the Dutch government, and placing themselves under the government of Connecticut; and Christie being a warm advocate for the change, he was selected as a safe and efficient person to carry the letter of those of Middleburg, favorable to the project, to the Gen. Court at Hartford—who, on his return to the island, found Director Stuyvesant absent at Boston, kindled a fire in Hempstead, Jamaica, Flushing, &c., on the island, which lodged him in Fort Amsterdam, and thence before the council for examination, &c. (See Col. Rec., Annals of Newtown, Panton.)

Christie has six coats of arms; Chrystie has one, and Christy one.

CHRISTOPHERS, CHRISTOPHER and JEFFERY, brothers, were the first of the name in Connecticut, at New London, about 1665.

CHRISTOPHERS, JOHANNA, daughter of Jeffery Christophers, married John Mayhew, of Devonshire, England, Dec. 26, 1676.

CHRISTOPHERS, RICHARD, of New London, son of Christopher Christophers, married Lucretia, daughter of Daniel Bradley, Jan. 26, 1684, and had issue, Christopher, b. Dec. 2, 1683, m. Sarah Prout, of New Haven, Jan. 22, 1711–12; Richard, b. Aug. 18, 1685, m. Elizabeth, daughter of Hon. Gurdon Saltonstall; Peter, b. July 18, 1687; John, b. March 15, 1689–90. Lucretia, wife of Richard, died Jan. 7, 1690–1. Richard m. for second wife, Grace Turner, Sept. 3, 1691, and had Joseph, b. July 14, 1692; Mary, b. Sept. 18, 1694; Jonathan, b. Sept. 19, 1696, d. Oct., 1696; Grace, b. Oct. 14, 1698, m. John Coit, May, 1721; Ruth, b. Sept. 26, 1705, and Joanna, b. March 19, 1706–7.

CHRISTOPHERS, JOHN, m. Elizabeth, daughter of Capt. Halford, of Long Island, July 28, 1696. Children, Samuel, b. July 24, 1697; Elizabeth, b. Feb. 15, 1698, m. Joshua Raymond, Aug. 31, 1719; John, b. May, 1701; Hester, b. June 20, 1703, m. Thomas Manwaring, April 6, 1723. Lieut. John d. in Barbadoes, Feb. 3, 1702-3.

Mr. RICHARD, son of Richard Christophers, m. Elizabeth Saltonstall, Aug. 14, 1710, and had issue, Richard, Jun., b. July 29, 1712, m. Mary, daughter of Mr. John Pickett, 1734: Elizabeth, b. Sept. 13, 1714; Mary, b. Dec. 17, 1716; Sarah, b. Dec. 6, 1719; Joseph, b. Nov. 30, 1722; Catharine, b. Jan. 5, 1724-5. Richard, the father, died June 9, 1726.

CHRISTOPHERS, RICHARD, JUN., and MARY, his wife, of N. London, had children, Mary, b. May 23, 1734; Elizabeth, b. Dec. 24, 1735, m. Capt. Joseph Hurlbut, and died March 11, 1798. Richard, the father, died Sept. 28, 1736.

This family was one of the best families at New London, and married into some of the most noted families of that day, though not as early settlers in the colony as many others.

Coats of arms. Christopher, (London,) has one; Christophers, one, and two others.

Christopher Christophers was one of the citizens of New London in 1671-2, who was informed against by Mr Mathew Griswold and others of Lyme to the County Court in Hartford, March 12, 1671-2, for attempts by violence to drive them off their land, resistance to authority, and assault. It was in fact a quarrel between New London and Lyme, as to the ownership of a tract of land. (See 2d vol. Col. Rec., Appendix, pp. 557, 558.) Christopher Christophers died July 23, 1687. Miss Caulkins says, in the Hist. of New London, that two brothers of this name, both mariners, came to New London about 1665, and were engaged in the exchange trade with Barbadoes. Jeffery aged 55 in 1676, and Christopher aged 56 in 1687, at his death. Jeffery, in 1700, lived at Southold, L. I., with one of his daughters, as he had no sons then living. (See Miss Caulkins' interesting account of the family, in her Hist. of N. London, pp. 316-18.)

CHURCH, RICHARD, was rated £1,116 at Plymouth in 1632-3. He was born in 1608, and came to New England in 1630, a carpenter by trade, was made free 1632, in Plymouth colony. He m. Elizabeth Warren, 1636, (Guide to Plymouth, p. 349,) and is said by Bradford to have been the father of Col. Benjamin Church, who who is noted as famous in the Indian wars. Richard proved his skill in the trade of a carpenter, in building the first church at Plymouth. He lived at Eel River, at Eastham, at Hingham and Dedham. He died at the last place, Dec., 1668. His wife Elizabeth died at Hingham, March 4, 1670. (His. Duxbury.) He was the same Richard Church who sold his "house, houseing and land, with all the meadow ground, &c.," he had of Goodman Kempton, at the Eel River; and his wife Elizabeth gave her free approbation to said sale. (See Note, Gen. Reg., vol. ii., No. 3, 1848.) Yet the life of Church, in his memoirs, calls Joseph, of Duxbury, the father of Col. Benjamin. Farmer names Benjamin Church, of Little Compton, the celebrated warrior, "son of Joseph Church," and born at Duxbury, 1639; m. Alice Southworth, and had children, Thomas, Constant, Edward, Benjamin, Charles and one daughter. (Col. Church died Jan. 17, 1718, aged 77.) Richard requested freedom October 19, 1630, and Farmer says, he probably was the same who afterward was at Hingham, and possibly the Richard Church, a first settler at Duxbury, whom Mr. Bradford makes the father of the great warrior. (See Farmer and Gen. Reg.) "Richard Church shall speedily build the carriage for another piece of ordnance," when finishing the fortification on Fort Hill in 1642. (Guide to Plymouth, p. 205.) Richard was a sergeant in the Pequod war, and had children by Elizabeth Warren, viz.: Elizabeth; Benjamin, b. at Plymouth, 1639; Richard, d. young; Nathaniel, Hingham and Little Compton, m. Sarah Barstow, and died before 1700. (See Winsor's Hist. of Duxbury, p. 245.) This could not have been the Richard Church who settled at Hartford, 1636.

CHURCH, JOSEPH, of Duxbury, 1639, (Farmer says,) had sons Joseph, Caleb and Benjamin, and perhaps others. That Caleb lived at Watertown, and his brother Joseph and Benjamin at Little Compton, cites the life of Church in his memoirs, p. 159. Caleb Church m. Joanna Sprague, Dec., 1667, at Hingham. Abigail Church m. Samuel Haxter, at Hingham, Dec., 1666, (His. Reg.) Caleb in the list of freemen in Watertown, March 22, 1689-90. (His. Reg.)

CHURCH, GARRET, free in Mass., in 1649. John, son of Garret and Sarah, b. at Boston, 1637; Samuel, b. 1640; Sarah, b. 1642.

CHURCH, JOHN, b. 1641, received an inhabitant of Dover, New Hampshire, 19th day, 1st mo., 1665-6; taxed at Cocheco, 1662-1672; killed May 7, 1696. John, b. 1668; killed, 1711. (His. Reg.) Nathaniel Warren, Sen. (of Plymouth,) in a supplement to his will, names his sister Elizabeth Church, (probably wife of Richard,) dated July 15, 1667. (See His. Reg.) John, of N. H., also had a son Jonathan, b. April 12, 1666, and Abigail, b. Aug. 12, 1672. (His. Reg.) Nathan Folger m. Sarah Church, the 29th day of

Dec., 1699, and Thomas Clark m. Mary Church, the 13th day of Dec., on Nantucket. (His. Reg.)

CHURCH, CHARLES, Esq., sheriff of the co. of Bristol, was one of those noble subscribers for Prince's Chronology.

CHURCH, SAMUEL, of Hadley, took the oath of allegiance "by order from our Gin'll Cort," Feb. 8, 1678. (His. Reg.) Samuel, in Connecticut, took the oath of freeman, 1657—same man.

CHURCH, EDWARD, son of Richard, of Hartford, Conn., appeared at Norwalk in the early settlement of the plantation. If he settled there, he did not long remain. In a list of accounts in 1654, the name of Edward Church is found there. He owned land there which he sold to Thomas Fitch, yet his name is not found in Hall's lists of early landholders in Norwalk. Mr. Roger Ludlow, of Fairfield, purchased of the Norwalk Indians, the town of Norwalk, i. e., the grounds "betweene the twoe Rivers, the one called Norwalke, the other Soakatuck, to the middle of sayed Rivers, from the sea a days walke into the country." Deed dated Feb. 26, 1640. June 19, 1650, an agreement was made between said Ludlow and Nath'l Eli, Ritchard Olmsted, with the "rest," for settling and planting Norwalke; Edward Church is named as one of the grantees. Another indenture dated February 15, 1651, made between a body of Indians, Piamikin and fifteen other Indians, and Richard Webb, Nath'l Eli, Edward Church and others, "Planters of Norwake, conveying to them all their lands," known by the name of Bunckinheage, Rooatan," and which was "Recorded Feb. y^e 24th, 1708-9, Per John Copp, Record^r." Edward Church early disappeared. Edward Church was at Hartford before he went to Norwalk. He had a dau'r Mary, b. at New Haven, 1656, but was not an original proprietor at New Haven. Edward Church and his wife Mary, were at Hadley in 1662, and son Samuel died there May 6, 1662. He was taxed at Hatfield in 1682. His son John died at Hatfield, 1676. The same Edward, who was at Norwalk, son of Richard, Sen. (See below.)

CHURCH, RICHARD, was an early settler at Hartford; probably came there with Mr. Hooker's company in 1636. He drew twelve acres of land in the first land division at Hartford, in 1639, and sixty acres in the division of land in East Hartford, 1666. He had land at the cow-pasture in Hartford, in 1640, and had a house and land in Burr Street in 1640. Viewer of chimneys in 1647. He was freed from watching, warding and training at Hartford, by the Gen. Court, March 7, 1654-5. He was one of the sixty persons who "At a meeting at Goodman Ward's house, in Hartford, April 18, 1659," signed an engagement to remove themselves and families out of Connecticut into Massachusetts, for the purpose of forming the town of Hadley. (See p. 97 of this book.) He accordingly removed, with Ann his wife, as he had stipulated. He was made free in Conn., 1658.

When Richard removed to Hadley, he left personal and real estate at Hartford. Who was the father of Richard Church, who came to Hartford, is not found, or from what place he came to Hartford.

Richard Church, Sen., of Hartford, and afterward of Hadley, died at Hadley, Dec. 16, 1667. His wife, Ann, died in Hatfield, March 10, 1684. They had three sons and one daughter, viz.:

1. Edward, of Hartford, Norwalk, New Haven and Hadley.
2. John, remained and died at Hartford.
3. Samuel, removed to Hadley.
4. Mary, m. Isaac Graves, of Hatfield, Mass.

These children were probably born before Richard came to Hartford, as none of them were recorded as born there.

CHURCH, EDWARD, son of Richard, Sen., the proprietor of Norwalk in 1651-2, m. Mary ———, and had a daughter Mary born at New Haven, 1656, 9th mo., 17th day, and perhaps others born there. His children as far as known were:

1. Rebecca, m. Joseph Selden, 1677, and settled at E. Haddam, Conn.
2. Mary, b. 1656, 9th mo., 17th day; m. Phillip Russell in 1679.
3. Samuel, b. Aug. 4, 1663.
4. Naomi, b. May 12, 1666; m. Joseph Rodman, 1687.
5. Sarah, b. May 18, 1670; m. William Porter, 1697.
6. John, was slain by the Indians, May 19, 1676.
7. Richard, b. January 18, 1675; lived at Hatfield.
8. Hepzibah, b. Dec. 24, 1678; m. Samuel Spencer, of Hartford, ancestor of Hon. Ambrose Spencer.
9. Hannah, b. ———; m. Ebenezer Billings in 1690.

If John, who settled at E. Haddam, was of this family, he was b. after the death of the above John.

Edward, the father, settled at last in Hatfield, Mass., where he died Sept. 19, 1704, aged 76, and his wife Mary died there in 1690 or 1691. As his estate was not settled by the court of probate, he may have had children not recorded.

CHURCH, JOHN, son of Richard and Ann Church, of Hartford and Hadley, settled at Hartford, and m. Sarah, daughter of Richard Beckley, of New Haven, in 1657. His children are found on the probate record at Hartford, viz.:

1. Richard, went first to Westfield, and then to Colchester, and d. in 1730.

2. John, (Jun.), lived in Hartford.
3. Samuel, lived in Hartford.
4. Joseph, aged 15, probably, counting to the time of his father's death.
5. Deliverance, 12 years old.
6. Sarah Knight.
7. Mary Standige.
8. Ruth Church.
9. Ann Church.
10. Elizabeth Church.

John, Sen., above, had his father's lands in Hartford. He d. at Hartford in 1691. He was made free, May 1658.

CHURCH, SAMUEL, son of Richard, Sen., and Ann, m. Mary Churchill, of Wethersfield, daughter of Josias, and she is noticed in her father's will. She d. in 1690, and he d. April 13, 1684. He probably removed to Hadley, with his father Richard and his family, about 1659 or '60. Their children were :

1. Mary, b. Jan. 23, 1665 ; m. Samuel Smith.
2. Samuel, b. Aug. 19, 1667 ; lived in Hadley.
3. Richard, b. Dec. 9, 1669 ; killed by the Indians, Oct. 5, 1696.
4. Mehetabel, b. Jan. 11, 1671 or '2 ; m. Nehemiah Dickinson.
5. Josiah, b. April 10, 1673. He had a family at Hadley, but removed.
6. Joseph, b. May 26, 1678 ; d. single in 1721.
7. Benjamin, b. Sept. 1, 1680 ; resided in Hadley.
8. John, b. Dec. 24, 1682. This was probably the John who settled at East Haddam. see 7 and "List of Haddam and East Haddam" p. 48

CHURCH, RICHARD, son of John, of Hartford, and grandson of Richard, of Hartford and Hadley, left Hartford, and for several years was located in Westfield, Mass., where several of his children were born. He m. Elizabeth Noble, of Westfield, March 3, 1692, and had Hannah, John, Rachel, James, Joseph, Jonathan, Samuel and Elizabeth. From Westfield, he removed to Colchester, Conn., where he died in 1730.

CHURCH, SAMUEL, son of John, of Hartford, settled in Hartford ; m. ————, and had sons and daughters. Among his sons I only mention Samuel, Jun., and Ebenezer. The latter was by trade a hatter, and settled in Norwalk. He m. Susannah Fitch, Jan., 1746, and had children, 1. Daniel, (m. Sarah Pickitt, 1768, and had four sons and three daughters,) b. 1746 ; 2. Richard, b. Oct., 1747. His wife d. Oct. 7, 1747, and he m. 2. Ruth —, Nov., 1755, and had 3. Sarah, b. Oct. 15, 1756 ; 4. Ebenezer, b. July 31, 1758 ; 5. Ruth, b. Jan. 29, 1760 ; 6. Esther, b. March, 23, 1762 ; 7. Samuel, b. Nov. 25, 1763 ; 8. Grace, b. Aug. 7, 1765 ; 9. Josiah, b. Jan. 10, 1767 ; 10. John, b. Jan. 12, 1769 ; 11. Elizabeth, b. Oct. 10, 1770; 12. Isaac, b. May 3, 1772. (Hall.) Of the above family are the Churches of Fairfield county.

CHURCH, SAMUEL son of Samuel, Jun., was by trade a saddler. He m. Mary Porter, of Farmington, and removed to Bethlehem, then a part of Woodbury, and pursued his trade. He died there in the great sickness, which nearly desolated that parish, and left nine children. His sons were, Joshua, Samuel, Ebenezer and Nathaniel.

CHURCH, JOSHUA, son of Samuel above, was many years a merchant at Bethlehem, where his children were born, among whom was Samuel Church, many years town-clerk of Bethlehem, who left a family in his old age; also, Rollin Church, who resided in Bethlehem, son of Joshua. He also had several children, among whom is now living, Leonard H. Church, Esq., of the city of New York. He m. Sarah Sophia Morris, daughter of Harvey Morris, Esq., of Woodbury, Conn., and has two children, Roderick Henry and Ellen Morris. This L. H. Church is the present popular cashier of the Empire City Bank, in New York, who by his industry, integrity and strict attention to business, was lately honored and rewarded for it, by the directors of the Empire City Bank, who presented to him as a reward of merit, an elegant service of silver plate, worth $1,000, for his unremitting efforts as cashier to the interests of the bank.

CHURCH, NATHANIEL, youngest son of Samuel, Sen., of Bethlehem; by the death of his father, he was left an orphan, only three years of age. He learned the trade of a weaver, and at the age of eighteen years, he absconded from the severe usage of a hard master, and enlisted a private soldier in Col. Silliman's regiment in the Continental army, where he was severely wounded by a grape-shot at the battle of White Plains, (which grape-shot was extracted, and is now in possession of his son, Judge Church, of Litchfield, Ct.) He was a long time in the hospital at Danbury. After his recovery he went to Canaan, in Litchfield county, and followed his trade as a weaver, and became a man of wealth. He m. Lois Ensign, the second daughter of Capt. John Ensign, of Canaan, Ct., a descendant of James, Sen., the Puritan, of Hartford, in 1636. Soon after he m. he removed to Salisbury, where he resided until he died, in Nov., 1837, and left a noble family. His sons were, Ensign, Judge Samuel, Leman, Esq., John, Nathaniel, Jun., Frederick and William.

CHURCH, Hon. SAMUEL, m. when young, and has a family of most promising sons. (See Note.)

CHURCH, LEMAN, Esq., was a lawyer by profession, and settled in his profession at Canaan, Ct., and by his industry and talents, with a few years' practice, ranked with the three first of his profession in Litchfield county. He died in middle life, and left a large estate to his widow and children, which he had accumulated by a short life of industry in his practice.

John Church m. Anne Curtis, of Wethersfield, Dec. 11, 1735, and had children born in Wethersfield, John, b. 1736; Hepzebah, b. Feb. 20, 1738; Anne, b. Coats of arms.—Church or Church, (Earls Colne, co. Essex,) has 1; Church, (as borne by Henry Church, Esq., R. N., and by the Rev. William Church, of Hampton, co. Middlesex,) 1; Church, (Essex,) 1; and one other for Church.

NOTE. As so much has lately been published of the Church family in Connecticut, I withhold a large share of the facts collected on this family.

NOTE. Hon. Samuel Church, the son of Nathaniel, of Salisbury, Conn., graduated at Yale College in 1803. He read law in the office of Judge Beeve, at Litchfield, and settled in his profession at Salisbury, when quite young, and soon became prominent in his profession at the Litchfield bar, which at that time was one of the most prominent bars in the state, viz., Gould, Allen, Tracy, Bacon, Benedict, Boardman, &c. In 1818, he was elected a member of the Gen.

CHURCHILL, CHURCHIL, CHURCHEL, JOSIAS, (JOSIAH,) was an early settler at Wethersfield, and perhaps came to Wethersfield, (then called Watertown,) from Watertown, Mass., where most of the first settlers were from. There was also John Churchill,* Assembly, and six sessions afterward. He was state senator, elected 1825 and '27, by general ticket. In 1833 he was elected one of the Judges of the Superior Court of Connecticut, and in 1847, was appointed Chief Justice, which office he now holds—all which places of trust he has most faithfully filled, to the perfect satisfaction of the public. He married, when young and has a small family of promising children. One of his sons, Albert E., is now a professor at the Military Academy at West Point, and another, Dr. Samuel P. at Derby. Judge Churchill has probably become more celebrated than any of the descendants of Richard, Sen., of Hartford.

* CHURCHILL JOHN, who is not found to have been a relative of Josiah, who was an early settler at Wethersfield, Conn., came from England, and stopped at Plymouth—the year not known—but at early period of the settlement of New Plymouth: married Hannah Pontus, of Plymouth, Dec. 18, 1644, and died there between Dec. 24 and Feb. 11, 1662. The will of John Churchill was exhibited in court at Plymouth, May 3, 1662, and proved. He gave his sons "Joseph and Eleazer, lands at Plymouth," and sons John and William, other property, &c. Inventory, £74, 14s. 6d. (Gen. Reg., 1843.) In August, 1643, the names of the males able to bear arms, from sixteen years old to sixty, were taken in the several townships, and with the 148 names thus enrolled, is found that of John Churchill, vol. 5, p. 259.

The children of John and his wife Hannah, were:

Joseph m. Sarah ———. Birth or death of either not known.

Eleazer.

John.

William.

Hannah. These children are found in the will of their father, John, of Plymouth.

JOSEPH, son of John, m. Sarah ———; had children, Margaret, Barnabas, b. July 3, 1686, Joseph, and perhaps John.

BARNABAS, son of Joseph, m. Liddiah ———; children, William, Ichabod, Joseph, b. May 19, 1721, Samuel, Isaac, Thomas, Ebenezer, Lydia, John, (Mariah Ryder, b. Dec. 2, 1724.)

JOSEPH, son of Barnabas, m. Mariah Ryder, at Plymouth, Sept. 23, 1745, daughter of Samuel Ryder, son of John and Hannah, b. 1693, and Mary Sylvester, who were m. at P., Nov. 2, 1722. Joseph d. in P. soon after his daughter Lucy was born. His widow m. Archippus Fuller, and with all their children they moved to Woodstock, Vt., and lived to be aged. His children were, Ichabod, b. Aug. 9, 1746; Joseph, b. July 14, 1748; Lucy, b. Aug. 22, 1750, and Consider Fuller, Seth, Samuel, Polly and Mariah Fuller.

JOSEPH, son of Joseph, b. 1748, m. Sarah Cobb, daughter of Gersham Cobb and Miriam Thomas; m. at Middleborough, Mass., March 3, 1739. Joseph and Sarah m. in M., March 21, 1771, and continued in M. until 1777, when they removed with three children to Woodstock, Vt., and continued there until 1819, when they removed to Stowe, and Joseph d. in 1823, and his wife Sarah in 1836. All his children survived them. Children, Levi, b. April 24, 1772; Miriam, b. Aug. 16, 1774; Sarah, b. April 13, 1777; Lucy, b. March, 1779; Joseph, b. July 7, 1781; Sylvester, b. Aug. 2, 1783; Isaac, b. Feb. 19, 1787, and Susan, b. July 17, 1794.

SYLVESTER, b. 1783, m. Lucy Hunter at Windsor, Vt., Aug. 30, 1812. He being an officer in the army, had no fixed residence, but was stationed at different military posts. His wife was a daughter of Wm. Hunter, who was b. in Sharon, Ct., Jan. 3, 1764. His parents were David Hunter and Rebeckah Marvin. Gen. Sylvester Churchill is now Inspector General in the United States army. Two of his sons were educated at West Point, and have since done signal service for their country. His Children:

early at Plymouth, whose will, was exhibited in court there, May 3, 1662; but there is no evidence found that he was of the family of Josias. Josiah drew eighteen acres in the land division in Wethersfield in 1670. He was a juror from Wethersfield at the particular court in June, 1643, and in June, 1649; and held other responsible places of trust in the town. He was a gentleman of more than a medium estate, for the time in which he lived, and of reputation in the colony. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Nathaniel Foot, of Wethersfield, in 1638, and had children:

1. Mary, b. March 24, 1639. Her father, in his will, calls her "my daughter Church."

4. Ann, b. 1647; she m. Rice, as her father calls her in his will.

5. Joseph, b. Dec. 2, 1649. He m. Mary —, May 13, 1674, and d. at the age of 49, in 1699; had a large family.

6. Benjamin, b. May 16, 1652; m. Mary —, in 1678, and had a small family.

7. Sarah, b. Nov. 11, 1657; she m. Thomas Wickham, June, 1673.

The record also says, a son b. 1653; probably d. young.

Mr. Josiah Churchill made his will, dated Nov. 17, 1683, which was proved in court at Hartford, in 1686-7. Inventory, £618, 12s. 6d. His wife Elizabeth survived him. He gave her the use of all his property for her life, and then to his children, viz., Joseph, Benjamin, Mary Church, Elizabeth Buck, Ann Rice, and Sarah Wickham. Will proved March 5, 1686-7. His wife Elizabeth sole executrix. He does not mention his daughter Hannah in his will, who

3. *CHURCHILL, TIMOTHY GRIDLEY, son of Jesse and

* John Lawrence, a descendant of Abraham "Rycken," and Margaret, the daughter of Hendrick Harmensen, and from Sir Robert Laurens, of Ashton Hall, in Lancastershire, in England, though Abraham might have been "an armorer in the Dutch service," and forged "tomahawks" for the Indians about him. He was descended, says one of his descendants, of an ancient family in Lower Saxony, being a Dutchman, and perhaps the friend of Govs. Kieft and Stuyvesant, his countrymen; yet, from his life and character, was a "Yonker" (a gentleman) of fortune and character, as many of his descendants have been, and continue to sustain their Dutch ancestor in his reputation by their own.

Mrs. Timothy G. Churchill, of New York, daughter of John Lawrence, dec'd, of New York, is a descendant of the Rikers, by her mother, who was a Riker, and a descendant of Abraham Rycker. She also descended by her father, John Lawrence ("familiarily called the commandore," from his having been an officer on board the American frigate Confederacy, Capt. Harding,) from Sir Robert Laurens. John, and his brother Isaac Lawrence, were large wholesale dealers and importers of silks and china ware from the East Indies to New York, when few if any others in New York, were as large importers of these articles. Mr. John Lawrence was twice m.; 1. m. Elizabeth, widow of Nath'l Lawrence, and a daughter of Judge John Berrien; and 2. a daughter of Samuel Riker, Esq. His children were: Madison, Samuel Riker, Louisa, Jane Riker, Julia and Patience. The last m. Timothy G. Churchill, of N. York, where she now resides. The ill health of John Lawrence, her father, compelled him to retire from the mercantile and importing business in which himself and brother had been largely engaged for years. He died in New York, Aug. 29, 1817, aged 59 years.

John Lawrence (says Riker, in his History of Newtown, L. I.) was a descendant of "Sir Robert Laurens, of Ashton Hall, in Lancastershire, England." That Sir Robert accompanied Richard Cœur de Lion, in his famous expedition to Palestine, and signalized himself in the memorable siege of St. Jean d'Acre, in 1191, by being the first to plant the banner of the cross on the battlements of that town, for which he received the honors of knighthood from King Richard, and a coat of arms; after which the family became eminent in England. Faulkner, in his History of Chelsea, says : " The Lawrences were allied to all that was great and illustrious—cousins to the ambitious Dudley, Duke of Northumberland; to the Earl of Warwick; to Lord Guilford Dudley, who expiated on the scaffold the short-lived royalty of Lady Jane Grey; to the brilliant Leicester, who set two queens at variance; also to Sir Philip Sidney, who refused a throne." Mr. Riker, in his history, states that a large number of families of this name in the United States, descended from three brothers, viz., John, William and Thomas Lawrence, who emigrated from Great St. Albans, in Hertfordshire, during the political troubles which led to the dethronement and death of Charles I.—(and in confirmation, Riker says,) " In corroboration of their descent from Sir Robert Laurens, we find on the seals appended to some of their wills now on file at New York, and on old plate still possessed by their descendants, the same coat of arms as were granted to that knight." (See Riker's Hist. of Newtown, pp. 181, 182, 187; also, see Bolton's Hist. of Westchester.) The Lawrences of New York city, and first of Long Island, have generally been either merchants or connected with one of the learned professions, and many of them have retired upon ample fortunes. They have held important offices under the government of the city, colony and Gen. Gov't. John held offices under the Dutch and English at New Amsterdam. Under the English in N. York city, he was alderman in 1665, and afterward mayor and member of the council. In 1692, judge of the sup. court until his death in 1699, over 80 years of age. His daughter Mary m. Wm. Whittingham, and became the mother of Mary, the wife of Gov. Saltonstall, of New London, Ct. They were connected by marriage with the Saltonstalls, Stevensons, L. I. Nathaniel Kortland."

Catherine, b. 1809, m. Patience Lawrence, of N. Y., (dau'r of John, L. and Patience Riker,) June 15, 1836. His wife b. Oct. 2, 1814.

Ordered to be recorded in the Records of Saybrook.

It appears that Mrs. Wastall had a brother John Kirtland, who lived in Saybrook, who sold his house and home-lot to Mr. Wastall in 1681, probably to save it (page 37, vol. i.) for Mrs. Wastall as widow, (legatee.) She gave this house and home-lot to her kinsman, John Kirtland (viz., the above John, the heir of Mr. Wastall,) provided he kept it in repair, and allowed Barbara, relict of her brother, John Kirtland, to occupy during her life; (page 122.) The brother, John, had no children.

The nephew, John, the heir, married Lydia, daughter of Wm. Pratt, of Saybrook, and was the progenitor of the Kirtlands of Connecticut.

uated at Yale College before 1843. Nine by the name of Clap and two spelled Clapp, graduated at Harvard College before 1838.

CLARK, NICHOLAS,* was the first of the name in Connecticut. He was by trade a joiner and carpenter, and in 1635 was sent to Hartford by John Talcott to build him a house, &c., at Hartford, that it might be ready for him when he should go to Hartford. Clark built a part of the house in 1635, and finished it in 1636. (Manuscript of Talcott's son.) To confirm the manuscript, Clark is found at Hartford a first settler, a soldier in the Pequot war in 1637. He drew twelve acres in the first division of land in Hartford in 1639, and thirty-nine acres in the land division in East Hartford, June, 12, 1666. He was a defendant in Court Sept. 4, 1643, and in Oct., 1648, was fined twelve pence for not exposing Wm. Vincent for neglecting his ward. The Gen. Court in May, 1663 empowered Mr. Toppin, &c., to hear and consider the business respecting "Hamonassett," and report; also the case of the horse in the possession of Nicholas Clark, &c. He left a family of children. His will, dated Jan. 28, 1679, in which he provided for his children,

* The following is extracted from a manuscript journal or scrap book, which was kept by a son of the first John Talcott, of Hartford, which shows the first house built in Hartford in 1635, and that John Talcott moved to Hartford in 1636, and that some English settlers were in Hartford in 1635, and that Nicholas Clark was the first English settler there known, viz.

"The kitchen that now stands on the north side of the house that I live in, that was the first house that my father built in Hartford in Connecticut Colony, and was done by Nicholas Clark the first winter that any Englishmen wrought or built in Hartford, which was in the year 1635.

"My father and mother and his family came to Hartford in the year 1636, and lived first in said kitchen, which was first on the west side of the chimney.

"The great barn was built in the year 1636, and underpin^d in the year 1637, and was the first barn that was raised in this Colony. The east end of this house that we live in, and was my father Talcott's, deceased, was built with the porch that is in the year 1638. And the chimneys were built in the year 1638.

"The Cow House on the north side of the Cow yard, now part improved for a Corn House was finished and built in the year 1640.

"The house and barn that was in partnership between my father and my uncle Wadsworth at Farmington, was finished in the year 1642.

"The Hay Barn, standing on the north end of the great Barn next Capt. Allyn's Garden was built in the year 1644.

"The west end of that house we live in which was belonging to my honoured deceased father Talcott, was built in the year 1645.

"My uncle, Mr. Mött, sold my Hon^d father Talcott his house that he lived in in Brantry, in Old England, (y order) [something I cannot decipher or understand,] in the year 1644. My father Talcott then living in this House in Hartford." (Furnished by a descendant.)

This kitchen stood upon a part of the ground where Dr. Bushnell's church now stands in Hartford.

Mr. Clark became one of the leading men of Connecticut, before and after the union of the two colonies. He was often placed upon important committees by the Gen. Court. He was a magistrate and frequently a member of both branches of the Gen. Assembly, and secretary of state or of the colony several years. In 1644, David Wilton with Dainell Clark, were executors of the will of Rev. Eph'm Huit, dec'd, of Windsor. In 1646, acted as a juror. In 1656, one of a committee to give safe advice to the Indians. Same year appointed to write letters to the elders in the Bay, and the former council, regarding the difficulty in the Church at Hartford. In 1657, was appointed by the Gen Court to write to the magistrates of Southampton, to inform them of the mind of the commissioners, and another letter to the Indians. In 1657-8, appointed lieut. of the first troop of horse raised in the colony. Aug. 18, 1658, was sworn "according to ye forme of the Secretaries oath approved by this court, and ordered to be recorded." Oct. 3, 1661, "Sec^r Dan^l Clark," was ordered to be put to election for a magistrate. March 13, 1662, four hundred acres of land were granted vnto ye Sec^y, Daniel Clarke, and John Moor, eighty acres of it to be meadow; also land at "Ha-manaset," July 22, 1662. May session of the Gen. Assembly, 1663, Wm. Edwards, of Hartford, "chargeth Mr. Daniell Clark, for breach of his oath, unfaithfullnesse in ye great trust committed to him by the freemen of this corporation, to the dishonour of God, infrigment of ye royall prerogatiue of our Soueraign Lord the King, contempt of ye authority established in this corporation, and abuse of the members of yesame, &c. The Gen. Court, on the complaint of Mr. Edwards, found Mr. Clark "so far faulty," and removed him from the office of secretary "until the next election court." May 12, 1664, the the Gen. Court confirmed Mr. Daniell Clark, Captain of the troop. Oct. 13, 1664, Mr. Daniell Clark refused to take the place of an assistant, and Mr. James Richards was chosen assistant. May, 1666, Mr. Clark was appointed clerk of the county court at Hartford. July 26, 1666, Capt. Daniel Clark was appointed on a committee by the Gen. Court, with Gov. Winthrop, Mr. Mathew Allyn, Mr. Samuel Willys, Capt. Talcot, Mr. Henry Wolcott, Lieut. John Allyn, Capt. Nubery, Mr. Wadsworth, Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Fitch. In case there was danger of invasion by the approach of an enemy, and it appeared necessary to send force to oppose them, before the Gen. Assembly could convene, such committee was impowered to order the militia, and to commission officers how) to act and to prevent the designs of the enemy, &c. May 11, 1676, Capt. Daniel Clark was appointed by the Gen. Court, with the governor and deputy governor and assistants, with Capt. Benj. Newbury, in his absence, Capt. Daniel Clark, Mr. Richard Lord, Mr. John Wadsworth, Mr. Samuel Tallcott, Mr. Jehu Burr and Mr. John Bankes, for a standing council, to order, manage and dispose of all such affairs as should be necessarily attended in the interval of the sessions of the Gen. Court; impowered to act on all such occasions, and their acts or any three of them should be in as full force as if acted or determined by the Gen. Court, the governor or deputy-governor being one of the three. (See Col. Rec.)

Mr. Clarke and Mr. Allyn, of Windsor, in 1658, were voted "to put to sale the town barn in Windsor." He was at Windsor as early as 1641. He joined the church at Windsor in June, 1643. (Rowland.) He, in behalf of the church of Windsor, complained of Ja's Eno and Michael Humphrey, for the violation of an established law of the colony, and withdrew it in 1663. He was confirmed captain of the troop in May, 1664. He, with Mr. Allin, Mr. Steel, Mr. Lord, Mr. Wadsworth, Mr. Hollister, John Deming and Robert Webster, were appointed, with the magistrates, a committee, by the Gen.

Court, Feb. 26, 1656, to give their best advice to the Indians, if they agree to meet, and being met, crave the same of them. March 26, 1656, the Gen. Court ordered Mr. Wolcott to assist Mr. Clark as to all defects of training in Windsor, as far as two magistrates had power. In May, 1655, Mr. Clarke, the gov'r and dep. gov'r, were appointed by the Gen. Court to hold a court at Fairfield or Stratford. In Oct., 1663, Mr. Mathew Allyn, Capt. Ta[leott,] Lieut. Clark, were appointed by the Gen. Court, a committee to treat with the gentleman who had come from M[an]hatoes on the controversy between the corporation and the Dutch at Manhatoes, &c. (Col. Rec.) He was recorder in May, 1658. In 1662, he was chosen as a reserve as commissioner. Hon. Worshipful Daniel Clarke made his will Aug. 31, 1709, and a codicil in July, 1710. He notices his wife and children, Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah, John, Samuel, Daniel and Josia. His son John and son-in-law Roger Wolcott, Ex's, &c. Will proved April 8, 1710.

Capt. Daniell Clark lost his first wife, and m. second, Widow Martha Wolcott, who had been the wife of Simon Wolcott, son of Henry, Sen. She m. him Oct. 17, 1661, and Simon d. Sept. 11, 1687. She was a sister of Hon. Wm. Pitkin, of Hartford. She survived Mr. Clark. His son, Nath'l Clark, about to enter the service of his country in 1690, made his will, and gave his property to his brothers and sisters. He was propounded in Windsor for a magistrate in 1649. (See Col. Rec., Windsor Rec.) Robert and Ja's Clark, Nicholas and Thomas, of Hartford, Hon. Daniel, of Windsor, John, of Farmington, John, of Saybrook, John and James, of New Haven, Mr. John, George, Sen., George, Jun., and Thomas Clark, of Milford, were freemen in their respective towns in 1669.

CLARK, DANIEL, JUN., son of Hon. Daniel Clark, of Windsor, at a meeting of the council in Hartford, March 10, 1675-6, was convicted for notorious, reproachful, contemptuous speeches, and threatening Mayor Treat; fined him £20, and committed him to prison during the pleasure of the council. And at a meeting of the council, Jan. 2, 1676(7,) Capt. Daniel Clark appeared and requested "that his son's fine" might be remitted, and stated it would be a great encouragement for him to settle "here," in the improvement of his trade and art, for the benefit of the country, &c. Mayor Treat also interceded for him, and stated Daniel's confession, reformation, &c. The council remitted the fine, expecting his return and settlement in attendance of his art and trade. (See Meeting of the Council, Jan. 2, 1676, and March 10, 1675-6.)

Dec. 1, 1766, d. 1775; Moses, b. Jan. 4, 1769; Mary, b. Feb. 15-17, 1771; Olive, b. Oct. 23, 1774; George, b. Jan., 1778.

The Clarks, of Wethersfield, might have been from some other town in the colony. There was a Thomas Clark, freeman in Hartford in 1669. There was also "Thomas Clerk," freeman at Milford, 1669.

Clarke, Mr. John, George, Sen. and Jun., and Thomas, were all freemen in Milford in 1669. (Spelled Clarke, Clerke.)

CLARK, GEORGE, SEN., called the farmer, was one of the first planters of Milford, and in the list of free planters in Nov., 1639, and died there in 1690, one of its most respectable citizens. His wife Sarah also died there, July 19, 1689. Farmer George Clark was taxed there in 1686 on £156, 16s. Deacon George Clark taxed there on £173, same year, and George, Jun., taxed on £131, and Samuel taxed on £140, and Mr. Thomas Clark, same year, taxed at Milford on £246. George and George, Jun., Nicholas Camp, Henry Botsford, Nath'l Brisco and others, in 1640, before the town was named Milford, were made free planters of the town, with liberty to vote for public officers, to carry on public affairs in the plantation. George, Sen. and Jun., were original proprietors of Milford in 1639. George Clark was often a deputy to the Gen. Court of Connecticut and New Haven. To Gen. Court of Connecticut, April 1665, May, '66, Oct., '68. Deacon George, 1669; George, Oct., '69, May, '72, '74, '75, Oct., '75, absent. Deacon George, 1676, and other sessions. George, the farmer, deeded land to Vincent Stilson, of Milford, April 7, 1685. Samuel and George Clark, commissioners for Milford, May, 1669.

CLARK, GEORGE, JUN., an original proprietor and settler at Milford with George, Sen. He was by trade a carpenter. His wife was Mary, who died in 1689. Their children were Abigail, b. Jan. 9, 1653-4; Thomas. His daughter Hester died Oct. 19, 1661. and others. George, Jun., purchased ten acres of land at Mill Neck of Jasper Gunn, in 1647. Mr Thomas Clark, (son of George, Sen.,) of Milford, Ensign George Clark, Col. Robert and Ensign Joseph Treat, &c., received an Indian deed of the town of Wiantinogue, (New Milford,) from Papetopo, Wempetoo and other Indians, in consideration of £60, current money, £20 in goods, at money prices, in behalf of the Milford purchasers, signed Feb. 8, 1702-3, by fourteen Indians, and witnessed by John Minor, (Interpreter, allowed by "botheye English and ye Indians,") and by John Durand and two Indians. Recorded by Richard Bryan, Register, Feb. 10, 1702-3, at Milford. George, the carpenter, died in 1690. The Clarks, of Milford, were of the best families of Milford; some branch of this family settled at Washington and New Milford.

CLARK, DANIEL, of Milford, was ordered to have a house-lot next to Thomas Campfield's, in 1648, in Milford.

CLARK, DEACON JOHN, of Milford, represented Milford in the Gen. Court of Conn., in Oct., 1676, &c. He with Tho's Welch, were impowered to hold a court at Milford, 1665, with the assistant in Milford. He was a commissioner for Milford, 1666.

CLARK, Mr. THOMAS, son of George, Sen., of Milford, m. Hannah Gilbert, dau'r of Wm., of New Haven, then deceased, May 20, 1663.

CLARK, WM., a servant of Mr. John Crow, was fined forty shillings, and corporal punishment, for drinking—the corporal punishment remitted upon his promise of care for the future to avoid "such occasions," Jan. 3, 1639. Wm. Clark forfeited his recognizance in court, of £10, in May, 1649, at Hartford. He resided in Hartford in 1659, and quite reduced in property.

CLARK, WM., was an original first settler of Haddam. The inventory of his estate, he being deceased, was in court at Hartford, Sept. 3, 1681, £412, 18s. He left issue, Thomas, William, John, Joseph, and dau's Jennor, Spencer, Hannah, and an adopted son or son-in-law, Daniel Hubbard. His son Thomas sole ex'r; a very reputable family.

CLARK, WM., owned a tract of swamp land in Hartford, in 1642;

CLARK, WM., was brought before the Gen. Court, and they considered the low estate of his family; Nov., 1659, ordered that the fine imposed upon him for trading liquors contrary to law, should be to the public treasury, 40s. per year for four years. He was in court again in 1660, and the Gen. Court, May, 1661, remitted £4 of the £8 fine before inflicted upon him. Probably the Wm. above, servant of John Crow. born at Lyme Feb. 1634.

CLARK, WM., son of Wm., of Colchester, settled at New Milford, Conn., where he m. ^{Annie} ~~Mrs.~~ Bostwick, a sister of the father of Charles Bostwick, dec'd, of New Haven, and had children, viz.:

1. Walter, d. in early life, unmarried, aged about 28 years.
2. Sally, who m. Gerardus or Garry Booth, of New Milford, and had children. She is yet living; her husband deceased.
3. William, d. a young man, unmarried.
4. Parsons, formerly a merchant in New York, now resides in N. Milford, where he has a family.
5. Gerardus, graduated at Yale College in 1804, with John C. Calhoun, Dr. Chester, Henry R. Storrs, and others of that noted class. He settled in the city of New York, as a lawyer, in early life, soon after he graduated, where he sustains a good reputation in his profession, and where he married, and now has a family.

6. Heneretta, the youngest child of William, of New Milford, m. Maj. Beebe Hine, then of New Milford, now of New Haven; a most excellent and accomplished lady; no issue.

CLARK, JAMES, was an early settler at Stafford, Conn.

CLARK, NATH'L, son of Hon. Daniel, of Windsor, in 1690, entered the service against the Indians, and before leaving his friends, he made his will, and gave his property to his brothers and sisters.

CLARK, WM. At a meeting of the townsmen of Windsor, the above Wm. "was appointed to sitt in the great pew" in the meeting-house, May 5, 1651.

CLARK, JOSEPH, of West Hartford, had issue bap. there, viz.: Abijah, May 4, 1729; Mary, Aug. 15, 1731; Sarah, Oct. 8, 1749.

John & Mindwell Clark.

CLARK, MARY, of Farmington, was a sister of John Ward, of Newark, N. J. She had lived at Milford, and removed to Farmington, where she died. Her will, dated at Farmington, Nov. 28, 1677. She notices in her will her dau'r Mary Stevens, dau'r Rebecca Warner, dau'r "Chittington," son-in-law Elnathan "Bochford," granddaughter Elizabeth Bochford, grandchild Rebecca Stevens, grandchild Mary Warner; also, Abigail Standly; also, Eliz'h Chittingdon; also, Eliz'th Standley; her son-in-law, John Standly, and Sarah, his wife; her dau'r Abigail Fletcher, and four other daughters, Rebecca, Mary, Sarah and Hannah. She also notices the Rev. pastor, Mr. Roger Newton, and her brother, John Warde, of Newark, N. J. Nath'l Farrand had leased her land in Milford, or a part of it, which she provided for, and appointed her dau'r, Abigail Fletcher, sole ex'x; made her mark. Inventory of Mary Clark's estate, "sometime living in Milford, deceased, prized by vs," &c., Feb. 26, 1678, at "Milford," £273, 5s 6d. Inventory at Farmington, Feb. 14, 1678, £32, 16s. She appears to have been twice married. Will proved 1678-9, at Hartford.

CLARK, DAVID, of Sheffield, ~~Mass.~~, m. Mercy Adams, of Suffield, Ct., 1735-6.

CLARK, NATH'L, of Lyme, in 1726, (says Otis,) was a grandson of Thomas Clark, of Plymouth, mate of the Mayflower.

CLARK, ROBERT, settled in Stratford about 1652, and free there, 1669.

CLARK, JOSEPH, will dated 1655; died same year.

CLARK, Hon. HENRY, of Windsor, was an early, active and useful settler there. He was a juror at Hartford, 1641, '45; grand-juror in 1643, '45 and '47; deputy to the Gen. Court in April, 1642, March, 1643; a member of the court of magistrates in May, 1659, four sessions in 1660 and in May 1661. He was one of the grantees of the old charter of Connecticut in 1662, named in it by King Cha's; also, deputy, Aug. 1642, Sept., '44, Nov., '44. Henry Clark, with Mr. Whiting, Capt. Mason and Mr. Phen, were desired by the court, Jan., 1641, to procure some pieces of ordnance from Piquetaqua, or elsewhere, and erect some fortifications, where they thought advisable. (Col. Rec.) Mr. Henry Clark, and the secretary (of Conn.) Mr. Allyn and Mr. Phelps, were appointed by the Gen. Court, Aug. 18, 1658, "to write and indite" letters in behalf of the court to the elders, &c., to come to Hartford and assist in settling the difficulties between the church and the withdrawers at Hartford. At the same Gen. Court, Mr. Matthew Allyn was appointed a committee with Mr. Henry Clark, of Windsor, to act in the disposition of land at Massacoe, according to a previous order. He was an assistant, deputy, and magistrate in the colony of Conn., and one of the few important petitioners to the king for the charter of Connecticut, and one of the grantees named in said charter in 1662, and lived to act under the charter as an assistant, and otherwise serve the public. Mr. Clark was one of the two important and useful settlers of Windsor by the name of Clark. No person, it appears, was allowed to sign the petition to Charles II. for the charter, but the well-known and most influential men in the colony; and of the nineteen signers to that instrument, Henry Clark, Daniell Clarke and John Clarke, were signers and grantees named in the charter, in behalf of the people of Connecticut, (spelled Clerke,) which effectually proves the high standing of the name in the colony, in its early settlement.

CLARK, SAMUEL and JOHN, were legatees of Joshua, sachem, (or so styled,) of Saybrook, who signed an instrument with other legatees, to "give unto the trustees of ye Collegiate Schoole in Conecticocott for ye use of said schoole the quantity of a two thousand acre right in ye lands given by said Joshua," &c., if the house should be erected at Saybrooke, (for Yale College,) Feb. 10, 1701-2.

CLARK, SAMUEL, was a first settler of Stamford, and one of the first company of settlers there in 1651, from Wethersfield; an original proprietor with Seaman, Weeks, &c.

CLARK, THOMAS, was interested in the iron works at East Haven before 1668, and principal in the establishment in 1669. He appears to have come from Boston, as Dr. Dodds says, for a time he resided at Boston after his purchase; that he sold his interest in it in 1680; that he was a gentleman of wealth and good standing in the colony.

CLARK, MR. JOHN, of Saybrook, was an early settler at Cambridge, Mass., as early as 1632; noted by Winthrop in his journal, perhaps from Braintree, near Chelmsford, Essex county, England. He came from Cambridge to Hartford, Conn., about 1636, perhaps with Rev. T. Hooker's company. He was in the first division of lots at Hartford in 1639, and had twenty-two acres, and one of the committee to apportion the land. He was a juror at Hartford in 1641, and was a soldier in the battle against the Pequot Indians in 1637. He was deputy to the Gen. Court at Hartford, Sept., 1641, Aug., 1642, Sept., 1642, and juror. Deputy, Nov., 1644, and Feb., 1644; in 1649, '51, May, '52, May, '53, July, '54, and two other sessions in 1654, '55, '56; four sessions in 1657; three in 1658; two sessions in 1659; two in 1661; two in 1662, also in 1663 and 1665, &c. Nominated commissioner for Saybrook, May, 1664.

He with Major Mason and Hon. Robert Chapman, of Saybrook, were appointed by the Gen. Court in 1654, for the town to press men for an expedition then on foot against Ninigret, at Narraganset. The exact time he left Hartford and removed to Saybrook, is uncertain. He remained at Hartford several years; in 1640 he was located in the west part of the village of Hartford, on a lot bounded north on Robert Birchard, (spelled Birchwood,) east on the road from Seth Grant's to Centinel Hill, south on Wm. Parker and Wm. Ruscoe, and west on Allyn, in the West Field. He and Birchard both settled from Hartford in Saybrook. He and Birchard, both of "Seabrook," were appointed by the court to go to Pequett and view the lands there given Capt. Mason's soldiers, which had been taken by Pequet settlers, and then go to Nianticut and lay out land there to the soldiers, to make it equivalent to their land taken at Pequet. In 1647, John Clarke, of Seabrooke, and Capt. Mason, were desired by the Gen. Court to carry on the building of the fort at Seabrook, by hiring men, carts and other necessities, and use the last rate paid by Seabrooke, (Sept. 9, 1647.) In May, 1651, the Gov'r. Mr. Cullick and Mr. Clark, were desired by the Gen. Court to go to Stratford, to hold a court and try Goody Bassitt for her life, (witchcraft,) and if the governor could not go, directed Mr. (Thomas) Welles to supply his place. In Sept., 1654, "Maioir Mason & Capt. Cullick, (if his occasions can permit him, if not,) Mr. Clarke, are desired to goe to Pequott, with Mr. Winthrop to keepe a perticuler Courte, before winter," &c. John Clarke and Ensign Waller, of Seabrooke, adm'rs on Joseph Clark's estate, according to his will, Oct., 1664. He was the first of the name at Saybrook. His or his son John's house stood upon a back road near a school-house on the point at Saybrook. He was a large landholder in and about Saybrook.

John Clark was one of the most influential settlers in the colony, during his life, and was appointed magistrate, commissioner, judge and frequently a deputy to the Gen. Court of Connecticut.

CLARK, JOHN, was married to Rebeka Parker (or Barker,) Oct. 16, 1650. Children, Rebeka, b. Jan. 26, 1652; John, b. Nov. 17, '55; James, b. Sept. 29, '57, departed this life in August, '59. John Clark died Sept. 21, 1677, being killed by a cart overturned upon him. Rebekah Spencer, sometime the wife of John Clark, departed this life Jan. 9, 1682. (Nash, and Saybrook Record.) Samuel Clark, who m. Mary Kirtland, Dec., 1699, and Wm., who m.

Hannah Griswold, March 7, 1677-8, at Saybrook, were perhaps the same family. As John, Sen., drew his twenty-two acres of land at Hartford in 1639, and was in the Pequot battle in 1637, and a deputy to the Gen. Court in 1641, he must have been in middle life when he came to Hartford, where he remained several years before he went to Saybrook. From his age and standing in society, it is probable he was m. and had children before he came to Saybrook, and if this John m. Rebeka Parker, 1650, that she was his second wife, and this was John, son of the first John. And John, who married Rebeckah Beamont, Dec. 17, 1684, (she was sister of the wife of first John Tully,) was the son of John, Jun. Also is found on that record, John Clark, of Saybrook, m. Rebeka, and had Abigail, b. Sept. 23, 1685; Rebekah, b. May 25, 167-. Abigail, his daughter, died Feb. 6, 1688-9; John, b. June 11, 1689; Joseph, b. Jan. 16, 1690-1, and died March 12, 1691-2; second Joseph, b. Jan. 23, 1691-2; Nath'l, b. July 19, 1694; Temperance, b. July 20, 1698; Samuel, b. June 26, 1702. This was Major John, who m. Rebeka Beamont. A Scotchman by the name of Clarke, settled at Saybrook many years later who now has descendants there and in New York.

CLARK, MARY, in 1692, "had a base born child." and accused Lieut. Hollister of being the father; "she having been constant in the charge in time of travail, and at all times." The court judged him the reputed father; and ordered him to pay two shillings per week from its birth, for the term of four years; and ordered Mary to pay a fine of forty shillings, and to be whipt. A portion of the present law upon this subject, originated in the Puritan law of 1692; the same evidence of being constant in the charge, and in time of travail, is now required in this state.

CLARK, FRANCIS, aged 28, embarked for Virginia, 1635, in the Transport, of London, Edward Walker, master. Mary Clark, aged 16, embarked for New England, in the Hopewell, Tho's Babb, master, Sept. 4, 1635. Syialle Clark, aged 16, embarked in the Planter, April 6, 1635, Nic Frarice, master. Margaret Clark, aged 21, and Wm. Clark, aged 1, passengers for Virginia, in the Primrose, July 27, 1635. Daniel Clark, aged 33, and Wm. Clark, aged 27, embarked in the Plain Joan, May 15, 1635. John Clark, aged 19, embarked for Virginia in the Merchant Bonaventure, in 1634-5. Wm. and Thomas Clark, embarked for Virginia, Jan. 6, 1635, in the Thomas and John. Edmond Clark, 16, also in the Speedwell, of London, May 28, 1635, for Virginia. Nicholas Clarke, aged 31, in the Paule, of London, for Virginia, July 6, 1635. This name was in Hartford in 1635. (Somerby.)

This name is nearly as numerous as the Smiths and Browns, and occupies too much space in a work like this ; so much so that I must omit giving any genealogy of most of the first settlers by this name.

CLARK, JOHN, d. at Colchester, Oct. 27, 1749, aged 63. Daniel d. there Sept. 4, 1762, aged 82. Widow Elizabeth Clarke, d. there, 1763, aged 77.

"CLAY, MILES, of Brantery, in England, dec'd," in 1678 had an interest in the estate of Zachary Sanford, "late of Saybrook." The court granted John Durant and John Loomis, of Hadley, in right

May, removed to the second parish of Windham, (Hampton,) Ct. August 29, 1718, he purchased a 100 acre lot of wild land, of Joseph Jennings, of Windham, then co. of Hartford, in the north-westerly part of said second society, two and a quarter miles from the centre of the society, being the fourth settler in the parish, and chosen deacon Aug. 17, 1737. He was one of the first incorporators and formers of the first church in Windham village, June 5, 1723. The day on which Rev. Wm. Billings was ordained their first pastor, Mr. Clark being chosen deacon, is full proof of his high standing in the church and town. In those days the minister ranked first, the deacons next, and the constable next. He was grandfather of John Clark, Esq., of Hampton, now living. His children were, John, Jun., b. Aug. 14, 1719, d. CLAY, HUMPHREY, was attorney for Richard Eliot in 1663.

CLAY, or CLOY, JOSEPH, was assessed at Guilford in 1642, at £39.

CLAY, HUMPHREY, was inn-keeper at N. L. Mrs. Katherine Clay was informed against in 1664, for keeping an inmate contrary to order, and Thomas Marshall informed against for abiding at Clay's house, contrary to order, and was fined 5s. for remaining at Clay's house.

Catherine Clay, presented for selling liquors at her house, and selling lead to Indians, for profanation of Sabbath, card playing, entertaining strange men, &c. He was bound over to the court of assistants, to answer for the offenses of his wife. They were both convicted for keeping a disorderly house, and fined £40, or to leave the colony within six months; in such case the fine was remitted. He sold his land and two dwelling-houses, (on Foxen's Hill,) about 1664. He probably had kept an ordinary for several years, perhaps as early as 1655. Miss Caulkins, p. 88, says the inn of Mr. Clay continued to be a place of notoriety until 1664, when it was broken up and its landlord banished from the place for breaches of law and order. (Caulk. and Rec.) (Not relatives of Hon. Henry Clay, as he says in his letter.)

This is the last of this respectable name in Conn., in the early settlement, I can afford to publish.

The court discovered that Jasper Clements was about to marry Ellin or Elenor Brown, of Middletown, and at the May session of the Gen. Court of Conn., 1660, he confessed he had a wife in England. The court ordered that said Jasper and Ellen should be forthwith separated, until evidence should be offered to demonstrate that the marriage covenant had been dissolved between said Clements and his former wife. And the selectmen of Middletown were directed to execute the order of the court. Her maiden name was Watts. She had probably m. a Brown; and from his will and the disposition of his property, he resided with her afterward. He died Oct. 16, 1677. Inventory proved in court at Hartford, Feb., 1677, £243, 4s. Will dated Oct. 13, 1677, aged, at his death, 64 years. Elenor, his relict, presented the will as executrix. He had no children. He gave most of his estate to John, Benoni and Nathaniel Browne, and his "cousin," Hannah Lane, and his wife Elenor; and his division of land the east side of the great river at Middletown, which was to have been divided in 1674, by list of 1673, he gave for the support of a school at Middletown. Quere—were they married? No evidence found. The legatees were probably Elenor's children by a previous marriage to Brown. The colony record spells her name Ellin, and on the probate record, Ellenor. He made his mark to his will, March 7, 1677-8. Inventory taken by Wm. Cheeny, Nath'l Bacon and John Hall, Sen.

Jasper, propounded for a freeman in 1667.

3. Hon. Chauncey Fitch, b. Feb. 16, 1799.

Capt. Silas, the father, died Sept. 24, 1840, aged 84.

CLEVELAND, Hon. MASON, was late Comptroller of Public Accounts in Conn., and now Commissioner of the School Fund of the State; m. Eliza M. Perkins, and had children, viz.:

1. Abijah P., attorney at law, and editor of a newspaper at Quincey, Ill.
2. Edward Spier, m. Miss Bolles; has two sons; engrossing clerk at Washington.
3. Henry Mason; these three bap. at Hampton, April 3, 1831.
4. George Lee, bap. Sept. 2, 1836.

CLEVELAND, Hon. CHAUNCEY F., son of Silas 3d, m. —, Few men in Conn., by their own exertions and industry, and with as much opposition, have risen as high into public favor as Gen. Cleveland. As a military officer, he had the entire support of the militia of the state, and was rapidly promoted to the offices of Gen. and Maj. Gen. Being a lawyer by profession, he located himself in his native place, and has risen in his practice to the head of the bar in Windham county. He has repeatedly been honored with a seat in both branches of the state legislature, of which he has filled the place of clerk of the house, and one of its most efficient and popular speakers of the lower house, and afterward governor of the state, and four years member of congress; all which, with several minor offices, he executed to the satisfaction of the party who elected him to the many places of public trust to which he has been exalted. He married in early life. He had but two children:

1. John, Esq., who d. unmarried.
2. Delia M., married A. A. Burnham, Esq.

JOHN received a collegiate education at Trinity, and prepared himself for the practice of law, and located at New Haven for the pursuit of his profession, and soon after was appointed clerk of the District Court of the U. S. in the district of Conn., which he accepted, and acceptably performed for a few years only, when that fell destroyer, the consumption, seized upon his vitals; he resigned his office, and returned to the tender care of a kind mother, in hopes of relief; but recovery was impossible, and he soon after died in early manhood, unmarried, in 1852, in his father's family, lamented by his numerous friends.

DELIA M., his only daughter, married Mr. Burnham, a respectable lawyer, settled at Danbury ; but finding the health of his wife declining, he removed to Hampton, that she might have the tender care of her parents, where she, after the birth of a child, also died of the same disease, which deprived Gen. Cleveland of all his children.

EDWARD, JUN., son of Edward, resided in the north-west part of the town of Canterbury.

Besides the three distinct families of Clevelands, in Canterbury viz., Josiah, Samuel and Edward, there were BENJAMIN and, Anna Cleveland, his wife, found in Canterbury about 1725.

Benjamin and Ann, (Church,) his wife, are described as of Canterbury, in their deed of land in Hartford, with Elizabeth Church, of Hartford, to James Harrison, of Hartford, Feb. 18, 1723-4. Ann was a sister of Elizabeth. Benjamin perhaps had children born at Canterbury. This family appear on the Hampton record first in 1733 ; and their son Benjamin, by Windham record, b. Aug. 30, 1733 ; Moses, b. July 20, 1736 ; Chloe, b. May 30, 1744. Ann, his wife, d. Oct. 21, 1754. (Windham Rec.) It is probable that two of the above families who settled at Canterbury, Moses and Benjamin, were the sons of Aaron, of Woburn, Mass.

CLEVELAND, EPHRAIM, of Hampton, and his wife Mary, had issue recorded at Hampton, viz. : Mary, b. March 30, 1768 ; Franklyn, b. Aug. 13, 1779. (Hamp. Rec.) Dollee, his dau'r, bap. Nov. 18, 1770 ; also, Mary ; Ephraim, Jun., bap., Oct. 10, 1773 ; Griffin, bap. Oct. 6, 1776, and Franklyn, bap. Feb. 6, 1780. Mary, wife of Ephraim, admitted to the church in Hampton, Nov. 18, 1770. Solomon Cleveland also admitted to the same church, March 4, 1744, and Rebecca Cleveland admitted also, March 7, 1742. The foregoing are the different families of this name who congregated together in the towns of Canterbury and Hampton, in the early settlement of each. They married into most of the old and respectable families of Canterbury, viz., with the Bradfords, Paines, Adams's, &c., and were several of them men of influence and distinction, the noblesse of the town. And now not a name of these several original families is found in Canterbury, to point to its present population, or the inquiring stranger, the resting-places of their own immediate ancestors ; the cemetery is left alone to do this duty.

