The Anderson Family

The name Anderson signifies "the son of Andrew," and is the ninth most popular name in all Scotland. The clan Aindreas, "Sons of Andrew," came under the head of the clan Ross, the progenitor of the old Earls of Ross, being the eldest son of Gilleoin-nah-Airde, the ancestor of Anrias.

Coming from the north of Ireland to America early, the family, it is thought, settled in Newcastle County for a number of years, then members of the family came to Cumberland County, Pa., as early as 1764 in what was known as the "Conococheague Settlement," which later became Franklin County. A portion of this county is designated the "Corner" so named from the contour of the mountains in the area. This part of the county was chosen as the future home of the Andersons, and here members of that clan spent their entire lives. It is thought the parents of the Andersons died in Newcastle County, Pa. The will of Henry Anderson, written in 1778 and recorded in the courthouse in Chambersburg, Pa., gives the names of the members of the family as follows:

1. John Anderson
2. Henry (of the will)
3. Thomas, in Ireland (names of children unknown)
4. Mary Dysert, widow, in Ireland. (Two children whose names are unknown).
5. Wife of William Marshall.
6. Oliver Anderson.

The Andersons were Seceders in faith. (A brief history of the Seceder Church to which the Andersons were members, follows).

The United Presbyterian Church is the successor of two religious branches, the Seceders and the Associate Reformed.

Rev. R. G. Ferguson, one time minister of this church, in "Old Mercersburg" explains the reason for secession. "The origin of the Seceder Church was a secession from the National Church of Scotland in 1773, where the rights of the people were trampled upon by titled patrons and the doctrine of grace was set aside by church courts under rationalistic leadership. The name that they took at the outset was the Associate Presbytery."

The Seceder Church, to which members of the Andersons belonged was located on the left of the road leading to Greencastle. A log meeting house was erected about the year 1772 and was also used for school purposes. James Buchanan, former President of the United States, was said to have been a pupil there. A brick church took its place in 1828, which was later removed to Mercersburg where it became a dwelling. The charter of this church is said to be in Carlisle, Pa., Courthouse. The graveyard was located not far from the church and for upward of 100 years burials had been made in the plot. Today there are but few gravestones with inscriptions but there are many native stones scattered about. A number of years ago a marker was placed here for two Revolutionary soldiers, Oliver Anderson and David Humphrey, his father-in-law. Chester Anderson, of Upton; Mrs. Roy Stouffer, Williamson; Mrs. D. Singer Geiser and Mrs. Charles E. Wolff, both of Waynesboro, Pa., were responsible for the erection of the marker. Today, the burial plot is overgrown with brush and trees and only in winter when trees are denuded of foliage can one catch a glimpse of markers from the roadside.

The Rev. C. Y. Love of the West Conococheague congregation of the "Big Spring Presbytery" gives the following description of the Slate Hill Church:

"The West Conococheague Church was located about a mile-and-a-half from Mercersburg on the road leading to Greencastle. It stood upon a hill, and was generally known as Slate Hill Church. It was a log building and probably erected in 1782. The deed for the land upon which it stood was dated September 10th, 1777, in which William McCune conveyed to the trustees of the Associate Congregation one acre of land, with the privilege of a neighboring spring for the sum of five shillings. The land is described as that upon which the church was already built. The Rev. John Rodgers was presented with a call from the churches of Conococheague and Big Spring at a meeting of Presbytery held at Oxford, November 12th, 1771. Mr. Rodgers' pastorate did not take place until his installation in the summer of 1772, because of a lack of church buildings. The Conococheague part of Mr. Rodgers' pastorate was composed of two organizations — one on the East and the other on the West Conococheague, as all the settlements were near streams of water. It seems that Mr. Rodgers served this congregation until 1781. In 1783 Matthew Lind was installed pastor of the congregation along with the congregation at Greencastle, Chambersburg and Great Cove. This pastorate continued until 1798. Rev. John Young was the next pastor, serving from 1799 till 1808. He was succeeded by Rev. John Lind (son of Matthew Lind) whose ministry extended from 1808 until 1817. In 1786 the town of Mercersburg was laid out and soon became a center of population. The Presbyterian Church, which was located about one-and-a-half miles from the town, saw the advantages of the position and moved into the growing town. Inasmuch as the two churches were so nearly alike in doctrine, government and religious forms of worship, many could see no reason why the one should be preferred to other, and for convenience sake fell in with the village church. The West Conococheague Church began to decline, and after Mr. Lind's resignation in 1817, the congregation could get but little supply of preaching from the Presbytery. They had no prospect of ever having another pastor and were unable to secure even a supply except for an occasional Sabbath. They preserved their organization until the disastrous union of 1822 broke up the Presbytery. The presumption is that the congregation never disbanded, but just melted away and ceased to exist. Some joined the Presbyterian Church, some united with the Associate Church that was struggling into existence in Mercersburg, some moved away and some remained just as they were. The old meeting house on Slate Hill remained unoccupied for years, and was finally sold and removed to another place where it served as a dwelling house."

From "Old Mercersburg" we find the following:
"Lots 131 and 132 were the property of the Seceder Church. The church stood on the lot now owned by Mrs. Bristor. It was under this church that the rifles belonging to the town were concealed during the Confederate raids. Miss Sallie McCracken lived in the sexton's cottage now owned by Atcheson Divilbiss. The graveyard belonging to this congregation was on the rear of these two lots. The bodies have been removed to other burial grounds. The stone church which this congregation erected stood on the "point" now occupied by the residence of William Smith."

A record of the early membership of this church is in possession of the John Anderson family of Williamson, Pa., and is as follows:

"A list of the subscribers for the Labour of the Rev. Matthew Lind in the West Conococheague Congregation: James Ramsey, David Humphrey, Samuel McCune, James Miller, Oliver Anderson, John Sterrat, James Stuart, Adam Rush, Robert Rodgers, Thomas McClelland, Ann Anderson, James and Andrew Read, Edward Mannon, John Bruce, William Dickey, David Reed, William Davidson, John Moore, Joseph Boggle, Daniel McCurdy, James Clark, John Martin, James Dodd, James McMaster, Thomas Rodgers, Samuel Reed, Thomas H. Sloan, Thomas Dunlap, Robert Miller, Thomas Shannon, James Bogle, Adam Lowry and James Clark.

In addition to the above list Mrs. Virginia Fendrick of Mercersburg, in her publication "Revolutionary Soldiers of Franklin County," gives the following: "A receipt by James Ramsey, February 22, 1794, shows the names of Sarrah Davis and Walter Maxwell as paid 'steppens for Mr. Lind."

The following items pertaining to members of the Andersons were gleaned from various sources:

Conococheague.

2nd April 1764

Gentlemen:

We embrace this opportunity of Returning you with ye other contribution of your society — our hearty acknowledgment for your liberal contribution toward ye support of our Frontier in helping us to Raise a Ranging Company, to cover us in our Distresses. Your Liberality to ye amount of ten pounds, four shillings, we have received by ye hands of John Wray.

We are, Gentlemen, your obliged and humble servants,

William Smith
Henry Anderson

From the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.

Scotch-Irish Pioneers in Ireland. Hometown of Ulster families.

James Anderson, Ruling Elder in Duncan, Antrim in 1710-1715.

Samuel Anderson, Ballymina, Antrim, a Ruling Elder in 1710.

The following is an abstract of Henry Anderson's will as copied from the original in the family of John Anderson of Upton, Pa.

Peters Twp., Cumberland County, 1778.

To Ann, his wife.

Allen Anderson, my brother John's eldest son.

Elizabeth, John and Rebeckah, my brother John's other children.

Brother Thomas Anderson in Ireland and his children whose names are unknown.

Congregation on the west side of the Conococheague in care of Associate Presbytery. After this congregation is dissolved to go to the next Associate Congregation.

