INTRODUCTION.

In preparing a Genealogical Record of our branch of the RANDALL FAMILY, we have been impelled by a desire for facts, regardless of tradition, as to our ancestry.

A few years since, Mr. JOHN SWAN RANDALL, of Norwich, N. Y., sent to the compiler of this, a copy of the only record of our family known at the time. It embraced but few families, and no dates prior to 1754 that were authentic. Names were imperfectly arranged, with many errors and omissions. But with this as a base, we commenced investigating, with no especial object at first, aside from a wish to learn something more definite of our progenitors.

A letter from Hon. J. HAMMOND TRUMBULL, of Hartford, Ct., gave the first impetus to the work, and we desire to express to him our grateful acknowledgments, for the substantial aid he rendered.

From this point we commenced the search of early New England histories—town, church and other records—and a correspondence with individuals in various parts of the country.

We are under special obligations to Mr. JOHN WARD DEAN, Librarian of "The New England Historic Genealogical Society," for access to books and documents in his charge; to Rev. E. W. ALLEN, of Haverhill, Mass.; to Hon. J. D. BALDWIN, editor of Worcester (Mass.) Spy; and others, for information on various occasions. And within the limits of our own family, who have rendered material aid, in the collection of records, we name with pleasure, Miss HARRIET B. RANDALL, of Brookfield, N. Y.; Miss SALLY F. RANDALL, of Mystic River, Ct.; Mrs. SYBIL D. RANDALL, of Oneida, N. Y.; Miss EMMA L. RANDALL, of Norwich, N. Y.; Mrs. WILLIAM P. RANDALL, of Cortland, N. Y.; Mrs. R. A. HILLS, of Windham, Pa.; Mr. ROSWELL RANDALL, of Clinton, Mich.; Mr. MILO G. RANDALL, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Hon. S. S. RANDALL, of Morrisania, N. Y.; Hon. EDWARD HUNTINGTON, of Rome, N. Y.; Mr. CHARLES R. JOHNSON, of Norwich, N. Y.; and especially to Mrs. GRACE V. E. RANDALL, of Cortland, N. Y., or her untiring and efficient services in copying and comparing manuscript, in examining and correcting proof, in preparing an Index, and rendering assistance indispensable to the present completion of the work. Also, to Mr. FRANK ELDREDGE RANDALL, of Boston, Mass., who personally visited many towns in New England, searched their early records, and copied extracts pertaining to our family, examined libraries, and in various ways collected material for the Record; and for his services in correspondence, copying, planning, and arranging the work, and rendering such essential aid as entitle him to a great share of credit in the accomplishment of the undertaking.

We have found a few totally indifferent, even to the extent of withholding the records of themselves and families. Such instances, though rare, have added labor and caused much delay in the work.

Errors in names, places and dates, will doubtless be found in these pages, and we shall glad to have all such reported, so that corrections may be made. In some few cases, dates given by members of families are found to disagree with town records. In such instances we have generally followed the town records, presuming them to be the most reliable. Speculations and theories, as to the origin of the name, we leave to those who have time, taste or opportunities for such work.

The Coat of Arms of the RANDALL family—the head of the antelope, with the motto “Nil Extra Numerum”—will be found on the title page. This is copied from one received from the Rev. R. W. RANDALL, Vicar of All-Saints Church, Clifton, England.

The collection and arrangement of the records of families, scattered over a large part of our broad country, has required much time and labor. Families separated and individual members long lost to the home circle, have in several instances been found through the agency of the following circular, a copy of which has been sent to nearly every RANDALL whose post office address could be obtained :

To..... 187

DEAR SIR—There is, and has been repeatedly expressed, a general desire by our namesakes, to have the GENEALOGICAL RECORD OF THE RANDALL FAMILY, from their first settlement in this country, collected, arranged and printed in convenient form, for the satisfaction and benefit of these now living, and their descendants.

Recently the matter has been revived, and during the past year a few individuals have devoted a large share of their time and labor in searching early records, and corresponding with members of the family now living. The undertaking has so far satisfactorily progressed, and we are encouraged to persevere, with assurance of successful results.

And in this work we desire the aid of every member of the family who can furnish any information.

It is the wish to include in it, (when completed), every person of the name of RANDALL, and every person who has married into the family, male and female, living or dead, of this branch.

We intend, as far as possible, to give the place and date of birth, marriage, and death of each one, their occupation or profession, and their residence at different periods.

We desire, also, to include brief notices of any of the more prominent members of the family, and hope their descendants and friends will furnish us with such incidents, remarks, and biographical sketches as they may think proper.

Entire accuracy is desirable, and where it can be, should be had. In giving places name town and State, and in dates give month, day and year.

We hope and trust that every person who receives a copy of this circular, will, without unnecessary delay, give on the opposite page, by filling out the blanks, all the information desired, tracing back his ancestry as far as may be possible. And all collateral branches and descendants giving in regard to each individual, the place and date of his or her birth, death, marriage and to whom.

Town, County, Probate and Church records, family Bibles and grave stones, may be consulted often with great benefit.

And as this is a matter of equal interest and importance to each one who bears the name of RANDALL, we ask your hearty co-operation.

Please give this prompt and careful attention, and when filled out return this circular to the undersigned.

I am, faithfully yours,

No.

RANDALL GENEALOGY.

The family name of RANDALL is distinctly traceable back to the period of the Norman conquest of England, A. D. 1066. It first appears in the celebrated "Domes Day-Book" of William the Conqueror, in the assignment of lands to individuals bearing this name, as tenants in capite, immediately from the crown, and restricted to those who accompanied the Conqueror from his native Kingdom of Normandy, of which they may have been native citizens, or the descendants of those who came over from Denmark or Norway, with Rollo the Dane, at the beginning of the tenth century, A. D. 901.

The name of John Randall is of frequent occurrence in the year books, or records of legal proceedings and judicial decisions, from the beginning of the reign of Edward II. to the end of that of Henry VIII.—a period of about two hundred years from 1327 to 1547. In the topographical and genealogical survey of England, under date of April 30, 1570, there is a record of the marriage of John Randall to a Sussex heiress, and in 1600, of Levi Edward Randall to Ann Morgan, of Sussex.

From about 1620 to the end of the century, the names of several of the family appear in the ancient records and archives of the Northern and Eastern Colonies; but from their early diffusion it is really impossible to trace any one family of the present period from its English or American ancestors.