CLEVELAND, BENJ'N, JUN., m. Mary Elderkin, Feb. 20, 1754. Issue, Ann, b. May 9, 1755 ; Roulenia ; Martin Luther, b. 1759 ; Mary, b. 1761 ; Olive, b. 1663, &c.

CLEVELAND, GEN., MOSES, of Canterbury, m. Tabitha Spencer, May 31, 1759. Issue, Eliphaz, b. 1761 ; Asa, b. 1763 ; Easter, b. 1765 ; Clark, b. 1768 ; Abel, b. 1770 ; Dyer, b. 1772, and Ja's b. Dec. 14, 1775.

Moses Cleveland and Asa Witter were members of the Conn. Convention in 1788, to ratify the Constitution of the U. S., and voted for its adoption.

Joseph Cleveland received in full communion in the church at Canterbury, in 1715 ; Samuel, in 1736 ; Abigail, wife of Joseph, Sen., in 1724 ; Josiah, 1744 ; Samuel, Jun., 1727 ; Moses, 1748 ; Benjamin, 1749 ; Zeruah, wife of Edward, Sen., 1738 ; Mary, wife of Wm. Bradford ; Benjamin, 1757, and his wife Rachel ; John, 1744, &c. (Learned. His. Notices.)

COE, or COO, (Norfolk,) has four coats of arms, and Coets, 1.

There were 51 persons in Stamford, the first year. They purchased the Indian title before they purchased of the New Haven company.

NOTE.—COE, ROBT, was born in Suffolkshire, England, in 1596. His wife Anna was born in 1591, in England. Their children named were John, b. in 1626; Robert, b. in 1627; Benj'n, b. in 1629. They sailed from Ipswich, Suffolkshire, England, April 10, 1634, in the Francis, John Cutting, master, (in company with 84 others,) and arrived in Boston in June after. Robert Coe and others of the crew, firstly settled in Watertown, Mass., where he remained about two years. At the first court held in Conn., at "Newton," (Hartford,) April 26, 1636, "Andrew Warde, Jo: Sherman, Jo: Stickland, Rob'te Coe, Rob'te Reynold and Jonas Weede," appeared before the court and produced their certificate of dismission granted by the church of Watertown, Mass., dated 29 of Ma[] last, to form anew in a church covenant "on this River of Connectecott," which certificate was received and approved by the court, and the before named persons settled at Wethersfield, Conn., where six parcels of land stood recorded to Robert Coe in 1641, where they continued about four years, during which time a trouble arose in the church, which it was found difficult to settle, even under the council of Mr. Davenport; he therefore advised one of the contending parties to make a new settlement. Accordingly, the leaving party purchased Rippowams, (Stamford,) Oct. 30, 1640, of the New Haven colony, and removed to Rippowams in 1641; (see Note, p. 232, ante.) and the first vote upon the purchase of the plantation by the proprietors, was a town-meeting held at Stamford in 1641, when the following vote was passed to pay N. Haven, at least in part, for the purchase of the town, viz.: "Whereas the purchase of the place and viewling of it, was first done by our friends of New Haven, and we stand indebted to them for it. It is ordered, that one hundred bushels of corn, at three shillings a bushel, be paid towards it, when raised, and sent them as followeth, by Mathew Mitchell, viz." Here follow the names of the proprietors, one of which is the name of Robert Coe, and twenty others, which can be read upon the record of Stamford. However, nine of the names of the thirty can not be deciphered, being lost, and to each name is attached his proportion of corn to be paid. Coe's share was four bushels and one peck. Mr. Coe continued at Stamford until Rev. Richard Denton removed to Hempstead, L. I., in 1644. He then with his sons Robert, John and Benjamin, went to Hempstead. At this time Robert, Sen., was about 48 years old, his eldest son John about 18 years, Robert, Jun., about 17, and Benjamin about 15 years old. Mr. Rob't Coe and Capt. John Coe, the first of Jamaica and John from Newtown, L. I., were appointed by their respective towns to attend the court at Hartford, (see Col. Rec. of Conn., printed vol., p. 425,) May 12, 1664. Same session, the Gen. Court appointed Mr. Robert Coe a commissioner for "Jamaicoe," L. I., and Capt. John Coe a commissioner for Newtown, L. I.

COFFUR? SEABORN, is noticed by Rowland, of Windsor, in his list of the number of children in each family in Windsor, between 1639 and 1681. as having one child, and no other account is found concerning him. (Perhaps Cotton.)

At the Gen. Court of Conn., May 11, 1665, it was ordered by said court that the villages of Hastings and Rye should be "for the future, conloynd and make one plantation, and that it shall be called by the appellation of Rye." The lands of this township were purchased of the proprietors, by Peter Disbrow, John Coe, Thomas Studwell and John Budd, in 1660, '61 and '62, and by them conveyed to Samuel Allen, Rich'd Lowe and five other planters. (See Col. Rec. and Note, vol. 2, pp. 15, 16; also, Bottom's Hist. Westchester Co.)

At the Gen. Court of Conn., Oct. 14, 1669, the court was informed that the people of Rye had no orthodox minister, and did not take due care to procure one, to carry on "the worke of the Lord on the Sabbath and instruct them," &c., but seemed to rest satisfied without "in the improveement of John Coe and Marmaduke Smith," who had been represented to the court "as persons unsound and heterodox in their judgments," &c.; therefore the court impowred Mr. Nathan Gold and any three of the Commis'sers of that county, to require said Coe and Smith, or "any others of that towne to appear before them," and if the facts should appear to them as had been represented to the court, to give them no opportunity "to sowe the seeds of error among the people there." Also to inform the people of Rye, that the court were resolved, if the said people's prudent consideration did not move them to provide "a suitable person, sound and orthodox in his principles, and apt to teach," and approved by Mr. Bishop, of Stamford, Mr. Hanford, of Norwalk, Mr. Eliphalet Joanes, of Fairfield, and Mr. Wakeman, that the court would procure and settle a minister among them, and take sufficient order that he should be maintained by them. It appears by these facts that John Coe resided at Rye in 1669, and being a leading man there, was selected by the court to whip into their traces, expecting the other inhabitants of Rye would follow Coe and Smith's example.

John Coe was rated 12s. among the 55 persons taxed at Middlebury, L. I., in 1656, four years after the first settlement there "on Indian rate." Robert Coe was taxed £4, on the same rate, land rated at 1s. an acre. (Riker's Annals of Newtown, p. 43.) John Coe had a flouring mill, at the mouth of Horse Brook in 1653. Edward Jessup applied to the council in 1657 for land to build another mill, not however to the injury of Mr. Coe's mill. In 1660, Capt. Coe indicted a man for taking corn from his mill: the culprit after being made to make amends to Capt. Coe, was sentenced "to walk from Mr. Doughty's house, with two rods under each arm, and the drum beating before him, until he comes to Mr. Jessup's house, and then he is to have his liberty," &c., (p. 48.)

COGGIN, JOHN, a defendant in court at Hartford, in favor of Mathew Allen, in Sept., 1641; £20 damages and costs. He was also plaintiff against Allen, 1641. He was in Hartford in 1640.

In 1655, Mr. Coe was a magistrate. Capt. John was a warm advocate for an alliance of the people of Middleburg with Connecticut, and sent a letter upon the subject to the Gen. Court of Conn., by James Christie, &c. Capt. Talcott, when he arrived in Hartford, engaged Christie to visit Flushing, Hempstead and Jamaica, "to try if the inhabitants were favorably inclined towards the gov'r of Hartford." Christie returned to Middleburg, and in the absence of Director Stuyvesant, who had gone to Boston, Christie went with two others to Gravesend, with a "simple commission signed Coe," and a copy of Capt. Talcott's letter. The people being called together, Christie, produced his letters and informed the people they were no longer subject to the Dutch gov't. but to that of Hartford. Nicholas Stillwell doubted the fact, and arrested Christie and his papers, and informed the council, who dispatched a serg't and eight men to convey Christie to Fort Amsterdam, &c. (Riker, pp. 556, 557, &c.)

Coe, Christie, Panton, Waters and others, Richard Mills, the school-master, aided the revolt at Westchester, where Mills was a magistrate. The affair of Stuyvesant with Conn., Westchester and on Long Island, is rich in the history of the first settlement of Long Island and Westchester. James Christie and others were made freemen in Conn. John Coe and Richard Betts represented Hastings to attend the convention at Hempstead, L. I., Feb. 28, 1665. In 1666, '67, new style, a patent was granted by Gov. Richard Nicoll to John Coe, Capt. Thomas Lawrence, and the other inhabitants of Newtown, L. I., as patentees of said Newtown, in confirmation of their previous title. John Coe was also named as one of the patentees and inhabitants of Newtown by Thomas Dongan, in his confirmation of the title of Newtown, Nov. 25, 1686. (Riker.) John Coe was chosen sheriff of Queen's co., L. I. and commissioned by Leisler. (Riker, p. 117.) John Coe was one of Leisler's council. Leisler and Milborne, with all their loyalty, were condemned and executed. Coe was imprisoned, but escaped. (Rec. Hist. of N.) John, Robert, Jonathan and David Coe were all signers of the petition to his excellency, Edward Viscount Cornbury, her majesty's captain general and governor-in-chief of the province of New York, &c. in behalf of the freeholders of Newtown, in Queen's co., on the island of Nassau. John Coe also held the office of judge, and was one of the leading men on Long Island.

Benjamin Coe, the youngest son of Robert, Sen., was a farmer; while Robert, Sen., and his son John were important men, and most of their lives while upon Long Island, in some important public employment. Robert, Sen., left "Heemstede" after a few years' residence there; he became a pioneer in the settlement of Middleburg, about 1651-2.

At the first meeting of the first English settlers at Middleburg, Robert Coe and Richard Gildersleeve, both of whom had resided at Wethersfield and Stamford, were confirmed, with Hazard, in the office of first magistrates of the town. Robert Coe and Edward Jessup, were sent from Middleburg, and a delegation from Hempstead, to propound to "the Honorable Commissioners" then in session at Boston, questions which agitated the public mind, (Riker, p. 31, 32,) and requested protection from N. England. Robert Coe and Tho's Hazard were delegates from Middleburg, and met the burgomasters of New Amsterdam at the City Hall, Nov. 25, 1663. Robert Coe held the office of ensign of a company of soldiers under Capt. Titus, to sustain Lieut. Gov. Leisler in the military force of the province, and were by him commissioned in their new offices. (Riker, p. 118.) Robert signed the petition with his son John to his excellency, E. Viscount Cornbury, Capt. Gen. and Gov. of the province of New York in 1703. Aug. 20, 1720, Robert Coe was appointed with others, a committee to examine the accounts for eight years preceding, of the trustees of the place, &c.

Few of the original settlers of Conn., who removed to Long Island, held a more exalted rank with the first English settlers upon the island, than Hon. Robert and his son John Coe.

Mr. John Hicks of Hempstead, Mr. Robert Coe of Jamaica, Capt. John Coe of Newtown, and COGGENS, RICHARD, m. Mary Chalker, dau'r of Alexander, of Saybrook, in 1677-8.

COGGAN, JOHN, Boston, freeman, 1633, member of the ar. co. 1638. He m. Martha, widow of Gov. Winthrop, March 10, 1651, and d. 1658. His son Joshua b. 1652; son John, of Boston, freeman, 1642. (Farmer.) Thomas Coggin, of Taunton, able to bear arms in 1643, d. March 4, 1653. Sarah Coggin, aged 20, embarked for Virginia, in the Assurance de I'o, Isaac Bromwell and Geo. Pewsie, master, 1635.

COGGIN, HENRY, of Barnstable, 1640. John Coggan, of Boston, dau'r Anna, b. 7^o (9^o) 1636. John Phinney, of Barnstable, m. Abigail Croggin, widow, June 10, 1650; she d. 1653. John, son of John and Elizabeth Coggin, of Woburn, March 10, 1693; also, Henry, their son, d. 1694. (See His. Reg.) This name is not now in Conn.

John Cogan was an early settler in Dorchester, and probably came to Windsor in the first settlement of the town, or soon after, as he was in court at Hartford in 1641 and 1646, though he either left Windsor within a few years, or died. In 1635, John Cogan, Wolcott, Telley and Pinney, had a case of some importance referred to arbitration at Dorchester. He was probably the John Coggin first named above, and grantee of Dorchester.

Mr. Hallett of Flushing, in May, 1664, were appointed by their respective towns on L.I., to attend the court in Conn. The same session of said Gen. Court, Mr. Robert Coe and Mr. Thomas Benedict were appointed commissioners for Jamaica, L. I., and Capt. John Coe and Richard Betts, commissioners for Newtown.

While Benjamin, the second son of Robert, Sen., b. 1629, was quietly seated upon his farm at Jamaica, L. I., his father and his brother John were figuring in the affairs of government in public life. Robert Coe, Jun., the third son of Robert, Sen., b. 1627, removed from L. I. about 1654, to Stratford, Conn., where he was a farmer, and neighbor of Mr. Sherman, who had removed there from Stamford. He m. Susanna, and by her had three children, who were living at his decease, at Stratford, in 1659, aged 32 years. After his decease his relict m. Nicholas Elsy, or Ellery, of New Haven. His three children, John, Susannah and Sarah, are named in the settlement of his estate on the probate record of Fairfield. From this branch are descended most of the Coes of Conn. Some of the descendants of Benjamin Coe settled in New Jersey, where the name is yet found. Susannah, the widow of Robert, of Stratford, presented the inventory of the estate of her late husband, Oct. 20, 1659, being £179 18s. distributed to his son John, Susanna and Sarah, each £35, and the remainder to his widow. Josua and Jeremie Judson, Henry Wakley and Richard Boothe, appraisers.

Robert, Sen., of Wethersfield, was one of the thirty families who settled Stamford, and is one of the twenty names now found there recorded of the thirty who first purchased Rip-powame, Oct. 30, 1640, and removed there in 1641, on condition that Rev. Richard Denton was to remove there by March, 1641-2, and the settlers by Nov., 1641.

COE, COOE, ROBERT, had six tracts of land recorded at Wethersfield in 1641.

COGSWELL, COGGSWELL, COGSWEL, ROBERT or JOHN, was an original settler of New Haven, and a signer of the fundamental agreement made there in 1639 ; and in 1643, he is found in Lambert's list of families and estates in New Haven, with four persons in his family, and an estate of £60. Whether Mr. Samuel Coggswell, of Saybrook, was one of the four of this family, in 1643, I have no evidence.

COGSWELL, MR. SAMUEL, was a farmer at Saybrook about 1665. Who was his father, or whence he came, the record does not show. He was unm. when he came to Saybrook, and m. Susannah —, Oct. 27, 1668. Her name is so badly written and blotted, it is impossible to decipher her entire name. (Mr. Nash says Hearn.) She was probably a Wastall. John Wastall, a first settler there. On a page or two after the Coggswell family is found the will of John Wastall, and Susannah, his wife ; they being advanced in years and childless, he made John Cortland [Kirtland] sole heir to his estate. Mr. Coggswell calls one of his sons Wastall. By his calling his first son Wastall, perhaps, for it is only conjecture, he might have m. Wastall's sister ; who she was is in doubt. They had children born at Saybrook, viz. :

1. Hannah, b. June 4, 1670 ; m. Josiah Dibble, 1691-2, and had a child born there.
2. Susannah, b. Nov. 23, 1672.
3. Wastall, b. Feb. 17, 1674.
4. Samuel, b. Aug. 3, 1677.
5. Roland, b. July 7, 1679.
6. Joseph, b. April 10, 1682.
7. Nath'l, b. Dec. 16, 1684.
8. John, b. Aug. 7, 1688.

— COGGSWELL, SAMUEL, SEN., was presented to the Gen. Court for a freeman from Saybrook, in May, 1669, and at the same session was appointed commissioner for that town.

COGGSWELL, JOSEPH, b. 1682, son of Samuel, Sen., of Saybrook, settled at Southington, where he m. Anna Orvis, Aug. 25, 1710, and had children, viz., Joseph, Jun., b. May 24, 1711, m. Joanna Andrews, May 3, 1732 ; Samuel, b. May 23, 1713, m. Mary Langdon, Nov. 28, 1734 ; Nathan, b. May 20, 1716, m. Susanna Warner, Nov. 24, 1737 ; Susanna, b. Aug. 18, 1718, m. Jedediah Smith, 1740 ; Martha, b. Aug. 24, 1721 ; David, b. March 26, 1725, d. 1806 ; Mary, b. May 21, 1728, m. Oct. 1756 ; Deborah, b. April 23, 1731 ; Anna, b. March 6, 1732-3, d. 1736 ; Elizabeth, b. March 31, 1735, m. Ebenezer Hurlbut, Aug. 20, 1752.

JOSEPH, son of Joseph Cogswell, m. Joanna Andrews and had issue, Isaac, b. 174—; Nathan, b. 1741, m. Bulah Scott, 1760; Samuel, b. 174—; Rachel, b. 174—; Bulah Scott, 1760.

SAMUEL, son of Joseph, m. Mary Langdon, and had issue, an infant, d. 1736; Lucerna, and Joseph, b. July 13, 1737; Mary, b. April 1, 1739, m. Joseph Barnett, Oct. 6. 1756; Asahel, b. April 18, 1741; Rhoda, b. 1743; Isaac, b. 1745; Samuel, Jun., b. 1747, d.; Rachel, b. 1749; Lydia, b. 1752; second Samuel, b. Sept. 17, 1754; Reuben, b. March, 1756; Lucy, b. 1746; Simeon and Levi, b. Sept. 6, 1759; Jerusha, b. 1761.

NATHAN, son of Joseph Cogswell, of Southington, m. Susanna Warner, and had issue. Anna. b. Jy 24, 1738; Solomon, b. March 20, 1743; Asahel, b. 1744.

DAVID, son of Joseph, Sen., m. and had issue, Ruth, b. Dec. 6, 1749, m. Wm. Barrett, 1762; Huldah, b. Sept. 22, 1751; Phebe, b. 1754; David, Jun., b. 1757, d. 1823; Noah, b. Sept. 27, 1761, m. Lydia Woodruff, 1798; Salmon, b. March 18, 1768, m. Sarah Smith.

The Cogswells of Washington, Conn., are supposed descendants of this family.

COGSWELL, NATH'L, b. 1684, son of Samuel, Sen., of Saybrook, settled in Lyme. Joseph, his brother, settled in that part of Farmington called Southington. Joseph Cogswell, of Farmington, deeds to his "brother, Nathaniel Cogswell, of Lyme, all his right" in the ninth part of a 2,000 acre right in the town of Hebron, that accrued from his honored father, dated April 10, 1710. (Vol. 2, p. 276, Say. Rec.) Same page, John, another brother, of Saybrook, gives a similar deed, dated April 21, 1710.

COGSWELL, SAMUEL, JUN., son of Samuel, Sen., of Saybrook, b. 1677; m. Anne Denison, "each to the other, the 3d day of March, 1700-1." "Their son Samuel was born ye 25th of Dec., 1701; their dau'r Anne was born ye — of Dec., 1703; their son Hezekiah was born ye first day of ffeb'y, 1705-6." (Entered July ye 9th, 1707, vol. 2, p. 124.)

The funeral sermon at the decease of Dr. James Cogswell, a son of Samuel and Anne, says he (James) was also born at Saybrook in January 1720, but his birth is not found at Saybrook; but it was probably as stated. Samuel, Jun., and his wife Anne, removed with their family from Saybrook to Lebanon, where they remained until himself and his wife had become aged, and their children left them and settled in separate families, when the father and mother, by age, needed the fostering care of a dutiful and affectionate son to comfort them after they had arrived to the helpless state of threescore years and ten. They removed to Scotland society in the town of Windham, to the hospitable house of their son, Rev. James Cogswell, D. D., of that place, where they both died in the care of their son. The father d. (Samuel, Jun.) in 1752, and his wife about two years after.

COGSWELL, REV. JAMES, son of Samuel, Jun. and Anne, b. at Saybrook in 1720, removed with his parents to Lebanon, probably when quite young. He became a youth of great promise, and graduated at Yale College in 1742. After his graduation he immediately turned his attention to the study of divinity, and Dr. Trumbull says was ordained in the ministry at Canterbury, Dec. 28, 1744, where he continued their able and faithful pastor until 1771, when he was dismissed from the charge of that church, and the next year he was installed over the church in the parish of Scotland, in Windham. While in this place, he was honored by Yale College with the title of D. D., which few more justly merited. He continued his ministerial services at Scotland until Dec., 1804, when he by a life of industry and usefulness and being far advanced in life had become enfeebled and unable to pursue his pastoral charge. Thus aged and infirm, by an invitation from his affectionate son to reside with him, he removed into the kind family of his son, Dr. Mason F. Cogswell, at Hartford, where he was kindly cared for and tenderly nourished, as he had previously done by his own aged parents. He died at the house of his son, Dr. Cogswell, Jan. 2, 1807, nearly 87 years old. He was three times married; first, m. Alice Fitch, dau'r of Jabez, Esq., of Canterbury. She was the mother of all his children, and died April, 1772, aged 47 years. He m. second, Martha Devotion, the widow of Rev. Ebenezer Devotion, dec'd, of Scotland in Windham. He m. for his third wife Mrs. Hibbard, of said Scotland. His children were:

1. James, Jun., b. July, 1746; d. Nov. 20, 1792.
2. Alice, b. Dec., 1749; d. May 9, 1772.
3. Samuel, b. May 1754; d. Aug. 24, 1790.
4. Dr. Mason Fitch, b. Sept., 1761; d. at Hartford, Dec. 17, 1830.
5. Septimius, b. Aug., 1769; d. Oct., 1773.

Their mother, Alice, d. 1772, having lost no children by death at her decease, while Rev. James lived to inter his three wives and all his children, except Dr. M. F. Cogswell, of Hartford.

COGSWELL, DR. MASON F., son of Rev. James and Alice

Fitch, of Canterbury, graduated at Yale College in 1780, and soon after located himself as physician and surgeon in the city of Hartford, Conn., where his talents, education and skill in his profession, within a few years elevated him to the head of his profession, not only in the city, but in a large extent of country in Conn. He married Mary Ledyard, of Hartford, one of the noted Ledyard family of Conn. (The widow of Austen Ledyard m. Butler for second husband.) His children were :

1. Mary A. She m. Rev. Lewis Weld, son of Rev. Ludovicus Weld, dec'd, of Hampton, Conn., May, 1823, a finished scholar, who for many years has been the principal of the deaf and dumb institution at Hartford, where he died during the past year, soon after his return from a visit to Europe, hoping to improve his previous declining health. (See WELD.)

2. Elizabeth, m. Hon. John T. Norton, of Farmington, Conn.

3. Alice, a deaf mute and a most interesting, intelligent and lovely girl. She died single Dec., 1830, aged 25. (See Note.)

4. Dr. Mason Fitch, of Albany, graduated at Yale College in 1829, and settled in Albany as physician and surgeon, where he has proved himself a ripe scholar in the profession his father had so much honored. He m. Lydia, dau'r of Rev. John Bradford, D. D., who was an eloquent pulpit orator.

5. Catherine Ledyard, m. Rev. Cortlandt Van Rensselaer, D. D., of Burlington, N. J., son of the former patroon, of Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. Dixon, the wife of Hon. James Dixon, of Hartford, and dau'r of Rev. Dr. Cogswell, of N. Jersey, is a descendant of the Cogswell family of Mass.

Five persons by the name of Cogswell, had graduated at Harvard College before 1817, and eight at Yale before 1848.

COGSWELL, JOHN, freeman in Mass., March 3, 1635-6. Rev. Wm. Cogswell, D. D., dec'd, at Gilmanton, N. H., who died 1850, aged 62, son of Rev. Wm., of Aitkenson, N. H., was the author of many published discourses, and aided in several periodical publications, a member of many literary societies, and for a time connected with the publication of the N. E. His. Gen. Register, also with the American Quarterly Register, and proprietor and editor of the New Hampshire Repository ; was a descendant of John, of London, who afterward settled in Ipswich, Mass., about 1635. Wife Elizabeth d. June 2, 1676, and he d. Nov. 29, 1669. Had children, Wm., John, Edward, Mary, Hannah, Abigail and Sarah. (See His. Reg.) These are the first branches of John Cogswell, of Ipswich, Mass. The Cogswells were connected by marriage with the Uphams, Wentworths, Badgers, Otis's, and many others of the best families in New England.

William, son of John, Sen., of Ipswich, in 1648.

John Cogswell has the title of Mr. on the Ipswich record.

Mr. Wm. Cogswell is in the list of those who had a right of commonage in Ipswich, Feb., 1678, as was Mr. Jno. Cogswell.

JOHN, SEN., of Ipswich had no son Samuel in his list of children. Farmer notices John, of Ipswich; came to N. E. in 1635; admitted freeman, 1636; that he was wrecked on his passage at Pemaquid, and names his three sons, John, b. 1623, d. 1653, and left three children; William, of Ipswich, 1648, and Edward, b. about 1698.

Samuel, Sen., of Saybrook, was probably not a descendant of the Ipswich family.

COIT, JOHN, (and wife, Mary Jenners,) is found at Dorchester, Mass., in 1635, and a grantee of land there before 1636, where the name is spelled Goite and Goyt. He is also claimed to have been at Salem, and a grantee of land there in 1638. He was selectman in Gloucester in 1649. When he came to N. England is not known. He was probably from England, as the name of Coit is found there.

NOTE. Epitaph of Dr. Math'l Ledyard. In memory of Doct. Nathaniel Ledyard, who departed this life June ye 1st A. D. 1766, in the 26th year of his age.

Just when deliv'd from her boding fears,
My cheerful country wiped away her tears.
Materials wrought the public joys to aid,
With dire explosion snapp'd my vital thread,
And life's rich zest, the bliss of being free,
Pov'd the sad cause of bitter death to me.

(Blown up in the school house.) Father of the wife of Doct. M. F. Cogswell. (See p. 414, ante.)

NOTE. Dr. Mason Fitch Cogswell, who died at Hartford, was not only a skillful and learned physician, but one of the kindest and most affectionate of fathers, and his affections for his family were most kindly reciprocated by all his children. His daughter Alice, who possessed all the good qualities of her father, was unfortunately a deaf mute, yet as intellectual as any of his children, and most affectionately loved her father. It was her misfortune in being a mute, which was the great first cause of establishing the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, at Hartford. Dr. Cogswell's energies were all bent upon this subject, to relieve his distressed child from her situation as far as his exertions and means could be put for her. And by the aid of Mr. Gallaudet and some few others, an act of incorporation was obtained from the Legislature of Connecticut, and Mr. Gallaudet went to France to procure an experienced teacher, and soon after opened a school for deaf mutes at Hartford. The great success of the school is known through the country, and the immense pleasure it has afforded this unfortunate class of the community. Dr. Cogswell lived to see his exertions crowned with success, and his darling daughter attending the school, and fast learning to converse with her school mates and her own affectionate father and family. But in the midst of joys, he was taken sick with a severe cold, which closed his earthly career on the fifth day of his illness. This so affected his daughter Alice, for she loved her father most tenderly, that it entirely unnerved her, and the night after his decease, she was taken with spasms, and died thirteen days after the death of her father, lamented by the whole city, which was attributed entirely to her grief at the death of her father.

The original name was probably Coit, though the name on the record at Dorchester, and upon the probate record at Hartford, where his will was proved, is spelled Goite and Goyt, but not spelled by himself. He came to New London about the time Mr. Blynman came there, or soon after followed him to N. L. from Gloucester about 1651. Hisson, John, Jun., held land in N. London, and perhaps came there, but he finally settled at Gloucester, and had children there, viz.: John, Mary, Abigail, Nathaniel, and Job, of whom the three last married and had children. But the name of Coit was soon lost in Gloucester, nor is it known that there lives a descendant of John, Jun., by the name of Coit.

Coit, John, Sen., d. in N. London, Aug. 29, 1659. His widow, Mary, survived him until Jan. 2, 1676, when she died, aged 80.* His will, dated Aug. 1, 1659, is on file in Hartford. In the inventory of his estate, the name reads Coite, and so in the copy of the will found on the town records at New London. In this will mention is made of his two sons and two daughters, absent, besides his son Joseph and daughters Mary and Martha, then with him in New London.

MARTHA, m. Hugh Mould, from Barnstable, June 11, 1662.

MARY, m. John Stevens, (says Miss Caulkina.)

JOSEPH, m. Martha Harris, daughter of Wm., of Wethersfield,

* The Last will and Testaman of John Goit of Newlondonn August the first 1659—

Imp^r I give unto my wife and my son Joseph, the house and household stuf w^h the orchard and all lands about my house. As also all my great catle—as also half my meadows. And they shall enjoy itt together as long as my wife lives, except they both agree to the contrary. And also I give to y^m my ground on ye other side of y^e river, that is the lot of 22 acres, as also half my land in the neck.

I give unto my two daughters Mary and Martha my farm up Mohegin river, as also two-thirds of the sheepe, as also my other lot of thirty acres upon the other side of the river as also half my meadow, as also the other half of my land in y^e neck.

Also I give to my two sons and two daughters twenty shillings a piece I mean thos absent from me in case they bee living—to bee payd out of the whole. I give to my son Joseph one-third of my sheep. Also after all my debts bee pay'd, I give the remaynder to my wife, son and two daughters w^h me.

Also I leave my loving friends, Mr. Thomson and James Avery and Wm. Nickols to bee my Exequtors to look after y^e dispose of my children w^h my wife. And if any of the children dye before marriage their estate shall be divided by the other now at home.

The Mark / of John Goit.

* In the absence of all church records, it is difficult, at this late period, to gather the fruits of Rev. Mr. Coit's ministerial labors. His memory at Plainfield is cherished with respect and veneration by the older descendants of those to whom he ministered for nearly half a century. He held a good standing with the clergy of his day, and was often called to preside at their meetings, and was one of the excellent men of his generation, and a blessing to the people among whom he settled in the infancy of the town and the church, to the improvement and prosperity of which he seems to have contributed a large share.

cester and at Norwich, after Rev. James Fitch (the father of the Fitches of Conn.) had become disabled, and they gave him a call to settle, which he declined, for the reason that he disagreed with the church at Norwich, June 12, 1699, Plainfield voted to give him a call, for one quarter of a year. The town being in want of means, continued to engage him in short periods from three to six months and a year, until January 7, 1705, (O. S.) when he was ordained over the church and society at Plainfield, (Dr. Trumbull says in Jan., 1703, which is an error,) and continued their pastor about forty-four years, and was dismissed at the time of settling a successor, and died July 1, 1750, aged 77 years. He m. Experience Wheeler, daughter of Isaac, of Stonington, Sept. 18, 1705. She d. Jan. 8, 1759, and had ten children, viz.:

* NOTE. Several of this family were conspicuous whigs during the War of the Revolution. One of the Capt. Coits distinguished himself at the battle of Bunker Hill, with Knowlton and many others from Connecticut. Capt. William Coit was appointed captain of the ship of war Oliver Cromwell, which was built at Saybrook by Connecticut in 1776. He was appointed captain of said ship of war then building, July 11, 1776, and on July 31, the governor and council appointed Azariah Whittlesey, master of the colony ship under Capt. Coit, and allowed £250 to enlist his men; and Capt. Coit continued her captain until April 11, 1777, when Seth Harding, Esq., was appointed captain of the Oliver Cromwell, and Capt. Coit considered discharged, after the 14th of April, 1777. This ship did good service during that war. (See The doings of the Governor and Council of Connecticut in 1776, '77, and pp. 578, '79, '80, '81, Appendix Hinman's Hist. of Revolution.)

Col. Samuel Coit held an exalted rank in Connecticut for many years before, during and after the war, as a man of excellent judgment, on the bench of the court, in society, or in the battle-field. He had become somewhat aged when the war commenced, but in 1776 was colonel of a regiment of the militia of Connecticut, and the committee of war, Sept. 6, 1716, directed that the vacancy made in Col. Wolcott's regiment should be supplied by men from Col. Coit's and Saltonstall's regiments of militia. Col. Samuel Coit, by his age and infirmity, (not his good will for the cause,) was excused from service in the expedition to New York, by the governor and council of Connecticut, Sept. 18, 1776.

An interesting coincidence is related by Judge N. Shipman, late of Norwich, viz.: "Samuel Coit, of Preston, was Lieut. Col. and Judge of the County Court, at the same time Hezekiah Huntington, of Norwich, was Lieut. Col. and Judge of the County. Each was the father of nine children, who arrived at the age of maturity. In 1835, all that remained of the blood of Col. Huntington was contained in the veins of the five children of Hon. Frederick Wolcott, of Litchfield, while the descendants of Col. Coit numbered over five hundred."

ward supposed to have m. Margaret ——. The history of this household needs further investigation. Elizabeth, second wife of Solomon, d. March 25, 1715.

Dr. Isaac, of Southwick, d. 1813.

This informal, extended list of the family of Coits, containing many facts, is far from a full list of that worthy family. For many of the facts, (not the form,) I am indebted to Rev. Mr. Learned, of Canterbury, (a descendant of the family,) and others; though I should not have published it in its present informal shape, except by the earnest solicitation of one of the family.

COKE, PENFIELD was refused a settlement in Hartford in 1664

first land division there in 1639, and drew ten acres. He was located on the eighth tier of lots, west of Trumbull Street, in Hartford, numbered 35 to 43, from Burr Street to the river. (Porter.) He had a lot of land in Wethersfield, in 1645. He was a weaver by trade, and not a man of much wealth or particular notice in the colony. Hem. in London, before he came to this country, Ann Edwards, said to have been the widow of Rev. Richard Edwards, of London, who died there. She had one child by Mr. Edwards, a son, about twelve years old, by the name of William Edwards who came with her and his father-in-law, to Hartford. This boy became the ancestor of Rev. Timothy Edwards, J. Edwards, D. D., Jonathan, President of a college in N. Jersey, and Jonathan, President of the college at Schenectady; of Gov. Edwards, of Hon. Daniel Edwards, of Hon. Pierpont, of Judge Edwards, of N. York, Rev. Timothy Dwight, D. D., late president of Yale College, of Hon. Theodore, and many others of the great men of this country, probably more than have descended from any other English ancestor who settled in Connecticut. (See EDWARDS.) Ann, the wife of James Cole, d. Feb. 20, 1678-9, and by her will, gave her house and lot to her son, Wm. Edwards, during his and his wife's lives; at their decease, to vest in her grandson, Richard, son of Wm., and his heirs forever; Richard, administrator. Estate, £103. James and Ann Cole had a son John, and other children by her second husband. There was also a John Cole, an early settler at Hartford. The relation between James and John is not found, if any existed. James d. 1652.

COLE, JOHN, early removed to Farmington, and belonged to the first church organized there as early as 1651 or '52. He had two sons, Samuel and John. Soon after the settlement of the town of Hadley, in 1659, John Cole, Sen., removed there with his son John, while Samuel, his other son, was located in Farmington, and remained there. John, Jun., of Hadley, had sons Jonathan, and Samuel, and their descendants are now numerous in and about Hadley, particularly Jonathan's. Samuel, son of John, Sen., of Farmington, wife Abigail, had sons Samuel, Jun., Timothy, John, Nath^l, Isaac, Joseph and Caleb. Samuel's descendants settled in Southington, New Britain, Meriden, &c. Timothy Cowles m. into the family of Hon. Wm. Pitkin, of East Hartford, where Timothy settled and became a deacon in the church there. John left no posterity. Porter says, the sons of Nathaniel settled in Canaan, except the oldest Nathaniel, who lived with his uncle John, and d. young, soon after he married, but left a son Nathaniel, whose family settled in Bethlem, Ct.

Isaac became the ancestor of most of the wealthy Cowles's, of Farmington. Joseph, another brother, settled at Meriden, where he m. Miss Royce, and became a deacon of the church there. This has proved a good branch of the descendants of John, Sen.; and Caleb, the other brother, who located his family at Kensington, was the most unfortunate branch of these seven sons. The descendants of Samuel, Sen. of Farmington, uniformly spell the name Cowles, while the descendants of John, Jun., spell it Cows, and the ancestor, John, spelt his name Cole. Joshua, of Colchester, 1731.

COLE, CALEB, of Norwalk, settled in Sharon, 1748; his sons were Matthew, Zebulon and David. He d. 1780. (Sedg.)

COLE, SUSAN, of Hartford, for her rebellious carriage to her mistress, was sent to the house of correction, kept to hard labor and coarse diet, brought forth the next lecture day and publicly corrected, and so weekly corrected, until an order should be given to the contrary, March 5, 1644. (Col. Rec.) She was often adjudged to be whipped afterward. Mathew Williams' debt for wages in the hands of Belding, ordered detained by him, until an order was had as to Susan Cole's child layed to his charge, 1645.

COLES, HENRY, and wife Sarah, of Middletown, (record by his wife,) had issue, Henry, b. Sept. 20, 1647; James, b. Feb. 8, 1649; John, b. Feb. 14, 1652; Wm., b. April 25, 1653; Sarah, b. COLE, ICHABOD and SARAH, of Middletown, had issue born there: Stephen, b. July 17, 1708, d.; Rachel, b. Jan. 23, 1709–10. Ichabod, the father, d. April 4, 1711. (Stearns)

COLLS, TOBIAS, of Saybrook, notices in his will, John Comstock, H. Champion, W. Waller, R. Marvin, Rich'd Smith, W. Brockway, J. Borden, P. Lay, John Prentice, Mr. Lay and his children. He gave his property to the Lay family, principally, though he left one child. John Lay, executor. Will dated Sept. 2, 1664. Inventory presented Oct. 15, 1664.

COLE, JAMES, settled at Harwinton as early as 1740. Cole, Robert, Adam Goodwin, Wm. Carpenter, John Green, John Field, John Clark, John Coggsball, Wm. Dyer, and Richards, are some of the early settlers of Rhode Island.

COAL, JOHN, plow-maker, New London, in 1651. Mary Gallop, dau'r of John, of New London, m. John Cole, of Boston.

COLE, HENRY, fined 10s. 8d. for sleeping when on watch, 1649. He m. Sarah Rusco, Dec. 10, 1646. He was proposed for a freeman in 1667.

COLE, SAMUEL, m. Lidiah —, Sept. 25, 1679. Issue b in Wethersfield, Joseph, b. Sept. 12, 1681; Lidiah, b. Jan. 18, 1684. His son Joseph m. Abigail Riley, dau'r of Jonathan, Jan. 13, 1709, and had a son John b. at Wethersfield, June 14, 1710.

COLE, JOHN. Deputy in H., 1653 and '54. In 1676, the town of Hartford voted him an enlargement of his lot for his son to build upon, so much as Maj. Talcott, Mr. Richards, Mr. Nichols and Thomas Bunce should see reason to lay out for him. John m. Eliz'h Goodwin, Sept., 1713.

One by this name graduated at Yale College, 1849.

COLEMAN, THOMAS, was an early settler at Wethersfield, Conn.; appointed by the particular court, with Francis Norton, to appraise damage done in a field of corn, 1639; juror, Oct., 1644; defendant in court, 1643. In 1645, he with Nath^l Dickinson, were appointed by the P. court to take the particulars of the estate of Mr. Parksman, then deceased, and return the same to the court. Defendant in court May 19, 1647. In 1654, was appointed by the Gen. Court, with Edward Stebbing, to draw rules for sealing leather, and deputy the same session. At the Gen. Court, March, 1657-8, he was freed from watching, warding and training, if he proved he was over sixty years of age. He was juror Dec., 1641; Sept., 1645; Oct. 1645; Dec., 1647; four sessions in 1648; representative to the Gen. Court four sessions in 1650; in May, 1651; May, 1652; also in June, Sept., Oct. and Feb., 1652; April, August and Sept., 1653, and repeatedly afterward. Few if any gentleman in the colony was as frequently a member of the Gen. Court as Mr. Coleman; few sustained a higher reputation in the colony. Oct. 3, 1654, he and Mr. Hollister and Nath^l Dickinson, of Wethersfield, were appointed to join with the Dep. Gov., to see to the pressing of men and procuring necessaries in Wethersfield, to attend the expedition to Narragansett in the Ninigret war. Thomas Coleman, of Marlborough, England, farmer, embarked at Hampton, in the James, of London, for N. E., about April, 1635. He took charge of Ab'm Easton's estate until the court settled the administration, March, 1647. He was much given to litigation, as many of the early settlers were. He was appraiser of John Cattell's estate, dec'd, of Wethersfield, July 17, 1644.

Notwithstanding the popularity of Mr. Coleman, at Wethersfield, he was one of the signers at Goodman Ward's house in Hartford, April 18, 1659, to remove, with their families, out of the jurisdiction of Conn. into Mass., (see p. 97, ante,) for the purpose of settling the town of Hadley, and he with many others did remove and settled the town in 1659 and '60, headed by Gov. Webster, who being in poor health, stopped at Northampton for a time.

Mr. Coleman was probably married and his children born before he came to Wethersfield, if he was over 60 years old in 1657-8. Tho's Coleman died at Hadley, in 1674. The births of his children are not found upon the record at Weth'fd. Noah and John are supposed to have been his sons. John, defendant in court at Hartford, 1648; free, 1658. Beckwith, Tho's Hungerford, £1, 2s., James Tonge and Wm. Morton. Inventory, £57, 0s. 8d. Appears left no family; lived alone. He applied to remain in N. L. in 1654. He appears not to have been a member of either of the other Collins families in Conn. in 1655. He was the first of the name in N. L. (See Cauk., p. 271.)

COLLINS, EDWARD, 1640, of Cambridge, Mass., a deacon, representative sixteen years from 1654 to '70, excepting 1661. Mather says he lived to see "several most worthy sons become very famous persons in their generation." His children:

1. Daniel, lived in Königsberg, in Prussia, in 1658.
2. John, graduated at H. College, 1649.
3. Samuel, went to Scotland; lived there with his wife and son Edward, in 1658.
4. Martha.

5. Nathaniel, graduated at H. Coll., 1660; settled at Middletown, Ct. Also, Abigail, Sybil and Edward. (See Far. and Mather's Magnalia.)

COLLINS, REV. NATHANIEL, of Middletown, was a son of Deacon Edward Collins, of Cambridge, Mass.; was born there in 1642, graduated at Cambridge College in 1660, and was ordained over the church at Middletown, Conn., Nov. 4, 1668, over a church often male members. He m. Marie or Mary Whiting, dau'r of Mr. Wm. Whiting, Aug. 3, 1664. He continued until 1684. They had children, viz.

Mary, the mother, d. March 5, 1714. (Middletown Record, by Stearns.)

This Samuel Collins was perhaps a brother of Rev. Nathaniel, of Middletown, son of Edward of Cambridge. and was the son of Edward; the same Samuel who went to Scotland in 1658, and was at Saybrook Oct. 14, 1664, named by Farmer. Mr. Samuel Collins, deputy to the Gen. Court from Middletown, Oct. 1672. Mr. Samuel Collins was an importer of goods. The Gen. Court of Conn., May, 1665, remitted the customs of Mr. Samuel Collins, on his goods, which he had then landed in the colony, on account of his late loss. He was offered for a freeman of Middletown in May, 1667.

Oct. 14, 1664, Samuel Collins, now residing at Seabrooke, in the corporation of Connecticut, mortgageth his grey horse, now in Middletown meadows, to his brother, Nathaniel Collins of Middletown. This is strong evidence that Samuel, of Saybrook, was the son of Deacon

Edward, of Chelmsford, 1675, ancestor of the Dracut Colburns, or Coburns. (Hubbard's In. War.) Robert, of Ipswich, 1648, had a son Robert. Samuel, of Salem, 1637. (See Farmer.)

COLLSON, or COLTSON, or COLAND, from Great Britain,

Edward, of Cambridge, in 1640, the same Samuel Collins, who was with his wife and son Edward in Scotland, in 1668, and the same Samuel Collins who was an importer at Saybrook, and afterward lived and died in Middletown, and a brother of Rev. Nath'l, the first minister of Middletown, Ct. Mary, widow of Samuel Collins, d. at Middletown, March 5, 1713-14.

As I have not traced the descendants of Robert Collins, I only mention ROBERT COLLINS m. Eunice Foster, of Middletown, June 3, 1707, and had Mary, b. April 26, 1703; Robert, Feb. 17, 1709-10; Edward, b. Aug. 7, 1711, &c. Edward m. Susanna Peck, Aug. 29, 1738, and had Mole, b. Aug. 23, 1739.

ROBERT COLLINS, b. 1709-10, m. Abigail Ebenetha, May 4, 1736, by Mr. Hall, and had a son Samuel, b. April 20, 1737; John, b. Jan. 12, 1740, &c. Lament, daughter of Robert, Sen., d. May 13, 1732.

Alexander Kelth, of Middletown, son of Wm. Kief, m. a dau'r of John Collins and Mary Dixwell, his wife.—(no date.)

COLLINS, DANIEL, (not known where from,) settled, one of the first, in the south part of the town of Enfield, and d. in May, 1690, aged 42 years. Left a son Nathan, b. May 31, 1683, who went to Brimfield, Mass., to settle; Also, Sarah, b. July 31, 1686; also, Josiah and Thomas, twin sons of Daniel, d. in Sept., 1690, aged about three months.

COLLINS, DANIEL, m. Ruth Wilkinson, of Milford, Dec. 7, 1699, and had a son Daniel, Jun., b. Dec. 9, 1700; Edward, b. Sept. 17, 1702, d. Feb., 1702-3. Daniel Collins m. Abigail Thompson, at N. Haven, Sept. 8, 1698. Wm. Collins m. Sarah Morrell, at N. Haven, Jan. 1, 1667.

In 1659, John Coltman was a signer "at the meeting at Goodman Ward's house in Hartford, April 18, 1659," of the contract to remove to Mass.; yet he did not remove as he had agreed, but remained in Wethersfield.

COLT, JOHN, a peer of England, father of Sir John Colt. "the great," who was dispossessed of his estates for opposing popery. He fought in defense of his country until he had three horses killed under him, and broke his sword in the action; replacing it, he gained the victory, at the head of his troops; and from this was granted the coat of arms. He was the father of Peter Colt, a peer in England, who was father of John, who was father of John, the father of John, who was father of John, who was born in Colchester, in England, and left there during the troubles of King Charles I., and came to Dorchester near Boston, it is said, when about eleven years old, but left there, and removed to Hartford, Conn., about 1638. He m., perhaps, a dau'r of Joseph Fitch, then of Hartford, and this is conjecture only from the fact of their friendship, and that Mr. Fitch gave him land in 1679, "for love and good will." Mr. Fitch also removed from Hartford to Podunk, where he held a respectable rank and was a large landholder. The settlers of this part of Windsor, for some reason, do not appear much in probate records, or records of births and deaths or on grave-stones, which renders it very difficult to find their children, and if found to know their fathers. John, Sen., was at Hartford, and had a dau'r Sarah bap. in Hartford, Feb. 7, 1646-7; also a son John. Joseph, of Windsor, Abraham, and Jonathan, were probably the children of John, Sen. The time he located at Podunk is uncertain. He was there in 1665, when he subscribed six shillings to raise the salary of the minister. In 1672, he was called out with others to cut brush. In 1672, he was taxed there for £67, including his poll at £18, and was there some years after. In 1691, in the valuation of property, John Colt had two persons under age, and Joseph and Abraham, his sons, (of age.) In 1713, these were signers to an East Windsor petition, viz., John, Joseph, Jabez and Benjamin Colt; this makes John Colt and four persons, including Abraham Colt, who removed to Glastenbury. From the age of John, Sen., at this time, (he was probably deceased in 1713,) and this was John, Jun., his son, who removed to Lyme with his family. In a list of the taxable inhabitants of Windsor, in 1726, only two Colts, Jabez and Ruth, appear on that list. Abraham had removed at this time to Glastenbury. Jonathan d. in 1711. John and his family had removed to Lyme. Jabez Colt had a son John b. at Windsor, Oct. 29, 1703 (whose son Jabez was, is not found;) it was probably his son John, who settled in Harwinton in 1740.

COLT, JOHN, JUN., (so called,) owned a house and lot of six acres at Podunk, he purchased of Samuel Olmsted, and other lands recorded as early as 1691, and Joseph Colt purchased the house and six acres of John, Jun., at Podunk.

At a meeting of the council at Hartford, Sept. 1, 1675, John Colt declared before them that "he was shot at yesterday by an Indian," and that another party of Indians were discovered near the north meadow in Hartford the last night. The council ordered the return of Major Treat and his troops forthwith to Hartford. This John Colt was in the list of freemen at Windsor, May 13, 1669.

COLT, ABRAHAM, removed from Podunk to Glastenbury, in 1691. He married Hannah Loomis, of Windsor, July 1, 1690. He had 98 acres of the 6,000 acre tract at Glastenbury, for £49, in 1716, and 6 acres more Dec. 19, 1723, (says Dr. Chapin.) Abraham d. at Glastenbury as early as 1730, as Abraham, Jun., a minor son of Abraham, dec'd, chose David Hills, of Hartford, for his guardian, in 1730. (Perhaps it was Abraham, Jun. that d.) See below.

Abraham, Sen's, children were :

1. Abraham, Jun., b. May 21, 1692, at Glastenbury.
2. Mary, b. Jan. 17, 1696.
3. Isaac, b. Sept. 15, 1702; d. Jan. 17, 1703.

COLT, AB'M, JUN., (son of Ab'm and Hannah,) b. 1692, m. Susanna Risley? Dec. 10, 1713, and had a son Ab'm, b. Sept. 30, 1714. It was this son Ab'm, who chose his guardian in 1730, and not the son of Ab'm, Sen., who was of age.

COLT, JOSEPH, of Windsor, m. Ruth Loomis, Oct. 29, 1691.

COLT, JONATHAN, of Windsor, cordwainer, dec'd, and administration granted to Mathew Grant, for which he gave bonds as adm'r, April 2, 1711. Joseph, "his brother," and other brothers, refused to administer on his estate.

COLT, JOHN, who removed from Windsor to Lyme, had several sons and dau's. None of his sons lived to have families except Samuel and Benjamin. One dau'r m. Stirling, of Niantic, in Lyme, and had an only dau'r, who m. Capt. Ezra Ely, and left issue. Another dau'r m. Travers Ayres, of Saybrook, and had several children. The third dau'r m. Mr. Comstock, of Hadlyme, and had a large family of children.

He m. for his second wife, Mary Matson, and had a son. His eldest son d. single. Amherst, his second son, settled as a physician in New Hampshire. His youngest sons settled in Lyme, and with Sam'l Colt possessed the old family estate. John's second wife Mary d. 1767, aged 25.

2. COLT, JOSEPH, b. Feb. 27, 1727, son of Benj'n, m. Desire Pratt, b. 1729; in March 11, 1756, they had children, (five sons and three dau's,) viz :

1. Isaac or Isaiah, b. Sept. 5, 1757; d. when in college.
2. Deborah, b. Oct. 27, 1759; m. Samuel Selden, son of Col. Samuel Selden.
3. Judah, b. July 1, 1761; m.
4. Desire, b. April 11, 1763; m. Richard Ely Selden, Oct. 2, 1783, son of Col. Samuel.
5. Asenath, b. Oct. 19, 1764.
6. Joseph Jun., b. April 17, 1766; m.
7. Samuel, b. June 27, 1771; m.
8. Jabez, b. Jan. 19, 1778-9; did not marry.

After the death of Joseph, the father, his sons Judah, Sam'l, Joseph and Jabez, sold their patrimonial estate, and settled in Geneseo, N. Y.

3. COLT, MARY, dau'r of Benj'n, m. Tho's Giddings, of Lyme, and removed to Hartland, when it was a wilderness, and had a large family of sons and dau's, and acquired a good property by farming. His wife was living in 1799. Some of the sons settled in Hartland, one in Vermont, and two of the dau's in N. H. One dau'r m. Amherst Colt, her cousin, and one m. Dr. Judd.

4. COLT, SARAH, dau'r of Benj'n, m. Joseph Harvey, of Lyme, and had sons and dau's. She d. before 1799. Her children settled in Lyme.

5. TEMPERANCE, dau'r of Benj'n Colt, m. Capt. Abner Lord, a maternal relative and brother to the first wife of her brother, John Colt, and had two sons and one dau'r, viz., Thomas, Abner, and Mary. Thomas was a minister, and went to Marietta, Ohio. He m. a dau'r of Capt. Oliver, who moved there from Mass. Abner m. a dau'r of Col. Samuel Selden, of Lyme. After his father d. he removed to Ohio, near his brother. Mary, the dau'r, m. Rev. Mr. Ely, of Danbury, where her mother d. previous to 1799.

John and Joseph Colt were farmers. Harris, Benjamin, James and Jabez Colt were axe and scythe makers in connection with husbandry.

COLT, Hon. PETER, the youngest son of one of the Benjamin's, graduated at Yale College in 1764. When the war of the Revolution broke out, he engaged in the civil department of the army as deputy quarter-master-general for the eastern department; then as assistant commissary-general with the rank of colonel, and was attached to the French army. His nephew, Hon. Elisha Colt, (who was afterward comptroller of the state,) served with him as assistant, while he was attached to the French army in Rhode Island. During the war, Hon. Peter and Elisha Colt were important and efficient pillars in the great strife for liberty in this country. Peter was several years treasurer of the state. He afterward, in 1793, removed to Paterson, N. Jersey, and from thence to Rome, N. Y., where he died. While he lived in N. Haven, he m. a dau'r of Daniel Lyman, by whom he had children, viz.: Roswell L., Sally, Catherine, John, Mary and Richard. Roswell L. and John settled at Paterson, N. J.

Most of the facts regarding the Colts, of Lyme, are collected from an aged man of that branch. The following are the descendants of the branch of Jabez, by his son John, born at Windsor, in 1703, and settled in Harwinton in 1740.

3. Anna, d. young; bap. Dec. 28, 1755.
4. Ruth, bap. Nov. 2, 1760; m. Amos Sedgwick, of W. H.; removed to Ashford, and had a son and two dau'rs. He d. at Ashford. Widow m. Daniel Hosper, and had dau'r Mariah.
5. Benjamin, d. young.

COLTON, JOSEPH, son of Benj'n and Esther, had children,

Joseph, d. at Hartford, 1837, Anna, Ruth, Esther, Benj'n, d. young, Laura, Alma, Sarah, d. in youth, Whiting, d. in Indiana in 1842, and second Benjamin Colton, son of Joseph, above, m. Sabrina Howe, and had issue :

1. Mary, m. Edward Brace, and had a son, John G. Brace.
2. Melancton H.
3. Charles A., m. Mary Grant, of Ashford ; no issue : m. 2. Ruth Winship, and had Clarence, Henry and a son.
4. Nehemiah H.
5. Joseph F. d. in youth.

COLTON, LAURA, dau'r of Joseph, m. Samuel Steel, of W. H., and removed to Woodbury. Had Laura, Sophia, Mary, Mariah, died young.

ALMA, a dau'r of Joseph, m. John De Forest, of Woodbury, and had a dau'r Abigail. ESTHER, dau'r of Joseph, m. John Perkins, of Ashford, and had Lucy Ann, d., and Laura.

COLTON, BENJ'N, son of Joseph, m. Jerusha Porter, of Hadley, Mass. Issue ; Julia, Harriet, Augustin and Frederick P. His wife d. in Hartford, soon after 1825. He d. in Woodbury, 1850.

COLTON, RUTH, dau'r of Benj'n, Jun., and granddaughter of Rev. Benj'n, of W. H., m. Timothy Skinner, and had issue : Ruth, Ann, Timothy, d. young, Abigail, d., second Abigail, d., and James. Dau'r Ruth m. first, Rev. Nath'l Hooker, of W. H., and had Ruth and Eunice. Ruth m. Col. Nathan Haynes Whiting, and had a son Nath'l H. Whiting, of W. Hartford. Her second husband was Fisher Gay, of Farmington. Her third husband, Thomas Goodman, of W. Hartford. This branch of the Coltons are connected by marriage to Hon. Noah Webster, Goodriches and Ellsworths. These facts are gathered from all sources, and with few dates, and probably some errors.

This family have produced many clergymen, some deacons and some poets.

Twenty-one had graduated at Yale College before 1851. One at Brown University in 1834.

COMSTOCK, COMBSTOKE, KOMSTOCK, WILLIAM and SAMUEL, were both early at Hartford. Wm. was in court at Hartford in August, 1644, and again in 1649. Samuel was in court at Hartford, and gave a bond in March, 1648, and in April, 1649, was freed from his recognizance. Soon after this, both William and Samuel disappeared. Samuel probably went to Rhode Island. There was a Welchman by this name who early settled in R. Island, and as Samuel, of Hartford, is not found in Conn. afterward, it is probable being a brother of William, and the latter going to New London to settle, that Samuel went with him and settled in R. I., near by his brother Wm. at N. L.

Comstock, Samuel, at an early period, had the following children b. in R. I., viz., Samuel, Jun., Hazadiah, Thomas, Daniel, Elizabeth, John, Ichabod and Job.

COMSTOCK, HAZADIAH, Samuel's second son, had fifteen children, ten by his first and five by his second wife, viz.: Susannah, Wm., Gideon, Rachel, Catherine, Hazadiah, Jun., Penelope. Anthony, Andrew, John, Amy, Ezekiel, Phebe, Rufus and Martha.

COMSTOCK, GIDEON, second son of Hazadiah, Sen., was the father of Col. Adam Comstock, who was the grandfather of Andrew Komstok, of Philadelphia, Penn. Col. Adam had seventeen children, viz.: Ruth, Wm. Susannah, Gideon, John and Mary, twins, also twins not named, Freeloove, Samuel, Amy, Catherine, Sally, Oliver Cromwell, Alpha, James McGregore, and Alexander McGregore Comstock.

COMSTOCK, COL. ADAM, removed with his family, about 1780, to Saratoga county, N. Y., where he d., in 1819, an aged man. Gideon, his fourth son, was the father of Andrew Komstock, of Philadelphia. Gideon also had a dau'r Mary. Rev. Oliver C. Comstock was son of Col. Adam; he was chaplain for Congress in 1837. He was a physician and Baptist minister. He was member of Congress from Tompkins county, N. Y., six years, and baptized and ordained at Washington, at the close of his congressional life. He had held other places of high trust before he went to Congress.

Thus much for Samuel, of Hartford and Rhode Island.

COMSTOCK, CHRISTOPHER, of Fairfield and Norwalk, his descendants say, came from England about 1652, and settled at Fairfield about 1654, where he remained until 1661 or '62. Jan. 27, 1661, he was of Fairfield. when he purchased the house and home-lot of Tho's Betts, of Norwalk, which had previously been owned by Nath'l Eli. He probably moved on to his new purchased property soon after, at Norwalk, where he was a reputable man and useful settler. No evidence is found which shows that he was a relative either of John, of Lyme, Wm., of N. London, or Samuel, of Rhode Island. He m. Hannah, dau'r of Richard Platt, of Milford, Oct. 6, 1663. After he located at Norwalk, about 1671, he was appointed at Norwalk to keep an ordinary, (hotel,) to entertain strangers. Jan. 16, 1694, he was one of a committee of ten of the inhabitants of Norwalk, and commissioned for the town "to look out for and obtain a faithful minister for the town," &c. In 1687, his estate of commonage in Norwalk, accepted by the town, was £201, 10s. He is sometimes called Serg't Comstock. He had children, viz :

1. Daniel Comstocke, b. July 21, 1664; m. Eliz'th, dau'r of John Wheeler, of Fairfield, Jan. 13, 1692.
2. Hannah, b. July 15, 1666.
3. Abigail, b. Jan. 27, 1669; d. Feb. 9, 1689.
4. Mary, b. Feb. 19, 1671.
5. Eliz'th, b. Oct. 7, 1674.
6. Mercie, b. Nov. 12, 1676.
7. Samuel, b. Feb. 6, 1679.
8. Moses, b. 1685; d. 1766, aged 81.

Christopher d. Dec. 28, 1702.

COMSTOCK, DANIEL, son of Christopher, m. Eliz'th, dau'r of John Wheeler, "of Ffairfield," Black Rock, June 13, 1692. No issue found.