To Rev. John Rodgers accepting the call to this congregation.

Sister Mary Dysert, widow in Ireland and her two children whose names are unknown. To nephew, Henry Marshall, son to my brother-in-law, William Marshall.

To Henry Wray, son of James Wray.

To William Anderson, eldest son of Oliver Anderson and to his second son, Henry Anderson and to his daughter, Jane.

In presence of George Humphrey, Robert Humphrey and Henry Anderson.

Executors: David Humphrey, Oliver Anderson and John Work.

Henry Anderson died in 1778.

Ann, his wife, died in 1797.

They are buried in Slate Hill graveyard.

John, eldest of the Anderson family, married Margaret Wray, daughter of James Wray, pensioner, and his wife, Margaret Wray. James died at the advanced age of eighty-three years on February 7, 1838. His wife Margaret died September 7, 1804, at the age of fifty-nine.

John Anderson and wife, Margaret, had issue:

1. Allen, 2. Elizabeth, 3. John, and 4. Rebecca.

John Anderson and wife are buried in the Robert Kennedy Memorial Church graveyard at Welsh Run.

Henry Anderson married Ann (surname unknown). They were faithful members of the Slate Hill Church and are buried in the burial plot there. They had no issue.

William Marshall and his first wife, Mary, settled in "The Corner" section early. William was a taxable there as early as 1750 to 1751 when Peters Township was erected. They lived on a tract of land called "Todds Plains." His neighbors in 1795 were James and William Rankin to the North; Oliver Anderson on the South and in the East other lands of William Marshall. The farm was along the Licking Creek. The Marshall home is still standing along the upper "Corner" road beyond the Johnston Rankin home.

One of the early forts built as a protection from the Indians was in this vicinity. J. H. Brubaker, father of the writer, told his children many times about this old fort on their frequent visits to their grandfather Anderson's home a short distance away. Mrs. Harriet Anderson, Williamson, Pa., now in her 94th year, recounts the story told her of a woman being killed at this fort by the Indians as she was milking a cow.

A trail leading over the Cove Mountain to the Little Cove was called the Marshall Trail. This foot path in all probability was an early Indian Trail and it is used today to provide a short route across the mountain from the Corner.

William Marshall's home was in District No. 4 of the "Upper West Conococheague Presbyterian Church near Mercersburg."

Willim and his wife Mary had issue:

1. John; 2. Elizabeth; 3. Martha; 4. Henry; 5. William, Jr.

John and Henry gave service in the Revolution.

William, Sr., married, second, --- Anderson. He deceased in 1802.

I. Oliver Anderson, the subject of this genealogy, was born in Ireland in 1742 and came to America with other members of the family, presumably as early as 1750 and to the Corner by 1764. He was a farmer by occupation, taking up three hundred and twenty acres of land from the Government, part of which was mountain land. It was then in Cumberland County. His farm was six miles south west of Mercersburg. A Seceder in faith, he attended the Slate Hill Church and served as ruling elder for many years and collected funds for the support of the ministers in charge of the congregation. He was one of the early educators, teaching school in winter while farming was not in progress.

He served in the Revolutionary War and was one of the trusted men who were left in camp near Trenton in 1776-1777, to keep the camp fires burning to deceive the waiting British while General Washington with his army stealthily reached the safety of Princeton. Tradition tells us Oliver Anderson also served at Valley Forge.

His further service in the Revolution is as follows:

From Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C.

Private in Second Batt. of Cumberland County Militia commanded by Col. John Allison now under the care of James Erwin, Capt., from 6th of December to the 24th, 1776.

Pa. State Library at Harrisburg.

Private under Capt. Samuel Patton's Co., 6th Batt., Cumberland Co. Militia, 1777.

From Adj. Gen. Office.

Private under Capt. Wm. Huston's Co., Cumberland Co. Militia, commanded by Col. Samuel Culbertson. 1780-1781.

I. Oliver Anderson had three wives. He married: first, Elizabeth Marshall in 1769, daughter of William Marshall, Sr. and wife, Mary (surname unknown).

They had issue:

- II. 1 William, born in 1770. He married - - - DeWitt and they had issue. They lived in Kentucky.
- II. 2 Henry, born in 1772, married Sallie McCune and moved to Mercer County, Pa. They had no issue.
- II. 3 Jeanette, born 1774, married John Burnside. Issue: Oliver. They moved to Ohio.

Elizabeth Marshall Anderson died Feb. 6, 1779 and is buried in Slate Hill graveyard.

Abstract of Henry Anderson's Will. (Second son of Oliver Anderson). Mercer, Pa., 1832.

Wife, Sally, and heirs, house and lot in borough of Mercer, Pa.

To the Burnside children.

To Elizabeth Moore and to the other children of John Moore.

To Sarah Catherine Allison and Margaret Jane Moore.

To James Smith Marshall.

Brother William Anderson and heirs.

To Henry Anderson Moore, son of John Moore, and heirs.

Executors: Rev. Isaac Boggs, John McEwen.

Oliver Anderson married, second, Sarah Kyle in 1780 and they had issue:

- II. 4 Elizabeth, born 1781, married John Moore and has issue:
1. Elizabeth, 2. Sarah m. - - - Alison, 3. Margaret Jane, 4. Henry.
They migrated to Mercer County, Pa.
- II. 5 John, born 1783. He was a bachelor and said to be the possessor of a fine character. He was a stock dealer and a lover of animals particularly of horses and dogs. On one occasion he started out on horseback on a journey accompanied by his dog. When night came he decided to go into an inn to spend the night, but because of the strange action of his dog constantly tugging at his trousers, he decided to go further and find lodging. The following morning he was amazed when told a murder had been committed in the inn where he at first expected to stop.

John Anderson made a will in 1850. A copy of the abstract follows:

"Farm in Montgomery Twp. and mountain land to be sold and bequeathed to beloved brother Samuel Anderson or his heirs on condition that he board me with necessary attendance. Release his interest in the farm he now lives on and all be sold and the proceeds applied as follows: To beloved sisters, Annie Newell, Polly Dick and brother Robert Anderson to be divided equally. To Jeanette Burnside and William Anderson or their heirs the sum of one dollar each. Balance of estate consisting of notes and judgments on individuals, I give and bequeath to my beloved brothers and sisters, Samuel Anderson, Anny Newell, Polly Dick and Robert Anderson."

Samuel Anderson and friend, William Metcalfe, executors. June 28th, 1850.

Witnesses: John Morter, Nicholas Martin, W. Metcalfe.

John Anderson died in 1850 and is buried beside his mother, Sarah Kyle Anderson, died January 11, 1784. Their graves are marked in Slate Hill graveyard.

It is not known to what family Sarah Kyle, second wife of Oliver Anderson, belonged. Born about the year 1760, she may have been a daughter of the first Robert Kyle of Peters Twp., Franklin County. In the Congressional Library in Washington under "Scotch-Irish Immigrants," the name of James Kyle is listed as coming to Chester County in the year 1722. The Kyles were numerous in and around Mercersburg, early. Samuel Kyle purchased a mansion south of Mercersburg named Clifton Hall from which, it is said, seven sons went out to give distinguished service in the Revolution. When this plantation came into the possession of S. A. Bradley, the large brick mansion was known as Avondale. Mrs. Eliza Bradley McCullough inherited the farm from her father and later it was sold to Samuel Myers and at his death it came into the possession of his daughter, Miss Nellie Myers.

