Dedication

THIS BOOK IS DEDICATED TO

Lucy Wright Smith, my great-great grandmother

and to

Millie Smith Anderson, my great grandmother

and to

Lucy Wright Anderson Boozer, my grandmother

and to

Millie Smith Boozer Wilson, my mother

Foreword

History was my favorite subject in school, and family history always fascinated me. My mother and grandmother encouraged this by relating family stories to me and by passing on to me many notes and records on the family.

My mother was often consulted by various relatives as to who and where the kinfolks were. She had over 90 first cousins and was able to tell you something about each.

The family of my grandmother, Lucy Anderson, was quite an unusual one in that the father and mother of the home, Captain George and Amelia Smith Anderson were the parents of sixteen children. It furnished eleven sons to the Confederate Army. This fact was published in the newspapers of the time.

As one of the relatives put it, "Our ancestors seemed to be hard working substantial folks who did whatever they could to be of service and lived useful lives in an unspectacular way. They spent little time in writing about themselves and recording their deeds for posterity." They seemed to need some one to write down their names and some things that they had accomplished for future generations to pursue. Therefore, I have decided to be their spokesman.

I wish to express thanks to all the relatives who have furnished information and who have co-operated so splendidly to make this history possible. I especially wish to thank Paul Anderson of Anniston, Alabama, for his contribution of material from his extensive research on the family, and Thomas C. Anderson, the patriarch of the family at 92 years of age, for his information and moral support, and to his son J. Perrin Anderson and his wife for their valuable assistance.

In an ordinary book there are usually not very many characters, but in this family history there are about two thousand. It has been somewhat of a task to assemble the information about each. If there should be a mistake in your family information, I ask that you remember that it was not intentional, and correct it on the margin of the page. I have really enjoyed the work I have done—my contacts with the fine kinsfolk—and I hope they all enjoy the book.

A History of the
ANDERSON FAMILY

The Andersons

The Anderson family was one of the older families known in Europe in ancient times. Its members eventually going to England, Scotland, Ireland and the Scandinavian Countries were said to be in line of descent from William the Conqueror.

These Andersons being an independent and freedom loving people, changed their dwelling places to escape intolerance, tyranny and, often, persecution, some even braving the unknown and crossing the Atlantic to the new country of America. They had heard that there was more tolerance, more room and better opportunities there.

Some of the Andersons came to New Jersey and Pennsylvania where they were guaranteed equal rights and civil and religious liberty. Some families remained here while others went further on into the country of Virginia. When land Warrants began to be sold in 1736, many emigrated still further south into Tennessee, Kentucky, and the Carolinas.

There were Andersons living in South Carolina at a very early date; some settling in what is now Spartanburg County, some in Edgefield some in the Chester Area, some in old Pendleton District near the present town of Anderson. This town was named for Col. Robert Anderson, brother of Capt. James and son of John Anderson. From the similarity of family names and family characteristics, it is very probable that many of these Anderson families were related.

As the colonies became engaged in war with England, the first regiment organized in Craven County, South Carolina, had Captain David Anderson as officer. In reports of militia on duty in camp at Ninety Six on November 19, 1775, there were names of Robert and John Anderson. There were many other Andersons serving their new country, among them Maj. George Anderson who was made captain of the regiment raised between the Broad and Saluda Rivers, and who lost a leg in the Battle of Kings Mountain.

After the Revolution, many families moved into new parts of the state. There are many records of deeds for exchange or sale of land on file in the various court houses of our present towns.

The first ancestors of the Waterloo Anderson families settled first, in the lower part of old Laurens District on the Broad and Saluda Rivers, but after the Revolution moved to the upper part of the district where they received land grants. To quote from the notes of Matty Anderson Cauthen; "Among Grandfather George Andersons (of Waterloo, S. C.) papers were two grants of land documents. He had been executor for an uncle, and I feel sure that they were from his papers that they came into George's hands. He gave them to his eldest son William Lewis, my father. He, in turn gave them to his sons. The one made out to "William" to my brother Will; the one to "George" to brother George M. The only boundary place that we could identify was "DeWitts Corner". We know that was the old name for Due West, S. C. Some of their descendants are still living in this vicinity while others moved to Georgia and Alabama and have become responsible citizens of these states. Still other descendants are found as far west as Arkansas and Texas.

The Andersons were a thrifty, God fearing people who were above the average in intellect and integrity. Among their descendants have been many who have contributed much to the stamina and progress of the state of South Carolina and of the nation.

James Anderson

James Anderson was the first proven ancestor of the Anderson family of old Laurens District, South Carolina. According to family tradition James was the son of John Anderson of Scotland and was probably born before his parents came to America.

The first record that we have of James Anderson is a deed recorded in Deed Book I, page 304, at Cumberland County, Virginia, and dated March 1, 1747. The deed was from Alex Spalding, John Lidderdale, Samuel Gordon and conveyed to James Anderson of Lunenburg County, Virginia, 504 acres land on Ward Fork, part of a larger tract of land containing 16,993 acres. Receipt recorded by Sam Gordon, April 4, 1747.

A deed is on file in the court house at Charlotte County, Virginia, dated March 16, 1768, in which William Anderson sold to John Caldwell 224 acres of land on Ward's Creek "where Anderson at this time lives" part of a tract of land deeded in 1755, and 1758, to William Anderson by James Anderson. Also Lunenburg County, Virginia, Deed Book 5 page 205, April 4, 1758, James Anderson of Lunenburg County, Virginia, to William Anderson 150 acres on Wards Creek.

A deed was personally inspected by Paul Anderson at Richmond Court House, Richmond, Virginia, in 1960, in which James Anderson and wife Margaret sold land on Wards Fork in Lunenburg County, to George Clark in 1753. From this deed it is ascertained that the wife of James Anderson was named Margaret.

James Anderson and his wife Margaret were parents of a large family. Some of these sons and daughters lived and died in Virginia, but several sons and daughters are known to have emigrated to South Carolina in the 1700's.

James Anderson himself left Lunenburg County, Virginia, (later Charlotte County) about 1768, and journeyed to the old Ninety Six District of South Carolina, where he first settled near the junction of the forks of Bush River near the village of Joanna, several miles south of Clinton, South Carolina. On March 1, 1768, James Anderson had a precept for 250 acres, a plot for which was certified March 20, 1768, in Berkley County on Bush Creek and the land was granted December 1, 1769, 1 H. C. Colonial. His land adjoined that of Charles Saxon, James Burnside and John Hunter. Also nearby were the Young and Middleton families. Several of James' children joined him here, his daughters marrying neighbors. Agnes married Alexander Hamilton, Rebecca married Robert Young, Sarah married John Miller. Anne had married Ainsworth Middleton. James' sons George, Andrew, and William received grants nearby.

Soon after the Revolution, in which the family of James Anderson took part as we shall see later, James and several of his children moved to another part of the district and received land grants in the upper Saluda and Reedy River area in what is now Laurens County. William, the eldest son of James, received a grant on Reedy River between Raeburne Creek and Long Lick for 400 acres on July 8, 1774. Andrew also received a grant nearby George first settled near, but seeing advantage to be gained by trading one piece of land for another, finally settled near the present town of Anderson, South Carolina, where he died.

James Anderson made a will dated May 18, 1782, in Ninety Six District, South Carolina. In it he mentions sons William, George, and Andrew and sons-in-law Ainsworth Middleton, Robert Young, James Young, John Miller, and Alexander Hamilton. This will was probated May 6, 1783, at old Ninety Six District. When the Capitol was changed from Cambridge official documents were removed and are now on file at the court house, Abbeville, South Carolina. The will of James Anderson is found in Box 105, Pack 2588.

He served in the Revolutionary War. He may have been married more than once, but it is known that his last wife was Molly Cobb, believed to be the daughter of Robert Cobb whose will was filed in Halifax County, Virginia in 1769, naming Molly as a daughter.

William and Molly Cobb Anderson settled near what is now the town of Waterloo in Laurens County on the waters of Longlick Creek and Reedy River where he owned a large body of land. He died in Laurens in 1798; his widow in 1810. Molly Anderson's will is on file in Laurens, South Carolina. William Anderson received a land grant here of 400 acres on July 8, 1774.

A GREAT TEACHER PASSES

Prof. Thomas A. Anderson

"It is impossible adequately to estimate the influence that is exercised by a man who has given his life to the teaching profession for more than half a century but it is an indisputable fact that there are men and women all over the United States today who will feel a sense of personal loss on hearing of the death Friday morning of Professor Thomas A. Anderson, principal of the Oxford City Schools. Professor Anderson was graduated from the Oxford College that was made famous by the late John L. Dodson. He received his

A. B. degree in 1884 and it seems that the mantle of his great preceptor must have fallen on his shoulders, as Mr. Anderson unquestionably carried on his educational work in the best of Dodson tradition. But Thomas A. Anderson was not merely an outstanding teacher; he was likewise an outstanding citizen. He gave unstintingly of his time to his community, his church and his God. He was faithful to his trust to the very last day of his life and he is deserving of the rich reward that goes to all those who live a good life."

MAJOR GEORGE ANDERSON

● Major George Anderson, son of James and Margaret Anderson, was born in Virginia. He was married three times. First to a Miss Anderson who lived but a short time, and second to Miss Mary Lewis who became the mother of a son, David Lewis Anderson, on April 9, 1764. This event took place in Halifax County, Virginia, according to the pension claim of David Lewis Anderson on file in Washington, D. C. A page from the family Bible record of Robert W. Anderson, great grandson of George Anderson, confirms the fact of his marriage to Miss Lewis, mother of David Lewis Anderson. This page is headed "Grandparents" and states as follows:

"My father's grandmother was a Lewis, sister of Dickson H.,
Joel, and William Lewis.

My father's mother was Rachel Wade.

My father's father was David Anderson.

Our grandmother on Mothers side was Lucy Wright.

Our grandfather on Mothers side was William Smith."

This Bible is now in possession of Robert LeRoy Anderson of Travelers Rest, South Carolina, a grandson of Robert W. Anderson.

After the death of his second wife, George Anderson left Virginia, and taking his small son, David Lewis, with him, joined his father, James Anderson, and brothers William and Andrew, in Laurens District, South Carolina.

These Anderson families lived first in the Bush River section of the county, a few miles below the present town of Clinton, South Carolina, where George Anderson had a precept for 200 acres in the fork of Bush River on February 2, 1768, (1 H. C. Colonial). The council certified these plots September 4, 1770. On March 2, 1773, George Anderson had a warrant for 400 acres, a plot for which was certified June 4, 1773, granted June 23, 1774, sold to George Norwood, August 14, 1775.

The Andersons had as neighbors the Saxon family. Molly Saxon, daughter of Charles Saxon and his wife, Judith, and sister of Major Lewis Saxon, became the third wife of George Anderson on July 13, 1773, according to the George Anderson Family Bible which was in possession of Mrs. Sadie Knight of Talladega, Ala. a great great granddaughter, at the time of her death in 1958. Molly Saxon was born September 29, 1756, died October 31, 1825.

When war broke out between the colonies and the mother country George Anderson was among the first to enlist. Record from the War Department, 1920: "The records of this office show that one George Anderson, rank not stated, served in the War of the Revolution, as a member of the 5th South Carolina Regiment. He enlisted July 20, 1776. . . It does not appear from records of this office that any other man of that name served in the War from that area." Information of military service contained in Vol. 9, page 8 of book copied from the National Archives, Washington, D. C.

George Anderson became captain of a militia company raised in Laurens, South Carolina. The account for payment for military services, "214 days as captain in the lower regiment between the Broad & Saluda Rivers." Document AA109-Acc. 668 Y is on file in the South Carolina Archives Department, Columbia, South Carolina. Also in the South Carolina Archives is account of "payment for two horses lost in the public service 1778."

A copy of a treasury indent certificate issued by the State of South Carolina to the estate of George Anderson for the sum of "ninety-one pounds fourteen shillings and three pence, sterling, for military duty as Captain of the Regiment in 1781, was signed by Molly Anderson in 1786. According to Erwin's History, Captain George Anderson was wounded while leading a charge in the Battle of Kings Mountain, resulting in the loss of a leg. He was promoted to the rank of Major during the battle. His name is inscribed on the roll of honor of the museum on the site of the Battle of King's Mountain.

The following Revolutionary Record is copied from George Anderson's Bible: "George Anderson served under Gen. Nathaniel Greene. He enlisted from Laurens County South Carolina and was Captain of a militia company raised in that district. His daring and brilliant achievements won for him the rank of Major. While leading a charge in a desperate battle of King's Mt. (October 7, 1780) he was most severely wounded, resulting in the loss of a leg. So intense was his loyalty for the cause for which he fought, that his twelve year old son, David Anderson, was placed on the altar of his country and enlisted under his father, doing valiant service for which he afterward received a pension from the Government claim, which was filed and allowed in 1832, claim made from Laurens County, South Carolina."

George Anderson had begun swapping and selling land as early as August 14, 1775, when he sold 400 acres to George Norwood which had been granted to him on June 23, 1774. After the close of the Revolutionary War he continued this practice, there being numerous records of transfers of land by him. There are surveys of land recorded by him at Anderson, South Carolina, of lands in Ninety Six District, Pendleton and Stevens Creek Districts as late as 1800. That he continued this practice of land selling until a short while before his death is evidenced by the following extract from his will which was made in Ninety Six District in 1807. "Also I give them (the executors) full power to make good rights to all lands I have sold, and the rights not yet made by me."

After the Revolution, Major George Anderson moved to old Pendleton District, which has since become Anderson County, where he secured land on Hurricane and Beaverdam Creeks. He and Molly Saxon were the parents of thirteen children some of whom, and their descendants, remained in South Carolina, and some emigrated to Georgia and Alabama.

Major George Anderson died in old Pendleton District on May 28, 1808, and is buried in an old family cemetery not far from where Whitefield Baptist Church now stands, about eight miles from Anderson, South Carolina. His tomb is in fairly good condition.

Inscription on tombstone:

"Here lies the body of George Anderson Esq. who departed this life May 18, 1808, age 70 years."

His wife, Mary (Molly), survived him until October 31, 1825, when she died and was buried beside her husband.

COLONEL WILLIAM JACKSON ANDERSON

II. Colonel William Jackson Anderson was born in Anderson County, South Carolina, January 5, 1815; died Fort Valley, Georgia, March 8, 1890. He was the son of William R. and Anna Anderson of South Carolina, parents of 12 children, 6 sons and 6 daughters. He married first, Rebecca Carolina Hollingshead, born in South Carolina on March 18, 1826; died in Fort Valley, September 29, 1873. This marriage took place in Fort Valley, March 18, 1847. He married second, Cecilia Goodrich of Griffin, Georgia, who survived Colonel Anderson to whom she bore no children. This wife died August, 1905, and is buried in Griffin.