COMSTOCK, SAMUEL, son of Christopher, b. 1679-80, m. Sarah, dau'r of Rev. Tho's Hanford, of Norwalk, Dec. 27, 1705, and had children :

1. Sarah, b. March 25, 1707.
2. Samuel, b. Nov. 12, 1708.
3. Mary, b. Aug. 5, 1710; perhaps others.

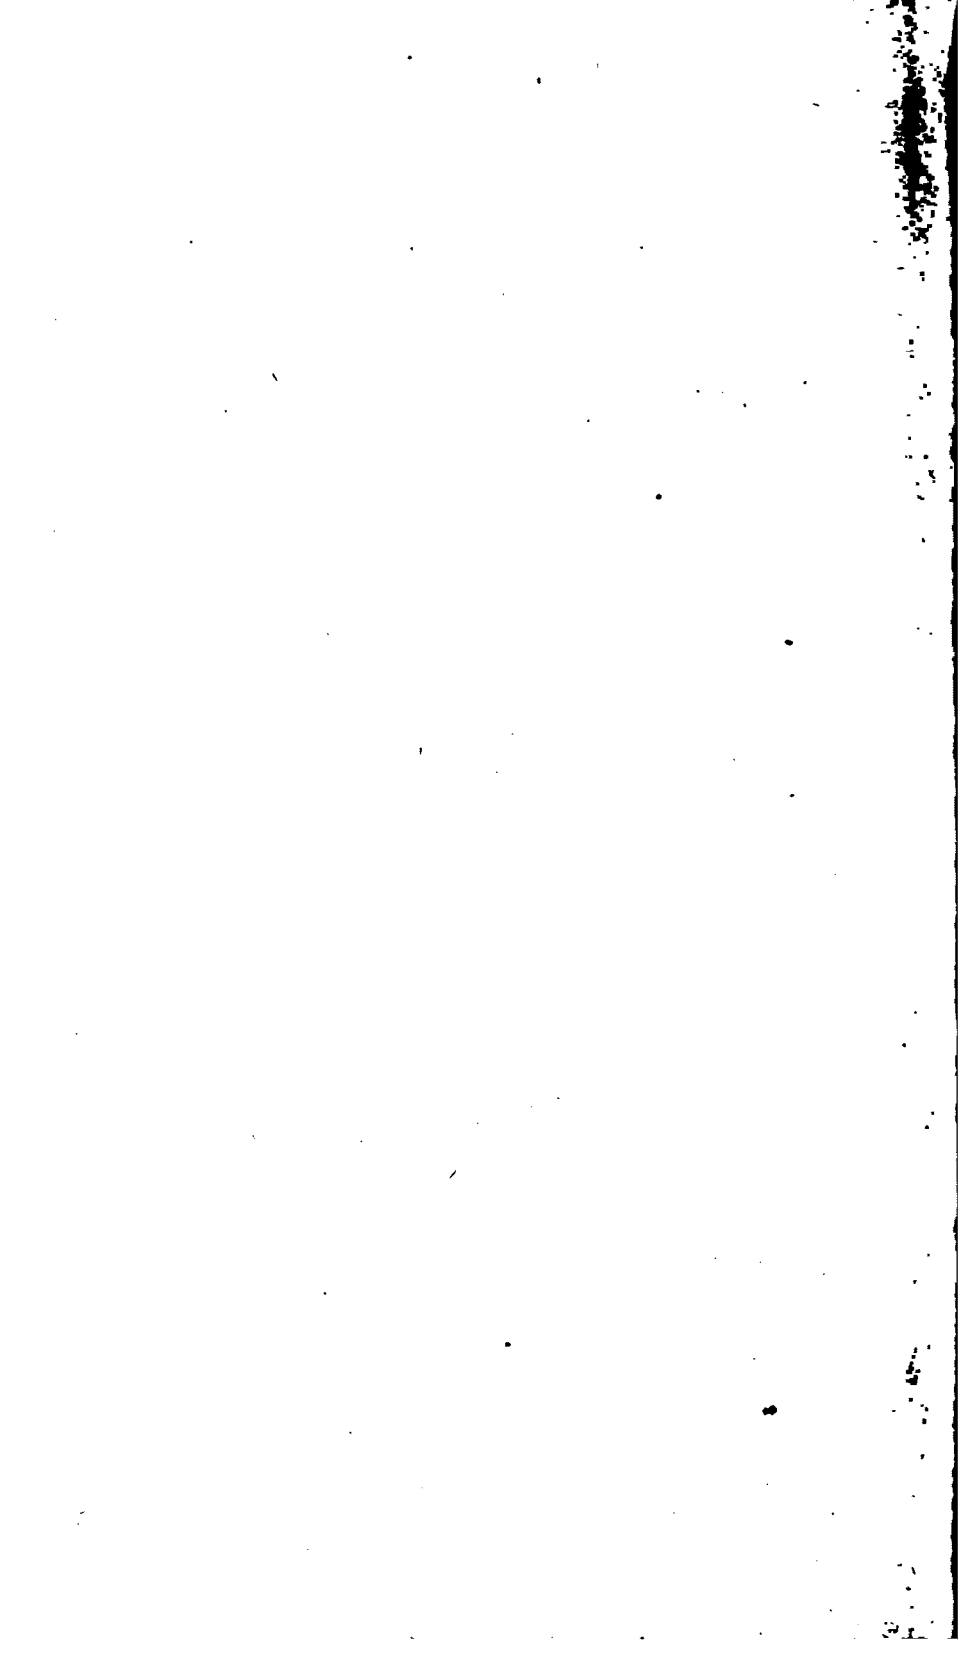

In 1718, Ensign Samuel Comstock was a committee, with five others, to lay before the committee "the surcomstances of ye town in their present differences," as to repairing and making an addition to the meeting house in Norwalk. Daniel Comstock, with £60, is found in the list of estates of commonage at Norwalk in 1687.

COMSTOCK, MOSES, son of Christopher, m. Abigail Brinsmaid, dau'r of Mr. Daniel, dec'd, of Hartford, Feb. 23, 1709-10. He died Jan. 18, 1766, aged 81. His wife Abigail died Nov. 16, same year, aged 74. Moses had children : Moses, Jun., Abigail, Hannah, Sarah and Phebe : (perhaps David and others.)

COMSTOCK, DAVID, m. Sarah Leeds, 1774, and had children, Elisha, Abijah, Sarah, David, Jun., and Eliz'th. His wife Sarah d. May 8, 1790, and he m. Deborah Weed, Feb. 5, 1795, and had children : John, Samuel and Mary.

COMSTOCK, CALEB, m. Lucy Mead, Nov. 10, 1786, and had issue : Moses, Matthew, Molly, Caleb, Joshua, Abigail, Betty, Xenophon, Anna and Elie, b. in 1805.

COMSTOCK, Strong, who m. Abigail Westcoat, July 20, 1773, had two wives. By Abigail he had Jabez, Catherine, Philip and Samuel. His wife Abigail d. Nov. 28, 1782, and he m. second, Betty Betts, Nov. 2, 1783, and had children : Catherine, Edward, Wm., Susanna, Mary, Nathan and Julia, b. 1797.

COMSTOCK, NATHAN, (father of Strong dec'd, of Wilton, Conn.,) m. and had children, (no dates) viz.: Eunice m. General Hicock, and had children. Strong, (see the preceding page,) lived and d. in Norwalk. Samuel, (Major,) m. Mercy Mead, lived and d. in Wilton. His son Samuel now lives in the same domicile his father occupied. Major Samuel was an officer in the war of the Revolution. Mary, m. Mr. Sturges, who lived in Fairfield County, Conn., and in the city of New York, where she d. Sarah, m. Mr. Hanford, of Norwalk, who was a descendant of the first minister of Norwalk.

COMSTOCK, JABEZ, son of Strong and Abigail Westcoat, (his first wife,) m. Amelia Willett, dau'r of Rev. George Oglevie, of Rye, N. Y., and had several prominent sons and daughters. Some of the sons are merchants in New York. Jabez, in early life, settled in the city of New York, where he died, and where his widow and most of his family yet reside.

COMSTOCK, ABIJAH, son of David, m. Deborah Benedict, of Norwalk, May 20, 1745, and had children: Thomas, David, Enoch, b. 1750, Deborah, Ruth and Samuel, all born before 1767: the father d. in 1807, aged 86 years. ENOCH, b. July 24, 1750, son of Abijah, m. Ann Weed, of Stamford, Dec. 3, 1772, and had children: Abraham, d., RUTH, d., Nancy, Alice, Cephas, LINUS, d., Watts and John. * WATTS, son of Enoch, m. Nancy Hoyt, of New Canaan, October 20, 1819, and had seven sons and two daughters, two sons farmers in California, a son and dau'r in the State of New York. Watts if living is about 64 years old.

COMSTOCK, THOMAS, son of Abijah, of Norwalk, m. first Rebeckah Rockwell, Feb. 22, 1771, and had children: Abijah and Stephen. His wife d. July 3, 1774, and he m. Phebe Sellick, Feb. 1, 1776, and had issue, Nathan, 2d Abijah, Catharine, Phebe, Hannah and Deborah C., 1799.

COMSTOCK, AARON, m. Anne Hanford, 1774: children, Thaddeus, Aaron, Jr., 2d Thaddeus, Lucretia, Hannah, Daniel, Anne, b. Feb. 12, 17—, (probably 1791.) These are the Comstocks of Norwalk in detached families, as far as recorded, descendants of Chris-

* In a letter written by Watts Comstock, of New Canaan, in 1851, to Peter Comstock, of New London County, as to the descendants of Christopher Comstock, he adds:

"P. S. The pen with which this letter is written and which I have used in common for forty years past, was taken from the wing of an eagle, which my father shot eighty-five years ago, and is not half used up now. It was made, and usually repaired, with a Barlowe knife of the same age: so much for antiquity."

topher. The descendants of Daniel, are mostly in Danbury, and the northerly part of Fairfield County. Those of Samuel in and about Wilton. Those of Moses, in Norwalk, New Canaan, and that vicinity. (Hall, and Norwalk, Fairfield and Milford Records.) Some of the descendants of Christopher sen'r, (who is supposed to have been a Welchman,) removed to the State of New York, and more of their descendants, of a different branch from Jabez, now reside in New York. Christopher sen'r, brought with him from England, his family coat of arms, engraved upon a silver tankard, which descended to Major Samuel, before Samuel d. He gave the pitcher, for preservation, to the church in Wilton, to be used as a part of the articles for communion service, where he supposed, it would be retained as he left it. But the spirit of young America, full of reforms, entered the Wilton church, and the tankard was sent to New York, melted and wrought into a more comely fashion of the day, and the design of the grantor defeated, the coat of arms of the family destroyed and lost, and a rich and beautiful treasure, greatly prized by the descendants, forever lost to the family.

COMSTOCK, WILLIAM, had land in Wethersfield, in 1641. This is the first found of him in Conn. He and John Sadler, def't, for slandering Richard Myles of Windsor, in court at Hartford, in 1644 and 1649, after which he disappeared on the records of Wethersfield and Hartford. He is again found (by Miss Caulkins,) at New London, in Nov., 1650, voting upon the subject of co-operating with Mr. Winthrop, to establish a corn mill, and applied for a house lot at New London as early as 1650-1, with John Gallop and others. In 1651, he appears to have become a settled citizen of New London, and wrought at the mill dam, with Tabor and the other inhabitants of New London. He must have passed middle life before he came to Hartford and Wethersfield, for his children were neither of them born there or at N. L.; and his son Daniel had m. the dau'r of John Elderkin and purchased a farm at N. L. as early as 1664, which his descendants yet occupy. When William had become somewhat advanced in life, Feb. 25, 1661-2, "Old Goodman Comstock," was elected sexton, "to order youth in the meeting-house, sweep the meeting-house and beat out dogs," at 40s. a year; dig all graves, and have 4s. for a grave for a man or woman, and 2s. for children, to be paid by the survivors. (See Caulkins, p. 111.) As early as this, she says, Daniel was at his maturity and received with others, by the men, among the fathers, (p. 143.) In Feb. 1665-6, William's other son, John Comstock, was appointed one of the committee of six, to divide the town of Saybrook, and form the town of Lyme, Sept., 1738. Thomas, supposed grandson of William, was mate of a sloop lost at Nevis, under Capt. John Mumford, upset in a hurricane and all perished, (p. 244.) Daniel Comstock was an inhabitant of New London, Oct. 14, 1704, when the patent of New London was sanctioned by the Governor and company. Miss Caulkins states, that William Comstock was of New London, as early as 1649, and lived to old age in his house upon Post Hill. That his wife Elizabeth, was aged 55 in 1663, of course b. in 1608, and a foreigner; his lands at New London, were inherited by his son Daniel of New London, and William son of his son John dec'd of Lyme. John d. before 1680, as Abigail the widow of John had at this time become the wife of Moses Huntley, of Lyme. As no other children of William sen'r of New London, are found, he probably had no others than Daniel and John unless Elizabeth. John settled at Lyme, and as stated was one of a committee to set off Lyme from Saybrook.

DANIEL COMSTOCK m. Paltiah, dau'r of John Elderkin, and had three sons, Daniel, Jr., and eight daughters, who were all baptized by Mr. Bradstreet, in April and Nov., 1671, and Kingsland in 1673, and Samuel in 1677, also Mary, b. April 4, 1685, Ann, b. March, 13, 1686-7. John is supposed the ancestor of the Comstocks of Lyme, and Daniel of those at Montville. Daniel's dau'r Bethia m. Daniel Stebbins. Abigail Comstock, of Lyme, m. William Peak, (sic.) June 24, 1679, who settled in Lyme. I am indebted to the industry of Miss Caulkins for many of the above facts. Daniel settled at Montville, and d. in 1683. John, Jr., William and Samuel, Jr., and John Comstock 3d, had their ear marks at Lyme, in 1738. Daniel sen'r, presented for a freeman of New London, in Oct., 1669. John Comstock sold land to John Larel, in May, 1675. John had land in Lyme, April 2, 1674, and an ear mark the same year, and had children b. in Lyme, viz.: Abigail, b. April 12, 1662; Elizabeth, b. June 9, 1665; William, b. Jan. 9, 1669; Christian, b. Dec. 11, 1671; Hannah, b. Feb. 22, 1673; John, b. Sept. 21, 1676, and Samuel, b. July 6, 1678. The death of John, sen'r, is not found, but his widow Abigail in 1680, was the wife of Moses Huntly of Lyme.

COMSTOCK, SAMUEL, b. 1678, son of John of Lyme, m. Martha Pratt, July 5, 1705, and settled in Saybrook, and had issue born there, viz., Martha, b. June 2, 1706; Samuel, b. Oct. 14, 1709, d. 1709; 2d Samuel, b. March 4, 1711; Daniel, b. Sept. 10, 1713; Abigail, b. March 11, 1718.

COMSTOCK, CURTIS, of Lyme, grandson of John, m. Esther

Canfield of Saybrook, Feb. 20, 1755; children, John, b. Nov. 2, 1756; Hezekiah, b. Feb. 7, 1759; Esther, b. May 20, 1762; Curtis, Jr., b. Oct. 25, 1764; Giles, b. Jan. 3, 1767, and Sarah, b. Feb. 20, 1769.

COMSTOCK, JAMES, of Lyme, m. Thankful Crosby of East Haddam, May 9, 1763, and had issue Ruth, b. April 4, 1766; Joab, b. April 4, 1768; Elizabeth, b. April 5, 1770. James the father d. July 23, 1773. The name of Samuel Comstock was early at Montville, supposed son of Daniel sen'r. But as the records of New London were many of them destroyed when New London was burned and the evidence of the line of ancestry in a measure impeded as to Daniel's descendants at New London and Montville, I will add a few facts that were noted by an aged man many years since of the Comstocks of Montville. He says, Samuel from New London, son of Daniel, lived in the north part of Montville,—does not give his sons, but gives his grandson Nathaniel, who was an elder there, when called the north parish. He had four sons, viz., Nathaniel, Jr., Jared, Zebulon, and Eliphalet. The last joined the Quakers. The other three remained there. Nathaniel, Jr., had one son Perez, settled in Hartford. Jared had five sons, viz., Samuel and Jared removed to the State of New York, David, Joseph, and one other remained at Montville. John 2d, remained on the old estate, and left sons, James, John 3d, Benjamin, Peter and Daniel. James was killed at the storming Fort Griswold, when about 80 years old, and left three sons, William, James and Jason. His son William settled on Cooper's patent, State of New York, James and Jason remained at Montville. John 3d, m. Polly Lee, sister of Benjamin of Lyme, and had sons, John 4th and Nathan. John 4th, was a Lieutenant in the Revolution and was killed on Long Island, at the orchard fight; he left three sons—Oliver; Joshua settled in the State of New York; Elkany, went missionary to Michigan, and settled there soon after the war of 1812, at Pontiac. Oliver son of John 2d of Montville, remained at Montville, and was representative to the legislature, justice, and deacon. Nathan, brother of John, d. young but left sons, Nathan and Asa. Nathan inherited the estate left by his grandfather John. Benjamin left sons, Benjamin and Daniel; last Benjamin left no issue, but Daniel left sons, Elisha and Daniel, who settled in Montville. Elisha had sons Ebenezer, Alpheus, Jeremiah and Peregrine, all of whom were drowned. Daniel left no sons. Peter died at sea Capt. of a vessel when about 30 years old; he m. Elizabeth Avery, and left sons, Peter, Ransford, Daniel, and Thomas. Peter who gave these facts, son of Capt. Peter, settled on his father's farm and became a

Capt. of a company in Lattimer's Regiment, and was stationed at Fort Trumbull, when New London was burned. He left sons, viz., George, Fitch, Peter, Jonathan, Elisha M., and Jeremiah. George and Fitch settled at Independence, Cayuga County, Ohio. Peter and Elisha M. settled in Lyme. Jonathan and Jeremiah settled at Waterford. The last Peter had four sons, Moses W., Peter A., William H. H., and John G. Jonathan had two sons, Maro M., and Isaac. Elisha M. d. and left one son Elisha. Jeremiah d. and left one son Jeremiah A. E. Ransford went to the State of New York, and left sons, Charles, Jesse, Ransford, and Gay. Daniel settled at Shelburn, in Vermont, had sons, Elisha and Zulure. Thomas went to Vermont and was killed at the battle of Bennington; he left a son Thomas. I publish these facts as they may aid some one of the name in tracing their ancestry. Dr. J. L. Comstock,* was proba-

* Dr. John Lee Comstock, of Hartford, whose likeness ornaments No. 3 of this work, is the fourth son of the late Samuel Comstock, Esq., of Lyme, Connecticut; who was a respectable farmer, and somewhat noted by his neighbors for his information and strength of mind. The subject of this notice had no other instruction than what he received at a common school in his native town, which at that time consisted in reading, writing and Daboll's Arithmetic. When about 20 years of age, he began the study of medicine with his brother, Joseph Comstock, M. D., of Lebanon, afterwards attending a course of medical lectures at Brown University, R. I. Soon after this he received an appointment of Assistant Surgeon in the United States Army, in the war of 1812, and with his appointment an order to report himself for duty, to the Commander of the 25th Regiment of Infantry at Plattsburgh, New York. Now he found himself in a situation to obtain experience in his profession, for it is well known that Plattsburgh was the scene of one of the most bloody battles of that war, and became the deposit of all the sick and wounded of the frontier Regiments. Often have I heard him describe the heart-rending scenes he passed through. Three hospitals, each containing from twenty to thirty patients, being his share of duty. Perhaps no regiment during that war suffered more than the 25th of Infantry to which he was attached. He served during the war and received his six months extra pay as a disbanded officer. Sufficient evidence in the eye of the Government, that his duty had been faithfully performed. Dr. Comstock after the close of the war, settled as a medical practitioner in the city of Hartford, where he still resides, and where he married the grand-daughter of Col. Thomas Seymour, whose wife was sister of the lamented Col. Ledyard, so well known in history as the murdered commander of Groton Fort in 1781. About 1828, Dr. Comstock received an honorary degree from Middlebury Col. in Vermont, and during the same year he received a patent from the Government for the solution of and application of India Rubber, for the purpose of making cloth and leather water proof, the first patent granted for that purpose in the United States. Daniel Webster in his speech in the great Goodyear case, alludes to this fact. In 1830, he relinquished his practice of medicine, and became an author by profession. His education was only such as a farmer's son can obtain at the common schools of Connecticut, and yet his works have been almost exclusively on the sciences. We see from the following large list of his popular works, that few authors in any country have ventured to write, and fewer booksellers have ventured to print, so great a variety of treatises as have emanated from the pen of this farmer's son. Embracing as they do nearly the whole circle of human sciences Too great credit can not be given to the author of all these valuable publications. The world is indebted to him for the efficient aid he has rendered the common schools in this country, and also in England and Prussia, where some of them are used in their high and common schools, particularly his Philosophy, of which bly descended from the line of Daniel, son of the first William, of New London, by Daniel's son who settled at Montville, as his grand-over half a million of copies have been sold in this country; and yet these works have been written by a man who never had an hour's instruction or explanation from any of the learned professors of the country. What an example to the young men of this country to follow, and how much better for Dr. Comstock himself, than to have rusted out his life in indolence, and died forgotten in an hour, while now his name will live in the future, while the word science is known. How much better for him to have been born with moderate means, than to have been the heir of great wealth, which so often buries the brightest talents by dampening all ambition for any employment which requires exertion, and their ambition gratified only by a full moustaches, imitating the monkey more than the noblest work of God. The following list was furnished by the Author, some years since, at the request of George P. Putnam, Esq., of New York, in answer to a circular addressed to American Authors, desiring a list of the names and sizes of their publications, and has been preserved. I here mention some of the useful and important books published by Dr. Comstock of Hartford. In 1825, he published his Grammar of Chemistry, 12 mo. pp. 300, S. G. Goodrich. In 1827, Elements of Mineralogy, pp. 300, S. G. Goodrich. In 1829, Natural History of Quadrupeds, pp. 250, D. F. Robinson. In 1830, Natural History of Birds, 12 mo. pp. 370 each. It has a Quarto Atlas, containing the figures of the Animals. In 1831, Natural Philosophy, pp. 390, D. F. Robinson, publisher. In 1833, Introduction to Botany, 12 mo. pp. 455, D. F. Robinson. In 1833, Elements of Chemistry, 12 mo. pp. 420, D. F. Robinson. In 1832, Outlines of Geology, 12 mo. 284, D. F. Robinson. In 1835, Youth's Book of Natural Philosophy, 18 mo. pp. 140. In 1835, Youth's Book of Astronomy, 18 mo. pp. 140, Peirce of Boston. In 1835, Young Chemist, 12 mo. pp. 227, D. F. Robinson. In 1836, Young Botanist, 12 mo. pp. 243, Robinson and Pratt, New York. In 1836, Outlines of Physiology, 12 mo. pp. 313, by the same. In 1836, Common School Philosophy, 12 mo. pp. 253, Read and Barber. In 1839, Mathematical and Physical Geography, 12 mo. pp. 300, Brown and Parsons. In 1839, School Astronomy, 12 mo. pp. 253, Read and Barber. In 1849, History of the Precious Metals, pp. 258, Belknap and Hammersley: and many others. The Natural Philosophy has been the most popular work. The annual sales for several years were from 28 to 30,000 copies,—the whole number sold over half a million. The Chemistry was next in popularity, the sales about 12,000 annually, 250,000 been sold. His Philosophy has been edited by Prof. Lees of the Military Academy of Edinburgh, also by Prof. Hoblyn, of Oxford, and is now published by John Scott, Charter house Square, London. I believe that Prof. Hoblyn's edition has superseded that of Prof. Lees. It is also said that that work has been translated into German, and used in the public schools of Prussia. The above are the scientific works of the author. His History of Greece, History of the Hindoos, Cabinet of Curiosities, are all useful works to the world, if not lucrative to the Author. His Botany, Chemistry, Geology and Philosophy, have been much enlarged since first published, with new cuts and new matter, as the demand of the times requires. The pages of these works amount to about 8000. His Philosophy, the publisher in London, in order to give it the more circulation, has divided into six parts, under the title of "Scott's first books in science." On the cover of course acknowledging the American authority, and on the title pages. This surely is an honor paid to the works of an American Author. The compliments paid to Dr. Comstock as an author, by his foreign editors, are of the highest and most flattering kind. Says Prof. Lees, "Among the many works on philosophy; we have certainly not met with one, uniting in a greater degree the two grand requisites of precision and simplicity, than in the work of Dr. Comstock." Says Prof. Hoblyn, "It is an elementary work requiring for its perusal no mathematical attainments, nor indeed any previous knowledge of Natural Philosophy, being at once simple, intelligible, and in most parts familiar." The publishers state that 500,000 copies of it have been sold in this country, besides in England and Germany. The present publishers are Farmer, Brace & Co. (late Pratt, Woodford & Co.) New York.

father, Samuel, (says Dr. Smith,) removed from Montville (New London) to Lyme on to the James Rogers place, and d. there, and John Lee, was his grandson, by his son Samuel now deceased.

Samuel Comstock removed from Saybrook to Sharon, Conn., one of the first settlers of Sharon, and was the first collector there, (town settled, 1738.) In 1748, he removed to New Fairfield, (see Sedgwick.) Some of the descendants of Samuel who moved from Sharon to New Fairfield, (Sherman,) settled at Kent. Samuel, the former deputy sheriff at New Milford, removed there from Kent, and was a grandson of Samuel of New Fairfield, and a descendant of William sen'r of Wethersfield and New London. The name Komstock, is frequently found in Germany, but the name is there uniformly spelled with a K.* Three of this name were early found in Conn., William, Samuel and Christopher Comstock. The Elizabeth Comstock of Saybrook, who m. Edward Shipton, (Shipman,) in "the beginning of January, 1651, was probably a dau'r of William sen'r of New London, a sister of John of Saybrook and Lyme." In the will of Henry Russell of Weymouth, 1640, or 1643, is this notice of John Comstock. "Further I give and assign vnto Jane my wife, the remainder of time to be served by my servant John Comstock." (His. and Gen. Reg., July number, 1648, p. 263.) This makes four of the name early in New England.

CONANT, LIEUT. EXERCISE, of Windham, and wife Sarah, were at Windham, Conn., about 1697; she d. Dec. 4, 1718; his children probably were born before he came there.

CONANT, JOSIAH, (supposed son of Exercise,) m. Joanna Dimick, Oct. 6, 1709, and had a son Shubael, b. at Windham, July 15, 1711. He removed from Windham to Mansfield, where he perhaps had other children.

CONANT, CALEB, (supposed son of Exercise,) m. Hannah Crane, Aug. 23, 1714. Issue, Malachi, b. June 12, 1715; Benajah, b. Feb. 13, 1716-17; Sarah, b. Dec. 20, 1718; Ruth, b. Oct. 28, 1720; Mary, b. Jan. 6, 1722-3; Josiah, b. Dec. 9, 1724. His family also removed from Windham to Mansfield.

CONANT, JOSEPH, was one of the first settlers at Stafford, Conn. Roger Conant, perhaps an Episcopal minister, when he came to New England. Exercise his son, was aged about 72 years, in 1708. Joshua Conant's Inventory in 1657. (Hist. Reg., Windham and Stafford Record.) The foregoing Conants are descendants of Roger Conant. Roger Conant of Beverly d. in the 89th year of his age, Nov. 19, 1679. He names his children in his will, viz.: Exercise, Lot, Roger, Elizabeth, Mary, wife of William Dodge, Sarah. After he had been planter in New England, as he says "fortie-eight yeers and vpward," he petitioned the Général Court of Massachusetts, to change the name of his town from "Beverly to Budleigh," (Budleigh the town famed as the birth-place of Sir Walter Raleigh,) for the reason that the town was nicknamed "Beggarily." (See Hist. Reg., Oct., 1848.)

CONANT, CHRISTOPHER, of Plymouth, 1623. Roger Conant, b. at Budleigh in Devonshire, April, 1591, supposed son of Richard and Agnes, brother of Dr. John Conant of Exeter College. His grandfather John Conant, descended from Gittesham, near Horriton, originally of French extraction; came to New England, 1623, lived at Plymouth, Nantasket, Cape Ann and Salem, and built the first house there about 1626; admitted freeman 1631; Representative to the first General Court, 1634; a worthy and useful character, and d. at Beverly, Nov. 19, 1679, aged 88. Joshua, who d. at Salem 1659; Lot Conant, b. 1624, one of the founders of the church in Beverly, 1667, in Marblehead, 1674; probably sons of Roger Conant. Roger, son of the preceding, was the first child b. in Salem, and had 20 acres of land granted to him on that account, Jan., 1640. (See Far., Gibbs, Coffin, Fell's Annals of Salem.) Five of this name had graduated at Yale College, 1776, four at Dartmouth, four at Harvard in 1829, and two at Brown University in 1819. CONANT one coat of arms, (borne by the late Sir Nathaniel Conant, Knight.)

CONDY, WILLIAM, was propounded to the General Court of Connecticut, for a freeman at New London, October 14, 1669. He first was at New London, in 1663, with Samuel Chester from Boston, engaged in the West India trade, as commanders, owners, &c.; had a warehouse &c., on Close Cove, (Caulkins, p. 145.) Mr. Condy was at New London, in the controversy between the towns of New London and Lyme, as to the ownership of Black Point, and the western bound of New London, and after June 26, 1668, Mr. Condy, Mr. Palmes, and Mr. Prentis, were intrusted by the town, with the charge of the affair, but not with power to settle the boundary line, variant from the ancient grant of the Court, and particularly to recover Black Point, of which they claimed they had been wrongfully deprived by the people of "Seabrook." Mr. Condy, or Capt. Condy, proves his standing in New London, in 1668, by the confidence placed in him named above. Mr. Condy m. Mary Parker, dau'r of Ralph of Boston, about 1663, (Caulkins, p. 306.)

His children were Richard, William, Ebenezer and Ralph, baptized March 23, 1672-3. He removed to Boston with his family about 1680. His family is noticed as having remained several generations in Boston, the 2d William, in 1710, and the 3d William Condry, in 1717. William, sen'r was about to sail from Boston to Barbadoes, in 1688. (See Caulkins', N. L., p. 353-4.) (See SAMUEL CHESTER, ante.) CONDIE has one coat of arms.

CONDY, JAMES, Braintree, 1640, had sons, Joshua, Experience and James. Rev. Jeremiah, graduated at Harvard College, 1726, minister at Boston, (Far.)

CONE, DANIEL, was not a first settler at Hartford, but became one of the 28 original purchasers of the lands at 30 mile Island, of the Indians in 1662, for 30 coats, (Haddam.) The Indians called the north part, "Higganampoo," now called Higganum, and west part "Cockaponsit." Incorporated into a town 1668, in Hartford County. Cone and the other 27 purchasers occupied the land soon after the purchase. Daniel Cone presented for a freeman at Hartford, May, 1669, and selectman the same year, and presented the list of the freemen of Haddam. In 1664, the General Court of Connecticut appointed Mr. Campfield, Deac. More, Mr. Fayrchild, Mr. Hull, and Lieutenant Olmstead, to settle the controversy between Mr. Lord and Daniel Cone, and the committee decided that the "calf was Mr. Lords Steare." Daniel Cone, and George Gates, were selectmen, and Richard Piper, constable of Haddam, in 1669. Haddam has been the birth-place of several of the prominent men of Connecticut. Daniel Cone was probably m. and had children before he settled there; perhaps had children when he came, viz., Ebenezer, Nathaniel, and Stephen; his children born at Haddam, were:

1. Ruth, b. 1662.
2. Hannah, b. 1664.
3. Daniel, Jr., b. Jan. 21, 1666.
4. Jarrard, (i. e. Jared,) b. Jan. 7, 1668.
5. Rebecca, b. 1670.
6. Caleb, } These were probably the youngest of his sons, but are not found
7. David, } in the list of births. David, d. young, (Dr. Field.)

Daniel the father d. aged over 79 years, Oct. 24, 1706. Dr. Field says, Daniel (deacon,) son of Daniel sen'r had sons, Jeremiah, Jonah, William, Major Daniel and Oliver. George, father of Sylvanus, George, Eliezer and Zachariah. Joseph, father of Joseph, Benjamin, Solomon, Martin, Ashbel, and Jeremiah 2d, and Jared of Matthew 2d, Nehemiah and Daniel. Jared, father of sons Stephen and Thomas, and Stephen the father of Elisha and Thomas, and Thomas, father of Joel, Noadiah, Joshua and Obadiah. Caleb, father of Caleb, Joseph, Noah, deacon Elisha, Simon, Daniel and Bariah. Deacon Daniel, Jared and Stephen, sons of Daniel sen'r, settled in East Haddam. Jared Cone, d. in 1718-19, distribution same year to his children, Stephen, Thomas, Elizabeth, Ruth and Hannah. Nathaniel, deacon at Millington, d. 1790, aged 78 years. Daniel Cone was a justice of peace in East Haddam, and d. in 1776, aged 78. Israel and William Cone, were also justices. Elisha Cone was an ordained deacon at Haddam, and d. aged 99, in 1809. Another Daniel in East Haddam, who was also a deacon about 1705, d. 1725, aged 60. Also Daniel, d. May, 1776, aged 83 years. Daniel sen'r the first, was commissioner for Haddam, in May, 1669.

CONE, CEPHAS, of the 2d church in Colchester, had a dau'r Lina, bap. June 27, 1783; Jonathan, bap. Sept. 16, 1787; 2d Lina, bap. June 27; Electa, bap. July 11, 1790.

CONE, REV. SALMON, a former minister at Colchester, was from Bolton, to Colchester, and was a descendant of the first Daniel; he d. and left children at Colchester. Daniel sen'r left a large family of sons and the Cones are now numerous and scattered far and wide over the United States. Several have been ministers, lawyers and merchants, but more of them deacons, though they have generally been farmers, and money makers and savers of it.

CONE, STEPHEN, was the first of the name of Cone in Bolton, Conn., from East Haddam, in 1749, as appears upon the church record of Bolton. His wife was Susannah, (by tradition Clark.) Stephen the sen'r d. 1771, aged 66; he had children:

1. Jared, was 15 years old when he came to Bolton with his father.
2. Susan, m. George Griswold, father of Calvin, New York.
3. Stephen.
4. Zachariah. Mehitabel, d. aged 18, and John.

CONE, JARED, son of Stephen sen'r and Christiana Loomis, had issue:

1. Christiana, m. Solomon Dewey, of Amherst.
2. Jared.
3. Anna, m. Jonah Strickland of Bolton.
4. Solomon, bap. Sept., 1766.
5. Lois, m. G. Bissell, and was the mother of Wyllis Thrall's wife of Hartford.
6. Amos.

CONE, STEPHEN, son of Stephen and Susannah, m. 1st, a Strong, 2d, m. a Badger, and 3d, m. Mary Colton, (June 3, 1794, record.)

1. Mehitabel, m. Eleazer Pitkin, of Manchester.
2. Mary, m. David Pitkin, of Manchester, his brother. (Record says Polly Cone m. David Pitkin of Oxford, [Manchester,] Sept. 6, 1798.)

CONE, ZACHARIAH, son of Stephen sen'r, settled at Hebron. He m. and had children, viz. :

1. Samuel, went to the South.
2. Cornelia, m. Peters, of Hebron, Conn.
3. Frederick, went to Georgia.
4. Zachariah, m. Wealthy Kingsbury.
5. Molly.
6. Wealthy.
7. Adonijah.
8. Daniel.
9. Gardner.
10. Gilbert. Three of this family went to Canandigua, New York.

CONE, REV. SALMON, the son of Jared and Christiana, was bap. Sept., 1776, graduated at Yale College, in 1789. He m. Polly Pinneo of Lebanon, and settled in the ministry at Colchester. He had one son, Salmon Edwards, a physician at Middletown, who m. a dau'r of J. T. Hosmer, and had one son who d. in College, (perhaps others.) The physician though m., d. a young man.

2. Mary, m. Hubbard of Middletown, son Edward yet living in Middletown.
3. Albert, went to the west unmarried

CONE, AMOS, son of Jared and Christiana of Bolton, now resides there over 70 years old. He m. Abigail Hale of Glastenbury, and had issue :

1. Henry, a physician in Glastenbury, had 3 children.
2. Adeline, wife of Dr. Hunt of Bolton, has 3 sons and 4 or more daughters.
3. Lucius, single.
4. Edwin, d. unmarried at the South.
5. Walter, m. Mary F. Andrus, of Glastenbury, d. young, but left one son Joseph Walter.

There was also a John Cone, who m. Patience Hibard, or Strickland, Nov. 18, 1773, who was probably son of Stephen Cone, and Susannah Clark. He went a soldier in the war of the Revolution, where he d. by disease. The Cones as far as found or known were descendants of Daniel Cone, of Haddam. Daniel H. Cone, of Haddam, left Haddam, before or during the war of the Revolution, and for a time was in New Hampshire, but returned to Conn., and settled at Winchester, Ct. His sons were :

- Daniel, who settled at Norfolk, Ct.;
- Samuel, (deacon,) also settled at Norfolk.
- Warner, also settled at Norfolk.
- Hurlbut Cone, settled at New Haven, Conn.
- Sullivan, settled at Westfield, in Chautauque County, New York.
- Silas, settled in Granby, Conn.

Most if not all of this name in Litchfield County, are descendants of Daniel H. Cone, above of Winchester, and all descendants of Daniel sen'r of Haddam. John Cochran, (perhaps Cone,) came to Boston, from Gravesend, England, in the ship John and Sarah of London, John Green, Master, bound for New England, in 1651-2, and landed at Boston. He was probably of Scotch descent. Coats of arms—Coane, (Scotland,) has one. Cone, (Scotland,) has one coat of arms. Eleven had graduated at Yale College, before 1848.

CONEY, COREY or COUREY, BENJAMIN, a merchant of Stratford, purchased of Daniel Beardslee, of said Stratford, his home lot in said town, with the house, barn, &c., Nov. 9, 1702. He m. Mehitable Gloaer, of New Haven, in Dec., 1703. Cōny, of Southhold, L. I., made free by Conn., 1662.

COREY, BENJAMIN, of Windham, m. Abigail Abbe, Nov. 10, 1743. Issue, Mary, b. Aug. 12, 1744. John, b. March 9, 1746, perhaps others. Ab'm Corey, of Southhold, L. I., m. Margaret, dau'r of Jeffery Christophers of New London; after he d. she m. a second husband.

CONEY, JOHN, Boston, Mass., member of artillery company 1662, d. Dec. 29, 1690, (see Farmer.) CONEY has five coats of arms. COREY has one.

CONY, DANIEL, graduated at Dartmouth College, 1825. Samuel Coney, graduated at Brown U., 1829.

CONCKLIN, CONKLIN, CONCLIN, CONKLING, GOODMAN, and JOHN CONCLINGS, of Southhold, L. I., with the following persons, were accepted to be made free in Conn., Oct., 1662, viz.: Mr. Wells, Thomas Terry, Philemon Dickerson, Goodman Purvier, Goodman Windes, Barnaba Horton, Joseph Horton, Lieut. Glover, Thomas Morse sen'r, Goodm. Cory, Goodm. Reeves, Goodm. Masses, Jo. Paine, Richard Browne, Joseph (or John) Youngs, sen'r and Jr., Jer. Vayle, Jo. Curwin, Richard Terry, Mr. Elton, Thos. Brush, John Bud and Mr. Tucker. (See Col. Rec.) Capt. Edward Conklin, when cruising off Point Judith, during the war of the Revolution, in the Eagle, took six prizes in succession, and in sending them into port, so weakened his own vessel, by sparing too many of his men, to man his prizes, that his own prisoners rose upon him and his men, and the Capt. and some of his men were murdered, after the vessel was surrendered. Murphy who murdered the Capt. lost his own life, (Newspaper.) Benjamin Conkling, of Hartford, lost his wife Mary, by death March 2, 1789, aged 36. Not an early name in Conn. Ananias Conkling, of Salem, admitted into the church Dec. 29, 1639, and freeman, 1642. Removed to East Hampton, L. I. (Farmer.) Rev. Benjamin Conkling, graduated at Princeton College, 1755. Capt. Benjamin Conkling, (Sedgwick says,) went from Norwalk to Sharon, perhaps the same Benjamin named above, was selectman, &c., at Sharon, and removed to Vermont, and after returned to Hitchcock's corner, in old age and d. there Oct. 1, 1823, aged 86, father of Dr. Ebenezer Conkling. He perhaps came from L. I. to Norwalk. Wm. Conklin, graduated at Williams College, 1830. This became a Long Island name, where the same is yet found, probably all descendants of the family who settled at East Hampton, L. I.

CONNER, JOHN, son of Elizabeth Conner, was b. at Middletown, June 14, 1686, first of the name in Conn. Farmer names William Conner, of Plymouth, 1623.

CONNER, PHILLIP, aged 21, embarked for Virginia, in the Merchant, Bonaventure, in 1634-5. This name was in Conn. after 1750, an Irish family; some of the descendants now reside in Hartford.

CONNER, JOHN, taken prisoner at Quebec, 1775, and Edward Conner enlisted in the king's service, 1775, to escape. Cornelius Conner, took the oath of allegiance at Salisbury, Mass., Dec. 11, 1677, servant of Richard Goodale, before 1666. Cornelius, aged 35 in 1672. (See Hist. Reg.)

Arms.—Conner (Ireland, as borne by Daniel Conner of Bally Briker, Co. Cork, Esq.,) 1; and one other coat of arms for Conner; and 1 for Connour. Two by the name of Conner, graduated at Yale College, 1806 and 1845; and 2 at Dartmouth College, in 1835 and in 1840.

CONSTABLE, Mrs., of New Haven, with three in her family in 1643, with an estate of £150, was probably a widow. CONSTABLE, has 16 coats of arms.

CONVERSE, JOSIAH, one of the early settlers of Stafford. This is also an old name at Killingly, and is first found in Thompson and Killingly, in Conn. EDWARD CONVERSE, came to New England in 1630, resided in Charlestown, had a grant of the ferry, removed to Woburn, in 1643, representative there in 1660.

CONVERS, ALLEN, Woburn, made free 1644. JAMES, of Woburn, free 1671, representative, 1679, '84, '86 and '89, a distinguished officer in the Indian war, named by Mather, Book, VI.; Josiah, of Woburn, freeman, 1651. (Far.)

Josiah Convers, graduated at Harvard College, 1723, and James Converse, graduated at Harvard, 1799; 4 by the name of Converse graduated at Yale College, before 1851; one at Brown U., in 1790; 7 at Dartmouth College, before 1834.

COOK, COOKE, (COCKE, COCKES,) AARON, CAPT., was one of the early settlers at Dorchester, Mass., probably in 1630; he remained there a few years until about 1636 or 7, for, says the History of Dorchester, as late as July 5, 1636, a half acre of ground over against his lot, was granted him in Dorchester, "to build his house upon," so that he did not remove with the first settlers of Windsor, in 1635, as this vote was passed at Dorchester about a year after many of the Windsor settlers had left Dorchester. He was a man of character and energy, and it appears was popular wherever he located. He remained at Windsor several years, where, though a military man, he was honored with some civil appointments. He was juror, June 1, 1643, Dec., 1644, Oct. 9, 1645, Oct. 29, 1646, May 24, 1647, Sept., 1647, and Sept. 7, 1648, &c. Capt. Aaron Cook, of Windsor, Sept. 1, 1656, was ordered to give seasonable notice to the people to attend meeting; "on ye lords Dayes and lector dayes, by Drum or trumpet on ye tope of ye meeting howse and should have 20s, for ye yeare in sawing," confirmed Sept. 6, 1656. May 28, 1655, when "Leftennant Cooke was chosen Captayne at Windsor, he had 87 papers (votes) only 19 for others." "In ye choyce of Leftennant, Mr. Nubery had 80 papers and all ye rest," only 13. "In ye choyce of an Insigne, David Wilton, had ye choyce by 6 papers more than Daniel Clarke."

Gen. Court of Conn., May 21, 1653. Lieu. Cook was appointed commander-in-chief of 65 men ordered raised and forthwith prepared, at a days warning, provisions, &c., to be raised in the several towns in Conn., per order of said General Court, against the Dutch. And Capt. Bull to be the Lieut. (See Col. Rec., and Rec. of U. C.) A large committee was appointed by the Gen. Court, in each town in the Colony, with whom the constables were to advise in pressing the men for the expedition against the Dutch. The committee were for Windsor, Mr. Wolcott, Mr. Chester, Mr. Phelps and David Wilton; for Hartford, Mr. Webster, Mr. Westwood*, and Good'n Bacon;

* This William Westwood, was from Essex County, England; he came to this country as early as 1631, or 2, and located first at Newtown, (Cambridge, Mass.) Made free there in 1635, he remained there about 3 years and then removed to Hartford, Conn., probably in the autumn of 1635, as he was a member of the first Gen. Court, held in the Conn. Colony, on the 26th day of April, 1636. And continued a member of the Court, until the new organization went into operation in 1639, and frequently afterwards, was a member of the House of delegates until 1656. After which it is supposed he took a lively interest in the great religious controversy at Hartford, that became one of the principal causes of the division of the church at Hartford, and had nearly as disastrous an effect on the church at Wethersfield, and terminated in the great removal of a large share of both churches to Hadley, Mass., in 1659, which town they then settled.

Wethersfield, Mr. Welles, Nathan'l Dickerson, Samuel Smith; Farmington, Mr. Steele, Good. Harte; Pequet, Mr. Winthrop, (if at home,) Capt. Denison, Good. Calking, and the constables; Sea-broock, Capt. Mason, Good. Clarke, and Good. Chapman; Stratford, Good. Groves, and Good. Thornton; Fairfield, Mr. Ward and Wm. Hill. Capt. Aaron Cook on the 11th day of March, 1657-8, was one of the soldiers of Windsor, of the first troop of horse ever raised in Conn., composed of the most reputable youngerly men in the Colony, under the command of Major John Mason, who were allowed and approved by the Gen. Court. Lieut. Cook was allowed 50 acres of meadow in Massacoe, 1653, which he owned in court was in his father Ford's possession, at a court in May, 1661. Capt. Cook removed from Windsor to Northampton, and Hadley, both of which towns he represented at the Gen. Court of Mass. He was a firm friend to the Judges Whalley and Goffe, after their arrival at Northampton and Hadley. He was three or four times married. He first married a dau'r of Thomas Ford, who also removed to Windsor from Dorchester, and second married Joanna, dau'r of Nicholas Denslow, who also removed to Windsor. His children found at Windsor, viz.: Joanna, bap. Aug. 5, 1638; Aaron, bap. Feb. 21, 1640; Mariam, bap. March 12, 1642; Moses, b. Nov. 13, 1645; Samuel, b. Nov. 21, 1650; Elizabeth, b. Aug. 7, 1653, and Noah, b. June 14, 1657. He perhaps had other children. We find Capt. Cook, of Windsor, Nov. 5, 1660, "made a motion of marriage in behalf of his son Aaron to Mr. Westwood," for his daughter. Capt. Cook proposed to give his son Aaron, his then dwelling-house in Windsor, the lot it stood upon with barn, outhouses, fences, orchard, &c.; we also find Aaron Cook, m. Sarah Westwood, of Hadley, May 30, 1661. Aaron Cook sen'r, in a deed to his son Aaron of Simsbury, describes himself of Westfield, about 1671. In 1660, the Gen. Court of Conn. required Capt. Cook, to desist from any further labor on the town farm at Massacoe, until a trial was had the May after. Capt. Aaron Cook, m. Elizabeth Nash, of New Haven, Dec. 2, 1676. Major Aaron Cook, m. Rebecca Smith, of Hadley, in 1688; Capt. Aaron, d. in 1690.

COOK, AARON, son of Capt. Aaron Cook, m. Sarah Westwood,

Mr. Westwood, was one of the first who held office in the new location, and one who aided in laying out the home lots for the settlers. He was selectman, and otherwise employed in public business. He was one of the valued settlers, in the three locations in the country in which he had resided. He d. at Hadley, April 9, 1669, and his wife d. 12th of May, 1676.

1661, dau'r of Mr. Wm. Westwood and Bridget his wife, of Hartford and Hadley. The following are supposed to have been their children, viz.: Sarah, b. Jan. 31, 1661-2; Joanna, b. July, 1667; Westwoode, b. March 29, 1671; Samuel, b. Nov. 16, 1672; Moses, b. May 5, 1675; Elizabeth, b. Jan. 9, 1677; Bridget, b. March 31, 1683. One of the above is called after the maiden name of the mother, and one after the surname of her father, which is some evidence of being the children of Aaron, Jr., and Sarah. Perhaps Aaron, Jr., lost his wife Sarah, after the birth of Bridget his dau'r; he might have again married Martha Allyn, in Jan. 3, 1683, when his dau'r Bridget was b. March 31, 1683. And if Aaron below d. as recorded, April 15, 1725, aged 61 years, he could not have been the son of Capt. Aaron, who was b. Feb. 21, 1640. He probably was a son of Aaron, Jr., and Sarah, who was b. after Sarah, in 1661, and before Joanna, in 1667, and was not recorded, and a grandson of Capt. Aaron Cook.

COOKE, AARON, of Hartford, (not known whose son,) he appears at Hartford, about 1680, and m. Martha, dau'r of Hon. John Allyn, Jan. 3, 1683, and had children, viz.: Aaron, b. May 12, 1686, d. April 8, 1689; Aaron, 2d, b. Sept. 23, 1689; Martha, b. June 2, 1693; John, b. Dec. 23, 1696; Moses, b. Oct. 7, 1700; Elizabeth, b. Sep. 4, 1703, d. Sep. 23, 1703; Mary, b. June 2, 1706; Anna, b. May 17, 1708. Porter locates him in Front street in Hartford, in 1686. He d. in Hartford, April 15, 1725, aged 61. Moses, d. at Hartford, July 25, 1738, aged 38. Joseph Cook, d. at Hartford, Nov. 1, 1747, aged 67.

COOKE, NATHANIEL, was also at Windsor, one of the first settlers, and appears to have been there at an early period. He m. Lydia, vore, or vose, (dau'r of Richard,) June 29, 1649. He was in full communion in the church there, June 22, 1662, and his wife in 1658, when he joined also. Cornelius Gillett sen'r, and his wife Priscilla, testified in court that Lydia, wife of Nathaniel Cook, late of Windsor, deceased, who was dau'r of Richard Vore, that said Richard Vore, desired them to witness, that the piece of land said Richard gave Lydia, on Vore's point, should go to her son Josias, of Windsor. John Cook, Nathaniel Cook, sons of Lydia, also Samuel Baker, for Sarah his wife, Joseph Baker, of Windsor, David Hoyt, of Deerfield and wife, also Abigail, children of said Nathaniel, all approved of their mother Lydia's will, Jan. 14, 1700. Nathaniel, the father d. May 19, 1688. He was made a freeman, May 16, 1650. 40 acres of land in Suffield, was allotted to Nathaniel Cook, March 19, 1672-3, (perhaps Nathaniel, Jr.) Nathaniel sen'r and Lydia his wife, had children, viz. : Sarah, b. June 28, 1650 ; Lydia, b. Jan. 9, 1652 ; Hanna, b. Sept. 21, 1655 ; Nathaniel, Jr., b. May 13, 1658 ; Abigail, b. March 1, 1659-60 ; John, b. April, or Aug. 3, 1662 ; Josia, b. Dec. 22, 1664 ; all except Sarah were baptized at Windsor. Nathaniel, Jr., and his sister of Windsor, gave each 1s and 6 pence to the poor of other colonies, June 1, 1676. Nathaniel Cook, Jr., had children, Nath'l, b. April 6, 1689 ; Sarah, Ebenezer, Daniel, Lydia, Mary, Richard, b. Aug. 30, 1703 ; Abigail, Elizabeth, Jeremiah, Benjamin, b. March 26, 1711.

NOTE.—In Monument Office at Frankfort, on the Maine, in Germany, is a pedigree of the family of Comstock, there spelled indifferently, Komstohk and Comstohk, which gives nine generations previous to 1547, when Charles Von Komstohk, a baron of the Roman Empire, was implicated in Von "Benedict treason," and escaped into England with several noblemen of Austria and Silesia.

The arms are or (gold,) two Bears rampant, sable (black,) muzzled, gules (red,) in chief; and in base, a sword issuing from crescent, the point downwards, all the last (red.) Upon the arms a Baronial helmet of the German Empire mantled or and gules (red and gold,) surmounted by a Baron's coronet jewelled proper, issuing therefrom an Elephant proper, and rampant.

The Bears imply courage, the sword issuing from the crescent, shows that the family had fought against the Turks. The Elephant rampant, in the crest was given as an indication of personal prowess and sagacity.

MOTTO.—Nid cyfoeth ond boddlddeth. Not wealth, but contentment.

This motto is in the Welch language, from which country it is understood the family came to America.

Cornelius has 1 coat of arms; one graduated at Dartmouth College, 1829.

CORNING, SAMUEL, was admitted freeman in 1641, and was one of the founders of the church in Beverly, in 1667. (Farmers Genealogical Register.) May 15, 1665, "there were chosen at a publick meeting for to make the rate for Mr. Hail's mainteuance for 65 as followeth: Captain Lathrop, Wm. Thorndike, Roger Conant, Samuël Corning, Joseph Rootes." (Beverly Town Records.) This appears to have been the first choice of what have since been termed selectmen by the inhabitants of Beverly, although the town was not incorporated until 1668. In 1667, among those chosen as above is "Ensign Corning." In 1668, among those chosen to procure wood for Mr. Hale, was "Ensign Corning," from his house to Mr. Conaut's Bridge. Same year Samuel Corning, sen'r, and Lot Conaut, "to see the rate for Mr. Hale brought in 1669." • CORNING, ERASTUS, Esq., of Albany, son of Bliss Corning,

• Hon. Erastus Corning, of Albany, a son of Bliss Corning, of Norwich, or Preston, Conn.; his mother was Miss Lucinda Smith, as before stated. Few men in this country whose personal history is more interesting or more instructive to our young men, than that of Mr. Corning, who was the son of a country farmer, but his energy, industry and perseverance, backed and based upon his uniform and stern integrity, business habits and good common sense, has placed him in the exalted station, in wealth and honors, which he now occupies. He left Norwich, when a boy in 1807, and entered a hardware and iron store in Troy, New York, with his uncle Benjamin Smith, who was a prominent democrat at that day, governed by the principles of Thomas Jefferson, and who held some important local offices in Troy. Mr. Smith, took a warm interest in his nephew, and some years after, on the death of Mr. Smith, he left to Mr. Corning, the bulk of his estate, acquired in Troy. In March, 1814, Mr. Corning left Troy, for a larger field of operation, and located at Albany, where he entered the hardware and iron store of John Spencer & Co., at that time, to say the least, was one of the principal mercantile houses in Albany. In 1816, young Corning became a partner and member of the firm of that business house and wealthy concern, exactly fitted to his ambition and business habits, and where he has continued uninterruptedly until this time. The firm now being Erastus Corning & Co., and now is, and has been, in the amount of its business, one of the leading and largest business houses in the trade in this country. The firm have not been confined strictly to the business of the store at Albany, but own and carry on, nail and iron works, rolling mills, &c., which are among the best arranged and largest in the country, situated about two miles south of Troy. His fellow citizens having implicit confidence in his business habits, his integrity and political principles, drew him from, or rather added to his multifarious concerns, by electing him in 1828, one of the Aldermen of the City of Albany. He also served in the responsible and honorable office of Mayor of that City, about three years, between 1834, and 1837. In 1833, Mr. Corning was elected Vice-President of the New York State Bank, but retired from this post in 1834, on the organization of the Albany City Bank, of which he was chosen president, which responsible station he yet holds. In 1833, on the organization of the Utica and Schenectady Railroad Company, Mr. Corning was elected its president, and remained so until 1853, when it was merged into what is now the New York Central Railroad Company. The Utica and Schenectady road, was one of the earliest railroads in this country, and proved a very successful project to the State and country, particularly to the great West, the success of which was greatly owing to the unremitting exertions and management of its president. In 1833, the legislature elected him one of the regents of the university, and he yet remains a member of the board. He was elected a member of the State Senate of New York, for four years, from 1842, which place he filled with marked ability, as a politician and a man of business. On the first election of directors of the New York Central Railroad Company, in 1853, he was elected its president, and still occupies the place. This Company own the entire line of railroad from Albany and Troy and Hudson River, to Buffalo, on Lake Erie, and the suspension bridge near Niagara Falls. Its stock and funded debt, together form as is supposed the largest aggregation of capital in any one corporation in this country. The Saint Mary's Falls Ship Canal, connecting Lake Superior, with the lower lakes, was constructed by a company of which Mr. Corning was also president. A full account of this great work, appeared in several of the leading newspapers in this country, in of Preston, Conn., b. Dec. 14, 1794, m. Harriet Weld, who was b. July 31, 1794, and was m. by Rev. Jonas Coe, March 10, 1819; they had children, viz. :

May, 1855, which it is unnecessary to recapitulate; was also chosen a director of the Michigan Central Railroad Company, on the commencement of that enterprise, and is yet a member of that board. Mr. Corning has also held various other places of trust in other corporations and associations, and is now a director or trustee in several others not before named. His political sentiments, in which he has been uniform through life, it is unnecessary to say has been of the Jeffersonian school of democrats, and he was a prominent member of the Democratic National Conventions at Baltimore, in 1848, and in 1852, and at the last was the president of the New York delegation. The life thus far of the Hon. Erastus Corning, who is now traveling Europe, on business or for his health, is a lesson to the farmer's sons in this country, proving to them most effectually, that with a New England common-school education, if applied to good common sense, with strict integrity and incessant industry, that wealth and honors are within their reach with these qualifications.

CORNING, MALACHI, was the first of the name of Corning, who settled at Hartford; who he was, or where from, is not discovered. He appears not to have been a descendant of Samuel, of Beverly, Mass.; he came to Hartford, about 1750, where he died; wife not found. His children were,

Nathan.

William.

"Hulday."

Malachi, Jr.

Ginger, m. Moses Pratt.

Elizabeth, m. Josiah Smith.

Eunice, m. Zachariah Converse.

His estate was distributed to his children named above, April 5, 1773. This family probably all left Hartford, soon after the death of their father, as nothing is found of them afterward, and there is no tradition in the family of Deacon Ezra Corning, who was the first of the descendants of Samuel, of Beverly, at Hartford, of such a family having been there. (See Hartford Probate Record.)

Bliss Corning, father of Hon. Erastus, d. Feb. 10, 1847; Lucinda, his mother, d. June 24, 1821.

There was a James Corning, that came out of Beverly, about the time that Nehemiah and Josiah came to Preston, and they were connected, but by what branch of the family, not able to state; but neither their posterity, or their name is now found. The above James Corning, was much older than Josiah, or Nehemiah. (Perhaps Malachi, instead of James.) It is not found from what place Malachi Corning was when he came to Hartford, or where his children settled. Alfred H. Corning, graduated at Williams College, in 1831.

CORNISH, JOSEPH, m. Mary Humphrey, alias Enno, May 5, 1727, and had Joseph, b. June 13, 1729; Elizabeth, b. Feb. 15, 1727-8; Mary, wife of Joseph, d. Sept. 16, 1731.

CORNISH, JOSEPH, Jr., of Simsbury, m. Ruth Martin, of Meriden, April 3, 1755, and had children.

CORNISH, GABRIEL, and ELIZABETH, of Westfield, had a son James, b. Oct. 29, 1687; Damaris, b. Feb. 17, 1690, probably the James Cornish, of Wethersfield, who gave his land to his sister Damaris. Farmer names Samuel, of Salem, 1637. He also names James Cornish, the first school-master and town-clerk of Westfield; also Gabriel, at Westfield, in 1667; Thomas, of Exeter, in 1652. I give those of this name without any form but publish such facts as I have, as it may aid the family in getting a full genealogy.

The name of James Cornish, appears as school-master at Saybrook, the first in Connecticut, and afterward in several towns up the Connecticut River.

Mr. Cornish, is named on Windsor record for a school-master there, Dec. 28, 1676. The town of Windsor, Dec. 20, 1685, ordered Tahan Grant to pay Mr. Cornish, school-master, 30*s*. James Cornish was an appraiser of the property of James Hillyer, deceased, in July, 1729; James Cornish, of Wethersfield, m. Elizabeth Thrall, of Windsor, Nov. 10, 1693, and had a dau'r Elizabeth, b. Sept. 25, 1695; Joseph, b. Oct. 18, 1697.

CORNISH, has 3 coats of arms.

JAMES CORNISH gave 5*s*. and Gabriel Cornish 13*s*. 3 pence, in the contribution at Windsor, for the poor of other colonies, June 11, 1676; Gabriel, of Westfield, Mass., m. Elizabeth Wolcott, dau'r of George, of Windsor, Dec. 5 or 15, 1686; Benjamin Cornish, of Simsbury, d. about 1731, and Joseph Cornish, adm'r, insolvent. In 1662, James Cornish, an appraiser of R. Marvin's estate. The townsmen of Windsor, Dec. 20, 1685, ordered £4 to be paid to the town by Tahan Grant, for the rent of John Fitch's house, for the two last years (then past) and the same paid to the two present school-masters, viz., to Mr. Cornish, 30*s*. and John Loomis 50*s*.

Mr. James Cornish, plaintiff, vs. Thomas Lee, defendant; plaintiff recovered, and Lee appealed from the decision of the court of assistants, in 1666. Edward J. Cornish, graduated at Amherst College, in 1845. One at Harvard College, in 1820.

Farmer names Richard Cornish, Boston, d. Feb. 6, 1694; Samuel, of Salem, 1637; James, the first school-master and Town-Clerk of Westfield, Mass., also Gabriel, in 1667; Thomas, of Exeter, in 1652.

CORNWALL, WILLIAM, was an original settler, and had 8 acres 1639; he drew 24 acres in the land division in E. H., June 12, 1666, at Hartford; though not an original proprietor, he had a house-lot in Hartford, No. 54, west of south street, and south from the lane. He removed to Middletown in the early settlement of that town. He was probably married before he came to Hartford, and removed with his family about 1651, to Middletown. He was deputy at the General Court, May 18, 1654, and July 11, 1654. He d. there "being well stricken in years;" made his will in 1674, in which he notices his children then living, viz., John, William, Sarah, Samuel, Thomas, Jacob, Ester Wilcock, and Elizabeth Hall, and his wife Mary. He d. Feb. 21, 1677-8. His children, viz.:

John, b. April, 1640, m. Martha Peck, June 8, 1665.

Ester, b. May, 1650, m. John Wilcock.

Elizabeth, b. Jan., 1651, m. — Hall.

JOHN CORNWELL, son of Wm., m. Martha Peck, June 8, 1665, and had children, viz., Mary, b. Nov. 20, 1666; Martha, b. Aug. 30, 1669, m. Richard Hubbard, March 31, 1692; John, b. Aug. 13, 1671, m. Elizabeth Hinsdell, Sept. 15, 1695, and 2d Mary Hilton, March 23, 1698-9; Wm. b. May or Aug. 17, 1673, m. Martha Thompson, Dec., 1699; Pall, b. June 6, 1675, m. Susannah Bowden, Sept. 4, 1701; Hannah, b. Sept. 5, 1677; Joseph, b. Oct. 5, 1679, m. Abigail Harris, April 20, 1710; Thankful, b. March 1, 1682-3, d. Nov. 22, 1684; 2d Thankful, b. July 26, 1685, m. Jonathan Steel, July 6, 1710; Benjamin, b. Dec. 23, 1688, m. Hannah Merry, of Hartford, May 21, 1712.