I. Oliver Anderson married (third) Jean Humphrey (See Humphrey line), born 1763, daughter of David Humphrey, Sr. and Jean (Miller) Humphrey. They had issue:

II. 6 Agnes, born February 26, 1787. She married Capt. John Dodd of the "Corner" section of Montgomery Twp., Franklin County, and their home was near the Samuel Anderson home. Captain Dodd drilled young men for army service. He was a cooper by trade. They were faithful members of the Seceder Church and are interred in the burial plot there. James Dodd, father of John, left a will as did his wife Susanna, both recorded in Chambersburg Courthouse, and the names of the children and to whom they were married are as follows:

1. John Dodd married Agnes Anderson; 2. Samuel; 3. Nancy Auld; 4. Elizabeth Speer; 5. Eleanor Crooks; 6. Margaret Wilson. Susanna's will was proved in 1832 and James' in 1816.

II. 7 David Anderson born July 5, 1788. He was unmarried. Died after 1823.

II. 8 Samuel Anderson married Eleanor McCullough. (See McCullough Line).

II. 9 Ann Anderson married Matthew Newell. (Of whom further).

II. 10 Robert Anderson married Eve Ensminger. (Of whom further).

II. 11 Mary Anderson married Capt. Wm. Dick. (See Dick Line).

II. Samuel Anderson, son of Oliver Anderson and Jean (Humphrey) Anderson was born in the family home in the Corner, February 27, 1790. He had a common school education. Attaining manhood he became a farmer and distiller. He was a member of the National Militia. On June 27, 1833 he married Eleanor McCullough, daughter of John McCullough and Elizabeth (McCune) McCullough of Warren Twp., Franklin County, Pa. She was born May 18, 1808. She was a devoted mother and took a keen interest in outside affairs of county, state and nation. They had issue:

III. Margaret Isabella, dau. of Samuel Anderson and Eleanor (McCullough) Anderson, born May 10, 1834. She married John Divilbiss, born November 11, 1824, of Montgomery Twp., Franklin County. He was the son of David Divilbiss and Hannah (Eisenburg) Divilbiss. He married Isabella Anderson, August 11, 1855, at the age of 21. Mr. Divilbiss was a careful and practical farmer, took an active interest in politics and public affairs. He served as school director for a number of years and was frequently a delegate to the Republican National Convention. Mr. Divilbiss was a firm believer in the Christian religion and the church, although he never became a member of the Methodist Church in Mercersburg, where they were faithful attendants. Although they had no children they at various time took at least eight of their nephews and nieces in their home to enable them to attend high school in Mercersburg. Mr. Divilbiss died in 1902. Mrs. Divilbiss later suffered a broken hip and was confined to a wheel chair throughout her life. She spent her later years in Waynesboro with her sister, Mrs. John H. Brubaker. She was greatly interested in missions and she and her sister made many quilts, which they donated to the Missionary societies of the Methodist Church in Waynesboro. Mrs. Divilbiss retained membership in the Mercersburg church which she joined as a young girl. She died December 20, 1918. She and her husband are buried in the Methodist graveyard in Mercersburg.

III. Elizabeth Matilda, dau. of Samuel Anderson and Eleanor (McCullough) Anderson, born 1835, died July 8, 1840. She is buried in the Slate Hill graveyard.

III. Oliver Henry Anderson, son of Samuel Anderson and Eleanor (McCullough) Anderson, was born October 18, 1836, in the old home place in the Corner section of Montgomery Twp., where he spent his early years. He attended the schools in the vicinity of his home and helped with the work on the farm until he answered the call to Service in 1863 with Company C from Mercersburg and vicinity. He served under Captain Robert Smith Brownson, who that year was appointed Major and James P. McCullough was appointed Captain. Oliver Anderson served as Third Sergeant in the battle at Bull Run, where he was injured. He also served at Manassas, Va.

In a letter to Mr. T. C. Grove of Mercersburg, Pa., Captain James P. McCullough writes from a camp near Falmouth, Va., in 1863. He recounts the experiences of his regiment, the bravery of the lads from Franklin Co. under Gen. Humphrey, and particularly commends the bravery of two boys, Oliver H. Anderson and McCampbell, both of whom were sleeping in a stable when the regiment was ordered out the second time. Sergeant Anderson was suffering some from a bruise he had received from a spent ball which passed through his overcoat, blouse and shirt, and McCampbell being quite unwell with a very severe cold. When the boys heard the regiment had moved out to the battlefield, they followed it up, determined to stand by their comrades.

Capt. James P. McCullough made the supreme sacrifice at Fort Sedgwick where he was wounded April 2, 1865. He died the following day. He was a descendant of pioneer James McCullough, who settled near Upton, Pa., and whose two young sons, James, five, and John, eight, were captured by the Indians in 1756. James was never heard from after he passed out of his brother's sight in the Indian Council House near Pittsburgh, but John, after spending a little more than eight years with the Indians, was brought home and the story of their captivity is interestingly told by himself in "Incidence of Border Life." A condensed form is given in "Old Mercersburg," published by the Woman's Club of Mercersburg.

Oliver Henry Anderson went to the vicinity of Winchester, Va., and was one of the pioneers in horticulture in that state. He was also a farmer. He was married to Sarah Amelia Weiler in 1867. She was born in 1845, the daughter of David Weiler and Margaret (Middleton) Weiler.

III. Nancy Eleanor Anderson, dau. of Samuel Anderson and Eleanor (McCullough) Anderson, was born July 27, 1840, in the Anderson homestead in the "Corner." She attended school until the age of 18 years when her health became impaired. She was married November 29, 1865, to John Harrison Brubaker, born May 21, 1840, son of Jacob Brubaker and Elizabeth (Rummel) Brubaker of Montgomery Twp. Mr. and Mrs. Brubaker started their married life on a farm five miles southwest of Mercersburg. He was a thresherman and sawmill operator as well as a farmer and was well-known in the community for his honesty and integrity. They were devoted to the church of their faith — the Methodist of Mercersburg, Pa., where Mr. Brubaker for a number of years was a trustee. In politics he was a staunch Republican. Mr. and Mrs. Brubaker were the parents of seven children all born on the farm where they began their married life. In 1893 the family moved to the 241-acre farm (Avondale) (earlier known as Clifton Hall) of Mrs. Eliza McCullough, one and a quarter miles south of Mercersburg, where they felt there were more educational advantages. Three of their sons attended Mercersburg Academy. In 1898 the family moved to Waynesboro, Pa., where a home had been purchased on the corner of Potomac and North Streets. At this location Mr. Brubaker successfully engaged in the grocery business for 25 years.

Nancy Eleanor Anderson was a true helpmate to her husband and a devoted mother to her children. Greatly interested in missionary work in both Home and Foreign Missions, she was made a Memorial Member in the Home Missionary Society and a Perpetual member in the Foreign Missionary Society by her daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Brubaker had issue as follows:

IV. Mary Rankin Brubaker, dau. of John Harrison and Nancy (Anderson) Brubaker, was b. September 25, 1866. She was the possessor of a lovely Christian character and was a devoted member of the Methodist Church from early girlhood. She d. March 31, 1932 and is buried in Burns Hill Cemetery in Waynesboro, Pa.

IV. "Granville Moody Brubaker was reared until early manhood on his father's farm and attended school in the Lafayette school in Montgomery Twp. until the age of 15 years, when he became a student at Mercersburg High School and from which he was graduated two years later as valedictorian, then taking the County examination for teaching. He then taught the Blue Spring school for two successive terms, giving the utmost satisfaction and gaining experience for himself, adding to his knowledge during vacations by attendance at Mercersburg College, now Mercersburg Academy, and becoming connected with the Washington Irving Society of that institution.