At the age of fourteen he went into Alabama, then an Indian nation, learning the Indian language and their art of wrestling. There in 1836, he crippled an arm and took up a mercantile business. At the age of twenty he came to Macon, Georgia, and joined Mulberry Street Methodist Church. He lost his possessions in Macon during the financial crash of 1838-1839, and moved to Fort Valley, less than thirty miles away, in 1840, poor and heavy in debt. He and his brother Charles D. became "merchants" in Fort Valley from 1850-1861.

Colonel William and his brother, General Charles D. Anderson, came to Fort Valley, Georgia in the early forties. They were men of affairs in the building of the town. They owned the first newspaper and did a mercantile and farming business on a large scale. Colonel William Anderson established the first bank. He lived on a splendid scale at the head of Anderson Avenue, which bears his name. His lands are still in possession of his family.

William J. perhaps because of his arm injury did not go to war; his title of Colonel is one of respect and honor, not military. After the war, the Anderson brothers shipped 150 bales of cotton saved from the wreckage to pay up the New York creditors of their former flourishing mercantile establishment in Fort Valley. Colonel Anderson was known in Fort Valley for his hospitality and his kindness to others. For over twenty-five years he served as superintendent of the Sunday School of the Fort Valley Methodist Church, where today there may be seen a beautiful stained glass window to his memory. His last illness was a protracted one of several months; he was regarded as one of the pioneer merchants and business men of Fort Valley. One of the principal streets of our town is named Anderson

Avenue in his honor and leads to the northern part of the town where stands the home in which he died and in which now lives his great grandson, William J. Wilson, the second one in the family to bear his name.

Surviving children at the death of Colonel Anderson:

- A. Walter Raleigh Anderson, born August 13, 1851; died July 12, 1892.
- B. James Beauregard Anderson, born March 15, 1859; died May 19, 1916.

"Colonel Styles visited Atlanta during May, 1868, for a conference with various democratic leaders. Finally, on June 9, he announced that he had obtained the financial backing of an Atlanta business man, James H. Anderson and had bought the material, good will, and business of the "Daily Opinion" . . . Associated with Styles as business manager was Anderson's son-in-law, William A. Hemphill, who had come to Atlanta from Athens in 1867, as a school teacher. All the newspaper experience was vested in Styles, Anderson being a commission merchant. Before the year was out (1868) Colonel Styles was in financial straits. Unable to find a buyer for his newspaper, he surrendered his interest to his partner, Anderson, who placed his son-in-law, Hemphill, in charge. Whereupon the name of the firm was changed to "W. A. Hemphill and Company". The newspaper, "Daily Opinion", later became the Atlanta Constitution.

JAMES ANDERSON

—James Anderson, son of Major George and Molly Saxon Anderson, was born December 3, 1780. He married Nancy Saxon (September 20, 1784-February 12, 1801) and moved to Georgia where he was one of the first settlers of De Kalb County. He served as county surveyor from January 9, 1826 to January 10, 1835. James Anderson moved to the new county of Cobb in 1833, apparently while still holding office as surveyor in De Kalb County. There he made the original survey for the town of Marietta and erected the first house in the village, a log dwelling on what is now Church Street, just north of St. James Episcopal Church.

James Anderson was named as one of the first commissioners of Marietta, Georgia by the act of December 19, 1834.

GEORGE DAVID ANDERSON

(Son of the Rev. William Dickson Anderson)

(Remarks by the Reverend Paul A. Turner at the funeral of George D. Anderson)

Col. George Anderson, born September 2, 1867, was a son of one of Cobb County's most distinguished families. He was the son of the Rev. Wm. D. Anderson, who served this Church (First Methodist) as Sunday School Superintendent, Steward, Pastor, and Presiding Elder. He was the grandson of George D. Anderson, a pioneer judge of the Blue Ridge Circuit, and the great grandson of James Anderson, a civil engineer who laid out the city of Marietta in 1833.

Col. Anderson was a brilliant lawyer and a member of the Blue Ridge Bar Association. He served his county and city in many different places, always serving capably and honorably.

This family has been one of Cobb County's most devoted Church families. This Church has been blessed for a great many years by their loyal and devoted service. Col. George had been a member of this Church for more than fifty years, had been a steward and was a trustee at the time of his death. He taught a Sunday School class for more than twenty years.

He was the very embodiment of the virtues and graces of unselfishness and patience. A spirit of humility and deep reverence characterized every act of his life. To serve his God, his country and his people was the very passion of his life. It is no surprise that such a man was greatly loved.

His going is a great loss to us, but what is our loss is Heaven's gain. In speaking of Col. Anderson people have said: "he was a brilliant man, he was a great man", but most of all, "he was a good man".

"Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past,
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last."

June 6, 1954.

WILLIAM DICKSON ANDERSON

President of Bibb Manufacturing Company, Macon, Ga.

(Son of Rev. William Dickson Anderson)
(Excerpts from Textile Bulletin — December 1953)

"Occasionally within the arena of human affairs there appears a man whose massiveness of intellect, magnanimity of soul, and power of personality so outstrip those of his contemporaries that even the most ambitious of other men know instinctively that he is the man that they must follow."

Conversation with the people of Macon, Ga., will lead one to believe that such a man has lived among them for the past 58 years. Certainly, if a man's attributes can be measured by the number of other lives he has favorably affected, the record of William Dickson Anderson, chairman of the board of Bibb Mfg. Co., will be a hard one with which to compete. How many lives have been touched by Bibb Mfg. Co., Wesleyan College, and Vineville Methodist Church, to name just three organizations in Macon for which Mr. Anderson has worked, would be impossible to compute. And who would attempt to measure the contribution Mr. Anderson has made to the present size and effectiveness of those organizations.

With all his aggressiveness, however, he is by nature kind and sympathetic with others' problems."

"With all of his ideals, W. D. Anderson is a businessman, as the strong, sound position of The Bibb today testifies. In fact, the story of the growth of the company. It is as if, in attaining his own tremendous stature throughout the industry, W. D. Anderson attained the same stature for Bibb Mfg. Co. As the board of directors of The Bibb expressed it when honoring him in 1948 after 50 years' service, "His lengthening shadow measured the growth of Bibb."

"Today, The Bibb contains within its organization plants at Macon, Columbus, Porterdale, and Reynolds, Ga., with a total spindleage of 238,918, and looms numbering 3,086. A variety of products are manufactured, including a large variety of twines and cord, many different types of yarns, and such specialty products as chafer fabrics, cord tire fabrics, crochet cotton, filler cord, heat resistant cords, industrial fabrics, print cloth, sheetings and others. The company's publication, The Story of Cotton, points out that the greatest proportion of The Bibb's production "is on yarns and fabrics made to the special requirements of our customers to serve as their raw material for further manufacturing."

"Next to his service with The Bibb, work of Colonel Anderson that is best known is that which he and Mrs. Anderson did for Wesleyan College, and it is a pretty well established fact that the two of them are largely responsible for the existence of the institution today. They were influential in having Wesleyan build a new campus during the late 1920s, and in 1928, the school was moved. The financial crash of 1929 left the college without funds with which to pay the debt it had incurred during its building period, and for a time it seemed that the institution would close its doors. But Bill and Linda McKinney Anderson pitched in to raise the money to pay the debt. Their fund-raising was a success, and because of it, Wesleyan is today a debt-free and thriving college for women, the oldest chartered college of its kind in the world.

Even as recently as 1947, Colonel Anderson was working for Wesleyan. He personally gave the school $100,000. The Bibb gave $100,000, and Mr. Anderson was influential in getting a gymnasium and dining room contributed to the school. At the north end of the dining room, there is a plaque which reads: "This room is dedicated in appreciation of the distinguished leadership of William Dickson Anderson who, with rare ability and a faith that would not be denied, rallied the friends of Wesleyan and insured its continuation as the first college for women." At the south end of the dining room a plaque reads: "This room is dedicated in all honor and with lasting gratitude to Linda McKinney Anderson who, in the nobility of her own spirit, inspired the alumnae by giving to her alma mater her best in loyalty, devotion and heroic service." The Colonel retired as chairman of Wesleyan's board of directors in 1949.

"On January 15, 1948, W. D. Anderson had served for half a century with The Bibb.

JUDGE DAVID LEWIS ANDERSON

— David Lewis Anderson was born in Halifax County, Virginia in 1764, the son of George and Mary Lewis Anderson. His mother died while he was young and his father emigrated to Laurens District in South Carolina, bringing his young son with him. They settled first on Saluda River and later, near George's brothers, William and Andrew Anderson, near the present town of Waterloo. When the Revolutionary War broke out, David Lewis' father enlisted. He was captain of a company of rangers raised in Laurens District. So great was the patriotism of father and son, that the young David Lewis, a lad of fourteen, enlisted under his father.

David Lewis Anderson married Rachel Wade in 1788 and they were the parents of six children, two of whom died before they reached one year of age. A third child, Dr. Wade Anderson, young physician, died at the age of twenty-eight, leaving his wife, Maria Stobo James, and three young children. These three children were specifically provided for in the will of their grandfather, David Lewis Anderson. A tract of land was also deeded to them on November 10, 1832. (Deed on file at Laurens County Court House.) Judge David Lewis Anderson had three other children to reach maturity, George, Joel and Mary Lewis Anderson. The latter of whom became the wife of Turner Richardson, and after his death, wife of John McPhail.

In 1800, David Lewis Anderson became one of the first, if not the first, Judges of the Court of Ordinance of Historic Laurens District and continued in this office for over thirty years. His signature is to be found on numberless documents at the Laurens County Court House at the present time. He was always referred to as "Judge Anderson."

Judge Anderson owned a large amount of land in and around the present town of Waterloo. According to his will, (copy attached) some of the boundaries of his land were: Reedy River, Rabun Creek, Longlick Creek, and lands of Thomas Lockhart, John Middleton and Joseph Crocker. The portion of land left to his son Joel alone contained over 500 acres. According to the 1790 census of Laurens County, his land adjoined that of his uncles, William and Andrew Anderson.

Judge David Lewis Anderson died April 26, 1836 and was buried near the family homestead. This burying ground is found by taking a right turn at Dr. Fennel's old home in the town of Waterloo and proceeding along "Todds Quarter's" road, passing in front of the Captain George Anderson house, across Longlick Creek, to the top of the hill beyond the creek where a hard surfaced road turns to the right. The cemetery is in a small patch of woods on the right near the old home site which can be identified by fallen chimneys and some shrubbery. The graves are overgrown with honeysuckle, etc. Judge Anderson's wife, Rachel Wade, who died April 28, 1832 at the age of 73 years, is buried there, as well as her young children and son, Dr. Wade Anderson.

Judge Anderson's tombstone was broken by a falling tree years ago and was brought to the home of his grandson, Benjamin Anderson, for repairs. It was then placed in the Waterloo Cemetery by the grave of his son, Captain George Anderson, where it may be seen at the present time.

According to the pension claim of David Lewis Anderson, No. 36515, on file in the National Archives Building in Washington, D. C., he enlisted in 1778 as an ensign in a company of rangers serving under Lieutenant James Middleton, Captain Lewis Saxon, Captain Weaver, Major John Williams, Colonel Casey. Quoting from the inscription on his tombstone at Waterloo, South Carolina, "At the age of about sixteen years, he joined in with the brave spirits then struggling for freedom, in which service he continued until the close of the Revolutionary War — a period of three years." During this period of service he fought in the Battle of Ninety-Six. A number of his descendants still live in and near the town of Ninety-Six where the outline of the Old Star Fort of Revolutionary fame is still clearly visible.

Children of Judge David Lewis Anderson and Rachel Wade:

Will of Judge David Lewis Anderson, February 28, 1836;
On File at Laurens Court House, Laurens, South Carolina
In the Name of God Amen:

I David Anderson of Laurens District and State of South Carolina; knowing that it is appointed for all men to die, do make and ordain this my last will and testament revoking all others by me made, ratifying this and no other, to be my last will and testament in manner and form following (to wit):

First, after my death my Executors hereafter named, shall proceed to collect all monies now or hereafter due me, and discharge all and lawful debts that I may owe.

Secondly, as I have given to my children both real and personal property, and after my death there shall be no account of said property or any accounts of the same among my said children, as I have made my last endeavour to make them equal, which I give to them and their heirs forever.

Thirdly, I give and bequeath unto my grandchildren, the three children of my son Wade, deceased, one note I have at interest on Thomas Lockhart for one thousand dollars, and I direct that the trustees for said children hereafter named collect the same and put it out to interest to the best advantage. Also I direct my executors to pay the sum of two thousand dollars one year after my death to the said children equally, to be put at interest by George Anderson, and Turner Richardson, which I appoint trustees for said children until arrive at lawful age or marry, to be secured by personal and real estate. In case one or more of said grandchildren should die without issue, the survivor or survivors shall have said deceased estate, and if it should happen that all three of them should die without issue, then to return to my three children, George, Joel, and Mary Richardson, and their lawful heirs. The said grandchildren are not to have any of my Negro property remaining at my death, nor cash or other security for money or monies in anywise due me. It is further my desire that my grandson, David Anderson, son of Wade Anderson, deceased, should have a good education to fit him for any calling he may choose, and the aforesaid trustees are hereby empowered to apply the interest of the above specified legacies for that purpose until his two sisters arrive at lawful age or marry if so much be necessary.

Fourthly, I give and bequeath unto my son, George Anderson, one-third part of all my stock of all kinds, one-third part of my household and kitchen furniture, and one-third part of all my Negro property, and one-fourth part of all my land that I have not specifically disposed of to him, his heirs and assigns forever, and one-third part of all my estate not specifically disposed of.

Sixthly, I give and bequeath unto my daughter Mary L. Richardson, one-third part of all my stock of all kinds, one-third part of my household and kitchen furniture and plantation tools, and one-third part of all my Negro property, and one-fourth part of all my land not specifically disposed of to her and her heirs and assigns forever, also, one-third part of all my estate not specifically disposed of.