WILLIAM, Jr., son of Wm. Cornwell, m. Mary Bull, and had issue, William, b. Sept. 13, 1671, m. Esther Ward, Jan. 22, 1691-2; Jacob, b. Oct. 3, 1673, d. 1742; Experience, b. April 14, 1682; Ebenezer, b. Jan. 13, 1688; Eliezer, b. Feb. 1, 1691, d. 1692; William, the father, d. June 18, 1691. His widow Mary, d. Nov. 25, 1717.

SAMUEL, son of William, sen'r, m. Rebecca Bull, and had issue, Mary, b. Oct. 1, 1667, d. Sept. 28, 1669; Rebecca, b. Sept. 26, 1670; William, b. Jan. 22, 1672; Samuel, the father d. Dec. 6, 1728.

JACOB CORNELL, son of William Cornell, m. Mary Bull, and had issue, Mary, b. Nov. 2, 1679, m. Francis Whitmore, May 30, 1698; Jacob, Jr., b. Aug., 1681, d. Nov., 1681; 2d Jacob, b. Oct. 1, 1682, m. Edith Whitmore, 1710-11; Nathaniel, 1684; Giles, 1686; Daniel, 1688; Isaac, 1690; Wait, b. 1692; Elizabeth, 1697, m. Jacob Dowd, 1716; Timothy, b. Aug. 23, 1700; Jacob, sen'r, d. April 18, 1708. His widow m. John Bacon, April, 1710.

THOMAS, the youngest son of William Cornwell, sen'r, of Middletown, m. Sarah Clark, Nov. 14, 1672, and had issue: Thomas, Jr., b. Dec. 27, 1673; Hannah, b. Feb. 27, 1675-6; Daniel, b. Aug. 8, 1677; Jonathan, b. Dec. 19, 1679; Abraham, b. Sept. 4, 1682; Stephen, b. July 6, 1693; David, b. Sept., 1697, d. June 16, 1725.

These are the five sons of William sen'r, and their children. The lot of eight acres which William Cornwall had in Hartford, was held by him only at the "courtice of the town," as he was not an original proprietor of the town; he also had "liberty to fetch wood and keep cows and swine on the common." Many others were in a similar situation. He was a man of reputation and a Representative to the General Court from Middletown, (Sergeant Cornwall,) as early as May, 1654, July, 1654, and in 1657, and 1664, and in 1665; constable in 1664. He drew 24 acres of land at East Hartford, in the division there in 1666. His sons John, Samuel, and William, Jr., were settlers at Middletown, as early as 1671. He provided liberally in his will for his wife Mary, during her widowhood. Deacon Hall and Deacon Stocking, were overseers of his will. His will dated, 4th, 12th, 1674, which he signed. His dau'r Sara, is called Sara Hubbard, Esther Stowe and Elizabeth Hall; inventory £251, 3s. There was a Paul Cornell, at New Haven, who m. Susanna Bouton, in Aug., 1701; had a dau'r Lois; his dau'r Lois, of New Haven, m. Nehemiah St. John, of Norwalk, Dec. 8, 1743, and had eight sons and four daughters; the youngest son, called CORNWALL. Perhaps Paul's name should have been spelled Cornwall. Hannah Cornwall, m. Daniel Doolittle, of Wallingford; he d. at Wallingford, in 1755, aged 80. Nathaniel was early a Justice of the Peace in East Haddam. This family is now very numerous and dispersed in every quarter of this country.

PAUL CORNELL, of New Haven, was a different name and family from Cornwall, of Hartford. Coats of arms: Cornwall has 23; Cornewall has 2; Cornell, 3; Cornewale has 1; Cornewayle has 1 coat of arms. One by the name of Cornwall, and 3 spelled Cornwell, graduated at Yale College, before 1843; and one Cornwall, and one Cornwell graduated at Williams College, before 1844. The family of Wm. is legion in New England and the West; it began at Hartford among the first settlers, with five sons and three daughters.

CORROW, or CARROW, PETER, of Milford, mariner, received a quitclaim or release of Edward Fonnell, of "ye Island of Barbadoes, planter," for £5 "starling," releasing all actions and causes of actions, suits, &c., as said Fonnell had been grandson of said Corrow; Dated, Aug. 14, 1689. CARRE, has 4 coats of arms.

CORWIN, MATHIAS, was one of the leading men of Southhold, Long Island, in its first settlement; the town was originally purchased and settled mostly by New Haven families, and under their government. It was at first called Yennicock. It was purchased in 1640 and 1665; many of the first planters there came with Rev. John Young, who had preached at Hingham, Norfolk, England, and settled under him at Southhold. Mr. Young, reorganized his church while in New Haven, in Oct., 1640, and went with his church to Southhold, and settled the plantation. The church adopted the fundamental agreement which had been established there as a rule of their civil conduct. Mr. Young, stood at the head of all civil and religious affairs in the town, aided by Corwin, Masses, Wells, Tut-hill, Horton, and others of his church. The name of Corwin, was not strictly a Connecticut name, only at the time Southhold, was under the jurisdiction of the Connecticut Colony. Joseph Corwin, graduated at Yale College, 1835.

Perhaps Crerwin, George Curwin, b. at Washington, Co., of Cumberland, in England, Dec. 10, 1610, came to New England, and settled at Salem, in 1638; free, 1665; selectman, captain and representative, 1666; 9 years, and d. Jan. 6, 1685, aged 74. He m. Elizabeth, widow of John White; (she d. in 1668.) He had issue, Elizabeth, Abigail, Hannah, John and Jonathan. He m. 2d Elizabeth Brooks, in 1669, and had Penelope, George, d. in infancy, and Susanna. Capt. Curwin left an estate of £5,964. His son John, Capt., of Salem, free 1665, m. Margaret, dau'r of Governor Winthrop, and d. July 12, 1683, aged 45. His wife d. Sept. 28, 1697. (Felts annals.)

JONATHAN, son of the preceding, bap. in Salem, Jan. 17, 1641; free, 1671; representative, 1689; one of the first council under the new charter 1691, d. June 9, 1718, aged 77; Mathias Curwin, of Ipswich, 1634, probably removed to Southold, Long Island. (Wood. His. of Long Island, 34.) Samuel Curwin, d. at Boston, Nov., 1698. (See Farmer.) The name Badcock, has changed to Babcock, Burnap, to Burnet, and perhaps Curwin, to Corwin.

COSIAR, RICHARD, owned a small tract of land in Norwalk, in 1687. He was £50 in the list of estate of commonage. This name is yet in Connecticut.

COSTER, MRS. HESTER, d. at New Haven, April 5, 1691.

COSMORE, MR. JOHN, (sometimes spelled on the record Gosmore,) of Southampton, Long Island, where he early located and became a leading and useful settler. The General Court of Conn., in May, 1658, ordered that Mr. Cosmore, Mr. Ogden, Capt. Tappin and Goodman Clark, should make distribution of the payments made to them by the Indians, to those who had suffered loss by fire, except "Mr. Fordam is exempted from any part of this pay for the losse of his owne house and goods therein contuyned," &c. The same session Mr. Cosmore and Mr. Ogden, were magistrates from Long Island, and in their seats in the Upper House at Hartford, Ct.; Mr. Cosmore was first a magistrate in Conn., and attended the General Court at Hartford, as such, with Edward Howell, also a magistrate from Southampton, Long Island, May 20, 1647; under the association or compact formed between the town of Southampton and Connecticut, placing themselves under the government of Conn., subject to their laws, there established, "according to ye word of God and right reason," &c. (See combination article, towns and lands, Vol. I., No. 7.) Mr. Cosmore and Mr. Howell, again attended the General Court at Hartford, as magistrates in May, 1648; in May, 1649; May, 1650. Mr. Cosmore, and Capt. Thomas Tappin, in May, 1655; and Mr. Cosmore and Mr. Ogden, attended in 1657 and 1658. An examination of the Colony records of Connecticut, shows that Hon. John Cosmore, Mr. Edward Howell, Mr. John Ogden, Mr. Young, Capt. Thomas Tappin, Thomas Baker and Robert Band, were the leading men on the eastern half of Long Island, in its early settlement. (See Col. Record.)

NOTE.—COGSHALL, BENJAMIN, m. Elizabeth Dunlap, at Stratford, dau'r of Archibald, April 8, 1735, and had issue b. in Stratford, viz., Mary, b. May 4, 1736; John, b. 1737; Sarah, b. 1739; Anhibal, b. 1740; Caleb, b. 1743; Dunlap, b. July 12, 1747, and Daniel, b. May 28, 1749. This name was in Rhode Island, many years earlier. A town or village by the name of Coggsball, is located in Essex County, in England. Sir Henry de Coggsball and Thomas his brother, were of a very ancient family, and had large estates near Coggsball, from which place they derived their name. Sir Henry, d. in the reign of Edward, 3d, and left Sir William his son and heir, who had four daughters to whom his vast estates descended, the direct male line having failed. (See His. of Essex.) The Coggsballs, of Rhode Island, perhaps derived their name from the same source, if not members of the family.

Benjamin Coggsball, of Stratford, tradition says, was a descendant of Governor Coggsball, of Rhode Island, and emigrated to Stratford, Connecticut, about 1733, where some of his children married St. John's and others, and yet have descendants in that vicinity. One of the name graduated at Harvard College, 1817; 2 at Brown University, 1808, and 1827.

COTHREN.—This name may not strictly come within the rule prescribed by the author of this work, the Cothrens not having been either an original or early family of settlers in Connecticut. Yet when any gentleman, born in another State, becomes an adopted citizen of Connecticut, and devotes his time and money, to preserve, collect and publish any part of the unknown history of his adopted State, he is entitled at least to their gratitude, and to the notice of every historian, in and out of Connecticut. The work published by Wm. Cothren, Esq., viz., the History of "Ancient Woodbury," Connecticut, from the first Indian deed in 1659, to 1854, &c., entitles the author to much credit; most of which history has been extracted from the old, half-worn and obliterated records of Woodbury, and by him preserved in form, and in a handsome style, for their descendants, through all time, when the records from which he collected the facts, shall be no more, and the only evidence that they once existed, shall be his history. And that this historian shall last as long as his valuable work, I violate my rule, and I give his line of his family a place.

This name is found in Scotland, (and is strictly a Scotch name,) in England, Ireland and the United States,—spelled Cochran, Coch-rane, and by this family Cothren. Those of this country descended from the first Earl of Dundonald. Some of the Cochranes, of Paisley, went to the north of Ireland, long since, and from thence some of them came to this country and settled in Pennsylvania; John Cochran, of New York, is of that family, and also the Cochran's of Coch-ransville, in Pennsylvania. The first of this branch were distinguished in the revolution. Others of the name came to this country and their descendants are now found in Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, and Tennessee. But the ancestor of William, Esq., of Woodbury, Conn., was William Cochran, who immigrated from Paisley, in Scotland, to Plymouth, in England, about 1740. He was m. and had a son William. He was an extensive manufacturer and ship-owner of wealth. After his arrival at Plymouth, his wife d. and he m. a 2d wife. His son William, then being about 19 years of age, had a disagreement with his mother-in-law, in consequence of which, he privately left his father's mansion, unknown to his father, and sailed for North America. Leaving as he did, he had no means to pay his passage; he worked his passage to New England, and landed at Wood's Hole, Falmouth, Massachusetts, about 1756. His father's parental affections were soon aroused at the loss of his son, and having vessels sailing to various countries, he made inquiries in every direction for him. Yet never until about 1775, learned whether he was living, or where he was located. He obtained this important and long-desired information, from a Falmouth sea-captain, when he had nearly ceased inquiring after his son. After satisfying himself it was his son, he sent by the Captain a purse of gold to his son, and a letter which was stolen by the cabin-boy on reaching the shore. The father again solicited his son to return to him as he had no other child to leave his property to. Before he could prepare to leave home, to visit his father, the war of the revolution broke out, and he was prevented in his object. At this time he had gained a handsome property and had a wife and children. Being a firm republican, he entered the service as lieutenant and served one year. After this in preparing to visit his father, and not expecting the war would last long, he turned most of his property into money. He was by occupation a pilot, and went to pilot a ship out of Falmouth harbor, and not returning, was found four days after floating upon the water, and his paper money being in his pocket was destroyed. This occurred in 1778, in the 40th year of his age. Before he was married he resided at Chilmark, on the Island of Martha's Vineyard, but after he m. he resided at Falmouth. William, his father, of Plymouth, was living after the close of the war and again sent for his son, and if not living, for his eldest son to come to England immediately; but he never went. And William, of Plymouth, England, d. in 1785, aged about 80 years. Here follows the line of William Cochrane, of Chilmark and Falmouth.

COCHRANE, WILLIAM, of Chilmark and Falmouth, Mass., son of William Cochrane, of Plymouth, England, a descendant of the Earl of Dundonald. The blood and breed are Scotch. William, of Chilmark, m. 3. Nathaniel, b. June 21, 1825 ; graduated at Bowdoin College, in 1849 ; resides at Eatontown, New Jersey.

4. George Webber, b. July 12, 1829.

5. Wesley Rogers, b. Dec. 15, 1837, by second wife.

COTHREN, WM., Esq., who was b. at Farmington, Maine, Nov. 28, 1819, son of Capt. William Cothren, of Farmington, Maine, is the well known historian of Ancient Woodbury. He graduated at Bowdoin College, Maine, in 1843, and received his second degree there in 1846, and Master of Arts, ad eundem, at Yale College, in 1847. He removed to Woodbury, Conn., in Nov., 1844 ; and commenced the practice of his law profession there in Oct., 1845 ; and though yet a young man, has become conspicuous at the bar, as a sound and well read jurist. And his history of Woodbury, has given him a reputation at home and abroad. He has been noticed by the Whigs of his Senatorial District, by a nomination for its State

W. H. H. H. H. H.

Senator, in 1855. Though unsuccessful in his election, it shows his standing and character at home. He was elected a corresponding member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, May 5, 1847, and of the Connecticut Historical Society, Nov. 23, 1852. Commissioner for Litchfield County, Conn., by the General Assembly, in May, 1851. He m. Mary J. Steele, of Woodbury, Sept. 3, 1849.

More than one hundred years since a branch of the Cochrane family resided at "Ancient Woodbury," not known where from, but venture to say he was a Scotchman. His name was Samuel Cochrane; not much is found of him. He was a literary man, judging from his extensive library, which consisted of more than 400 volumes, large indeed for that day for a farmer, and even now how many farmers in New England, has a library of 400 volumes. It is not known where his family removed, or whom and where he m. His children were

1. James, bap. May 30, 1747.
2. Martha, bap. May 19, 1749, m. Abel Brownson, Aug. 1, 1770.
3. Ruth, bap. May 12, 1751, m. David Perry, Nov. 3, 1789.
4. Samuel, Jr., bap. March 3, 1754.
5. Elizabeth, bap. June 29, 1756, m. Robert Jackson, March 23, 1775.
6. Sarah, bap. Nov. 30, 1758.
7. Stephen Peet, m. Hester Cochran, 1760.

Jean Cochran m. Benajah Strong, Feb. 3, 1761. The two last above, were probably dau's of Samuel, and the blood of this Cochrane family, yet circulates in Ancient Woodbury, in the veins of the Bronsons, Perrys, Jacksons, Peets and Strong, by marriage. Cochran, Cochrane, Cochrain, Cothrin, Cothren, and perhaps Cockran, were probably all originated from the old aristocratic Scotch name of Cochrane, a name which has been worn by Earls, Lords, Barons and Honorables, in early days, for centuries past. The coats of arms, and a much more full list of the family will be found in Cothren's History of Woodbury, from which most of these facts have been extracted. The two Miss Cocrans of Northampton, Mass., perhaps are descendants of this original stock.

COCHRAN, BENJAMIN F., graduated at Harvard College, 1846; Joseph G., at Amherst, 1842; 2 at Brown University, in 1799 and 1809; Robert at Yale College, in 1846; three at Dartmouth, viz., Peter, 1798; Sylvester, 1835; Thomas H., 1840.

COTTER, WILLIAM, of New Haven, m. Elna, who had been a servant girl to Mr. Winthrop, 3d, 12 mos., 1652. He had a six acre lot in New London, in 1661. His wife was Elenor Cotter, has 2 coats of arms.

COTTON, SAMUEL, of Middletown, was the only son of John Cotton, of Concord, Mass. (deeds.) He m. Mercy, daughter of John Stow, (who, with his father, Thomas, and uncle Samuel Stow, were from Concord.) Nathaniel Stow, son of John, and brother of John Cotton's wife, Mary, (Stow,) not having children, they took young Samuel Cotton to live with them (at Wethersfield.) John Cotton, his father had d. about that time, and his mother had married John Spaulding, of Concord. Nathaniel Stow d. 1705, and having no issue, gave his property to his sister, Mary Cotton, (Spaulding,) and Thankful Hill, of Guilford. Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding gave their share to her son Samuel Cotton, 1705, and her daughter Thankful (Cotton) Hill, of Guilford. Farmer says, there was a John Cotton living in Concord, 1667 and 1679.

Samuel Cotton was a housewright by trade as well as a farmer. June 24, 1703, he purchased a house-lot of 6 acres, in Newfield street, of Isaac Lane, (now the Tuttle place,) for £6, and built a house; afterward purchased quite a quantity of land, and with what his uncle Nathaniel Stow gave his mother, made him a large landholder at Middletown. He m. Lydia, and had children.

1. Mary, b. Nov. 23, 1697.
2. Lydia, b. Nov. 25, 1699.
3. Elizabeth, b. March 25, 1701.
4. Hannah, b. Feb. 10, 1703, d. July 13, 1703.
5. Samuel, Jr., b. May 26, 1704.
6. Prudence, b. July 18, 1707.
7. Ebenezer, b. April 9, 1713.
8. John, b. Jan. 7, 1719.

His wife, Lydia, d. Sept. 6, 1713, and Samuel Cotton m. for 2d. wife, Experience Hall, Feb. 28, 1717. Samuel, senior, d. 1738; will made, Nov. 18, 1737. His brother-in-law, Samuel Hall, administrator. Samuel, in his will, gave Experience, his wife, the property she brought with her, and a cow, &c., and gave his son Samuel one-third part of his estate and "a large Sermon Book, which his father, John Cotton, called Gospel Conversations." To Ebenezer, one-third part; John and Wm., the homestead, house and buildings; to Mary and Elizabeth, the daughters "of my daughter Prudence," 20%. each; and his daughter Lydia, 10%. Few of the name are now found in Middletown.

Samuel Cotton had issue by his 2d marriage, viz. :

9. William, b. Sept. 18, 1720.
10. Daniel, b. Nov. 17, 1722, d. Nov. 8, 1731.
11. Phebe, b. Nov. 1, 1724, d. 1725.

Experience, his second wife, d. April 22, 1762, aged 78.

COTTON, JOHN, m. Hannah ———, of Wethersfield, Nov. 7, 1660, (Rec.) April, 1660, the General Court of Conn. appointed William Wadsworth, and John Deming, senior, to assist Mr. John Cotton in the administration in the estate and as overseers of the last will of Thomas Welles, Esq. John Cotton was made free in Conn., March 14, 1660, with James Rogers, &c.

COY, G., was permitted by the Council at Hartford, April 8, 1676, to transport the corn he brought from Springfield.

COY, STEPHEN, of Windham, m. Anna Bissell, Nov. 11, 1762.

COY, JOSEPH, of Windham, m. Jerusha Sawyer, Dec. 31, 1767. Issue, Elizabeth, Joseph, Jerusha, Lewis, Sarah, John, and Susannah. Coy has 1 coat of arms.

COY, SAMUEL, m. Sarah Hall, and had a dau'r Sarah, b. in Suffield, Jan. 23, 1755. A late name in Suffield.

COY, MATHEW, was at Norwich at an early period of the settlement of the town.

COY, JOHN, was killed by Indians at Brookfield, Mass., Aug. 20, 1675. Richard of Brookfield, 1673. (Far.) This name is now found in Hartford.

COZENS, COUSINS, COOZENS, RICHARD, was admitted at Saybrook, about 1684-5. He m. Mary Chalker, of Saybrook, March 7, 1677-8, and had issue, Hannah, b. March 17, 1778-9; Sarah, b. at Block Island, May, 10, 1683; Bethiah, b. at Saybrook, Nov. 4, 1685.

ISAAC COUSINS, of Boston, and Ann, his wife, 1658; Cosens,

NOTE.—I insert this notice of the Caldwells, once of Hartford, at the suggestion of a descendant, anxious to preserve to posterity the respectable standing of his ancestors. John Caldwell, a Scotch gentleman, was from the county of Ayer, of an ancient and highly respectable family now represented in Ireland by the "Baronet's Caldwell" of "Caldwell Castle," and in England by the "Stamford Caldwards of Linlaywood," Staffordshire. John Caldwell was born in Scotland in 1688, came to this country and settled in Hartford, Conn. He m. Hannah, dau'r of George Stillman, of Wethersfield and Hadley, who was member of the General Court of Mass. John and Hannah had children, viz., James, William, John, Mary, George, and Charles; Charles, b. 1732, m. Mary, dau'r of the 3d Richard Lord, and great granddau'r of the 1st Richard, the 1st Captain of the first Company of Cavalry in Conn., and one to whom the old charter of Conn. was granted. She was also great granddau'r of Gov. Wyllys, and of Gov. Haynes. Charles was a gentleman of large estate in Hartford, and great worth. During the Revolution, at the evacuation of Boston by the British, he was present, and knew many of the trying scenes of that war, and was a paymaster and commissary with the rank of Major. The mansion-house, where he and the family once resided, was nearly opposite the present State House. He left one son, Henry, and several daughters.

Henry, son of Charles, b. 1765, graduated at Yale College, 1784, and immediately after left for England, to secure property which belonged to the family, and remained there twelve years, where he m. Harriet Bromedge, dau'r of Captain John Bromedge, of the Royal Navy, and granddau'r of Admiral Hugh Bromedge, of the same service. Henry left issue, Charles Henry, and George Lord; the last, with his mother, were buried in England. Henry returned to this country with his son Charles Henry, and entered the United States Navy, when organized in 1798, as a Lieutenant of Marines. He served in the war with Tripoli, and in one action in the war of 1812. He d. a Captain in 1812.

Charles H. Caldwell, b. 1793, entered the navy as Midshipman in 1811, and served on the Lakes in the war of 1812. He m. Susan, and 2d Elizabeth, dau'rs of Samuel Blagge, Esq., of Boston, Consul for his Majesty the King of Sweden, and granddau'rs of Benjamin Blagg, Esq., of New York. He had issue by Susan, his first wife, Susan, and Charles Henry Bromedge; and by Elizabeth, his 2d wife, Samuel Blagg. Charles H. was relieved from the command of the Dolphin, in the Pacific, and sent home for the recovery of his health, but he died on his return passage in 1831.

Charles Henry Bromedge Caldwell, b. 1823, entered the Navy as Midshipman in 1838. He m. Judith Emeline, dau'r of Richard G. Packer, Esq., of Boston, and granddau'r of Rev. Samuel Packer, Bishop of Mass. He is now a Lieutenant in the Navy. As it has ever been among the best names of Conn., the State watches the bravery of her sons, even in foreign seas, and are proud of their noble deeds. (See Caldwell, page 469 of this work.)

Three of this name graduated at Yale College, in 1757 and in 1784; two at Dartmouth College, in 1814 and 1817; one at Amherst College in 1837; and eight at Harvard College before 1839.

Isaac, of Haverhill, and Elizabeth, his wife, 1653 ; Isaac Cousins, Locksmith, and wife, Elizabeth, of Boston, 1656.

GEORGE COUSSENS, of Marlborough, England, shipped at Hampton, in the James of London, William Cooper, master, for New England, April, 1635.

Cosen, has 3 coats of arms ; Cosens, 1 ; Cosins, 1 ; Cossen, 2 ; Cosyn, 8 ; Cosyns or Cosins, 1 ; Cozens, 1.

COZZENS, BENJAMIN, graduated at Brown University, Rhode Island, 1811.

COSIN, FRANCIS, member of Ar. Co., 1640 ; Isaac Cosin, or Cosins, of Rowley, about 1650 ; Mathew, of Boston, 1656.

CRAB, RICHARD, was an early settler at Wethersfield, and a man of high reputation which he sustained while he remained at Wethersfield. He represented the town of Wethersfield, at the General Court in Connecticut, from Wethersfield, April 11, 1639 ; Jan., 1639, two sessions in 1640, and in April, 1641, before he removed. In 1641, he with Richard Law, Robert Bates, and others, joined the settlers in the settlement of Rippowams, (Stamford,) and went with the first settlers. (Robert Bates, while at Wethersfield, is recorded a landholder there, by the name of Robert But, Bate, &c., and has yet descendants at Branford, and other towns in Conn.) Mr. Crabb, had 7 tracts of land in Wethersfield, in 1640. He was one of the 30 persons who had land allotted to them at Stamford, in Nov., 1641, in all 276 acres, probably their building lots. He attended the first town-meeting in 1641, when 7 of their principal settlers were appointed to order the town affairs, viz., Mathew Mitchell, Thurston Rayner, Andrew Ward, Jo. Whitmore, Richard Law, and Richard Crabb. After his residence some time at Rippowams, he removed to Greenwich, and in 1655, complaints were made to the General Court at New Haven, of the conduct of the people of Greenwich ; that they permitted drunkenness, harbored runaway servants, and joined persons in marriage without lawful authority. Greenwich, denied the jurisdiction of New Haven over them, and refused obedience to their orders. The General Court therefore, ordered, that unless they appeared before the Court, and submitted by the 25th day of June then next, viz., Richard Crabb and others, who had been the most stubborn, they should be arrested and punished. They complied. This name yet continues in Connecticut. Crab, has 2 coats of arms, and Crabb, has 2.

CRADDOCK, MATHEW, in 1636-7, was indebted to the estate of John Oldham, as settled in Conn., where Mr. Oldham was murdered by Indians, in 1636, £229.

CRADDOCK, NATHANIEL, 1639. Cradoek, has 12 coats of arms and Craddock, has one.

CRAFT, CRAFTS, CROFT, MOSES, of Branford, Conn., afterward of Wethersfield, sold 19 acres of land at Pine Brook, in Branford, to Jonathan Frisbee, Oct. 26, 1683.

CRAFT, CAPT. SAMUEL, of Roxbury, Mass., took the 27th home lot of 20 acres, for his son Samuel, eastward of Plain Hill, in Woodstock, in the first division of home lots, No. 28, at New Roxbury, with 20 acre rights. In the division of good meadow, in 1690, Samuel drew No. 11, and No. 30 in the division of the bad meadow, in New Roxbury; Samuel, of Roxbury, was one of the 39 persons who were signers to settle at New Roxbury, (Woodstock.) John Crafts, m. Martha Graves, of Hatfield, Mass., in 1716; Allis Craft, m. Robert Loverain, in Roxbury, Mass., Jan. 3, 1704-5; William Crafts, 1667; Ephraim, 1667; William, 1671; Alice Craft, b. 1678, d. in Holliston, in the 105th year of her age, and in her fifth widowhood; Ann Crofts, aged 14, was passenger in the Safety, for Virginia, Aug., 1635; and John Crofts, aged 20, was passenger in the America, for Virginia, June 23, 1635. His name appears to have been first in Conn., at Branford, and then at Wethersfield, and in 1686, Samuel, of Roxbury, Mass., is at Woodstock. It is probable the Samuel Crafts, named by Cothren, in his His. of Woodbury, p. 526, as settled at Pomfret, in 1686, was the same Samuel, who settled at Woodstock, 1686, named above from Roxbury, Mass., for this line, (see Cothren's Ancient Woodbury.) 8 of the name had graduated at Harvard College, in 1840, and 2 spelled Craft, in 1784. One Craft, at Yale College, in 1759, and one Crafts in 1808, at Yale College; 3 had graduated at Brown University, Rhode Island, in 1821. It is probable that Moses Craft, who deeded land in Branford, in 1683, had previously lived at Branford, and was the first of the name in Conn.

MOSES CRAFTS, in his deed of the 19 acres above, he sold to Jonathan Frisbee, in Branford, dated Oct. 26, 1683, describes his own residence, viz., "sometimes of Branford, now of Wethersfield." CROFTS, has 17 coats of arms; CROFT, has 7.

CROFT, THOMAS, of Hadley, Mass., m. Abigail Dickinson, Dec. 6, 1683, and had John, b. Nov. 8, 1684; Mary, b. Feb. 2, 1685, at Hadley.

CRAGHEAD, REV. THOMAS, an Irish gentleman, was employed to preach six months at North Stonington, Sept. 4, 1722. In Oct. after, they gave him a call to settle as their pastor, which he accepted,—but was never settled there. The society was incorporated in May, 1720, and the bounds between the societies established in May, 1721, and was named North Stonington, in 1724. Rev. William Worthington, was the first minister, where he preached about one year and a half, but he refused to settle as their pastor in 1722; and in 1726, they gave Mr. Worthington a second call to settle, which he also refused. Mr. Craghead had been a minister in Ireland, and had preached at Freetown, Mass.

Crag, John, John Cragan, James and Niel Camel, came to Boston, in the John and Sarah, of London, bound for New England, in 1651, Scotch prisoners or servants. One by the name of Craighead graduated at Harvard College, in 1847.

CRAIS, JOHN, from Killingworth, removed about 1695, and settled in Andover or Coventry.

Jesse Crais, of Colchester, had a son John bap. Jan. 29, 1774.

CRAMER, ADAM, and Moll his wife, lived near Good Hill, in Woodbury, Conn., about 1750; he was by trade a blacksmith, and his wife Moll, a witch, which fact the people in that vicinity verily believed, and her husband knew she was a witch, as he had constant and afflicting evidence of it from day to day, and to save his own reputation, he put off Moll, that he should not be charged of having familiarity with the Devil. She had a son Adam, who had a daughter Moll Cramer, within the last 60 years. The wonderful deeds of Moll, the witch of Woodbury, are well remembered by the aged and by tradition. See the history of her wonderful deeds in Cothren's Woodbury, p. 160-1, &c. CRAMER, has one coat of arms; Cranmer, has 2; Cranmore, 1.

CRANDALL, is first found in Stonington Conn.; Isaac, of Stonington, a brother of Hosea Crandall, removed from Stonington, and settled at Goshen, in Litchfield Co., where he m. Charlotte, dau'r of Thomas Griswold. His brother Hosea, b. at Stonington, Dec. 7, 1799, m. Harriet Griswold, sister of his brother Isaac's wife. Hosea, had two sons and five daughters. They were probably descendants of George Crandall, of New London, who in 1671, was suspected of opposing the government of the Colony. Reuben Crandall graduated at Yale College, 1828.

CRANE, CRAIN, CRAYNE, MR. JASPER, was one of the first and important settlers of the New Haven Colony, and signed the first and "fundamental" agreement June 4, 1639, (see note, p. 77.)

at a general meeting of all the free planters, at New Haven, "at the barn of Mr. Newman." Tradition says, he had the stewardship and oversight of the property of the Rev. John Davenport, during the time Mr. Crane remained at New Haven; his children b. in New Haven, were Deliverance, Jan. 12, 1642; Mercy, March 1, no year; Micah, Nov. 3, 1647. His son Jasper, Jr., was b. at New Haven, April 2, 1651. He is noticed at New Haven, by Lamb't in 1643, with a family of three persons, and an estate of £480. He was one of those at New Haven, who attempted the settlement of lands on the Delaware, and was repulsed by the Dutch, Natives, Swedes and Fins. On April 20, 1665, (after the union of the Colonies,) he was ordered by the General Court to be read at the election "for nomination for an assistant." He had four sons. John the eldest, d. in 1694, aged 59; Deliverance, was bap. at New Haven, 12th 4th mo. 1642; Jasper, Jr., b. April 2, 1651, and d. in Newark, New Jersey, Nov. 5, 1730, aged 83, m. a dau'r of Governor Treat. Hon. Jasper, sen'r, with his sons John, Deliverance and Azariah, all signed the agreement at Branford, for the settlement of Newark, New Jersey. He also had a dau'r Hannah, who married Thomas Huntington, who also signed said agreement. He had a dau'r "Belle," of whom nothing further is found. After some year's residence in New Haven, he became interested in that well known, bog-ore furnace of early days, of which Richard Post, was founder in East Haven, to which he removed with his family,—says Dod, after he removed to East Haven, where he traded and lived before he removed to Branford, that he had his house-lot on the east side of the green, (in East Haven.) That he sold his lot of 16 acres to Moulthrop, Sept. 7, 1652, and soon after removed his family to Branford. His lands in the first division of lands in East Haven with 3 polls amounted to £480. He remained in Branford a few years, when a project was started by old Jasper Crane and others, to make a new settlement in New Jersey, and in 1665, he with his sons John, Deliverance and Azariah, and many others, from Branford, New London, Milford, New Haven, &c., subscribed an instrument, embracing rules for governing their town upon Passaic River, in the Province of New Jersey, particularly the essential qualifications for freemen, magistrates, deputies, assistants, chief military officers, &c., (to settle Newark.)*

* In 1650-1, a solemn agreement was entered into with Governor Stuyvesant, with great profession of amity and good feeling for the English, by the Dutch, which induced the English settlers of New Haven and Branford, to settle their lands at the Delaware which they had pre-

Yet he remained in Branford, until 1667, as he signed there the contract as to church order according to the platform of discipline, agreed upon by the synod, about 1648, drawn from the word of God for those who remained in Branford, dated, Jan. 20, 1667. He was a surveyor and trader and with "Mr. Myles," laid out much of the town plot at New Haven, and located grants, settled division lines viously purchased. Therefore, fifty men from these two towns, hired a vessel to transport them to their lands, to settle at Delaware. They took with them a commission from Governor Eaton, of New Haven, and a kind letter to Governor Stuyvesant, informing him of the design, notifying him of the previous agreement at Hartford, assuring him they would settle on their own lands and not disturb their Dutch neighbors. The Governor of Massachusetts, also wrote to Governor Stuyvesant, making like assurances. The vessel sailed to New York, delivered the letters to the Dutch Governor; instead of regarding the agreement made the previous year at Hartford, he arrested the bearers of the letters and imprisoned them, and sent for the Captain of the vessel to come on shore, that he wished to speak to him; no sooner was he on shore than he arrested and committed him to prison, and all others of the crew who came on shore, were also imprisoned. Governor Stuyvesant, asked to see their commission, for the purpose of copying it and engaged to return it when copied, and when delivered refused to return it. He kept them imprisoned until they each signed a writing not to proceed to Delaware, but to immediately return to New Haven, and told them if he found them at Delaware, he would seize their goods and send them prisoners to Holland. At the meeting of the Commissioners of the United Colonies at New Haven, in 1651, Jasper Crane, William Tuttle, and others, of New Haven and Branford, petitioned the commissioners, stating the conduct of the Dutch Governor, toward the Delaware settlers, that they were dammified over £300, over and above the insult to the Colonies. That the Dutch had seized their lands and were about fortifying, &c. (See Trumbull, 194-5, &c.—Record of Commissioners of United Colonies, and Colony Record.) Jasper Crane, from the active part taken by him in this petition, was probably one of the company who purchased the lands of the original proprietors at Delaware, and one of the company so harshly treated by Governor Stuyvesant, at "Manhadera." Yet the list of the 51 settlers is not now found.

Crane, Mr. [Jasper,] at the October General Court, 1664, Mr. Sherman and the Secretary, [Mr. John Allyn,] were appointed to go to New Haven, and by order of said Court in his Magisty's name, require all the inhabitants of New Haven, Milford, Branford, Guilford, and Stamford, to submit to the government established by his Magisties Gracious Grant, to the Colony of Conn., and receive their answer. Also to declare all the (then) freemen of the towns above, who were qualified by law, to become freemen of the Colony of Conn., so many as should accept and to take the freeman's oath, &c. Also to declare that the Court doth invest Wm. Leete, Esq., Mr. Jones, Esq., Mr. Gilbert, Mr. Fenn, Mr. Crane, Mr. Treat and Mr. Lawes, with the power of Magistrates, to assist in the Government of the above plantations and according to the laws of the Conn. Corporation, or their own laws not contradictory to the Charter, until the next May. And if any of them refused to govern the people as aforesaid, then Mr. Sherman and Secretary Allyn, were authorized to appoint others in their places, and administer the oath for a faithful execution of the trust. Also to declare that all other civil and military officers, were established in their places, until the next May. (Col. Rec. Hin., p. 437.)

There has been a uniform mistake with all the Huntington family of Norwich, as to one of the three sons of Margaret Huntington, the mother of the first Huntington, at Saybrook, in Conn. She had no son by the name of Samuel. His name was Thomas; he so signed his name at Branford, with the other emigrants from Branford, to Newark.

In page 315, Col. Rec., of Conn., is found Christopher Huntington; on page 297, is found Thomas, and on page 412, Simon made freemen. No Samuel, was made free; Thomas is first found on the Branford record, in 1663. He probably m. Hannah Crane, a dau'r of that good old and disputed titles. Mr. Jasper Crayne, was a selectman and one of the civil managers of the new settlement, 1639, (New Haven.) In March, 1641, he had a grant of 100 acres in the east meadow, selectman, &c. He was in the list of estates at New Haven, at £480, in 1643. In 1644, Mr. Jasper was freed from "watching and trayning," because of his weakness; made freeman in 1644. In 1644-5, had a second grant of 16 acres of upland in East Haven, where he built his house in East Haven, in which Jasper, Jr., was b. April 2, 1651; soon after this, not being satisfied with his location as a merchant, he sold his place in 1652, Sept. 7, and purchased in Branford, or Totoket, and removed with his family, and joined the settlers from Wethersfield, under the head of Mr. William Swain, Swayne, &c., of Wethersfield, with about 20 others from Southampton, Long Island, who emigrated to Totoket, with Rev. Ab'm Pierson. And "Jasper Crane, Esq.," and Mr. William Swayne, were the first deputies to the "General Court of Electors," from Branford, May, 1653, and four years after. In May, 1658, chosen magistrate of saint Jasper Crane, who removed to Newark, as Crane in his will calls Thomas Huntington his son; her age not known; her brother Jasper, Jr., was b. in 1651. There are no facts to show at what date the Huntington family arrived from Roxbury, Mass., at Saybrook, probably not before 1646. Jasper Crane, sen'r, was at New Haven, as early as 1630. Crane, d. an old man at Newark, about 1681, as his inventory was proved in Oct., 1681. Samuel Huntington's name does not appear on the Newark record, until after Thomas had a son Samuel born; but Thomas is found from the early settlement of the town. In 1677, Thomas was appointed constable; in 1684, Thomas Huntington, with Mr. Johnson, Mr. Ward, Mr. Kitchell, Mr. Curties, Deacon Lawrence, Eph'm Burwell, and others, were appointed a committee "to treat with the Governor." No second-rate men at that time were put upon a committee to contend for the rights of the town. Jan. 1, 1684-5, John Curties and Thomas Huntington, were appointed deputies from Newark, to the General Court of the Province of New Jersey. As his name disappears from the record soon after, he probably died. In 1694, proprietors of the lands (of which Thomas had been one) the office was granted to Samuel his son; if Thomas had been living, the grant would probably have been to Thomas. In the office of the Secretary of State, at Trenton, he conveyed land to Jonathan Baldwin, and in Newark town records, in 1702. "Samuel Huntington, son and heir-in-law of Thomas Huntington, deceased," conveyed land to I. and D. Crane. Also in 1702, Samuel and Sarah Huntington conveys to Nathaniel Ward. In 1704, they sold also, and in 1724, Thomas and Simon Huntington, late of Newark, now of Whipanong, in the County of Huntordon, "being equally interested in certain lands of" our honored father, Samuel Huntington, late of Newark, deceased, sold land to Nath'l Ward. Samuel's will, dated, Nov. 11, 1704, and proved, Nov. 19, 1712. Simon above d. in Morris County, New Jersey, aged 74 years, and left to his brother Samuel, "my sermon book the ten Virgins." John Ward, of Branford, in 1654, had six children before he removed to Newark. Ward d. about 1694, (as his will is dated 1694;) his widow had been the widow of Thomas Huntington, (and her name Hannah.) She was probably younger than her first husband, and though considerably younger than John Ward, he probably thought her a suitable companion, as some widowers even in these days, prefer young ladies to old ones. Thomas, sen'r, had a dau'r Hannah, mentioned in the will of her grandfather Jasper Crane, as his granddaughter Hannah Huntington.

New Haven Colony, which he held until 1663. On the union of the two Colonies, he was chosen an assistant (Senator) to the General Court at Hartford. Justice of County Court at New Haven, in 1664-5, one of the magistrates convened at Hartford, by the Governor, in 1665, and one of the assistants and magistrates of Conn., in 1665-6, and in 1667, and magistrate in New Haven Colony, in 1658. In 1665-6, the Branford people became dissatisfied with the union of the two Colonies, of New Haven and Conn., particularly allowing the right of suffrage to such as were not members of the church, &c. In the spring of that year many of them determined upon removing, and agents had been sent to New Jersey, to examine the lands, which had been ceded to the Court by the "land proprietors." The flattering reports stimulated them for a removal, "beyond the marshes lying to the north of Elizabeth." In October, after adopting a code of laws for the government of themselves, (and interlopers,) Mr. Abr'm Pierson, with a part of his congregation left Branford, to settle at (Milford first called) Newark, but Mr. Jasper, appears not to have removed with the first company, though he was one of the 23 persons who signed the first contract in 1665, as he continued a leading man in Branford, with Mr. Mitchell, Taintor, &c., and directed the affairs of Branford, and an assistant, &c., in 1667-8, not only so. Jan. 20, 1667, a new church-covenant was formed for those left at Branford, and Mr. Crane headed the list of signers and church-members under the new organization, with others, who signed the agreement in 1665, and after disposing by deed of his property at Branford, in 1667-8, he joined his associates at Newark. John Crane, the son of Jasper, was born before his father came to New Haven, as John d. at Newark, in 1694, aged 59, and he probably had others born before he came there. His son Delivered, (or Deliverance,) was bap. at New Haven, 12th, 9 mo. 1642. Jasper, Jr., as stated before, b. April 2, 1651, and d. at Newark, March 16, 1712, aged 83. Azariah, another son of Jasper, sen'r, m. a dau'r of Governor Treat, and d. at Newark, Nov. 5, 1730, aged 83 years, (b. in New Haven, in 1647, but no record of it.) Hannah, dau'r of said Jasper, sen'r, m. Thomas Huntington, (son of Margaret,) who signed the article at Branford, with Mr. Jasper, sen'r, &c. Thomas Huntington, of Newark, son-in-law of Jasper, shared in Jasper's will, by his wife Hannah, and Mr. Jasper, calls said T. Huntington in his will his son; he also had another dau'r Bell, of which I have no account, before named. Jasper, sen'r, d. at Newark, about 1681, in his old age. Mr. Crane, (Jasper,) Mr. Leete and

Mr. Phen, (Fenn,) were appointed, or any one of them, to give the oath for assistants to Mr. Jones and the oath of commissioner to Mr. Gilbert; Capt. Nash and Mr. (James) Bishop, July, 1665. Mr. Crane, Mr. Leete, Mr. Fenn, Mr. Treat, Mr. Briant and Capt. Nash, were appointed or any three of them, a committee to discover the approach of the enemy, when De Ruyter, the Dutch admiral, was expected on the coast, from Guilford to Stratford, July, 1665. Jasper, sen'r, and Robert Treat, were the first magistrates in Newark, in 1668-9; they represented Newark, in the General Court same year, and again chosen deputies in 1669-70, and Mathew Campfield chosen magistrate; Crane and Treat, were deputies and magistrates in 1671-2, and in June, John Brown, Jr., was chosen recorder for the town, which office Mr. Treat, had held at 40s. per year; about this time Mr. Treat left Newark, and returned to Conn., where he was made Lieut. Governor, in 1676.

In 1675, Mr. Crane, was deputy and magistrate at Newark. He was one of the purchasers of the Kingsland farm, a large tract of land located northerly of Newark, (now Belville.) Mr. Crane, was ranked with the strong-minded men of Connecticut and New Jersey, and lived to an advanced age, and d. 1681, as the inventory of his estate was proved in 1681. His sons John and Deliverance had seats (says Conger) in the first meeting-house in Newark; Jasper, at £570; John, £250, and Deliverance, at £250. Estate.

1. Crane, John, son of Jasper, b. 1635, d. 1694, aged 59 years.

2. Hannah, dau'r of Jasper, sen'r, b. about 1639, m. Thomas Huntington of Newark, and had a dau'r Hannah, named by Jasper, sen'r, as his granddaughter, and perhaps others.

3. Deliverance, son of Jasper, sen'r, bap. July 12, 1642; and d. without children.

4. Azariah, b. 1647, son of Jasper, sen'r, d. Nov. 5, 1730, aged 83 years. He m. Mary, dau'r of Robert Treat, (who was Lieutenant and Governor of Conn.,) when Mr. Treat left New Jersey, for Conn., he bestrusted his property at Newark, to his son, Deacon Azariah Crane, who lived in the stone house at Newark, and was a man of integrity and standing; had issue, Nathaniel, Azariah, Jr., John, Robert, Mary Baldwin and Jane Bull. Robert Crane, had sons, Timothy, Isaac and Josiah.

5. Jasper, Jr., b. at East Haven, April 2, 1651, removed with his father to Newark, he purchased the estate of Robert Lyman, in Newark, in 1684, after Mr. Lyman returned to New England. Jasper, Jr., d. March 16, 1712, aged 61, at Newark.

Josiah Crane, of Newark, resided between Newark village and Conn. Farms, in New Jersey; in his will dated Nov. 2, 1785, proved 1786; he names "Phebe," his wife and sons Obadiah, Josiah and Elias, deceased. (Elias Crane's children left, were Mary and Phebe.)

He also mentions his daughter Lois Hinman, (wife of Samuel Hinman, of Newark, and son of Jonas Hinman and Elizabeth, his wife, of Newark,) also Betsey Pool, Mary Harrison, Johannah Heard and Jerusha Brown, as his children. Josiah was interred at Conn. Farms, six miles from Newark. His gravestone says, "Capt. Josiah Crane, d. Dec. 15, 1785, aged 67 years." He was a son of Joseph Crane, and brother of Joanna Crane; the grandmother of the antiquarian, Samuel H. Conger, Esq., the present Librarian of the Historical Society, of New Jersey. Joseph Crane, was son of Jasper Crane, Jr., who was the son of Hon. Jasper Crane, sen'r, of N. H., Branford and Newark, an associate of Pierson, Brown, Treat, Harrison, Kitchell, &c., of Newark, in 1668. Joseph Crane, the grandfather of Lois Hinman, d. Aug 4, 1726, aged 50, and his children were, Benjamin, Ezekiel, Isaac, Israel, Josiah, Joseph, Abigail and Joanna, and his wife was Abigail Lyon. (See Hinman.) Rev. John R. Crane, D. D., of Middletown, Conn., a descendant of Jasper, Jr., and Jasper, sen'r, who was the progenitor of most if not all of the Cranes, of New Jersey, an able and respectable family, &c.; Crane, D. D., educated at Nassau, 1805; settled at Middletown, Upper Houses, Ct., 1818.

CRANE, BENJAMIN, sen'r, was a proprietor at Wethersfield, Ct., in 1658; juror, 1664; d. 1693; m. Mary, April 23, 1655; issue:

CRANE, ABIA, of Tolland, m. Mary Fyler, 1741-2, and had issue, Joshua, Isaac, Mary, Abia, Eleazer, Joseph, Eunice and John b. 1766.

CRANE, HENRY, assessed at Guilford, in 1642, or 50, at £30, was early at Wethersfield, and held land there. In Aug. 17, 1658, he signed a petition with Benjamin Crane, of Wethersfield, the same year, for the dismissal of Rev. Mr. Russell ; he probably soon after left Wethersfield, for we find Henry Crane, at Guilford, in 1642, or 50, where he was in the list of freemen in 1669, a representative to the General Court, from Kennelworth, in May, 1675. Henry Crane is next chosen Lieutenant of Killingworth train-band, in 1676; the time he went to Killingworth, is uncertain as we find the name at Killingworth in the first land division, (Henry Cranne, No. 21,) which from the dates appears as early as 1663-4, entered as one of the planters of Kenilworth. (See note, p. 550.) He was a Justice of Peace at Killingworth, and deacon at Durham. His children born or recorded at Killingworth, were Mary, b. Aug. 23, 1670; Phebe, b. 1672; Theophilus, b. Jan. 5, 1674; Abigail, b. 1676; Henry, b. Oct. 25, 1677; Mercy, b. 1680, and Nathaniel, b. Aug. 7, 1682. Henry Crane, of Killingworth, purchased all the land of Mathew Bellamy, then late deceased, of Killingworth, of his son Mathew Bellamy, of Wallingford, Feb. 25, 1698-9. He represented the town at the General Court, in 1675-6-7. The plantation of Cawginchaug, or Durham, settled in 1698-9, and was incorporated in 1708; at this time, Henry Crane, of Killingworth, had removed to Durham, (or his son Henry,) where he was a justice, or commissioner and deacon of the church and d. (Dr. Field says) April 11, 1741, aged 64 years. This deacon Henry, was probably the son of Henry, of Killingworth, who was b. Oct. 25, 1677, at Killingworth. The name is yet found at the last named place. Mr. Henry Crane was one of the assistants in the upper house of the General Court, Oct. 12, 1665 and in May 1666. Henry Crane, deputy to General Court, May, 1675. Lieut. Henry Crane, deputy of Kenilworth, May 11, 1676. Lieut. Henry Crane, deputy for Kenilworth, with Mr. Edward Griswold, May 10, 1677, &c. There was a Henry Crane, of Dorchester, Mass., in 1658, perhaps the same who was at Wethersfield, Guilford and Killingworth.

CRANE, has 7 coats of arms. There was a Crane family at Mansfield early.

Benjamin Crane drew 76 acres in a land division at Wethersfield, in 1670. Benjamin Crane owned land at Wethersfield, in 1659; freeman, May 20, 1658. Crane, Elijah, of Fairfield village, had a deed of 18 acres of land at "Toylsome," in Stratford, of Samuel Sherman, of Fairfield village, dated June 1, 1699. This has been a highly respectable name in New Jersey, since the days of Hon. Jasper Crane. Four of this name graduated at Brown University, before 1829; 8 at Amherst College, before 1855; 2 at Williams College, before 1835; 8 at Yale College, before 1851; 5 at Harvard, before 1848, and 4 at Dartmouth, before 1850.

CRANNY, THOMAS, and his wife Abigail, were members of the first church at Unity, 1730, (North Stratford.) Perhaps Crany, spelled Cranny on the record.

CRAMPTON, JOHN, was an early settler at Norwalk, the exact time not known, or where he was from to Norwalk. He is found in Hall's table of those who had home lots there, "because he was a souldier in the late Indian war," in 1679, 3 acres. At a later period was granted him by Norwalk, two roods of land more or less; also granted by the town for his service as a soldier "in the late Indian warr," 8 acres, 4 roods of land, near Webb's meadow in Norwalk. His estate of commonage of Norwalk which was accepted by the town, Jan. 3, 1687, was £53, 6s., 8d. He was voted by the town of Norwalk £2, 10s. for the year ensuing, to beat the drum on all public occasions, and sweeping the meeting-house, and to keep it neat and clean. The townsmen to furnish so much flax for cords for the town's drum as should be needed, at the expense of the town, 1697. This was before a bell was procured to call the people to church, town-meeting, &c., at Norwalk. He was at Norwalk between 1650-60. He married Sarah Rockwell, of Stamford, dau'r of John, Oct. 8, 1676; children,

Crocker has one coat of arms. (See Croaker.)

CROCKER, OLIVER, removed from Lebanon to Sharon, Conn., previous to the war of the Revolution, and d. April 12, 1812, aged 81 years. His widow d. aged 90 years. His name not perpetuated by any sons.

CROMBIE, ALEXANDER, in 1663.

CROMBE, DANIEL, of Westerly, Rhode Island, m. Alice, the widow of Richard Haughton, who had lived in Milford, Wethersfield and New London, and who d. in 1670. (See Haughton.)

Crombie has two coats of arms.

CROMMELINE, CHARLES, in 1715 owned one-fourteenth part of the mines in Simsbury, (or one-third part,) which he purchased of Elias Boudinot, merchant, of New York, August 10, 1715. Crommelin has one coat of arms, and Cromlyn one.

CROOKE, SARAH, in 1672, and George Ash, in 1682 were settlers at East Hartford. Sarah owned 2 lots of land in Hartford in 1680, which she sold to William Pitkin in 1685; Samuel Crooke, in Conn. in 1664. William Crooke, James Cross, &c., embarked from England for Virginia in the Thomas and John in 1635. Crook has four coats of arms; Crooke five; Crooks one, and Crooks or Cruicks, one.

CROOKER, CROAKER, CROKER, WILLIAM, was early at Stratford, but did not long remain there, and others were there with him, viz., Francis Jacocks, William Quimbe, Edward Higby, widow Ramble, John Gregory, John Reader, John Fish, John Jener, Robert Rice, Francis Stiles, Richard Mills from Windsor, and Thomas Thornton, &c., owners of real estate in Stratford, some of whom were residents for a short period only. Quimby went to New Jersey, where the name is yet found. Richard Mills was a first settler at Windsor; went to Stratford; from there to Stamford. Perhaps the same Esq. Richard who figured at Westchester in its first settlement, the old schoolmaster, perhaps ancestor of the Mills of Fairfield County.

CROCKER, (DEVONSHIRE.) See Croker, for coats of arms.

CROCKER, Wm., of Scituate, soon after 1633, also JOHN CROCKER.

THOMAS CROOKER was an early settler at Stratford, and held lands there. He died and left no children. As the name is sometimes spelt Croaker, perhaps it was Crocker. Sarah Crooker, m. Thomas Maycumber, at Marshfield, Jan. 20, 1676. Jonathan Crooker, m. Sarah Allen, in Marshfield, 1714. Francis Crooker, m. Patience Child, in Marshfield, Mass., March 11, 1723-4, (perhaps Crocker.) (His. Reg.)

Coats of arms, of which the name has several. Croker, (London and Batisford, county of Gloucester,) has one. Croker or Crocker, (original seated at Croker's Hele,) and Crokern, farmer, in Devonshire, became possessed of Lineham, by marriage with the heiress of Churchill. The genealogy of Croker or Crocker, of Lineham, is accurately recorded by Prince, Risdon, and Pole, and exhibits a descent of no less than 11 John Crokers in almost uninterrupted succession. The last male of the elder branch was Courtenay Croker, Esq., whose only daughter and heir, Mary, carried the estate of Lineham into the family of Bulteel. But the male line was preserved by the descendants of Thomas Croker of Trevillas, the 2d son of the 8th John Croker, of Lineham, &c. Croker, (Ireland,) founded by the 2d son of the 8th John Croker, of Lineham, Thomas Croker, of Trevillas, county of Cornwall, who acquired, about 1600, the estate of Ballyanker, county of Waterford, and was ancestor of the Crokers of Tallow, represented by the Right Honorable John Wilson Croker, of the Crokers of Ballynagard, county of Limerick; and a numerous branch settled in Dublin, of which was Anne, dau'r and heiress of Thomas Croker, and wife of Sir Edward Crofton-bart, created, in 1797, Baroness Crofton, and Thomas Croker, Esq., the well-known writer.) Arms, Crest, and Motto, as Croker of Lineham, and six other coats for this name. (See Burk's Heraldry.)

CROSBY, WM., the servant or hired man of James Olmsted, of Hartford. In Olmsted's will he gave Crosby £5, and directed him to serve out his time with his son Nehemiah. Will dated Sept. 28, 1640. This was the first of the name in Connecticut. At a much later period there was a Benjamin Crosby at East Haddam, and at a still later period a Samuel Crosby, of Hadlyme, where he was a Deacon before 1750. The name of Corbe was one of the first proprietors of old Haddam, (perhaps Crosby now.) The name of Crosby came into some of the eastern towns of the colony at a late period of the settlement.

CROSBY, EBENEZER, m. Chloe Hooker of West Hartford, June, 1763. Issue, Chloe, bap. Dec. 13, 1765; Job, bap. March 10, 1685; Ebenezer, bap. June 3, 1785. Harriet Steel, dau'r of widow Britty Crosby, of West Hartford, bap. Sept. 12, 1824. Asaph received to full communion and baptism, Nov. 10, 1783, at West Hartford.

CROSBIE, HANNAH, m. John Johnson, of Ipswich, 1655. Thomas, early at Eastham, an inhabitant in 1695. Dr. Anthony Crosby m. widow Prudence Cotton, 1673. Anthony, aged 23 in 1659; Joseph 25 in 1665; widow Prudence, relict of Dr. Anthony, m. Rev. Seaborn Cotton, 1655, maiden name Prudence Ward. Hon. William Crosby, b. at Billerica, 1770, d. aged 80, (Belfast.)

Oliver, b. at Billerica, of Atkinson, Mass., lawyer at Dover, New Hampshire, 1798; removed to Maine, and d. July 29, 1851, aged 82. Anthony, 1659. (Hist. Reg.)

SIMON CROSBY, farmer, aged 26; his wife Ann, aged 25, and son Thomas, aged 8 months, came to New England in the Susan and Ellen.

Farmer names Anthony, a chirurgion, of Rowley, before 1652, and his sons, Nathaniel, b. 1667, d. 1701; Nathan, b. 1669. His widow, 2d wife of Rev. Seabord Cotton. Joseph, of Braintree, probably son of Simon, of Cambridge, Rep. 1690, d. 26 Nov., 1695, m. Sarah Bracket, 1675; sons Thomas, Simon, Ebenezer, &c. Simon, Cambridge, 1635, free 1636, selectman 1636-8. His son Simon first innholder in Billerica, representative in 1691-7-8, m. Rachel Bracket, July 15, 1659, and had several sons. Thomas, probably an elder brother of the preceding, graduated at Harvard College, 1653, settled at Eastham, and living in 1698. His children were Simon, b. July 5, 1665; Sarah, b. 1667; Joseph, b. Jan. 27, 1669; John, and perhaps others.

THOMAS CROSBY, early at Cambridge and Rowley. This was an early name in Mass., and not so in Conn., except William the servant of James Olmsted, at Hartford. Crosbey has 1 coat of arms, Crossbie 6, Crosby 6, Crossby 2. Minot Sherman Crosby graduated at Amherst College in 1850. Joshua graduated at Brown University, 1792. Five graduated at Yale College before 1824; 14 graduated at Dartmouth College before 1855; 10 graduated at Harvard College before 1805.

CROSWELL, REV. ANDREW, graduated at Harvard College, 1728, and ordained at North Groton, the 4th settled minister, 1729, or Oct. 14, 1736; he had more zeal than prudence, and an anxious and fervid supporter of Whitefield. He remained their minister until 1746, when he left the society and went to Boston and became the first pastor of the 11th Congregational church in Boston, and was installed Oct. 5, 1748, and continued until he d., April 12, 1785, aged 76. (See Caulk. Hist. New London.) The north society of New London was embodied in church estate in 1729.

CALEB CROSWELL, of West Hartford, m. Hannah Kellogg, Feb. 26, 1767. The manuscript of this family is either mislaid or lost. Three of the name had graduated at Harvard College in 1798, and three at Yale College in 1822.

DR. CROSWELL of New Haven is supposed a descendant of the West Hartford family. Little is found of the early family of this name. It has proved too good a family to lose its ancestors.

CROSS, WILLIAM, of Windsor, was an early settler there, he also owned several lots of land in Wethersfield as early as 1644. He was fined 40s. in 1644-5 for having wine sold in his shop without a license. He was defendant in court in Hartford at the suit of Richard Butler, for £6, in 1649. William Cross appears to have been a seafaring man. He died at Fairfield, and the inventory of his estate was presented in court at Fairfield, Oct. 25, 1655. He left a widow, and perhaps children. William Cross, of Fairfield, was sued by Thomas Olcott, of Hartford, for £60, in 1650.

CROSS, SAMUEL, of Windsor, supposed son of William of Fairfield, m. Elizabeth Chapman, widow of Edward Chapman, deceased, of Windsor, July 12, 1677, and had children, Hanna, b. June 11, 1678, d. July 7, 1680; Samuel, b. Dec. 10, 1679, d. the same day, and other children. He purchased land in Windsor of Jacob Gibbs, in 1678. He also had 40 acres allotted to him in Suffield, May 16, 1671, it being the ninth recorded land in Suffield. He d. in 1707. He had sons-in-law, Simon Chapman, who was cousin to John, Samuel, and Jonathan Bates. The following shared in his estate, Sarah Ketchum, Jonathan Jagger, Hannah Welch, James Picket, Mary Hoyt, and Ephraim Phelps.

CAPTAIN SAMUEL CROSS, of Windsor, and wife Elizabeth, had children, as appears by the will of his son-in-law, Simon Chapman, who calls John and Nathaniel Cross his brothers, and gave his cousins John Bates £3, Jonathan and Samuel Bates each £3, his cousin Sarah Ketchum £3, and his cousins Jonathan Jagger, Hannah Webb or Welch, James Picket, Mary Hoyt, each £3, and Ephraim Phelps £5 when of age, with the prefix of cousin to each of them; and gave his son-in-law, Simon Chapman, all his lands at the swamp next to Hoit's meadow, and ten acres Mr. Cross purchased of John Eliot, Esq., near Gravelly Hill in Windsor, his cart, &c., and provided for his brothers John and Nathaniel Cross's sons, provided they had sons live to be of age. His will dated July 1, 1707. Samuel Cross, of Windsor, June 11, 1676, gave 2s. and 6d. to the poor of other colonies in the great contribution there for this purpose.