In the Spring of 1889, Dr. Brubaker took a trip through the West and remained in Kansas for a time. Later he went into New Mexico where he spent 18 months as clerk in the mechanical department of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad at Raton and Las Vegas. In the Fall of 1891, he returned and took up the study of medicine at the University of Vermont, located at Burlington in that state. During his vacation he attended the clinics at Danvers Hospital, Danvers, Mass. He then matriculated at Baltimore Medical College, Baltimore, Md., from which institution he was graduated in April, 1894. With his credentials he returned to Mercersburg for a visit with his parents. While there he had a call to take charge of the practice of Dr. J. H. Devor at Fort Loudon. After a few months he returned to Mercersburg and became assistant to Dr. E. A. Hudson, later accepting a call to the Little Cove to take the place of a physician who was leaving there. During this time he successfully passed the examination boards of both Pennsylvania and Maryland. Two years later he took up his residence and permanent practice in Mercersburg where he is most highly esteemed both as a physician and as a citizen.

In 1896 Dr. Brubaker was united in marriage with Ida Stoner who was born July 14, 1871, in Hagerstown, Md., a daughter of J. Kaufman Stoner, who had removed to Warren Twp. He was one of the first conductors on the Western Maryland Railroad. Previously he had been connected with a transportation line running a stage coach between Emmitsburg and Baltimore. His death occurred in 1902.

In politics Dr. Brubaker is a staunch Republican, but he has never sought political preferment. However, he was elected councilman for three years in February 1904, has served on the Board of Health and for two years was physician, by appointment, of the Mercersburg Academy. He is a Methodist in religious view while Mrs. Brubaker is a Catholic. Socially Dr. Brubaker has many friends and takes a prominent part in all public matters of the city, whether to sanitation or the advancement of religious or educational enterprises." In 1898 the Brubaker family moved to Waynesboro, Pa., where she married, March 6, 1909, Daniel Singer Geiser, son of Peter and Mary (Hoover) Geiser. Eleanor Isabel is especially fond of flowers and a lover of birds. She is a devout member of the Methodist Church. Her husband was born November 16, 1864, at Ashland, Ohio. As a child his family moved to Waynesboro, Pa., where he learned the machinist trade in the shop of the Geiser Manufacturing Co., which was founded by his father, the inventor of the first threshing machine. He later entered the electrical contracting business and become an expert lock and safe mechanic. His services for opening forgotten or misplaced combinations on safes and locks were in great demand and he performed with amazing dexterity. He was a descendant of Isaac Merritt Singer, inventor of the sewing machine and founder of the Singer Manufacturing Co. He was a lifelong member of the Methodist Church in which he was active, serving as steward and trustee and various other offices. For many years he taught a Sunday School class and was a member of the building committee which erected the present church in 1901. As a hobby he was a rather prolific writer of verse and was a member of "The Poets of America."

Mr. Geiser died November 2, 1947 and is buried in Green Hill Cemetery. They have issue:

April 19, 1912, son of Clarence DeLoe and Isabelle (Hance) DeLoe of Waynesboro. Mr. DeLoe's early education was gained in the public schools of Waynesboro from which he was graduated in 1930. He entered the University of Pennsylvania in the fall of 1930 and received his B. S. degree in 1934. Entering the U. S. Army, he served in Africa and Italy until 1936 and attained the rank of captain. Previous to his war service he spent several years in the Dutch East Indies in the interest of the United States Rubber Co. with which company he remains today in the capacity of administrative assistant to the executive assistant to a vice president. Mr. DeLoe was in Sumatra when in 1941 the Japanese invaded the northern part of Malaya. Feeling it would only be a matter of time before Sumatra would be blockaded, he and W. T. Giddings (employee of U. S. Rubber Co.) hastened to leave by auto, a trip of 2100 miles. On the way they were marooned by a flood and landslide for three days in a mountain village. After seven days they reached Java by a small ship which was crowded with 900 passengers. They left Java for New York traveling by way of Cape of Good Hope. Mr. and Mrs. DeLoe live in Croton-on-Hudson, New York. They are members of the Methodist Church where both are active members. Mr. DeLoe is a member of the Official Board and teacher in the Sunday School. Mrs. DeLoe is a past president of the Young Women's Missionary Society and is active socially. III. 7 Samuel Anderson, born July 26, 1845, son of Samuel Anderson and Eleanor (McCullough) Anderson, spent his early life on the old home place in Montgomery Twp., Franklin County, Pa. He attended the school in the "Corner." Always interested in gaining an education the Andersons were avid readers. The church of their choice was the Methodist and the Christian Advocate, its official organ was early subscribed to and remained in the family many years. Especially interested in music, he became the song leader in one of the early singing schools.

Samuel Anderson never married. After the death of his parents he made his home with his brother, John M. Anderson and family, who remained on the old home place.

The Anderson home in the Corner was looked upon as a "second home" by members of the family who had married and established homes of their own. Neighbors and friends found it a friendly home to visit. Two elderly aunts, familiarly known as "Aunt Ibbey" and "Aunt Betty," found this home a haven in their declining years. They were the sisters of Mrs. Anderson. After her death and that of her husband, these aunts continued in the home with their nephews John and Samuel Anderson, who gave them the kind care accorded them by their sister, Mrs. Anderson.

The Anderson family was Methodist in faith and members of the church in Mercersburg. The Methodist ministers in those early days often visited their country parishioners where they found a warm welcome. They sometimes remained over night, as traveling twelve miles in those horse and buggy days over unimproved roads was considered a long distance for one day. The ministers were sometimes called upon to perform a marriage ceremony or a baptismal service. On one such occasion there were a number of children to be baptized in the Anderson home. The Negro servant asked for permission to bring a couple of her children to be baptized with the others. Consent was given and the baptism took place. Three of the children were May, Moody and Arch Brubaker. The Negro children were from the Nat Cuff family.

The Anderson Brothers engaged extensively in farming and stock raising. In 1906 they sold the farm in the "Corner" and purchased a larger farm near Upton, Pa. Mr. Anderson died there March 19, 1922 and is buried in the family plot in the cemetery at Mercersburg, Pa.

III. 8 Sarah Mary Anderson, daughter of Samuel Anderson and Eleanor (McCullough) Anderson, was born July 25, 1847, in Montgomery Twp., Franklin County. As a young girl she attended the country schools in the vicinity of her home in the "Corner." When the Civil War called her brother John into the service she substituted for him in teaching in the Old Lafayette School, which was located along the main Corner road a short distance east of the Johnston Rankin home. She was married to Dr. John L. Blair in 1868. He was the son of James Blair and Martha (Elliott) Blair of Blair's Valley and was born in 1845. It is said James Blair, father of John Blair had many skirmishes with the Indians in the early days when the Indians were numerous in that section. Dr. Blair practiced medicine in Mercersburg for many years. They were members of the Methodist Church. After the death of Dr. Blair, December 31, 1911, Mrs. Blair went to Spokane, Washington, where she made her home with her son, Elwood, a prominent attorney of that city. In 1916 she visited her brother, George Robert, in Ashland, Ore., where she remained until her death, August 28, 1932. They had issue:

III. 10 George Robert, son of Samuel Anderson and Eleanor (McCullough) Anderson, was born November 25, 1851, on his father's farm in Montgomery Twp., where he spent his early life. He attended the Union and Deck schools in the vicinity of his home and taught school in the Corner one term. He and his brother, Arch, had further study in the Millersburg Normal School in Pennsylvania, where they were graduated in 1874. George Robert was one who represented his class, giving an oration on "Character, the End of Culture." He taught school in Berrysburg, Willow Street, Forrest Grove Presbyterian Church Academy, Ingleside Academy, McDonald and Cannonsburg Jefferson Academy, all in western Pennsylvania. While living at McDonald, Pa., he was married to Sarah Marian Work, daughter of John Work and Jane (Campbell) Work, born July 7, 1852, at the Blue Spring, near Mercersburg, Pa. They were married by Rev. Thomas Creigh, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Mercersburg. Sarah Marian attended the school at Blue Spring and had one term at the Cumberland Valley State Normal School. She taught school about four years previous to her marriage to George Robert Anderson on December 25, 1878.