Seventhly, I give and bequeath to my son, Joel Anderson and as I have not deeded to him any lands, I give him the land I now live on, with the appertainances thereunto attached, bounded as follows: beginning at a corner on the branch on lands I have given to my son George Anderson, thence down said line until it comes to the old road on George's line to a corner black oak to Long Lick Creek, thence up said Creek to Thomas Lockhart's corner and said George Anderson's, thence along Thomas Lockhart's line to a stake corner, thence down George Anderson's line to a stake corner of my own line, and the land purchased of Aaron Shearly, thence to a spring on Raibins Creek where it will intersect with the land I purchased of the Wright's, thence crossing the said Creek along the Wright's land until it comes near the wagon road to hickory station, thence a straight line to a hickory that stands near a large gate and Raibins Creek bridge, from thence to the Creek, thence down said Creek to the mouth on Reedy River, thence down said River until it comes to the corner of Wright's land, thence along the Wright's line and land I have deeded to my three grandchildren, the children of my son Wade, deceased, to a pine corner, thence along said line deeded to my grandchildren, to the Armstrong's line, then along said line to Long Lick Creek, thence up said Creek to the wagon road, thence along said road to land formerly belonging to John Middleton, thence along said Middleton's land to a branch, a dividing line between myself and Joseph Crocker, to the beginning corner supposed to be five hundred acres more or less; one-third part of all my stock of all kinds, household and kitchen furniture, plantation tools, and one-third part of my Negro property as specifically pointed out hereafter, and also one-fourth part of all my land not disposed of at my death.

Sam and Mance and her present and future offspring are to be appraised to M. L. Richardson and George Anderson, and they are to hold and possess said slaves at said valuation and the heirs of their body lawfully begotten, not to be sold or traded, and they are to account to the said Joel Anderson for one-third of the appraisements thereof, on an equal division of all the Negroes, and a third part of my cash and other securities for money.

And as I have not given my grandchildren by this my last will any interest in my Negro property, they are not to contribute anything toward paying my debts that may come against me. And as I have loaned to my two sons and my son-in-law Turner Richardson, sums of money for which I hold their notes, for all (except Lockharts note) other notes, dues and demands, after my debts are paid, the whole is to be equally divided among the three in an equal ratio (to wit) George and Joel Anderson and Mary L. Richardson.

Eighthly, I request and will that my Negroes may be divided as near as can be by families and appraised as such, and each of the three legatees to choose an appraiser and each said named distributors to draw an equal share. And as I own one old Negro woman which has been a faithful servant, she is to have her choice of which of my three children she will live with, and she is to be supported well during her life and with which of my children she lives with the other two are to contribute annually to a decent support. The said Negro is called Old Milly.

Ninethly, I do nominate constitute and appoint my two sons, George and Joel Anderson and Turner Richardson my sole executors of this my last will and testament.

Given under my hand and seal this twenty eighth day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty six and in the sixteenth year of American Independence.

She married Col. Turner Richardson on May 22, 1816. Mrs. Charles J. F. Its myriads of tiny stitches are a wonder to behold. Col. Turner Richardson was a prominent citizen of old Laurens District, being state senator from that district for several years. He was born in 1787 and died May 18, 1838 at the age of 51 years. He is buried in an old family cemetery near Whitefield Baptist Church on Highway 29 about six miles from Anderson, South Carolina. ## “PAPA’S COUSIN DAVE (ANDERSON)”

“The Wade Anderson who was David’s son and Papa’s uncle had a son that was about Papa’s age named Dave. He lived and died at ‘Laurens Court House’. When I went to conference there in 1909, I met him, a jolly old man, long retired from his medical practice.

All the reminiscences of my father’s school days at Cokesburg Manual Labor School, South Carolina College, and the Medical College of South Carolina, center around Dave’s witticisms and boyish pranks.”

Born Nov. 27, 1863. She was named for her Mother's sister.

Married Dec. 10, 1884 to Robert Alexander Austin of Cross Hill, S. C.

Alexander was the third child of Dr. Robert Campbell and Jane Thompson Austin. In 1882 Alexander had a spell of malarial fever and was sent to Lisbon, S. C., to recuperate. He stayed in the home of his family's friend, Dr. David Anderson. While there he fell in love with Katy. Katy was not well, but at the insistence of both, consent was given to their marriage. It was thought that the change to Cross Hill might be to her benefit.

Katy and Alexander were married Dec. 10, 1884. She was so weak that she could not stand alone but had to be supported for the ceremony. Their love was beautiful. Alex brought her to the Austin home, and began at once to build a cottage nearby. Each day Katy watched.

Instead of gaining strength she gradually weakened. Her father, Dr. Anderson came to see her often. Once, realizing her true and critical condition, he said, "Katy is like Moses, viewing the Promised Land, but she will never make it."

Katy fell asleep in Jesus April 1, 1885, age 21 years, 4 months and 4 days. She was married only three and a half months. She was taken home to the Nickles burying ground near Lisbon Church and there laid to rest.

Alexander married Clara Mills Nabers in Dec. 1887. Their first daughter was named Katy for Katy Anderson Austin, thus perpetuating the memory of one who was greatly loved by all who knew her.

The memory of Katy lingers still in the hearts of those who knew her. She was sweet and gentle, kind to all the children, and a true Christian.

Eighth, Should any dispute arise as to the division of my real and personal property I authorize my executors to call three disinterested persons who shall decide the same, and their decisions shall be final, and after such decision should any legatee herein carry the same to law he or she shall from that time lose the share of my estate herein left to him or her.

CAPTAIN GEORGE ANDERSON

I. George F. Anderson, son of Judge David Lewis and Rachel Wade Anderson was born in Laurens District June 5, 1797. He operated a mercantile business in the town of Waterloo and also a large farm bordering the town, which was tilled by the family slaves. He was captain of the state militia which was an important post at the time in which he lived, and was always known as "Captain George".

The Captain George Anderson house is still standing in the town of Waterloo and is owned by a great-grandson, Lindsay Fennel. It was landscaped with beautiful shrubbery especially boxwoods. Only one large magnolia and a few scattered shrubs remain today. George Anderson started this house before he married, moving into it about a month after this event. It was one of the largest homes in that part of the country, showing its builder's foresight as he and his wife were to rear sixteen children to maturity within its walls.

The old home had a remarkable record in that those sixteen children grew up in a house where there were generally other occupants as well—a school teacher or a clerk or two. There were no deaths in it until Captain George himself died at the age of 84.

The George Anderson house was the stopping place for stage coach travelers who stopped for dinner and to get fresh horses. The tired teams were cared for, and rested there until a return trip from North Carolina to Charleston. When the stage drew near the house, the driver blew a long blast on his horn and then made as many "toots" as there were passengers to eat.

George Anderson married Amelia (Millie) Smith May 20, 1820. She was a daughter of William and Lucy Wright Smith who emigrated from Virginia in 1794, and built the three-story brick mansion called "Stony Point" in 1795, about seven miles from the town of Greenwood near the intersection of Highway 246 and secondary road 39 (the old Laurens Road and the Cokesbury Coronaca Road.) The girlhood home of Millie Anderson was built of bricks made by the slaves of the plantation, held together with mortar made from sea shells rolled in a hogshead pulled from Charleston, by placing a rod through the center. This old house is still in a good state of preservation, the colors on the frescoed walls being still lovely and the secret stairway still intact. It is pictured as one of the fine old homes of the up country of South Carolina in the book, "Beneath So Kind

A Sky", by Carl Julian and Chapman Milling of the University of South Carolina. Millie Smith was the sister of John Skinner Smith who became widely known as one of the wealthiest men of the state, numbering his acres by the thousands and his slaves by the hundreds.

George Anderson and his wife Millie must have been remarkably parents, as it was no small job to rear sixteen children to maturity in those days of limited medical facilities even with the help of the house slaves. They had a married life of sixty-one years.

Amelia Anderson was known for her executive ability. There were those sixteen children, many slaves to manage and feed and clothe, the stage passengers, the school teacher and a clerk or two were generally a part of those for whom she planned meals.

She evidently loved beauty and had beautiful solid silver, lovely bedspreads, quilts and linens. A number of these articles, as well as pieces of furniture, are among the treasured possessions of her descendants today. It is said that when she was away at one time, one of the relatives decided to count the dresses she had not taken with her, and found the number impressive for those pre-sewing machine days. She was rather stout, as were many of her Smith relatives while her husband was a trim, rather small man.

A granddaughter, Matty Anderson Cauthen, wrote: "The children who grew up in this home were an undemonstrative lot. However, of those twelve men, not one was a drunkard or a man of low standards. They were strong men—Christians, and an asset to their community."

When the War Between the States broke out, eleven of these sons served in the Confederate Army. There is said to have been only one other case equal to this family of eleven sons in Confederate service. The oldest son, Dr. William Lewis Anderson, remained at home to serve the families of the soldiers. Only one of these sons, John W. Anderson, was fatally wounded during the war and was buried in West Virginia. The other ten sons returned safely.

A newspaper article of the time mentions the Captain George Anderson family as "among the most prominent and influential families of the country."

Captain Anderson was always active in civic and patriotic affairs, being a leader in his community and district. He was several times elected to the House of Representatives from Laurens District. The following is a copy of a check made to him from the treasurer of the Upper Division of the House of Representatives in 1864, and which is now in possession of two great granddaughters, Miss Mary and Ruth Boyd of Greenville, South Carolina. We do not know why the check was never cashed.

Captain George lived through the trying days of the Reconstruction, dying at the age of 84, August 8, 1881, from injuries received in a fall. He was buried in Waterloo Cemetery. His wife, Amelia (Millie) is buried beside her husband. Her nephew, Rev. James Smith of Spartanburg, conducted the funeral services. She died January 24, 1886.

OBITUARY OF MRS. AMELIA SMITH ANDERSON

ANDERSON—Mrs. Amelia Anderson, nee Smith, relict of Capt. Geo. Anderson, late of Waterloo, Laurens Co., S. C., was born at Stony Point, Abbeville, Co., S. C., Nov. 27, 1801, and died Jan. 24, 1886, in the home where she had given birth to and reared to manhood and womanhood, her sixteen children—twelve boys and four girls. A fact to be noted is, that after living together for upwards of 60 years and raising so large a family in the old homestead, my uncle was the first corpse and my aunt the second carried out of that house, each reaching to four score and five. She was a remarkable and model woman in many respects, First, in that she had raised to mature age and usefulness all these children. In the late fraternal strife, nine of her boys were on the "tented field" at one time, and all lived through the war and returned home except one, who was killed in the battle of Sharpsburg. Eleven of the boys were still living at the time of their mother's death, though scattered in different States. Second, in that she was methodical, practical and energetic, not only providing well for, but properly disciplining this large household, bringing to mind another and faithful exemplification of Solomon's virtuous woman—Prov. xxxi: 10-30. Third, in that she was one of the best of wives and mothers, because for about fifty years she had been an humble, devoted, Christian woman. In the formation of the first Methodist church in her neighborhood, she was enrolled among the few original members and gave of her means and influence to build up "Christianity in earnest" in the midst of her family and friends. I believe she was the last of the original number to "yield up her breath" and to be put away to rest in the old Smyrna or Waterloo churchyard, maintaining not only her Christian integrity, but watchful and prayerful interest in her church to the hour of her death. She selected and marked, in her every day and well-used Testament, the text she desired to be preached in her funeral services—"What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence come they?"—Rev. vii: 13-17. The writer, her nephew, of course took that text, and after more than fifty years' acquaintance, believed he was preaching the funeral sermon of a good woman, now gone to the rest prepared for the good.

ELEVEN ANDERSON BROTHERS IN CONFEDERATE ARMY

The Anderson family, originally of Waterloo, made a remarkable record in the War Between the States, an article in the Confederate Veteran a number of years ago shows. Eleven Anderson brothers went forth to defend Southern homes and firesides, the article says. The names of these soldiers were: D. W., O. P., R. W., C. S., George, Adolphus, Thomas, John, Joel, Patrick, and Benjamin. Four were in the Western Army (one of them an engineer), one was a member of the Second South Carolina regiment, two were in James' Battalion, Kershaw's Brigade, one was a member of a cavalry regiment, two were incapacitated to serve in the ranks and were assigned to different branches of the army, and the youngest, on account of age, was with the state troops. One, John Anderson, was killed in Virginia and one was wounded. The last of the 11 died a number of years ago.

George Anderson and Mrs. Amelia Smith Anderson were the uncrowned king and queen of this remarkable family of 16 children. Mr. Anderson was born about the close of the 18th century, Mrs. Anderson four years later, and both attained a patriarchial age.

The article in the Confederate Veterans by O. M. Buzhardt, of Newberry, closes with the statement: "I am disposed to challenge our Southland to produce the name of a family that gave more sons to fight for Southern rights."

The above article was taken from the "Confederate Veterans."

NINETY-SIX

"Between Anderson and Walhalla run several creeks bearing singular names. One Mile, Six Mile, Twelve Mile, Eighteen Mile, Four and Twenty, Six and Twenty, and farther down the line of the Keowee Trail lies the town of Ninety-Six. These names are accounted for by an Indian tradition about which there has been some controversy. Iconoclasts loudly proclaim the whole story a fabrication, but Dr. J. W. Daniell, South Carolina's highest authority on Indian lore, thinks the story is founded on truth. At any rate it is a pretty legend, and if the annals of a people or a land be shorn of legend and tradition, none but the Gradgrind family will ever read its history.

It is said that long ago a young Englishman named Allen Francis taught an Indian school at Keowee. Among his pupils was Cateechee, a Choctaw maid, captive of Kuruga, the Cherokee chief. In her own tongue her name was Issaqueena. Both words mean deer's head. The two fell in love with each other, and when Allen left the Indian settlement it was with a promise to return for his dusky sweetheart at some future day. He went to Fort Cambridge and established himself there in a trading business with his father and brother.

One night Cateechee overheard Kuruga and his warriors planning an attack on Fort Cambridge, intending to massacre all of the white people living there.

The girl determined to save her lover. After the Indians were asleep she stole away to go to the fort ninety-six miles from Keowee, and warn the white people of their danger. When morning came she was missed, and the Cherokees, suspecting her errand, started in pursuit.

As she ran, a succession of mountain streams crossed her path, and she named them as she sped on, comforting herself with the sound of the number of miles she had thrown behind her. At nightfall, footsore and exhausted, she told her tale. When a little later the Indians reached the place the fort was garrisoned, and the attack was easily repulsed.

Naturally Catcehee remained among the people whom she had saved, and she and Francis were married. For several years they lived in peace among the people of the little town, then called Ninety-Six in memory of her race with death over ninety-six miles of forest."

DR. WILLIAM LEWIS ANDERSON

A. Dr. William Lewis Anderson, first child of Captain George and Amelia Smith Anderson, was born May 20, 1821, at Waterloo, South Carolina, died July 17, 1897. His was the first will recorded in the new Greenwood County.

He attended the Cokesbury Conference School at Cokesbury, South Carolina. He then attended the South Carolina College at Columbia, now the University of South Carolina, where he graduated in December 5, 1842. He decided to study medicine and was graduated from the State Medical College in Charleston in 1847, being one of 74 graduates of this class. His diploma is now in possession of his son, Thomas C. Anderson.