CROSS, NATHANIEL, of Stamford, and his wife Abigail, had issue b. there, viz., Hannah, b. July 23, 1687; Abigail, b. April 8, 1694. By his second wife, Hannah, he had Deborah, b. Jan. 17, 1701-2; Nathaniel, b. April 13, 1703; 2d Abigail, d. Sept. 6, 1707; 3d Abigail, b. Sept. 5, 1710; John, and perhaps others.

CROSS, PETER, and his wife Mary, of Windham, (from Ipswich,) had children, viz., Mary, b. April 20, 1679; Stephen, b. May 15, 1681; Elizabeth, b. June 14, 1683; Peter, Jr., b. Nov. 8, 1685; Daniel, b. March 8, 1688; Experience, b. Dec. 1, 1691; Abigail, b. June 23, 1694; Mary, b. Dec. 9, 1695, d. same day; 2d Mary, b. 1697, and Wade, b. Dec. 15, 1699. One Mary and Wade by his 2d wife. His wife Mary, d. Dec. 9, 1695, in child-bed. Some of his children were probably born before he settled at Windham.

CROSS, JOHN, of Windsor, son of Samuel, m. Mary Grant, Nov. 3, 1686. He had a dau'r Hannah, b. at Windsor, April 10, 1694, and probably others. He d., and distribution of his property, in 1721; widow Mary; children, Nathaniel, Mary Picket, Hannah Jagger, and Sarah Bates.

CROSS, MR. JOHN, secured his farm near Rowley, "for ten shillings yearly toward a free school in Dec., 1650," &c. He did much for the Ipswich grammar school. John Cross lost his wife Mary; buried in Boston in 1640. Captain Ebenezer Cross, of Portland, Maine, d. Jan. 9, 1851-2, aged 88. Robert Cross, son of Stephen, 1660. John, sen'r, of Ipswich, 1647. COUCH or COUCHE, has one coat of arms. Or. two plates, gu. a canton sa. Crest.—A semi bear ramp.

CROW, Mr. JOHN, was one of the early and most respectable settlers of Hartford, though young when first here, he drew 20 acres in the first land division at Hartford, in 1639, and had 590 acres in the division of land in East Hartford, in 1666. He is not known to have been a relative of John Crow, of Charlestown, Mass., who was one of the original proprietors of Yarmouth; as the genealogy of John, of Barnstable, has been traced, (so says Otis.) John, of Hartford, became the largest land-holder in Connecticut, and received many of the honors of the Colony; juror at Hartford, May, 1647–49. He appears to have settled in East Hartford, where two of his sons also settled, after John, sen'r removed to Hadley, Mass.

Mr. John Crow, early m. Elizabeth Goodwin, the only child of Elder William Goodwin, one of the pioneers, proprietors and settlers of Hartford, and one of its large land-holders. Mr. Crow after a few years, removed to East Hartford. After Mr. Goodwin and his son-in-law, Crow, had resided at East Hartford and Hartford, until 1659, they became dissatisfied, though Mr. Goodwin was then a proprietor of Hartford and Farmington, he wished in his old age to become the proprietor of Hadley. And "at a meeting at Goodman Ward's house in Hartford, April 18, 1659," (see page ante, 97, note.) Mr. Goodwin and his son-in-law, Mr. John Crow, signed the agreement entered into, by many of the Hartford, Wethersfield and Windsor settlers, to remove themselves and their families out of the jurisdiction of Connecticut, into the jurisdiction of Massachusetts, and settled the town of Hadley. As they had stipulated they both removed with their families to Hadley, in 1659, though Elder Goodwin, in his old age returned to Farmington, and soon after d. there March 11, 1673–4. By the death of Mr. Goodwin, his large estate in land and the original right of Bartholomew Greene, by vote of Hartford, fell into the hands of Mr. Crow, and his wife, which made him one of the largest land-holders in the Colony, and of great wealth. Mr. Crow and his wife Elizabeth, had children, viz.:

1. John, Jr., settled at Fairfield, and was concerned in trade and commerce in company with his brother-in-law Hon. Giles Hamlin, and died at sea in 1667, supposed unmarried, left no issue.

2. Daniel, settled in East Hartford.

3. Nathaniel C., also settled in East Hartford, and was there with Daniel Crow, 1683.

5. Esther, or Hester, m. Hon. Giles Hamlin, of Middletown, in 1655. (See Hamlin.)

6. Hannah, m. Thomas Dickinson, son of Nathaniel, of Hadley, formerly of Wethersfield.

7. Melitabel, m. Mr. Samuel Partridge, of Hatfield, son of Worshipful William, of Hadley, Sept. 24, 1668.

8. Elizabeth, m. 1st, William Warren, or Marvin, of East Hartford, and 2d, Phineas Wilson.

9. Mary, m. Noah Coleman of Hadley, Dec. 27, 1666; Noah, d. July 20, 1676, (or his father.)

10. Sarah, b. at Hartford, March 1, 1646-7, m. Daniel White, at Hadley, Nov. 1, 1661, and lived in Hatfield.

11. Ruth, m. Wm. Gaylord, at Hadley, Dec. 21, 1671.

12. Anna, b. July 13, 1649, born at Hartford.

John Crow, d. in 1685.

CROW, JOHN, JR., son of Mr. John Crow, of Hartford and Hadley, was concerned in trade and commerce at Fairfield, Conn., with Hon. Giles Hamlin, of Middletown; he d. at sea, in 1667. He left no children and probably never married. The inventory of his property taken at Fairfield, Jan. 1, 1667. In part, viz., New England silver, £5 5s.; English money, £6 3s.; Spanish money, £9 1s. 10½d.; 2 silver cups, a silver hat-band £1 10s.; silver shoe buckles; silver stopper and seal, £0 12s. 00d.; 5 gold rings, £2, &c.; Inventory, £298 11s. 1d. Feb. 5, 1667, Mr. Marvin and his wife, Elizabeth Marvin, John Crow, sen'r, Giles Hamlin and Hester his wife, stated to the Court their agreement for the division of the estate of John Crow, Jr., deceased, in New England, Barbadoes, or elsewhere; 1st, all debts being first paid; that one-third of the whole should be allowed to Esther, sister of the deceased and wife of said Giles Hamlin, and their children; and the other two-thirds of said estate should be left to his father, John Crow, sen'r, and by him distributed to his other children at his discretion. The Court approved of the proposition, and allowed John Crow, sen'r, and his son-in-law Giles Hamlin, to close the estate as had been proposed. The property was finally distributed to his brothers and sisters. John Crow's daughters m. into the best families, but his sons did not do as well. The name has become extinct in Connecticut.

CROW, CHRISTOPHER, first came to Hartford, not as early as some others ; he remained a few years and then removed to Windsor. He m. Mary Burr, dau'r of Benjamin, of Hartford, Jan. 15, 1656. He had two tracts of land recorded in Hartford, one " where his house standeth," in 1652, and a piece of wood land he purchased of Wm. " Heirs " (Ayres,) in 1659. He was made a freeman, May, 1656. His children, found on the distribution of his estate, were,

1. Samuel, aged 21 years in 1683, m. Martha Moses, Jan. 30, 1689, and had Martha, b. at Windsor, Nov. 13, 1690.
2. Mary, aged 18, Oct., 1683.
3. Hannah, aged 15, Feb., 1683.
4. Martha, 14 years, May, 1684.
5. Benoni, 12 years, 1683.
6. Margaret, 11 years, April, 1684.
7. Thomas, 5 years, 1684.

He was made freeman at Hartford, May 1658.

Christopher Crow, remained many years in the Conn. Colony at Hartford and Windsor. His farm where he last resided in Connecticut, was at Greenfield, in Windsor. In 1675, Major Treat, appointed commander of the troops raised to repress the Indians, and ordered to march to Westfield and Northampton, in Mass. ; on his way at Windsor, he learned that four Indians between Windsor and Simsbury, had assaulted and shot at Christopher Crow ; that the whole company of Indians were eight. Major Treat halted his troops long enough to consult the council, and they ordered him to leave 30 of his men at Windsor, and proceed with the remainder. But on the following day the council learned other signs of Indian hostilities ; that John Colt had been shot at by them, &c. ; that Indians were lurking about the Hartford meadows, &c. These facts considered, the council ordered Major Treat forthwith to return to Hartford with his troops. (See Record of Council.) For some cause Christopher left the Colony, and afterward, about 1680, his wife also left, and left behind her three young children in a suffering state ; in mercy to the children an order was made Dec. 11, 1680, to preserve the estate the parents had left, to pay his debts, and Samuel and Thomas Burr, were appointed by the court to take an inventory of the estate and dispose of the children the best way they could, and pay the debts, &c. An inventory was returned to the Court in Hartford, in 1681. In 1684, administration was granted on his estate to Josiah Clark, administrator, who had £73, besides some property in the hands of Samuel Burr, and an axe and gun in Samuel Crow's possession, and was ordered to distribute £10 of the personal estate to the relict and her heirs, and one-third of the real estate for her life. To the eldest son £16; to her other children £8 each, to the sons at 21 years of age, and to the daughters at 18 years. Inventory dated March 6, 1683; amount of inventory, £109 16s. 6d.

There was a Christopher Crow, who had a son Reuben, bap. at West Hartford, Feb. 11, 1739, and Roger, bap. at West Hartford, July 19, 1740. There was also a John Crow, who d. about 1715. Hannah, his relict and son Nathaniel.

CROW, NATHANIEL, of Hartford, d. and distribution made to John his only son, presented by Daniel Dickinson and Debora Crow, Oct. 4, 1714, and received by the court, though he probably d. as early as 1709. Daniel Dickinson's children in right of their mother Elizabeth, deceased. Lieut. Olcott, guardian for Debora Crow; distribution in 1711. This is a rare name in Conn., at this time, 1854. Philip Crow, deputy, 1642. Wm. Crow, May 1, 1663, with Eph'm Treckham, took the inventory of Francis Cook, of Plymouth. Deliverance Crowe, aged 30 years, in 1654. (Hist. Reg.)

The sons of Mr. John Crow, of Hartford and Hadley, partook very little of the blood of Elder Goodwin, or his daughter. Crow, or Crowe, Ireland, has 1 coat of arms; Crow, 4; Croe (Croestoun, Scotland.) Gu. three buckles or.

Crowe, (Llanherne Co., Carmarthen, as borne by Sir Sackville Crowe, of that place, created a Baronet, in 1627, and allowed to Gyles Crow, of Brasted Co., Kent, in 1586.) Gu. a chev. or, betw. three cocks arg. Crest, a cock ar, combed, wattled and membered, or. Nathaniel Crow, son of John, of Hadley, d. before 1697, and Andrew Warner, administrator in right of his wife Deborah, relict of Nathaniel Crow, deceased, and presented to the Court several sums as debts due from his estate. Daniel Crow, of East Hartford, d. Aug. 12, 1693, inventory taken Aug. 24, 1693, £330 19s.

NOTE.—A list of many of the soldiers in the famous battle against the Pequot Indians, in 1637, can most of them be seen on pages, 117 and 118, in "Hartford in Olden Time," by Scava. Though Jonathan Ince, shared in soldier's field lands in Hartford. He did not share in the first house-lots in Hartford, with the original proprietors, in 1639. And his lands in Hartford, were afterward assigned to Mr. John Cullick, for the reason that Mr. Ince, did not come and possess and improve them. I have supposed he never settled in Hartford, yet he might have been in the Pequot battle, as several others, who came to Hartford, left there before the first house-lots were distributed. Thomas Fisher, John Friend, Samuel Whitehead, (to New Haven,) and John Gibbs, of Wethersfield, (to New Haven,) and others, and perhaps others left before any record was made of them.

CROW, JOHN, supposed a grandson of John, sen'r, of East Hartford, m. Mabel, and had a son Nathaniel, b. July 11, 1711.

CROWFOOT, CROFUT, CROFOOT, JOSEPH, of Springfield, m. Mary Hillier, dau'r of John, of Windsor, April 14, 1658; and had issue b. in Springfield, viz., Joseph, b. 29th of 4th mo., 1660; Mary, b. 4th of 10th mo., 1661; John, b. Aug., 1663; Samuel, b. Oct. 13, 1665; James, b. Jan. 23, 1667; Daniel, b. Jan. 23, 1669; Mathew, b. April, 5, 1672, and David, b. Oct. 11, 1674; (seven sons and one dau'r.) Joseph, d. at Northampton, 1678.

CROFOOT, JOSEPH, son of Joseph, of Springfield, b. 1660, removed and settled at Wethersfield, Conn., and the town of Wethersfield granted him 20 acres of land there in 1697. His wife was Margaret, m. Dec. 30, 1686, and had children b. in Wethersfield, viz., Mary, b. Sept. 25, 1687, d. 1689; Margaret, b. March 8, 1689; Joseph, b. June 12, 1692; Elizabeth, b. Aug. 14, 1693; 2d Mary, b. Jan. 11, 1695; Mehitabel, b. July 1, 1697; Sarah, b. March 19, 1700, d. young, and Ephraim, b. July 27, 1705; widow Margaret, d. in 1733.

CRAWFOOT, STEPHEN, son of Joseph Crawfoot, of Northampton, who d. there in 1726, and grandson of Joseph, sen'r, of Springfield, who died in Northampton, in 1679; this Stephen settled in Belchertown, Mass., (says Doolittle,) before 1737, and was a soldier in the French war from that place, baptized May 16, 1756, and d. 1765, aged 55. His daughter Abigail, married Joseph Billings, in 1756, d. 1813, aged 80. Ebenezer Crawfoot, son of Stephen, m. Elizabeth Billings, she d. 1783, aged 42. Ebenezer was killed by the fall of a barn in Pittsfield, in 1764. (Dool.) the name at Belchertown, is spelled Crawfoot. Ebenezer Crowfoot, of Lebanon, m. Joanna Smith, of Suffield, Nov. 5, 1724; Stephen Crowfoot, m. Abigail Graves, of Hatfield, March 14, 1716; Crofoot, Stephen, of West Springfield, had a son Stephen, bap. there April 30, 1727, and Ebenezer, bap. Nov. 7, 1725; Benjamin Crowfoot, of the east parish, had a dau'r Eunice, b. June 30, 1734. There was a Joseph Crowfoot early at Windsor; Joseph Crofoot, m. Esther St. John, of Norwalk, Conn., May 15, 1776, and had Ebenezer, b. May 10, 1777. This Ebenezer, m. Sarah Gregory, of Norwalk, Sept. 3, 1795, and had Esther, b. at Norwalk, Aug. 20, 1796; perhaps others. The name of Crofoot, went from Wethersfield, to Middletown, at an early period, and where it yet continues. Dr. Eveline, now of Hartford, is a descendant of the Middletown family. The Crofoots, Crawfoots and Crofuts, of Conn., all appear to have descended from Joseph and Mary, of Springfield, Mass., but so early scattered to distant places, it is expensive collecting them in form, being in two states.

CROWFOOT, (as borne by William John Crowfoot, of Beccles, Esq., M. D.,) has 1 coat of arms; Craufurd, has 3; Crawfurd, has 28; Crawfurde, 1. (Perhaps originally Crawford.)

CROWELL, BENJAMIN, from Wethersfield, settled at Middletown; he m. Sarah Johnson, of Middletown, Sept. 30, 1708, and had children, Benjamin, Jr., b. June 16, 1709; William, b. Sept. 25, 1712; one other son perhaps John, obliterated. Mr. Benjamin, the father, d. Jan. 24, 1752, and Sarah, his widow, d. Dec. 5, 1767.

CROWEL, JOHN, JR., of Windham, m. Mary Hows, March 18, 1747, and had issue b. there; Ebenezer, b. Jan. 8, 1748; Lydia, b. March 18, 1750; Eliphalet, b. April 8, 1752; Deborah, b. Feb. 8, 1755; John, b. Feb. 28, 1757; Susannah, b. May 26, 1759, d. in '59; Silas, b. June 20, 1760; Mary, wife of John, Jr., d. Aug. 18, 1762. This has been an old name at East Haddam.

CROWELL, REV. ANDREW, was settled at Groton, 1736, and dismissed.

CROWELL, ROBERT, graduated at Dartmouth College, 1811; Judah, at Harvard College, 1844; Josiah B., at Yale College, 1845; Edward P., at Amherst, 1853.

CRUMP, THOMAS, of Hartford, was a servant of Gov. Hopkins, and d. in 1644-5. Andrew Bacon and George Graves, March 5, 1644-5, testified in Court, that they were with Thomas Crump, when he was sick, not long before his death; he said "his debts being paid, he desired his master would doe w'th yt as he pleased," (his estate,) probably left no family. Thomas, was a defendant in Court, at Hartford, in an action of slander, in 1643; Gov. Hopkins settled his estate, 1644-5; George Crump, of Hartford, d. in 1644; Crombe, Alexander, 1663; Crompe, Bridget, &c., aged 18, embarked in the Merchant's Hope, Hugh Watson, Master, for Virginia, in 1635. This name is now found at New London, in Conn., and in Virginia.

NOTE.—In July, 1665, Robert Chapman, Major Mason, Ensign Avery, Thomas Minor, or any three of them, were appointed by the General Court, a committee to consider some way to discover the approach of the enemy, from Southerton, to Guilford, in Conn., at the time De Ruyter, the Dutch Admiral was expected on the coast.

John Chatfield, of Derby, was granted by the town of Derby, a piece of swamp land, near horse-hill, in Derby, about 1681, and was the first of the name there.

Collins, Daniel, had three acres of land in his list in Derby, in 1681, two acres of which was his home or house-lot at £3 10s. 00d., two loads of wood to the minister; and George Beman, at the same date, was listed, two acres home-lot; and John Beach, three acres of home-lot, £1 10s., in Derby, 1681, and two loads of wood to the minister.

CROMPE, has 4 coats of arms; Crumpe, Crump, or Crompe, (Kent,) has one.

CULLICK, HON. JOHN; (this name is occasionally spelled Cul-lic.) He was for a time in Mass., and did not come to Connecticut to reside with the first company of settlers at Hartford. He was a citizen of Hartford, about 1641, and soon after became one of the prominent men of the Colony of Connecticut. In 1642, he was foreman of the jury, at a particular court at Hartford; deputy to the General Court, in 1644, '46, '47, &c.; magistrate and assistant, in 1648, '49, '50, '51, '52, '53, '54, &c.; and Secretary of the Colony from 1648 to 1657, inclusive. He was one of the selectmen of Hartford, in 1648. He, with Major John Mason, were appointed by the General Court of Conn., Commissioners for the Colony, and "Mr. Taillecoat," chosen as a reserve, May 17, 1655, to agitate with other Colonies, &c. He appears by the colony records to have been called upon by the General Court, with other leading men of Conn., to many important places of trust. He was uniformly after 1643, while he remained in Conn., a member of the General Court, either as deputy or magistrate, or juror, or judge, which he performed, even after he held the office of Secretary of State, to the satisfaction of the good people of the Colony. Capt. John Cullick and Hon. Roger Ludlow, were appointed commissioners to the convention, of the United Colonies, of New England, in May, 1653. Yet Capt. Cullick, was absent from the General Court, May 18, 1653, and Mr. Ludlow and Mr. Cullick, were desired by the General Court, to attend the next meeting of the commissioners, at Boston, in Sept., 1653.

Major Mason and Mr. John Cullick, were chosen commissioners, June 3, 1654, and desired to go down to the bay and attend the service there, as occasion should present, "men of approved fidelity and discretion." July 11, 1654, the General Court appointed Mr. Welles, Mr. Webster, "Mr. Tailcoat," Mr. Steele, Andrew Bacon, Mr. John Cullick and Samuel Fitch, a committee to draw and send one letter to the "Caratyon," one to Gen. Monck, and one to Mr. Hopkins, and to provide for the commissioners. (See Col. Rec.)

Mr. Cullick, Mr. Steele and Mr. Allyn, were a committee on Mr. Whitting's will, Sept., 1654, which was approved by the General Court, as far as they all agreed. The same court gave Mr. Cullick liberty to draw and sell a hogshead of claret, and a quarter cask of red wine to his friends and neighbors, free from the country excise, at the same time had free license for the future to draw and sell to his neighbors and friends what wines and liquors he see cause free of duty. At this court a severe law was enacted against selling wines, liquors, cider and strong beer to the Indians. Sept., 1654, Mr. Cullick, Mr. "Tolcoat," Allen and Hollister, were to receive the amounts for the Fort-rate, of the constables for the several plantations for the year past, upon the river, &c. In Sept., 1654, Mr. Cullick, (if his occasions permitted him, if not,) Mr. Clark and Mr. Mason were appointed to go to Pequot, and with Mr. Winthrop, to hold a particular court, before winter, &c. In March, 1654-5, Mr. Webster and Mr. Cullick, were appointed by the General Court to audit the treasurer's account for the preceding year. (At this time and for many years after, there was no such officer as controller of public accounts in Connecticut.) A committee was appointed by the General Court and with auditors to adjust the business, now performed by the controller. March 7, 1654-5, Mr. Welles, and Nathaniel "Dickerson," were appointed for Wethersfield; Mr. Webster, and Mr. Cullick, for Hartford; Mr. Clark and Mr. Allyn, for Windsor; Mr. Steel and Stephen Harte, for Farmington; Thomas Allyn and Robert Webster, for Middletown; to receive, allow and sign to the treasurer the bills of debts from the country, to any particular person presented to them in their several towns, (against the Colony,) and Mr. Cullick and Mr. Webster, to audit the treasurer's account. The General Court appointed Mr. Cullick, Major Mason and Mr. "Tailcoat," to go to Pequot, to hold a court there and perform other services. In 1656, Mr. Cullick, with the Governor and Mr. Steel, used all their power and exertions to heal the bitter quarrel in the NOTE.—As there is so large a number of facts connected with the life of Mr. Cullick, in Connecticut and Massachusetts, in a work of this kind, it can not be expected, that but few of them, can be published. Mr. Cullick, (as agent of his brother-in-law, Mr. Fenwick,) after the return of the latter to England, had received from the several towns their annual payment, to the "Fort-rate," stipulated for in the agreement between Mr. Fenwick and the Colony of Conn., in 1644. By one of the articles of this agreement Mr. Fenwick, had engaged to secure to the Colony, "if it came into his power," the right of jurisdiction to the territory, embraced in the Earl of Warwick's grant to Lord Say and Sele and his associates. This engagement remaining unfulfilled at the death of Mr. Fenwick, the General Court sought to recover from his agent a portion of the monies which had been paid, as was alleged, without valid consideration. They therefore, refused to surrender Mr. Fenwick's estate, which by his will had been devised to his sister, (Mrs. Cullick,) or to grant administration thereon, until an equitable settlement of accounts should be effected. By the conditions of this settlement, Capt. Cullick, compromised with the Colony, by the repayment of £500, and an acquittance of all claims against the Colony growing out of the agreement for the purchase of the river, &c., and the court released the estate of Mr. Fenwick, from the restraint formerly imposed, and discharged Mr. and Mrs. Cullick from all existing liabilities "so far and no further, as the estate bequeathed to them had any reference to the agreement." (See Appendix. Note by Trumbull, of first volume of printed Records of Connecticut, pages 573-4. Also, pages 318-329, 338, 345, and 357.)

church at Hartford. Mr. Cullick and Mr. Lord, were requested by the General Court, March 24, 1657-8, to take in the treasurer's account for the Commonwealth. This was the last record of Mr. Cullick, as secretary, in his hand-writing, and the Hon. Daniel Clark, of Windsor, is recorded as deputy and recorder, under date of May 20, 1658. In May, 1657, the General Court requested Mr. Cullick, to write a letter to Mr. Winthrop, of New London, forthwith; informing him to what place the country had chosen him, (Governor,) and desire his present assistance, as much as may be.

The General Court, October session, 1649, desired Mr. Hopkins, Capt. Mason, Mr. Cullick, Mr. Allyn, and "Mr. Taylcoate," to prosecute the works to be about the fort (at Saybrook) and dwelling-house to be erected for the service of the country with effect, as had been before ordered. In 1651, the Governor and Mr. Cullick, with Mr. Clark, were desired by the General Court to hold a court at Stratford, for the trial of Goody Bassitt, for her life, (supposed for witchcraft,) and if the Governor could not go, to have Mr. Welles supply his place. These facts from the Colony record, show the estimation of the people of Connecticut, of the exalted character of Mr. Cullick, without a recapitulation of the history of the purchase of the Fort at Saybrook, and the lands which were claimed by Mr. Fenwick, and the useful part taken in that purchase and final settlement by Mr. Cullick. A Mistress Cullick; d. at Hartford, about 1648, perhaps the first wife of Hon. John Cullick. Mr. Cullick, m. Elizabeth Fenwick, a sister of Mr. George Fenwick, of Saybrook, May 20, 1648. She became a large legatee in the will of Mr. Fenwick; they had children b. in Hartford, viz., John, b. May 6, 1649; Elizabeth, b. July, 1652; she m. Benjamin Batton, of Boston.

John, son of Hon. John Cullick, graduated at Harvard College, in 1668, and Farmer says, d. before 1698. Secretary Cullick, though he signed to remove to Hadley, removed with his family to Boston, about the time his friend Elder Goodwin removed to Hadley, in 1659 or 60, where Hon. John d. Jan. 23, 1663. In Oct., 1660, the General Court of Conn., after a long controversy as to the settlement of the estate of Mr. Fenwick, empowered Capt. Cullick, in behalf of his wife Elizabeth, and their children, freely to possess and improve the estate in the Colony of the late Hon. George Fenwick, deceased, according to the true intent of the will, with power to administer on said estate in behalf of himself, his wife and children, as legatees to said estate; Mr Cullick, in Oct., 1660, with his wife Elizabeth, then of Boston, for themselves, heirs and legatees to this estate of said

Fenwick, in New England, discharged and acquitted the Colony of Conn., the General Court, and all and every plantation therein, from all sum or sums of money paid, or any way payable to George Fenwick, Esq., or his assigns, by virtue of the agreement and purchase made of the river, &c. (See discharge Col. Rec. ; also, see Trumbull, Col. Rec., p. 573 and 4 ; also 345, 327 and 329 ; also, see Col. Rec. as to Cullick and Fenwick.) Richard Sawyer, a hired servant of Mr. Cullick, d. in 1648.

Mr. Cullick has but two children recorded at Hartford, though he must have had at least two sons, in 1657, as Mr. Fenwick, the brother of Mrs. Cullick ; in the codicil of his will, speaks of his " sister Cullick and her children," and of " her eldest sonne," having a double portion, &c. Hon. John Cullick was an early, important and most useful citizen of Hartford, in the early settlement of the town of Hartford and Colony of Conn. He acted as captain, juror, deputy, magistrate, judge, secretary of the Colony, and often a member or commissioner of the United Colonies of New England, and upon many of the signal committees appointed by the General Court, and by the Governor. His son John, graduated at Harvard College, in 1668, and died soon after 1690. There was an ELI CULLICK, who m. Sarah Foote, of Colchester, Conn., in 1758, not a known descendant of Hon. John, of Hartford and Boston.

CULVER, EDWARD, sen'r, is found at Dedham, Mass., first, where he and his wife Ann, had three children recorded, viz. :

1. John, April 15, 1640.
2. Joshua, Jan. 12, 1643.
3. Samuel, Jan. 9, 1644-5.

Edward, sen'r, was next at Roxbury, where two of his children were baptized, viz. :

4. Gershom, Dec. 3, 1648, and Joseph.
5. Hannah, April 11, 1651 ; m. John Burrows, Dec. 14, 1670, and had issue.

Edward, sen'r, appears to have removed to Pequot soon after, as he had a grant of land in Pequot, in 1653, and purchased the house-lot of Robert Burrows, and became baker and brewer for New London. In 1652 or 3, Nov. 20, he had a grant of a farm at Mystic, and a house-lot in the town ; the Indians called this farm Chepadaso ; he had removed and was at Mystic, in 1664 ; as early as May 5, 1662. GOODMAN, Culver, was chosen and allowed by the town of Pequet, to make bread and brew beer, for the public good. In 1664, Edward, sen'r, " wheel-right of Mystic," released his homestead to his son John, and removed to near the head of Mystic River, in New London, at Chepadaso. In Feb., 1661-2, a small grant of a portion of the water side, next south of the fort land was made to John Culver, May 7, 1663. John, was elected to drum on Sabbath days for the meetings, as formerly,—(drums used instead of bells to call the people to church.) Goodman Culver, was allowed by the town to sell liquors, if he should brew also, "else not;" and would engage always to have good beer, good diet and lodging for man and horse, and keep good order. John, son of Edward, resided some time in New Haven, where his dau'r Abigail is recorded as b. in 1676, and son James, in 1679. After which he returned to Mystic, and in 1695, confirmed to 'Thomas, son of John Lamb, land sold by Edward and Ann Culver, to John Lamb. In 1734, a colony of Rogerenes, at New London, removed to New Jersey, and settled on the west side of Schooly's mountain, in Morris County, consisting of John Culver, his wife and ten children with their families, being twenty-one in all. Edward, sen'r, was a noted soldier in Philip's war (at Hartford.) In 1675, the Council "ordered John Stedman and Edward Culver, with som of the Indians, to goe forth upon the scout betwixt this and Springfield, to make what discovery they could upon the enemie to the eastward of the river." Culver had great influence with the friendly Indians.

CULVER, EDWARD, of Norwich, in 1680, from his name is supposed to have been a son of Edward, sen'r, and b. at New London, after his father removed there, though not recorded, with his wife Sarah and children, and their births ranging from 1681, to 94; in 1700, he became an inhabitant of Lebanon. (See Caulk. His. New London.)

CULVER, JOSHUA, (son of Edward, sen'r,) b. 1642-3, was for a time at New Haven, where he m. Elizabeth Ford, Dec. 23, 1676. He settled at Wallingford; his dau'r Elizabeth, d. at New Haven, May 2, 1676, and his dau'r Ann, d. there Sept. 8, 1677.

CULVER, SAMUEL, son of Edward, sen'r, eloped with the wife of John Fish, about 1674, and nothing farther was known of him. She was a woman of bad character.

CULVER, JOSEPH, son of Edward, settled on his father's farm in Groton.

Samuel, Hezekiah and Daniel Culver, removed from Lebanon to Litchfield, and were original proprietors and settlers there, about 1722 or 3. Mr. John Culver, of Lyme, N. Hampshire, served in the war of the revolution, d. April 15, 1852, aged 91 years. (Hist. Reg.)

In July, 1726, six Rogerenes were apprehended at Norwich, for traveling on the Sabbath, and imprisoned ; one of them was Sarah Culver, called by them the singing sister. In defence they stated they were on their way from Groton to Lebanon, to baptize a person or see him baptized. One of their party named Davis, they declared had apostolic commission and authority to preach and baptize. Some of the Rogerenes, had before been arrested and fined 5s. 6d., for Sabbath-breaking, and in this case traveled in defiance of the law, and boasted they could buy the idolator's Sabbath, for five shillings each. (See His. Nor., p. 149.)

CUMMING, CUMMINS, COMINS, JAMES, a first settler at Stafford, Conn.

CUMMINS, STEPHEN, had a son Thomas, Jr., who m. Polly Mumford, of Ashford, Dec. 31, 1797 ; Stephen, Jr., had sisters, Anna, b. 1778, and Betsey, b. 1781, &c. CURRIE, CURRY, WILLIAM, of Long Island, in 1643. Curry, has 5 coats of arms; Currie, has 4.

CURTIS, CURTISS, COURTIS, CURTIES, CURTICE, COURTISS.—This name is found spelled as above upon the various records in Conn., but more generally spelled "Curtice." There appears to have been several distinct families of this name upon the different Connecticut records, at an early period of the settlement of that Colony. Each of which will be noticed in this schedule. The name has been one of high standing in England, even previous to the settlement of New England. William was made a freeman in Mass., March 2, 1632. (Hist. Reg.) It is also stated that "Richard, Thomas, John and William Curtis, four brothers, came early to New England, and probably from Kent County, in England," and that "John left no family." If so, there were others, who came to this country in the first settlement. This name has long been found in England, and in great numbers in London and Liverpool, if we can judge by the city directories of those places.

"There was an ancient family of the name of Curteis, resident in Appledore, county of Kent. Stephen Curteis, of that shire, was great-grandfather of Thomas Curteis, of Appledore, living in 1527, who wedded Joane, daughter and co-heir of Edward Twaights, Warden of the Cinque Ports, and was succeeded by his son William Curteis, Bailiff of Tenterden, in 1591, who had issue. Thomas, another son, Mayor of Tenterden, in 1606, married Joan Pattenden, and left sons, George and Stephen." Arg. a chev. sa. betw. three bulls' heads, caboused, gu. Crest.—A unicorn pass., or. between four trees ppr. In an ancient pedigree of the family, under the sign and seal of Segar, Garter, transcribed by John Phillipot, Blanch, Lion, and also in several MSS. in the Harleian Collection, the above arms are recorded. They were remaining on a glass in a window on the south side of Romney Church, in 1612, and are to be seen in the roof of the cloisters of Christ Church, Canterbury. (Burke's Heraldry.)

CURTISE, SAMUEL, was an early settler at Hebron, Conn., from Southold, Long Island, and is described in a deed from John Parker, sen'r, of Saybrook, (one of the Legatees of Joshua,) as of Southold, Long Island, May 3, 1703, in the County of Suffolk, New York; weaver; deed dated May 3, 1703. Samuel Curtice and Obadiah Hosford, at a town meeting held at the house of said Curtice, Dec. 21, 1709, were chosen in Hebron, to run the bounds twixt Colchester and us, (Hebron.) In 1712, Samuel Curtice was elected town-clerk of Hebron. The Curtis's, of Windham, are supposed to have been the descendants of Samuel, the weaver, of Hebron. Samuel appears to have had a brother, who came from Barbadoes, to Long Island, and thence to Saybrook with him. Samuel went to Hebron and settled, (not known what became of his brother.) Caleb Curtis, who was an original proprietor and settler of Sharon, Conn., removed from Hebron to Sharon, where he d. Nov. 20, 1777, aged 74, and probably a son of Samuel of Hebron. Caleb's sons were, Caleb, Jr., Jeremiah, Daniel and Nathaniel.

SETH CURTIS, who removed to Sharon, in 1782, from Danbury, was a descendant of the Stratford Curtis's, as was Daniel who removed from Stratford to Danbury, and from thence to Woodbury.

CURTIS, THOMAS, was the first of the name in Wethersfield, and one of the first in the Colony, where he settled and became a man of reputation, with a large estate. He left on his decease, an estate of £717, 13s. 9d., a much larger estate than most individuals left at that time. Administration was granted on his estate at Hartford, in 1681-2; and to his sons John, Joseph, James and Isaac Curtrice. Ruth, the wife of Hon. Eleazer Kimberly, (Secretary of the Colony,) and Elizabeth Staddar, were his daughters; his son Samuel, received his portion by deed, before his father's death. His children agreed upon a division of his estate, and the Court appointed distributors to set it out to the heirs. Elizabeth, was the wife of Thomas, sen'r. His son Joseph, and his wife, received of their father's estate, more than the other children, for services performed for his father, being £140. Ruth, wife of Hon. Eleazer Kimberly, and Elizabeth, wife of John Staddar, were not recorded in the births with his other children. Thomas, sen'r, had several lots of land in Wethersfield, in 1650. He purchased a home-lot, of Richard Montague, Feb. 20, 1659. They had children b. in Wethersfield, viz.:

John, b. Jan. 1, 1639.

James, b. Sept. 15, 1641.

Joseph, b. March 31, 1644.

Samuel, b. April, 1645.

Isaac, b. (no date; dau'rs Ruth and Elizabeth, not given.)

In another part of the record it is said Thomas, d. Nov. 13, 1681, aged 83 years. Thomas, was freed from training, watching and warding by the General Court of Conn., May 21, 1657; as was Jasper Gunn, "during his practise of phisicke."

CURTIS, JOHN, b. 1639, son of Thomas and Elizabeth, m. Lydia, Nov. 20, 1666; lived in Wethersfield, and had issue, viz.:

1. John, b. Dec. 10, 1667, d. 1712, aged 45.

2. Thomas, b. Sept. 15, 1670.

3. Lidiiah, b. March 1, 1673.

4. Dorothy, b. May 15, 1674.

5. William, b. Oct. 12, 1677.

6. Elizabeth, b. Nov. 13, 1681.

7. Jonathan, b. Aug. 13, 1682; m. Hepzibah Hastings, of Hatfield, June 5, 1705.

John, was made free 1658. He drew 16 acres of land, and Thomas 216, in the land division in Wethersfield, in 1670.

CURTIS, JOSEPH, b. 1644, son of Thomas, sen'r, m. Mercy, Feb. 8, 1674, and had children, to wit,

1. Meribah, b. March 10, 1674-5, d. Jan. 15, 1684.

2. Joseph, Jr., b. Jan. 10, 1675-6.

3. Mary, b. Sept., 2, 1677.

4. Sarah, b. Sept. 29, 1679.

5. Thomas, b. Dec. 24, 1680.

6. David, b. Nov. 29, 1682.

The father d. Dec. 31, 1683, inventory of his estate offered in court at Hartford, in 1684, and Mercy, his widow administratrix. The children here named, are Joseph, Henry, Sarah, Thomas and David. Inventory, £271, 9s. There was a Joseph Curtis, m. Bethia Booth, of Stratford, Nov. 9, 1676. Distributed to his widow Mercy £20, personal estate forever, and one-third of the real estate for life. Eldest son, £77; two other sons, £39 each. To his two daughters, £38 each. Inventory £271, 9s.; children named on the inventory, are Joseph, aged 9; Henry, 7; Sarah, about 5; Thomas, 3, and David one year old. (Henry is substituted for Mary.) Mercy made oath before Samuel Talcott, commissioner, 1683, as truly presented.

CURTIS, JAMES, b. 1641, son of Thomas and Elizabeth, m. Abigail, July 8, 1686, no children are found, and perhaps he left Wethersfield.

CURTIS, SAMUEL, b. 1645, son of Thomas, sen'r, m. Sarah, Feb. 20, 1683, and had children b. in Wethersfield, viz.:

Samuel, Jr., b. Nov. 23, 1684-5.

Elizabeth, } twins, b. May 17, 1687; Elizabeth, d. in infancy.
Ruth, }

Samuel Curtis, the father, d. Nov. 26, 1688, aged about 43. His estate distributed in 1706, by Phillip Allcock and Nathaniel Bowman, and agreed to by Samuel his son, by Ruth Hale, wife of Ebenezer Hale, and by Sarah Curtis, his widow.

CURTIS, ISAAC, son of Thomas, sen'r, of Wethersfield, the youngest son of Thomas, is not found as a settler at Wethersfield; he perhaps went to Woodbury and settled, where (Cothren says) an Isaac Curtis, a late settler had a house-lot in 1682.

CURTICE, JOHN, JR., son of Sergeant John, of Wethersfield, m. Elizabeth, dau'r of Joseph Wright, April 3, 1690, and had issue:

1. Martha, b. Jan. 17, 1691.
2. Lidia, b. Nov. 15, 1694, d.
3. Mary, b. July 5, 1696.
4. Rachel, b. Oct. 25, 1696.
5. John, b. Feb. 8, 1701.
6. Josiah, b. Nov. 17, 1703.
7. Elizabeth, b. March 18, 1707.
8. Hannah, b. Dec. 12, 1711.

John, Jr., d. Nov. 8, 1712; his negro Jacob, he gave to his wife Elizabeth.

CURTICE, THOMAS, son of Serg't John, m. Mary Goodrich, dau'r of John, Dec. 30, 1703, and had children:

1. Rebecca, b. April 28, 1705.

His wife Mary, d. and he m. second, Rachel Morgan, dau'r of John, of Groton, March 17, 1715, and had issue :

2. Ambrose, b. March 23, 1716.
3. James, b. Sept. 11, 1716.
4. Experience, b. Nov. 12, 1720.
5. Waitstill, b. July 22, 1723.
6. Rachel, b. Feb. 5, 1727.

Thomas, the father, d. at Wethersfield, Feb. 5, 1730.

CURTICE, JONATHAN, son of Serg't John, m. Hepzibah Hastings, of Hatfield, Mass., June 5, 1705, and had issue :

1. Anna, b. March 31, 1706-7.
2. Abigail, b. Oct. 11, 1708.
3. Thomas, b. Oct. 8, 1710.
4. Eleazer, b. Sept. 16, 1712.
5. Jonathan, Jr., b. Dec. 26, 1714.
6. John, b. Jan. 5, 1721.

JOHN CURTIS, of Wethersfield, son of John, and grandson of Serg't John, was elected treasurer of the "New London Society of Trade and Commerce," in 1730, to which place he removed to execute his office.

ZACHARIAH CURTICE, of Wethersfield, son of Joseph and Dorothy (Edwards) Curtis, b. Sept. 13, 1719, removed and settled in Goshen, in Litchfield Co., about 1748. His brother Joseph, purchased a farm in Goshen, April 18, 1740, and removed there, where he remained about ten years ; May 17, 1750, he sold his farm and removed to Dutchess County, New York. He had children, viz.:

1. Mary, b. May, 173—.
2. Hezekiah, b. May, 1735.
3. Hannah, b. Dec., 1736, d.
4. John, b. May 17, 1738.
5. Honour, b. Sept. 12, 1740.
6. James, b. Feb. 10, 1743.
7. Dorothy, b. Jan. 12, 1745.
8. Joseph, b. Jan. 24, 1747.

Perhaps others b. in Dutchess County, New York. Joseph, father of Zachariah, d. at Wethersfield, Dec. 31, 1765, aged 92, and Dorothy, his wife, d. April 18, 1760, very aged.

CURTICE, JOSEPH and JAMES, of Wethersfield, about 1671, with Thomas Holybutt, Jr., (Hurlbut,) and Thomas Wickham, for agreeing to rob Richard Smith of his "water-millions and stealing five of them," and then in a boasting way, bragging of it, were sentenced by the Court to imprisonment, and there to remain in durance, at the pleasure of the Court. The above were descendants of Thomas Curtice, of Wethersfield.

CURTIS, ELIZABETH, widow, and sons John and William Curtis, came from Mass., to Stratford, Conn., at an early period of the settlement at Stratford; widow Elizabeth, d. there about 1657 or 8, as her will was proved Nov. 4, 1658, and names her sons John and William, and grandsons John, son of John, and Jonathan, son of her son William. The exact time this family came to Stratford, is uncertain, but it was quite early in the settlement, as John's son John, was b. in 1642. Elizabeth, could not have been the widow of William, of Roxbury, Mass.; he did not d. until Dec. 8, 1672, and she was a widow at Stratford, as early as 1642.

NOTE.—John and William Curtis, sen'r, of Stratford, became useful and important men in the Colony of Conn. Mr. Curtis was exalted to the office of a Captain of a military company in Stratford, an office to which no ordinary man could then aspire. And was often a Representative from Stratford, to the General Assembly of the Colony. Lieut. Wm. Curtis, was a member of the General Court, 1671. Lieut. Joseph, (probably an error,) in May, 1671. Lieut. Wm. Curtis, was appointed a commissioner for Stratford, in May, 1671, with Samuel Sherman; deputy, May, 1672, also commissioner. At the General Court, held May 9, 1672, liberty was granted to Mr. Samuel Sherman, Lieut. Wm. Curtice, Ensign Joseph Judson and John Minor, themselves and associates, to erect a plantation at "Pomperoege," provided "it doth not prejudice any former grant, to any other plantation or person; also, that any other honest inhabitant of Stratford, should have liberty to join them in settling there, &c., and" that they settle there within the space of three years. (Col. Record.) He was deputy, June 26, 1672, a special session called by Gov. Winthrop, on his receiving a letter from the king, announcing a declaration of war against the states. General, that New England should make speedy provision for a defence against the Dutch, (at New York.) The letter had been sent by the Governor of Massachusetts, to Governor Winthrop. He was again a Representative, Oct., 1672; Capt. Wm. Curtice, was again elected in May, 1673, and comm'r of Stratford, and at a special session of the Legislature called by Gov. Winthrop, Aug. 7, 1673; also, Oct. 9, 1673; at this session, Capt. William Curtice and Lieut. Richard Olmsted, were appointed to lay out a grant of land to Thomas Blachley; also, Representative to a General Court "by special order" from the Governor, Nov. 26, 1673, at which General Court, Capt. Wm. Curtice was appointed Captain of such forces as should be sent from the County of Fairfield, against the Dutch nation of New York, under Major John Tallcot, who was appointed commander-in-chief of "such military forces as should be raised in this Colony, and sent against New Yorke." Major Robert Treat, second in command Lieut. Thomas Bull, Capt. of the forces raised in Hartford County. Capt. John Nash, for New Haven County. Capt. Wm. Curtice, for Fairfield County. Lieut. James Avery, chosen Captain for such forces as should be sent from New London County, and Mr. Thomas Trowbridge, appointed commissary for the expedition. The General Assembly considered the "Dutch nation, at New York, "not only open and professed enemies "to our nation," but that they, in a hostile manner, had invaded a part of "his Majesties Dominions in New England," and continuing in their hostile acts, and threatening to do more, as they should be enabled, seizing our vessels and shedding English blood. The Legislature found themselves necessitated forthwith to raise and send such forces by sea and land " (in conjunction with the rest of the United Colonies) " as should defend their persons and property, "both on the mayne and on the east end of Long Island," against the outrages of the Dutch, and repress the power and violence of so dangerous an enemy. And accordingly resolved with all expedition "to attend the same, trusting in Almighty God that he will bless and prosper us in this our righteous cause, being necessitated there unto in our just defence." The management of which required speed and secrecy. The Assembly therefore appointed a "standing councill of warr," in the Colony, with full power to manage the affairs,

CURTIS, JOHN, son of widow Elizabeth, of Stratford, was twice m., 1st, m. Elizabeth; she d. March 9, 1681-2; 2d, Margaret; she d. 1714. His children were

1. John, b. Oct. 14, 1642.
2. Israel, b. April 3, 1644.
3. Elizabeth, b. May 2, 1647.
4. Thomas, b. Jan. 14, 1649.
5. Joseph, Nov. 12, 1650.
6. Benjamin, b. Sept. 30, 1652.
7. Hannah, b. Feb. 2, 1654.

John, the father, d. Dec. 6, 1707, aged about 96 years. These children are recorded at Stratford, and were by his first wife.

consisting of the "Governor or Deputy Governor and assistants, viz., Capt. Benjamin Newbury; Ensign John Wadsworth; Capt. Thomas Topping, Lieut. Wm. Fowler, and Lieut. Thomas Munson," who by special order (on all occasions) from the Governor, or Deputy Governor, or Secretary, by their, or either of their appointment, to convene, giving time and place to convene, and when assembled or a major part of them, that any five or seven of them concurring, the Gov. or Deputy Gov. always being one, to have full power to act as a council of war, and their acts to be as valid as if done by the General Court of the Colony. (See Conn. Col. Rec., 1673.) Capt. Wm. Curtice again elected Representative, in May, 1674; this session changed the name of "Paumpeaug," to Woodbury, and freed it from country rates four years. Capt. Wm. Curtice, Deputy, Oct., 1674; also Deputy to May, 1675; at this session, Capt. John Nash, Capt. William Curtice and Lieut. Thomas Munson, were appointed to lay out the highway from Woodbury to "Pawgasuck," to the most convenient place for a ferry, and to lay out a parcel of land for a ferry-place. And the town of Stratford, appointed to lay out a county highway from Stratford, to "Pagasuck," to the place where the above committee should establish the ferry aforesaid. (See Col. Rec., 1675.) In July 1675, the Governor called another meeting of the General Court, of which Capt. Wm. Curtice, was a member. The cause of which meeting was the "trouble of the Indians now risen against the English, spoyleing and distroying of them by fire and sword;" "also some motions of Major Androm," and particularly as to a letter sent said Androm, from the Governor, Deputy Governor and assistants, in answer to a letter received from him &c., &c. Capt. Wm. Curtice, was also a Representative, Oct., 1675, at which session he received a further command of troops raised, and he also was put in nomination for an assistant, the next May, (1676.) In May, 1676, Capt. Wm. Curtice and Mr. Samuel Sherman, were appointed commissioners for Stratford and Woodbury. Capt. Wm. Curtice, Representative, Oct., 1676, and again nominated to stand for election the next May; also, deputy in May, 1677; also, Oct., 1677, with Mr. Francis Hall, of Stratford. Capt. Wm. Curtis, nominated for an assistant for the next May, and so continued to hold the various offices conferred upon him by the town or Colony, during his life. He and his brother John Curtice, are both found in the list of freemen at Stratford, in 1669. Capt. Wm. Curtice, though he was one of the committee to lay out the town of Woodbury, never removed there with his family, but his sons Israel and Joshua Curtice, were among the first settlers of Woodbury, where the name has to this time been respectable. Capt. William, appears to have been the most important, prominent and useful settler of the name in Connecticut, and while he was much of his time devoted to public business, his brother John, was retired upon his farm in Stratford, and a man of less importance in the public business of the Colony. There was also Joseph Curtis, who went from Stratford, to Danbury, and from thence to Woodbury, as early as 1700.

I find no satisfactory evidence of the relation, if any existed, between Elizabeth, John and William Curtis, who settled at Stratford, with either Henry, of Windsor; Thomas, of Wethersfield; Samuel, of Hebron, from Long Island, and John, of Woodstock, (or Roxbury.)

CURTIS, CAPT. WILLIAM, son of Elizabeth, and brother of John, sen'r, of Stratford, d. at Stratford in his old age, Dec. 21, 1702. His will, dated Dec. 15, 1702, names his children, viz., Daniel, Ebenezer, Zachariah, Josiah, Joshua, Sarah, Elizabeth and Jonathan. There is found on Stratford record a William Curtis, who had children b. there, viz., Elizabeth, b. Feb. 26, — ; Jenar Henry, b. Nov. 14, 1659 ; Joseph, b. Aug. 30, 1662. The father of these three children, perhaps was or might have been an unrecorded son of John, sen'r, or William, sen'r. Capt. Wm. Curtis was one of the leading men of Stratford. In October, 1667, the court (probably in consequence of the trouble in Mr. Walker's church at Stratford) gave liberty to Lieut. (Wm.) Curtis, Mr. Sherman, Mr. Fayrchild, Ensign Judson, Mr. Hawley and John Minor, (then of Stratford,) to purchase Potatuc (now Newtown) and the adjoining lands to be reserved for a village or plantation. In May 9, 1672, the General Court, granted power to Lieut. Wm. Curtis, Mr. Samuel Sherman, Ensign Joseph Judson and John Minor, with their associates, to settle a plantation at "Pamperodge," (Woodbury,) if it injured no former grant to any other plantation, or person, with the privilege to other honest inhabitants of Stratford, to settle there within three years. Capt. Wm. Curtis, though an original proprietor of Woodbury, lived and d. at Stratford. Two of his sons Joshua and Israel Curtis, signed the fundamental agreement for the settlement and government of Pamparaue, Feb. 14, 1672. It was named Woodbury, by the General Court, in 1674. John Curtis, of Stratford, witnessed a deed from Tautannimo Sachem of "Pagassit," and other Derby Indians. To Lieut. Thomas Wheeler, dated April 20, 1659, embracing a large tract, extending into what is now Litchfield County. Israel Curtis, witness of a deed of a part of Woodbury, recorded May 29, 1699.

John Curtis, made a freeman in Conn., May, 1658. John and Thomas Curtis, in the list of freemen in Wethersfield, in 1609. William, John and Israel Curtis, in the Stratford list of freemen, in 1669, and Wm., one of the selectmen. Lieut. Wm. Curtis, deputy to the General Court from Stratford, in Oct., 1667, May, 1668, Oct., 1668, May, 1669, May, 1670, Oct., 1669, Oct., 1670, May, 1672, and frequently afterwards. He was commissioner for Stratford, with Mr. Samuel Sherman, and in May, 1672 ; Lieut. Wm. Curtis was confirmed Capt. "of the train-band of Stratford," June 26, 1672, with Joseph Judson, Lieut., and Steven Burritt, Ensign. At a special session of the General Court of Conn., Aug. 7, 1673, by an appearance of danger from the Dutch. The Legislature ordered that the committee then appointed by the assembly, composed of the Governor, Deputy Governor and Assistants, Capt. Benjamin Newbury, Mr. Giles Hamlin, Mr. Wm. Wadsworth, Capt. Wm. Curtice, Lieut. Wm. Fowler and Lieut. Thomas Munson, to act as the grand committee of the Colony, in establishing and commissioning military officers in pressing men, horses, ships, "barques," or other vessels, arms, ammunition, provision, carriages, or any thing needful for defending the Colony; to manage, order and dispose of the militia of the Colony, in the best manner for the defence and safety of the Colony, &c. Many other scraps of record evidence, might be offered to prove the exalted standing of Capt. Wm. Curtis, in Conn., during his life. The Curtis family of Stratford, has been uniformly respectable from the first settlement of Wm. and John Curtis. The Curtis families of Fairfield County and New Haven, and Litchfield Counties, are generally descendants of the Stratford family. One or two of the Stratford Curtis family, removed and settled at Durham, after which, on the settlement of Granville, Mass., David, Aaron and Ebenezer Curtis, removed from Durham, to Granville, in company with Enoch, Aaron and Samuel Coe, of the Stratford family of Coe's, and Dan, Noah and Timothy Robinson, from Durham.

CURTIS, ZACHERIAH, b. Sept. 13, 1719, son of Joseph, of Wethersfield, removed to Goshen, in Litchfield County, where he purchased land in June, 1740. His children recorded at Goshen, are Joshua, b. Oct. 30, 1742; Salathiel, b. July, 1744, d.; Elias, b. Aug. 10, 1745. He removed after about five years residence.

CURTIS, JOSEPH, of Wethersfield, also removed from Wethersfield, to Goshen, on to land he purchased there in 1740, but in 1750, he sold his land in Goshen, and removed to Dutchess County, New York. His children recorded in Goshen, were Mary, b. May 22, 1733, b. at Wethersfield, and the following b. at Goshen, Hezekiah, b. May, 1735; Hannah, b. 1736, d. in infancy; John, b. 1738; Honour, b. 1740; James, b. 1743; Dorothy, b. 1745; Joseph.

CURTIS, JOHN, of Durham, perhaps from Wethersfield, and perhaps one of the Stratford family, probably from Stratford, to Durham, as many from Stratford moved to Durham. He m. Dinah Norton, dau'r of Samuel, Nov. 18, 1747, she was b. at Durham, Nov., 1723, his children b. in Durham, were

1. Abijah, b. March 2, 1750; m. Ann Bishop of Durham.
2. Phebe, b. June 18, 1752; m. David Scranton, of Durham.
3. Hannah, b. Jan. 8, 1755; m. John Hall, of Durham.

4. John, b. May 5, 1757; m. Lydia Hall and Ruth Parmale.
5. Lois, b. July 15, 1760; m. Deacon John Johnson; no issue.
6. Sarah, b. Oct. 11, 1762; m. Elnathan Camp and Deacon Ab'm Pierson.
7. Dinah, b. Jan. 21, 1766; d. aged 20.

CURTIS, SAMUEL, son of Abijah, who was son of John and Dinah, of Durham, m. Lucretia Brooks, Oct. 10, 1810. He began life at Durham, and had children, John, Samuel, Anna, Elizabeth, Phebe, Sarah, Hannah, and David, b. 1823, d. young. The family removed to Medina, Ohio, and had several children b. there. William Curtis was a Deacon at Medina.

CURTIS, HENRY, was an early and original settler at Windsor, Conn. He m. Elizabeth Abell, May 13, 1645. He lost one child in Windsor, in 1647. (Rowland.) He also had sons Samuel, b. April 26, 1649, and Nathaniel, b. July 15, 1651, at Windsor. He remained some years at Windsor, and little is recorded of his history. He became a proprietor and settler of Northampton, Mass., in 1653, where he d., Nov. 30, 1661. Henry Curtis had 5 lots of land in Watertown, Mass., early. (See Watertown Record.) This Henry was from England at an early period.

CURTISS, DEACON's, estate was assessed at Guilford, at £60, 17s., in 1642 or 1650.

CURTICE, JOHN, of Hampton, Conn., and Hannah, his wife, had children bap. there, viz., Frederick, bap. July 27, 1760; Ephraim, bap. Oct. 17, 1762; Ebenezer, bap. in 1765; Anne, in 1767, and Elizabeth, March 4, 1770.

CURTICE, HOSEA, of Colchester, had a dau'r Abigail, bap. at Colchester, April 6, 1746; perhaps from Hebron, not traced.

At a General Court holden in Boston, Nov. 7, 1683, in answer to the petition of William Parke, John Boulds, Joseph Grigs, John Ruggles, and Edward Morris, selectmen of Roxbury, Mass., in their behalf, dated Oct. 10 and 17, 1683, for a tract of land for a village, to be laid out about Quialtesett, to the quantity of 7 miles square. The Court granted the petition, with two provisions; the second was, that thirty families should settle on the plantation within three years from that time, and maintain "amongst ym an able, and orthodox, Godly minister." (See Woodstock Proprietor's Record.) The first discovery of Woodstock for a plantation, "Oct., Anno Dom.," 1684. The town of Roxbury, aforesaid, in prosecution of the above grant, empowered JOHN CURTICE, Lieut. Samuel Ruggles, John Ruggles, sen'r, and Isaac Morris, to view the wilderness, and find a convenient place, where they could take up said grant; and after due time they found, in 1684, a convenient place in the "Wapaquassen Country," westward of the "Myanekessen River," afterward called New Roxbury and Woodstock, in Conn. It appears John Curtis, one of the discoverers of New Roxbury, had no house-lot given him in the first division of the land, or in the good or bad meadow in 1686 or 1690, and from this fact it is supposed he did not settle at Woodstock, but continued in Mass.

CURTIS, DANIEL, of West Hartford, a descendant of Thomas, of Wethersfield, m. Rebecca, Oct. 14, 1736, and had issue baptized there, viz., Solomon, Jan. 30, 1737; Sylvanus, April 8, 1739; Lucretia, Dec. 20, 1741; Frederick, Sept. 30, 1744; Juliana, March 22, 1747; and Gabriel, April 8, 1750.

CURTIS, ICHABOD, of Durham, son of Abijah, and grandson of John and Dinah Norton, dau'r of Samuel Norton, of Durham, m. Silence Camp, and removed to Ohio after 1800. Samuel Curtis, son of Abijah and Ann, of Durham, m. Lucretia Brooks, and had children b. in Durham, and removed to Medina, Ohio.

CURTIS, REV. JEREMIAH, graduated at Yale College, 1724, ordained in Southington, Nov. 13, 1728, m. Hannah Burnham, dau'r of Rev. William Burnham, of Kensington, Jan. 7, 1730-1, and had

1. Sarah, b. April 12, 1733, m. Noah Gridley, 1751. She d. 1805.
2. Hannah, b. Sept. 1, 1735, m. Job Lewis, March 13, 1755, d. 1810.
3. Samuel, b. Nov. 15, 1737, m. Margaret Root, May 13, 1766, d. 1769.
4. John, b. Jan. 20, 1739-40, m. Mary Lewis, Dec. 3, 1762.
5. Mary, b. August 20, 1742.
6. Lucy, b. August 5, 1744, m. Elisha Root, Jan. 16, 1764, d. 1773.
7. Jeremiah, Jr., b. Nov. 7, 1752.
8. Abigail, b.—no date.

This name has produced its full share of public men, ministers, lawyers, and doctors, as well as merchants, though a large portion have been farmers.

HON. WILLIAM CURTIS, and JOHN, his brother, sons of widow Elizabeth, of Stratford, tradition says were from Stratford-on-Avon, in England. I have no other evidence of their location in England. William d. in Stratford, Conn., Dec. 21, 1702. His will dated Dec. 15, 1702. His children then living, and named, were Daniel, Ebenezer, Zachariah, Josiah, Joshua, Sarah, Elizabeth, and Jonathan. From these two Stratford families have descended most of those of the name in New Haven, Woodbury, Southbury, Danbury, Durham, Granville, Newtown; indeed, those of Fairfield County; a large share of those in Litchfield County; also, John Curtis, of Newark, New Jersey, who was a Deputy to the General Court there, with Thomas Huntington, Jan. 1, 1684-5, from Newark. This John, son of John, sen'r, removed from Stratford to Newark about 1667 or 8, and signed the regulations of the town. James Curtis and Samuel Fairchild, of Stratford, settled at Durham about 1707, and in 1766 James was a deacon, and d. there, aged 80 years. David, Aaron, and Ebenezer Curtis, left Durham about 1756, and settled in Granville, Mass., with the Baldwins, Coes, Bateses, Robinsons, Parsons, Bartletts, Barneses, &c., from Durham. John Curtis and Asa Barnes, of Southington, were members of the convention to ratify the Constitution of the United States, in 1788, also Ebenezer Curtis, of Warren. Josiah, Benjamin, and Matthew Curtis, sons of Josiah, of Stratford, settled in Newtown, Conn., ancestors of Hon. Holbrook Curtis, and others, of Watertown, Conn.