The Work family came to America from England about 1730. John Work settled in the Blue Spring vicinity. He died in 1853, nine months after the birth of his youngest daughter, Sarah Marian. The Campbell family were descendants of an old Scotch family that came early to the Conococheague Settlement. Jane Campbell Work, the mother, died in 1903, fifty years after the death of her husband and outlived all her children save one, Mrs. Hayes McClelland.

George Robert and wife, Sarah, moved to Purdy, Missouri, where they farmed for three years. III. 8 Agnes, m. Lewis Stone. It is known that four of the above families located in Wapello, Iowa.

Matthew Newell and his family, after living a number of years in Montgomery Twp., Franklin County, went to Tiffin, Ohio.

The pioneer of the Newell family was Robert Newell, grandfather of Matthew Newell, who came to the "Conococheague Settlement" as early as 1742 when he took up land in what later became Peters Twp. on a tract known as Oak Grove Fish farm, located two and a half miles southeast of Mercersburg, Penna., and a short mile from Lemaster Station. The spring which supplied the trout pools was formerly known as Dobbins' Springs. The west branch of the Conococheague Creeks forms a boundary of the farm. An early graveyard known as Dobbins graveyard was not far from the house.

Today it is known as Etters Cemetery. It is said that in those early times when the Indians were numerous in the Conococheague Settlement that burial services were held with armed outposts guarding the families from the savages. The Newells lived here until 1800 when it passed into the hands of William Waddle and later to George W. Etter.

Robert Newell married Margaret McDowell, daughter of pioneer William McDowell, who was born in Ireland in 1680 and died September 12, 1759, at the age of 79 years. The Newells were members of the Upper West Conococheague Church, now Mercersburg, Penna. The pastor was the Rev. John King, D. D., and at that time there were ten districts with Robert Newell living in District No. 7. The records of this church began in 1769. Robert Newell united with the church in 1771. In 1801 he served as Justice of the Peace in Mercersburg, Pa.

An abstract of Robert Newell's will is recorded in Chambersburg Courthouse, dated March 9, 1784; Proved March 13, 1787. "Wife Margaret; daughter Grizzelle; Margaret, Mary, Agnes, Elizabeth, Robert, William, son-in-law James Patton." Grizzelle married Robert Smith, brother of William Smith, pioneer. They had issue: 1. Margaret, 2. James. Elizabeth married Rev. John Black, November 15, 1773. The will of Rev. Black was recorded at Greensburg, Westmoreland County, in 1802. His wife died prior to 1802.

Margaret Newell married Duncan Campbell, May 9, 1775.

Mary married James Patton. They had issue.

Robert Newell Jr. married Margaret Alexander, July 17, 1794. Ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. Denny of Path Valley, Pa.

Robert Newell Sr. died March, 1787. Margaret, his wife, died in 1803.

William Newell, father of Matthew, was born in Peters Twp., Franklin County, on his father's farm southeast of Mercersburg. He married Sarah Wilson, daughter of William Wilson and wife, Isabella, early settlers in Peters Twp. They lived in District No. 3 of the Upper West Conococheague Presbyterian Church in Mercersburg, Pa. They had issue:

1 Robert, 2 Peggy McAfee, 3 Susan, married James Walker; 4 William married Jean Walker; 5 John; 6 Sallie; 7 Grizzelle married Gane; 8 Betsy; 9 Matthew married Ann Anderson.

Record of baptisms in the Upper West Conococheague Presbyterian Church of Mercersburg: John baptized April 12, 1772; Sarah, December 6, 1773; Grizzelle, April 17, 1776; Elizabeth, May 24, 1778; child, October 13, 1780; Matthew, June 24, 1782.

In 1781 William Newell was a taxable in Montgomery Twp., Cumberland County, with 300 acres of land. In 1762 he bought a 198-acre farm from Joseph Bradner, and in 1802 he conveyed this land to his sons, John and Matthew and wife, Ann. In 1816, this farm was sold to William Boyd, of "Cumberlin County" for $15,800.59. The land is located in the "Corner" near Mercersburg, Pa. Bates' history of Franklin County tells us that one could ride from this farm in the early days to Mercersburg shaded by forest trees on the sunniest days. Today the farm is known as the William Boyd farm. William Newell died in 1807. Sarah died in 1793.

II. Robert Anderson was born May 29, 1795, son of Oliver Anderson and Jean Humphrey Anderson. He married Eve Ensminger of Williamsport, Md. She was the daughter of George Ensminger and his wife, Margaret, of Williamsport. They had issue:

DICK LINE

Contributed by Miss Daisy Schaul of Tiffin, Ohio

Home of Captain William Dick in Mercersburg. (Birthplace of Harriet Lane).

Captain William Dick, pioneer of this line, was born in Ireland, October, 1788. The year he came to America is not know. He came to Mercersburg, Pa., where he spent many years and was recognized as one of the leading men of the town, controlling many of the business projects among which were a mill, a general store, meat market, tannery, and a distillery. He also molded the candles that lighted the town of Mercersburg. In order to purchase supplies he would make frequent trips to Baltimore on horseback. He was kind to the poor and needy and during the heavy snowfalls would see that pathways were cleared to their doors.

Captain Dick was twice married. His first wife being Mary Thompson, whom he married November 14, 1815. They had one son, John Thompson Dick, born September 25, 1816. He served in the Civil War and was killed August 30, 1862 at Bull Run, Va. He was captain of Co. H.

After the death of his first wife October 7, 1816, his second marriage was to Mary Anderson, daughter of Oliver Anderson and Jean (Humphrey) Anderson. Mary was born five miles southwest of Mercersburg, May 28, 1798. Their home in Mercersburg was on North Main Street, near the square. The house was built by Thomas C. Lane for his son, Elliott, who married Jane Buchanan. Their daughter, Harriet Lane, was born here and when her uncle, James Buchanan, became President of the United States, she presided over the White House during his administration. At the time the Dick family lived in Mercersburg, the town was small and from their home on Main Street, the beautiful Cove mountains to the West could be plainly seen. In an upstairs bedroom many quilts were made and the writer of this sketch became the proud possessor of No. 6 the property of Matilda Elizabeth Dick in 1842.

Captain Dick and his family were staunch Presbyterians in the Mercersburg church. He served in the War of 1812 and while raising his hand to give a command, he suffered the loss of the front finger of his right hand.

Nine children were born to this union:

- III. 1 Mary Jane Anderson. Of whom further.
- III. 2 Matilda Elizabeth. Of whom further.
- III. 3 Nancy, b. January, 1823; m. Rev. Hezekiah Hanson, a Presbyterian minister.

III. Mary Jane Anderson, born September 26, 1819; married Dr. John Heckerman, who was a graduate of Marshall College of Mercersburg, Pa. They moved to Tiffin, Ohio, where he started the practice of medicine and where he was quite successful inasmuch as the country was new with much malaria and a cholera epidemic prevailed. He was popular with the Germans, as he could speak their language fluently. He did most of his travelling on horseback through the forests and over the hills. Issue:

IV. 1 Mary, married Dr. Schwan.

IV. 2 Kate married - - - - Geisy. Issue.

V. John Geisey, Salt Lake City.

VI. Mrs. Thompson, a granddaughter, of Cleveland, Ohio, (survivor).

(III). Matilda Elizabeth Dick, born February 10, 1821, in Mercersburg, Pa. She m. Rev. Hiram Schaull, born March 14, 1818, in Middlebury, Va. They were married in 1844 in Mercersburg, where he matriculated at Marshall College and Theological Seminary. He served pastorates in Virginia and Ohio. In 1846 he became pastor of the First Reformed Church in Tiffin, Ohio. During this pastorate he became impressed with the need of a college in Tiffin. With men of influence backing him, he went about and with much tact and hard work he secured sufficient funds to make a beginning. In 1850 a site was chosen, consisting of five acres of ground and was purchased for one thousand dollars. A brick structure, one hundred by sixty-five feet, was erected and became the first building of Heidelberg College. This building has been given the name of Founders Hall in honor of Rev. Hiram Schaull. The first faculty of Heidelberg College were graduates of Marshall College in Mercersburg. Altogether Rev. Schaull succeeded in raising in cash and pledges $11,030. A generous sum of money in 1850. The population of Tiffin then was 2,718. Co-educational, today Heidelberg College has expanded and many fine and commodious buildings serve the need of students entering its doors.