Dr. Anderson began his practice of medicine in the Stony Point Section of present Greenwood County. The old house built by William Smith, was inherited by his son Joel Smith, brother of Amelia (Millie) Anderson. His Uncle, Joel Smith, gave the young doctor William Lewis Anderson board and a horse and buggy, in return for doctoring his slaves of whom he had a great number. Joel Smith's wife was Isabella Elizabeth Marshall, daughter of Col. George Marshall. When her younger half-sister, Martha Rebecca Marshall, came to visit her, romance blossomed and Dr. William Lewis Anderson and Martha Rebecca Marshall were married.

It is said that Dr. Anderson found it necessary to supplement his income from the practice of medicine by farming, and sought to find a place where there were not so many rocks as at Stony Point. He selected a place near Ninety-Six not far from the present Lebanon Church. The house, built by Dr. Anderson, is now the lovely country home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Adams.

Dr. Lewis Anderson and his wife Martha (Mattie) Marshall were the parents of 10 children. According to the description by a grandson, Pressley Roberts, "He was a puritan by nature, uncompromising between right and wrong, rigid in the observance of the Sabbath, but loved people, particularly kin people. His family reunions every Thanksgiving and Christmas were classics with all kin in the vicinity invited and most of them present."

TO MISS MARTHA

"Bright be thy path in Beauty's gay career,
And fair the Spring of life's just opening year.
Enjoy the hour, while youth and hope are warm—
While gleams with cheerfulness thy fairy form;
And oh! may time but shift the changeful scene
And these enchanting moments leave behind
The tranquil bosom and the cultured mind."

MISS MARTHA

"There is a hand whose calm caress
Returns no throbbing pulse or sign
When other hands its stillness press
But trembles when tis placed in thine.

There is a heart that would forego
The brightest smiles to others known
If o're its kindled depths may glow
The radiant image of thine own.

There is an eye whose timid gaze
Would that of other eyes resign
And turn from all their thousand rays
To catch one answering glance from thine."

W. L. A.

Above are two poems written by Dr. William Lewis Anderson to his sweetheart Martha Rebecca Marshall who later became his wife.

August 10, 1871

My Dear Husband,

We are all well this morning and everything is going on very smoothly. George will write you all about the farm. Willie says all of his hogs are up but he has not found the missing ones. Joe says old Red is gone dry. He was wishing this morning he had vacation from the eows. Lula's chickens and guineas grow very fast. She went in the henhouse the other evening and thought she saw a Wasp nest on the sill. Janie went to see it and found it to be a large snake quirled up. It frightened her so she is afraid to go in the henhouse. Perrin slept with his knife the first two nights and then lost it. He says he will find it before Pa comes home. Tommy got on his horse yesterday and said he was going after Pa, bring him home. Miss Janie eommeneed her school. Mattie is staying with Ginnie this week. Emma staid with us last night. Her baby is very unwell, she has fevers and a bad eough. Phenie and Anna Marshall was with us last night. I suppose you have heard that Mrs. Towns is still living. I got six eans sealed up the other day. I think I will get peaches enough for 10 or 16 more. Tommy eame in just now with his clothes wet. I asked him what I must tell Pa. He says tell him don't whip me. We have not sent to mill yet eannot get the wagon mended. I am just out of flour. Seraped the barrel this morning. I will have to borrow.

The boy that Emma sent after Louis yesterday lost your letter. You must write again if any partieular direetions were in it. I hope that you are improving and pray God that your life and health may be preserved many years. My love to Sister. I hope she is better.

Yours forever

S— M. R. Anderson

DR. WILLIAM LEWIS ANDERSON

Anderson—Dr. William Lewis Anderson was born in Abbeville District, S. C., May 21, 1821, and departed this life July 21, 1897. In 1846 he joined the Methodist church and remained a consistent member till his death.

Dr. Anderson was an unusual man. He had a clear and active mind, well cultivated, and nicely balanced with common sense; and his active, scrutinizing mind was seconded by great physical energy. Thus equipped he succeeded well in life. Being diligent in business and sound in judgment he accumulated a comfortable competency, with which he educated his children and built up a home; and besides, aided the church and the poor.

In the office of friendship no one excelled our brother of whom we write. Without pretense or show, he was yet one of the sincerest of friends. He was a wise and safe counsellor; a strong and independent thinker; a close observer of men and things; and a bold and fearless advocate of the right.

He loved the church, studied her interests, supported her institutions and enjoyed her privileges and blessings. To the Bible-class he devoted years of faithful attention. Studious, conscientious, prayerful, he taught the Word in the fear of God. His religious experience was clear cut. He enjoyed the witness of the Spirit. He talked freely of his conversion and religious life, and while usually not emotional, he sometimes wept as he spoke of God's goodness towards himself. His last months were marked by sickness; his last days by great physical pain. But in it all he did not murmur, patiently relying on God.

We miss him greatly now he is gone, but we know he is with the Lord. With what zest and relish must his keen, penetrating intellect feast on the glories being revealed! Friend and brother, now beyond the gloaming and the shadows, and unfettered by earthly limitations, let thy ransomed spirit delight itself in knowledge and rapture and bliss! In God's good pleasure we who knew and loved you here, hope to join you where "knowledge grows without decay, and love shall never die."

DEATH OF DR. W. L. ANDERSON

"In the death of Dr. William L. Anderson last week another one of the ante bellum land marks of the state has passed from the stage of human affairs. He was a prominent member of the Methodist Church, was an active business man, and throughout his long life was respected and esteemed by a wide circle of friends for his genuine worth as a Christian and citizen. Indeed, it may be said of him that he sat among the elders of the land."

GEORGE MARSHALL ANDERSON

1. George Marshall Anderson, oldest son of Dr. Lewis and Martha Marshall Anderson, was born October 5, 1851, and died January 12, 1935. He attended Cokesbury Conference College. He married Mary Tappenus White of Abbeville, S. C. on Dec. 13, 1877. They made their home at Ninety Six, where he was postmaster for a number of years. He also operated a modern cotton gin and a grist mill. The latter part of his life he dealt in livestock. A lover of hunting and bird dogs, the family was shocked at his extravagance when he paid $50 for a gun that would load at the breach and a like amount for a good bird dog. Genial and friendly, he drew to himself a host of friends.

George M. Anderson was ten years of age when the terrible Civil War began. When it ended, privations and hardship befell him at an age when his education should have continued. Being the oldest of the family, he bravely faced the hard task of making a living. In early manhood he bought and operated one of the first portable outfits for ginning cotton and threshing grain. He traveled from farm to farm with his portable steam engine, at the same time carrying on his own farming operations.

His wife, "Miss T", was a beloved person in Ninety Six. The following are excerpts from letters received at her death.

"In the homegoing of Miss T, a golden life has ended but her works live after her, as a priceless heritage to all who knew her. In the midst of our sorrow, let us thank God that he lends to earth such women."

"The influence of 'Miss T's' useful life will live and bear fruit for generations to come. No task was too hard for her to undertake, Bless her heart!"

"Cousin T. put a great deal into life and got more out of life than anyone I have ever known. She was loyal and true to her Savior, church family, friends and country. Everything she did was her best. She never slighted anything."

"One of the blessings of my life is to have known and loved 'Miss T.' She was a great woman. She taught us by word of mouth and by example, if we could only follow in her footsteps."

"The T. E. L. Class has lost its most beloved member."

"How my heart was saddened when the news came that 'Miss T.' had passed away. She was truly a great woman and blessed with a winsome and attractive personality. She radiated sunshine and happiness. She was devoted to the work of our class and church and her influence shall always be an inspiration to me. I loved, honored and trusted her, and realize what a dear sweet friend I have lost."

"Miss T. to me was a wonderful woman. Always cheerful, always helpful, always willing, always doing good for others. It is a blessing to have known and loved her."

"Her thoughts were always of others."

"She loved everyone."

"I shall always remember the joy that she found in Christian service."

George Marshall Anderson and Mary Tappenus White were the parents of the following children:

- a. Ruby Marshall Anderson (Sloan)
- b. Julia Lipscomb Anderson (Lesesne)
- c. Will White Anderson

GEORGE MARSHALL ANDERSON

If a son-in-law may be privileged to relate briefly a few impressions and deductions from his associations with the late George Marshall Anderson, eldest son (and oldest child) of Dr. W. Lewis Anderson, it might serve in a small way as a help to later generations of the family in getting a "close up and clearer picture of what manner of man his senior son was.

Plain and outspoken—he at once impressed me with his sincerity, his absolute freedom from all forms of eant, and his genuine interest in people and things. Well read and informed, his mind was to a large extent a store house of general information. He was unique in many respects and caused friends and neighbors to place him in that category which might be typified in the phrase "there is only one George Anderson."

He took things in stride and was a striking example of those whose philosophy was not to worry very much on things that could not be helped.

He had many friends and evidently believed that friendship had practical facets. Example: if he needed transportation to his farm two miles from town and a friend's horse was tied to the public hitching rack, he dispensed with the formality of getting "in toueh" but just mounted and was on his way, not always too sure just which of his friends owned the mount.

He was possessed of a homely philosophy of life and a fine sense of humor. When asked for the hand of his daughter, I was told "She is young and foolish, but if you want to take a chancen she is yours" or words to that effect. Many amusing incidents and experiences of which he was the center might be told but for lack of space. Married to the former Mary T. White, known far and wide as Aunt "T", Cousin "T", or Miss "T", and one of the most saintly and best loved women of her generation, theirs was a long and happy life.

Children of George Marshall and Mary T. White Anderson

REBECCA MARSHALL (RUBY) ANDERSON

a. Rebecca Marshall (Ruby) Anderson, oldest child of George Marshall and Mary T. White Anderson was born August 13, 1879 at Ninety Six. She was graduated from Shorter College, Rome, Ga. She married John Benson Sloan, son of Dr. Henry N. Sloan and his wife of Ninety Six.

Like her mother, Ruby Sloan is much beloved. Until her health failed, she was active in the affairs of Ninety Six and Greenwood. The Sloan home was one of the most hospitable in the community of Ninety Six, and a "dining" was an event to be remembered. "Miss Ruby's" thoughtfulness of children and old people was a source of much joy to the recipients. Her beautiful garden was a pleasure to her and to her host of friends.

Mr. Sloan was President of The County Bank of Greenwood at the time of his death in an automobile-train accident on October 31, 1957. He was a civic leader in Greenwood, and his advice was much sought after; the tenant farmer desiring to borrow twenty-five dollars on his mule received as much courteous attention as the wealthy planter. "John Sloan Day" was proclaimed by the Mayor of Greenwood on July 12, 1956 and a testimonial dinner was given in his honor. The new branch of Greenwood Mills at Ninety Six is to be named "The Sloan Plant".

Will White had a happy, lovable disposition. The warmth of his personality and his quick wit made him a favorite with family and friends. The words of the minister at his funeral were aptly chosen:

None knew him but to love.”

Will White Anderson and Mae Gooding had three sons:

William Lewis Anderson was a versatile person and was interested in a number of enterprises, including mercantile business and farming. He pioneered in several farm enterprises, among them commercial peach growing and truck farming. He was the first County Farm Agent for Greenwood County. His daughter, May Anderson Scott wrote in May, 1960: "My father bought the home place after Grandma's death. We lived there for nearly twenty years. I was married there and my elder daughter was born there. Papa sold the place in 1918 and we moved nearby, where we have lived ever since."

Will Anderson was a faithful member of Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church, and like his father, was superintendent of the Sunday School. He is buried in the cemetery of his church.

She was much beloved by her former pupils and "Miss May's" influence in the school room and in the Sunday School, where she taught for most of her life, is significant. She was a member of Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church for more than fifty years, and was often an officer in the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Her Hanna grandchildren are the fifth generation to attend Mt. Lebanon Church. May Scott was a member of the Ninety Six Book Club, whose members paid her a fitting tribute at her death — quoted in part below: "Being so versatile in talent our beloved "Miss May" seemed to fit into any situation. Her sparkling humor could dispel a cloud, and her sunshine always made bright shadowed places. Her sincerity and unselfishness toward those whom she loved and with whom she worked made the hearts of all who associated with her glad to have had the privilege of such association."

(1). Nina Dukes Scott, married Maxcy Grover Hanna of Cross Hill. Mr. Hanna owns and operates a construction company. They live in Greenwood and have two children:

(a). Maxcy Grover Hanna, Jr., an engineering student at Clemson College.

AMELIA JANE ANDERSON ROBERTS

3. Amelia Jane Anderson, oldest daughter of Dr. William Lewis and Martha Marshall Anderson, was born October 27, 1858, died February 1, 1919. She graduated at Williamston Female College, since moved to Greenwood as Lander College. She married Charles Pressley Roberts (born April 16, 1854, died January 28, 1918) son of Dr. Owen Mortimer Roberts of Orange County, Virginia, on July 7, 1880. They made their home near Ninety Six, South Carolina, where Mr. Roberts operated a general merchandise store for a time, but later devoted his entire time to farming. The following tribute from a son, Charles Pressley Roberts, Jr., best describes Mr. and Mrs. Roberts:

"Our father was a man who came as near having no bad habits as any I have ever known. He managed his children and others with whom he had contact in a quiet way solely by strength of character. If ever he used any physical punishment with a child, I never heard of it. His main point of discipline was to insist that the family had a record for good behavior and that it was up to each child to see that the family's good name was not blemished.

"Of our mother, it would be hard to find a more perfect Christian or a person who lived a more unselfish life. Next to her quiet sincere religious life, the most important thing to her was to teach each child to study and take every opportunity to learn. With a house full of children she was never too busy to help a child with a lesson. As long as she lived she could speak a word or two and then translate a passage in Latin. To her a college education was a necessity, and it was largely through her insistence that all eleven children went through college. Her influence was so great that every child who reached the age went through college, every grandchild of college age has graduated and so far the third generation is keeping the record at 100 per cent. A record that cannot be surpassed, and I defy you to find a family with a record that can match it."

DR. JOSEPH ADOLPHUS ANDERSON

4. Joseph Adolphus Anderson was born May 25, 1861, and died in Anderson Memorial Hospital on April 10, 1938. He was the son of Dr. William Lewis Anderson and Martha Rebecca Marshall Anderson. He attended Wofford College and then entered the University of Maryland for medical studies. After completion of his university medical training he began practice of medicine at Antreville in Abbeville County, South Carolina. He married Minnie Ola Clinkscales on December 19, 1889. He devoted 52 years in unselfish service to the Antreville community. Most of his years of service were during the horse and buggy days and he covered a radius of ten miles. No weather was too rough, no mud was too deep to prevent his response when called. Three or four horses at a time were required in order for him to make his calls.