The name of Curtis was numerous in the early settlement of New England. Farmer names Deodate Curtis, of Braintree, Mass., about 1643, who had a son Solomon. Henry, of Marblehead, from England; his descendants in North Bridgewater. Henry, of Sudbury, where he d. May 8, 1678; son Ephraim, b. 1642. Henry, a proprietor of Northampton, (and Windsor,) 1653. Lieut. Philip, of Roxbury, slain by Indians, at Hassanamesset, (Grafton,) Nov. 9, 1675. Richard, of Marblehead, 1648. William, of Roxbury, free, 1633, d. Dec. 8, 1672, aged 80; sons, Thomas, d. 1652; Isaac, b. 1642; probably others, neither of whom appear to have come to Conn. Also, George, of Mass., free in 1640. The Historical Register, with others, names Henry, aged 34 in 1654; William, aged 34 or 37 in 1667; William, aged 37 in 1668; Zacheus, aged 53 in 1672; William, aged 40 in 1670; early settlers of Essex and old Norfolk, Mass.; the last family connected with the Farrar family, by the marriage of Thomas Farrar with Keziah Curtis, of Hanover. John Curtis "ex-representative," (was accepted into the town of Dover,) New Hampshire, in 1657. William and Richard free at Scituate, Mass., as early as 1650; they, with John Curtis, were approved inhabitants of Scituate in 1673, and had common land assigned them. William, a brother of Richard, bore arms in Scituate in 1640. Thomas had a dau'r Elizabeth, b. at Scituate, in 1649. (See History of Scituate.) Zacheus, of Downton, a laborer from England, shipped at Hampton, in the James of London, for New England, in 1635, William Cooper, master. Jo. Curtis, Richard Cotton, Martin Church, George Castell, Ann Crofts, &c., embarked in the ship Safety, for Virginia, in August, 1635. There appears to have been several distinct families of this name in Mass., as well as Conn., in the early settlement, and generally very respectable families. Twelve by this name had graduated at Yale College in 1842, 12 at Harvard College in 1846, 1 at Amherst College, 8 at Dartmouth College in 1844.

Curteis, has 10 coats of arms; Curtess, Curtiss, and Curteys, has 1; Curtisse, 1; Curteys, 1; Curtis, (Catecombe, county Hants, Bart.,) has 1; Curtis, (Culland's Grove, county Middlesex, Bart., Lord Mayor, 1796,) 1; Curtis, (Kent,) 1; Curtis, (London, confirmed May 9, 1632,) 1; Curtis, (Tuddenham Hall, county Suffolk,) 1; Curtis, (borne by George Savage Curtis, of East Cliff House, Teignmouth, county Devon, Esq.,) 1; and 3 others for Curtis.

CURWIN, GEORGE, the first in New England, was b. in Workington, Cumberland, England, Dec. 10, 1610, as Camden says, "is the stately castle-like seat of this ancient, knightly family;" and settled at Salem, with Hugh Peters, and became the founders of the mercantile enterprise of Salem, and built the first vessels there, and Curwin was largely engaged in commerce there during life. He was in the London trade, as early as 1659. Dr. Bently, in his sketch of Salem, says, "this year (1685) Salem lost another important man, Capt. George Curwin, who came here in 1638, with his family, and was rich." Captain of a troop of horse, representative in General Court. His portrait was preserved in the hands of his great-grandson, Samuel Curwin, Esq., son of Rev. George. He d. Jan. 3, 1685. Estate inventoried at £5,964, 19s. 7d., which embraced his homestead, four dwelling-houses, four ware-houses, two wharves, in Salem, and three farms in the vicinity, of 1,500 acres. A warehouse and wharf in Boston, and vessels, the George, the Swallow, John and William, valued at £1,050; merchandise, £2,232; gold and silver coin, £93, 7s.; 1621 oz. of plate; a silver laced cloth coat; velvet do.; a satin waistcoat, embroidered with gold, &c., &c. His widow Elizabeth, was dau'r of Hon. Herbert Pelham, one of the assistants, and sister-in-law of Gov. Josiah Winslow. His fifth dau'r m. Hon. James Russell and Edward Lynde, Esq., of Boston, Wm. Browne, Jr., Esq., and Josiah Wolcott, Esq., of Salem, and Wadsworth, President of Harvard College. His son Capt. John Corwin, b. in Salem, July 28, 1638, was a merchant and deputy at Salem, m. Margaret, third dau'r of Gov. John Winthrop, of Conn., in May, 1665, and granddau'r of Rev. Hugh Peters, by his only child; Capt. Corwin, d. in 1683, and left an only son George, b. 1666. Bartholomew Corwin, only son of the last George, removed to, and settled at Amwell, Hunterdon Co., New Jersey, m. Esther Burt, and had four sons, viz., George, John, Joseph and Samuel, and d. May 9, 1747. Joseph, removed to Canada. The family of George, removed to Kentucky; this George d. 1790. John, a great-grandson of Bartholomew, settled at Baltimore.

CORWIN, Hon. JONATHAN, son of George, sen'r, was b. in Salem, Nov. 14, 1640; assistant in the Council at Boston, 1691; Judge of the Supreme Court, 1702; he resigned in 1715; he died July, 1718. His widow was a dau'r of Sir Henry Gibbs, of Dorsetshire. His children, Anne, d. young; Elizabeth, m. James Lindall, Esq., of Salem; George, b. 1682, graduated at Harvard College, 1701, and settled in the ministry in Salem; d. at Salem, Nov. 23, 1717, aged 34. (See Mass. Collections.) m. Mehitabel Parkman; sons Samuel, b. 1715; George, b. 1717; he m. Sarah Pickman, dau'r of Benjamin, Esq., of Salem, and d. in St. Eustatia, in 1746; children, George, b. 1739, drowned on a voyage to the West Indies, in 1761; Sarah, d. single; Mehitabel, m. Richard Ward, Esq., of Salem, and d. 1813, aged 72. (See Journal and Letters of the late Samuel Curwin, Judge of Admiralty and a Loyalist, Refugee in England, by Geo. A. Ward.) Jo. Curwin was an inhabitant of Southold, Long Island, and accepted to be made free by Conn., with others in Southold, Oct., 1662. (Col. Record.) It appears from the facts in this family, that the original name was Curwin, and the name in this family has changed to Corwin; and both names are used in the same family. The last John, of Southold, was probably son of George, sen'r, of Salem.

CURWITHEE, CALEB, and James Chichester, of Huntington, Long Island; John Carpenter, Thomas Carle, of Hempsted, and James Christy, of Newtown, Long Island, and others were accepted by Conn., to be made freemen in 1664; also, Jo. Curwin, Cory, NOTE.—I here publish the Colony record, of Conn., upon Robert Coe's first coming to Conn., viz: "Whereas, there was a dismission granted by the C(hurch) of Waterton, in the Massachusetts, dated 29th of Ma[rch] last, to Andrew Warde, Jo. Sherman, Jo. Strickland, Rob'te Coe, Rob'te Reynold, and Jonas Weede, wth intent to forme, a newe in a Ch. It is therefore in this p'sent cort ratified and confirmed, they p'missing shortlie publicquely to remove the (said) Covennte vpon notice to the rest of the Churches." Of the above named persons who came to Wethersfield, in 1636, Ward, Robert Coe, Reynold and Weede, went to Stamford, and Ward removed from Stamford, in 1644, to Hempsted, Long Island, and returned and died at Fairfield.

About 1639-40, Connecticut, purchased Waranoke, (Westfield,) of the Indians, and began a plantation, and Mr. Hopkins built a trading-house there.

John Conclin, sen'r, and Jr., of Southold, Long Island, were accepted to be made free in Conn., in Oct., 1662.

CUSHMAN, SOLOMON, and Easter, his wife, of Stafford, had a dau'r Sibbel, b. Feb. 5, 1752; Isaac, b. Feb. 11, 1753.

CUTLER, NATHANIEL, d. at Middletown, Conn., June 5, 1706, in the 100th year of his age; buried at Middletown; (grave-stone;) this must have been the oldest of the name in Conn.

CUTLER, DANIEL, of Windham, m. Mary Woodard, July 9, 1736; issue, Sarah, b. Jan. 30, 1738; Eliezer, b. Nov. 20, 1739, d. 1759; Daniel, b. Jan. 22, 1743; Samuel, b. Feb. 6, 1745; Mary, b. Oct. 8, 1746.

CUTLER, SETH, of Windham, m. Elizabeth Babcock, Oct. 22, 1734; issue, Elizabeth, b. July 19, 1735; Hannah, b. March 30, 1737, d. 1743; John, b. Jan. 17, 1738; Dinah, b. Nov. 12, 1740; 2d Hannah, b. Seth Cutler, was from Killingly, first church, to Hampton, and joined the church in Hampton, Feb. 20, 1738, and his children all recorded as bap. in Hampton Society.

CUTLER, REV. TIMOTHY, LL. D., graduated at Harvard College, in 1701; became a learned divine. He was in the Conn. Colony, soon after 1700, and became the third minister of Stratford, where he was ordained Jan. 11, 1709, and was made the second Rector of Yale College, in 1719, where he remained until 1722. He was the successor of President Pierson, at Yale. (See Yale Catalogue.) He became rector of Christ's Church in Boston, and d. in the 82d year of his age, Aug. 17, 1765. On the 30th of Sept., 1709, Joseph Curtis and John Hawley, of Stratford, by authority of the town, made a grant of 100 acres of land to Rev. Mr. Cutler, on conditions for his encouragement to become their minister, &c., which was confirmed by another instrument, Dec. 20, 1710, also executed by Joseph Curtis, &c., and at "ye same time to receive of ye s^d Mr. Cutler, now Rector of Yale College, at New Haven, an instrument for the releasing and conveying back to ye town of Stratford, ye house and an acre and half of land, &c., which the town" had given him, when they gave the 100 acres, according to an instrument, executed Feb. 14, by Joseph Curtis, Ambrose Simpson, Jno. Coe, Jno. Hawley and James Lewis, a committee of Stratford, with Mr. Cutler, &c., which settled the differences between Mr. Cutler and the town. The principal instrument between them was dated April 27, 1721, and then acknowledged. When the committee laid out to the Rev. Mr. Joseph Webb, two parcels of land in Stratford, in lieu of his lot of land on the Great River, originally laid out to Mr. Isaac Nicholls, of 94 acres. After Mr. Cutler, located himself and family at New Haven, he sold his other lands in Stratford.

Rev. Timothy Cutler, is said to have been the son of Major John Cutler, of Boston, or Charlestown, Mass. He settled in the ministry at Stratford, Conn., in 1709. President of Yale College, in 1719; went to Boston, where he was pastor of Christ's church, in 1723, and d. Aug. 17, 1765, aged 82 years. While at Stratford, he m. Elizabeth Andrew, of Milford, March 21, 1710-11, and had children b. in Stratford, and recorded, viz., Martha, b. Dec. 30, 1711; and another dau'r, twins; John, b. June 19, 1713; Elizabeth, 2d, b. Aug. 1715, and Timothy, b. Oct. 22, 1718, perhaps others b. after he left Stratford.

MRS. L. H. SIGOURNEY. In the front rank of the female writers of America, stands the name of Mrs. Lydia Huntley Sigourney. Her talents are of a high order, and her style in both prose and verse, is simple, chaste, and purely classical, charming the reader by its elegance, and winning the admiration of all who can fully appreciate the beautiful and the true.

The subject of this sketch, was the only child of Ezekiel Huntley, Esq., of Norwich, Connecticut, where she was born on the first of September, 1791. Her parents took especial pains with her early education and training, and lived to be more than repaid for all their care, and solicitude. She began as early as her eighth year to evince a decided talent for poetical composition, inspired, as she doubtless was, by the wild and picturesque scenery about her native place, where nature has revelled in some of her wildest moods, and rock, and stream, and hill, and vale, assume every variety of aspect, and these haunts of early childhood, which are still among her fondest recollections she has thus feelingly commemorated in her verse,

"————— Sweetly wild,
Were the scenes that charmed me when a child:
Rocks, gray rocks, with their caverns dark,
Leaping rills, like the diamond spark,
Torrent voices, thundering by,
When the pride of the vernal floods swelled high,
And quiet roofs, like the hanging nest,
Mid' cliffs, by the feathery foliage drest!"

She enjoyed all the advantages the schools of her native city afforded, and also attended a boarding-school in Hartford. Upon finishing her education, she returned to Norwich, where, in connection with an esteemed friend, Nancy Maria Hyde, she opened a school for young ladies, which was carried on for two years, and then relinquished. Miss Huntley, subsequently removed to Hartford, where she kept a select school for young ladies, which proved very successful, and acquired for her the reputation of being an able and kind instructor of the young. All her pupils became very warmly attached to her, and many now, recollect with affection her gentle way of imparting knowledge to the tender, opening mind.

In the year 1815, the first volume of poems, by Miss Huntley appeared. Daniel Wadsworth, Esq., of Hartford, who was a particular friend of the authoress, and a great admirer of her writings, selected the articles of which the volume was composed, and defrayed the expense of their publication. The volume was entitled, "Moral Pieces in Prose and Verse."

ELIZABETH, wife of Samuel Cutler, at Gloucester, March 17, 1693; James, of Watertown, and Anna, his wife, had James, b. there 6th day of 9th mo., 1635, and owned land there. They also had dau'r Elizabeth, b. in Boston, in 1637, and dau'r Hannah, b. in 1638; Samuel, of Marblehead, in 1654. Samuel, aged 71, in 1700. Mr. Oliver, of Medfield, a soldier of the revolution, d. Aug. 25, aged 91. (Hist. Reg.)

CUTLER, JONATHAN, of Colchester, Conn., had issue Abigail, b. Aug. 28, 1711; Jonathan, Jr., b. Aug. 17, 1713, and Beach, b. July 4, 1716. (Colchester Record.) Farmer, notices James, of Watertown, where his son James was b., 1635; John, of Charlestown, representative, 1680 and '82. He also says, "probably the Major Cutler, father of Rev. Timothy Cutler, D. D., of Boston, who d. Aug. 17, 1765, aged 82. (The same who was President of Yale College named above.) Robert, deacon at Charlestown, d. March, 1665. His son Nathaniel, graduated at Harvard College, 1663 and d. Aug. 13, 1678. Seth Cutler, from the first church in Killingly, admitted to the first church in Hampton, Feb. 20, 1738. Cutler, has 9 coats of arms; Cutlers, one. 7 of this name graduated at Yale

In the following year, 1816, her former associate, Miss Hyde, was called away, and she performed the task of writing her biography, and editing a volume of her remains.

In the year 1819, Miss Huntley was married to Charles Sigourney, Esq., a gentleman of education, possessing a taste for literature, although he confined his attention through life to mercantile pursuits, and became one of the most eminent merchants in Hartford. He was a descendant of a French Huguenot, Andrew Sigourney, who was born in France, in 1639, and left at the revocation of the Edict of Nantz, in 1686, for Boston, Mass., where he died in 1673, leaving one son. Charles Sigourney, Esq., died December 30, 1854, aged 76.

The writings of Mrs. Sigourney, are too well known to need special mention here; they consist of numerous volumes in prose and verse, and have ever been kindly received, and highly eulogized. Mrs. Sigourney is one of the most popular prose writers of the age; and her poems, which include almost every variety of subject, are all made to subserve a high moral sentiment.

In the month of August, 1830, Mrs. Sigourney sailed for Europe, where she was well received, and every attention paid to her, that a stranger could desire. She was in Paris when the remains of Napoleon, were brought from St. Helena, on which occasion she wrote one of the most beautiful and heart-thrilling poems that ever fell from her gifted pen. After visiting England, Scotland and France, she returned and gave to the world that charming volume, "Pleasant Memories of Pleasant Lands," a very popular book, which has passed through numerous editions.

Her "Letters to Mothers," "Letters to young Ladies," and "Letters to my Pupils," are too well known to need comment in this place, they are exceedingly popular, and will always stand foremost among works of that character.

After her return to America, she received from the Queen of France, the wife of Louis Phillippe, a beautiful bracelet, set with diamonds and pearls, and ornamented with blue enamel, a just tribute to the talents of our much loved poetess, of whom the nation may well be proud.

Mrs. Sigourney, at present resides in Hartford, where she is much beloved, and respected for her rare talents and many virtues.

College, before 1844 ; 15 at Harvard College, before 1848 ; 4 at Dartmouth College, before 1853 ; 2 at Amherst, before 1826 and 1840 ; 3 at Brown, before 1823 ; 4 at Williams College, before 1826.

CYNKER, JOHN, early in Conn.

The anxiety which appears in some persons to brand Conn. and Mass., as being the first in this country, who were alarmed about, and punished witches. It was made a capital offence not only by the laws of Pennsylvania, but New York, and trials for witchcraft (spiritualism) were had in these two colonies for the offence, before they were at Old Salem, (see Matson's Annals of Philadelphia,) where is found the trial of two Swedes for witchcraft, with Wm. Penn, instructing the grand-jury on the subject, and he presiding on the trials ; but they escaped conviction, by technical defects.

DABOLL, NATHAN, the school-master, mathematician and a self-taught man ; he resided in Groton, and is familiarly known in New England, as the author of the well-known Daboll's Arithmetic, for many years a standard school-book. The name was not known in Conn., among the first settlers.

DAGGETT. This was rather a late name in Connecticut, and came first on the east side of Conn. River, after 1700, where the name is yet found. Hon. David Daggett, late deceased, of New Haven, was a native of Rhode Island. Rev. Naphthali Daggett, who was President of Yale College, was professor of theology as early as 1755 ; president in 1766, until 1777, when Mr. Stiles took the presidency. President Daggett, d. in 1780. He was b. at Attleborough, Mass., and graduated at Yale College, in 1748 ; studied theology and settled on Long Island, where he m. Sarah Smith, dau'r of Richard ; he continued to preach there, until he was appointed professor of divinity at Yale College, and accepted the offer and removed to New Haven, 1756. President Clapp, d. in 1766, and Mr. Daggett, was appointed in his place the same year, and continued to officiate as such, until 1777. In 1779, Dr. Daggett, became as much distinguished in war as in literature, being one of the volunteers who turned out with his musket to defend New Haven, against the attack by the British troops, and was taken prisoner or forced to surrender, and though a prisoner, was so severely treated by the enemy, beaten, bruised, wounded, robbed, insulted and marched in his enfeebled state for miles, and forced forward at the point of their bayonets, while his wounds were yet bleeding, which so greatly reduced him in health that he was hastened to his grave in 1780. (See Dr. Daggett's deposition, Barber's His. of Conn.)

President Daggett and Hon. David Dagget, both have descendants at New Haven, where they both died, neither of whom were early settlers in Conn., though were adopted ornaments of the state. The name is occasionally spelled Dogget on the early records. Thomas Daggett, aged 21 years, embarked from England, for Virginia, in the Primrose, July 27, 1635. Eleven of this name had graduated at Yale College, in 1839; Napthali, 1771, at Harvard; 3 at Brown University, before 1827. Daggett, has one coat of arms. (Burk.)

DAILEY, DALEY, DAYLEY, DALY, NICHOLAS, made free in 1663.

DAILEY, JOSEPH, and wife Patience, of Colchester, Conn., had a dau'r Frances, an adult, bap. June 28, 1741, and a son John, b. at Colchester, Dec. 11, 1708; Joseph Dailey, resided in Middletown, where he died, and his son Field Dailey, aged 14, chose Joseph Dailey, for his guardian, in 1748-9.

DAILEY, BENJAMIN, and Elizabeth, of Colchester, had a son Benjamin, b. at Colchester, June 3, 1744; Lucretia, b. April 4, 1742; Joseph Dailey, Jr., of Colchester, m. Rebecca Dewey, 1747. This has been an old name in Woodbury, and is a frequent name in Ireland and England. Several families of this name have within a few years past immigrated to this country.

DALY, has three coats of arms, all Irish.

One (Co. Galway, Ireland.) One Benmore, Co. Galway. An ancient family, now represented by Malachy. Daly, of Paris, Esq., banker, eldest son of the late Dominick Daly, Esq., by Joanna Harriet, his wife, sister of the first Lord Walscourt, same arms, &c. One (Dunsandle, Co. Galway,) same arms, crest, &c. (Burk.)

DALGLESCH, DAGLICH, ROBERT, was one of the signers at Branford, Conn., to settle a town upon Passaic River, in New Jersey, and went there in 1667, and aided in settling Newark. The name was for some years spelled, Dalglesch, which is supposed to have been Douglass. (See Douglas.)

Michael Tompkins, in his will of 1688-9, in mentioning his children, Jonathan, Micah, Seth, Mary Rose, names ABIGAL DALGLESCH, and Elizabeth Bishop, note, p. 83, Stearn's History of Newark. Dr. McWhorten, in his manuscript history, mentions four men who had fled from Scotland, to avoid persecutions there under Charles II., and names them Young, Nesbit, Clisby and Douglass, who, for their zeal and piety, had been admitted by the first settlers (of Newark) to great privileges. Stearns' His. of Newark, note, p. 86. This is the Robert Dalglesch, (now Douglas,) who signed the contract named above. In 1663, Robert Douglas and Wm. Douglas, were both of New London. Dalglish, has a coat of arms, (Scots craig Scotland.) See Burk.

DALISON, GILBERT, and his brother James, were early at Milford, James the eldest (Lamb't says) d. in 1642, unmarried, and his estate settled by Capt. Astwood as judge, being the first estate settled in Milford, by the probate court. Gilbert Dalison, is noted by Lamb't, as principal after planter in Milford, in 1647. And he with Charles Deal, Samuel Coley, Jr., and Robert Haughton, were at Milford, in 1676. Richard Haughton, was one of the second class of planters at Milford, with Dalison, &c. Rev. Timothy came over to New England, with Rev. Samuel Eaton, Rev. John Fisk, &c., in 1637. Dalison, has three coats of arms. One (Laughton, Co. Lincoln.) One (Hamptons, Co. Kent.) One ar. a pile engr. sa. One Dalisone, (Scotland, see Dalyson.) Burk.

DANA, JACOB, JR., settled in Ashford, Conn.; he was descended from Richard Dana, a French Protestant, who settled at Cambridge; Jacob had a son Anderson, (who became a lawyer at Ashford;) when his son Sylvester, was quite young, he removed to Wyoming, Penn., in 1772. The father of Sylvester, was killed in the horrid massacre at Wilksbarre, in 1778, together with his son-in-law, White, and his mother, who was the dau'r of Deacon Caleb Huntington, of Lebanon, escaped the conflict, and with her children fled to Conn., on foot, which was even a harder fate than when she moved there on horseback, with Sylvester on the horse behind her, and a young child in her arms. Sylvester graduated at Yale College, 1797, and settled in the ministry at Concord, New Hampshire, where he d. in 1849, aged about 79 years, so that Sylvester, when he rode behind his mother to Wyoming, was about 3 years old. He was b. at Ashford, Oct. 14, 1769.

Dana is not found to have been an early name either in the Conn. or New Haven Colonies, though at a later period it has been prominent in the State, by the exalted rank the Hon. Mr. Dana, deceased, of Middletown, held in Congress, for several years, as well as by the high reputation as a divine, maintained by the Rev. James Dana, D. D., of New Haven. Dr. Dana, came into Connecticut from Cambridge, Mass., about 1757 or 8, and became a candidate for settlement at Wallingford, Conn., where the people agreed to settle him as their minister. Some feared he was not orthodox, and inquired of him his views of original sin, falling from grace, free will, &c., all which he answered shortly. And when he was asked what he thought of the platform; he answered, he had not seen it, but remarked if he settled he supposed he should settle upon it. They finally inquired if he had seen the doctrines of faith used by his predecessor? He answered he had; they then wished to know if he liked them? Dr. Dana, being probably impatient, asked why they did not inquire of him how he liked John Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress and Æsop's Fables? A violent quarrel arose in the town against him, but he was ordained by the ordaining council, but they ordained him against the will of the consociation. Mr. Dana remained their preacher a few years and was dismissed, and afterward settled and died in New Haven.

DANE, DANES, EBENEZER, of Windham, (this name perhaps should have been recorded Dean, or Dana,) had by his wife Mercy, issue, viz., Zuruiah, b. March 31, 1720; Hannah, b. Aug. 9, 1722; John, b. June 29, 1724; perhaps others. Ebenezer, the father, d. May 22, 1753.

DANE, NATHAN, and wife Sarah, from Abington, united with the church at Hampton, Conn., in 1755; issue, recorded, Nathan, b. May 11, 1752, d. 1752; Lydia, b. March 8, 1754; 2d Nathan, b. March 16, 1756; Aaron, b. Jan. 21, 1758.

DANE, THOMAS, aged 32 years, carpenter, sailed for New England in the Elizabeth and Ann, in 1635.

Nine by the name of Dana, graduated at Yale College, between 1760 and 1845. Hon. Samuel W., graduated at Yale College, 1775; 17 at Harvard, before 1849, and spelled Dane; 2 at Brown University, before 1831; 3 at Amherst. Dane, has 4 coats of arms. 16 by the name of Dane, had graduated at Dartmouth College, in 1854, and one Dane, in 1800.

DANFORTH, THOMAS, of Wethersfield, m. Elizabeth, and had issue, viz., Elizabeth, b. Aug. 22, 1789; Thomas, Jr., b. July 6, 1792; Almira, b. 1794. His son Thomas, m. Mary Ann Butler, Sept. 14, 1827. This was an early and very respectable name in Mass., but a late name in Conn.

DANIELL, DANIELS, STEPHEN. This name is Daniel, generally, upon the early records of Conn. Stephen was an early

NOTE.—The original records of Stratford, from the first settlement in 1639, to 1650, were destroyed by the burning of the building in which they were kept, so that the direct evidence from record showing who the first settlers were, is somewhat uncertain, though some things were recorded again, grants of land, some births, &c. But the dates to the grants are often omitted, yet the births give some light; still a tolerable correct account can be given, though probably some of the first settlers left the town, before the records were burned; of such no account is found.

settler at New Haven, and the first found in the two Colonies. His children b. in New Haven, were Joanna, b. Sept. 1, 1652; Elizabeth, b. Oct. 1, 1655; Rebecca, b. 30th, 11th, mo., 1657, probably others. Edward Daniel, d. in New Haven, Aug., 1662. Mrs. Anna Daniel, of New Haven, d. May 3, 1709. Stephen Danyell was fined 40s. and Greenfell Larreby, fined £5, for disorderly carriage, by the General Court, of Conn., Nov. 3, 1650, and both required, that if Joshua Jennings (whom they rescued from authority) came on board their ships again on the river or at Saybrook, to deliver him to the authority. The name Daniel, was at Hartford, in 1643, perhaps not a settler. John Daniel, of New London, as early as 1663. Thomas Daniel, was one who was paid "for fetching guns from Saybrook to New London," in 1691. John, was of New London, when the patent of the town was sanctioned by the Gov'r and Company. John, of New London, d. about 1709, or 10, and his widow Mary, named. Miss Caulkins says, he m. Mary Chappell, Jan. 19, 1664-5, after he came to New London, and had nine children, viz.:

1. John, b. Jan. 19, 1665-6; m. Agnes Beebe.
2. Mary, b. Oct. 12, 1667.
3. Thomas, b. Dec. 31, 1669.
4. Christian, b. March 3, 1671.
5. Hannah, b. April 20, 1674.
6. Rachel, b. Feb. 27, 1676.
7. Sarah, b. Feb. 10, 1679.
8. Jonathan, b. Oct. 15, 1682.
9. Clement, (not recorded.)

John, sen'r, the father of the above children, divided his land to his four sons. He gave Thomas his homestead, which joined the farms of John Keeney and Samuel Manwaring. This Thomas d. Oct. 12, 1725. The sons of John, sen'r, m. and all had children.

DANIEL, JOHN, JR., b. 1665, m. Agnes Beebe, dau'r of Samuel, Dec. 3, 1685, d. Jan. 15, 1756, wanting only 15 days of being 90 years old. John, of New London, in 1709, was one of the petitioners there for a grist-mill, to be built upon the falls of Jordan Brook, "where it falleth into the cove," in place of the old and neglected grist-mill, of Governor Winthrop's, which was built in 1712, by Richard Manwaring, on the falls of Jordan Brook, as petitioned for in 1709. (See Caulkins and record.)

DANIELS, JONATHAN, of Colchester, Conn., perhaps son of John, of New London, d. 1750, aged 72; his wife d. 1743, aged 60. He had a dau'r Jemima, bap. June, 1740; Jonathan, (supposed) Jr., of Colchester, m. in Colchester, Feb., 1744. His wife bap. May 29, 1737.

DANIELS, NEHEMIAH, of Colchester, m. Elizabeth Worthington, Dec. 19, 1743, and had issue, Rhoda, b. 1744; Jonathan, his eighth child, b. 1760; Amasa, b. 1762.

DANIELS, EZEKIEL, of Colchester, m. Elizabeth Olcott, of East Haddam, Oct. 28, 1787.

DANIELS, LEMUEL, of Colchester, settled at Middle Haddam, about 1750.

DANIELS, DANIEL, of Bolton, Conn., d. 1758; estate £29, 16s. 4d., and his son Daniel Daniels, adm'r.

DANIELS, JOEL, of Bolton, d. 1763, and Daniel Daniels, adm'r; estate, £25, 2s. 1d.

DANIELS, PELATIAH, m. Abigail Daniels, of Colchester, 1750.

DANIELS, WILLIAM (Massachusetts,) m. Katherine, dau'r of John Greenway, of Dorchester. He was the first applicant to be made free from Dorchester. His wife had for three years previous to 1653, bestowed much of her time to educate Indians, for the trifling sum of £6. This humane and praiseworthy act, induced the commissioners of the United Colonies to allow her £9, more for her past services, and to encourage her in further exertions, allowed her £3 in advance for the then ensuing year.

DANIELS. "Davey Danell," taxed at O. R., 1661 to 1672. "Daniell Teage," b. 1647, taxed at O. R., 1666 to 1671. John had a grant of land Sept. 23, 1701, New Hampshire. (His. Reg.)

Farmer names, Richard Daniel, of Billerica, 1675, and Andover. Robert, Watertown and Cambridge, free 1638, d. at Cambridge, July 6, 1655; also Thomas Daniel, of Cambridge, d. Nov., 1644; Thomas, Kittery, 1652, perhaps afterward of Portsmouth, and one of the first council of New Hampshire, under President Cutt., in 1680; William, Mass., made free 1648, and Wentworth Daniels, of Lynn, 1640. (Lewis.) Elizabeth Daniell, aged 2, came to New England, in the Increase, in 1635; Edward Dannell, aged 18, embarked for Virginia, July 27, 1635; Daniel Daniell, embarked for Virginia in the Merchant bona venture, 1634-5. This name has been many years at East Hartford, and Hartford, and in several other towns in Conn.; Daniel, of New Haven, was there soon after the settlement of that Colony, and perhaps was a part of the New London family. The coats of arms are variant, and the spelling of the name as much so; viz., Daniel, Daniell, Danyell, Daniels;

Daniel, (Ireland and England ; as borne by Nicholas Charles Daniel, of Westbrook House, Co. Dorset, Esq.,) has one ; Daniel, (Ireland,) 1 ; Daniel, (Trelissick, Co. Cornwall,) 1 ; Daniel or Danyell, has one ; Daniell, (Cheshire,) 4 ; Daniell, (Clifton, and Rostherne, Co. Chester,) 1 ; Daniell, (Cheshire, Suffolk, and Wells,) 1 ; Daniell, (Truro, Co. Cornwall,) 1 ; Daniell, (Durham,) 1 ; Daniell, (Gloucestershire,) 1 ; Daniell, (Little Berkampstead, Co. Hertford,) 1 ; Daniell, (Scotland,) 1 ; Daniell, (Aldridge-Lodge, Co. Stafford,) 1 ; Daniell, (Suffolk,) 1 ; Daniell, (Beswick, Co. York,) 1 ; Daniell, (Beswick, Co. York and Wiltshire,) same as of Scotland ; Daniell, (Yorkshire,) 2 ; Daniell, (Tideswell, Co. Derby, a co-hieress, m. Meverell,) 1 ; Daniels, (St. Austins, near Lymington, Co. Hauts,) has one ; Danyell, has 2, and several others. One Daniel, and two Daniels, graduated at Harvard Collge, before 1847 ; David Daniels, at Brown University, 1824 ; one Daniels at Dartmouth, in 1844.

This name was so early scattered in different towns and Colonies, it is now not only expensive, but difficult tracing them.

DANIELSON, JAMES, Joseph Cady, and Eph'm Warren, were early settlers at Killingly, not far from 1700. Barber says, the first white person buried there, was a member of said Cady's family, the great-grandmother of Nell Alexander, who was living quite aged in 1836. N. Alexander was a nephew of Levens ; he lived near Alexander's Lake, in Killingly.

DANIELSON, GEN. JAMES, of Killingly, m. Sarah Lord, dau'r of Elisha Lord, of Pomfret. James Danielson, is the first found at Killingly, soon after 1700 ; Danielston, (Danielstan, Scotland,) has 1 coat of arms.

Hon. Joel Barlow, author of Hasty Pudding, was born in the town of Reading, Conn., March 24, 1754, son of Samuel B., by his second wife Esther Hull, and grandson of Samuel. Joel Barlow was the wonder of his age and more so, in this age, by having foretold in his writings, the electric wires, the great western canal, and navigation by steam, many years before Fulton and Morse were known as inventors or discoverers. He was licensed to preach in New Haven. (See E. Stiles' Diary.) Chaplain in the 3d and 4th Mass. Brigades, 1780, 1783. Embarked from New York, for Havre, in France. Wrote his "Hasty Pudding," while in Savoy, in January, 1793. Went to Algiers, the last of 1795, and returned to Paris, in the summer of 1797. He d. at Zarnawica, a small village 20 miles north of Cracon, in Poland, Dec. 24, 1812, when on his return from Wilna, to Paris, whither he had been to confer with the Emperor Napoleon. Married Ruth Baldwin, Jan. 26, 1781, dau'r of Michael Baldwin, and had no issue. She d. at Washington, D. C., May 30, 1818. Samuel Barlow, the son of Samuel and father of Joel, the poet, m. Few of the great and good men of this country, have been as much and as maliciously misrepresented by the politicians, religious fanatics, and historians, as Hon. Joel Barlow, when few deserved it less, and much of it was probably to be attributed to the fact of his being fifty years ahead of the day in which he lived, and foretelling most of the important discoveries since his decease, mechanically, politically and religiously. (See his original letters and other writings in the hands of Olmsted, who will probably do him justice, with the facts in his possession, and with a pen few can wield to better advantage. See note, page 131, of this work.)

PREFACE.

It is proper in this place to apologise to the public for inserting this family in No. 5, out of their proper alphabetical order, and contrary to the original design. My excuse for doing so is, first, that I find it impossible to publish the work according to the original design, without such a number of regular subscribers as would remunerate me in the expense of paper, printing, and binding, each number as fast as issued, amounting to nearly $250, a number, which I do not feel able to do, as often as every 90 days, if the numbers should be issued as originally designed. The postage of letters, railroad charges, stage-fare, clerk's fees, and board while traveling to procure the facts, when added to the expense of printing, will leave no compensation for the time occupied, if all the numbers were sold at present prices. being but 1000 printed. Not only so, men of wealth will often make the excuse, that they want only their own family, a single number, leaving on the author the expense of collecting and publishing those families whose names have become extinct, as many of them have in the State; and some who have not, are unable to purchase the work. And many who are of ability to pay, care so little about their ancestors, that the mighty dollar has more interest over their sordid avarice, than all their respect for a worthy ancestry. The Hinman family have agreed to take such a number of the book published, containing their name, as shall defray the expense of printing, paper, and binding the work, which enables the author to give Number Five to the public. Though the copy for Number Six and Seven are prepared for the press, should an opportunity offer to print them without involving the author in debt, by doing the descendants of the Puritans of Conn. the favor of looking up their ancestors, and publishing for their benefit, not my own. Few of the Hinman family have rendered much assistance in the following imperfect collection. Uniformly dilatory in answering letters, without sending them two letters, and frequently three letters, to the same person, and then perhaps answer by sending no list of the family, or a list without dates, even of a marriage, birth, or death, or place of residence, and little or no history of their family. This has caused great trouble to the compiler, and is the reason why so imperfect a collection of the different branches of the name is now given to the public. And my own age warns me that, unless I publish what is collected, though thus imperfect, it will never find the press, and the labor already bestowed will be lost forever to the family. I am indebted to Hon. John E. Hinman, of Utica, to Miss Phebe

Hinman, of Southbury, Charles W. Hinman, Esq., of Washington, D. C., and Mr. Samuel Hinman, of New York city, J. E. Hinman, of Vermont, for their assistance in collecting many of the facts here published, of their branches of the family; also, to S. J. Hinman, of Verona, New York, Sidney Hinman, Esq., of New Haven, Vermont, and Samuel S. Conger, Esq., of Newark, New Jersey.

It will be noticed by the family that Sergeant Edward Hinman, who was the first of the name, and the only emigrant of the name who early came to this country, and settled at Stratford, Conn., about 1650, or soon after, had four sons, born at Stratford, and some daughters, (the latter not traced.) These sons are taken according to their ages, and the descendants of each son, as far as found, are inserted in the line of the different sons of Sergeant Edward. So that any of the name found in this collection can readily know which of the sons of Sergeant Edward was their progenitor or forefather, and readily trace back to Sergeant Edward, the first emigrant.

ROYAL R. HINMAN.

SERGEANT EDWARD HINMAN,

AND HIS FIRST SON,

CAPTAIN TITUS HINMAN,

AND DESCENDANTS.

HINMAN, SERGEANT EDWARD, of Stratford, was the first of the name in this country, yet the exact time he came to New England is not discovered, or the ship in which he arrived. The name is not found in Massachusetts, as most of the first settlers were. The first found of the name in this country was at Stratford, in Connecticut, between 1650 and 1652. There has been a tradition in the family from the early settlement of New England, that Sergeant Edward Hinman had belonged and constituted one of the body-guard of King Charles I., as sergeant at arms, and escaped in the days of Oliver Cromwell, the Protector, to save his life from the halter, by Cromwell, as his vengeance was wreaked upon all such as favored the crown of Charles I. This, if true, proves him to have been a most trustworthy loyalist and an honest man, for no others could have received the confidence of the crown at that critical period of the British government. It would also appear from this fact, that he must have been not only true and trusty, but a respectable Englishman, for no others were selected to be of the life-guard of the king, and as undoubted in his military powers as in his loyalty. Not only so, but as he held the title of Sergeant at Stratford, from his first settlement there, he probably acquired his title of Sergeant in the life-guard of King Charles I. Most of his descendants have been prompted since, by a military spirit, and fond of military glory, as is proved by there having been thirteen of the name from the town of Woodbury, including Captain Elisha Hinman, of New London, who was born at Woodbury, and held military commissions in the war of the Revolution, and did efficient service, as Whigs, for their country, at that period, of all others, which tried the faith, courage, and loyalty, in favor of the settlers and the republican form of government for which they contended. From the Dutch records at Albany it appears that Sergeant Edward had some connection with Captain John Underhill, in offering their military services to Governor Stuyvesant to fight the Indians, when Stuyvesant, having as much confidence in the good will of the Indians toward the Dutch as he had in that of the English, rejected the offer. Tradition says Captain Underhill disbanded his company at Stamford soon after, and from the latter place Sergeant Edward went to Stratford and located, being then unmarried, (but the first ten years of the record at Stratford, having been destroyed by fire, about 1649,) no record shows the time of Sergeant Edward's first arrival in Stratford with perfect accuracy; perhaps in 1650, or before. He married Hannah, daughter of Francis and Sarah Stiles, of Windsor, and had his first child Sarah, born at Stratford, in 1653.

About 1651-2, Sergeant Edward had a house-lot in Stratford, "which house-lot lyeth for 2 acres, be it more or less, butting east upon the street, (now Main street in Stratford,) butting west uppon ye home-lot, at present, of Francis Hall, bounded south-west, John Tomson, senior, and north-west, Mr. Joseph Hawley." (Stratford Rec., 19th of 9th month, 1668.) This house of Sergeant Edward's was located upon the west side of the present Main street in Stratford, a little south-west of that noble old Episcopal church, the beauty of which is its antiquated structure and plainness. At a town-meeting in Stratford, held March 7, 1654, it was voted "that Edward Hinman should have for his use that parcel of meadow which lyeth west of Mr. Stile's house, on this side of the further Milne river," for his own use, so long as he stays or will make improvements, only to list it and to," (obliterated on record.) Sergeant Edward sold his interest in the above meadow, (June 10, 1659,) on the west side of Mr. Stile's house on "this side of Milne river." February 2d, 1664, he had 22 acres of the last division of land laid out to him on the east, and another piece on the west side, of 8 acres.

Sergeant Edward purchased land in Stratford, June 18, 1662, near the harbor, which he sold to John Beach, and another tract situated on the neck. He also sold another tract of land on the neck to John Beach in 1662. He sold land on Quimby neck to Samuel Hawley. He had several lots of land by division of the town lands, and by purchase, as the record shows. He was a farmer while at Stratford, and an extensive land-holder, a man of good judgment, and acted firmly and liberally in the controversy between the Rev. Mr. Walker and his opponents in the church quarrel at Stratford, which terminated in the final settlement of the Rev. Mr. Walker, and a part of his church, at Woodbury in 1672. He was the first owner of the old tide-mill between Stratford and what is now Bridgeport, and some of his descendants have owned and been concerned in milling since. Ebenezer removed to Woodbury at an early period to take charge of a corn-mill and farm at Southbury for his cousin Timothy Hinman. Sergeant Edward had an ear-mark for his cattle at Stratford, recorded there the 18th day, 9th month, 1662, viz., "A slit right down the first q'r of the off ear, and a little slit across on the upper side of the same ear." His son Edward, Jr., took his father's mark, Sept. 25, 1698.

It has been supposed by many of the family that Edward Inman, an early settler of Providence, in Rhode Island, was identical with Edward Hinman, of Stratford Conn., which has been an erroneous opinion, proved so by a letter from the Hon. Mr. Updike, of South Kingston, Rhode Island, and another from Chief Justice Wm. A. Staples, of Providence, Rhode Island, both historians and genealogists of a high order, by which it appears that Edward Inman was received a purchaser of Providence after January, 1646; that his share in the purchase was one-quarter of a full right, such a share as many of the 101 original purchasers had. He was a commonwealth man. But enough for the present purpose is that he died at Providence, August 17, 1706, where he left a widow, Barbara, and two sons, Edward and John, named in his will; while Edward Hinman died in Stratford, Conn., in 1681, and left children, born in Stratford between 1653 and 1672, viz., Titus, Samuel, Benjamin, and Edward, and four daughters. There are now Inmans at Smithfield and Cumberland, who are supposed descendants of Edward, of Providence, who purchased a large tract of land in that quarter, of the Indians, where one or more of his sons probably settled; while all the sons of Edward Hinman settled at Woodbury, Conn., except his youngest son, Edward, Jr., who remained at Stratford. The name of Hinman is found in England, Ireland, Scotland; and in Germany, ending with two ns, (Hinmann.) The name is now found in Liverpool, Derby, and other parts of England. If the name was originally spelled with an H, it is difficult to determine whether they were Scotch, German, or English, as it is not a frequent name in either country. There are several merchants in the city of Derby at this time of the name of Hinman.

The coats of arms for Inman and Hinman in Berry's Heraldry, which is infallable, and in a book of crests found in some libraries, one of which is in the Congress library at Washington, D. C., which shows the two names to have been originally the same name, with and without the H prefixed. In England the H in Hinman is often not pronounced, as they pronounce horse, orse, with the h silent, and would soon perhaps spell Hinman, Inman. Hyndman and Hindman were originally a different name and family, and reside in different parts of England; their arms are unlike the Hinmans and Inmans, and the Hindman arms has only a crest, and that "a stag trippant." Hyndmen and Hindman, are of Scotch origin, yet the names are found at this time in Ireland as well as England, Scotland and America. The first of them found in the United States were in Virginia and Maryland; it yet continues there. Lower, in his book of surnames, gives the origin of Hinman and Inman, where the H is considered only as a cockney prefix.

The coat of arms of Hyndman, by Burke, viz., az. a saltire or. Crest.—A sun-dial, and the sun shining thereon. Motto.—True as the dial to the sun.

Coat of arms of Inman, by Burke, viz., vert, on chev. or., three roses gu. slipped and leaved of the first. Crest.—On a mount vert a wivern ppr. ducally gorged and lined or.

Edward, sen'r, sold his homestead in Stratford in 1681, to Richard Bryan, of Milford, and about this time made his will at Woodbury, in which he calls himself of Woodbury, and soon after died, Nov. 26, 1681. It is supposed he died at Stratford, as his will was proved and his estate settled in the probate court at Fairfield, in 1682, where his will is recorded. He gave his lands at Woodbury to his son Titus. He notices his sons Benjamin, his daughter Sarah Roberts, his son Samuel, and daughters Hannah, Mary, and Patience, and his youngest son Edward, Jr., his brother Ephram Stiles, and directed in his will that his son Edward, Jr., should be brought up to a trade with Jehial Preston, of Stratford.

Edward, sen'r, of Stratford, and his son Samuel, were at Woodbury soon after Phillip's war, and had home-lots and division land assigned them before 1681. Capt. Titus Hinman, the eldest son of Sergeant Edward, is found by Cothren to have been one of the signers of the fundamental articles of agreement, in order to settle the town of Woodbury, (then Pomparague,) Feb. 14, 1672, then not more than 18 years of age, by which it appears he was an original settler, probably by his father's purchase. Titus, and his brothers Samuel and Benjamin, were land-holders in Woodbury, and heads of families there, in 1702, and had shares in the division of the meadows on Shepaug river. It is a matter of doubt, whether Edward, sen'r, died at Stratford or Woodbury, as most, if not all, the estates of those who died at Woodbury at that time, were settled at the Fairfield probate court, and it will be noticed, also, that at that time, Woodbury was a part of Fairfield county, and he had disposed of his homestead in Stratford, and in his will, executed a short time before his death, 1681, described himself of Woodbury. His grave is not found either in Stratford or Woodbury; yet his death is recorded in Stratford; at which place he died or was buried is yet uncertain.

Sergeant Edward was a man of pure character, and noted for his integrity and strict honesty in all his dealings in life, and this has been a general trait of character with most of his descendants. No one of the name has ever been publicly punished for an offence, however many of them may have deserved it.

Sergeant Edward, the pilgrim, married, after he came to Stratford, Hannah Stiles, daughter of Francis and Sarah, who removed from Windsor to Stratford, (a relative of Ezra Stiles, D. D., and former President of Yale College,) yet the time of the marriage is not found, probably in 1651 or 2, as his first child was b. in 1653. Sergeant Edward's children b. in Stratford, were,

1. Sarah, b. Sept. 10, 1653; m. Wm. Roberts, of Stratford.
2. Titus, b. June, 1655; settled in Woodbury.
3. Samuel, b. last of June or Jan., 1658; settled in Woodbury.
4. Benjamin, b. in Feb., 1662-3; settled in Woodbury.
5. Hannah, b. July 15, 1666.
6. Mary, b. in 1668.
7. Patience, b. in 1670; m. John Burroughs, Jan. 10, 1694.
8. Edward, Jr., b. in 1672; m. Hannah Jennings.

Sergeant Edward died Nov. 26, 1681, and his wife Hannah died.

NOTE.—The remarks made connected with the life and character of Sergeant Edward Hinman, sen'r, of Stratford, as having by tradition occupied the position of Sergeant-at-arms, and one of the Life-Guard of King Charles I., is known only by tradition as having come from himself to his children. It is a subject upon which the writer is not much informed. By the Statute I., Richard I., the number of sergeants-at-arms was reduced from a larger number to 30, with special requirements, concerning their avoiding peculation, favoritism, and bribery, under the penalty of expulsion and imprisonment. In the time of Charles I., there were only 20 sergeants-at-arms; 16 appointed to attend on Parliament, and 4 for special duty and as guard of the king's person. Nothing is found to show from what rank these officers were chosen. Yet the importance of the office shows, of itself, it should have been noted in the Parliamentary Records. Occasionally some names are found of their displacement. It would seem that such officers, on which the life of the king depended in those times of fanaticism and favoritism, they would be true loyalists and of the best families, and not distrusted by the king or his council.

The following is copied of sergeant-at-arms, from "Dodd's Manual of Dignities," viz., "Sergeants-at-arms.—This corps was first raised by Richard I. They are 8 in number, though formerly they were much more numerous, and even at their first establishment amounted to 24. Their present duty consists in walking before the sovereign, and at a coronation in attending on the several bearers of the regalia. They are appointed by patent for life, with a salary of £100 a year. The sergeants-at-arms most frequently met with in public proceedings, however, are those detached for the performance of special duties in the Houses of Parliament and the Court of Chancery. In the House of Lords, the practical maintainance of decorum below the bar, near the throne, and in the gallery, devolves upon the Gentlemen and Yeomen HINMAN, CAPT. TITUS, eldest son of Sergeant Edward, was an original settler of Woodbury, (then Pomparaug,) 1672. Capt. Titus Hinman, with Andrew Hinman, and Benjamin Hicock, in behalf of the settlers of Southbury, then a portion of Woodbury, organized Southbury into a separate society, by dividing the two ecclesiastical societies by the line which "divided their Train Bands," which was incorporated in May, 1731, and named Southbury. Titus was made Captain of the "Train Band" soon after he settled at Woodbury, a rank of military honor few could obtain at that time. He was a member of the General Assembly 7 sessions between 1712 and 1720. Capt. Titus was a gentleman of good estate, and held a high rank as a public man in Woodbury. Hannah, his wife, was a member of the church at Woodbury in 1691; himself, in 1697; and his wife, Mary, in 1707.

Capt. Titus Hinman had two wives. He first married Hannah Coe, (supposed of Stratford.) After her decease, he m., for his 2d wife, Mary Hawkins, of Woodbury or Derby, Jan. 14, 1703-4. He d. aged 80 years, April 5, 1736, at Woodbury. (Tombstone.) His will on Woodbury probate record, notices his children, but the record of births give them more fully.

Ushers, with their assistants, so that "the sergeant-at-arms attending the House of Lords has less conspicuous duties to perform than those which devolve upon the sergeant attending the House of Commons." Both, however, execute the commands of the House to which they belong, as regards the apprehension or custody of all persons committed by order of Parliament. In the House of Commons, the sergeant-at-arms is an officer of considerable importance, enjoying large emoluments, assisted by a deputy and several subordinate officers. During the sittings of the House, he occupies a chair below the bar, and he directs a large proportion of the arrangements connected with the maintenance of order in the approaches to the House and the offices adjacent. He is at once the executive and the ceremonial officer of the lower house; but his discretionary powers are not extensive, for almost all his more important duties are performed under the immediate direction of the House itself, communicated through the Speaker. The office is usually held by a gentleman of the military profession, seldom under the rank of field-officer. The sergeant-at-arms attached to the Court of Chancery, is usually the same individual who performs the duties of sergeant-at-arms to the House of Lords. In the Court of Chancery, as in the House of Lords, his orders always proceed from the Lord Chancellor, and his duties mainly consist in carrying the mace, and taking peers and others into custody, by direction of the court." These few historical facts I insert, to show the standing and reputation of Edward Hinman, sen'r, in England, if his own tradition has rightly descended with his heirs in this country.

* Hinman, Mary, daughter of Capt. Titus Hinman, of Southbury, (who was son of Sergeant Edward, of Stratford.) was bap. at Southbury, Feb., 1714, m. Rev. David Bostwick, son of John, Jr., of New Milford, July 30, 1739. (Record.) His grandfather, John Bostwick, was from Stratford to New Milford. The mother of Rev. David, was Mercy Bushnell, of Danbury, 10. Hannah, bap. March, 1720-1; b. March 12; m. Samuel Twichel, Dec. 13, 1739.

11. Patience, bap. July, 1722; the last; is not named in his will, perhaps died before her father.

of the Baybrook stock of Bushnells. Where Rev. David Bostwick was educated is not found, perhaps in New Jersey College, as he read his profession there, and was an instructor there of an academy at Newark, under Rev. Aaron Burr, (the father of Col. Aaron Burr.) He was settled at Jamaica, Long Island, Oct. 9, 1745, and his instructor, Rev. Aaron, preached his ordination sermon; where Mr. Bostwick continued the faithful pastor of the church, and in perfect harmony with his people more than 10 years, and where he held a high rank with his fellow-ministers, and enjoyed the affections and respect of his society and church. His reputation for eloquence and soundness in the doctrines of his order, had extended over the country. About this time, a schism had broken out in the old Wall street church in the city of New York, which was the first Presbyterian church in the city, organized about 1719. Anderson, Pemberton, Cumming, and Pemberton, the four previous pastors of the church, had been disposed of by death and resignation, in 1751 or 1752; and the important object of the society was to procure a pastor of talents, pacific in all his tendencies, sound in his doctrines, and one who by the amiability and force of his character would the best heal the difficulties in the church in New York. The character of Mr. Bostwick was well-known in New York, and in July, 1755, the old first church gave Mr. Bostwick an invitation to settle with them as their pastor. This aroused his society in Jamaica to a violent opposition to his removal. The Presbytery referred it to a synod; they referred it to a committee, and the committee, after a trial, referred the question of his dismissal back to the synod; and at a special meeting of the synod at Princeton, April 14, 1756, after a full examination of the evidence of the two churches, the synod dissolved his pastoral relation with the church at Jamaica, and Mr. Bostwick accepted the call from the first Presbyterian church in New York, and removed his family to New York, and at once entered upon the duties of his office. His piety, prudence, learning, and fine pulpit oratory, rendered him at once popular with his new society, and popular with all others.

Smith, in his History of New York, 1758, speaking of the old First Church and its then pastor, says, "The congregation consists at present of twelve or fourteen hundred souls, under the pastoral charge of the Rev. Mr. David Bostwick, who was lately translated from Jamaica to New York by a synodical decree. He is a gentleman of mild, catholic disposition, and being a man of piety, prudence, and zeal, he confines himself entirely to the proper duties of his profession. In the art of preaching, he is one of the most distinguished clergymen in these parts. His discourses are methodical, sound, pathetic; in sentiment, and in point of diction, singularly ornamented. He delivers himself without notes, and yet with great ease and fluency of expression."

In addition to his salary, the society gave him the use of a parsonage in 1762.

Several of Mr. Bostwick's sermons were printed. In his "Vindication of the Right of Infants to the Ordinance of Baptism," (the London edition,) is found some facts worth preserving of the exalted standing, as a man and a divine, which says his gifts and qualifications for the pulpit were of a high order; as a preacher, uncommonly popular; his appearance and deportment peculiarly venerable, with a clear understanding, warm heart, quick apprehension, lively imagination, solid judgment, strong voice, with a deliberate, impressive manner, with a commanding eloquence, &c. He probably ranked as high in public estimation as any of the name and family have, since John, his ancestor, came to New England. (See Jamaica Record; Synod; Smith's History of New York; Middleton's Ecclesiastical Biography; Genealogy of the Family of John Bostwick, &c., &c.) His marrying Mary Hinman, daughter of Capt. Titus, of Southbury, Conn., in 1739, causes this notice of him. Their children, as given by Kilbourn, in the Biography of the County of Litchfield, were Andrew, David, William, James, and daughters, Mercy, d. single; Polly, m. General Robertson, of Philadelphia; Hannah, m. General Alexander McDougal, of the army, and senator from New York; Amelia, m. Mr. Plumb; Lucretia, d. single; Nancy, m. Captain McGee, of the U. S. Army.

He was a member of the General Assembly of Conn., in Oct., 1712-13, twice in 1714, Oct., 1715, 1719, and 1720.

HINMAN, EPHRAIM, eldest son of Capt. Titus, if m., left no children; supposed d. March 26, 1739. He was a member of the church at Woodbury in 1707.

HINMAN, JOSEPH, sen'r, 2d son of Capt. Titus, m. Esther Downs, of Woodbury, Nov. 16, 1714. He owned the baptismal covenant at Woodbury in 1708. Joseph, Benjamin, Edward, Adam, Titus, Jr., Andrew, Judge Noah, Samuel, and Ephraim Hinman, are found on the list of proprietor's names in Woodbury, Oct., 1751. And by a list of tax-payers in Woodbury in 1712, the names of Judge Noah, Benjamin, Adam, Titus, Samuel, and Andrew Hinman, appear in the north purchase, (Bethlem,) and were taxed.

The children of Joseph Hinman, sen'r, of said Woodbury, were,

1. Ebenezer, b. Oct. 15, 1715; d. of small-pox, Dec. 27, 1767.
2. Joseph, Jr., bap. June 1, 1718; b. May 27, 1718.
3. Tabitha, bap. Feb., 1721; b. Feb. 25, 1720; m. Joseph Richards, Oct. 23, 1746.
4. Esther, bap. June 14, 1723; m. David Mun, Nov. 7, 1749.
5. Eunice, bap. Jan. 30, 1725-6; m. Zadock Hurd, June 19, 1754.
6. Mabel, bap. August 4 or 11, 1728; m. Justus Hicock; perhaps a son Justus, b. June 21, 1729.
7. Amos, bap. Nov. 30, 1730; d. young.
8. Elijah, bap. April, 1733; b. April 1, 1733; m. Hester, dau'r of John Curtis, Jan. 3, 1771.
9. Daniel, bap. July 6, 1735; d., supposed, young.
10. Lois, bap. Oct., 1737; m. John King, Dec., 1784.

As the records of marriages in Woodbury, covering more than 130 years of the first settlement of the town, probably kept, or should have been, by Rev. Mr. Walker, Stoddard, and Benedict, are not found, some of the marriages may be imperfect, and some few of them find themselves with strange bed-fellows, as tradition is the only evidence, in some cases, of the marriages.

HINMAN, ANDREW, 3d son of Capt. Titus Hinman, bap. 1690, was one of the most active and enterprising men of his time, and an extensive dealer in new lands. He purchased of the Indians a large share of the present town of Salisbury, which he again sold, and one of the Stiles family of Woodbury, removed on to it from Woodbury, where some of the descendants yet live. The original Indian deeds are found in the office of the Secretary of State in Hartford, on the book of Indian and other deeds. He purchased several lots of land in Waterbury, which was originally laid out to or purchased by Thomas Judd, of Waterbury—and other lands.

CAPT. ANDREW HINMAN confessed his baptismal covenant at Woodbury in 1708, and was a member of the church there, 1716. He was a member of the General Assembly of Conn., 8 sessions from 1725 to 1740. He m. Mary Noble, of Westfield, Mass., August 29, 1711. Their children were born at Woodbury, viz.,

1. Andrew, Jr., bap. August 14, 1712; m. Mabel Stiles, Feb. 28, 1738.
2. Hannah, bap. Dec. 5, 1714; m. Josiah Everest, March 20, 1739.
3. Coe, b. April 22; bap. August, 1718.
4. Mary, b. March, 1720; bap. March 8, 1721; she m. Garwood Cunningham, Dec., 1851, a Scotch Irish gentleman.
5. Margaret, bap. August 2, 1723; d. single.
6. Aaron, bap. Oct., 1726; d. young.

7. Nathan, bap. Dec. 7, 1729; settled in New London.

8. Elisha, (Capt.) bap. March 10, (b. March 9,) 1734; settled in New London.

9. Noble, bap. April 25, 1736 or 1737.

MARY, wife of Capt. Andrew, was a member of the church, 1716, at Woodbury.

HINMAN, TITUS, Jr., 6th son of Capt. Titus Hinman, bap. March, 1703-4, lived in Southbury. He m. Sarah Noble, of New Milford, Conn., June 8, 1721, and had children, viz.,

1. Patience, b. July 17, 1722.

2. Titus, (3,) bap. May, 1725; d. August, 1750.

3. Ephraim, bap. Feb., 1727; m. Mrs. Rebecca Lee, August 20, 1750.

4. Sarah, bap. Nov. 17, 1728; m. Deacon David Hinman and Deacon Daniel Curtis, the mother of General Ephraim Hinman.

5. Rachel, bap. Oct. 5, 1731; m. John Garrit, who removed to Wyoming, where he and one son was killed, and she and some children returned to Connecticut.

6. Titus, (4,) bap. Nov. or Oct. 25, 1733; m. Joanna Hurd. He went to Wyoming with his family, and was killed there with Garrit. His wife and children escaped in a boat, and got safe back to Connecticut.

7. Amie, bap. 1736; m. Drake; settled in Winchester; had no issue.

8. Prudence, bap. Sept. 3, 1738; m. David Hurlbut, Nov. 6, 1757, and removed to Charlotte, Vermont.

9. Lucy, bap. March or May, 25, 1740; m. Joseph Hurlbut; also removed to Charlotte or Monkton, Vermont.

10. Enos, bap. July 25, 1742; m., 1st, Jerusha Clark, of Northampton, Mass., and had 2 other wives.

11. Annis, bap. March, 1747; d. in infancy.

TITUS d. April 5, 1736. Sarah, wife of Titus, was a member of the church at Woodbury in 1727, and he in 1728.

HINMAN, ELEAZUR, son of Capt. Titus Hinman, of Woodbury, and grandson of Sergeant Edward. He was a man of character and estate. In 1776 he was appointed by the General Assembly of Conn., with Thomas Fitch, Rufus Lathrop, Samuel Bishop, &c., to audit all colony accounts, and report thereon. He was a member of the Legislature in 1749, &c., and was a gentleman of respect in the colony. He renewed his baptismal covenant at Woodbury in 1731. He m. Hannah Scovill, of Waterbury, Conn., and had issue b. in Woodbury, viz.,

1. Jonas, bap. Feb., 1730; settled at Kettletown, in Southbury. Jonas m. Sarah Downs, Feb. 11, 1756.

2. John, bap. Sept. 3, 1732; b. August 1, 1732; m., 1st, Abigail Graham, of Southbury; she d., and he m., 2d, widow Mary Wentworth.

3. Eleazur, Jr., bap. Sept. 24, 1734; m. Rhoda Mitchell, Dec. 13, 1769; moved to Herkimer county, New York.

4. Dorcas, bap. Nov., 1736; m. Phineas Potter, or Porter, Nov., 1757.

Andrew, Jr., resided at Southbury; was a farmer. He was a member of the Legislature.

HINMAN, MARY, dau'r of Andrew Hinman, Jr., b. Dec. 23, 1748; m. Shadrack Osborn, Esq., son of Deacon Timothy, from Long Island, March 19, 1774. She d. Jan. 18, 1777, and left only one child, Mary or Betsey E., b. August 25, 1778, who married Capt. Limon Dunning, deceased, of New Haven, about 1800. She d. about Nov. 3, 1853. She had two children: Antoinette, who m. Hon. James Donaghee, of New Haven, and has one son, Dr. Donaghee, of New York. Rev. Edward, who also m., and has a family in Virginia. Mrs. Dunning was an extraordinary woman, an ornament to society and the church of which she was a member most of her long and useful life.