Rev. Schaul and wife had one son, Clariden, who became a dentist, but he died while young, his parents surviving him by many years. They are all buried in the cemetery at Sidney, Ohio.

III. Emma Burton, born May 13, 1839; married Jacob Schaul, son of Bartholomew and Rebecca Blue Schaul, born December 7, 1834. Issue:

IV. William Hamilton, b. December 27, 1858; d. November 16, 1930.

IV. Harry Grant, b. 1864; d. September 22, 1893.

IV. Daisy Blue, b. in Tiffin, Ohio, May 3, 1866. She is the only surviving member of the family. She lives at "Lone Elm Place," a short distance from Tiffin.

IV. Jane Anderson, b. May 15, 1871; d. September 21, 1932.

Jacob Schaul served in the Civil War in Co. D., 64th O. V. V. I. He died June 15, 1915; Emma Burton died April 8, 1922.

The Jacob Schaul family took in a young lad, Claude Lloyd, at the age of 10 years and he grew up as one of the family. He married Edith M. Oster in 1915. Issue:

A letter written to Oliver Anderson in 1795 by S. Anderson.

Corndale

September 26, 1795

Dear Coz. Oliver:

Your letter informing me of my brother's death, I read in course, which gave me and sisters much concern at the loss of so dear a friend, at the same time ever to be thankful to remember the kind and attention toward him during his indisposition.

You mention sending my brother's (illegible) to my sister, which has not yet come to hand, which if you have not this word forwarded, you may probably have an opportunity to send by Capt. Pinkerton, by whom this letter goes to Philadelphia, or any other person you chose, at same time I've loss me their receipt, whoever it may be to enable me to make amends of them. Mr. Wilson, a friend carried over two fine linen shirts from sister for you, which we left in care, one Crawford of Carlisle by David William Work, to be forwarded, which I hope you received safe. Sisters join in love to you at all times.

Samuel Anderson

P. S. Anne Taylor, Y'r cousin, now widow. Hannah, by her good husband being innocently killed in an affray, to her and her small family, great loss, though making a tolerable livelihood. For her family, not quite content and would wish you would inform her brothers of her situation and earnestly wish to hear from you and them as on before.

S. Anderson

Oliver Anderson d. 1810 at his home in the Corner. Jean Humphrey Anderson d. November 26, 1839. They are buried in Slate Hill graveyard.

The McCullough Family

The name McCullough dates back to Scotland, where it was an important sept. of McDougall, Munroe and Ross. The surname McCullough is derived from the Gaelic "Culloch," signifying a brave man.

I. Archibald McCullough, the pioneer of this branch of McCulloughs, came from County Derry, Ireland, to Newcastle County, Delaware State, about the year 1740, supposedly with his brothers James, John, another brother, name unknown, and two sisters, the one named Sarah, and the name of the other unknown. It is thought they all remained in Newcastle County except James who came to the Conococheague Settlement as early as 1754, where he had purchased a farm in the vicinity of Upton, Pa.

Archibald McCullough married, but the name of his wife is unknown. They had a son, George, born about 1745 in Newcastle County, Delaware. He was married to Mary Crosby in Newcastle County and they had issue:

III. 1 John, b. June 28, 1771.

III. 2 Rebecca, b. February 1, 1773.

Mary Crosby McCullough died while in Newcastle County and George married Mary Eynon, daughter of William Eynon and his wife, Hannah. They had one son III. Eynon, who, when grown, lived in Greene County, Pa.

George McCullough and his family came to the vicinity of Upton, Pa., in about the year 1780, where he engaged in the tanning business. After the death of his wife Mary he moved to Air Twp., Bedford County, Pa., and was one of the early settlers. His occupation at this time was that of packer, driving horses over the Allegheny Mountains. He was one of the Forest Rangers and was subject to Militia duty. (Penna. Arch. 6th. Ser. Vol. 3). Tradition tells us George also served in Washington's Army and had part in the capture of the Hessians in Trenton.

Archie McCullough, who escaped the scalping by the Indians in the Enoch Brown Massacre near Greencastle, Pa., was a first cousin of George McCullough. McCauley's History of Franklin County gives a vivid description of the massacre. "The massacre happened on the morning of July 26, 1764. It was then called Cumberland County, where this took place, about three miles north of Greencastle and ten miles southwest of Chambersburg. Enoch Brown was the schoolmaster, a man of culture. On the morning above named, he went as usual to the log schoolhouse, which was a rude building. Tradition says that on this morning the children were loth to go to school, even those who were fond of school. One boy, after leaving home, decided he would not go to school, but would loiter in the woods, hence he escaped the fate of his schoolmates. Eight boys and two girls responded to the roll call. The school had been much larger during the early summer, but the warm weather and seasonable duties had decreased the number. There were no two from the same family there that day. Eben Taylor, a lad about 15 years, who was said to be the largest boy. George Dunstan was somewhat younger than Taylor and Archie McCullough, the boy who survived his injuries, was the youngest child of the school. The names of the two girls were Ruth Hart and Ruth Hale. The account given by A. McCullough is that when the master and scholars met at the school house, two of the scholars told him that they had seen in the bushes something they supposed were Indians. Shortly after the opening exercises a noise was heard and when the door was opened three Indians stood at the door. Knowing there was no escape, the schoolmaster pleaded for the lives of the children and begged them to kill him instead. One of the Indians said in order to avoid detection they would have to kill the children also, and instantly they attacked the teacher with a wooden mallet and soon had him in a dying condition. The children were running frantically about and some would have escaped had there not been two Indians outside. Soon all the children were stretched on the floor, dead or dying. All except Archie McCullough, who had thus far avoided discovery, was concealed behind some wilted boughs which previously had been placed in the great chimney and from which place he could see the horrible slaughter of his schoolmates. The Indians were about to leave when one of them looked back and saw Archie McCullough and rushing upon him dealt him a single fearful blow, tearing off his scalp, left him for dead. Some hours after, one of the settlers happened to come in, and attracted about the unusual quiet at noon, his curiosity led him to the door. He saw ten lifeless bodies on the floor weltering in their own blood and Archie McCullough, who was blinded by the blow, moaning and crawling about among his dead companions smoothing his hands over their faces and running his fingers through their hair as if trying to distinguish one from the other through the touch."

Archie McCullough lived to an advanced age but his mind was clouded.

In connection with the Enoch Brown massacre we have this excerpt from "Life with the Aborigines" by John McCullough, the Indian captive at Fort Duquesne. "Sometime in the summer, a great number of Indians collected at the forks of Moosh-king-oong, perhaps about three hundred or upwards; their intention was to come to the settlement and make a general massacre of the whole people, without any regard to age or sex; they were out about ten days when most of them returned; having held a council, they concluded it was not safe for them to leave their towns destitute of defense. However, several parties went on to different parts of the settlements. It happened that there were three of them, whom I was well acquainted with, came to the neighborhood of where I was taken from — they were young fellows — perhaps none of them were more than twenty years of age — they came to a schoolhouse, where they murdered and scalped the master and all the scholars, except one, who survived after he was scalped, a boy of about ten years old, and a full cousin of mine. I was with the Indians when they returned home with the scalps; some of the old Indians were very much displeased at them for killing so many children, especially an old chief or half king — he ascribed it to cowardice, which was the greatest affront he could offer them."