During his busy life attending the sick both day and night he found time to serve the community in every other worthwhile endeavor. He served on the board of trustees of the school for many years and gave much time to the promotion of better education. He worked unceasingly in Shiloh Methodist Church, serving on the various boards and also as a Sunday School teacher.

Enterprises which he helped start and develop included a rural telephone service and an oil mill. He acquired a 250 acre farm and his sons helped work the farm during their growing years. It seems unbelievable that he could pay for a comfortable home, a 250 acre farm and send eight children to college on a country doctor's income. The $2.00 charge for a home call, many times at a distance, often included the medicine. Many of these calls were made when he knew there would be no payment whatever. We recall that he kept a stock of drugs in an office in his yard and that he dispensed drugs like the present-day pharmacists. We also remember many occasions when one or more Negroes who had been either shot or cut at a "hot supper" were brought to his home. His operating table was a bale of cotton and after probing for the bullet or sewing up the cut the Negroes usually recovered.

We, the children of Dr. Joseph Adolphus Anderson are proud of our heritage.

COPY OF A LETTER TO JOSEPH ADOLPHUS ANDERSON

Ninety Six, Abbeville Co., S. C.
Nov. 7, 1881

Dear Son:

I see by your letter to your mother, that you are enjoying some of the premonitory sufferings of that terrible disease, Dyspepsia. I call it terrible for I do not believe there is any disease to which mortals are subject that can inflict such indescribable suffering upon its victims as this disease of the stomach. Most diseases afflict the body only. This takes hold of body and mind and the mental sufferings are much greater as the soul can suffer more acutely than the body.

With all the sufferings entailed upon man by the fall God never put this affliction upon us as a consequence of the sin of Mother Eve. This disease each individual makes for himself, and it is certainly just. If you continue to disregard the laws of your body that God has established you will certainly feel the punishment. You are but experiencing the A B C of this retribution as yet. There is a chance that your stomach may be restored yet to health. I have given you advice on this subject before—or, if you choose, I have scolded you about your manner of eating. I fear that, now you have no one to tell you of your faults, it is as bad as ever with regard to cramming your food, not only this, but not chewing your food. I have but one more plan to suggest to you, whereby you may restore the health and save yourself from untold misery. It is this—never under any circumstances drink any fluid whilst eating, whether it be water, coffee, tea, milk or any other fluid, and eat principally dry food—such as you will be compelled to chew and moisten with saliva, before you can swallow it.

Above all things don't think that medicine of any kind can atone for your neglect to use your teeth for the purpose for which they were given. Your Heavenly Father placed teeth where He did to show us that the first thing in order was to chew our food, and He placed the salivary glands under the tongue and in the cheeks to moisten the food with a digestive substance (not water) which in conjunction with the gastric juice will dissolve the food, and make it capable of being taken up to the intestines and distributed to nourish the body. Every man, who tries to get up some other plan of digesting his food will pay dearly for it. One more thing—Have nothing to do with tobacco, and I pray you may see the danger in time to save yourself.

Affectionately, W. L. Anderson
(no date given)

A man sometimes must necessarily go in debt, but what ruins people financially is big debts when values of property are suddenly knocked down perhaps 50 to 75 percent. Then creditors get alarmed and without mercy come down on Debtors. Now I offer you a sure preventive for all such trouble: First, never go in debt for more than one-fourth (1/4) the value of your property already owned. Secondly, never buy a piece of property that you cannot pay at least one-half (1/2) cash down. You may lose heavily even on this plan, but your wife and children will have a home. Yours in love and febleness.

W. L. Anderson

5. Talula Anderson, daughter of Dr. W. Lewis and Martha Rebecca Marshall Anderson, was born December 27, 1863, died March 3, 1958. She was a graduate of Williamston Female College, now Lander College, Greenwood, South Carolina, and was always an active alumna of the college. She married John Nathan Lipscomb and they made their home near the town of Ninety Six, where Mr. Lipscomb engaged in extensive farming until his death in an automobile accident in 1924. After the death of her husband Mrs. Lipscomb made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lewise Sherard, for many years, but spent the last years of her long life with another daughter, Mrs. Sara Kreps, at 3115 Amhurst Avenue, Columbia. Her death came at the age of ninety-four years. She was a member of Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church near Ninety Six. Mrs. Lipscomb's warm personality endeared her to a host of friends, typical of whom was the writer of the following letter:

Dear Sara and Ruby—

When I met your mother, I saw a little lady, a gentlewoman of the Old South with all the culture, refinement, character and courtesy of the best families. We loved her from the start and so when your telegram came just now I knew her body was stilled but all she was and stood for is ours to remember and to try to attain. We shall never forget how good she was to us when we needed it so badly, you and Ruby were too. Your loss is irreparable and no one could take her place, but how wonderful God was to spare her to all of you as long as He did.

LULA ANDERSON LIPSCOMB

WHEREAS God in His infinite wisdom has removed from our earthly sphere of activity our beloved fellow alumna of Lander College, Lula Anderson Lipscomb, and

WHEREAS for almost a century, from the time she completed her studies at Williamston Female College until the day of her death, she was an active, loyal, and devoted alumna, a member of the Alumni Association from the time it was first organized, and a participating member of the Columbia Lander College Club from the time she came to Columbia until she attended the last meeting held in her home less than a month before she passed away, and

WHEREAS she further showed her devotion to the College by influencing her daughters and granddaughters (one of whom, Lulie S. Bryson, is currently State President of the Lander College Alumni Association) to attend and graduate from Lander College, and

WHEREAS by her keen wit, ready humor, and vivid recollections of the earliest days of our Alma Mater, she frequently contributed materially to our local meetings.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we the members of the Columbia Lander College Club, are grateful that we were privileged to enjoy fellowship with Mrs. Lipscomb for so many years. We shall miss her sorely from our meetings, but we are sure that the individual lives of all who came in contact with her have been made richer because she was spared to us for so many years.

It is further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be inscribed in the minutes of our Club as a memorial to Mrs. Lipscomb, that a copy be sent her family, and that a copy be sent the College for publication in the Lander College Messenger.

IN MEMORIAM

We thank Thee, O God, for the life of our friend, Mrs. Lula Anderson Lipscomb, who has grown up in the faith and fellowship of Christ. We thank Thee for her wisdom and devotion to every phase of Thy work, especially the mission cause. Our own hearts have been abundantly enriched by her having lived among us. While we are grieved because of her passing, we grieve not as those without hope, for we know that her long life here is being continued in "The Heavenly Home."

Help us to emulate her example, thus striving to be more faithful to our Church and to our Lord.

May Thy comforting presence ever abide with her family and loved ones.

A LOVING TRIBUTE TO A DEAR, DEPARTED FRIEND

The passing of Lewise Lipscomb Sherard has brought deep and lasting sorrow to a host of friends and loved ones, among whom are the members of the Ninety-Six Book Club, of which she was a member of long standing. We believe she loved the Book Club next to her Church and all its phases of work, to which she so unselfishly gave of herself.

Lewise Sherard led a busy, useful life using the talents and ability given her by God. Her place can hardly be filled.

In life she loved and worshipped her God, and in death her influence lives on.

She was a devoted mother. Truly her children can call her blessed.

We pause to pay tribute to her memory and to extend to her stricken family our deep sympathy.

We ask that a copy of this tribute be sent to her mother, each of her children, and a copy be placed in the minutes of the Book Club.

Respectfully submitted,

He practiced his profession in Anderson, South Carolina and in Sherman, Texas, but death came as he was at the height of his career on November 22, 1903. He married Nannie Polk Thomason of Hickman, Kentucky and Brooksville, Florida on July 5, 1900. They had one son, James Perrin Anderson, Jr. A prominent Methodist minister, Dr. W. D. Kirkland, wrote of him: "His father was a physician and planter of eminence, and a faithful Methodist steward; his mother — one of those blessed saints whom everybody loves — cultured and devotedly pious. I have seldom known a sweeter, happier, Christian home than that from which my young friend comes. South Carolina's best blood flows in his veins."

IN MEMORIAM

Dr. James Perrin Anderson was born on Mar. 17, 1866 and his father christened him in honor of his college friend who had fallen, one of the noble victims of the terrible war.

He grew to manhood surrounded by the wholesome influencees of a cultured country home, and was trained by godly parents.

His eharaeter was one of perfect integrity and honor. Cultured, sincere, with a rare charm of manncr, and skillful in his chosen profession, it is not strange that success came to him wherever he went.

Three years ago he married Miss Nannie Thomason and the union was an ideal one.

He was never robust and the last two years were a battle for his life, but the Father had other plans for him and on Nov. 22nd in perfect trust and peace he fell asleep, his last thought and aet an unselfish one. A strong man who stood by remarked, "Behold how a good man ean die".

One Who Loved Him.

The following is a sketch of Col. James M. Perrin for whom Dr. James Perrin Anderson was named:

COLONEL JAMES M. PERRIN

James M. Perrin was the son of Samuel Perrin and Eunice Chiles Perrin. He was practieing law in Abbeville at the outbreak of the Mexican War. Mr. Perrin volunteered and served in Company E, Palmetto Regiment until July 23, 1848.

Mr. Perrin married Miss Mary Smith, a sister of Colonel A. M. Smith. After her death he married Miss Kitty Tillman.

At the beginning of the Confederate War Mr. Perrin organized a company of 100 volunteers. This company was composed mostly of his classmates at South Carolina College and other life long friends. They beeame known as "The Minute Men of Abbeville" because their company was the first to reach Charleston from the Up-country. Just before leaving home the "Minute Men" were presented with a flag made by the Abbeville ladies. This flag was of blue silk, trimmed with gold fringe. On one side of the flag was a Palmetto tree, with a rattlesnake coiled around the trunk and the words, "Nolli Me Tang-eri" with the dates 1776 and 1860. On the other side, the ladies had embroidered "The Fair to the Brave."

One account of the presentation says a beautiful young girl, Miss Sally Martin, rode on horseback, carrying the flag to Captain Perrin where he stood at the head of his men near the public square. It is told that the ladies of Abbeville worked all day Sunday to complete uniforms for the "Minute Men" in time for their departure. They left Abbeville on the morning of January 11, 1861, with the band playing and amid cheers of their friends. Their uniforms were red flannel shirts and black trousers.

Colonel Perrin served later with McDuffie Rifles. In the Second Battle of Manassas, after Colonel Marshall was killed he became Colonel of his regiment.

In the battle of Chancellorsville, while a member of Orr's Rifle Regiment, Colonel Perrin was killed. He is buried in Long Cane cemetery near Abbeville.

The Colonel A. M. Smith mentioned above was Augustus Marshall Smith, a son of Joel Smith and his wife, Eliza Isabella Marshall. He was born Oct. 22, 1827 at the ancestral home "Stony Point." His father was a wealthy planter. There are many glamorous stories told of the life at "Stony Point". The old brick house stands today, a silent witness to a way of life that has truly gone with the wind.

THOMAS CARSON ANDERSON

7. Thomas Carson Anderson, son of Dr. Lewis Anderson and Martha Rebecea Marshall, was born November 20, 1868. He attended South Carolina College in Columbia, now the University of South Carolina where he took civil engineering, which profession he has followed during his long and useful life. On June 25, 1959, he was engaged in survey work for the new Chemstrand Corporation property between Greenwood and Ninety Six, at the age of 91. He continues surveying to the present time. Each of his eleven grandsons has had the privilege of "going surveying with Grandfather" — a never to be forgotten experience.

He married Nannie Thomason Anderson, widow of his brother, Dr. James Perrin Anderson, and she has been a wonderful help mate.

Thomas C. Anderson is a man of unquestioned integrity and high Christian ideals. He has taught the Men's Bible Class at Mount Lebanon Methodist Church for many years. He is the oldest living member of this church, is an honorary steward and Superintendent Emeritus of the Church School. He is deeply interested in the progress of the church and his knowledge and interpretation of the Bible is most remarkable.

A recent newspaper article states that "Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Anderson are two of the most active, most revered persons in Greenwood. Both are robust and full of life; both have a wonderful sense of humor tinged with more than a little modesty." Following is an excerpt from this article, printed in the Greenville News in May, 1960 under the caption:

A Zest For Living

GREENWOOD—T. C. Anderson, a native of that part of Abbeville County from which Greenwood County was cut, was born November 20, 1868, three years after the end of the War Between the States. He was one of eight children of Dr. Lewis and Mrs. Martha Marshall Anderson.

Educated in the old Fields School, he attended what is now the University of South Carolina for a course in mechanical engineering. He says it was while he was there that Clemson College was established (in 1889) and engineering courses moved from Columbia.

He did not attend college immediately after public schools. "My father thought I was such a good plow hand. . ."

After a further stint on the farm, Mr. Anderson took up surveying about which his practical work had been taught by his father. As a county employee he was chief engineer for the building of an entire railroad — from Donalds to Due West. He also helped survey tracks from Birmingham to Atlanta for the Seaboard Air Line Railway. . . .”

NANNIE THOMASON ANDERSON

(Wife of Thomas C. Anderson)

“Aunt Nannie” or “Cousin Nannie”, as the case may be is a very important person to the Anderson family that calls Ninety Six “home”. Her sprightly humor and broad outlook on life make her a favorite with family and friends, both young and old. To her twenty-two grandchildren (and three great-grands) she is an especially wonderful, lovable person. Her children respect and revere her and honor her wise counsel. She has always been energetic and eager to undertake any enterprise that would benefit her family. Before her marriage she taught school. In the early years of her married life, and when her children were in college, she added to the family income by making and selling delicacies of various kinds — particularly her famous potato chips. At the age of eighty-two, she went to live in Greenwood with her son, Tom, Jr., whose wife had died, to take care of his five children — ranging in age from seven to twenty.

The following is taken from an article published in the Anderson Independent May 8, 1949, when Mrs. Anderson was named runner-up to the South Carolina Mother-of-the-Year:

“In spite of constant calls of a large family and actual strain of financial difficulties Mrs. Anderson always stood ready to extend her love and extra space in her home to those in need of either. At least sixteen people have lived in her home for periods of from one to twenty years each. She always wanted them to feel that they were truly at home.

“In spite of the multitude of home duties Mrs. Anderson’s activities were never confined to the home circle. She supported and often led community enterprises. . . she was president of the local and also District President of the P.T.A. She was President of the County Council of Farm Women.

“She has always been very active in church life, being an active member of the Baptist Church of Ninety Six. For twenty years she has taught a class of young women in the Sunday School.

"To Mrs. Anderson people have always been more important than things; the home has always been more important than the house. To an exceptional degree she has had the ability to put first things first, and this, more than anything else, has made her an outstanding mother."