The present table is confined chiefly to the earliest ascertainable settlement of those branches of the Randall family in the Colonies of Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York and Massachusetts, designated herein as the New England settlers, and traceable from thence, to New York, Ohio, Indiana and other Western States.

There is much uncertainty regarding the early history of our ancestor, JOHN RANDALL, from whom we commence this genealogical record. It is known that several persons by the name of Randall were among the early settlers of New England.

William Randall, of Scituate, Mass., was a prisoner "from ye port of London, in the ship Expectacon, ye 24th of April, A. D. 1635, to the Island of Providence."

Widow Elizabeth Randall and her sons, Stephen and John, were at Watertown, Mass., in 1633.

Robert Randall was made freeman at Weymouth, Mass., in 1647; and Goodman Philip Randall, of Dorchester, Mass., was a freeman in 1634.

Abraham Randall sailed in company with Rev. John Wareham, from Plymouth, Eng., for Boston, Mass., 30th March, 1630, in the ship Mary and John.

Nathaniel, son and heir of John Randall, of Parish St. James, Clerkenwell Co., Eng., received a land grant in Groton, Ct., in 1650.

William Randall, of Newbury, Mass., born 1615.

But after the most thorough search and investigation, it is conclusive that our progenitor, JOHN RANDALL, of Westerly, R. I., was not a descendant of either of the above named families.

From a letter written January 1st, 1678, found by Mr. William R. Staples, among the old town records of Providence, R. I., it appears that in 1665 several members of the Newport, R. I., congregation removed to Westerly, R. I., and the record says, "sat down there under the preaching of Rev. John Crandal."

This letter, signed by John and Elizabeth RANDALL and four others, is addressed to the Newport Church, "from which they had come out." Thus we may fairly presume that Newport, R. I., was his first place of settlement in this country. But the destruction of both town and church records of Newport, early in the Revolution, deprives us of anything more satisfactory or definite than is here given.

In about 1671 the Westerly settlers embraced generally the seventh day Sabbath, and in 1708 they formed a separate church.

The following is a literal copy of the letter written to the Newport Church, referred to above:

Westerly, this 1st of the first month, 1678

We your brethren and sisters, assembled together at the houn of Tobias Sanders, wisheth you all grace mercy and peac in our Lord Jesus Crist and that boath you and we may stand feirn suer and stable in the faith and order of the Gospell til he comes who will com and will not long tarry to whom be prais onner and glory throughout all his churches world without end amen.

Regarding the early settlement of John Randall at Westerly, R. I., Hon. J. Hammond Trumbull writes as follows:

HARTFORD, Ct., Feb. 16th, 1875.

P. K. RANDALL, Esq.:

DEAR SIR—In reply to yours of 5th inst., I can do no more than give you the following extracts from my note book:

JOHN RANDALL was at Westerly, R. I., in territory claimed by Connecticut as in Stonington, in 1667, and a farmer in 1669. In 1670 he bought a lot of land on the Pawcatuck river, of Thomas Bell, and was admitted an inhabitant of Stonington, 30th November, 1670. In 1678 JOHN and Elizabeth RANDALL subscribe the letter of the Westerly Baptists. In 1682 JOHN RANDALL was a deputy from Westerly to the R. I. Assembly, and in 1679 took the oath of fidelity to Rhode Island.—Potter's Narraganset, Vol. II., page 103.

August 16, 1720, John and Matthew Randall—one aged about fifty-four and the other forty-nine—testify that they had lived the greater part of their lives on or near Pawcatuck river. Their deposition is in Connecticut archives. These probably were sons of John and Elizabeth Randall above mentioned.

A Stephen Randall had rights Chs. recorded at Stonington, between 1698 and 1719, &c.

[Extracts from Westerly (R. I.) Town Records.]

At a meeting of the free inhabitants of Westerly, May 18th, 1669, in which the town was started, &c.

At a court held in His Majesty's name, at Westerly, in the king's province, September 17th, 1669, JOHN RANDALL took the oath of allegiance.

Town meeting, September 22d, 1679. JOHN RANDALL was appointed on a Committee. April 29th, 1680. JOHN RANDALL was chosen Juryman.

September 21st, 1682. JOHN RANDALL and John Babcock chosen Deputies for the town, to attend the General Assembly to be held at Warwick, for the Colony, on the third Wednesday of October next.

Extracts from Town Records of Stonington, Ct., show that in 1670 Thomas Bell, of that town, sold to John Randall, then a citizen of Westerly, R. I., three hundred acres of land lying east of the Ashaway river—a part of which has to the present time (1878) been in the possession of the Randall family, and now occupied by Mr. Darius Hewitt Randall. The authorities of Stonington took exceptions to this sale to a citizen of Rhode Island, and on the 9th of August, 1670, at a legal meeting warned according to an order, "the town did generally manifest themselves, that they were not satisfied with Thomas Bell's propounding his land to the town, because it was propounded at a meeting of the freemen, and not at a legal town meeting." And therefore "the town do generally protest against Thomas Bell's act in selling his land to JOHN RANDALL, unless the said Randall come to Stonington and give satisfaction according to order and the law of the Colony."

November 30, 1670. JOHN RANDALL was admitted an inhabitant of Stonington. In 1685 Elizabeth, widow of JOHN RANDALL, petitioned for privilege to improve her deceased husband's land.—N. E. Reg., 1861.

JOHN and Elizabeth RANDALL, according to the best attainable evidence, had four sons, viz: John, Jr., Stephen, Matthew, and Peter. The first three are shown to be brothers, by records of land transfers, and the fourth—Peter—owned and occupied a portion of the three hundred acres of land in Stonington, left by his father, John Randall, and there seems no reasonable doubt of the family relationship as we give it.

In the following pages we have collected and arranged a record of John Randall, Jr., and his descendants—in the male line. It will be seen that his oldest son, Jonathan, and his youngest son, Joseph, are lost in the records. No trace of them has thus far been found.

As a matter of convenience, the records of the other three sons and their descendants are arranged as follows:

PART II.—JOHN RANDALL, 3d, and descendants.

PART III.—NATHAN RANDALL, and descendants.

PART IV.—BENJAMIN RANDALL, and descendants.