A monument marks the spot where the massacre took place, and the names of the teacher and pupils are inscribed thereon.

George McCullough married Sarah Philips while in Ayr Twp. She was the daughter of Evan Philips and his wife Catherine, both natives of Wales. They had issue:

III. 1 Evan; III. 2 Samuel; III. 3 Mary, m. Richard Reyn;

- III. 4 Catherine, m. Dimit Smith; III. 5 Hannah;
III. 6 Rachel and III. 7 Jane.

George McCullough d. some time after 1789 in the Little Cove at an advanced age.

III. John McCullough, son of George McCullough and Mary (Crosby) McCullough, was b. in Delaware State in the County of Newcastle, later Chester County, Pa., on June 28, 1771. He left Delaware when a small boy but could remember the stirring times during the Revolution. Coming to Peters Twp. with his father he helped with the tanning industry and in winter attended the early schools of that period. In 1795 he was married to Elizabeth McCune, b. December 2, 1772, daughter of William McCune, Jr., and wife, Elizabeth (Loughead) McCune of Peters Twp., Franklin County, Pa.

John McCullough and his wife spent most of their lives in Warren Twp., Franklin County, where he became a farmer and shoemaker. They were devout Methodists, taking an active interest in the church of their choice. He was a man of the highest integrity and at his death it was said of him that he bequeathed to his many friends the luster of an untarnished name. His death came on January 4, 1851. His wife died June 4, 1847. They are buried in the Stone Church graveyard in Warren Twp.

They were the parents of the following children:

- IV. Archibald Scott, b. 1797 in Warren Twp. About whom further.

- IV. 7 Margaret D., b. February 8, 1814. An accident caused blindness. She d. September 18, 1853. She is buried in the Stone Church graveyard in the Cove. The following obituary on the death of Margaret McCullough was taken from the Repository and Whig of Chambersburg. "Died: On the 18th. inst. ult., in Warren Twp., Miss Margaret McCullough, aged 30 years 7 mos. and 10 days. She was the subject of deep affliction, and with the inimitable author of "Paradise Lost," she could say—"Thus with the year seasons return: but not to me returns the day, or the sweet approach of eve or morn or light of vernal bloom, or summer rose, or flocks or herds, or human face divine." But she was sustained in the midst of her suffering in contemplating the time when the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf unstopped — when the ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joys upon their heads and sorrows and sighings shall flee away."

- IV. 8 John Free, b. December 18, 1816. He was a bachelor and was said to have been a hot-headed abolitionist. His sister Betty called him her "gentleman brother." He was a teacher of one of the early schools in Warren Twp., Franklin County. He died September 18, 1855 and is buried in the Cove.

The McCune Family

The name McCune originated from the Gaelic "Gowan," a well-known Scottish surname. The prefix "Mac" signified "the son of Gowan." The root word from which the name sprang was "gowan," which meant a smith. The gowan, or smith, of a Highland clan was held in high esteem. His skill in the manufacture of military weapons required unusual dexterity and great bodily strength. In the chief's household, a gowan ranked as third officer, thus showing the importance attached to his profession. The founder of one branch of Gowans came from the north of Ireland, having left Scotland to take up land offered on the Emerald Isle.

It is not known the year William McCune, pioneer, came to America, supposedly from Ireland. He may have lived for a time in Chester County before coming to the Conococheague Settlement in about the year 1755. He purchased land from Patrick McClure in 1762 on the west branch of Conococheague Creek and great road to William Campbell's land. It was William McCune Sr. who donated land for the Slate Hill Church and privilege of using spring nearest the Church for a small fee. He sold his farm to Alexander Miller who in turn sold to James Ramsey. This farm today is known as the Joseph Hiester farm. William Sr. d. in 1793 and is probably buried in Slate Hill Graveyard. The name of William McCune's wife is unknown. They were the parents of two sons.

(11.) 1 William, Jr. (Of whom further).

(II.) 2 Samuel.

In 1769 Samuel became owner of a farm purchased by his father from Patrick McClure, known as the Irwinton Mills farm. The tract adjoins the West Branch of the Conococheague Creek and includes a mill. Through the years this spot has been of much historical interest as the old house built of native limestone was the home of two sisters, one of whom became mistress of the White House, the other mother of a President of the United States.

Both the dwelling house and the mill were built by Archibald Irwin, Sr. His son Archibald and wife Mary (Ramsey) Irwin succeeded to the old homestead. Their daughter Jane married William Henry Harrison Jr. and became mistress of the White House during the brief period President William Henry Harrison was in office in 1841. The younger daughter, Elizabeth, married John Scott Harrison and became the mother of Benjamin Harrison, twenty-third President of the United States. The interesting old house and farm are in private ownership. Chester Anderson, a descendant of William McCune, Sr., owns and operates the mill, which still has some of the old equipment for grinding, but it is not now in use. The house, which is said to have been built in 1732, has an attractive setting overlooking the west branch of the Conococheague Creek which at this point forms a graceful curve. A large meadow extends along the eastern bank of the stream, while on the opposite side is a steep embankment, much of which is of solid rock. Licking Creek enters the Conococheague a short distance away and is spanned by one of the covered bridges, few of which are to be seen in Franklin County today. A small wing on the south side of the house is topped by a huge stone chimney while the chimneys on the main building are of smaller size. The wing is ivy covered and is shaded by a huge elm tree. The interior of the house has a central wall with balustrade extending to the third floor. The spindles of the balustrade were hand turned and imported from England as were the hand carved moldings in parlors. Samuel McCune lived here until 1787.

Samuel married Jean Scott, daughter of James Scott and wife Sarah of the "Corner" section. James died 1785 and his wife in 1808.

(II.) Samuel and his wife Jean had issue:

They were consistent members of Slate Hill Church. Samuel gave service in the Revolution (Penna. Arch., 5th ser. Vol. 6, p. 268). Samuel McCune died in 1797; Jean died 1813. They are buried in Slate Hill graveyard.

(II.) William, Jr., son of William, Sr., came to the Conococheague Settlement with his father. His land in 1766 lay on the west side of the great road three miles southwest of Mercersburg. Licking Creek flowed through his farm. In 1760 his neighbors were William Semple on the north, Isaac Darbrah on the south and barrens on the east. William McCune, Jr., married Elizabeth Longhead about the year 1769. She was the daughter of John Longhead and wife Elizabeth of Peters Twp. and their home was one and a half miles southwest of Mercersburg. They were members of the Lowest West Conococheague Church at Welsh Run. William McCune, II, and wife had issue:

(VII.) William George Phelps was b. May 29, 1872 in Troy Twp., Ashland County, Ohio. As a youth he attended an ungraded school until he reached the age of 16. With good teachers in English grammar he qualified for latin in the Oberlin High School where he was graduated. He then entered Oberlin University from which in 1897 he received the B. S. degree. The years of 1901 and 1902 were spent in Princeton University where he received the Master of Arts degree. With further study at the University of Michigan, Cornell University, University of Chicago and the American Academy in Rome, Italy, he was well qualified for his teaching experience which extended over a number of years.

After travelling two summers in Europe he returned to the States and began active work teaching Latin and Greek in Red River Valley University, Wahpeton, N. D. In 1899 he taught in Pennington Seminary, Pennington, N. J. In 1908 to 1923 he was an instructor in the Terrill School for Boys, Dallas, Texas. For the next score of years, from 1923 to 1943, he was a Professor of classics and German in Centenary College, Shreveport, La. He retired from active work in 1947.