Martha Marshall Anderson (Cauthen)
(September 24, 1871-July 17, 1959)

MATTIE ANDERSON CAUTHEN

8. Martha (Mattie) Anderson was the eighth and youngest surviving child (an older sister and younger brother died in infancy) of Dr. William Lewis and Martha R. Marshall Anderson of the Lebanon community in what is now Greenwood County. After a happy childhood in a home marked by comfort, affection, piety and discipline she was educated at Williamston Female College during the regime of the eminent President Samuel Lander, whose moral and educational precepts exerted a powerful and permanent influence on her life. Soon after her graduation she married in her home (November 16, 1892) the Reverend Andrew Jackson Cauthen, Jr. (September 6, 1866-June 2, 1931) and a few days later began her long career in the Methodist ministry by attending the annual conference, meeting that year in Charleston. The Methodist itinerary carried her successively to Edisto Circuit, Little Rock, Allendale, Williamston, Ninety-Six, Batesburg, Anderson, Spartanburg, Dillon, Orangeburg, Darlington, Orangeburg again, and Columbia where her husband served variously as pastor, district presiding elder, conference missionary secretary, and finally as Vice-President and Treasurer of Columbia College. She came near being an ideal minister's help meet. A deeply spiritual but happy and broadminded Christian gentlewoman, she somehow found time and strength not only to rear a large family and preside with dignity and efficiency over her household, but also to assume an active role in the work of her church and to participate in the social and civic life of her community. At the time of her passing Dr. James M. Ariail said of her: "As the wife of a minister, fidelity and sacrificial service characterized her long and loyal service. She knew the workings of her church; she was proud of its history and of its onward march; she loved it, and she would allow no criticism of it. In her home she was the ideal mother, gentle, always giving of herself, holding her children to eternal values, and creating an atmosphere of 'sweetness and light'. . . . Mrs. Cauthen was a woman of exquisite refinement and culture. Her very gentleness made her great. Her sympathy and compassion and understanding were a part of her daily association with people. Freely she gave of herself to every call of need . . . and the benediction of her beautiful life rests upon hundreds who came under its influence."

Mrs. Cauthen died at the home of a son, J. C. Cauthen, in Orangeburg, July 17, 1959, and was buried there beside her husband and near her beloved friend, Miss Mattie McLees, who for many years was an "adopted" member of the Cauthen family and affectionately called "Aunt Mat". She was survived by six of seven sons, two daughters, twenty grandchildren and fourteen great-grandchildren. Data on them follows:

THE OLD KITCHEN

(A reminiscense by Mrs. A. J. Cauthen of the old kitchen at the home of her father, Dr. William Lewis Anderson, located in the Lebanon community of present Greenwood County).

When Papa bought the farm from a Mr. Clark, the home place of Mr. Clark was a two-room frame house with big rooms and an enormous chimney in the middle. I remember that the hearth went from wall to wall in the room used for the kitchen. I could almost stand in the fireplace with its big crane still intact. I do not know whether my parents ever cooked on this fireplace or whether the modern cook stove had come in by the late 1840's. Papa moved this house from over where later the "gin house" stood to a place in the back yard of his new home. When the well was later dug it was near its "left hand" or northern end.

The old road had run between the two cedar trees that stood left of our back porch . . . There used to be a foot square post under the big oak near the garden gate; a hen's nest was nailed on it; and Papa nailed the first pin-wheel I'd ever seen on it at one Christmas time. This was one of the original gate posts to the yard of the old house.

The room nearest the well was the kitchen. The other room we called the "Spinning Room." I remember the wheel was still in it. We children often turned to hear the sharp click at the end of a hundred revolutions. I never heard of a loom or of weaving but some must have been done there originally. In my day it was used for storage—saddles, garden tools, feed for the fattening hogs, and at times a large bin of oats. Mama went to her kitchen only at hog killing time. Cakes, desserts, light bread were prepared in the house and sent out to be cooked, so when I married I could stir up food but didn't know much about baking it.

I should like to know the exact distance from that kitchen to the table! When dinner was ready Ella (or Clara) stood in the door and yelled for Tom and me and assorted ones of the current cook's children to come "take in" dinner, sometimes adding "and bring me the ham dish and the "sparrow" (asparagus) dish and three plates." I don't remember bringing in breakfasts. I was lucky not to get a reprimand for being late since we were supposed to be eating when the sun rose. I have a vivid memory of leaving the table and standing in the back yard to call to Papa when the first tip of the sun appeared. Consulting his almanac he would then add the proper number of minutes to make it "Railroad Time" and set the grandfather's clock back or forward a minute or two.

The kitchen was the scene of much activity at hog killing time. Great pots of lard were simmering at the fireplace to be pulled out to the edge of the hearth to cool a bit before straining. Sausage was being ground, seasoned and stuffed at the big table. From all this interesting activity the cook's little darkies and I were strictly barred. However, we crowded at the door. One day I was in the chair that was holding the door open, leaning on its back (the white child of course took the best place) but there was a certain amount of pushing and scrouging. Then the chair turned over and I landed in a big pot of hot lard. Mama said my linsey-woolsey dress kept me from being badly burned. Joe ran with me in his arms to the house and laid me on my mother's bed. I remember thinking as he ran that his clothes were in a mess.

New York
August 25, 1839

My Dear Eliza,

It is with pleasure I take my pen in hand to eomply with my promise. I intended to have done so earlier but could not make an opportunity. I intend leaving for home in about ten days, and if permitted to return, nothing will deprive me of the pleasure of seeing the obejet of my heart amongst the first. I flatter myself that the short time which has elapsed since I had the pleasure of seeing you has not impaired the impressions which I fondly hoped I had made on your heart. With respect to my own feelings I can assure you that they are more alive than ever to your merits and eharms.

Your beloved soeity was to me a source of the purest delight;

you may judge therefore how time passes off with me when entirely deprived of that pleasure, though but a few weeks, it is months to me. I shall await my return with impatience. Until then, My dear Eliza, adieu. I add nothing more but remain

Your Devoted Lover
John W. Taggart

ROBERT WRIGHT ANDERSON

F. Robert Wright Anderson, sixth child of Capt. George and Millie Smith Anderson was born August 13, 1828—died July 26, 1898. Robert Wright Anderson was named for relatives on both sides of the family; his maternal grandmother being Lucy Wright, of the Wright family of Virginia, who married William Smith and moved with him to South Carolina in 1794. They settled in what is now Greenwood County and built the fine old mansion “Stony Point”. On his father’s side there were several Robert Andersons who were relatives.

Robert Anderson, along with his ten brothers enlisted in the service of the South when the war broke out between the states. He had married on July 29, 1852. Mary McCullough, daughter of Joseph McCullough and Mary Cowan McCullough of lower Greenville County, who built the well known brick and plaster house which is still in good repair and owned by a great grandson, Joseph McCullough. Mary McCullough Anderson’s brother was Colonel James McCullough, one of the best known and most colorful figures of his day.

Robert and Mary Anderson lived near his father’s home in Waterloo but later moved nearer Greenwood. They had one daughter, Mary Amelia, who was born in 1854 and lived to be a little over a year old. The next three little daughters born in 1856, 1859, and 1861, died of the dread disease diphteria within three weeks time, causing their parents such sadness that they sold their property and seeking new surroundings and a better climate, they selected the small up-state community of Travelers Rest for their new home and moved there in 1873. It is said that when Mr. Anderson passed through the small town of Greenville, S. C. to his future home in Travelers Rest, he had the opportunity of trading his surrey for the whole block where Chicora College was later built, but declined.

Robert Anderson purchased the large home in Travelers Rest built by Mr. Montgomery in 1853 which is still in the family, becoming the property of his daughter, Minnie Lee Hillhouse, at the death of Mr. Anderson, and of Robert LeRoy Anderson, a grandson, at her death. This large and commodious home was operated as an inn by Col. and Mrs. Anderson, being called “Spring Lawn Inn.” Many visitors, especially from the low country, enjoyed its hospitality. It is said that when Col. Anderson and his wife had been married many years he remarked “Mary and I have been married thirty years and she has never let the stove get cold". Colored help was very abundant and easy to procure so she had ample assistance. The stage coach made regular stops there, and it became truly a Travelers Rest. The following is an article published in the Charleston News and Courier:

DELIGHTS OF TRAVELERS REST

"Weary Charlestonians Find that the Place has not been misnamed — Prominent Citizens Forget their Dignity and have a Good Time.

Travelers Rest, August 16, _____ Speacial

Judging from the number of familiar faces to be seen wherever you go, the exodus to the mountains this year is as large, if not larger than it has been in many years.

Early in the season, Charlestonians were steadily packing and leaving the city bound for the various mountain resorts, and when the writer arrived at this serene little spot many whom he had just a short time previously seen riding the hay burners were climbing the rugged mountains and strolling among the pines.

The excursion of the 14th has augmented the number to such an extent that now one can truly say that "the woods are full of 'em." Here you may see the energetic insurance man playing quoits with mule shoes, while he indirectly endeavors to "take a life." If you would take a peep up the road you would also see the dignified bank official trying to persuade a mule to "eat the train." As the mule persisted in backing, someone suggested that he was hitched up the wrong way.

Then again if you stop in at "the store" you may see the leading salesman of one of Charleston's dry goods stores recording his pound, which he solemnly states he gains every day.

Paris Mountain is within walking distance and many go there in the morning, and return in time for dinner.

Caesar's Head is also visited by many for the purpose of viewing the rising and setting sun.

The children run wild from morning till night and the poor mothers are continually distressed by the red clay frosting with which each child adorns the "new clean shirt jacket." But that does not matter, as all up here are in for a good time and full dress does not cut any figure when watermelons, canteloupes, grapes, etc. are around.

The house of Col. and Mrs. R. W. Anderson is filled with boarders and they have already put up the "standing room only" sign. Col.

Anderson and his wife are untiring in their attention to the guests and everyone is made to feel entirely at home. The following Charlestonians are registered at the Anderson House: Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Guerard and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warley and child, Miss Luey L. Warley, Mr. and Mrs. James H. LaCoste and children, Miss Sadie E. LaCoste, Mrs. D. L. Sinkler and Child, Mrs. W. G. Baynard; Miss K. S. Hall."

Col. Anderson was a prominent Methodist layman, donating the land and helping to organize the Travelers Rest Methodist Church. He was steward and trustee of the church.

He was for many years the postmaster of Travelers Rest. It was at this period that the town became divided into a lower town called Travelers Rest and an upper town called Athens, each with its own passenger and freight depot for the "Swamp Rabbit" railroad (G & N).

Col. Anderson was always interested in education. A private teacher was engaged for his children and those of Col. Crittenden, a neighbor, before the advent of public schools. When a public school was opened he always took active interest in its welfare, being on the board of trustees and helping secure teachers.

The esteem in which Col. Anderson was held is shown in the following article published in the Greenville paper:

A Prominent Citizen and Faithful
Christian Passes Away

Col. R. W. Anderson died at half past two o'clock yesterday morning at his home at Travelers Rest. Col. Anderson has been ill for some time with a complication of troubles which finally affected his heart.

Col. Anderson's life was known and read of all men. His personality was a striking one, and his integrity and uprightness of character were matters of common knowledge. He was a man above reproach, upon whose word men knew they could depend with absolute confidence. Few men have the respect of their fellow citizens as he did.

The deceased was seventy-one years of age. In early manhood, he was married to Miss Mary McCullough a sister of the late Col. James McCullough. She lived until August 3rd, 1896, and nine children blessed the union. Three of their children died in one week from diphtheria. The four surviving children are Mrs. F. E. Goodlett, wife of Dr. B. F. Goodlett, Mrs. Maude Roe, wife of Thomas Roe, Mrs. Minnie Hillhouse, wife of E. Y. Hillhouse, and James R. Anderson.

Col. Anderson was a son of Capt. George Anderson, of Waterloo, Laurens County, who sent twelve of his sons to the war in the Confederate army. One brother now lives at Waterloo and a large number of relatives are scattered over the State. About a year ago, Col. Anderson was married to Miss Harriet Gilreath, of this county, who survives him.

For a number of years, Col. Anderson had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in whose affairs he always took a deep interest. He was a constant worker for the church, and while his membership was at Duncan's chapel, he was considered one of the pillars of that church. Col. Anderson was interested in the recent organization of the new Methodist church at Travelers' Rest of which he became a member. He was a steward and trustee of the church and was faithful to his duties in these offices.

Col. Anderson's lovely home at Travelers Rest has long been indeed a rest for many travelers. Strangers as well as close friends were always given a warm welcome and provided with all the comforts of a hospitable home. There is possibly no home in the county which has been visited by so many people.

The Travelers Rest town and community regarded Col. Anderson as a leader and he was always foremost in progressive enterprises. The only office he ever held was that of county commissioner, and his services as such were of great benefit to the county. As a business man and farmer he was successful, being systematic and careful in the conduct of his own affairs, but liberal and generous in his dealings with others. His death removes one of Greenville's best citizens, a man who can not easily be spared and whose like is not easy to find.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Travelers Rest Methodist Church and were conducted by Dr. John O. Wilson of this city.

Note: by Granddaughter, Carrie Goodlett Holtzclaw.

Col. Anderson's funeral was preached in the afternoon. The next morning his body was placed in a three seater hack and driven to the old McCullough burying ground near Princeton in lower Greenville County. Mourners rode behind the body in buggies. The interment was held late that afternoon. Col. Anderson was buried beside his wife, Mary McCullough Anderson, and their four daughters. This cemetery has recently been enclosed by an anchor fence and all tomb stones repaired. Several generations of McCulloughs are buried here. The McCullough slaves are buried near the cemetery of their masters. Most of their graves have only stones for markers. There is a separate part of the colored cemetery for the house slaves, some of whom have stones inscribed with their names.

FANNIE ANDERSON GOODLETT

1. Fannie Anderson, daughter of Robert W. and Mary McCullough Anderson was born March 3, 1864, died January 31, 1939. She was educated in the private and public schools of Travelers Rest and at Greenville Female College.

Following is a copy of receipt from the college:

s/ A. S. Townes

Fannie Anderson taught in the schools of the county until her marriage to Dr. Benjamin Franklin Goodlett, a member of one of the older families of the county.

Dr. Goodlett began his practice, which extended to the mountains of North Carolina, on horseback, carrying his medicines in saddlebags. Later he used a horse and buggy to traverse the muddy roads and still later one of the first automobiles in Greenville County. He was a very kind and sympathetic man, helping his patients as much by his presence as by his practice of medicine.