In the several wars in which our country has been engaged, our family has been faithfully represented. From Rhode Island and other New England States, a number of our name were among the patriots in the Revolution; and in the war of 1812, New England, New York and Pennsylvania were honorably represented by officers and soldiers, members of our family.

The war of the Rebellion called out a large number who enlisted in the Union ranks, and the fields of Atlanta, Port Hudson and Virginia, will long be remembered by households whose loved ones fell in the conflict, while the horrors of prison life and death at Salisbury and Andersonville hung like a pall over the homes made doubly sad and desolate, by the tortures and sufferings of the victims of that terrible scourge of modern warfare.

And, too, among those whose lot had been cast in the seceding States, we find a number enlisted in the ranks of the Confederate army, and thus, brother against brother, arrayed on the battle field to kill and devour each other.

His will of 19th May, 1658—probated 11th May, 1662—continued in Suffolk County Register, (for Stonington, then called Southerton, was claimed as part of Suffolk County, strange as such civil geography now seems), names Rebecca, his wife, and eleven children, naming in addition to the above, John, Jonas, William, Gershom and Eliza, but omits Rebecca, who married 20th April, 1665, Elisha Cheesebrough.

John, son of Robert, Sen., married 1st Aug., 1699, Susannah, widow of Thomas Wood. Her maiden name was Eastman. Her first husband and their only child, Susannah, were killed by the Indians, 15th March, 1669. Children of John and Susannah Swan, born in Haverhill, were John, Jun., b. 26th Dec., 1700; Ruth, b. 31st Dec., 1703; William, b. 24th June, 1706.

August 20th, 1708, the Indians again attacked the settlement, and the following account, taken from Chase's History of Haverhill, pages 222-3, records the scene:

"The Indians attacked the house of Mr. Swan, which stood in the field now called White's lot, nearly opposite to the house of Capt. Emerson. Swan and his wife saw them approaching, and determined if possible to save their own lives and the lives of their children from the knives of the ruthless butchers. They immediately placed themselves against the door, which was so narrow that two could scarcely enter abreast. The Indians rushed against it, but finding it could not be easily opened, they commenced their operations more systematically. One of them placed his back to the door, so that he could make his whole strength bear upon it, while the other pushed against him. The strength of the besiegers was greater than that of the besieged; and Mr. Swan being rather a timid man, (said our venerable narrator), almost dispaired of saving himself and family, and told his wife that he thought it would be better to let them in. But this resolute and courageous woman had no such idea.

"The Indians had now succeeded in partly opening the door, and one of them was crowding himself in, while the other was pushing lustily after. The heroic wife saw that there was no time for parleying; she seized the spit, which was nearly three feet in length, and a deadly weapon in the hands of a woman, as it proved; collecting all the strength she possessed, drove it through the body of the foremost. This was too warm a reception for the besiegers. It was resistance from a source and with a weapon they little expected; and surely who else would ever think of spitting a man? The two Indians thus repulsed immediately retreated, and did not molest them again. Thus, by the fortitude and heroic courage of a wife and mother, this family was probably saved from a bloody grave."

In the fall of 1809 or '10, Mr. Swan, with his wife and three children, removed to Stonington, Ct., their conveyance being a wagon with one horse. Mrs. Swan lived to complete a century, and died in Stonington, Ct., 20th Dec., 1772, and was buried in the old burying ground near Gallap's Factory, about a mile from Milltown, in N. Stonington. The spot where Mr. Swan first located in Stonington extended into the village, to a point where the Ossakonk Brook unites with the river.

RELATIONSHIPS AS RECOGNIZED IN LAW,

PREPARED BY HON. D. L. FOLLETT.

LINEAL CONSANGUINITY is that relationship by blood which subsists between persons of whom one is descended in a direct line from the other, as between son, father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and so upwards in a direct ascending line, or between son, grandson, great-grandson, and so downwards in a direct descending line.

COLLATERAL CONSANGUINITY is that relationship by blood which subsists between persons, who, although descended from the same common ancestor, are not descended from him in the same direct line, but by different lines, or collaterally to each other. Thus, nephews descend from a common ancestor by different lines, and are collaterally related.

By the civil law, which is generally followed in the United States, the degree of consanguinity between two persons collaterally related, is ascertained by ascending from one to the common ancestor, then by descending to the other person, counting a degree for each person in the ascending and descending lines. (4 Kent's Com., 412.)

ILLUSTRATION.

James and John are second cousins, and collaterally related in the sixth degree. From James to his father is one degree, to his grandfather is two degrees, to his great-grandfather is three degrees—descending to John's grandfather is four degrees, to John's father is five degrees, to John is six degrees. (Silcox v. Bell, 1 Simons & Stuart, 303.)

COUSINS.

The terms first cousin, (or cousin german,) first cousin once, twice or more times removed, second cousin, second cousin once, twice, or more times removed, and so on through succeeding generations, are employed to express the relationship existing between the descendants of brothers and sisters. (Wharton's Law Dictionary, title, Cousin; Mayott v. Mayott, 2 Brown's C. Reps.; Silcox v. Bell, 1 Simons & Stuart, 301; Shule v. Fooks, 9 Simons, 366.)

ILLUSTRATION.

James and John, the children of brothers or sisters, are first cousins, or cousins german: the child of James and the child of John, (children of first cousins,) are second cousins. The grandchild of James, and the grandchild of John, (children of second cousins,) are third cousins, and so on through each succeeding generation. James and John being first cousins, the child of John is the first cousin, once removed of James, and the grandchild of John is the first cousin, twice removed of James, and so on through each succeeding generation.

AFFINITY is that relationship which subsists by marriage, between the husband and the blood relations of the wife, and between the wife and the blood relations of the husband.

In the year 1800 he removed to Norwich, in the same County, where he purchased of Avery Power two hundred and eighty-six acres of land, located south of the village, for which he paid $4,100. It is known as the Randall farm, and embraces some of the most valuable and productive land in that section: a portion of the land is still owned by his descendants. John Randall was one of the constituent members of the first Baptist Church of Norwich, organized 18th Aug., 1814, of which his brother, Rev. Jedediah Randall, was the first pastor.