Excerpt from the New Orleans Christian Advocate:

"Coming to Centenary in 1923 as head of the department of Classical Languages and Literatures, Professor William G. Phelps has through the years held a high place in the esteem of faculty and students. As needed, he has also taught courses in German and history. His fine influence has reached far beyond the bounds of Centenary campus. Always ready to give his influence and efforts to any cause for the good of his fellows, he has been the speaker at many high school graduation exercises, and though not a minister, he has preached many lay sermons in churches in Shreveport area and beyond.

William George Phelps, author and educator,

"Prof. Phelps' high scholarship is evidenced by his membership in numerous societies and associations and in the excellence of his literary publications. Both Prof. and Mrs. Phelps are members and fervent workers in the Broadmoor Methodist Church of Shreveport. They have one son, William B. Phelps, who is a 1927 graduate of Centenary and is now an attorney in Shreveport.

"The place occupied by Prof. Phelps, in the estimation of those who have known him in his years of service at Centenary, is best expressed by one who was associated with him during that time. 'It can be truly said of Professor Phelps that he is a scholar, a teacher and a Christian gentleman'."

Mr. Phelps is a teacher of the Men's Bible Class in the Noel Memorial Methodist Church in Shreveport. He has done outstanding work in the field of literature, having written a number of pamphlets and booklets. "The Glory That Was Greece"; two Roman papers: "The Grandeur That Was Rome" and "The Human Cicero." "Three Roman Poets and Their Messages (Vergil, Horace, Juvenal)."

Mr. Phelps has been signally honored by the Eugene Field Society and the International Mark Twain Society in conferring on him honorary membership for outstanding work in the field of letters.

The Humphrey Line

(We are indebted to Miss Clara G. Mark of Westerville, Ohio, for much of the following data).

The Humphreys claim descent from a Norman Knight who came to England with William the Conqueror and that the name originated from the French "homme vrai," true man.

I. David Humphrey Sr. was of Scotch-Irish descent. He was a pioneer who came to America from the north of Ireland with his wife, thought to have been a Miss Houston, and landed in the Panhandle region of Virginia.

The branch of the family of which David was a member lived in Wales for a time, then drifted to the North of Ireland where they mingled with the Scotch-Irish and inter-married with them.

David Humphrey and wife set sail for America with two children: George, born December 19, 1749, and Robert, an infant. They stayed but a short time in Virginia as from an early record we find their next child, John, was born in 1752 in Chester County, Pa., near the New London Cross Roads. Later the family came to Franklin Home built by Matthias Maris, on farm formerly owned by David Humphrey, Sr.

County where David Humphrey Sr. bought a farm in the "Corner" in Peters Twp. Here David, Jr., was born in 1757.

David Humphrey and family were faithful members of the church at Slate Hill (Seceder) and they were very strict in the observance of the Sabbath. Their son, George, years later, in a letter to a cousin, tells how they spent the day. "We had to go to church almost every Sabbath and as we did not have horses enough for all to ride, us younger had to walk seven miles and sit to hear two long sermons and walk home again and sit down to learn our catechism and not allowed to go outside the yard on the Sabbath except through necessity." (Members carried their lunch with them and ate it at the spring which was near by, then attended the second long service in the afternoon).

David Humphrey lived many years in the Corner section having purchased a farm near the Claylick Mountain from Andrew and Robert Lower. His neighbors were Thomas Sellers and Alexander Wilson. The fine old limestone mansion on this farm was built by Matthias Maris in the early 1800's. It is one of the outstanding homes in the Corner. A spring of clear sparkling water partially surrounded by great rocks is across the road from the house. This Maris spring was a well known spot at the time he owned the farm and the name Maris Spring continued for a number of years as is disclosed by the following: Rev. Robert Anderson (whose early life was spent in the Corner) at an advanced age wrote his sister living in the vicinity of Mercersburg, and in a reminiscent mood told of early happenings which left an indelible impression on his young mind, one of which was the accidental death of Will Roberts at the summer house at Maris Spring.

After the death of David Humphrey Sr., the farm came into the possession of David Humphrey Jr. and his wife, Nancy. After they had lived on the farm for a number of years it was sold to James Dodds and wife. While Mr. Webber was owner the Leonard Fritz family was its occupants. Later it was known as the Adam Hoke farm. Today the owners are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spangler of Mercersburg.

David Humphrey served in the Revolutionary War in the Continental Line. (Penna. Arch. Fifth Series, Vol. 4, p. 628, (Cumberland County). He was an Indian Trader December 5, 1776 (Fifth Ser. Penna. Arch. Vol. I, p. 375). His will is recorded in the courthouse in Chambersburg, Pa.

WILL OF DAVID HUMPHREYS

In the name of God, Amen. This 5th day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety, I, David Humphreys of Montgomery Township in Franklin County being considerably advanced in years and frail in body, but of sound and perfect mind and understanding, blessed be God, and calling to mind the mortality of my body, and that it is appointed for men once to die, to make, ordain and constitute, and appoint this to be my last will and testament, and that in manner and form following, and first, I commend my soul into the hands of Almighty God., Who gave it, and my body to the earth to be buried in decent and Christian burial, at the discretion of my executors, herein after named, and as touching such worldly estate where-with it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, devise, and bequeath of it in the following manner and way I allow all my just debts and funeral charges to be paid as soon as possible after my decease, by my son David Humphreys.

Item, I leave and bequeath to my son David Humphreys the whole of my real estate and also my personal estate, except such articles as are in here-after mentioned and bequeathed to others to have and to hold to him, and his heirs and assigns forever, he paying the several legacies here-in-after devised and left to the rest of my children.

Bequeath to my son George Humphreys the sum of twenty pounds in gold or silver money.

To Son Robert—Thirty pounds.

To Son John—Thirty-four pounds.

To Son William—Horse, saddle and bridle, all his wearing apparel, his watch, and what bonds he has for money due him and the lands he has located or surveyed in Kentucky and thirty pounds.

Oliver Anderson and Jane his wife, ten shillings and to their three children, now living, twenty-nine pounds, ten shillings, to be divided equally amongst them, the money to be put to interest, when paid as is here-in-after divided, and reserved for them until they arrive at years of discretion, and if any of them are called away by death in childhood, the survivor, or survivors to have the share of the deceased.

Daughter Ann, my bay filly, now about two years old, and her saddle and bridle, her bed and bedding, all her wearing apparel, her spinning wheel, all my cupboard furniture, half of my dresser furniture and half of my kitchen furniture, and also fifty-five pounds in gold or silver money, to be paid by my son David, but I would be understood in the item as not meddling with anything brought to the house by my daughter-in-law, Nancy, who married my son David.

Respecting a house and lot raised by my son David in the town of Mercersburg, part of the expenses of which was at my cost, it is my will that my son David pay thirty-five pounds, like money as above, and them to have, hold and occupy and possess the same without interruption to have and to hold to him, and his heirs and assigns forever.

As touching John Williams, an aged and helpless man that has been in the family for sometime past, it is my will that my son David support him in some degree of decency for the full term of four years, after my decease if he lives so long, and should he live longer than that, and become very troublesome, it is my will that all my other sons before named to contribute equally for his support and that when he dies, my son David bury him in decency.

I recommend it to my daughter Ann, while she is single and unmarried, to live with her brother David, and it is my will that while she remains with him, he shall not bring any charge against her for her support.

I recommend to all the before mentioned legatees to rest content with the above distributions of my worldly substance, and that none raise any cavil to the detriment, hurt, damage or peace of the rest.

Item. Last, I do hereby authorize, ordain and constitute and appoint my well beloved son David Humphreys before named, and my son-in-law Oliver Anderson, before named, my whole and sole executors of this my last will and testament.

Witnesses,

James Boyle

John Davis