Dr. and Mrs. Goodlett remodeled the old house used by his father and which is now the home of his son, Claud B. Goodlett. It is situated at the intersection of the Buncombe Road and Geer Highway. Both Dr. and Mrs. Goodlett were active in the Methodist Church. Before the parsonage was built on land donated by Mrs. Goodlett, the circuit preacher always made the Goodlett home his headquarters.

GOODLETT RITES PLANNED TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie Anderson Goodlett, 75, widow of the late Dr. B. F. Goodlett, for many years a practicing physician in the Travelers Rest section, will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Travelers Rest Methodist Church. The services will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. W. T. Moore, following which the interment will be in the family plot in the Jackson Grove Methodist church cemetery.

The death of Mrs. Goodlett, which followed two months of illness, occurred at her home in Travelers Rest at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Goodlett was born in Greenwood county, a daughter of the late Colonel Robert and Mrs. Mary McCullough Anderson. When she was 13 years of age the family moved to Travelers Rest.

Mrs. Goodlett was a worker in the Travelers Rest Methodist Church, of which she was a charter member. She taught in the Sunday school and was active in the work of the missionary society.

She is survived by one son, Claud Goodlett, and by one daughter, Mrs. E. R. Holtzclaw, both of Travelers Rest.

In addition she is survived by one brother, J. R. Anderson, and by one sister, Mrs. E. Y. Hillhouse, both of Travelers Rest; by 11 grandchildren, and by four great-grandchildren.

MRS. GOODLETT MEMORIALIZED IN RESOLUTIONS

On January 31, 1939, God called from our midst Mrs. Fannie Anderson Goodlett, oldest, and most beloved member of our auxiliary. She was 75 years of age, a faithful and devoted member of the Methodist church. She was a subscriber of the Southern Christian Advocate for 56 years.

We, the members of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Methodist Church of Travelers Rest, hereby resolve:

"To bow in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father and pray that the spirit of this beautiful character will live on in our community.

"She was a loyal member by showing interest in God's work, a love of people of all ages, and all worth while enterprises. She gave generously of her time and means.

"We are grieved at her passing, but find comfort in the thought that her Christian influence shall live on in the hearts and lives of those who knew her. May we strive to follow her example of devotedness. Truly her delight was in the law of the Lord."

*DR. BENJAMIN F. GOODLETT*BESIDE HIS LIFE THE LIVES OF MOST OF US DRAW FAINT PRAISE

Fifty years of service as a practicing physician, a good old-fashioned "family doctor" of the salt-of-the-earth variety! Could a man hope to leave behind him in this world a better record?

When Dr. B. F. Goodlett, who had served the Travelers Rest territory in that capacity for more than half a century, was called a few days ago to the land from whence no travelers return there were numerous heavy hearts in Greenville county.

Dr. Goodlett was 73 years old. Most of his life had been given to ministering to the sick, and he stood ready to aid the sick in spirit as well as the sick in body.

How many confidenees he shared, how many sorrowing individuals he consoled, how many souls he pointed to a high and beautiful Faith—all this we shall never know. He did not know himself. Statistics were not for him; he was busy going about doing good. Pay or no pay, gratitude or no gratitude, he was the family doctoer with a sacred duty to perform, and to the shame of all of us let it be recorded that he, like all men who place service above all other considerations, had ample opportunity, if he wished to take it—which he did not—to grieve over the seamy side of life, the selfishness, dishonesty, ingratitude, absence of self respect.

In it all he went about his business, year after year for 50 years, quietly, unostentatiously doing good. No world honors he sought or accepted, no banquets were held for him, no organizations advertised his virtues. He did not even work for honors and reward in the land to which he has gone. His was a labor of love, love for his God, love for his fellow man, asking nothing but giving, giving, giving. How tawdry and cheap and selfish the lives of most of us compared to his!

Our real heroes are not always the men whose heroism we acclaim as they go about their work.

Any one interested in becoming one of God's noblemen might study with profit the life of Dr. Goodlett.

NOMINATION NUMBER 26 FOR THE NEWS LOVING CUP

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Herewith is presented the twenty-sixth nomination for the Greenville News Loving Cup, to be awarded Sunday afternoon to that citizen who, in the opinion of 15 judges, performed in 1926 the greatest service to Greater Greenville).

Editor, The News:

If we were making a list of the most beautiful words in our language, the word "Mother" would probably come first. Theodore Roosevelt once said, "When all is said and done, it is the mother, and the mother only, who is a better citizen than the soldier who fights for his country."

There is in Greenville today one who is a mother to hundreds of girls in our community. In the basement of the Chamber of Commerce building, day in and day out, she plays the part of mother to them. They come to her from the country, the store, the office, the sewing room, the cigar factory, an average of one hundred and seventy-five a day, and from her they receive at a nominal cost food for their bodies and food for their souls as well. There is many a girl who would have been hungry but for this mother's help in time of need. There is many a girl who is true because of her trust, who is pure because she cares, who is strong and brave because of her advice and encouragement. She is a friend to all, but especially to the poor and friendless. She is giving, but forgets the gift. During the past year, as for many years, she has been a blessing to hundreds of girls who need her love, comfort, sympathy and service.

On behalf of the working girls and women of Greenville, I nominate for the Greenville News Loving Cup Mrs. E. Y. Hillhouse, matron of the Rest Room of the Woman's Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

ANNA M. BEATY

Greenville.

TODAY'S BOUQUET—MRS. E. Y. HILLHOUSE

(Extract from article in the Greenville News)

The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, it has often been said. If this is true, and we are not attempting to dispute this fact, then what of those individuals who come in daily contact with young people, and who always try to influence them for good? Such a person is Mrs. E. Y. Hillhouse, who is in charge of the Greenville County Rest Room in the Chamber of Commerce building and who is awarded Today's Bouquet.

Mrs. Hillhouse drives down from Travelers Rest each day and back again in the evenings, regardless of weather conditions. She does this not alone because of the love which she holds for her "girls" as she terms the many who visit her place day in and day out.

Mrs. Hillhouse was in charge of the refreshment department of the Community Service Club of Greenville during World War I, which was a forerunner of the present U. S. O. For her service here she was presented a beautiful pin. Following is the accompanying letter from the Woman Service League of Greenville. (Mrs. Hillhouse had been presented a silver loving cup for her service in the County Rest Room also)

Mrs. Edward Hillhouse

Travelers Rest, S. C.

Dear Mrs. Hillhouse:

The Woman's Service League of Greenville is very much indebted to you for making our Community Club express so well the interest we felt in the enlisted men of the late war. We feel that you deserve a Croix de Guerre, and the accompanying pin is heavy with the merit that it stands for. You are commended for efficiency, for work, over and above the requirements of duty, and for patriotic devotion to the welfare of the soldier.

The admiration and appreciation of each and every member of the League's Executive Board go with this token.

Very sincerely,

/s Louise C. Gower, Chm.
Committee

/s Jane Henry Sirrine

JAMES ROBERT ANDERSON

5. James Robert (Jim Bob) Anderson, son of Robert Wright and Mary McCullough Anderson, was born August 5, 1876, died March 17, 1950. He was the youngest child and only son of his parents. He married first Lula Watson on December 24, 1896, daughter of John Watson of Travelers Rest, and they were the parents of two children.

His second marriage was to Mrs. Eva Hagood Andrea who had one step-daughter, Eunice Andrea.

James R. Anderson was Postmaster at Travelers Rest for a number of years. At one time he was superintendent of the cotton seed oil mill in Travelers Rest, as well as cotton buyer. In later years he was a fertilizer dealer.

He was a faithful member of the Travelers Rest Methodist Church and treasurer of the Sunday School for many, many years. He and Mrs. Anderson were parents of:

a. Mary Nell Anderson, born February 21, 1900, whose untimely death occurred at the age of 13. Following is newspaper article on her death.

ANDERSON—Nellie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Anderson, was born February 21, 1900, and died October 2, 1913. Even though only passing from childhood to girlhood, no one in Travelers Rest had more friends than she. She was advanced beyond her years in attainments. Bright and always thoughtful of others, she was indeed a favorite with all who knew her. Had I been called on to select from all my acquaintances a model of purity, sincerity, and integrity for others of her age to live by she would have been my choice. She loved her Church and Sunday School, always willing, and never refusing to do to the very best of her ability any thing for the Church or the good of others that she could do. On last Sunday she was at her place in the Sunday School, apparently well; on the following Tuesday she took her bed at eleven o'clock and died Wednesday night at 12:15. The best medical skill of the State was employed, in five physicians, but to no avail. We laid her body to rest in the cemetery, at the Methodist Church of Travelers Rest, S. C., on Friday, October 3, in the presence of the largest congregation (said to be) ever assembled at that place. The many tears shed by both old and young, and the beautiful festoons of rare flowers which covered her grave, was a small evidence of the high esteem in which she was held. The next day and the day following, crowds went to and from the grave. Never before had a death cast such gloom over this community. But we weep not as those have no hopes, for in our meeting held in that church last July, she gave her heart to God, and united with the Church. On last Monday night she carried her school books to her room with her. Among them was her Bible which she loved above all other books. Precious verses were found marked some of which she repeated just before she died. In her death we feel that the Methodist Church lost not only a present, but a future friend. May God comfort the hearts of father, mother, and only brother, with the glorious thought, "We know where to find her."

—D. R. Roof.

b. Robert LeRoy Anderson, son of James Robert and Lula Watson Anderson, was born June 16, 1902. He graduated from Wofford College, 1924. He is past master of Cooper Masonic Lodge 282. Member of Greenville Chapter Rose Croix (Scottish Rite).

He has always been very active in the Methodist Church, holding official positions in the local Travelers Rest Methodist Church and in the Greenville District. He owns a home on the Methodist Assembly Grounds at Lake Junaluska, North Carolina, and enjoys many of the church conferences there.

He married Grace Neves, daughter of Arthur Neves and Ethel Gilreath Neves of the Jackson Grove Section, September 23, 1924. They live at his grandfather's (Robert Anderson) old home.

JAMES ROBERT ANDERSON

"In my Father's home are many mansions."—John 14:2.

Last Friday, March 17th, 1950 while "day was dying in the west" our Brother Anderson, tired and weary, walked on the porch of his home and fell on his knees by the glider settee, and did not arise for God took him to His home above. Less than an hour before he had been to see his son and daughter-in-law to make what he must have felt was his last or farewell visit.

How better could a Christian man go Home! On his knees in prayer at close of day, and peacefully and without a struggle he left his house of flesh to go live with Christ in Paradise.

Three-score and thirteen years measured the span of his earthly life, but those were years of service and blessing to many relatives and friends. Because of his love for God, his heart was in the Church and its work for mankind. No man was more faithful to his home, Church and community than he. His life speaks for itself, and is his most enduring monument.

Could he speak in our presence at this moment he would doubtless say: "Weep not for me, but rejoice that I am in the Paradise of God with our blessed Saviour and loved ones gone before. What a sure hope we have in our risen Lord, who told us that in the Father's home there are many mansions, and He has gone to prepare a place for us, and that He would come again and take us unto Himself, that where He is we may be also."

"How blest the righteous when he dies!
When sinks a weary soul to rest."

But we who tarry here need to remind ourselves that we are immortal souls created in the image of God (that is in our personalities) and that here "we have no continuing city but seek one to come." We are pilgrims of the infinite."

In the light of eternity our earthly lives assume a much larger significance and value. God must be preparing us here for larger service in His far-flung Kingdom above.

Such an occasion as this calls for renewed consecration to the service of blessed Lord Jesus Christ, the Redeemer of mankind. In our varied tasks here on earth we are in training for the greater tasks of the Upper World.

"Now, Father, now in Thy dear presence bowing,
Our spirits yearn to feel Thy kindling love;
Now make us strong; we need Thy deep revealing
Of trust, and strength, and calmness from above."

CHARLES SMITH ANDERSON

G. Charles Smith Anderson, seventh child of Captain George and Millie Smith Anderson, was born November 30, 1829. He married first, Sarah C. Green on July 15, 1851. According to the Official Record at Reference Department U. D. C. in Richmond, Virginia, National Archives Microfilm, he served in Co. F., 1st South Carolina Artillery during the Civil War. He and his wife moved to the west and settled at Center Point, Arkansas. They were the parents of two daughters.

1. Lula Anderson, married J. K. Bryant
2. Alice Anderson, married Mr. Leal Chamblin.

Charles Anderson's wife, Sara Green, died in 1878. He married second, Miss Jinnie Carruth and they were parents of a son:
3. Charles C. Anderson, born March 6, 1886, six days after the death of his father, which occurred on February 29, 1886. His mother died when he was 9 years old. Charles C. Anderson, died Apr. 29, 1959.

Following is a sketch written by Julian C. Anderson, Grandson of Charles S. Anderson:

"Grandfather Charles S. Anderson married Sarah C. Green who died in 1878. To this union were born two children, Lula Anderson and Alice Anderson Chamblin. I have heard my father mention Lula, but I do not remember any of the particulars and never did see her. Alice Anderson Chamblin, whom we refer to as Aunt Alice, lived in Nashville, Arkansas for a number of years and went to New Mexico and homesteaded some land way back in the early 1900's. She came back to Arkansas in the 1930's and lived with Dad's family for a few years. I believe that she had three daughters living in New Mexico, Utah, and Pocatello, Idaho. She left in 1935 to go back to Idaho to live with her daughter there. We never did see her anymore, but Dad corresponded with her until her death, which occurred in about 1955 or 1956.

"After the death of Sarah Green Anderson, Charles Smith Anderson married Jinnie Maconica Carruth and they lived together several years at Center Point, Arkansas. I have heard my father mention that his father and mother were married in what was called the office of the old hotel at Center Point, Arkansas, and he and mother were married just across the hall in what was called the parlor in the same old hotel.

"Grandfather Charles S. Anderson had a mercantile establishment at Center Point during these years and also a farm at what is known as Muddy Fork, Arkansas. He died on February 29, 1886, and my father was born on March 6, 1886. He was buried in the Ozan Cemetery in the Bryant lot in Bingin, Arkansas. Grandmother Jinnie M. Anderson died in July 25, 1895, and was buried in the Borden Lot in the Washington Cemetery at Washington, Arkasas.

"At the death of Grandmother Jinnie, Mr. Jim Bryant, who had married one of the Borden girls, took my father to live with him.

"My mother still lives in the home place at Texarkana, Texas. She maintains that she wants to keep the home going as long as she is able. At present Miss Mildred Gerald, a retired school teacher lives with her. On the street that they live on, there live several other elderly women and they have a grand time visiting with each other.