NOTE 242.—Rev. Jedediah Randall was among the early settlers of Chenango County, at Norwich, N. Y., and in the two-fold capacity of preacher and farmer he was a valued citizen and highly esteemed. His farm, in the southern part of the village, is now mostly cut up into village lots. August 13th, 1814, the preliminary meeting for the purpose of organizing a Baptist Church, was held at his house, and at a subsequent meeting, 18th Aug., 1814, the Church, with fifteen members, was instituted, of which he became the first pastor. They worshiped in the dwelling house of Elder Randall until 1817, when the first Baptist meeting house was built. He served the Church as pastor, till 1824, during which time he received an injury by which his left arm was paralyzed so that he was unable to administer the ordinance of baptism, and was under the necessity of calling upon his neighbors—ministers of other churches—to officiate.

NOTE 132-253.—Hon. William Randall, of Stonington, was born in 1768, and filled with honor and eminent success many offices, military and civil, and other positions of trust and responsibility, among which were the following: He was Lieutenant Colonel Commandant of the 30th Regiment of Connecticut Militia during the war of 1812, (that office corresponding with Colonel in later organizations,) and had command of his Regiment when it was called out in 1813 and in 1814 for the defense of the State, notably at Stonington, in August, 1814, when and where, during the repulse of Com. Hardy's attack and subsequent operations, he was, a part of the time, in chief command of the militia assembled there. In the General Assembly of Connecticut, during six sessions, he was a member of the Lower House, and in 1822 he had a seat in the Upper House, as one of the twelve Senators, elected by general ticket, of which that body was then composed. In 1818 he was a member of the Convention which framed the Constitution of the State of Connecticut, as delegate from the town of Stonington. During sixteen consecutive years, from 1818 to 1833, inclusive, he held the position of Associate Judge of the County Court of New London County, by annual appointment by the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut, by which authority he was also annually appointed a Justice of the Peace during twenty-eight years, and he held responsible offices in the town of Stonington. The first President of the Stonington Bank, organized in 1822, he held the office some eight years.

NOTE 408.—William Randall, the fifth son of Robert and Lucy (Pendleton) Randall, was born at Stonington, Ct., 3d May, 1782, where his father resided on a farm. In 1793 the family removed to Brookfield, Madison County, N. Y., where most of his early life was passed, and where he first engaged in business as a merchant, in partnership with his younger brother, Roswell.

In 1812 the two brothers removed to Cortland, N. Y., and established a store, carrying on a large and constantly increasing business, the result of their sagacity and enterprise. Here Mr. Randall laid the foundation of his fortune, investing somewhat largely in land in the vicinity. When the partnership between himself and his brother was dissolved, they both continued the business separately: William erected the large brick store, which was afterwards used as the office of the Randall Bank, and Roswell built the "Eagle Store," and these two were centres of trade in that region.

Mr. Randall became interested in the business of banking, and was for many years President of the Bank of Ithaca, a very successful institution, to which he made frequent visits, driving over from Cortland early in the morning and returning in the evening. A large portion of the paper discounted by the Bank was sent forward by him, thus meeting the wants of borrowers in the region about Cortland, and any bills that he recommended were discounted as a matter of course. He had cultivated his talent as a business man with great success. His large and beautiful farm near Cortland village received much of his attention, and he was daily on horseback at an early hour, visiting his lands and directing his laborers, and prided himself much upon the perfection of his arrangements: having handsome buildings well adapted to their various uses, clean fields, good fences, choice cattle, horses and other live stock, and growing wool to a considerable extent. His farm was considered a model one, and was a source of great enjoyment to him, and of considerable profit.

Mr. Randall married, in 1815, Betsey Bassett, daughter of Joshua and Lydia (Lawrence) Bassett of Cortland, and became the father of three children, all of whom survive him, viz: William Randolph, who established the Randall Bank, and who now occupies the fine mansion and grounds of his father; Antoinette, who married Edward Huntington, of Rome, N. Y.; and Wilhelmina, who resides with her brother. Mr. Randall died peacefully on the 23d Dec., 1850, his widow surviving him until March 28th, 1857.

Among the marked characteristics of Mr. Randall, were his keen enjoyment of social life, especially of the society of the young; his large and generous hospitality, being always pleased to have his house filled with guests; his great fondness for children, with whom he would frolic and play with great enjoyment both to them and to himself, oftentimes picking one up on his horseback rides to the farm, and mounting him before him, or letting them climb into his wagon and pack themselves into all its corners; his strong and clear mind, and his business sagacity, equally shown in judging of a financial operation or the points of a horse or steer. His taste was exhibited in the beautiful garden and grounds which surrounded his house, in the choice collection of exotics which filled his green-house, and in the great number of shade trees which he planted as successors to the lofty and magnificent elms which tradition says once occupied the same locality. His grounds, together with those of his brother, Gen. Roswell Randall, which adjoined them, have ever formed the principal feature of the village; and the good example set by these pioneers par mobile fratrum, has borne fruit in the numbers of flower decorated grounds, which are so marked a feature now of the beautiful village of Cortland.

NOTE 421.—Gen. Roswell Randall was born in 1786. He was the son of Robert and Lucy Randall, and a native of Stonington, Ct. He received a good academic education, and studied law in the office of Stephen O. Runyon, of Oxford, N. Y. He was married to Harriet Stephens, daughter of Dr. Josiah Stephens, Jr., in the year 1810; about the same period he gave up the practice of law, and engaged in merchandise with his brother, William Randall. They commenced business in Brookfield, N. Y., but removed to Cortland, N. Y., in 1813. They continued in partnership for many years, Roswell more especially taking charge of indoor business, and William, of their farming and other pursuits; each was highly fitted to perform successfully his respective duties. The partnership was finally dissolved, and Roswell built the "Eagle Store," a very large and fine structure for that day, and did an extensive business for many years.

For a number of years he was Postmaster at Cortland village, but he had no ambition for political office. He had a decided fondness for military matters, and commencing at the lowest office of the Militia Regiment, in Cortland, he held in succession every intermediate one up to the rank of Brigadier General, refusing repeatedly to be promoted over superiors in rank. In the good old days military commissions conferred high honor. "General Training" was almost the capital event of the year, in the rural districts, and General Randall enjoyed it hugely. He was a man of remarkably fine appearance; "sat a horse" splendidly, and when he appeared on the field, surrounded by his staff, the elite of the young men of the County, it presented a spectacle yet rife in the traditions of the people.