HINMAN, COE, bap. August 1718, son of Andrew Hinman, and grandson of Capt. Titus, m. ———; children:

1. Nathan, bap. June, 1751.

2. Abner, bap. July, 1754, and others. Coe and his family removed into the State of New York, and I have no further account of them.

HINMAN, AARON, 3d son of Andrew, bap. Oct., 1726, d. young and unmarried.

HINMAN, NATHAN, son of Andrew, bap. Dec., 1729; also removed and settled at New London with his brothers Capt. Elisha and Noble. He is supposed to have been a seafaring man. He m. ———, and had children.

HINMAN, CAPT. ELISHA, b. March 9, and bap. 10, 1734; son of Capt. Andrew Hinman, of Woodbury, grandson of Capt. Titus, and great-grandson of Edward, the Pilgrim, of Stratford. He was a seaman by profession, of an accomplished character. He settled at New London in early life, where he m., lived, and died. Public confidence was such in his capacity as a mariner, his good judgment, courage, and integrity, that, in the commencement of the war of the Revolution, he was placed in the command of the first government ship, called the Alfred, which sailed out of New London, against the British.

In 1776 he took a continental armed brig of 200 tons, laden with rum, sugar, &c., bound to Scotland, and brought her into New London; also in 1776, he, with Capt. Shaw, carried three tons of powder into Dartmouth.

In October, 1777, a prize-ship, laden with sugar and cotton, worth £60,000, was taken by the Alfred, Capt. Hinman, and the Raliegh, Capt. Thompson, two ships of war. He captured and carried two prize-ships into France, and sold them for the benefit of the States, in 1778. (New London Gazette.)

The first naval expedition, by authority of Congress, (says Miss Caulkins,) was fitted out at New London, in January, 1776, under Commodore Hopkins. The fleet consisted of the Alfred, Columbus, Cabot, and Andriacoria, being designed as a secret expedition to annoy the British fleet at the south. Dudley Saltonstall, who had been in command of the fort or battery, was appointed senior Captain, Elisha Hinman, Lieutenant, Peter Richards and Charles Bulkley, two of the first young bloods of New London, and young seamen, were two of the midshipmen. The fleet sailed about the first of February, 1776, to rendezvous in Delaware Bay. It resulted only in the British post, of New Providence, and a fruitless combat with the British ship Glasgow, near the eastern end of Long Island, on their return to New London. The Commodore entered New London on the 8th of April, on his return. He had taken 70 prisoners, 88 pieces of cannon, and a large quantity of military and naval stores. Many of the heavy pieces of ordnance had previously arrived on a sloop commanded by Capt. Hinman. (See Caulkin's History of New London, p. 509, and New London Gazette.)

Capt. Biddle, in the Andrew Doria, sent in a prize which ran upon the rocks near Fisher's Island, then being chased by a British ship of war. At once, a number of armed men from Stonington went on board and prevented her destruction. The day after, Capt. Hinman, in the Cabot, went out to assist, and brought into port, from the prize, ninety hogsheads of rum and seven of sugar. The remainder was lost. (His. New London, pp. 510-11.)

Miss Caulkins, in her invaluable History of New London, p. 537, speaking of Capt. Elisha Hinman, says he was one of three brothers who came from Woodbury, Conn., to New London, before or about 1760, and established themselves in New London; that Capt. Elisha was a veteran of the sea before the Revolution, and took an early part in the contest; commanded the Cabot, a continental brig, in the squadron of Commodore Hopkins, and afterward succeeded Paul Jones in the ship Alfred, which he was unfortunately compelled to surrender to the Oriadne and Ceres, on a return voyage from France, March 9, 1778. Being carried a prisoner to England, after a short confinement, he found friends who aided his escape to France, from whence he returned home, and engaged for a time in private adventures. In 1779, he went out in the privateer sloop Hancock, owned by Thomas Mumford, and had a run of brilliant, dashing success. In 1780, Capt. Hinman took command of the armed ship Deane. Peter Richards, Charles Bulkley, and John Welsh, Lieutenants of Capt. Hinman in the Alfred, were also prisoners and confined in Fortune prison, near Portsmouth, in England, for several months. They also escaped, by digging under the outward wall of the prison, and also escaped to France in safety, and returned to New London in the spring of 1779. (See Caulk., p. 537.) The successful privateering of 1779, added another laurel to the fame of Capt. Hinman, by taking the Lady Erskine, of ten guns, within sight of the harbor of New London, by the Hancock and Beaver, Captains Hinman and Havens, by cutting her off from a British fleet of 21 sails, under a convoy of the Thames frigate, of 36 guns.

The Gazette, of June 3, 1779, advertised to be sold on the 8th of June, among other prizes, the Bellona, of 160 tons, of 16 guns; schooner Mulberry, 70 tons; sloop Hunter, of 90 tons; sloop Charlotte, of 60 tons; sloop Lady Erskine, 60 tons, and 10 guns, all prizes taken by the Beaver and Hancock. Capt. Hinman, June 1, 1780, in the Jonatas, a private cruiser, sailed from New London on a cruise. She carried 29 guns, 24 nines and five fours, under his command. (p. 542 Caulk.) In the 3d volume of John Adam's works, p. 200, he speaks of Capt. Hinman while in France. In 1781 he commanded the brig Marquis Lafayette, and captured the brig Dispatch. In 1779 he commanded the frigate Trumbull. (N. L. Gazette.) A court martial was holden, which fully acquitted Capt. Hinman with honor, when commander of the Alfred. He was one of the fortunate naval officers, who gained laurels for themselves and many valuable prizes for the country, by their naval skill and bravery during the Revolution, in that unequal contest at sea. He took other prizes which are not named in the above schedule of his valuable and adventurous captures.

After Capt. Hinman left the service, he entered into mercantile business at New London for a time, and for several years commanded the Revenue Cutter at New London. He was an estimable man in private life, true to his friends, to the last favor and last dollar, and a gentleman in his deportment. He married Miss Abigail Dolebear, daughter of George Dolebear, Esq., of New London, March 1, 1777. On the day of his marriage, the officers of the ship Oliver Cromwell, to honor Capt. Hinman, ordered a complimentary salute to be fired from their ship, but some lover of mischief among the crew charged the cannon with a hand grenade, "which (says the record) whistled through the town,

NOTE.—When the account of the descendants of Capt. Titus Hinman was sent to the printer for publication, little could be obtained either of the history or genealogy of Capt. Elisha Hinman from his descendants. But since the foregoing publication I have received, by the politeness of Mr. Thomas D. Day, of St. Louis, his grandson, a file of letters, written years since, by his mother, who was a daughter of Capt. Elisha Hinman, giving many interesting facts of her father, his chivalry during the Revolutionary war, and of his family, his marriage, &c. I therefore add this long note. As will be seen before, Capt. Elisha Hinman, of New London, married Abigail Dolebear, dau'r of George, of Montville, (then a portion of New London.) This George was born in Boston. His mother's name was Clark. Mr. Dolebear, her husband, was a Welchman. He settled in Boston, and was wealthy. He had a silver dining and tea set, and a pewter service also, with the coat of arms of his family engraved upon the dining service. This service of silver has been distributed to the descendants of the Dolebear family, and some articles to the children of Capt. Elisha Hinman. His daughter, Mrs. Day, had a silver porringer of the set, until within a few years past. George Dolebear received from his father a large quantity of land, located in Montville, Ct. George, the father of Abigail; the wife of Capt. Elisha Hinman, m. Sherwood, whose father was an Englishman, and settled near Toilsome Hill in Stratford or Fairfield, Conn. Deacon Sherwood supposed, her brother, lived by the forge, near Poquonnock. The first Sherwood's wife was one of four females who formed the first church of Poquonnock, since removed to Bridgeport, and since called Blatchford's church. The Burrs and Sterlings, of Fairfield county, were relatives of the children of Capt. Elisha Hinman, by their grandmother Dolebear, who had two sisters, married Fitch and Bradford in Montville.

Andrew Hinman, of Southbury, the father of Elisha, purchased rights on Staten Island, N. Y., and for a time removed to Elizabethtown in New Jersey, but returned to Conn. Captain Elisha left his father when young, and went to sea, and at the age of 19 years he shipped as captain of a brig, and pursued his business successfully. He traded at the French and English Islands, and in the West Indies, and remained there for three years at one time, where cargoes were assigned to him to dispose of, and to purchase the return cargoes. His character was so perfectly fair, that his integrity was proverbial; let him reside where he might, that he was called the most honest man known in trade. And so popular was he on the islands, that the planters and merchants would not allow him to reside at the hotels, but took him to their own houses, where he formed an extensive and useful acquaintance with all the business men of the islands, and those who traded there from England, Scotland, France, &c., which, not only then, but afterward, through his life, was not only a source of profit but pleasure, while in other countries.

When Capt. Hinman was taken prisoner by Commodore Prindle, the Commodore inquired of him, "Who that damned rascal was who ran away?" (Capt. Thompson.) Hinman answered, "Sir, he is your countryman." Com.—"He is a rascal, come from where he may." Hin.—"Had I his ship, I would have taken you, Sir." Com.—"That is loud talking, Capt. Hinman." Hin.—"Well, Sir," (stating the ship, force, crew, and advantages of the Raleigh), "Now, Sir, the like was never known." The terrified inhabitants caused the offender to be arrested, put in irons, &c.

His marriage was honorably noticed in the newspapers of the day, as follows :
 "Married, at New London, by the Rev. Mr. Jewett, Elisha Hinman, Esq., com-could you not have taken these ships?" Com.—"I think I could." Hin.—"I think I could do as much you." Com.—"I believe you can."

The Commodore was so much pleased with the courage and frank and manly demeanor of Capt. Hinman, he presented Capt. Hinman two trunks of prize property, one of gold lace and the other of brocade silks, which, with his military cloak, he sent home to New London to his wife by his purser, Nathaniel Richards. His children have had strips of the lace in their old age. Capt. Hinman was sent a prisoner to Gosport, England, where he was brought before a Scotch magistrate for examination. Mag.—"How dare you fight His Majesty's ships, you rebel of His Majesty's Colonies?" Hin.—"I dare fight His Majesty himself, if I meet him on the high seas." Mag.—"Who are you, Sir?" Hin.—"Elisha Hinman, Sir." Mag.—"What's your occupation?" Hin.—"I commanded the Alfred, commissioned by the Government of the United States in North America." Mag.—"Where was you born?" Hin.—"In Woodbury, Sir." Mag.—"And where?" (in great scorn) "is Woodbury?" Hin.—"Ten miles from Darby, Sir." The Scotchman laughed, and said, "Give me your hand," holding out his own, and called for some wine.

Capt. Hinman was sent to Fortune prison. In escaping from prison, as spoken of before, he escaped in his shirt sleeves, in a dark, rainy night, and walked ten miles in the rain. He gave ten guineas to the sentinel, to oil his conscience, &c.; left ten guineas for his ward-room officers. Capt. Hinman lodged with a market woman that night, who fed and clothed him. The next day he sent the market woman to London, to a Mr. Wren, who wrote to Capt. Hinman to feign intoxication, and sent his own carriage and servant for him, and brought him to the house of Mr. Wren in London, where he remained three weeks, and he then sent him to France, and from thence he returned to New London.

Mrs. Day says Mrs. Lockwood has a snuff-box that was my great-grandfather's, with silver bottom, tortoise-shell top, with the Dolebear arms on it, the crest gold, &c. Capt. Hinman would never attend a dining party only with the privilege of retiring when they "set into wine." When Com. Thompson and Capt. Hinman were ordered to the coast of France, to intercept the English merchant's fleet or shipping, they arrived at L'Orient, and being short of men, Capt. Hinman went to Paris, for six weeks, while they were recruiting at L'Orient, where he dined with the minister, Duke of Rouen, with Adams and Franklin. Mrs. Lafayette called upon him, and cried bitterly when inquiring after her husband, (the General.) Capt. Hinman has often been heard to say, that Maria Antoinette and Marchioness de Lafayette, were the most beautiful ladies he ever met.

Capt. Hinman, when in Jamaica, when riding out, saw an overseer whip a slave until he was bloody and raw, and saw his mistress step up and pour cayenne pepper over him. Captain Hinman asked her the price of the boy, and paid it for him. He asked him his name and age. His name was Sandy, and age 19. He took Sandy on his horse behind him, and rode a short distance, where he washed him with castile soap, oiled and clothed him, and took him to New London, where he proved a most faithful and perfect waiter, as well as honest. When Capt. Hinman was about to return to Jamaica, Sandy was upon his knees saying, "I love Missis, I love children; but Massa, I can't leave you, Massa; me go with Massa." And he took him with him, where he was offered for him more than double the amount he paid for him. Capt. Hinman replied, that he purchased Sandy to save his life, and nothing but death should part them. Sandy, being present, fell to the ground, kissed his feet, his knees, and wept, crying, "O dear, dear Massa, me love you, me work for you, me die for you," which caused Capt. Hinman himself to shed tears. Sandy, soon after, took the small-pox and died. Capt. Hinman was often heard to say, he was thankful that gold did not tempt him to sell him, and that he would mander of the Alfred, frigate, in the service of the United States, to Miss Abigail Dolebere, daughter of George Dolebere, Esq., of that place, an accomplished young lady of fortune." (Town's Evening Post, April 8, 1777, Philadelphia.) Also in the Conn. Gazette, viz., "Married, in the north parish of not have sold him if he had known he was to die so soon; that money could not compensate for the satisfaction afforded the faithful, poor slave.

Capt. Hinman once took a wealthy planter prisoner, and brought him to this country, which formed a friendship for life between them. He frequently had casks of old Jamaica sent to him at New London, with fruits, preserves, &c., as long as the parties lived. Mrs. Day says she well remembers (1841) "When one Brasha, as then pronounced, came out to New London to visit her father," and says, "I can now hear him call Sambo (his servant) in the morning to dress him." Capt. Hinman once took a Scotchman, son of a rebel, Highland chief; his mother an English Lord's daughter; and when the prisoners were exchanged, McNeil dropped upon his knees, and said to Capt. Hinman, "Sir, you are my father and king, I will serve no other, nor leave you ever." He lived with Capt. Hinman's family twenty years, and was as faithful to them as the dial to the sun.

Mrs. Hinman was no less a patriot than her husband, as is shown by the following facts. Benedict Arnold, when true to his country, often dined with Capt. Hinman at his house, in New London. After Arnold turned traitor and came on his expedition to burn New London, Capt. Hinman was absent at sea and daily expected to return. His absence caused his wife to remain in New London, and risk her life in the conflagration, when nearly all its inhabitants had fled. When Arnold first entered the town, she was at the front window of the house of Judge Law, and as Arnold came up; he recognized her, and shook hands with her, and asked her to point out the house of Judge Law, the printing-office, and post-office, the three he was the most desirous to destroy on account of their valuable documents. She pointed out to him many houses, and begged of him to save her property, which she said was three houses, which he did, and the very three he most desired to destroy. Mrs. Hinman witnessed the conflagration, and bloody contest, from the top of Judge Law's house. She saw with rapture the British beaten down the hill twice, and saw them gain it the third time, with grief and horror; and all know the savage and brutal massacre which followed. During a part of this conflagration, Gen. Arnold was seated upon his horse, near a window of the house where Mrs. Hinman was in, and continued there for some time. A soldier had deposited a gun in the closet. She went to the closet and took it out. Arnold near by on his horse, and unknown to him, she raised the gun, took good aim at him, and pulled the trigger; but the gun was not loaded. Had it been loaded, she would have immortalized her name, avenged her country's wrongs, and accomplished her patriotic object. Arnold heard the click of the pan, but she so soon withdrew the musket that he suspected nothing, seeing her quiet at the window. He saved the three houses pointed out by Mrs. Hinman. (See Mrs. H. Day's Letters.)

HINMAN, NOBLE, son of Andrew, sen'r, and younger brother of Capt. Elisha Hinman, was Capt. at Woodbury, April, 1737. He removed from Southbury Society to New London, with his brothers Elisha and Nathan, about 1760, they removed nearly at the same time, where Noble was a merchant; some of his papers, as early as 1763, have been found in the Law family. His business advertisements, are also found in the New London papers, as late as 1776. Mr. Richard Law, of New London, purchased of Noble Hinman, a negro man Juba, for which Noble Hinman, receipted the payment, dated, New London, Oct. 29, 1763. Juba enlisted into the Continental army; (the papers of his enlistment are now in the possession of E. E. Law, Esq., of Philadelphia, dated June 2, 1777, at Milford, Conn.) Juba enlisted (by consent of his master, Richard Law, Esq.) into Capt. Charles Pond's company, in Col. Douglass' Regiment, in the Light Battalions, then raising in Conn. Juba agreed that his master, Richard Law, Esq., should receive one-half his wages from the Paymaster, as they fell due. (See Pay Table Office, on file.)

Little has been collected of Noble's family, or who he married. Capt. Nathan, son of Noble Hinman, of New London, is noticed in the New London Gazette, Feb. 18, 1791, as having died at sea, Dec. 8, 1790, washed overboard on his passage from New York, to Virginia. These two last families have furnished no facts of their families, so much as their marriages, or children.

HINMAN, FRANCIS, bap. Nov. 29, 1742, son of Andrew, Jr., grandson of Andrew, sen'r, m. Hannah Hicock. He had no sons, but two daughters, Lary and Phebe, these sisters m. two brothers at Southbury, viz., Moses and Waite Downs, Francis lived and died at Southbury, since 1800.

HINMAN, CAPT. DAVID, son of Andrew, Jr., and brother of Francis, m. Hannah Hinman, Dec. 20, 1759. He first settled at Kettletown, in Southbury, and the house he built there and occupied, is yet standing. After the birth of his children and the close of the war of the revolution, he removed with his family to the State of New York. Their children were,

1. Amelia, bap. Sept. 12, 1762; m. Johnson, 1788.
2. Lewis, or Lucius, bap. March 16, 1763, or 8.
3. Elibu, bap. April 14, 1771.

Simeon, an only son named under the following circumstances. He (Simeon) was poor and in depressed circumstances, yet a man of strict integrity, was cast into prison for debt by an unfeeling creditor, who "must have his pound of flesh." Hon. Curtis Hinman, being at New Haven and learning the fact of his imprisonment, and being favorably moved for Simeon's family, knowing his character and situation, satisfied the creditor out of his own purse, and sent Simeon home rejoicing to his family. The debtor was so overwhelmed with gratitude for the kindness, and unable to make him a pecuniary satisfaction or rather recompense, and Simeon having an only son, already named, he changed the name of his son, and gave him the name of his benefactor, with the benediction, that his son might live to become as great and as good a man as his namesake Hon. Curtis Hinman. This son did live to become great in many respects. He had laid the foundation to become one of the most celebrated artists in this country, and was considerably noticed in Europe, as a painter and engraver. He lived to settle in life at New Haven, and m. Betsey Ann Mitchell, of Southbury, one of the most worthy young ladies of the town, and had one son, he named Edward, (after the pilgrim,) and soon after died, May, 1849, in the prime of life, and of his honors. His consort afterward added to his son's name, the name of his father and the name of his grandfather's benefactor. She m. 2d, Charles Cothren, of Ocean Port, New Jersey, Aug. 7, 1854, a brother of the historian Cothren, of Ancient Woodbury, and removed to New Jersey, with her husband and her son Edward Curtis Hinman.*

1. Bennet, resides at Norwalk.

* S. G. Drake, Esq., Editor of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, and Antiquarian Journal, in his obituary notice of David C. Hinman, Esq., says, "Mr. David C. Hinman, d. at New Haven, March 9, 1849. An engraver of much skill. Mr. Hinman, has done great service to his country by his excellent taste in producing many excellent portraits never before engraved in this country. He had just completed some, which do him great credit, and had he lived to carry out his intention, our history would not have gone without many of the portraits so necessary to illustrate it, and which he felt had been shamefully neglected." This tribute of respect, was strictly due to Mr. Hinman, and not the half told of his talent for engraving and painting.

2. Henry, resides in the State of New York.

HINMAN, MARY, only dau'r of Peter, m. Mr. Terrell, and removed to Canada, where she is now living.

HINMAN, CAPT. DANIEL, bap. 1752, son of Ebenezer, who was son of Joseph, the son of Capt. Titus, he lived many years at Southbury, where he m. Annis, only dau'r of Deacon David Hinman, and had an only child Betsey, who m. Samuel Brown, of Greenwich, Conn., who settled in Vermont; they had an only son Hon. Samuel Hinman Brown, who inherited the large estate of his grandparents and parents, all of whom are deceased; Samuel, H., is yet living at Bennington, Vt., and is a gentleman of high standing in that community, with an amiable wife and children; Judge of County Court, at Bennington. Daniel Hinman, Jan. 8, 1781, was of the committee to provide clothing for the army.

HINMANS, OF LEE, MASS., Capt. David Porter, was from Waterbury, Conn., to Woodbury, where he became a militia captain, and had a good estate; his farm was two miles south of the village of Southbury, where he resided several years, but had no children. He m. Dolly Booth, dau'r of Gideon; (he, Gideon, d. at Monkton, Vt., aged 99 years, nearly 40 years since.) Elijah Hinman, then of Southbury, had a large family, and several promising sons; Capt. Porter, being much pleased with his son Amasa, proposed to the boy's father, to take this son and make him heir to his estate, to which at length he acceded, and his son went into the family as his adopted son; Capt. Porter, also adopted Anne Booth, a young sister of his wife; (this Anne Booth, was also sister of Rachel, who m. Joel Chaffee, of Sharon, Conn.) About two years after the war, he sold his farm at Southbury, and removed to Lee, Mass. Capt. Porter, was a Capt. of a company most of the war of the Revolution. Amasa, his adopted son, went with him into the service as his waiter, and eventually enlisted into the continental service during the war, and when the war closed, he came out of the service with the rank of lieutenant; when Capt. Porter, sold his possessions at Southbury, and removed his family to Lee, it was little less than a dense wilderness; he purchased a farm and entered the wilderness, with his wife and two adopted children; at this time Amasa, had m. Anne, the adopted daughter of Capt. Porter, and the four continued to live in the same house and family; while thus happily situated. Shay's rebellion broke out by the soldiers who had not been paid for their services and other causes, and some who had not been soldiers favored Shay's project, while the authorities favored General Lincoln, or court party, so called. After Gen. Shay and his party were subdued, many of Shay's men, rather than to submit and take the oath of Lincoln's allegiance (as they styled it) left the State of Massachusetts, of which number Amasa was one, saying, as he left his family, "I am one of that family of Hinmans who never stoop to be conquered." He went to Quoeman's Patent in the State of New York, where he purchased a farm; after a few years his title proved bad, in consequence of it, he lost his farm and all his labor upon it. He then went to what is called Greenville, or Greenfield, where he purchased another farm and cleared it for cultivation, and d. there about 1828. His family went also to Quoemans with him, while Capt. Porter, remained at Haven, where he has been employed in public business, and where he now Lee. Amasa Hinman, had children: Ransom, Esq., of Lee; Hawley, Esq., a lawyer in Toronto, Upper Canada; no children living; David, d. in Huron County, Ohio, where he was high sheriff at his death, left an only daughter; Amasa, also had six daughters, two of whom are now living.

HINMAN, RANSOM, Esq., son of Amasa and Anne, of Lee, returned from Quocemans, to live with Capt. Porter, when young, as his adopted child, and they continued so to live, until Capt. Porter, d. in 1828. Mr. Hinman, was b. in Lee, and is now one of the oldest and most respectable inhabitants, and has been for many years one of the most accurate land surveyors in Mass. He m. Mary Battelle; she was b. at Tyrringham, Mass., and has had five children, viz.,

1. Henrietta, m. Mathew Lakin; she d. in Canton, Conn., and left two sons.
2. Grove Porter Hinman, lives in New York; m. Lucy Robins Dimick, dau'r of Capt. Samuel, of Rocky Hill, Conn.; he has one son Wm. Baldwin Hinman, and some daughters.
3. David Worth Hinman, d. aged 23 years, never married.
4. Caroline, m. Edmund Case, of Canton, Conn., both now deceased and left one daughter.
5. Harriet Newell, m. Edwin C. Barbour, and lives in Madison, Indiana.

This family are descended from Edward, the first, by the branch of Capt. Titus and Ebenezer, of Southbury. This is all I have of the Hinman family of Lee, and without dates.

SAMUEL HINMAN, SECOND SON OF SERGEANT EDWARD HINMAN, OF STRATFORD, AND DESCENDANTS.

SAMUEL HINMAN, son of Sergeant Edward, of Stratford, and Edward, father of Samuel, had house-lots at Woodbury, (as says Cothren,) as early as 1682. When a division in 1702, was made of the meadow on Shepaug river, in Woodbury, to the land-holders or heads of families there, the names of Benjamin, Titus, and Samuel Hinman, are found in the list. In April, 1712, of those rated in Woodbury to buy the North Purchase, were Noah Hinman, rated 2s., 2d.; Benjamin Hinman, 6s., 6d.; Adam Hinman, 2s., 2d.; Titus Hinman, 5s. 5d.; Samuel Hinman, 3s., 3d.; and Andrew Hinman, 2s., 2d. He married, but had no children, except one adopted daughter; no dates of the death of either of them.

BENJAMIN HINMAN, SENIOR, THE THIRD SON OF SERGEANT EDWARD HINMAN, SENIOR, OF STRATFORD, CONN., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

HINMAN, BENJAMIN, sen'r, 3d son of Edward, sen'r, of Stratford, was b. at Stratford, and when young removed and settled at Woodbury, with his elder brothers, Titus and Samuel; all the brothers now having removed to Woodbury, except Edward, Jr., who remained in Stratford with his father, being his youngest son.

Benjamin, sen'r, was a farmer, and resided at White Oak, in Southbury, in the rear of where Jonathan Stiles now lives. Not much is found of his family history. He d. in Woodbury in 1713. He m. Elizabeth Lum, at Woodbury,

July 12, 1684, at which time he was located there. His marriage to Elizabeth Lum, both of Woodbury, in Fairfield county, July 12, 1684, is the first marriage recorded upon Woodbury records, certified by Justice Rickbell, who m. them and declared them man and wife. Benjamin, sen'r, was taxed in Woodbury, in 1712, for the purchase of the North Purchase, (Bethlem.) His wife Elizabeth, united with the church in Woodbury, June 14, 1691. Benjamin, senior, represented Woodbury in the General Court of the Colony, twice in 1711. His representing the town in the Legislature proves fully his standing in the church, and town of Woodbury, at that time. He, and his wife, Elizabeth, had 13 children, who were the progenitors of this branch of Edward, senior's family, viz. :

1. Annis, bap. 1685-6; d. young.
2. Hannah, bap. Oct., 1686; m. Benjamin Hurd, Jr. Perhaps, m. Samuel Twitchel, 1721.
3. Adam, bap. Jan., 1687; d. single, when young.
4. Judge Noah, bap. July, 1689; m. Anna Knowles, Feb. 28, 1710-11.
5. Benjamin, Jr., bap. April, 1692; m. Sarah Sherman, Dec. 18, 1718.
6. Elizabeth, bap. Feb., 1693; m. John Hurd.
7. Eunice, bap. May, 1696; m. Nathan Hurd, 1718. Supposed the grandmother of Hon. Nathaniel Smith, deceased, of Woodbury, and Hon. Nathan Smith, late deceased, of New Haven, and great-grandmother of Hon. Truman Smith, of Stamford, and Hon. Nathaniel B. Smith, of Woodbury.
8. Annis, 2d, bap. 1697; m. Samuel Martin, Jan. 15, 1716-17; son of William, of Woodbury. She now has descendants at Woodbury, Albany, at the West, and in Vermont, of high reputation.
9. Rachel, b. Sept. or Dec. 12, 1700; m. Ephraim Baldwin.
10. Edward, b. Oct. 25, 1702; d. March 4, 1726.
11. Samuel, b. Dec., 1704; killed in May, 1727.
12. Wait, b. Oct. 16, 1706; d. aged 69.
13. Mercy or Mary, b. Dec. 23, 1709. She m. David Barnum, a blacksmith, Oct., about 1729 and lived in Southbury, near where John Mosely, Esq., now resides, with his shop on the opposite side of the road, on the corner of the road leading to Roxbury.

HINMAN, ADAM, 1st son of Benjamin, sen'r, bap. 1687; d. unmarried in 1717.

HINMAN, Hon. NOAH, son of Benjamin, sen'r, bap. at Woodbury, July, 1689. He became one of the most important men of the town and county, during his useful life. He was appointed one of the two first deacon's of the church at the settlement of Rev. John Graham, the first minister of Southbury society, in 1732. At this time, Capt. Titus, Ephraim, Joseph, Deacon Noah, Lieut. Andrew, and Titus Hinman, Jr., with Elizabeth, Mary, Nancy, Hester, Sarah, Sarah, and Ann Hinman, were all members of the church at Southbury in 1732-3. Judge Noah owned the baptismal covenant at Woodbury, May 24, 1713, and was Justice of the Peace. He was a member of the Legislature of Conn., 8 sessions, and was one of the side judges of the County Court in Litchfield county five years. He was one of the committee at Southbury to erect a meeting-house in Southbury in 1733. The society had previously settled Rev. John Graham as their minister, and voted the same year to give Mr. Graham, as an encouragement, the orchard of Capt. Titus Hinman, which had been the property of Samuel Hinman, sen'r, with one acre of land of Capt. Wait Hinman, adjoining the orchard; also a two story dwelling-house on the same, and a salary of £100 per annum, with the use of the parsonage lands in said society for life. (See Cothren, p. 222-3, and record.) In 1732, Judge Noah was one of a committee to lay out the South Purchase, in the south-west part of Southbury. After the incorporation of the county of Litchfield in October, 1751, the people of Southbury, being dissatisfied, in Dec., 1751, appointed Judge Noah Hinman as their agent, to meet other agents sent from other towns, at Kent, to devise means to be released from the then new county of Litchfield. And in 1752 a further exertion was made by Woodbury to be again restored to the county of Fairfield, to which Woodbury had previously belonged, but failed in the project. Judge Noah Hinman appears to have been married three times. He m., 1st, Anna Knowles, Feb. 28, 1710-11; she d. Feb. 10, 1720. He m., 2d, Sarah Scovill, of Waterbury; she d. April 23, 1741. His 3d wife was a widow Wildman, a brother's widow, of Rev. Mr. Wildman, of Southbury. Children,

1. Elizabeth, bap. May 25, 1713; m. Hurd.
2. Gideon, b. Jan. 30, 1715-16; d. in 1722.
3. Adam, bap. July, 1718; b. June 29, 1718; m. Porter, sister of Capt. D. Porter, 1756.

HINMAN, CAPT. ADAM, son of Judge Noah Hinman, of Woodbury, was bap. 1718. He removed to Vermont, in the neighborhood of Castleton, after the birth of his children, where he settled and died. Capt. Adam, sen'r, and Capt. Benjamin Hinman, were engaged in the war of the English and French in 1755, marched with their companies into the neighborhood of Lake George, where Capt. Adam was wounded in a fight, near Lake George, in his shoulder, by a grape shot, Sept. 8, 1755. (Cothren, p. 166.) Capt. Wait again marched in 1756, at the head of 96 men for relief, at Fort Wm. Henry, near the same lake. Capt. Adam Hinman was taxed at Woodbury in 1712. He was a gentleman of exalted reputation as a military officer, and of excellent moral character, yet not as wealthy as some others of the name. After the close of the Revolution Capt. Adam removed to Vermont, and his son Adam, Jr., removed with him and remained there until after the decease of his parents at Castleton, and then returned to Southbury. Capt. Adam Hinman m. Y., where he and his wife both d., and his posterity are scattered now into Mass., Vermont, Pennsylvania, New York, California, and the West. The above are descendants of Gideon, son of Judge Noah.

HINMAN, EDWARD, Esq., b. April 12, 1730, bap. April, 1730, (known as Lawyer Ned,) son of Judge Noah Hinman, of Woodbury. He was the first lawyer in the Southbury society, and was well read in his profession, a man of powerful intellect, and clear perception upon all subjects to which his attention was turned ; a slow, distinct, but nasal delivery, not only in his usual conversation, but also at the Bar. His arguments were concise and always to the point in issue, before the court, never a word too many, and ever enough to explain his views of the law and facts in his case on trial ; and his standing as a lawyer was such, and his integrity as a man so well known to the courts, that his brief and forcible arguments generally proved successful with the court and jury. He was at the Bar in Litchfield county, with such lawyers as Andrew Adams, Tappin Reeve, Uriah Tracy, John Allen, Thompson, Canfield, and others, all of them men who would be ornaments in their profession at any age.

He was appointed at Woodbury, in a town meeting held Sept. 19, 1775, chairman of the Committee of Inspection, an office which no doubtful Whig, at that day, could obtain. And as chairman of said committee in 1776, informed the General Assembly of Conn., that the Committee of Safety for the State of New York, on the 21st day of Oct., 1776, sent to him nine prisoners of war, eight sailors, and one child, taken on Staten Island in the summer of 1776 ; that said nine prisoners had been stationed at Pound Ridge, N. Y., and the Committee of Safety there feared the place was not secure for the prisoners to reside there longer, being so near the enemy. Mr. Hinman and the committee doubted whether the Committee of Safety were authorized by the resolves of the Continental Congress to send said prisoners into Connecticut, or the committee in Connecticut to provide for them ; but stated they had provided for them, and appointed Col. Increase Mosely to take charge of them until further instruction from the Assembly. The legislature ordered the committee to provide for them. (Col. Record.) He was allowed by the Assembly, £22, 16s., 9d., for taking charge of said prisoners.

He resided at White Oak,* in Southbury, and was a useful and active

Whig in the war of the Revolution. Tories and prisoners were committed to his charge for safe keeping. He represented the town in the legislature, 1773, one session, but preferred his profession to any political honors or offices. He m. Ann Curtis, July 18, 1764, of Woodbury, a most agreeable and intelligent lady. They had children, viz.,

1. Sarah Ann, bap. July, 1765; m. Major Timothy Hinman, July, 1792.
2. Simeon, Esq., bap. March, 1766; never m.
3. Cyrus, Esq., graduated at Yale College, 1789, a lawyer; d. 1800, unmarried.
4. Ann Sarah, d. July 23, 1791, aged 17 years.

HINMAN, SIMEON, Esq., son of Edward, Esq., (Lawyer Ned.) bap. 1766, graduated at Yale College in 1784, a lawyer by profession and practice at Southbury, and lived and d. in the house in which he was born. He was a gentleman of superior talents, a good speaker, and shrewd in the management of his cases; but he, like many young men left with a fortune, preferred his pleasures to devoting his time to his law books; when, had he received a far less patrimonial estate, and more necessity of attending to his profession, he would have occupied the highest standing at the Bar in Conn. Being a man of great humor, and fond of company, and a firm friend to his friends, he spent much of his time with his associates. Though he was a member of the State Legislature in 1803, and in May, 1811, he disliked the responsibility of being a member, and once being applied to by his friends to be held up as a candidate for a representative to the General Assembly, declined the offer upon the ground that he preferred sleeping in his own bed at home, to the honors of legislation. He never m., yet he was peculiarly fond of ladies' society. He d. at Southbury in June, 1825, aged about sixty years.

HINMAN, CYRUS, Esq., son of lawyer Edward, of Southbury, and brother of Simeon, Esq., graduated at Yale College in 1789; read law, and was admitted to the practice at the Bar in Conn. He was a young man of promising talents, but d. in April, 1800, at Southbury, soon after he entered on the practice of his profession. He never m., so that it will be noted that neither of the sons of "Lawyer Ned" left children. Yet his dau'r Sarah Ann m. a Hinman, and left a son Edward, who was also a bachelor. He d. in 1855, aged about 60. No male heir of lawyer Edward's branch of Judge Noah Hinman's family is now left, bearing the name of Hinman, and only one female, and she not m.

HINMAN, ABIJAH, son of Judge Noah, b. March, 1733. He m. Rebecca Minor, of Woodbury, May 8, 1757, and had children b. at Woodbury, Conn., viz.,

1. Adoniram, bap. 1757.
2. Wait, bap. 1760.
3. Ruth Emm, bap. 1762.
4. Abigail, b. 1764.

name was derived from the fact, that the first explorers encamped upon this ground, under a large white oak tree, situated in the north part of what has since been called Southbury, when the first explorers of the town came there. This tree was ever kept sight of by the first settlers and their descendants. It finally decayed, and fell in 1808. Parts of the trunk were preserved after its fall, by Shaderack Osborn, Esq., in 1808, and S. S. Mitchell, Esq., procured a block of it, which is yet in possession of Mrs. Whitlock, of Southbury.

5. Rebecca, bap. at Southbury in 1766. Soon after this, Abijah removed into Mass., where he had others b. viz., Timothy, Simeon, and John, and perhaps others. Abijah was at Lanesborough, Cheshire, and Pittsfield, Mass., and removed from Pittsfield to Benson, Vermont, where he d. in March, 1807, aged 74. He had 5 sons and 5 dau's; Mary and Elizabeth, his dau's, were b. in Pittsfield.

HINMAN, ADONIRAM, b. Feb. 11, 1757, son of Abijah, bap. 1757, at Southbury, Conn. He removed with his father to Mass. He m. and had 3 sons and 4 dau's, viz.,

1. Truman H., b. at Pittsfield, Dec. 1, 1781; m. in 1806; d. 1842. He was a farmer, and had 3 sons and 2 dau's.

2. Olivia, b. in Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 13, 1784; m. Mason Ormsbee, and 2d, Joseph H. Chittenden. She d. in Orwell, Vermont, June 27, 1840.

3. Chauncey, son of Adoniram, b. at Orwell, Jan. 10, 1789, and was a farmer, unmarried.

4. Patty, his sister, b. at Orwell, Feb. 27, 1794, single.

5. Chester, b. at Orwell, Feb. 27, 1798; d. single at Johnstown, New York, Dec. 30, 1830; a minister. Rev. Chester may have d. March 23, 1830.

May, 1818; Henry T., b. Sept., 1822. The above children were all b. in Castleton, Vermont, and the sons and daughters of this family are all living at Battle Creek, Michigan. The sons are merchants and farmers. Truman H., d. at Castleton, Vermont, Feb., 1843.

HINMAN, BENJAMIN F., son of Truman H., and Betsey Moulton, has 3 children, viz., Mary Jane, b. in Bellevue, Michigan, Nov. 18, 1841; Olivia S., b. in Bellevue, Michigan, March 23, 1846; and Charles H., b. at Battle Creek, Michigan, Sept. 23, 1849.

HINMAN, JOHN FLAVEL, son of Truman H., m. Harriet E. Hoit, and has 3 children: Frederick A., b. at Bellevue, Eaton county, in 1846; Isabella, b. at Bellevue, in 1848; and Edward, b. at Battle Creek, in Michigan, in 1852. He is postmaster and merchant at Battle Creek.

HINMAN, HENRY T., has a son William H., b. in 1850.

CHAUNCEY HINMAN, of Orwell, Vermont, has a great chair once the property of his great-grandfather, Judge Noah Hinman, of Southbury, Conn. The foregoing are all descendants of Sergeant Edward Hinman, the first, of Stratford.

HENRY T. HINMAN, and Electa S. Byington, his wife, had a son William Henry, b. at Battle Creek, Michigan, Oct. 23, 1850.

HINMAN, WAIT, 2d son of Abijah, b. May 26, 1760, was a blacksmith by trade, was a soldier in the war of the Revolution, and was under Montgomery at Quebec. After the war he settled for a time at Pittsfield and Lanesborough, Mass.; from thence he removed to New Haven, Vermont, about 1789, and d. in Monkton, (an adjoining town,) Feb. 15, 1818. He had sons, Allen, and Wait, Jr.

HINMAN, ALLEN, son of Wait, b. in Lanesborough, Mass., Nov. 16, 1789, was a farmer, and resides in Bangor, N. Y. He had sons, Royal Minor, b. 1809; Allen, Jr., b. about 1822; Wait, about 1824; Howard, b. about 1831;

(not certain dates.) Allen's sons, except Howard, who is with his father, all live in the town of Constable, N. Y., and all farmers, except Allen, Jr., who is a physician.

HINMAN, ROYAL M., had sons, Hiram, b. about 1835, Enos, Benjamin, Sidney, and Myrtle.

HINMAN, ALLEN, JR., has one son, viz., Millard Fillmore, b. 1844.

HINMAN, WAIT, son of Allen, has a son Charles, b. 1849.

HINMAN, WAIT, JR., son of Wait, and brother of Allen, was b. in New Haven, Vermont, May 20, 1798, where he is now a farmer. His sons are James Wait, b. 1822, a joiner; Harvey Barnes, b. 1824, farmer; and Milo Jasper; all reside in New Haven, Vermont.

HINMAN, HARVEY B., has a son Harvey Newton, b. 1851.

HINMAN, TIMOTHY, b. in Cheshire, Mass., about 1768. He lived in Benson, Vermont, some years, thence he went to St. Lawrence county, N. Y., and d. at Canton, in that county, about 1840. He had sons Seymour, Augustus, Timothy, Jr., and Cyrus. (Little history of this Timothy.)

HINMAN, SIMEON, son of Abijah, b. about 1770 or 1771. For some time after he became of age, resided at Benson, Vermont. He then removed and located at New Haven, Vermont, and at length removed to Western New York and Ohio, where he d. after 1820. He had sons Hiram, Franklin, and Simeon. He m. a 2d wife; not known whether he had children by 2d m.

HINMAN, JOHN, youngest son of Abijah Hinman, was b. in Cheshire, Mass., Oct. 3, 1773. Abijah, his father, removed to Pittsfield, Mass., when John was 3 weeks old. He, John, remained at Pittsfield about 10 years, and John then removed to Benson, Vermont, to reside with an elder sister who had m. and settled there. He remained with his sister until May, 1798, when he removed and settled at New Haven, Vermont. He m. Sarah Beeblee, (or Beebe,) a native of Lanesborough, Mass., Feb., 1799. He was a farmer. 8. Ebenezer, b. April 7, 1790; m. Sibilla Beecher, b. Sept. 10, 1789, and had 6 children.

Elijah Booth, the father, d. Sept. 24, 1823, aged 78 years. His wife, Arnole, d. April 15, 1804. He m. Anna Deming for his 2d wife. She d. May 4, 1842.

HINMAN, REUBEN, son of Judge Noah, was bap. at Woodbury, Sept., 1735. Reuben and Samuel Hinman, under the command of Capt. Ebenezer Downs, on the alarm that Fort William Henry, near Lake George, was in danger, marched there in Capt. Downs' Company in August, 1757, where they remained on duty a few weeks for its defence. He m. Mary Downs, in Southbury, Sept. 29, 1756, dau'r of Deacon Downs, and had children, viz.,

1. Currence, bap. April, 1760.
2. Abraham, bap. 1762, and others.

Reuben Hinman, with his family, removed to Williamstown, Mass., and from thence to East Hoosack, now Adams, Mass. In 1778, the name of East Hoosack was changed to Adams; and at the first town meeting in 1779, three Captains of the town were chosen selectmen, viz., Philip Mason, Israel Jones, and Reuben Hinman. This is the last I find of Capt. Reuben Hinman's family.

HINMAN, SIMEON, son of Judge Noah, was bap. Dec., 1737. He graduated at Yale College in 1762, and was the pet of his father. He d. aged 28 years, unmarried, May 5, 1767. He was drowned, crossing a river near New Haven. He was engaged to be m. to Patience Hinman, dau'r of Timothy, of Southbury. She afterward m. Col. Increase Moseley of Woodbury.

HINMAN, NOAH, JR., son of Judge Noah, was Captain at Woodbury, June, 1740. He m. Phebe Minor, July 15, 1761, and afterward removed to Vermont; nothing farther is known of him or his family. This was the youngest son of Judge Noah by his 2d wife.

HINMAN, DAMARIS, bap. 1748, dau'r of Hon. Noah Hinman, of Southbury, by his 3d wife, Mrs. Wildman; m. Simeon Minor, of Woodbury. He was taken prisoner in the war of the Revolution, and d. in the old sugar-house in New York. Simeon was bap. Sept. 9, 1750, and was the son of David Minor, who was b. May 26, 1721, who was the son of Col. Joseph Minor, b. March 4, 1672, who was son of Capt. John Minor, the noted town-clerk of Stratford and Woodbury, who was the son of Thomas Minor, the pilgrim of Stonington, who was one of the most conspicuous Puritans of Conn., among the first settlers of the colony. John, his son, was educated, and an early settler at Stratford, as he was at Woodbury; and his son Col. Joseph, no less conspicuous in his generation at Woodbury. Simeon and Damaris had children, viz.,

1. Rebecca, m. Ezra Gilbert; lived in Colebrook, Conn., where she now resides, at the former residence of her deceased husband.

2. One dau'r of Simeon and Damaris m. Jacob Stewart. They lived in Danbury, (relatives of Hon. Isaac Stewart, of Hartford,) until his death, and she now resides with her son Dr. Philander Stewart, at Peekskill, State of New York.

3. Hon. SUMSON HINMAN MINOR, only son of Simeon and Damaris, was a gentleman well known in Conn., as one of its prominent men. He was admitted to the Bar in 1799, and located in Stamford in his profession, by the side of such lawyers as Roger Minot Sherman, Samuel B. Sherwood, &c., in 1800. He possessed a good heart and sound mind, and proved it not only at the Bar, but frequently in the legislature, of which he was often a conspicuous member, and once a clerk of that body. He was State's Attorney in Fairfield county from 1822 to 1836, and Judge of Probate for Stamford District many years. He was one of those easy and familiar men in society, who are ever popular, beloved and respected by his friends. He m. Catherine Lockwood, May 31, 1812, a descendant of the old Lockwood family, of Watertown, Mass. They had issue: 1. James H., b. Nov. 17, 1813, d. unmarried; 2. Hon. William T., b. Oct. 3, 1815, the present governor of Conn.; 3. George A., b. June 10, 1817, d. single.

The father d. August 3, 1840, and his wife d. March 29, 1819.

MINOR, HON. WILLIAM T., the only survivor of the children of Hon. Simeon H. Minor, graduated at Yale College in 1834, and was engaged in school teaching in his native town for six years, until 1840, and was admitted to the Bar in 1842, and became a conspicuous member of that learned fraternity. He was seven years a member of the Lower House of the Legislature of Conn., from his native town, and a member of the State Senate in 1854, in both of which he was a prominent and leading member; and has been seven years Judge of Probate for the District of Stamford; and such was his popularity in the State, under all the broken fragments of the old political parties in 1855, he was elected Governor of Conn., and is yet deservedly popular under the title of "His Excellency." Gov. Minor m. Mary C., dau'r of John W. Leeds, Esq., of Stamford, April 16, 1849, and has only one child, viz., Charles William, b. August 6, 1851.

HINMAN, SAMUEL, son of Benjamin, sen'r, was bap. Dec., 1704. He lived to be a young man, and being upon a visit in the west part of Southbury in the evening, with others of his age, and returning home on horseback in the night, some mischievous and thoughtless young persons, as a mere trick, had stretched a rope across the road on his way home, and as he was riding on horseback at full speed, the rope tripped his horse, which threw him over his horse's head and killed him instantly, May 21, 1727.

HINMAN, BENJAMIN, JR., 3d son of Benjamin, and grandson of Sergeant Edward, of Stratford, Conn., was bap. at Woodbury, April, 1692. He had three sons and one dau'r, viz., Benjamin, b. Jan. 22, 1720; Benjamin, David and Jerusha. He was the first of the name who located at Bullithill, of that family. He had a son Benjamin, before he m. Sarah Sherman, after which he

m. Sarah Sherman, a descendant of Hon. Samuel Sherman, of Stratford, Dec., 1718; she d. May 19, 1727, and Sergeant Benjamin, d. in the same year, in the great sickness in Woodbury, aged 36 years. By his wife Sarah Sherman, he had Col. Benjamin, of the Revolution, bap. April, 1720; Jerusha, bap. Feb., 1721, d. unmarried, and David, bap. March, 1722; Benjamin, Jr., and his wife Sarah, both d. in May, 1727, in the great sickness at Woodbury, aged 36 years. The mother of Benjamin, Jr., first son Benjamin, is not found. Yet it is evident that Benjamin, Jr., grandson of Sergeant Edward, had two sons of the name of Benjamin, by different mothers.

One of the Benjamins, was Col. Benjamin, of the war of the Revolution; mother, Sarah Sherman; his other son Benjamin, resided many years at Roxbury, and both Benjamins now have living descendants. Benjamin, of Roxbury, the eldest of the family, m. Rebecca Thomas, Nov. 5, 1747, and had a son Samuel, and perhaps other children; Samuel, served in the war of the Revolution. He d. at North-East, in the State of New York, and left a widow, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Lincoln; Samuel had three sons, James, b. 1787; Ira and John; Ira, d. young at sea; John, also d. a young man.

HINMAN, JAMES, Esq., son of Samuel, b. June, 1787, was for some years a merchant at Utica, New York; he removed from thence to Albany, where he was sheriff or deputy sheriff, and died there in 1839, aged 52 years. Before he settled at Utica, he m. Mary Limbrick, a widow, in 1813; her maiden name was Truesdell, b. at Sharon, Conn. They had an only child Elisha W. Hinman, who was b. at Hudson, New York, in 1814.

HINMAN, Hon. ELISHA W., Esq., the only son of James, of Albany, who was son of Samuel, who was son of Benjamin, of Roxbury, Conn., who was eldest son of Benjamin, Jr., of Woodbury, son of Benjamin, sen'r, who was son of Edward, sen'r, of Stratford; Elisha W., Esq., came to reside in New York, as clerk, at the age of 18 years, in 1832, in a wholesale grocery store; went to Brooklyn, Kings Co., Long Island, New York, in 1840, and commenced business as an oil merchant in the city of New York, in 1844, while his family have resided in Brooklyn, where he was elected an alderman for the 3d Ward, of the city of Brooklyn, in 1849, for one year, and was re-elected for the 10th Ward, in 1852, and has been one of the many successful merchants of New York. He m. Ellen M. Moore, of Bloomingdale, New York, in 1838, Oct. 28th, by whom he had five children, viz., Mary, Mabel, James, John E., and Elisha W., Jr.; Mary, was b. in 1839, and the other children afterward. His family are the only persons known to be living, of his direct line back to Edward, sen'r, of Stratford, who was the first of the name in this country.

HINMAN, Cor. BENJAMIN, son of Benjamin, Jr., and Sarah Sherman, was bap. April, 1720; was a man of exalted reputation, not only as a military chieftain, but as a civilian; he figured in the French and Indian wars, and in the war of the Revolution. He served against the French in Canada, as early as 1751, as Quarter-Master of the troop of horse, in the 13th regiment of Conn. Colony.

A new society was petitioned for in Woodbury, to the General Court of the Colony, in 1765; among the signers to the petition, were the names of Wait, Ebenezer, Samuel, Elijah and Bethel Hinman; Benjamin Hinman, was a petitioner for Judea society, an ecclesiastical society in Woodbury, in Oct., 1741, (now Washington.) On the 19th day of April, 1755, he was commissioned by

Gov. Fitch, of Norwalk, Capt. of the 6th Company of foot in Col. Elizar Goodrich's regiment, being a part of the forces raised in the Colony of Conn., for the defence of his Majesty's territories, from further encroachments, by the French, at Crown Point, and upon Lake Iroquois, to remove encroachments then made there; of which forces William Johnson was commander-in-chief. On the 30th day of May, 1757, he was commissioned Major of the 13th regiment of foot and horse, by John Fitch, Esq., then Governor of the Colony, and in 1758, he was commissioned Lieut. Col. of the 3d regiment of foot, over the forces raised in Conn., for invading Canada, and to proceed under the supreme command of His Majesty's commander-in-chief in North America; also, a Capt. of the 2d company in said regiment, commissions signed by Gov. Fitch. On the 31st day of Oct., 1767, he was commissioned by Gov. Wm. Pitkin, a Lieut. Col. of the 13th regiment of horse and foot, under and in the 8th year of the reign of Lord George III., King of Great Britain, &c. In 1758, Conn. raised 5,000 men for the invasion of Canada, in four regiments and Col. Benjamin Hinman, was commissioned Lieut. Col. and Capt. of the 2d company, with Israel Putnam, as his Major and Capt. of the 3d company. In 1759, 5,000 more men were raised, and Col. B. Hinman, again entered the service, and this was a dashing year of success at Niagara Fort, Ticonderoga and Crown Point, and the surrender of Quebec, to the army of Gen. Wolf. Upon the first day of Nov., 1771, he was commissioned a full Col. of the 13th regiment of foot and horse by Hon. Jonathan Trumbull, Governor of Conn., Sept. 20, 1774, at a town meeting in Woodbury, Col. Hinman was appointed one of a committee of correspondence, to receive and communicate such intelligence as would maintain peace and union in the Colonies. Early in the Revolution, viz., on the first day of May, 1775, he was made Col. of the 4th regiment of enlisted troops to defend the Colony, and was ordered by Gov. Trumbull, on the 20th of May, 1775, forthwith to march with five companies to rendezvous at, or near Greenwich, Conn., and to send three companies to take post at Salisbury, Conn., under Major Elmore, to be in readiness to march under such orders as Major Elmore should receive from the General Court of the State or the Governor.

In 1775, 1,000 men under the command of Col. Benjamin Hinman, to garrison the forts of Ticonderoga and Crown Point, (80 of which men Cothren says, p. 123, were from Woodbury, Conn.) On the 10th day of August, 1776, Col. Hinman, received a letter from Gen. Washington, to march a regiment under his direction immediately to New York, armed and equipped, &c., which he faithfully performed, saying to them he expected to meet them there. In 1775, he was ordered to Ticonderoga, where he remained in command of a regiment for a time. In 1776, he was ordered to New York, with his regiment, and was at New York, upon the capture and surrender to the British; after which he was stationed at horse-neck, and other places on Long Island Sound; but being worn down in military service and in feeble health, he returned home to Southbury, in Jan., 1777, and did not again join the army, though he lived many years after, and died in his native town, March 22, 1810 at the ripe old age of 90 years. Col. Hinman represented the town of Woodbury, 17 sessions, and 9 sessions from Southbury, in the General Assembly, and was a member of that body of worthies 26 sessions from 1757 to 1798. Those who recollect him, say of him, that he was a gentleman of fine personal figure, full six feet in height, very straight ; that every feature of his manly face, was marked with intelligence, and every movement was that of an officer and a gentleman ; he was a member of the convention of the State, in 1788, to ratify the Constitution of the United States.

Aaron, the father, d. May 30, 1820, aged 73 ; Ruth, his widow, d. July 20, NOTE.—Col. Hinman, marched for Ticonderoga, in command of the 4th regiment of troops from Conn., about June 1, 1775. The General Assembly resolved, authorizing Brig. Gen. Spencer, (in 1775,) by an order from the Governor, to direct the Col. of the 6th regiment under Spencer, to direct the Captains to forward the enlistments of men for special service, defence and safety of the Colony, and to be ready to march on the shortest notice. And the four regiments under Spencer, Putnam, Col. Hinman and Parsons, or such part of them as the Governor should order, to be forthwith in readiness, and to march to Boston, or some place contiguous, as ordered. In July, 1775, the Assembly of Conn., resolved, that the Gov. of Conn., should make a kind and friendly answer to the speech sent the Colony by the Indians of Oneida, and procure a belt of wampum, and send them ; also, directed the Governor that he should order Col. Hinman, to assure the Indians of the peaceable disposition toward them by the Colony of Conn.

Col. Benjamin Hinman, in 1776, was made Col., Philip Burr Bradley, Lieut. Col., and David Dimon, Major of a regiment, then to be raised for defence of the Colony of Conn.

June 19, 1775, the General Assembly of Conn., had before them a letter from Col. Wolcott, asking for a supply for Col. Hinman's regiment at Ticonderoga, which was approved, as well as the letter from Col. Hinman himself. July 24, 1775, post Judd, arrived with letters from Ticonderoga, to the Council, saying the troops there, were destitute of tents, &c. And the Gov. was advised to write to the Congress of New York, to provide and send Col. Hinman's regiment at Ticonderoga a suitable number of tents. It not being promptly done by New York, a letter was sent to President Livingston, of the New York Congress, showing the anxiety of the Governor, that they had not sent the tents for Col. Hinman's regiment, and urged upon him the danger of delays.

1821, aged 72 years. The above children all left Southbury, to settle, except Judge Wm. and his brother Harry; Aaron, Esq., was five sessions a member of the General Assembly of Conn., from his native place. In Dec., 1780, Aaron Hinman and Capt. Elijah Hinman, were two of a committee to hire soldiers to enter the service in the army. Aaron Hinman, Esq., represented the town of Southbury, in the Legislature of Conn. in Oct., 1801, May, 1802, May, 1805 and 1806, and Oct., 1806.

The son before named d. single.

The wife of Harry, d. at Southbury, Sept., 1855.

HINMAN, COL. JOEL, son of Col. Benjamin, who was son of Benjamin, Jr., and Sarah Sherman, b. April 3, 1748, was a farmer at Southbury, where he d. March 9, 1813, aged 64. In the battle on the burning of Danbury, by the British, he received a ball in his leg from the enemy, which was not extracted until 1810, 33 years after he was shot. The ball is now in the possession of his family. He m. Sarah Curtis, dau'r of Deacon Daniel and Sarah Curtis, April 10, 1778, and had a large family of children.

Col. Joel was a member of the General Assembly, Oct., 1794, May, 1795, May, 1799, three sessions, from Southbury. Sarah, widow of Col. Joel Hinman, whose mother was Sarah Hinman, dau'r of Titus, Jr., was in many respects an extraordinary woman, she had 14 children, who lived to be of lawful age; besides several who d. young. And she d. Jan. 23, 1856, in the 94th year of her age. She possessed a firm constitution, a powerful mind, and a remarkable retentive memory. She distinctly recollects her paternal grandmother Sarah Curtis, (whose birth, Cothren dates June 19, 1678,) who was the dau'r of Capt. John Minor and his wife Elizabeth, (Booth,) who were the first of the name of Minor, at Woodbury, from Stratford, he was the son of the Pilgrim Thomas Minor. She was a sister of Col. Joseph Minor, in early notoriety at Woodbury; this Sarah Minor, m. Stephen Curtis, Nov. 2, 1699. The late widow, Sarah Hinman, clearly remembers her, and the manner she amused her, by relating stories of Indian atrocity, and has been well acquainted with seven generations of her descendants.

It was amusing and entertaining to converse with her upon olden times. It carries one back to the days of the ancient fathers, and many of their peculiarities. No history can portray them, with the same interest with her relation of incidents and facts, of the days of yore. She made her hearers imagine they were themselves in company with the cocked hats, small clothes and powdered heads of the aristocracy of the Puritans wiggled to the shoulders. Col. Joel and Sarah, had children, viz.:

1. DANIEL, eldest son of Col. Joel, was b. Oct. 9, 1779, and d. Jan. 16, 1816, aged 36; m. widow Susan Scott, aged 23, dau'r of Agur Wheeler, Jan. 11, 1806; Susan his widow, m. Thomas Smith, of Salisbury, Conn., her third husband. Daniel and Susan, had children:

1. Sidney, b. May 30, 1807, d. June 14, 1815.

2. Adaline, b. March 19, 1809, d. June 11, 1817.

3. Elawsa W., b. July 6, 1813; m. Col. Benjamin H. Shelton.

4. Daniel W., b. July 30, 1815, d. Oct. 30, 1825.

* HINMAN, ROYAL R., son of General Ephraim and Sylvania Hinman,

* The name of Royal, (to this name,) was acquired in the following singular manner. Mr. Hinman was a classmate in college, with John Chester, D. D., now late deceased of Albany, and they were intimate friends, before and after they entered college. A catalogue of the freshman class, as was the custom, was to be collected by a committee of the class, and published alpha-grandson of Deacon David Hinman, of Southbury, who was son of Benjamin, Jr., son of Benjamin, sen'r, who was the third son of Edward, sen'r, the Puritan, of Stratford, was b. in Southbury, then in Litchfield County, Conn.