"My father, Charles Carruth Anderson, attended elementary school and high school at Center Point, Arkansas and finished high school in 1907. He attended the University of Arkansas one year, 1908-09. He then went to Tyler, Texas and attended Tyler Commercial College about a year. He came back to Arkansas and worked at Nashville, Arkansas. He met my mother, Norma Sallie Graves, who was born Aug. 25, 1885, and they were married on November 6, 1911.

"At the time that my father and mother married, he was clerking in a store at Nashville, Arkansas. They came back to Center Point for a visit and I was born on my Grandfather Graves' farm about five miles west of Center Point. They moved to Nashville, Arkansas in 1924, and he clerked for Taylor's Variety Store for about two years. We moved back to Center Point in 1926, and he farmed and clerked in a grocery store. He took up construction work in about 1930, and followed that trade until he had a heart attack in 1946. He had belonged to the Carpenter's Union for several years and when he had sufficiently recovered from his heart attack to go back to work, the Carpenter's Local gave him a job as secretary in the Carpenter's Local. He worked there until about 1957, and retired. A heart seizure struck him on April 29, 1959, and he died instantly.

"During his lifetime my father was a devout member of the Methodist Church and was an ardent worker in the church. During his lifetime he served as Steward, Trustee, Sunday School Superintendent, Layman, and Sunday School teacher. At the time of his death he was a Trustee of the Ebenezer Camp Ground which the church at Center Point, Arkansas sponsored. I attended the 123rd annual encampment at the old camp ground with my mother, and brother this summer. My father had many friends in other denominations. It is interesting that he often taught Sunday School classes and made lay talks in churches of other faiths. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World and the Masonic Order. He had served as Master of the Masonic Lodge at Center Point for a number of years and had attended the Grand Lodge at Little Rock, Arkansas a number of times. The Masonic Lodge at Dierks, Arkansas conducted the graveside phase of his funeral service."

He settled in Arkansas after the war, as did two other brothers Charles and Oliver. He was a surveyor and lived near the town of Hope, Arkansas, where he died.

The daughter of Adolphus Anderson, Mrs. Carrie Anderson Marshall, who is now 87 years of age (November 9, 1960) and is living at Mission, Kansas, wrote recently. "Papa told a great deal of his boyhood. When we were children, I remember Papa and Mama and all the children and likely some of the kin would sit in a circle around the fire place to hear Papa tell of his happy-go-lucky youth. We never once got tired of listening." A niece, Mrs. Matty Anderson Cauthen wrote: "Uncle Dolph was my mother's favorite brother-in-law - more merry and demonstrative than the others. Uncle Dolph's home was at Hope, Arkansas. Arkansas was a far country then, and there wasn't much travel. Lula and Brother Joe used to write to his children, Effie, George and Carrie. We had nice photographs of the three. I have read beautiful letters that Effie wrote to Aunt Fannie describing the scenery in Arizona. She married an English engineer and lived there. She named her first baby Lewis Anderson for Papa. Aunt Fannie visited Carrie during the year that she was at Conway, Arkansas where Jones taught at Hendrix College and Aunt Fannie was with him there."

THOMAS BENTON ANDERSON

J. Thomas Benton Anderson, tenth child of Capt. George and Millie Smith Anderson was born December 31, 1834, at Waterloo, South Carolina. He was a graduate of Wofford College, Spartanburg, South Carolina. A niece, Mrs. Matty Anderson Cauthen, wrote: "According to a custom that continues to this day, he (Uncle Tom) was a Wofford College boy finding a wife in Spartanburg." He married Miss Fannie Margaret Walker, daughter of Rev. Alexander Walker, Methodist Minister, who was a twin brother of Rev. Charles Walker. Fannie Walker was born at Bennettsville, South Carolina, b. 1838, d. 1863. "She died within two years leaving him an infant son, Lionel K. This boy grew up in his grandmother Walker's home. His marriage to Miss Mildred Gentry was a happy one. He built a nice home on N. Church Street. I was entertained in Lionel's home while Father Cauthen was Presiding Elder of Spartanburg District in the 1890's."

The second wife of Thomas Benton Anderson was Harriet Walker, daughter of Rev. C. S. Walker of Spartanburg, and a cousin of his first wife. She was called "Hattie" or "Hattie Tom" by relatives to distinguish her from "Hattie Pat," wife of his brother, Patrick Henry Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson lived in a large two-story house later occupied by their daughter, Mrs. Jennie McChesney, and now owned by one of the Smith relatives of Waterloo. It was surrounded by a lovely flower garden which is so clearly remembered by the grandchildren. Thomas Anderson enlisted in the Confederate Army November 17, 1862, serving for two years.

After the War Between the States, he served as recruiting officer of Laurens County, South Carolina. In the troublesome "reconstruction" period he was Captain of the Waterloo Red Shirt Company.

Thomas Anderson was superintendent of the Sunday School of the Methodist Church of Waterloo for twenty-five or thirty years. He also taught the Bible Class there for years. He died September 25, 1911, and is buried in the Waterloo Cemetery.

LUCY WRIGHT ANDERSON BOOZER

K. Lucy Wright Anderson, eleventh child of Capt. George and Millie Smith Anderson, was born September 19, 1837, died August 4, 1918. She was named for her grandmother, Luey Wright of Virginia, wife of William Smith, founder of the Smith family of Stony Point.

She married Henry Dickson Boozer, farmer and merchant of the Smyrna community of Newberry County. Henry D. Boozer was the son of George Boozer, Esq., instrumental in founding Smyrna Presbyterian Church in 1838. To quote from Oneal's Annals of Newberry, "George Boozer, Esq., was always regarded as the leading man, as well as ruling elder in the church. His influence was great, both in the church and out of it." He and his son, Henry D. Boozer, held the office of Clerk of the Session of the church for over 50 years.

Henry D. Boozer and Luey Wright Anderson were married February 22, 1860. At the outbreak of The War Between the States, he enlisted in Company C. of the Holcomb Legion and served the four years of the conflict, being on the list of paroles of surrender at Appomattox, Virginia (South Carolina Archives in Columbia). His grave in the Smyrna Church cemetery is marked with the Confederate Cross of Honor.

When her husband went away to war, Lucy Anderson Boozer was left in the care of relatives and faithful slaves. Her grandchildren never tired of hearing her tell of these eventful times. Her first child, Heinie Boozer, was born while her husband was away at war. She and her husband lived a devoted married life of 58 years. Although Henry D. Boozer was a stern and strict Presbyterian elder, he was always sentimental about his wife. There were always two gardenia bushes by the garden gate tended by him as his favorite flower. As he used to tell the grandchildren, his sweetheart, Lucy Anderson, was wearing one when he met her.

Lucy Anderson Boozer was loved by all who ever came in contact with her. She was 81 years of age at her death. She is buried in the Smyrna Church cemetery.

She was a devoted Christian. A granddaughter, Mildred Wilson, remembers seeing her come from her large clothes closet on many occasions. She had taken literally the Scriptural admonition "When thou prayest enter into thy closet and when thou hast shut thy door, prayer to thy Father in secret". Can we doubt those prayers were answered?

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Luey Anderson Boozer, wife of Mr. H. D. Boozer was born September 19, 1837 at Waterloo, S. C., died at her home near Smyrna August 4, 1918. Eighty-one years, eleven months, fifteen days pilgrimage on life's rough highway. February 22, 1860 she was married to Mr. H. D. Boozer. Eight years ago, they celebrated their golden wedding. Four children blessed this union. Three are left to mourn the loss of a mother. Mrs. W. D. Senn, Mrs. V. C. Wilson, Mr. Ben Boozer. The eldest son, Thornwell, was drowned in Texas, 24 years ago. She was among 16 children of whom eleven brothers were in service at one time during the Confederate War.

She bore intense suffering for several months before she was called to her Heavenly abode. She seemed drawn nearer every day to her Savior, often expressing a desire to be with Him. To her children, she gave herself without measure. She had a simple, beautiful, strong faith in God and in that faith she found strength to live and in that faith she died with the perfect assurance and the light of glorious hope. In the death of Mrs. Boozer, Smyrna ehureh has sustained a great and irreparable loss. Therefore be it resolved:

That we bow to the will of Him who doeth all things well in the death of our friend and sister.

That as a society, we have lost in her death a faithful friend and helper.

That we mourn her departure and commend her example.

That we extend to her husband and children our love and sympathy.

That a page in our minutes be inscribed to her memory.

That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each county paper for publication.

"Life's duty done, as sinks the clay,
Light from its load the spirit flies,
While Heaven and Earth combine to say,
How blest the righteous when he dies."

PATRICK HENRY ANDERSON

O. Patrick Henry Anderson, fifteenth child of Captain George and Millie Smith Anderson, was born April 1, 1844. He enlisted in the Confederate Army at the age of seventeen in Co. A. 3rd Battalion, South Carolina Infantry, at Camp Hampton, South Carolina, under Col. Wm. G. Rice. He was transferred to Co. F. 3rd Regiment South Carolina Infantry, June 30, 1864. He was paroled at Greensboro, North Carolina, on May 2, 1865. The grandchildren remember hearing him tell of sleeping in the open and having to brush the snow off in the morning while serving in the Confederate Army. His hearing was impaired from so much exposure. He married Harriet Amanda Nelson February 14, 1866. Soon after marriage the Patrick Henry Andersons moved to Euharlee, Georgia, between Cartersville and Rome, where they lived for several years. Afterwards they returned to Waterloo, South Carolina where they lived the remainder of their lives, and reared a large family of eleven children.

The following was written by a granddaughter, Ruth Moore Forbes, of Greenwood: "This is copied from my grandfather's account in an old notebook written in pencil by him."

"November 24, 1869. We started on our move from Abbeville (county), S. C. by private conveyance. In company with Brother George and family, and Lewis Lloyd and his wife, Othella Nelson, for Euharlee, Bartow County, Georgia, where we arrived December 5, 1869. We remained with Elihu Nelson a few days; then we moved down on the Etowah River at Island Ford, on the Felix Baily estate, remaining there until November 29, 1870, when we moved to the Randall Place. We lived at the Randall Place until Jan. 4, 1872, when we moved to Taylorsville, remaining there until Nov. 1875. We moved this time because of so much sickness. On the 22nd day of Feb. 1876, we moved to the place I bought from Mr. John Colbert on Euharlee Creek. We sold this place in 1879 and the family went to Alvin Nelsons on the 5th day of Feb. 1879. We remained with Alvin until the 10th day of Feb. when we took the train for South Carolina. We were met by Brother Joe and he took us to his home where we remained until the 13th when we went to Waterloo—We moved to the Bell Wharton Place, formerly the Walker Place."

(My note): "This place was where they lived for the rest of their lives. It was located less than a mile east of the town and railroad station of Waterloo, a large old-time plantation house, large handhewn timbers, wide floor boards, enormous fireplaces of native stone work, the kitchen fireplace still had the cranes which had been used in earlier years for the cooking. In the yard boxwood hedges bordered many figures in a formal design. A few years ago my husband and I drove there to look at the old place, and I was sorry to see it—no vestige of the flowers, trees, and shrubs left, the porch had been torn away, colored people were living in it.

"It was during my childhood that I spent much time at this place visiting my grandparents, and memories bring a poignantly nostalgic feeling. My grandmother was very fond of all her in-laws and kinfolks and they were of her, and we spent many happy times visiting each other. She was a very busy person with all domestic activities—she taught me to sew and embroider when I was still quite small. I can still remember the delicious smell of her home-made bread just out of the oven, and the taste delight of a still warm slice spread with butter and sugar.

"The formal garden at the old home of our great grandparents, where Uncle Ben and Aunt Betty then lived, was such a lovely one. "Aunt Hattie Tom" had a beautiful flower garden, too, I remember seeing her work in it supervising her colored helpers. The long visits I made to Waterloo left many happy memories, and I knew them so well and have fond recollections of the kin folk and friends who lived there then."

TRIBUTE TO PATRICK HENRY ANDERSON

"God's Finger Touched Him and He Slept."

Mr. Patrick Anderson was born in Laurens County in 1844; died in Newberry March 28, 1917. Married on February 14, 1868, to Miss Harriett Amanda Nelson, who died six years ago.

A remarkable record is that he was one of the eleven brothers who were Confederate soldiers in the Civil War, ready to suffer and die for their beloved state—one of the most beautiful traits that marked the Southern spirit of this patriotic family. This brother was justly proud of the fact and was eager to see that this esprit de corps should never die in the hearts of his family. With a high sense of honor, the integrity of the sons in business life has been unquestioned and is their best homage.

His life was an example to neighbors and the community in which he lived so long (Waterloo). He reared a large family, who honor his memory as a good citizen and Christian gentleman.

He was a brave Confederate soldier and loved the flag to the end of a busy successful life as a planter, leaving to the family whom he so dearly loved not only a competence but a character that nothing can sully.

First Baptist Church, Greenwood, South Carolina
April 1, 1917

"Bro. P. H. Anderson passed suddenly and quietly to rest last Wednesday morning in Newberry. He had just suggested coming to Greenwood that day, little thinking that his body would be brought on the very train he spoke of taking. He was a man highly respected and reached the goodly age of seventy-four years. Of the immediate family there survive a brother, two sisters, four daughters and six sons. The sons acted as pall bearers, a tender and noble deed. Funeral and burial in City Cemetery (Magnolia Cemetery) Thursday morning. Those taking part in the simple services were brethren Miller, McGee, Smith, and DeMent."

THE TWO ANDERSON BROTHERS

Laurens, South Carolina

December 7, 1912

There reside at Waterloo two brothers, Patrick H. Anderson and Benjamin Anderson, aged 68 and 66 respectively, who are members of a prominent and historical Laurens family. Joel S. Anderson, an older brother, lives at Coronaca, Greenwood County. Together with two sisters, Mrs. Henry D. Boozer of Newberry and Mrs. Frank Fuller of Greenwood, they are the surviving members of a family of sixteen children — twelve boys and four girls. Eleven of these sons served in the Confederate Army. Only one, John W. Anderson, received a mortal wound.

The parents of this remarkable family of sons and daughters were George and Amelia Smith Anderson. They were well to do and among the most prominent and influential families of the country.

Writing to the Laurensville Herald, this week from Waterloo, the local correspondent, W. P. Culbertson, pays the following tribute to two of the Anderson boys, Patrick H. and Benjamin A. Anderson:

"If one attends church services at Waterloo, especially at the Methodist Church, he will notice two brothers, 66 and 68 years of age respectively, seated side by side on the front pew. These brothers very seldom fail to be present at all services, and they are there to participate in the worship and to show their humble devotion to the Great Head of the Church. Their respect and reverence for God and religious services are conspicuously performed. We have often thought that their conduct is eminently worthy to be emulated by the younger people of our day."