He was a man of cultivated taste and extensive reading. A common-place book of his is still extant, into which in early youth he transcribed some of the finest gems of literature. He was familiar with many of the best English classics; his admiration of Shakspeare was unbounded, and after age dimmed his eye sight he delighted to hear selections from his favorite plays read by members of his family. Of strictly temperate habits, genial in disposition and manners, a kind husband and indulgent father, his home was long the centre of the kindest social affections, and his spacious residence in Cortland was the seat for many years of unbounded hospitality.—Cortland County Atlas.

NOTE 466.—Capt. Charles Randall followed his father and the other members of his family to Pharsalia, in May, 1798, then in his nineteenth year. With three yoke of oxen he was three weeks on the road, crossing the Hudson at Catskill.

In 1800 he accompanied his father and family to the old farm in Norwich. In 1812 he went with the Regiment of Col. Thompson Mead, in the capacity of Lieutenant, to the Niagara frontier, where, in the severely contested battles in October, on Queenstown Heights, with the British troops and Indians, commanded by Gen. Brock, he distinguished himself for his bravery and efficiency, receiving the highest commendation from Generals Van Rensselaer and Scott, under whose command he served.

Mr. Clark says of this engagement: "On the morning of the 13th October, at early dawn, one hundred of the Regiment took the boats and crossed from Lewiston to Queenstown. Col. Thompson Mead, Captains Bacon, of Broome, Wasson and Root, Lieutenants Charles Randall and John Fields, were with the men. On their way across the ferry they met Col. Van Rensseler returning in a boat, badly wounded. A speedy landing in good order was effected, and the men formed and ascended the mountain, taking position in open fields on its apex, a few rods to the south of Gen. Brock's monument, and only about thirty rods from the line of Indians, secreted behind forest trees and a heavy rail fence.

Col. Mead was repeatedly fired upon, while passing to and fro giving orders to his men. Sergeant Mann was shot standing by his side and branches of trees over his head were cut by rifle bullets. The aim of the savages was every instant growing more precise and fatal. Lieutenant Charles Randall, seeing the dangerous position of his Company, hastily beat up for volunteers to drive the savages, and to take shelter in their secure retreat. The charge succeeded in putting the red men to flight, with some loss in their number, and the troops had a few hours of repose before the closing scene of the protracted contest.

The total loss of the Americans in this battle was estimated at one thousand men. One hundred were killed, two hundred captured, and about three hundred of the remainder surrendered, with Gen. Scott, as prisoners of war. The prisoners, including Col. Mead's Corps, were taken to Niagara, and from thence to Newark. Lieutenant Randall conversed freely with his British captors at Newark, who appeared greatly to admire the pluck and daring by which the Indians were so promptly and effectually driven from their dangerous ambush. On the 19th or 20th of October the prisoners were all discharged on parole, and the surviving members of the Chenango Regiment returned home.

In 1817 he was converted, and with thirty-two others, on the 17th day of January, was baptized into the fellowship of the Baptist Church in Norwich, of which he was chosen a deacon, 2d January, 1819, a position which he acceptably filled for nearly fifty years.

After spending a few years in Norwich village, in the leather manufacturing business, in company with Truman Enos, he retired to a farm on the east side of the Chenango river, opposite to that of his father on the west, which he cultivated until a few years preceding his death, when he again removed to the village. His life was a long and busy one, and his best and most active energies were devoted, for more than half a century, to the welfare and prosperity of the Church, his family, and the community in which he lived. He died, at the age of ninety-two years, two months and six days, of old age.

In 1824 he retired to the old family farm of his father-in-law, Capt. John Randall, a large part of which he became the owner, by purchase or devise. Soon after the death of Elder Jedediah Randall, in 1844, he took possession of the residence and farm of the latter, devised to him by will, where he continued to reside until the period of his death, in a good old age. He was, during many years preceding this event, an exemplary and devoted member of the Norwich Baptist Church, as was also his wife. As Supervisor of the town, for a long succession of official terms, he continued to retain the highest confidence and regard of the community in which he resided.

"Died—At Andersonville, Ga., Oct. 12th, 1864, Cyrus W. Randall, of Co. E., 124th Regiment Ill. Volunteers, aged 26 years, 3 months, 21 days.

"The subject of the above enlisted in Capt. Sidney's Company, at Aurora, in August, 1862; was in Grant's memorable siege of Vicksburgh: accompanied Sherman's expedition through Northern Mississippi and Alabama, in the early part of 1863, where he was taken prisoner the 28th of February, and confined at Andersonville, suffering the horrors of starvation and barbarity in the rebel prison there until his death.

"He was a young man of unexceptional character, and a soldier of reputation for bravery and attention to duty. He is remembered with love and respect by all who were associated with him in civil life."

He made a profession of religion, and united with the Union Baptist Church (Aurora) a few years before he entered the army.

NOTE 856.—Hon. Henry Stephens Randall was born at Brookfield, Madison County, New York, May 3d, 1811, and was the oldest son of Gen. Roswell Randall. He prepared for College in Cortland and Geneva Academies, and was graduated at Union College, in 1830, a marked favorite of its celebrated President, Dr. Eliphalet Nott. He studied law in the office of his maternal uncle, Hon. Henry Stephens, for a long time first Judge of the County, and subsequently in the office of William H. Shankland, since a Justice of the Supreme Court. He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court, in January, 1834, but did not enter on the practice of law, as that had never been his intention. During both his literary and law studies he had devoted particular attention to the constitutional and political history of the country. The result was, that he became an ardent believer in the Jeffersonian theory of our Government. He wrote articles for the party papers which were extensively republished; was chosen a member of political conventions before he was of age, and on the Democratic paper of his County breaking down, purchased and edited it to prevent its discontinuance. He was the youngest regular member of the National Democratic Convention of 1835, which nominated Mr. Van Buren to the Presidency. In 1839 he accepted the position of unpaid visitor of schools, and that of County Superintendent of Schools, when that office was created. The manner in which he discharged his duties, and his writings on schools and education, led to overtures to him to become State Superintendent of Schools in several different States. But these engagements did not prevent him from giving his zealous attention to agriculture. He was one of the active founders of the present State Agricultural Society, and one of its officers for many years. He originally moved, in the Executive Committee, to hold a State Fair—the first one, we believe, which was held in the United States. In 1847-48 he wrote "Sheep Husbandry in the South," a work which had an extraordinary circulation, and produced important results on the wool-growing industry of the country. He was nominated by the Democratic party of the State of New York, for Secretary of State, in 1849, but was defeated with the rest of his ticket; he was again nominated in 1851, and elected. His strongest inducement for accepting the office was, that it constituted him ex-officio State Superintendent of Common Schools.