He prepared for entering college, with Azel Backus, D. D., of Bethlem, Conn., and graduated at Yale, in 1804, in the class with Hon. John C. Calhoun, Hon. Henry R. Storrs, Dr. John Pierpont, Dr. Abel McEwen, D. D., Lansing, and others of that prominent class. He taught an academy in Virginia, a part of 1804 and 5, when he returned and entered as a law student in the office of Hon. D. S. Boardman, of New Milford, Conn., where he continued about one year, and then entered the office of Hon. Tappin Reeve, and J. Gould, Esqrs., at Litchfield, and was admitted to the bar in 1807, in Conn., and commenced the practice of law at Roxbury, Conn., soon after, where he continued for about 20 years, when he removed to Southington, in Hartford County, where he continued in the practice of law about two years in 1833, '34, and part of 1835, and on being elected Secretary of State of Conn., in April, 1835, as successor of Hon. Thomas Day, LL. D, he removed to Hartford, in May, 1835, to execute the duties of the office to which he had been elected, and to which he was elected by the electors for seven years in succession. After which he abandoned the practice of his profession. He acted while at Southington, about two years as Judge and Clerk of Probate for that Probate District, was about ten years postmaster at Roxbury, magistrate over 25 years. One year Brigade Major and Inspector of the 6th Brigade of Infantry in Conn., 1819; four sessions a member of the General Assembly, nominated for a member of Congress, upon the first Jackson ticket in Conn. The ticket being changed, the next year he was nominated for Secretary of State, and in 1835, was elected to the latter office; member of the Linonian Society in Yale College; Honorary member of Parthenon Society in Trinity College, Dec. 2, 1843; Notary Public for Conn., in 1842; Commissioner of Deeds, &c., for State of Maine and some other States, 1837; admitted a counselor at law in the Supreme Court in the State of New York, in 1827; nominated for postmaster at Hartford, in 1844, and rejected for being neither a Van Buren or Clay adherent. In 1844, was appointed by the President of the United States, military store keeper, attached to the ordinance department, and connected with the Springfield Armory, which he declined. In 1844, was appointed Collector of Customs for the port of New Haven, and superintendent of light houses in said district which he held to the following 4th day of March; he was a member of the National Convention at Baltimore, in 1844; an original member of the Connecticut Historical Society in its formation; an Honorary or Corresponding member of the "New England Historic Genealogical Society," in May, 1847; elected an honorary member of the New Jersey Historical Society, in 1852; elected an honorary member of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, May 9, 1853; also an honorary member of the Iowa Historic Society, &c. In 1835, and '36, was appointed by the Legislature of Conn., chairman of two committees with Hon. Elisha Phelps and Leman Church, Esq., first to revise and publish the public statutes of the State, and secondly, to prepare and publish the acts of incorporation or private betically. Dr. Chester, was one of this committee, and wishing to pay his friend a compliment and without his knowledge, published the name of Royal, as his first Christian name which has ever since been used as one of his names, when before it was only Rafe.

laws of Conn., particularly the acts of incorporation for a given period, the last composed a volume of over 1,600 pages; and also prepared and published the volume of public acts. He was a few years after appointed in company with Hon. Thomas C Perkins, of Hartford, to again revise the public acts of Conn., which was principally performed by Mr. Perkins. He has also collected and published on his own account several works, to preserve and perpetuate the history of his native State, and that noble body of men, the first Puritan settlers of Conn., while he has not failed also, to preserve their chivalry and daring exploits in the war of the Revolution, and the part taken by them in that war, in a volume of 643 pages, and other works to keep in remembrance the persons of the Puritans and their descendants by their valorous deeds in peace and in war. (See Cothren's Ancient Woodbury.)

The history of the part taken by Conn., in the war of the Revolution, published in 1842, was complimented by the Legislature of Conn., in 1853, by a unanimous vote of both Houses, to purchase 250 copies, to distribute one volume to each town in the State, one to each State and Territory in the United States; 25 volumes to Mr. Vattemare, for foreign distribution, one to the Congress Library, &c., &c. He also published a volume of 372 pages, composed of official letters (many of them never before published) between the Kings and Queens of England, and the different first Governors of the Colony of Conn. 4. Nathan B., b. April 10, 1828; m. Julia Ray, April 14, 1852; has one child.
5. Julia, b. Feb. 5, 1830.
6. Martha, b. Feb. 29, 1832; m. Frederick Pond, Dec. 23, 1850.
7. Anthony B., b. June 29, 1834.
8. William Curtis, b. Dec. 16, 1836.
9. Charles Curtis, b. March 6, 1841.

Nathan B., his 4th child, lives in Litchfield, has one son, Charles Wilbur, b. Feb. 13, 1853.

HINMAN, BENJAMIN JAY, son of David and Mary Ann, was b. May 27, 1795. He m. first, Harriet E. Minor, Oct. 24, 1823, and had children:

1. Curtiss Seth, b. Oct. 20, 1824; m. Maria M. Wheeler, April 24, 1855.
2. Jane A., b. April 26, 1827; m. Denison D. Lambert, of New Haven, August 4, 1852; one child.

Harriet E., his wife, d. Dec. 2, 1827, and he m. 2d, widow Harriet Bacon, (maiden name, Burritt,) Feb. 28, 1830, and had Emeline, b. July 29, 1833; m. Alonzo Brown, Dec., 1855. Benjamin is a farmer, and a most worthy citizen, in Southbury.

HINMAN, MAJOR BENJAMIN, son of Dea. David, who was son of Benjamin, Jr., grandson of Benjamin, sen'r, and great-grandson of Edward Hinman, sen'r, of Stratford, m. Anna Keyser, July 8, 1757, dau'r of Capt. John Keyser, near Little Falls, N. Y., who was a prisoner about 3 years during the war of the Revolution. Major Benjamin Hinman d. April 7, 1821, at Mount Pleasant, Pennsylvania, on a journey from Utica to New Jersey. Anna, his widow, is yet living, and resides at Rushville, Illinois, in the 85th year of her age. Their children :

1. John Edward, of Utica, b. June 2, 1789.
2. Benjamin, Jr., Esq., b. Jan. 27, 1794; never m. He d. at Hinmanville, Oswego county, New York, August 9, 1844.
3. Col John Jay, b. May 7, 1798.
4. Gen. William A., b. July 11, 1802, lives in Rushville, Illinois.
5. Maranda, b. August 4, 1806; d. July 11, 1807.
6. Annis, b. Dec. 10, 1815; m. at Rushville, Illinois, Dr. Thomas Monroe, Oct. 5, 1841; (he was b. in Maryland;) he resides at Rushville, a physician of rare eminence. They have children, viz., 1. John Hinman Monroe, b. August 14, 1842; 2. Thomas, Jr., b. Oct. 26, 1844; 3. James Edward, b. Jan. 34, 1847; 4. Mary Anna, b. Dec., 1848; 5. Hinman, b. July 21, 1852. Dr. Monroe and his family yet reside at Rushville, Illinois.

Major Benjamin, the father of the above family, was b. at Southbury, Conn., and remained there until his manhood. He was engaged in most of the war of the Revolution, in various capacities, as captain, assistant commissary, waggon-master, aid to Gen. Green, &c., and in other responsible stations in the service of his country. He was one of the 13 commissioned officers from Woodbury, with two of his brothers, Asa and Ephraim, who were in the service by the name of Hinman, including Capt. Elisha, of New London, who was captain of ships of war. Major Benjamin removed from Woodbury to Little Falls, N. Y., during or soon after the war, and settled near the Mohawk river. His wife was b. on the farm where Fort Keyser was built. He afterward purchased and removed to Utica, where he lived several years previous to his decease in 1821.

HINMAN, COL. JOHN E., of Utica, son of Major Benjamin and Anna, is now living at Utica. He is a man of strong mind, quick perception, firm, determined, and resolute in all his projects, whether it be in religion, business, or politics. And if, like Gen. Jackson, he declared "by the Eternal" his project should be effected, he generally succeeded in his object. Though he has devoted much of his life to the accumulation of wealth, he has his traits and streaks of charity, and among his family and friends he uses it often with no sparing hand. Though his father in middle life had a competency, yet toward the close of his life much of it had passed beyond his control; and when he died, he left his wife and five children, and not a large estate for their support at Utica. Col. John E., then about 16 years of age, and the eldest of the children, like a man of maturer years, being blessed with good sense, and a share of energy that few of his age possessed, took charge of the family, sustained his mother, educated his brothers and sister; two of them as lawyers. He was sheriff's deputy under James S. Kipp, Esq., as high sheriff in Oneida county, from 1813 to 1820. He was quarter-master of the 134th regiment of militia in 1813, and high sheriff from 1821 until 1831, except one term. He was elected Lieut. Col. of a regiment in 1821, which he resigned, after he received the appointment of sheriff the same year, of Oneida county. Since which he has been honored by two or more elections to the responsible office of Mayor of the city of Utica, and held various other places of trust, all of which have been performed to the satisfaction of his friends and constituents. Col. Hinman m. Mary, dau'r of G. C. Schroppel, Esq., deceased, of New York, Nov. 27, 1827. Mr. Schroppel was early one of the wholesale tea merchants in the city of New York, by which he accumulated a large fortune. He d. in the city of New York, and was interred in St. Mark's church-yard. Col. Hinman and his lady reside in the city of Utica, without children. He is one of those men ardent for his friends, open and frank with his enemies, and never yields an opinion until satisfied he is in error.

HINMAN, COL. JOHN JAY, Esq., son of Major Benjamin and Anna, b. May 7, 1798, m. at Rushville, Illinois, Huldah M. Sturtevant, April 11, 1842; she is a sister of Professor Sturtevant, of Jacksonville, Illinois, and of the Fairfield county Sturtevants, in Conn. He read law at Utica, and was admitted to the Bar in the State of New York, and a few years after removed to Rushville, Illinois, and followed his profession for a few years, and then went into the milling and flour business; and afterward, about three years before his death, removed with his family to Ottoway, Illinois, and commenced merchandizing. Col. John Jay d. at Ottoway, Illinois, Oct. 5, 1849, and was there buried. He d. of cholera four days after the death of the last of his five children. His grief at the loss of all his five children, produced on himself the cholera; and thus died a man of as pure a heart as ever lived; and the only survivor of that once happy family was his widow. Children:

1. Anna Keyser, d. August 21, 1846; buried at LaGrange Farm, Brown county, Illinois.
2. John Jay, Jr., d. at Ottoway, of scarlet fever, May 11, 1840.
3. William A. Hinman, d. at Ottoway, May 19, 1849, of scarlet fever.
4. Grace A., d. at Ottoway, of cholera, Sept. 30, 1849.
5. Jay S. Hinman, d. at Ottoway, of cholera, Oct. 1, 1849.

His widow Huldah resides at Beardstown, Cass county, Illinois, single.

CAPT. BENJAMIN, JR., son of Major Benjamin, an older brother of John Jay, Esq., b. 1794; resided most of his life at Utica, New York. He was a magistrate, captain of a company, &c., and never m. He d. at Hinmanville, Oswego county, New York, August 9th, 1844, when a young man, and had only reached middle life.

GEN. WILLIAM A. HINMAN, b. July 11, 1802, son of Major Benjamin, of Utica, was educated a lawyer at Utica, where he was admitted to the Bar, and where he followed his profession a few years. But his ambition either for wealth or fame induced him to visit Illinois in 1832, and he never returned, but located himself at Rushville, Schuyler county, Illinois, where he now resides. He has dealt largely in new farms in that neighborhood, and has become wealthy. He m. at Jacksonville, Illinois, Grace A. Kingsbury, Feb. 4, 1843, and resides in Rushville; has children, John Edward, b. Nov. 14, 1843; Edward M. C., b. April 10, 1847.

MARANDA, dau'r of Major Benjamin, b. August 4, 1806; d. 1817.

ANNIS, dau'r of Major Benjamin and Anna, of Utica, b. Dec. 10, 1815, was m. at Rushville, Illinois, to Dr. Thomas Monroe, (b. in Maryland,) Oct. 5, 1841, and have children, viz.:

1. John H., b. August 14, 1842.

2. Thomas, Jr., b. Oct. 26, 1844.
3. James Edward, b. Jan. 23, 1847.
4. Mary Anna, b. Dec. 18, 1848.
5. Hinman, b. July 21, 1852.

Dr. Monroe resides at Rushville, in the practice of his profession, with his wife and family.

HINMAN, CAPT. WAIT, 5th son of Sergeant Benjamin, of Woodbury, bap. Oct., 1706, who was son of Edward, sen'r, of Stratford. He d. Dec. 29, 1775, aged 68 years. He owned the baptismal covenant, 1730. He m. Ann Hurd, June 11, 1729, and had children:

1. Samuel, b. Feb. 18, 1730; bap. May, 1730; m. Amy Twichel, Nov. 16, 1757, and lived near Carlton's bridge.
2. Truman, bap. 1731; b. June 27, 1731. (Capt. Truman.)
3. Wait, Jr., b. Nov., 1732; bap. Dec., 1732.
4. Mercy or Mary, bap. Sept. 20, 1735; m. Capt. Agur Curtis.
5. Ann, bap. Dec., 1737; m. Moses Downs. Moses Downs m. B. Hinman, April 4, 1791.
6. Currence or Prudence, bap. April 12, 1740; m. Sand. Curtis.
7. Bethuel, bap. June, 1742; m. Hannah Nicock, Nov. 8, 1770.

Capt. Wait Hinman had the grant of a ferry, three miles below Pootatuck ferry, about one mile down the river from Bennett's bridge in Southbury. In 1775, the ferry was renewed to Samuel Hinman, son of Wait Hinman. In 1778, Gen. Washington, on his march, "built a bridge at Hinman's ferry;" (Hartford record; see Cothren;) called Carlton's bridge; and Ephraim Hinman supplied the provisions for the workmen, as D. Commissary; and Judge Timothy Hinman, of Derby, Vermont, was one of the workmen to build the bridge. Ann, wife of Capt. Wait Hinman, d. August 29, 1785, aged 83. Capt. Wait Hinman, d. April 29, 1775, aged 69, noted for activity and strength. Capt. Wait Hinman, with a company of 104 men, including Lieut. John, Benajah, and David Hinman, in August, 1757, on an alarm that fort Wm. Henry, near Lake George, was in danger, marched to the relief of the fort, (and Cothren says,) were absent about three weeks. Capt. Ebenezer Downs also marched his company, (of which Reuben Hinman and Samuel Hinman, were of his company,) with about the same number of men, on the same alarm, from Woodbury to fort Wm. Henry.

HINMAN, SAMUEL, son of Wait, m. Amy Twichel, Nov. 16, 1757, and had children in Southbury, viz.,

1. Ann, bap. July, 1759.
2. Betty, m. Joseph Post.
3. Wait.

HINMAN, WAIT, son of Samuel, son of Wait, son of Benjamin, m. Eunice Mitchel, dau'r of Dea. Eleazur, of Southbury, Jan. 29, 1784, and had two children, Josiah, b. May 23, 1786, and Olive. Josiah, his son, b. May 23, 1786, m. Sally Bassett, dau'r of John, March 16, 1808, and has a large family in Southbury. Olive, dau'r of Wait, b. Sept. 28, 1797, m. Mr. Laird, of Michigan, and has no children. Eunice, the widow of Wait, is yet living in Southbury, very aged.

HINMAN, CAPT. TRUMAN, 3d son of Capt. Wait Hinman, of Southbury, was bap. in 1731. He m. Olive, dau'r of Capt. Timothy Hinman, of Southbury, a merchant, farmer, and miller, June 17, 1763, and had children, viz.,

1. Timothy, bap. August 21, 1778; b. July 14, 1764; m. Sarah Ann Hinman.

2. Ruth Emm, bap. August 21, 1778; b. June 1, 1768; she m. D. S. Bull, Sept., 1793; he d. and she m. Sherman Hinman; she d. Oct. 24, 1796, aged 28.

3. Olive b. March 15, 1771; bap. August 21, 1778; m. Nathan S. Judson; no issue.

4. Col. Truman, b. March 18, 1778; m. Betty Curtis, dau'r of Nathan, 1798.

Capt. Truman Hinman, the father, d. Dec. 5, 1793, aged 62. Olive, widow of Capt. Truman Hinman, d. Oct. 31, 1809. She was b. Sept. 21, 1730, aged 70. The foregoing family are now all deceased. Capt. Truman was possessed of large estate, as was his wife; and few men of his day enjoyed a more exalted reputation, with a fortune to sustain him in the rare style in which he lived.

Capt. Truman Hinman and Shadrac Osborn, Esq's, of Southbury, appear to have acted as assistant commissaries of purchases, and Osborn as issuing commissary at Ticonderoga, in 1775; and purchased provisions for the troops at that post, and probably were sutlers there also, though it is supposed that Osborn had not a formal appointment of deputy commissary in the army until 1777, which he held after that time until the close of the war.

HINMAN, MAJOR TIMOTHY, oldest son of Capt. Truman, b. July 14, 1764; bap. 1778; was a merchant and farmer at Southbury. He graduated at Yale College, 1784. He m. Sarah Ann, only daughter of Edward Hinman, Esq., of Southbury, Jan. 10, 1791. His children were,

1. Sally, b. Dec. 11, 1792; never m., and d. Feb. 2, 1841, aged 44.

2. Olive, b. July 17, 1798; m. Col. Charles Hicock, of Southbury, March 11, 1821 or 2; had one child in 1823, which d. in infancy; and his wife d. Feb. 22, 1840.

Edward, Esq., b. about 1794; never m., and d. August 20, 1855, and left his only living sister, Ann, and the only survivor of the family for three generations, on her mother's side. She occupies the family mansion in lonely solitude, at Southbury.

Sally Ann, b. August 17, 1796; d. young. Ann, b. about 1800, and well she may join with the poet in the four lines applied to Helen Hinman. Major Timothy, her father, d. June 18, 1810, aged 46. The mother d. June 17, 1845, aged about 80 years.

HINMAN, EDWARD, Esq.,* son of Major Timothy, and grandson of lawyer Edward, b. about 1794; was by profession a lawyer, and had pursued his

* At a meeting of the members of the Bar of New Haven county, held August, 1855, Hon. Ralph I. Ingersoll, Chairman, and Alfred H. Terry, Esq., Secretary, the following preamble and resolutions were offered by Alfred Blackman, Esq., and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, We have been informed of the recent death of the Hon. EDWARD HINMAN, a gentleman long and favorably known as a member of the Bar, and a Judge of the County Court of this county—

Resolved, That the upright and estimable character of our late associate, manifested through a long and honorable career at the Bar and upon the Bench, commended him to the kindest regards of his professional brethren, and that we deeply sympathize with his relatives and near friends in their bereavement.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be made public in the newspapers of this city; and that a copy of the preamble and resolutions here, by us adopted, be signed by the chairman and secretary, and transmitted to the sister of the deceased.

R. I. INGERSOLL, Chairman.

ALFRED H. TERRY, Secretary.

practice of law for many years in his native town. He d. at Southbury, August 20, 1855, aged about 60 years. He was two years Judge of the County Court for the County of New Haven, a member of the legislature, a member of the state senate in 1843. His greatest fault was, that he never married, and had no heirs of his own to whom to bequeath his large estate. He was a member of the general assembly in 1822, 1831, and state senator in 1843.

HINMAN, COL. TRUMAN, b. March 18, 1778, youngest son of Capt. Truman Hinman, of Southbury, who was grandson of Wait, was a gentleman of wealth, and of a noble, high-minded spirit. He was a member of the general assembly in 1808 and 1810. He m. Betty Curtis, dau'r of Nathan, Nov. 22, 1798, who was also wealthy. They had two children; Charles C., Esq., b. August 3, 1800; and Eliza, b. June 12, 1803. She d. single, March 3, 1855. Col. Truman d. aged only 36 years, June 21, 1813. Betty, his widow, d. about 1852.

HINMAN, CAPT. CHARLES C., only son of Col. Truman Hinman, b. August 3, 1800, was twice a member of the general assembly of Connecticut. He was a gentleman farmer. He d. May 16, 1839, aged 39. He m. Eliza M. Stiles, of Southbury, June 17, 1822, and had a daughter Helen, who now is a young lady, the only heir and survivor of her branch of this respectable and wealthy family, for four generations. His widow is yet living. Well may Helen say with the poet, “ ———like one who treads alone,

Some banquet hall deserted,
Whose lights are fled, whose garlands dead,
And all but me departed.”

HINMAN, RUTH EMM, dau'r of Capt. Truman and Olive, b. June 1, 1768; m. 1st, Sherman Hinman, Esq., Dec. 11, 1791; and 2d, David Bull, Sept. 30, 1796, and d. Oct. 24, 1796; no issue.

HINMAN, BETHUEL, son of Wait, bap. 1742; m. Hannah Hicock, of Southbury, Nov., 1770, and removed to Greenville, New York, and had Shadrack, Bethuel, and several other sons, and some dau'rs; no information further, is found of this family.

HINMAN, JUSTUS, bap. August 12, 1759, was a son of Mabel and Truman Hinman. She was a dau'r of Joseph Hinman, sen'r. Justus m. Abigail Lewis, Jan. 4, 1789, of Stratford, and had children, viz.,

1. Rosa, b. June 19, 1791.
2. Everett, b. Dec. 9, 1793.
3. Lewis, b. Oct. 2, 1797.

Justus lived in Southbury, where he d. Dec. 9, 1799, and his widow m. Dr. Anthony Burritt, sen'r, of Southbury, March 26, 1809, his 2d wife; and she became the mother of Dr. Anthony, Jr., with whom she now resides in Southbury.

HINMAN, ROSS, son of Justus, m. and had one son. This son m. and d. and left 2 children. Ross removed from Southbury, and settled between Utica and Syracuse, perhaps Canastota.

HINMAN, EVERETT, son of Justus, m. in Roxbury, Conn., and had two sons. He settled in Cooperstown, in the State of New York, where he now resides, if living.

HINMAN, LEWIS, 3d son of Justus, m. Laura Smith. She soon after d. and left a dau'r Laura, who m. Noadiah Warner. Lewis m. 2d, Miss Skidmore, and had children, viz., Mary, who d. a young lady; Charlotte, who m. Botsford, of Newtown, Conn.; Mortimer, d. a young man. Lewis removed to Cooperstown, N. Y., with his brother Everitt, where he had two other sons born; their names not known.

This line of Benjamin Hinman, sen'r, 3d son of Sergeant Edward, sen'r, of Stratford, were generally wealthy farmers, though many of them were merchants and lawyers, and generally continued to reside at Woodbury and Southbury. Many of the descendants of the eldest son, Capt. Titus, early removed to Vermont and the West. Capt. Titus Hinman, on ye 14th of Feb., 1672, was one of the original signers of the fundamental articles agreed upon in order to ye settlement of a plantation at Pomparague.

EDWARD HINMAN, JUNIOR, THE FOURTH AND YOUNGEST SON OF SERGEANT EDWARD HINMAN, OF STRATFORD, CONN., AND HIS LINE OF DESCENDANTS.

HINMAN, EDWARD, Jr., youngest son of Edward, sen'r, the pilgrim, of Stratford, was born at Stratford, in 1672, and was the only son of Edward, sen'r, who settled at Stratford with his father. By the request of his father, (named in his will,) he was brought up to a trade, by Jehial Preston, of Stratford, with whom he remained until he became of age. Edward, Jr., drew 18 acres of land in the land division in Woodbury in 1702, from which it appears he might have been at Woodbury for a short time, yet it is evident he lived and died at Stratford, where his children were all born, and many of them remained; and where some of their descendants are yet found. The descendants of Edward, Jr., are now found in all quarters of the country, from Canada to California, some revelling in wealth, others poor, but all honest; and so far as found, sustaining a high character for integrity and moral worth, which may with propriety be said of the other branches of Edward, senior's, family.

The descendants of Edward, Jr., have many of them settled within the boundaries of the original town of Stratford, in Unity, North Stratford, now Trumbull, at Daniel's Farms, Quaker Hill, Bridgeport, &c. Some of the descendants of this branch are not traced, for want of evidence. Edward, Jr., was one of the first Episcopalians in Conn., and signed the first petition to sift out the churchmen from the Congregationalists in Conn., about the time that Mr. Pigot opened to the people of Stratford the doctrines of the Church of England. Edward, Jr., m. Hannah Jennings,* and had children b. in Stratford, viz.,

1. Jonah or Jonas, b. Nov. 5, 1700; settled at Newark, N. J.

* The following facts were published in the Conn. Journal, No. 517, and afterward in Barber's Historical Collections of Conn., dated North Stratford, August 20, 1777: "On the 25th inst., died in this place, Mrs. Hannah Hinman, aged 99 years. She was a person of good un-

2. Hannah, b. March 3, 1702.
3. Zachariah, b. Jan. 27, 1704.
4. Samuel, b. 1705; settled in Litchfield and Goshen.
5. Justus, b. Dec. 28, 1707.
6. Ebenezer, b. Oct. 5, 1709; and August 16, 1717, settled in Southbury, (the miller.)
7. Sarah, b. Oct., 1711.
8. John, b. Nov. 4, 1713.
9. Rachel, b. Dec. 4, 1715.
10. Ebenezer, b. August 16, 1717, perhaps Ebenezer, 6th child, d.
11. Amos, b. Oct. 18, 1720.
12. Charity, b. June 6, 1723.

The three last are found upon the land record at Stratford, recorded apparently at the same time, and out of place.

HINMAN, SARAH, eldest dau'r of Sergeant Edward, of Stratford, was b. in 1653; m. William Roberts, (perhaps of Milford,) afterward of Stratford. She had children b. at Stratford, viz.,

1. Hannah, bap. Oct. 21, 1677; d.
2. Zachery, bap. May, 1682.
3. Sarah, bap. in 1685.
4. Hannah, 2d, in May, 1686.
5. Amos, in July, 1689; perhaps others, not traced.

William Roberts exchanged land in Stratford with Hugh Griffin in 1668, and with John Wheeler in 1669; and had an ear-mark on record, entered there Oct. 14, 1681. Some of his descendants settled in New Milford.

HINMAN, ZACHARIAH, 2d son of Edward, Jr., is not traced, or record found of his family, which requires further investigation. He was for a short time at Southbury.

derstanding, strict religion, solid piety, and maintained a firm and unshaken hope in the merits of Christ, to the end. And what is remarkable concerning her exit out of the world, she died the very day on which she was 99 years old, of which she had a premonition near 20 years before her death, in a dream or vision. A venerable comely person, who she afterward used to call her guardian angel, and whom she had seen once before, appeared to her and asked her age. She told him; upon which he replied, 'You will not live to an hundred years, but almost; you will live to be 99, and then die.' She often mentioned this to her friends and neighbors, and was confidently persuaded of the truth of it, that she would frequently count upon it, how many years she had to live. And there are scores of persons now living in the parish, who have often heard her say that she should die at 99, on her birth-day, old style. About a fortnight before her decease, she inquired of her son, landlord John Hinman, at whose house she died, the day of the month, and again repeated to the family that she had just so many days to live; which accordingly happened on her very birth-day, as it is called. The great age to which this person had arrived, together with those circumstances respecting the time of her death, are so very extraordinary that it was thought proper to communicate them to the public." (Journal and Barber's History of Conn.) These facts are yet believed by most of the descendants of that branch of the family. Her son John, with whom she died, as above stated, often repeated the facts during his life. He stated that on the day of her death, she arose in the morning in her usual good health, ate her breakfast and dinner with the family. He said to her in the morning, "Well, mother, the day has arrived." She replied, "Yes; and I shall die to-day;" as she did, in the afternoon of the day foretold. This lady was the widow of Edward, Jr., of Stratford. She died at the house of her son John Hinman, in Trumbull, where she had resided some time previous, near where David B. Hinman now lives in Trumbull. Was she a medium? Perhaps Spiritualists will claim her as such.

HINMAN, CAPT. SAMUEL, 3d son of Edward, Jr., of Stratford, b. 1705, at Stratford. He was by profession a surveyor of land. He removed when a young man to Litchfield, after which he became one of the early proprietors and first settlers of the town of Goshen in Conn. He bid off one right in Goshen, Feb. 14, 1738, and had the 46th choice for his first division. His first survey bill of about 150 acres, was dated Dec. 7, 1738. He surveyed the town, and lands for individuals in Goshen. He appears to have erected a log-house there as early as 1638 or 1639, and was one of the proprietor's committee for laying out most of the early divisions of land in Goshen, and was frequently called to fill the ordinary offices of the town. The house where he once lived was standing a few years since. His brother Jolin was for a time at Goshen, aiding Capt. Samuel in his surveys, but returned to Stratford, where he afterward settled and died. Capt. Samuel d. at Goshen in 1784. Not known who he m. His children were,

1. Lois, m. Norton, son of one of the brothers of Joseph Norton, who removed from Durham to Goshen.

2. Sarah, b. July 5, 1731.

3. Wilkinson, b. June 8, 1733.

4. Samuel, } twins, b. July 26, 1736.
5. Mary, }

6. Joseph, b. March 7, 1738.

7. Phineas, b. March 31, 1740.

8. Asch, (a twin,) b. March 13, 1742.

10. Wait, b. 1748; m. Mary Howe, from Wallingford.

Ascher, (Asch,) lived in Canton.

HINMAN, PHINEAS, 7th child of Capt. Samuel, of Goshen, b. 1740 at Goshen; m. Rhoda Hubbel; she d. August 19, 1819, aged 78 years. He again m. in his old age, and d. soon after at Goshen. His children were Truman, Abner, Ruth; Olive, m. James Royce, son of Josiah Royce; Polly, m. John Royce, son of John, sen'r. Phineas was by trade a blacksmith, and lived for a time in Torrington, and then removed to Goshen on to a tract of land deeded to him by his father, August 12, 1771, in the north-east part of Goshen.

HINMAN, SAMUEL, JR., son of Capt. Samuel, of Goshen, was b. at Litchfield, July 26, 1736. He m. Asine Colt, Nov. 24, 1774, and remained several years in Goshen, and owned two farms there. His father lived with him toward the close of his life, and d. in his son's family in 1784. After 1791, Samuel, Jr., removed to Susquehannah. His children recorded in Goshen were,

1. Samuel, b. May 4, 1775.

2. Miles, b. Oct. 25, 1776; perhaps others.

HINMAN, ASHER, son of Capt. Samuel, b. 1742; m. and had children, Amasa and Zerah, &c. He lived at Canton, then West Simsbury. No farther account of him is traced.

HINMAN, WAIT, son of Captain Samuel, of Goshen, was b. 1748; resided in Goshen, and m. Mary Howe, dau'r of John, of Goshen, from Wallingford. He d. there, aged 78 years, June 2, 1826, and she d. at the house of her dau'r, the wife of Truman Buell, and was interred the day she would have been 80 years old. His children were, viz.,

1. Susan, m. Miles Buell, of Litchfield.

2. Polly, m. Amasa Hinman, of Canton.

3. Nancy, m. Truman Buell, of Litchfield.

4. Wait, Jr., not traced.

HINMAN, TRUMAN, son of Phineas, m. and had children, (not traced.)

HINMAN, ABNER, son of Phineas, m. and had children, (not traced.)

The descendants of Capt. Samuel Hinman, of Goshen, requires a further investigation. Those of the name found in Goshen, New Hartford, Torrington, Bristol, Canton, Avon, and Canaan, are branches of the family of Edward, Jr., of Stratford, by his son Capt. Samuel, the surveyor of Goshen. Those of the name who originally settled at Farmington, were of the Woodbury branch of a brother of Edward, Jr., of Stratford.

HINMAN, JUSTUS, b. 1707, son of Edward, Jr., and his wife Hannah, of North Stratford, had children b. in Stratford, viz.,

1. Mary, b. Oct. 10, 1739; d. in infancy.

2. Elizabeth, b. Jan. 24, 1742.

3. Sarah, b. Dec. 17, 1744 or 1749; m. Judson Curtis.

4. Rachel, b. Feb. 1, 1752.

5. Mary, 2d, b. Feb. 19, 1757; record says b. Feb. 18. No sons found. (Church record of North Stratford.)

HINMAN, EBENEZER, of Stratford, son of Edward, Jr., of Stratford, and Hannah his wife, m. Obedience Jennings, June 4, 1739, O. S. She was b. in 1720, and had children, viz.,

1. Ephraim, b. June 29, 1740, father of Ephraim, of New Milford.

2. Eben, b. Jan. 25, 1742, grandfather of D. B. Hinman, of Philadelphia.

3. Edward, b. May 18, 1744; m. a dau'r of Isaac Hinman, of Southbury.

4. Sarah, b. March 18, 1746; m. Eli Parsons, of Derby.

5. Michael, b. August 20, 1748, not traced.

6. Philo, b. Nov. 6, 1750; had two wives.

7. Hannah, b. Oct. 29, 1753; m. Gideon Perry, of Oxford.

8. Betty, b. Jan. 24, 1757; m. Jonathan Hinman, son of Ebenezer, of Southbury.

9. Molly or Mary, b. Dec. 4, 1759; m. Joseph Basset, of Derby.

10. Ithuel or Bethuel, b. Dec. 30, 1764; went to England.

Ebenezer, above, of Stratford, removed to Woodbury, to take the charge of a grist-mill and farm for Capt. Timothy Hinman, of Southbury, and removed his family to Southbury. Ebenezer d. Nov. 18, 1795, aged about 56 years, and Obedience, his widow, d. Dec. 15, 1812, aged 92 years. She d. about 14 years after her father Jennings d.

HINMAN, ITHUEL or BETHUEL, the 10th child of Ebenezer, the miller, from Stratford to Southbury, was b. Dec. 30, 1764. This Bethuel visited London, where he remained some time, and m. there Sally Pearce, and returned with her to this country and settled at Southbury, where he remained several years, and had children. His eldest was Ebenezer. This family removed to Bristol, then a part of Farmington, where Bethuel d. Bethuel was a silversmith by trade. While he worked at his trade in Southbury he made silver spoons, one of which is now in possession of Sarah Hinman, the original owner, she being in the 94th year of her age. Ebenezer, the eldest son, was b. in England before his father returned to this country. His father m. Miss Pearce in England, and had as many as two children b. there, as he lost one of his children by death on his return voyage. Ebenezer, his oldest, was for a time at Boston, and then removed to Cincinnati, Ohio. Nothing is now known of the other children of Bethuel. Bethuel went to England before the Revolutionary war began, and he did not return until after peace was declared in 1783. Ebenezer, if living, is at Cincinnati, Ohio, with a family, and a silver-smith by trade.

HINMAN, JOHN, son of Edward, Jr., of Stratford, b. Nov. 4, 1713. This John was at Litchfield and Goshen aiding his brother, Capt. Samuel, in surveying lands, about 1738, 1739, and 1740; but he returned to Stratford, and settled at Unity or North Stratford, where he was long and favorably known as an innkeeper. He was a member of the first church of North Stratford, at the time of the settlement of Rev. James Beebe, May 6, 1747, and his wife Eunice also, and was an active and useful member in building up the church and society. His mother, Hannah Hinman, widow of Edward, Jr., resided with him during her widowhood, and until her decease, viz., August 25, 1777, aged 99 years, on her birthday. She had foretold, 20 years previous, the day she should die, and when the morning of that day arrived, being a clear, bright day, she arose in the morning in her usual good health, and it being mentioned to her that the day which she had so long foretold as the day of her decease had arrived, inquired of her how her health was, she replied she was usually well, but the event would occur, as she had predicted, before night. Her son John, seeing her so well and unconcerned, doubted whether her prediction would prove true, and therefore, unknown to his mother, placed himself under the cover of his barn, near his house, to labor for the day, that his family might call upon him in case his mother should be sick. When he was called in to dine he found his mother as well as she was in the morning; but after dinner, in the afternoon of the same day, she died as she had predicted, and at the same time. (See note also.)

JOHN HINMAN, senior's children were,

1. Charity Hinman, m. John Seeley, of Stratford, Unity, Jan. 25, 1744.

2. Samuel Hinman, m. Hannah Seeley, Nov. 11, 1786.

Eliot, of said Lebanon; Wm. Emes, and Mabel Emes, of a town then called Manchester, granted by the governor of New Hampshire, then in the Province of New York, signed a petition to the county court held in Fairfield, Connecticut, by adjournment on the fourth Tuesday of January, 1772, against Jonathan Nichols, of Stratford, for the seizen and possession of about 47 acres of land in the parish of North Stratford, which was tried by the superior court in 1773, and judgment rendered for plaintiffs. In said investigation are found the names of elderly people of Stratford, as witnesses, viz., John McCuen, Deacon Moses Wheeler, Thomas Latten, Ensign Joseph Shelton, Robert Bassitt, Ebenezer Beach, and Benjamin Booth, of Stratford. This is inserted to show the location and life at the time of said trial, as they probably had all of them been citizens and descendants from Stratford.

3. Anne Hinman, of Unity, m. Agur Hawley, of New Stratford, Sept. 17, 1783.

4. Martha Hinman, m. Nathaniel Booth, May 17, 1779.

Josiah, the father, d. at Catherine, Sept. 10, 1818; Phebe, his wife, b. Jan. 14, 1749, d. Jan. 9, 1817. (Bible and Stratford Record.)

Josiah and his only son Elijah S., were masons by trade, and both b. at Trumbull, Conn., and Josiah's children were most of them b. at Trumbull, and are all recorded at Stratford, except Ruth Ale; Josiah, removed from Trumbull, Conn., to the town of Catherine, Co. of Shemung, State of New York, with his promising family, about 1798. Judging from the dates of deeds at Trumbull, by himself and wife Phebe, about 1798 or 9. They executed several deeds before 1798, and appeared to have sold all their lands in Trumbull, in 1799. The 2d wife of Elijah S. Hinman, Arme Catlin, was a dau'r of Abel, a granddau'r of Theodore, and of the line of Theodore Catlin, and Mary Goodwin, his wife, a branch of the family who settled at Litchfield, from Hartford. All the Catlins in Shemung County, are descendants of Theodore of the Litchfield stock.

HINMAN, ELIJAH S., Esq., only son of Josiah Hinman, was b. April 20, 1777, at Stratford, (Trumbull,) Conn., removed with his father and family to Catherine, New York. Had two wives, 1st, m. Betsey Hawley, Jan. 9, 1799, (of the Stratford family of Hawleys;) by her he had no issue; she d. * The family of Catlin, has been seated at Newington, near Roehelin, in Kent, England, since the Norman Conquest. R. de Catlin, was one of the followers of William the Conqueror; is mentioned in Doomsday book, as possessing two Knights' fees of land in the time of his successor in the County of Kent.

Several individuals of the name have been honorably employed in the King's service. Sir Robert Catlin, to whom the arms were granted as an honorable memento and testimony of his gallantry at the battle of Agincourt, under Edward the Black Prince.

6. Elijah S., Jr., b. Sept. 8, 1817, a merchant at Havana.

7. Clara, 2d, b. June 25, 1830; m. Dr. David Atwater, who d. Dec., 1843; she m. a 2d husband, Benjamin Franklin, Esq., in 1853.

Elijah S. Hinman, sen'r, son of Josiah, d. March 20, 1827; Josiah, and his son Elijah S., owned farms adjoining at Catherine, on which Guy C. Hinman, son of Elijah S., a farmer, now lives. It is rare to find in the same family three sons of as brilliant talents as the three sons of Elijah S. Hinman. Upon the same old Bible is found Theodore Catlin, b. Oct. 16, 1734, d. Feb. 19, 1824, and Mary Goodwin, his wife, b. April 3, 1739, and d. 1792; perhaps father and mother of the 2d wife of Elijah S. Hinman, sen'r, and a near relative of Phineas Catlin, Esq., of Catherine, and of the Catlin family of Conn. The children of Elijah S. Hinman, were all by his 2d marriage with Arne Catlin.* Theodore Catlin,* HINMAN, DR. GEORGE THEODORE, son of Elijah S., resides in Havanna, Schuyler Co., New York, a druggist; m. Irene Benson, and has children, viz., Estelle, Grover Comstock, Mary and Francis. He also adopted Charles, son of Mary Goodwin, sister of Dr. George T. Dr. Hinman, is one of the most reputable citizens of the county.

HINMAN, ELIJAH S., JR., a merchant at Havanna, Schuyler Co., New York; he m. Clara Dailey, and has two or more children, and holds a high rank for talents and integrity, as do the whole family. There are probably no three brothers in Schuyler County, or Shemung, who are as able public speakers, in political or religious meetings, on any unexpected emergency, as Guy C., Dr. George Theodore, or Elijah S. Hinman, Jr.

HINMAN, JONAH or JONAS, b. at Stratford, Nov. 5, 1700, son of Edward, Jr., and grandson of Edward, sen'r, and Hannah his wife, not being found either at Stratford, or Woodbury, or having died at either place, a trifling evi-CATLIN, ABEL, son of Theodore, m. Betsey Hollister, and had issue; Leman, Arma, William, George, Israel and Lee.

CATLIN, LYNDE, son of Alexander, New York city; m. Hellen Kipp, and had children, viz., Mortimer, d., Mortimer, Mary, Charles T., Alexander and George.

CATLIN, GUY, son of Alexander, Burlington, Vt.; m. Melinda Wadhams, July 25, 1808; issue, Alexander, Henry W., Helen M., Almira T. and William Guy.

CATLIN, THERON, son of Ashbel; m. Lydia Robinson, and had William, Lemon and Ursula.

CATLIN, ASHBEL, son of Ashbel; m. Sylvia Leonard, Feb. 19, 1807, and had issue: Albert L., Edgar L., Lynde, Dana S., Miner B.

CATLIN, JOHN, son of Ashbel; m. Rosa Ormsby, had issue: Bushard, Horatio, Ashbel B., 2d Horatio, Steptoe, or Stephen, John.

The foregoing are many of that branch of the descendants of Samuel and John Catlin, grandsons of Thomas Catlin, one of the early settlers of Hartford, (see pages 503, &c., of this work.) who settled at Litchfield. This branch has produced some eminent men, particularly George, the painter, though many of them have been farmers; cashiers of banks; lawyers and mechanics, &c., and all noted as active business men.

dence appeared, that he might have settled at Newark, New Jersey. The writer made three journeys to Newark, for the examination of the records there, and no trace was found that Jonah had ever been to Newark. At length, on a petition for an extension of a road (about two miles West of Newark) to the South Orange road, from "Hinman's Lane," it was found by this the name had been there, it was also from this fact conjectured, that this was the place where Jonas and his family probably lived and died. I then engaged the aid of S. H. Conger, Esq., a noted antiquarian of New Jersey, if he found the name of Hinman upon their records to note it, and inform me of the facts; within a few weeks, he wrote, April 22, 1853, that he had found the gravestones of Jonah Hinman, and his wife Elizabeth, in the old cemetery, in the city of Newark; taken out of the ground and piled up with others for the purpose of grading and laying a street over the silent and sacred ashes of the departed fathers of that city, so that at this time it is impossible to point to their resting places. The stones say, "Jonah Hinman, d. Sept. 9, 1758, aged 58," &c., and "Elizabeth, wife of Jonah Hinman, d. April 21, 1772, aged 64 years, 2 months and 7 days." (Jonah was b. at Stratford, Conn., Nov. 5, 1700.)

Shame on the latter generations who trample upon the ashes of their deceased ancestors, by laying streets over the cemeteries of their Puritan fathers, scattering their monuments of remembrance, and obliterating their names and by this unwarrantable and unholy act destroy their history; well may their descendants say with the poet,

"Good Friend, for Jesus' sake, forbear
To remove the dust that resteth here,
Blest be the man that spares these stones,
And curst be he that moves my bones!"

The maiden name of the wife of Jonah or Jonas Hinman, is not satisfactorily found, or whether he m. in Conn., or after he located in Newark, is yet uncertain, but facts appear which make it probable that her maiden name was Elizabeth Crane. The Cranes, descendants of Hon. Jasper Crane, of Newark, appears by the will of Josiah Crane, dated at a later period, Nov. 2, 1785, where he names his wife Phebe and sons Obadiah, Josiah and Elias Crane deceased, and "my daughter Lois Hinman," Betsey Pool, Mary Harrison, Johanna Heard and Jerusha Brown. This Josiah, was a son of Joseph, who was the son of Jasper Crane, Esq., son of old Jasper, sen'r; Josiah was a brother of Joanna Crane, dau'r of Joseph; she was the grandmother of the present librarian of the Historical Society of New Jersey, Samuel H. Conger, Esq. By the assistance of that lover of old records in New Jersey, who found the will of Jonah Hinman, of Newark, recorded at Trenton, New Jersey, dated July 26, 1758, the year Jonah died. In that will he names his wife Elizabeth Hinman, and his children then living, viz.:

1. Samuel, he gave two shares, b. Oct. 21, 1739, d. Oct. 16, 1784.
2. John, one share equal with his daughters.
3. Sarah Lyon.
4. Jemima Hinman, d. aged 21 years, 7 months and 22 days, 1761.
5. Hannah Wade.
6. Elizabeth, m. Samuel Dodd, son of Daniel, who d. at Branford.
7. Naomi.
8. Rebecca, m. Aaron Day, and settled at Galway, Saratoga Co., New York,

9. Experience.

10. Mary Hinman, m. Asabel, son of James Hinman, from Conn., who went to New Jersey with his father James; James, d. in New Jersey, and Asabel, moved to Kentucky.

Only two of Jonas' dau's were m. at the date of his will. His son Samuel, Israel Crane and Caleb Camp, were executors of the will; Samuel Camp, Moses Roberts and John Ogden, the witnesses, Sept. 25, 1758; proved before Usal Ogden, Esq. He probably lived two or three miles West of Newark, (if he lived in the neighborhood of the witnesses,) toward the Conn. farms, where the Wades are numerous. Dr. Dodd, in his publication of the Dodd's, says, Elizabeth Hinman, m. Samuel Dodd, the 4th son of English, Daniel Dodd, of Branford, who d. at Branford, Conn. He was b. Jan. 11, 1736, and d. of small pox, July, 1795, and that he m. Elizabeth Hinman, and had children: Jonas, b. 1762, d. 1770; Naomi, b. 1764, d. May 24, 1766, and Abiathar. That Abiathar, m. Cornelia Cndmus, and had a dau'r Cornelia, and his wife d. and he m. 2d, Sophia Cogswell, and had Christopher Columbus, Washington and Cornelius. That he m. for his 3d wife, Mary Bigelow, and had by her a son William.

It will be noticed that Joseph Crane, Esq., was the grandfather of Lois Hinman; he d. 1726, Aug. 4, aged 50. His children's names were Benjamin, Ezekiel, Isaac, Israel, Josiah and Joseph, and dau's Abigail and Joanna, and his wife was Abigail Lyon. The head-stone of a dau'r of Jonas and Elizabeth Hinman, which does not stand where it was first placed, is found lying on the mound where the first interments were made, and near Joseph Crane's grave, and gives the name of Jemima, deceased March 22, 1761, aged 21 years, 7 months and 22 days. (See James Hinman, who went to New Jersey, in another place.)

HINMAN, JOHN, the son of Jonas of Newark, never m.; he appears to have d. in the army, at either Crown Point, or Ticonderoga, and like other bachelors, little is left of him to cause his remembrance.

HINMAN, SAMUEL, the other son of Jonas, of Newark, and grandson of Edward Hinman, Jr., and great-grandson of Edward, the first, of Stratford, Conn., was b. Oct. 21, 1739; was the only one of Jonas' family who preserved the name, by having sons, and from him have many descended. Samuel, the first son of Jonas, sen'r, of Newark, and his wife Elizabeth, was b. at Newark, Oct. 21, 1739, since called Orange, and d. Oct. 16, 1794. He m. at Newark, Lois Crane, dau'r of Josiah, or Daniel Crane, of Conn. Farms, in Newark; she was b. Aug. 12, 1742, and d. April 23, 1823. They had nine children, five of them b. at or near Conn. Farms, in Newark, New Jersey, after which Capt. Samuel Hinman, removed to Hanover, Morris County, where his other four children were b. His children were, viz.:

1. Jonas, b. Feb. 24, 1767; m. Ester Hayden, of Galway, Dec. 14, 1790, d. April 5, 1853, aged 85.

MORRIS, son of John Hinman, of Derby, settled at Newark, New Jersey, where he m. and had three children, one or more of them sons; Morris, died.

HINMAN, JOHN, deceased, of Wysox, Bradford county, Pennsylvania, was a son of John, sen'r, of Trumbull, in Fairfield county, Conn. He was b. Feb. 4, 1747. He was a brother of David, who settled at Newtown, of Jonas, b. 1752, and a half-brother of Isaac Hinman by Ann Nichols, second wife, who was the first of the Bridgeport Hinmans. This John, (Jr.,) when about 14 years old, was sent to Woodbury to learn the trade of joiner and carpenter, and remained at Woodbury until his eldest daughter was 14 years old. He m. Hannah Mallory at Woodbury, daughter of Abner, where most of his children were born, but removed his family soon after 1786, to Quoemans, near Albany, N. Y.; but left his eldest daughter, Lorrane, and one of his younger daughters, with their grandfather, Mallory. Lorrane m. Thomas Curtis at Woodbury, Nov. 13, 1791, and never followed her father's family, and is yet living, a widow, in Woodbury. John and his family remained at Quoemans about six years, and then removed his family to Wysox, Bradford county, Pennsylvania, where he continued until his death, aged 89. His wife died before him. At Woodbury he was known as Saucy John, to distinguish him from Capt. John Hinman, of Woodbury. He had 12 children, 4 sons and 8 daughters, viz.,

1. Lorraine, the eldest dau'r, m. Thomas Curtis, of Woodbury, Nov. 13, 1791, and had a family of sons and daughters. She is a widow, and now lives with a daughter, (perhaps Norton.)

2. Sally, 2d dau'r, m. James Hart, and raised a family in Albany, and d. there.

5. Jemima, 5th dau'r, m. J. Moger or Mosur, of Wysox; raised a family, and now resides with her children in Michigan.

6. John B., 6th child, m. Desire Wilcox, in Bradford county, and raised a large family, with whom he now lives, five miles south of Wysox. His wife died, and he m. a second wife in Rochester, N. Y.

7. Anna, 7th child, m. Lorenzo Hovey, raised a family, and now lives a widow with her children, near Mount Morris.

8. Charlotte, 8th child, m. Sheffield Wilcox, and had a family. She lives with her husband in Albany, 12 miles south of Wysox, in Pennsylvania.

9. Abner Curtis Hinman, 9th child, b. at Woodbury, Dec. 26, 1786. He m. a dau'r of Rev. M. M. Yorke, and has seven sons living and three daughters. His eldest son in California; and one preparing for the Bar, as a lawyer. Sons, Washington M., James Y., William Cory, Beach Isaac, (lawyer,) Abner Curtis, Jr., Minor Hoyt, and John.

10. Harriet, 10th child of John, m. Amos Yorke, and have raised a family, and now living at Wysox.

11. James H., 11th child of John, m. in Canada, and now resides at Rochester, N. Y., with his four sons. (all carpenters.)

12. Walker M., 12th child of John Hinman, has raised a family, and resides with his family at Mount Morris.

The twelve children of John were all members of some church.

HINMAN, JONAS, of Stratford, son of John, sen'r, who was son of Edward, Jr., of Stratford, b. March 30, 1752; lived in Trumbull. He m. Caty Fairchild, May 16, 1779, and had children b. in Stratford,

1. Joseph, b. August 14, 1780.

2. Polly, b. July 14, 1783.

3. Sally, b. July 24, 1786.

4. James, b. Dec. 1, 1788; perhaps others.

HINMAN, ISAAC, youngest son of John Hinman, sen'r, and grandson of Edward, Jr., by his second wife, Ann Nicholls, was born March 3, 1763. Isaac m. Charity Edwards; she was b. June 9, 1767, and m. Jan. 21, 1785. They had children b. at Stratford, viz.,

1. Lucy, b. May 10, 1785.

2. Munson, b. May 5, 1787.

3. Harriet, b. April 26, 1790.

4. Sally, b. Feb. 12, 1793.

5. William, b. August 2, 1796.

6. George, b. Dec. 30, 1797; died.

7. Sally, b. Sept. 14, 1799.

8. George 2d, b. Sept. 12, 1802.

9. Francis Ann, b. Feb. 7, 1805.

10. Catherine Ann, b. May 13, 1807.

Charity, the mother, d. Jan. 16, 1808, and Isaac, the father, d. Jan. 5, 1817. Isaac had a 2d wife.

HINMAN, MUNSON, son of Isaac and Charity, has been long known as the hotel keeper at Bridgeport, who needed no sign to call customers to his house, if he showed himself, as all would have full proof of his keeping a good house by his corpulency. He m. Priscilla Mead, of Greenwich, Oct. 5, 1813; had issue,

1. Isaac, b. July 18, 1815.

2. Henry M., b. Dec., 1817; m. Eliza J. Hawley, Dec. 25, 1839; left two sons. He died Jan. 11, 1846.

3. Elizabeth, b. April 22, 1819; m. William J. Beebe, Dec. 5, 1838, and has three children in New York.

4. Lavinia B., b. August 29, 1822; d. June 25, 1825.

5. Munson, } twins, b. March 10, 1821; Priscilla, d. August 12, 1825.

6. Priscilla, }

7. Walter E., b. March 14, 1827.

8. Priscilla 2d, b. Feb. 12, 1829; d. Jan. 4, 1831.

9. Henry M., b. —; d. Jan. 11, 1846.

HINMAN, ZACHARIAH, supposed son of John, sen'r, of Stratford. Mary, his wife, had a daughter named Mary Booth, b. May, 1772; and he had a half-sister, Patty; perhaps had other children. He lived at Quaker Hill, in Trumbull. He is not found recorded as a son of John, sen'r.

THE FOLLOWING ARE HINMANS OF NEW JERSEY, KENTUCKY, INDIANA, AND ILLINOIS.

HINMAN, JAMES, who was married and born in Connecticut, moved to New Jersey before 1750, and had at least one son, Asahel, with him, when he settled in New Jersey. He had sons, (Asahel, Joseph, Phineas, and Daniel; daughters, Rhoda, Maria, and Ann.) James d. in New Jersey.

HINMAN, ASAHIEL, son of James, m. Mary Hinman, whom he found in New Jersey; she was a daughter of Jonas Hinman, who settled at Newark, New Jersey. His children were Jonas, William, Elizabeth, Abigail, Rhoda, and Sarah Ann, (perhaps Israel, Nancy, George, Martha, and Daniel,) who all settled in Indiana. He removed from New Jersey to Kentucky, when his family were young, and from thence to Indiana.

HINMAN, GEORGE WASHINGTON, was a grandson of James Hinman above; b. in New Jersey; settled and now resides in Pike county, Illinois, where he is a large landholder, and a gentleman of reputation and note, and for some time was an officer in the land office in Illinois. He m. a lady from Kentucky, (where beautiful females are abundant.) He had a brother Samuel, who lived in Warnock county, Indiana; another, named Asahel or Ashbel. He was himself the son of Asahel, who was the son of James from Conn. to New Jersey. His children were Asahel, Maria, Eliza Ann, Sarah, Mary Jane, and George Barton.

HINMAN, SAMUEL, who lives in Warnock county, Indiana, was a son of Asahel, the son of James of New Jersey. He was also a brother of George Washington, of Illinois. His children are Jonas, William, Elizabeth, Abigail, Rhoda, and Sarah Ann. The mother of Samuel was Mary, daughter of Jonas Hinman, of Newark, and wife of Asahel Hinman. These facts in a confused state, are communicated by one of the descendants of Asahel and Mary Hinman, from Illinois. It is uncertain who was James' father, or from what part of Conn. he originated; yet from some facts it appears he was of the Stratford branch, who descended from Edward, Jr.

HINMAN, HAZAEL, must have been an early settler at Durham, Conn., as he died there, Dec. 14, 1759. His wife was Ann. They had children recorded there, viz., Sarah, b. April 21, 1757; Enoch, b. Dec. 30, 1758; (so says the record.) James Hinman also appears on that record in 1777 and 1791, who died a few years since, and has a son James, Jr., with a wife and one daughter now living at Durham. James, sen'r, and Israel Burrit, of Durham, were employed in Oct., 1777 by the selectmen of the town of Durham to transport articles of clothing to the companies of Captains Robinson, Camp, and Norton, of the regiment of Lieut. Col. Baldwin, at Fishkill, N. Y., for which they asked compensation of the legislature of the State of Conn. This James, sen'r was probably the son of Hazael, and who was not recorded there. Whose son Hazael was, is not found, or where he was from when he settled at Durham. He probably was of the Stratford branch, but it is uncertain. No account of Enoch is found on the record of Durham, except his birth; perhaps died young.

Thirty emigrants went from Durham, Conn., to Durham, N. Y., in the first settlement of Durham, N. Y., among which were William Hinman, (probably son of Hazael or James,) with Dea. Jonathan, Abial, Curtis, Dea. David, Aaron, Dea. Noah, James and Seth Baldwin, John and Silas Hull, Stephen and Ebenezer Tibbals, Walter and Cyrus Field, Daniel Coe, David and Daniel Merwin, Phineas Canfield, and others. Mrs. Hays, Post, Bushnell, Mrs. John Hull, and Mrs. Stephen Tibbals, were Baldwins before married.

Seven by the name of Hinman had graduated at Yale College in 1827; and Clark T. Hinman at Dartmouth College in 1842.

HINMAN, BETHUEL, said to have been from Woodbury, but probably from Durham, Conn., had a son Justus b. in Wallingford, Conn. Not known who he married. He had children, viz., Justus, Reuben, Phebe, Joy, and Rhoda.

HINMAN, JUSTUS, last above, m. Alice Spencer, of Durham, Conn, and had six sons and two daughters, viz., John S., Henry J. J., Nathan P., George W., Franklin E., Harvey D., Charlotte, and Eliza C. Justus, soon after his marriage, removed to Columbia county, N. Y., where he died in 1855, and most of his children were born in Columbia county. Nathan P., son of Justus, m. and d. and left a son Justus, who is now m. Henry is m. as well as Harvey D., and Eliza, and all living. The mother lives in Kinderhook, Columbia county.

HINMAN, REUBEN, brother of Justus, m. Polly Gardner, in New Hartford, Oneida county, N. Y., and had four sons, viz., David, Reuben, Elihu, and Joseph; and five daughters, Lucinda, Betsey, Cloy, and Phebe.

HINMAN, JOHN SPENCER, son of Justus, m. Margaret Pausley, at Middleburg, Schoharie county, N. Y., by whom he had children, viz., Nathan P., b. Oct. 10, 1832, now aged 22,) Chauncey W., Harvey Dwight, Helen Eliza, Mary Jane, and Charles Addison. His wife, Margaret died, and he m. 2d wife, Nancy Pausley, and had issue, 1. Alice Christiana; 2. John Spencer, Jr.; 3. Albert E.; 4. Catherine; 5. a child not named; all unmarried, and were all born at Middleburg, N. Y. Nathan P., son of John Spencer Hinman, of Middleburgh, is by profession a promising young lawyer, located at Schoharie, C. H., in the State of New York, and is unmarried.

Some facts appear that Justus lived for a time with his father in Canaan, Conn, before the family removed to Kinderhook, N. Y., and that Charlotte the eldest daughter of Justus, was born in Canaan. Some of Samuel Hinman's descendants, of Goshen, Conn., settled in Canaan, Conn., and from the fact that Charlotte was born there, shows that Justus and his father lived there, and went from there to Columbia county, N. Y. If this fact is so, Justus and his father and family were from Goshen to Canaan. They are probably descendants of Edward Hinman, Jr., of Stratford, by his son Capt. Samuel, who settled at Goshen, an adjoining town to Canaan. Yet as Justus m. in Durham, where Hazael Hinman lived, it is some evidence that they were connected with that family, as Justus' father was for a time in Wallingford, where Justus was born. It is not certain that Bethuel was father of Justus and Reuben; if Bethuel, of Wallingford, was father of Justus, Reuben, &c., he was not from Woodbury, as but two of this name was born at Woodbury, neither of which went to Wallingford, and neither m. Alice Spencer, of Durham, Conn. The father of Justus might have been a son of Hazael, the first of the name at Durham, and was perhaps also father of James and William. The last removed from Durham, Conn., to Durham, N. Y. This is one of the uncertain branches of the family, that its original ancestor can not be found, only by the old bibles of this branch, as no record evidence is found to settle their progenitor.

JEDEDIAH HINMAN, is found on record at Southbury, where his son Benjamin was bap. Feb. 15, 1767, one of the descendants of Edward, Jr., of Stratford. Jedediah left Southbury, and no other fact is found of him there.

LEMUEL HINMAN removed with his wife into Southbury from the north part of Litchfield county, before 1800, where he remained several years with children, and in old age again removed, not known to what place, or whose son he was, but was a descendant of Edward, Jr., of Stratford. He had a daughter Charlotte, and others.

Being aware as the writer is, of the very many imperfections in what is here published of the descendants of Sergeant Edward Hinman, of Stratford, it is with great reluctance that it is given to the public, as several descendants are not here traced, several of which can not be, without great expense and labor; and feeling that what is here published would be entirely lost to the family if not now published, I give it to the family with its imperfections, rather than to entirely lose the great labor and expense of collecting such facts as are amassed here; and I further add that the very reduced price at which it is sold, only pays the printing, paper, and binding, and leaves no remuneration for the expense and labor of collecting the facts. It is therefore hoped that every living Hinman, (if 1000 will supply them,) will purchase and preserve at least one copy of them; while one of the name has signed for 60 Nos., and several for 10 Nos. each, one for 20 Nos., &c.

Descendants usually have some curiosity to know the size, general appearance of stature, color of eyes, and color of the complexion, of their first ancestor in this country. As no portrait is found of Sergeant Edward Hinman, they are left to depend entirely upon tradition for these facts. He was about six feet in height, with light large eyes, and muscular in frame, having been an officer, was straight in his person, with an easy movement. The black eyes, now so frequently in the family, have crept in through the numerous wives connected with his descendants. Many stories have been related of the great muscular powers not only of Sergeant Edward Hinman, of Stratford, but of several of his early descendants. Those of the name were uniformly of a light complexion, tall in person, and in advanced life became corpulent.

Payne Kenyon Kilbourne, Esq., in his Biographical History of the County of Litchfield, when speaking of this family says, p. 357, "This has long been one of the most respectable and prominent names in that part of the county embraced in the present town of Southbury," and refers the reader to his appendix for facts. See also Cothren's History of Woodbury, in which town Southbury was embraced until it was incorporated in 1758, and annexed to New Haven county in 1806. Also see Hollister's History of Conn.

Three, of the four sons of Sergeant Edward Hinman, had children, all had large families, whose descendants are now scattered throughout this country, and have produced a full share of respectable families. Samuel, the 2d son of Sergeant Edward, early removed and settled at Woodbury, (in Southbury,) but unfortunately had no children, except an adopted child, which he caused to be baptised. Who he married, or when either himself or his wife died, is not found. He had owned the first parsonage ground at Southbury, but had disposed of it before 1732-3, and was probably deceased previous to that time. He was a reputable good farmer. The record says the orchard and house on the parsonage lot in Southbury in 1732-3, had been the property of Samuel Hinman. Samuel and Edward Hinman, Thomas Appleby, Thomas Bedient, and others, had lots assigned them in Woodbury before 1682, and were house-keepers. Capt. Titus, Samuel, and Benjamin, sons of Sergeant Edward Hinman, are found on the list of persons in 1702, on the division of the meadows on Shepaug river in Woodbury, to be land-holders and heads of families. Not much of the family history of Samuel Hinman is found upon the Woodbury records.