Having determined to write a biography of President Jefferson, he retired from public life at the close of 1853, and devoted himself to his congenial task. It was undertaken under the full sanction of Mr. Jefferson's family, and with the aid of their recollections and such of the private papers of Mr. Jefferson as remained in their possession. A portion of it was written and the proof-sheets read during a painful illness. The first volume was published in 1853, and the others at intervals. It was received with marked favor by the newspaper press of all parties, and as a text-book by politicians of the Jeffersonian school; and Mr. Randall had the satisfaction of receiving the warm approbation of all of Mr. Jefferson's descendants for his entire work. The general estimation in which it was held in Virginia, was evinced by a unanimous resolution of its Legislature, inviting him, as the "Biographer of Jefferson," to be present as the guest of the State at the inauguration of the Statue of Washington, in Richmond, February 22d, 1858. Mr. Irving received the same invitation, as the "Biographer of Washington." They were the only authors thus honored.

Mr. Randall has written several agricultural works, some of which have been republished in foreign countries. He has also published, with or without signatures, papers on a great variety of topics. Brown University, at the instance of its distinguished President, Dr. Wayland, conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Laws, and he has received a multitude of honorary appointments from literary, scientific and agricultural bodies. His correspondence with foreign literary and scientific persons has been considerable. It was in letters addressed to him, in 1857, that Lord Macaulay poured out those burning strictures on American institutions, which, on their publication in 1860, and republishment in 1877, so greatly surprised his friends and admirers on both sides of the Atlantic.

Mr. Randall was a member of the National Democratic Convention at Charleston, in 1860. He supported the war to put down the Rebellion, and was Chairman of the Military Committees appointed in his County. He was unanimously nominated for Senator in his district, in 1857, and was beaten by between seven and eight hundred less votes than the rest of the Democratic ticket. He was unanimously nominated for Congress in 1868, but declined.

He was at the time of his death, and had been since their organization in 1865, President of the National Wool Growers' Association, and of the New York State Wool Growers' Association. He drafted a portion of the Wool Tariff of 1867, and was Chairman of the Wool Growers' Committee which met a similar Committee of manufacturers, and an officer of the United States Treasury, to pass upon the samples of wool to be placed in the United States Custom Houses under the provisions of the act. He was appointed one of the Government Examiners at West Point in 186—. When the State Normal School was organized in Cortland village, in 1868, he was made one of the Trustees and President of the Board. Contrary to his wishes he was nominated for Member of Assembly in 1871; he ran very largely ahead of his ticket, and was elected the first Democratic Member of Assembly in Cortland County for many years.

NOTE 945.—Nathan Randall commenced his business career in 1827, as a journeyman printer in the office of the "National Advocate," edited by Mordecai M. Noah, in the City of New York, and in 1830, after declining the offer of partnership with James Gordon Bennett, in the establishment of the "New York Herald," he became editor of the "Chenango Patriot," at Greene, Chenango, Co. In 1832 he transferred himself to Pulaski, Oswego Co., as editor of the "Palaski Banner." Soon afterward he removed to Ithaca, Tompkins Co., and became connected with the publication of the "Ithaca Journal." From thence he removed to Cortland, Cortland Co., where he became an extensive stage proprietor; after which he became actively engaged in the manufacture of salt at Syracuse, Onondaga Co. Here he became identified with the great railroad interests of the State and Union, Brazil, in South America, Guatemala and San Jose, in Central America, and Mexico. Transferring his head-quarters to the City of New York, he visited London with the view of securing the co-operation of the prominent capitalists of that Metropolis in his extensive undertakings. On his return to America, in April, 1872, he embarked on the steamer for Aspinwall, with his grandson Nathan, a lad of fourteen. On arriving at Panama he took the steamer for San Jose. A landing was made at La Libertad, for coal and freight, and while waiting there the steamer Constitution came along, and in order to meet friends they took passage in it as far as Acajutla, to there await the coming of steamer Honduras. It soon made its appearance, but did not enter the harbor.

Mr. Randall supposed a small boat would be sent for him, but a rough sea prevented it. Accordingly he went on board a coffee barge in charge of some natives, which took him to the steamer. In endeavoring to reach the cabin (it being quite dark) he fell through an open hatchway, down a distance of thirteen feet, striking his head and shoulders upon a mass of railroad iron in the lower hold. As soon as possible he was taken out, and in an unconscious and dying condition was taken to the steamer Constitution, en route for San Francisco. He died the following day, May 18th, and his remains were conveyed to Syracuse, N. Y., and buried in Oak Wood Cemetery.

He was a man of great energy, enterprise and industry.

NOTE 974.—Paul K. Randall early in life engaged in teaching, which he pursued for several years in Chenango and Cattaraugus Counties.

In 1846 he entered upon the study of Medicine, under the supervision of Dr. Harvey Harris, of Norwich. Upon the completion of his studies and lecture courses at Albany, he formed a partnership with Dr. Whitford, of De Ruyter, N. Y., as druggist. In 1851 he removed to Ogdensburg, N. Y., where he remained about two years, and then made a residence at Syracuse, N. Y., where he engaged with his brother Nathan, in the manufacturing of coarse salt.

In 1854 he accepted the position of traveling agent of the Great Western and Michigan Central Railways, and in the following year these Companies decided to open an office in Boston, Mass., as headquarters for their New England business, where Dr. Randall, having received the appointment of General New England Agent to superintend the passenger and freight interests of these Companies, discharged for more than twenty years the responsible and laborious duties devolved upon him, to the entire satisfaction of the officers and stockholders of the Companies, and of the traveling and freighting public at large.

In consequence of severe and protracted illness he was compelled to relinquish his position, and his resignation was accepted Jan. 1st, 1875, with the explicit and gratifying assurances of their continued confidence, respect and esteem.

In early life Mr. Randall took an active interest in military affairs, and Aug. 30th, 1841, was commissioned by Gov. Seward as Paymaster in the 105th Regt., 32d Brigade and 17th Div. N. Y. State Militia; and in the same Regt., July 4th, 1842, was commissioned Quartermaster; and Aug. 30th, 1842, received an Adjutant's commission. Aug. 21st, 1843, Gov. Wm. C. Bouck signed his commission as Colonel of the same Regiment, which office he held until Aug. 9th, 1848, when Adjutant General Samuel Stevens accepted his resignation.

Mr. Randall has for a number of years been a member of the Shawmut Avenue Baptist Church, Boston, Mass., where he still holds a residence. s. s. n.

NOTE 1500.—Nathan Randall, third son of John Randall, Jr., was admitted Freeman of Westerly, R. I., 4th May, 1736. He was a farmer in Westerly till about 1750-1, when he removed to Voluntown, where he bought lands—160 acres of Amos Kinney, (3d Aug., 1750,) for “Two thousand and five hundred, money of ye ‘Old tener’ bills”—20 acres of Andrew Elliot, (6th April, 1755,) for “Five hundred Pounds in good and passable bills of credit ‘Old tener.’” He married first, Mary Cottrell, 16th Dec., 1730; and second, her sister, Eleanor Cottrell, 22d July, 1736. The record of this second marriage in Westerly is as follows:

“Westerly Kings County and Colony of Rhode Island July ye 22d 1736.”
“This may certify to all people that Nathan Randall and Elinor Cottrill both of above town—county and Colony, are married.”

By me SAMUEL BABCOCK
Justice of the Peace.

From Mr. Palmer Ray we have received a copy of Nathan Randall's family Record, as kept by himself.

- "Joseph Randall was born Sept. ye 8th 1733, in Stonington."
- "Nathan Randall was born Oct. ye 10th 1735, in Westerly."
- (Mary, the former wife of ye said Nathan Randall departed this life Dec. ye 2d, 1735.)—Westerly, R. I., Town Records.

- "Jonas Randall was born in Voluntown September ye 8th 1756."
- "Reuben Randall Departed this life September ye 9th 1757. At Fort Edward New York with smallpox—Aged 20 years."

We have no record of the date of his (Nathan Randall's) death, or of the death of his second wife.

He sold to his son Amos 45 acres of land, Nov. 16, 1768, and 70 acres to his son Peleg, March 29th, 1773.

In the year 1796 and following witnessed the great exodus of the descendants of Nathan Randall. Oneida, Madison, Onondaga, Saratoga and Essex Counties, New York, were selected as their future homes by some, while others settled in Vermont and Eastern Connecticut, and but few were left in Voluntown, as representatives of the original family.

While crossing the Hudson River in a scow, one of their oxen became frightened and leaped overboard, and a cow was duly installed as yoke-fellow for the surviving ox; at another time a large band of Indians plundered them of beds and bedding and other effects.

NOTE 1575-1814.—Nicholas Phillips Randall, at the age of fifteen, resolved upon securing the benefits of a liberal education. His father, with a large family and limited means, could aid his son but little in securing the desired blessing; and thus dependent upon his own resources he fitted for college and graduated with distinguished honor at Yale, in the class of 1803.

Directly after leaving college, he entered the law office of Messrs. Hotchkiss & Simons, at Clinton, N. Y., where he completed his professional studies, and was admitted to the Bar. In 1807 he opened an office in New Hartford, N. Y., and in 1811 he removed to Manlius, N. Y., and formed a partnership with James O. Wattles, Esq., which, after a short period, was dissolved. He continued the practice of law during the remainder of his life, with marked ability and success.

In 1791 he united with the Baptist Church at Voluntown, Ct., and 20th July, 1811, was dismissed to the Baptist Church at Lenox, N. Y. He finally embraced the creed of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and for a number of years he filled the station of Vestryman and Warden in the Church at Manlius, the latter of which he held at the time of his death.

NOTE 1764-2133.—Franklin Peleg Randall, as the custom was with farmers' sons, worked on his father's farm during the summers and attended the district school in the winters until 18 years of age. He then attended Cortland Academy one year, and Hamilton Academy two years. After teaching a select school in Bridgewater, a year or two, he went to Williamsport, Pa., in 1835, and read law in the office of Judge Ellis Lewis, who was for many years Chief Justice of that State.

In April, 1838, he located at Fort Wayne, Ind., and commenced the practice of law. In 1840 he was elected School Commissioner of Allen County, and had for four years the management and control of all the schools and school lands of the County.

When the town decided to become a city, Mr. Randall was selected to write out a city charter, which was passed into a law by the Legislature, without the change of a word.

In 1847 he was elected to the State Senate from the district composed of the Counties of Allen, Adams, Wells and Huntington. In 1855 he was appointed by Governor Hammond, General of the 10th Division of State Infantry, and in 1856 was appointed Director of the State Prison South, by Gov. Willard. In 1859 he was elected Mayor of Fort Wayne, and was re-elected four times, making ten years of service in this office.

Mr. Randall, in selecting his library, made a specialty of collecting old and rare books, and has several written on parchment before the art of printing was known. Among these is an illuminated copy of the Bible, written in Latin, in the 12th century: also about thirty books printed prior to A. D. 1500—some of which are very rare and valuable—all in Latin or Greek: a copy of Virgil's writings, four hundred years old; a copy of the Bible in Latin, printed in 1474; also, a Bible in twelve languages, printed in 1520 (very rare). The Book Catalogue of the British Museum says that there are but four copies of this Bible now to be found. A copy of the Koran, in Arabic, and many other old books not found in the largest libraries of our colleges or cities.

CAROLINE AMELIA SLADE, b. at Somerset, Mass., 5th June, 1833.

NOTE 1857-2340.—Charles Bertrand Randall, at the age of fourteen, commenced his preparatory course of study, and in 1848 entered Brown University, R. I., and graduated in "Class 1852." He entered the office of Senator Harris, at Albany, N. Y., the same year, as a law student, and graduated at the Law School in that city.

He commenced to practice in Syracuse, N. Y. When President Lincoln issued a call for seventy-five thousand men, Mr. Randall was among the first to respond, and entered the service as Lieutenant in "Company 'A,' 12th Regiment, New York State Volunteers."

He was in the first "Bull Run" battle, July, 1861, in command of the first skirmishing party, of the Union Army, and was highly complimented for gallantry. He was soon promoted, receiving a Captain's commission. In the spring of 1862 the march to Richmond, under General McClellan, was undertaken. Yorktown, Williamsburgh, Hanover Court House, Malvern Hill, Fair Oaks, and Seven Pines, were in the route. At Gaines' Mills the Union troops were defeated. Capt. R. rising from a sick bed to take part in the action. The effort proved too much for his strength at the time, and was followed by severe illness.

As soon as his health was sufficiently restored he rejoined his Regiment in the field. Gen. McClellan's attempt to reach Richmond via Fortress Monroe had proved a failure, and he was superseded by Gen. Burnside, who commanded in the battle of Fredericksburgh, in which the Union troops suffered a defeat. In this battle Capt. Randall distinguished himself by his bravery and coolness, at one time bearing a message to the Brigade commander in another part of the field, amid the thickest of the fight. When our army re-crossed the Rappahannock, his Regiment was the last to pass over the pontoon bridge. Not far from this time he was appointed Judge Advocate of a Court Martial for the trial of some officers of rank.

When his term of enlistment expired, he returned to Syracuse, but soon after he again entered the service, as Major of the 149th N. Y. Regiment, (then in the field.) On the eve of his departure from Syracuse, a purse of $200.00, to be expended in the purchase of a horse and trappings, was presented him by his many friends. He was soon promoted and received a commission of Lieut. Colonel, but the duties of Colonel fell to him by the disability of the commander of the Regiment. In the battle of Gettysburgh he was severely wounded, and for many weeks received the tender care of a devoted wife. After his wounds were sufficiently healed he joined his Regiment, which had been transferred to the Army of the Cumberland. The battles of Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge, in which Gen. Hooker commanded, the 149th Regiment took a conspicuous part.

In the spring of 1864 Gen. Sherman commenced his "march through the south to the sea," via Atlanta. In the battle of Resaca, Col. Randall was thanked by Gen. Hooker, and congratulated on his success in capturing a battery of four guns. From Resaca the army marched on to Atlanta. In the battle of Peach Tree Creek, before Atlanta, Ga., in the second charge up the hill, Col. Randall was shot through the breast and instantly killed, while leading his Regiment against the enemy, on the 20th day of July, 1864.

[For a full account of Col. Randall's life services, see "Memorial" dedicated to his memory by his companions of the 12th and 149th Regiments N. Y. State Volunteers.]

Part IV.—Benjamin Randall and Descendants.

Very little is known of the life of Benjamin Randall. We find by the Records he was admitted a Freeman, of Colchester, Ct., 6th Dec., 1763, but probably he was there several years before this date.

A grandson (Mr. Joseph Randall,) (1878), now living in Janesville, Wis., is our authority for giving Stonington as the birthplace of all his children, the youngest of which was born 1758. His son Rufus was married in Colchester, 1757, and his daughter Mary in 1760. Sylvester is mentioned in the Town Records of 1762. By these it may be presumed that his settlement in Colchester was not far from 1755-6.

We have found the tracing of his descendants exceedingly difficult and the results quite unsatisfactory in some cases, as will be seen by the records, in the omission of a number of families, and the want of dates in others.

During the later years of 1700 and the early part of 1800, A. D., the greater share of his descendants removed to Albany, Herkimer, Oswego, Otsego, Chenango and Monroe Counties, New York; and Benjamin, Jr., settled in Shelburne, Mass.

He is represented as possessing great physical powers and endurance, and some of his dealings with the lawless and troublesome elements of the half-formed society in this new country are repeated at the present time, as "reminiscences of early days in Colchester."

He died 15th June, 1811, aged 96 years and 13 days. His descendants are more numerous than those of either of his elder brothers, John, 3d, and Nathan, and are if possible more widely scattered.

NOTE 3598.—Whitaker Powell Randall studied law and was admitted to practice. At the breaking out of the rebellion he enlisted Aug. 1st, 1861, in the Lone Star (Texas) Rifles, Co. L and left for Virginia, where, with other Companies, it constituted the first Texas Regiment, commanded by Col. Lewis T. Wigfall, in Hood's Brigade—first in Jackson's and then in Longstreet's Corps.

He was 2d Corporal, and was in the battles of Seven Pines, Malvern Hill, and second Manassas, in the last of which he was wounded. After his recovery he rejoined his Company, and was at the battles of Suffolk, Fredericksburgh, Gettysburgh, Chickamanga and Knoxville. On the return of Longstreet's Corps from East Tennessee, being on forced marches, it reached the field while the battle of the Wilderness was being fought. Gen. Lee ordered the Brigade in the advance, as he was being pressed back by the Union army. At this juncture Gen. Lee resolved to lead in person, but was prevented by the refusal of the soldiers to advance till he should go to the rear. Amongst those in Gen. Lee's immediate presence was Corporal Raukell, then acting as ordinance officer for Gen. Gregg, who with one hand took the bridle of Gen. Lee's horse, and with the other resting on its shoulders, urged him to retire from so dangerous a position, when he was wounded by a ball passing through his wrist: and as he was going to the rear to have his wound dressed, he was shot through the head and instantly killed.

NOTE 3599.—Samuel Boling Randall enlisted in Capt. R. M. Powell's Company, D., at Harrisburgh, Texas, Aug., 1861. The Company moved at once for Richmond, Va., arriving there Sep. 10th, 1861, and formed a part of the 5th Reg. of the Hampton Legion.

In the winter of 1861-2 his Regiment was at Fredericksburgh and Yorktown, and was with Gen. Johnson's army on the retreat from Yorktown. He was in the seven days' fight around Richmond, and was slightly wounded in the battle of Manassas; was in the battle of Fredericksburgh, 1863; also in the battle of Chancellorsville; and was severely wounded on the 2d of July, 1863, in the battle of Gettysburgh, taken prisoner and sent to Daniel's Island, N. Y., where as he says he "was kindly cared for until sufficiently recovered to return south." After his return to Richmond he retired from the Confederate service.

In July, 1862, the Brigade in which he served marched to Shreveport, La., and thence to Monroe, La., and to Pine Bluff's, Ark., White River, &c., "and on the 11th Oct. 1862, got into our first fight," "where Col. "From this point the Reg. was in almost daily skirmishes and fights till we reached Cape Girardeau, and then fell back to Jackson, thence to Ark., closely followed by the U. S. forces."
